

Heaven 601

Chapter 601: [Astral Sky Pagoda] and cultivation area.

While moving across the sect she built, Yasenia landed in front of a very tall pagoda.

It had twelve floors, and a giant tree was going straight through the middle, with the canopy covering the top like a giant umbrella. It was still halfway through its construction, but even then, it looked imposing.

With Angel's and Tatyana's help, Yasenia filled this building with formations, intending to make it one of the most essential parts of the entire sect.

Yasenia smiled, quite proud of her work. "This pagoda was much more complicated to build than I thought. We've already poured twenty million Flawless Parus on it, and we are not nearly finished."

Tatyana smiled. "Did you take inspiration on the [Sky Piercing Tower] back home? It gives me similar vibes."

Yasenia was not afraid to admit that. "I want to build it for disciples. The lowest floor will be for Meridian and Dantian Creation Realm disciples. Then, floors one to three will be for Body Modification Realm disciples, four to seven for Mental nourishing Realm ones, and eight to twelve for Unification Realm sect members."

Yasenia smiled as she explained further. "It will also be quite nice as a talent test, and disciples can be competitive and create records with the score tablet we will add to it. Once someone passes all the levels, they will gain many benefits and the right to become a Sect Elder. Moreover, geniuses will be able to fight on who overcomes all twelve levels the fastest, allowing us, the sect, to pick good seedlings."

Tatyana nodded and asked. "The challenges are only combat?"

Yasenia shook her head. "The formations that Angel copied back in the Secret Realm, the ones that she looked at when she arrived in those pillars, are actually the formation lines and runes needed to create the trials we went through in Lost Town."

Yasenia chuckled. "Naturally, my baby still has to master them, so creating anything similar to it and so realistic is impossible. However, with her previous knowledge added to what she learned from them, Angel can only create something powerful enough to test up to low-level Unification Realm Cultivators. But with your help, we can perfect these things and probably test everyone under the Dantian Spiritualization Realm."

Yasenia admitted. "If someone is above that level, testing them is quite silly. They will count as a powerhouse of the sect."

Yasenia blinked and said to Tatyana, who she still carried in a princess hug. "You can even use them back in the Academy."

Tatyana pecked her lips. "I've seen them, and there is a lot of interesting knowledge. However, I'm in close-door cultivation, so even if I know it now, it's impossible to apply it. I don't really need it yet, though. Maybe when you come back home, I will create one for you to fight at will."

Tatyana asked. "By the way, how will you call this tower?"

Yasenia pondered. "I was thinking something like... [Measure the strong Pagoda]."

Tatyana nodded. "That's a good name."

"IT'S NOT!"

Mother and daughter turned and saw Evelyn coming toward them with a wry expression and standing on Sierra's head. Evelyn reprimanded. "Love, how often have we told you not to name things without consulting us first?"

Yasenia pouted. "It's not that bad, though. Very direct and nice."

Evelyn rolled her eyes and looked at Tatyana. "Can't you not agree with everything your daughter does?"

Tatyana blinked innocently. "But I think it's a good name."

Evelyn was stumped, and Sierra laughed. "Lady Yasenia, how about calling it something like... [Ascension Tower]."

Yasenia got thoughtful. "Hmm..."

Evelyn jumped down and landed on Yasenia's left. She saw that she was not convinced, so she suggested. "This thing will be unique, right?"

Yasenia nodded, and Evelyn suggested. "How about [Astral Sky Pagoda]?"

Yasenia's eyes lit up, and she used her tail to pick up her dear and kiss her face. "That's a good suggestion!"

Evelyn sighed, feeling a bit helpless. "Thank the heavens she agreed to let us name the children."

Evelyn asked. "By the way, how many people are you going to accept?"

Yasenia shrugged. "As many as pass the test. With the Parus mine we have, we have enough resources to support even a first-rate sect, so it's really not a problem."

Evelyn nodded, and Sierra commented. "What about defenses that are not formation-related?"

Yasenia nodded and frowned. "Well, to cover that, the thing we need is strong people for the sect. Although the lamias are good, even having Luscia, Finnegan, and that harpy who can fight against middle-level Epoch core cultivators, high-level ones are still out of reach. We need high-level cultivators to become a true powerhouse."

Tatyana smirked and asked. "How is your strength, little treasure?"

Yasenia tilted her head and answered, unsure. "I should not have rivals left in the Unification Realm after I enter the seventh level, but now... half-steps and peak-level Ethereal Core Cultivators should be able to give me a fight. I'm not sure, though. I've been fighting many beasts, and they are much weaker than I expected."

Tatyana blinked and chuckled. 'She is underestimating herself. Well, she will soon begin fighting more than she wants to, so she will realize by herself.'

Tatyana made a few calculations in her head and then asked. "When do you plan to open the sect?"

Yasenia used her tail to coil around Evelyn while holding Tatyana and smiled. "When all my dears reach the seventh level of the Unification Realm. By then, I'm sure we can fight any second-ranked powers, leaving only first-ranked powers as competitors."

Evelyn smiled. "I will reach that level in three months at most~."

Sierra chuckled. "Besides Andrea, who is dual cultivating body and spiritual paths, you will be the slowest~."

Evelyn snorted. "So what? I'm not that far behind. Besides, I'm the youngest!"

Tatyana nodded. "I'm also at the beginning of the sixth level. This injury has delayed my cultivation quite a lot... How is Andrea doing?"

Yasenia smiled. "Let's go see. I'm curious."

Evelyn commented. "I need to go do other things. See you later, Yasenia."

Yasenia caught her before she left and expertly used her long dragon tail to hug her close and kiss her deeply. The dragoness smiled softly as she nuzzled with her. "You almost forgot the goodbye kiss, dear~."

Evelyn giggled and then flew on top of Sierra's head, both moving toward the most eastern side of the sect.

Yasenia went south from the pagoda, arriving at a place with seven locations that shouldn't be close together.

After the formation activation, the cultivation area for them had formed.

There was a location with cold winds, abundant space energy, and [Moon Rocks] for Moon Energy.

Another area was filled with strangely shaped prismatic glass and floating light orbs.

The other was a lush forest with abundant Life, Nature, and Wood energies.

The next one was a rocky area with a constant artificial storm and lightning falling down continuously.

The following location was a dark area with a dead forest and creatures filled with Death energy. Creating a Fate energy source was highly complicated, so instead, they made an energy-gathering formation that attracted Fate energy right in the middle of the Death biome.

The final place was a volcanic area with a lava river going right through the middle, with metal, earth, magma, and Sun energies rampaging around.

Yasenia's Sun, Moon, and Star location was in another place since opening such an area for the public was impractical, as almost nobody would be able to cultivate in such a chaotic area.

Remember that Moon and Sun energies were opposites, so an area filled with both energies would be naturally chaotic.

All these regions were maintained by the powerful formation surrounding the sect.

Yasenia flew on her sword with Tatyana toward the volcanic region.

After entering, a searing heat hit them like a wall, but a simple energy shield avoided further damage.

The further inside, the higher the heat and the stronger the natural energies.

This was true in every location, to create areas where lower-level cultivators could stay.

Of course, they made the center private for them, where the most abundant and purest energies were created.

Andrea was sitting cross-legged in the middle of the cultivation area for Sun, magma, metal, and fire cultivators, bathing inside the lava river they excavated.

The thick substance moved around her, and the pure energy from nature enhanced by formations nourished her body.

Yasenia stood in the distance and didn't interrupt. The energies were becoming more potent by the second, meaning Andrea was on the verge of a breakthrough.

The [Immortal Sun Obliterating Body] was a technique that tempered the physique with extreme heat and Sun energy.

With the technique, Andrea heated her insides like an oven and used the powerful Sun energy to strengthen her muscle fibers, bones, and organs.

To enter the second realm of Body Cultivation was similar to the process of entering the second realm of Spiritual Cultivation.

What changed between the three cultivation methods was that the Tribulation Lightning would either target the body, the soul, or both.

As a Unification Realm Expert, Andrea was incomparable to ordinary people body-strength-wise.

This was an advantage and a disadvantage.

It was an advantage because the first realms' "tempering" didn't hurt as they should. However, the disadvantage was refining her body in the first place.

Body Cultivation was very painful. It was the tempering of the body, after all.

Hence, the energy Andrea needed to use to advance through the lower levels was many times more than usual, or she wouldn't even feel it or gain anything from it.

Therefore, Andrea cultivated at each level until it was impossible to strengthen the foundation anymore at that point.

Gray clouds gathered above Andrea, and Yasenia was surprised. "That tribulation cloud would obliterate anyone below the Mental Nourishing Realm. It's much stronger than Andrea's first tribulation for the Body Cultivation path."

Tatyana pondered. "I think the heavens take into account her Spiritual Cultivation. Moreover, they must have realized how perfectly tempered Andrea's body is. Honestly... When Andrea's body cultivation catches up with her Spiritual Cultivation, she will become an unstoppable juggernaut."

Yasenia asked. "Won't all of us be similar?"

Tatyana shook her head. "Kali, Cecile, and you, perhaps. Your beast physiques are very nice. However, Angel, Evelyn, and I will be worse than Andrea. Andrea had worked on her body even before getting the Body Cultivation technique, so her foundation is stronger than ours."

Yasenia nodded. "I see. It's not addition, but multiplication."

Tatyana nodded. "If Andrea has 100 physical points as a base, this body of mine has 90, and Angel's and Evelyn's have 80."

Yasenia asked. "Is this body that bad?"

Tatyana chortled. "The strong point about this body is not the physical resistance, but the regeneration and other secrets~. The technique is called [Divine Lich Empress's Body Forging Technique], so it can't be bad, right?"

Yasenia smiled. "That's true. What about your main body?"

Tatyana shook her head. "Well... That body would have quite a high score... I've eaten countless treasures and other things. There is no competition, really. However! By the time Andrea and you girls reach my level, it probably won't be any worse... Probably."

Yasenia snorted. "You don't sound that confident."

Tatyana shrugged. "Sorry, little treasure, but I'm very confident in my strength."

Meanwhile, Andrea opened her eyes and wanted to stand up to receive the lightning. However, she couldn't move. 'Huh? What's wrong? Am I locked again?'

Andrea frowned and looked upwards.

Then, the tribulation struck.

BANG!

The electrical currents were like searing magma flowing through her meridians, muscles, veins, bones, and organs.

Andrea felt her muscles tightening and becoming sturdier as the Heavenly Lightning traveled across her body.

A frown appeared between her brows, but it soon became one of surprise. She could feel Sun Energy appear in her muscle fibers and other body parts.

RUMBLE!

The second strike struck, and the lava around Andrea exploded. Andrea felt it, but it wasn't that bad.

What bothered her the most was the strange feeling of her bones, muscles, and other things twisting and absorbing the energy while they became sturdier.

The third lightning struck.

BANG!

Andrea tensed for a few seconds, and then, her body relaxed. She muttered. "Now, I'm in the Mortal Transformation Body Realm."

Yasenia was puzzled, looking at the whole ordeal. "Why isn't she resisting? I can feel a lack of energy defenses around her body."

Tatyana squinted. "She can't. The heavens have locked her movements and external energy aid."

Yasenia was surprised. "Hmm. Is it because a Body Cultivator must resist the heavenly tribulation instead of fighting it?"

Tatyana nodded. "That's the most likely answer. It can also be because she is a dual cultivation of Body and Spirit. I would have to see a normal body cultivator breaking through."

Yasenia sighed. "Such a shame that Ghana went to a traditional place in the Harpy Clan to break through the Epoch Core Realm. We should've followed her."

Tatyana smiled. "No worries, there are thousands of body cultivators in the clan. Catching one or two middle-tribulations is not that difficult."

Yasenia sighed. "If all Body Cultivators must resist as Andrea does... No wonder Body Cultivation became a lost art in the past. The number of Body Cultivators dying to tribulation must be pretty high."

Meanwhile, after observing the changes in her body, Andrea stood up, unharmed. She clenched her fist and felt slightly more powerful. 'Hm... about five percent stronger? That's not bad for a second-realm effect on a fourth-realm Spiritual Cultivator. More than that would be abnormal. I've just entered the second realm, after all. So, for being just the second realm, the difference is incredible. Do cultivating both ways multiply instead of adding with each other?'

As Andrea pondered, Yasenia appeared before her, standing on the lava while carrying Tatyana. This environment was not that dangerous for the Celestial Dragoness, who controlled the Sun as one of her elements. "Darling, congratulations. How do you feel?"

Andrea smiled and floated up, using her energy to make the sticky lava fall from her body into the magma river below them.

Andrea stepped forward and hugged her dragoness. "Very comfortable. Let's go to our house and talk there. Here is a bit..."

She looked around at the volcanic area and chuckled. Yasenia and Tatyana also laughed, so the three women moved together.

After reaching the house, the other girls also gathered, and they asked questions to Andrea together.

Knowing that they would have to bear the Tribulation Lightning with their bodies made them frown. But they were determined to learn a Body Cultivation technique.

Their desire for strength was only increasing as the block roads like Tengliu and the Abyssal Horrors appeared.

They always felt guilty allowing Yasenia to bear the brunt of these things, whether she did it intentionally or not. 'We need strength to protect our dear dragoness!'

Andrea: The feeling of getting stronger is awesome. Love, soon I will stop being the one dragging you- Mph!?

Yasenia: Bad girl, I told you I would punish you each time you said stupid things!

Author: Bye~. Have a nice time with Yasenia!

Andrea: W-Wait, help! Aahn~.

Tatyana: Narrating with a tragic voice And with the tragic moan, our heroic woman fell into the clutches of the power dragon. Her cries of pleasure- cough, desperation would be heard for hours.

Author: Hahaha, let's summon today's dear. I summon you!

WPOmega: Hello!

Kali: Hello! Who are you going to ask today?

WPOmega: I was thinking about asking all of you but... where are Andrea and Yasenia?

Evelyn: Fucking- Omph.

Kali: Ahem, discussing things in private.

Evelyn: Kali, you really know where to strike. Ouch.

WPOmega: Well, either way. That's actually good. Without Andrea present, I can ask this personal question, for uh.... let's just say obvious reasons.

WPOmega: What are your thoughts on bringing food into the bedroom? An example would be melted chocolate to pour on Andrea's abs and other body parts to lick off, maybe lick it off after she's shot her own "cream" on top of the chocolate so you can get a taste of the mix... Does that not interest you as much as it does me?

Author: Well... Let me accelerate time over there and carry Yasenia over.

Yasenia: Phew, I filled her until it spilled! Oh? It hasn't ended still?

Author: Well, you see...

Yasenia: Humu, I see...

Yasenia: WHY DIDN'T I THINK OF THAT BEFORE!? AHH!!!

Evelyn: Humu, I expected this reaction.

Kali: It was a bit obvious.

Yasenia: Say... Do you think Andrea is too tired, or...?

Author: Here, a stamina pill.

Yasenia: Heuhhueheh. Bye!

Author: And there she goes.

WPOmega: What was that laugh and perverted face!?

Evelyn: Hmmm... I want to join.

Author: Then go.

Angel: U-Um...

Author: Yes, yes. I know you want to try that but on Yasenia, so go with them and ask her. She will probably use your favorite ice cream around the... well.

Angel: Gulp. I-I'm going!

WPOmega: Cecile, Kali, Tatyana, are you not going?

Tatyana: I'll have my fill eventually.

Cecile: I prefer normal sex.

Tatyana: Your animalistic mating is not normal.

Cecile: Hum. Then, I prefer losing my mind and then having sex gently.

Kali: U-Um. I-I also like slower intercourse but... Well...

Valeria: You love doing it with your mouth, so maybe later in private?

Kali: AHH!!! What are you telling them, Valeria!?

WPOmega: I see. The idea was a success, it seems.

Author: Yup... E-Either way. Goodbye, little lurkers!

Chapter 602: Yasenia's heart.

A month later, Yasenia was sitting cross-legged in her private cultivation area. It was set up on the top of a mountain.

The sect went from the valley to the other side of the mountain basin, and the sect leader's, or Yasenia's home, and the main areas for the top elders were built here.

Yasenias mansion took the highest mountain's top area, where the energy was the purest in the entire mountain basin.

Then, in the surrounding mountains, and the one Yasenias residency was on, there were about two hundred houses with plenty of space for a lot of disciples.

This was for the core area of the sect.

After considering the size of first-rate powers, having two hundred places was more than enough to give each of the Epoch Core top-level powerhouses that would eventually reside here.

Low-level Epoch Core cultivators usually didn't qualify as the core fighting force of a first-rate power unless they could surmount levels.

Anyway, let's focus back on the more important matters at hand. Yasenia was sitting cross-legged in her cultivation area while waves of energy rushed toward her.

Being about twenty kilometers up the mountain, the energies from the cosmos were quite thick.

Angel had created an advanced energy-gathering formation across the entire house, increasing the purity of energy. Therefore, the purity of these energies was astoundingly high.

The torrents of energy that rushed toward Yasenia as she practiced the [Convergence of the Celestial Bodies] cultivation technique while absorbing the Yin energy in her Dantian released from her dears were almost visible because of how dense and high the energy was.

Anybody seeing this would be quite surprised. A phenomenon like this usually happened only with Dantian Spiritualization Realm cultivators.

After reaching her nearby area, Yasenia breathed in constantly and deeply, absorbing and digesting the thick spiritual energy with the aid of the [Primordial Energy Core] in her dantian. It wasn't only her breathing, though. Her blue dragon tail with golden rings and glittering white lights glowed with Empyrean beauty as the energy-absorbing organs there swallowed as much energy as she did with the rest of her body.

After being purified, it rushed across her meridians, making cycles and nourishing her soul and body. What the body couldn't absorb was stored in the Dantian.

As multiple energies cycled through her, Yasenia felt her soul, body, dantian, and mind becoming closer as if they were slowly fusing into one being.

The Dantian slowly expanded, making her realize that she was breaking through. 'I'm reaching the Seventh Level.'

Yasenia calmed her mind and slowed down her absorption, being more thorough with the body and soul energy absorption. 'I want to have a perfect foundation. For that, I need to feel as if the rest besides the Dantian can't absorb anything more.'

Her spiritual sense followed the energy that entered her body, and she ensured she was filled with energy.

Then, she felt tight when she tried to store it in her dantian. Her Dantian couldn't hold more energy.

'Perfect now, I need to accumulate enough energy to break the barrier and increase my level.'

Increasing the cultivation level was similar to increasing the existence level of a being. When the cultivator broke through, the energy in the dantian would compress and jump in quality. At the same time, the Dantian would become more extensive, the meridians would widen, and the new energy would nourish the body and soul, effectively increasing the strength of a cultivator.

Body Cultivation was similar, but the difference was that the amount of energy the body could "store" was much higher.

Besides the energy requirements, an understanding of Heaven's secrets was necessary to advance beyond the first level of the Unification Realm.

That's why reaching the Unification Realm was a matter of hard work, but reaching further was a matter of talent, hard work, and comprehension abilities.

It was not a fair world, and those who were born with low talent were bound to be normal unless they found treasures that could reverse their fate.

Heavens were fair in this matter, so treasures like these were abundant. Talent, bloodline, constitution, etc., were fixed at birth but could be enhanced.

Some sects even valued hard work more than talent, although they were not the norm but the exception.

The dragoness began thinking about the soul. "An essential part of life. A part that holds our everything. A body without a soul can only be a puppet. A sword with a soul can become a living creature."

She had [Draconic Heart] on her lap during this whole time, and her hand caressed it slowly, feeling the surface and energies flowing through it.

While she cultivated, the sword also did so.

The giant sword was like a small and long table, but since she got it, the appearance had changed so much that you wouldn't say they were the same if you compared it side-by-side with the sword she originally acquired in the armory.

At first, it had a stony surface with a dim reddish core at the top. However, as her energy nourished it, the sword slowly shed the rocky layer and became smooth and bluish-green after the trial.

Yet, that wasn't its ultimate form, nor was the one it had now.

The previous smooth body had become scaly as if dragon scales surrounded it. And the edges were sharp to the point that leaves falling on it would be cut by their own weight.

The previous dim core was now swirling with energy and power.

Moreover, when Yasenias used Sun energy, the core transformed and shone with golden radiance. When she used Moon energy, it glowed softly and aloof like the Lone Moon in the sky. And when she used her star energy, the core glittered with white light, like a night filled with stars.

The most noticeable change was when Yasenias used her Celestial Energy.

The sword would glow with a galaxy of blue colors as rivers of white lights ran across it. As if a small universe was hidden in that core.

Yasenias's understanding of the soul increased, and her body was processing the rivers of energy inside her while [Draconic Heart] shone beautifully with the different colors.

The dragoness slowly opened her eyes and smiled at her sword. "Does it feel comfortable, Draheart?"

The sword buzzed with delight as the residual energy she couldn't absorb was swallowed by it.

It had reached the peak of the Heaven Rank a while ago, and it was accumulating energy to break into the quasi-transcendence rank and later become a Transcendence Ranked treasure.

However, Yasenias had the hunch that Draheart wouldn't be able to advance that far until she herself did it.

Yasenias smiled softly as she felt herself getting closer to breaking through. "I'm a bit behind compared to you, hahaha. You are already at the peak of the fifth rank, and I have yet to reach the peak of the fourth realm. Sorry, Draheart. You'll have to wait for your slow partner to catch up."

The sword buzzed softly as if telling her not to mind and advance at her pace.

The spiritual intelligence of [Draconic Heart] was getting increasingly higher by the day. Although, right now, it was a conscious being, but not sapient.

After twenty hours of accumulating energy, Yasenias finally understood how to fuse her body, soul, mind, and Dantian.

It was not difficult because she had a [Spiritual Breakthrough] years ago when she got rid of all her heart demons.

Yasenia muttered. "I took soul, body, dantian, and mind as different parts of myself, but they are not. The soul and body work together to create a life. The mind allows us to understand and change ourselves. Finally, the Dantian is the core that maintains everything together and nourishes it."

"My mind must connect my soul and body, but if I do so, my Dantian becomes an individual part, unrelated to the rest. However, during the Unification Realm, that must not happen. The objective is to fuse everything."

Yasenia smiled. "Yet, that is not a problem. It's quite simple, actually."

Yasenia closed her eyes, and her aura gradually grew in size and became turbulent as she spoke. "A cultivator has first to connect those three. Then, when we manage to fuse them as much as possible, we will reach the ninth level. It's not a single step but a procedural step."

Yasenia's aura increased, making the air around her become dense. "It's at that moment, when a cultivator reaches the peak of the ninth level, that a cultivator must spiritualize their Dantian and fuse it with the soul. But it isn't just the soul. After all, the cultivator had linked everything else together before. Hence, the spiritualization is already enough to connect all four together."

The energy moved across her meridians and nourished her body as her body, mind, and soul began fusing.

With the massive rivers of energy, her soul involuntarily materialized behind Yasenia.

The enormous dragon with the Moon and Sun on its wings was imposing and magnificent, looking like an overlord over the world with its aloof golden eyes.

Yasenia's body quickly expanded and changed forms. From her usual 187 centimeters in height, she massively enlarged and changed from her human to her dragon form.

The place she was in was the top of a mountain.

The hour was twilight, and the sky had the Sun, the Moon, and the stars present.

Yasenia continued absorbing energy as her aura thickened further, making the mountain tremble.

In a few seconds, Yasenia reached her full size, being 150 meters long and more than fifty in height.

Her body glowed with an Empyrean beauty, and her aura deepened further by the second.

Her dragon neck extended together with her wings, and Yasenia roared to the sky as she broke through.

"ROAAR!"

BOOOM!

The massive shockwave created by her breaking through expanded together with the sonic wave her deep, lasting, and resounding dragon roar created.

The aura was like a wave that alerted all beasts in the surroundings about the Celestial Dragoness's presence.

Meanwhile, her spiritual sense and everything else became much more powerful and refined.

The seventh level of the Unification Realm was a significant milestone, and the jump in strength was incomparable.

With her current strength, Yasenia felt as if she would be able to destroy ten of her previous selves. Furthermore, knowledge of her true innate skills appeared in her now vast mind that fused with her enormous soul.

With all this new power, Yasenia lifted her dragon head and looked into the heavens, feeling free and unrestrained.

She felt like she could do anything, and nothing could stop her.

"I can soar to the sky, fly through the heavens and earth without match!"

Her nature as a dragon hit her the deepest as her body and soul fused and became one with her mind.

Yasenia's urge to spread her wings and fly was unstoppable.

She wanted to cut all her chains, leave everything behind, and become a free creature that roamed the heavens, unbothered, unmatched, unhinged, unstoppable even by the heavens themselves.

Moreover, her Celestial Energy and bloodline told her instinctively that it was possible.

There was an uncomfortable feeling in her heart, as if doing this was not correct.

However, the dragoness ignored it and took a step forward in her dragon form and slowly spread her wings.

Her innate skill [Empyrean Galaxy Domain] unfolded, swallowing the surroundings with Yasenia's profound Celestial presence.

The Sun, the Moon, the Stars.

All felt within her reach.

Her entire being felt like some chains were about to be broken, and she ignored the part telling her not to do so.

"It can be only The Heavens, The Earth, and Myself if I leave everything else behind and fly!"

The Celestial Dragoness's golden eyes glowed with radiance, with expectation about such a future.

"Fly!"

Her massive wings completely unfolded, creating powerful wind currents, and when she was about to flap them and fly free...

The enormous dragon stopped moving.

CLANG!

The sound of metal.

A crisp sound tingled her ears and made her flinch.

As if the many chains that tied her to every limb called her.

The chains that were about to be broken seemed to be speaking to her mind.

Yasenia frowned and looked at herself.

However, as soon as her eyes landed on those metaphorical chains, Yasenia's expression eased, and she smiled softly.

"...But I can't."

Her extended wings slowly folded back, and the [Empyrean Galaxy Domain] gradually disappeared.

Yasenia chuckled, looking toward the sky with a calm expression and without reluctance.

She knew and felt the things holding her back from soaring and becoming a free and unhinged creature.

She could feel the presence of her dears.

Her family.

The weight of being Kaleina's mother.

She could feel... her chains tying her firmly to the ground.

However, Yasenia knew that they didn't only hold her back.

She could feel that although she could only walk on land, those at the other end of these chains helped her push forward.

Maybe it would be faster to fly.

Maybe it would be a better experience to soar the skies freely.

Maybe becoming a creature without a match and with no ties or chains was what she was supposed to become.

However, she could not.

The joys and love she could find while firmly walking on land was something she would not change for anything.

Not for unlimited freedom.

Nor for cutting herself from responsibility.

Nor for gaining unlimited strength.

This was Yasenia's heartfelt desire to walk alongside her dears.

To see every step and every footprint they left together.

The Celestial Dragoness's body became smaller by the second, and the Empyrean Dragon changed back to the loving and alluring dragoness.

Yasenia gave the sky one last glance and smiled. "It's already late. I have to prepare dinner."

Chapter 603: Yasenia's progress!

After arriving home, Yasenia entered the kitchen and silently began preparing dinner. She looked at the recipes and got thoughtful. 'Hm... There are very few Heaven-ranked foods that can increase our strength.'

Yasenia checked a list she had with many names, columns, and physical aspects like muscles, veins, resistance to weapons, etc. 'If my calculations are correct... Their combat strength should've increased by at least a hundred percent with my foods in total, right? Yes, after 1500 dishes, pastries, desserts, and more, the total increase is around one hundred percent.'

Yasenia pondered as she cooked a large piece of meat to perfection and used the juices to flavor another pan at the side.

Her tail was flipping the vegetables in that second cooking pan, using the juices of the meat to enhance the flavor of the stir-fried vegetables.

'Hm... I need to break through to the next level if I want to continue increasing our strength with my cooking. If this manual says it correctly, a low-level Heaven-rated cook can increase up to one hundred percent, a middle-level up to one hundred and fifty percent, a high-level up to two hundred and twenty-five percent, and a peak-level cook could increase up to 350%.'

Yasenia hummed as she used her spiritual sense to measure the temperature of the [Forest Rampage Tiger] meat. 'However, although we call the professions the same as the rank of the treasures we can create with them... I wonder if there is another way to call them. I should ask Mom.'

Yasenia heard the room opening and turned her face to see Cecile walking in with Kaleina around her shoulders. Yasenia smiled. "Sweetheart, baby, dinner is almost done. How was your day?"

Cecile smiled softly and hugged Yasenia's side. "Everything is normal. However, a certain dragoness was mischievous and made me wonder if she was okay?"

Yasenia smiled. "Is that little dragoness's name Kaleina?"

Kaleina tried to speak solemnly, failing to do so because it just sounded cute and crisp. "Mommy, I was a good girl! I didn't bother Mama Cecile!"

Cecile lifted an eyebrow with a laugh and agreed. "Yes, little Kaleina was very good. It was another, bigger dragoness who worried me."

Yasenia chuckled. "Don't worry. It was my nature that overcame my mind for a few moments."

Kaleina was clever and picked up that they were speaking about Yasenia. She slithered and coiled around Yasenia. "Mommy, are you okay?"

Yasenia turned her head to kiss her and spoke soothingly. "If you cuddle with Mommy later, Mommy will be better than okay! Little Kaleina should already know that cuddling with Mommy heals me better than any medicine!"

Kaleina hugged Yasenia's face and smiled. "Okay, Kaleina will cuddle with Mommy later!"

Yasenia expressed her happiness, coiling her tail around her baby's body softly as she used her arms instead of her tail to cook. "My baby is the best~."

Cecile watched with a smile in her usual icy blue eyes, one of her wings extending and gently enveloping them and leaning her head on Yasenia's shoulder.

After a while, they all ate dinner together, and Yasenia spoke about her evolved innate skills.

Evelyn was curious. "Did they change names?"

Yasenia shook her head. "The change is... powerful? However, at the same time, there is not that much difference. As you should remember, my innate skills are Sun, Moon, and Star dragon breath and dragon body. Then, besides those six, I also have the [Empyrean Cosmos Dress], [Empyrean Galaxy Domain], and [True Dragon Transformation], right?"

Angel nodded and spoke from Yasenia's lap. "Yes! Also, also, your Empyrean Dragon Authority is also part of your innate skills!"

Yasenia laughed and smooched her baby's cheek. "That's right, Baby. You remember them so well."

Kaleina pouted and bit Yasenia's cheek gently. "I'm baby!"

Angel was stunned for a second and felt her whole world crumbling as her eyes widened. 'W-Will I lose my baby status!?'

She looked up with her soft and big blue eyes to Yasenia, waiting for the verdict, looking as pitiful as if she was about to be condemned to death.

Yasenia almost burst into laughter, but she held it in. 'How can she be so adorable? I love her.'

Yasenia explained softly. "Kaleina, love. You are my little baby, and Mama Angel is my big, pampered baby. So, there is more than one baby! In the future, there will be even more!"

Angel's eyes lit up with happiness. 'Yay! Hehehe, not even Yasenia's children can steal my position away!'

Mirrory was rolling her eyes inside Angel's soul. 'Is it that important? Her love will not decrease no matter the way she calls you.'

Angel pouted. 'But Mirrory! She might pamper me less! If I'm not called Baby, the possibility is very high, like one in a billion or something!'

Mirrory was speechless. 'How did you calculate those odds?'

Angel puffed her chest and rambled at remarkable speed. 'You see if we analyze Yasenia's behavioral pattern with the environmental factors, we get that...'

Angel continued three minutes later. '... Moreover, if we take the usual gift pattern and walking posture during the crescent moon...'

Angel finished about ten minutes after that. '... In short, the fact that Yasenia's favorite dessert is a brownie with the insides still being liquid chocolate and added nuts would force us to divide the chances by fifty, reaching an approximate one in a billion chance.'

Mirrory was strangely impressed, not because Angel could come up with something so strange but because the calculations were not out of order by any means. 'You... Whatever. I'm going to sleep. Call me if you need me.'

Angel smiled. 'Okay, Mirrory! Goodnight~.'

During that time, outside Angel's strange inner world, Kaleina tilted her head. "More babies?"

Yasenia nodded and answered, unaware that her excessively pampered girl was explaining the probability of decreasing her spoiling slightly due to a nickname change to Mirrory. "Many more! So, don't worry, dearest. Even if I call Angel baby, it doesn't matter."

Kaleina nodded with a smile. "So, Mommy will always love me?"

Yasenia kissed her little mouth. "Of course! Mommy will love and protect all her big and small babies!"

Yasenia refocused on the innate skills. "So, where was I?"

Andrea smiled softly. "Explaining what has changed with your innate skills."

Yasenia nodded. "Right. Now, I can fuse them if my understanding is enough."

Kali blinked. "Fuse them?"

Yasenia smiled. "For example, combining the Sun- and Star-attributed Dragon Breaths. It is possible by using my Celestial Energy as a medium. After understanding Celestial Intent, my use of Celestial Energy is improving exponentially. Sadly, I still don't have a lot of Celestial Energy inside me. The Celestial Energy Star can maybe support four or five continuous attacks and take a day or so to recover."

Kali was impressed. "What about the other three innate skills? I suppose that the dragon body skills can also do the same."

Yasenia's smile widened. "That's right. My [Empyrean Galaxy Domain] has become more physical and will continue evolving with me as I become stronger. Then, my [True Dragon Transformation] has become [True Empyrean Cosmos Dragon Transformation]."

Tatyana commented. "Oh? The skill added the name of your bloodline. What has changed?"

Yasenia smirked. "This~."

Her hand slowly and gradually transformed, making a few blue scales grow on her hand, her nails thicken and grow longer, and the general shape slightly changing to a dragon shape.

Evelyn lifted an eyebrow. "Partial transformation?"

Yasenia nodded. "I still need to increase my comprehension of it, but I can semi-transform parts of my body. In the future, I'll probably be able to cover my entire body and become a humanoid dragon to increase my combat power."

Evelyn pumped her fist. "We've unlocked dragon di-."

BANG!

Kaleina blinked. "Mommy, how did your tail stretch enough to hit her? It also looked... pretty? Umm... Also, the.. um, the..."

Andrea helped. "The path, arc, trajectory?"

Kaleina exclaimed. "The path it took was very nice to look at!"

The baby dragon was very confused and awed after witnessing the profound tail-slapping Dao.

Yasenia smiled. "Don't worry, love. Anyway, my [Empyrean Cosmos Dress] has also changed to [Celestial Cosmos Dress]. Finally, the [Empyrean Dragon Authority] has become [Empyrean Regal Dragon Aura]."

Cecile blinked. "Oh?"

Yasenia laughed. "The dress has fused with my [Celestial Dress]. It's a very strong skill now. My aura skill has also increased in power, and it gives me a strength enhancement in the soul area."

Andrea summarized. "So, now your innate skills are [Sun Dragon Breath], [Star Dragon Breath], [Moon Dragon Breath], [Sun Dragon Body], [Star Dragon Body], [Moon Dragon Body], and their combinations. Then, [Empyrean Galaxy Domain], [Celestial Cosmos Dress], and [Empyrean Regal Dragon Aura]."

Yasenia smiled widely. "Yes."

Evelyn snorted. "Unfair."

Andrea laughed, dumbfounded. "That's too strong."

Cecile smiled. "As expected of my love."

Angel smiled widely. "Yasenia is the strongest!"

Kali sighed gently with a smile. "We've chosen to chase quite the personage."

Tatyana added. "Have your skills changed?"

Yasenia lifted an eyebrow. "What, do I need to spill all my skills now?"

Tatyana shrugged. "Why not? Since we are here, hit us with every skill you have."

Yasenia started commenting. "Well, first of all, all the Sun, Star, and Moon skills have become quite easy to combine thanks to my Celestial Intent, so I won't speak the combinations. I will just list them one after another as I did before."

Andrea laughed. "We would be here for an hour if not."

Yasenia rolled her eyes. "Darling, you are so exaggerated."

Evelyn encouraged. "Shoot it already! You are holding it too much. You should spurt-."

BANG!

Yasenia continued as if nothing had happened. "Well, first of all, I have the skills that accompany [Day and Night Cycle]. They are [Draconic Sunrise], [Draconic Sunset], [Draconic Noon], [Draconic Dawn], [Draconic Crescent Moon], [Draconic Waning Moon], [Draconic Full Moon], [Draconic Dusk], [Starry Sky], [Starfall], [Shooting Star], [Midnight], [Falling Sky], and the sealing skill [Day and Night Cycle: Sky Prison]."

Andrea nodded. "Quite a few."

Yasenia nodded. "I've also learned to use them without the form constriction. For example, I can use Sunrise without the need to do a rising strike. It has given me a lot of flexibility mid-combat."

Cecile blinked. "No wonder... I was surprised when you hit me in that spar with [Draconic Sunset] while making a horizontal strike. Previously, you could only activate it with descending swings."

Yasenia laughed and continued. "Then, the other skills I have are very varied. For example, other attack skills are [Sun Dragon Claw], [Star Dragon Claw], and [Moon Dragon Claw]. There are also the [Sun Collapse], [Star Collapse], and [Moon Collapse] skills. Then... I have the [Dance in the firmament skill], a battle skill that increased my proficiency in combat. There is also [Celestial Field Master], a skill that increases Moon, Sun, and Star attribute effectiveness while decreasing others around me."

Kali's lips twitched. "No wonder I can't beat you without Valeria's help."

Yasenia blinked. "Oh, but I'm not done."

Kali felt even her eyebrow, and fox ears twitch.

Yasenia continued. "I have normal domains like the [Scorched Sun Domain], [Freezing Moon Domain], and [Star Night Domain] besides [Empyrean Galaxy Domain]. They consume much less energy and are quite deadly. Plus, I also have my new movement skill, [Heavenly Constellation Steps], which is aided by speed burst skills like [Draconic Sun Charge], [Draconic Star Charge], and [Moon Star Charge], and also has a few levels and techniques inside. I'm still working on those..."

Andrea asked, stuttering a bit. "I-Is that all?"

Yasenia smiled, making her relieved, until she answered. "No!"

Andrea wanted to cry. "Of course, my love. I was silly; sorry to doubt you."

Yasenia said. "Well, there are the four intents: [War Intent], [Monarch Intent], [Celestial Intent], and [Blacksmithing Intent]."

Andrea nodded, crying inside. "Of course, blacksmithing intent is there. How could it not be there when you unlocked it in my face?"

Yasenia pondered and continued, missing her darling's secret cry for help. "And I also have the [Sun Assimilation], [Star Assimilation], and [Moon Assimilation]. Skills to gain energy mid-combat. I want to fuse them into one and maybe absorb Celestial energy with them, but my understanding of Celestial Energy is still shallow."

Angel smiled. "Now you finished!"

Yasenia laughed. "No."

Angel's smile froze. 'Eh? An error in my Yasenia archives!'

Yasenia commented. "I have [Heavenly Maiden Absorbs The Heavens], my only offensive Dual Cultivation Technique."

Angel nodded. "O-Oh. I see."

Kali frowned. "I hope you never use that one."

Yasenia nodded. "I agree."

Kaleina's head dropped, and she fell asleep. Yasenia's voice was very soothing for the little dragoness, and with a filled belly, the sleepiness came like an unstoppable force. "Zzz."

Yasenia smiled and cradled her. "Goodnight, baby."

Cecile stated. "Now, you finished."

Yasenia smiled. "Yes. Although, I'm developing three more skills... [Sun Dragon Roar], [Star Dragon Roar], and [Moon Dragon Roar]. A skill to attack the soul instead of the body."

Even Cecile didn't know about these three.

Evelyn gulped. "A-Anything more, love?"

Yasenia shook her head. "Besides the innate skills, there is nothing more."

They all wanted to slam their heads against something at her way of speaking about her NINE innate skills.

Mirrory commented. "No wonder you could hurt the Abyssal Horror."

Valeria blinked. "Wouldn't she be a decent match against it right now that she has reached the seventh level?"

Mirrory and Tatyana pondered. Tatyana commented. "It's possible, but its vitality is very high."

Mirrory commented. "Her Celestial Energy is very destructive. If she uses the five attacking chances wisely, she could win."

The other two agreed.

Yasenia was surprised. "I could fight against that thing? You are overestimating me. I was out of combat with just one attack."

Mirrory and Valeria didn't say anything and just smiled.

Tatyana commented. "Perhaps."

But the three were thinking inside. 'You are underestimating yourself~. The Seventh level of the Unification Realm is the second biggest jump in strength, right behind the half-step level.'

Yasenia looked at her dears and smiled widely. "I can't wait to hear about your skills!"

Andrea and the others felt pressure. 'Whoever calls us genius, I will slap them with Yasenia's skills written on a paper.'

Tatyana: I mean... There are not as many, right?

Author: About that...

Yasenia: I'm sure people want to hear about them. And those who don't want to... Can they maybe skip those parts? It won't take that much, after all. Two or three chapters at most, right?

Author: Well, you are right. I also have to say at least the innate skill changes of each of them.

Angel: Um... You don't have to list all my formations.

Author: I wasn't planning to, dear. I don't want to create a book while writing all your learned formations.

Angel: O-Oh... I see.

Yasenia: Glare

Author: Cough, I summon you!

?????: Hello!

Author: Hello~.

Angel: Oh! A question mark!

Evelyn: Literally.

?????: Well, I'm here to ask the author.

Author: Oh? Go ahead.

?????: What would have happened if Yasenia's rebirth had not taken place? Would her lineage have mixed with those of the two gods, and would she have been capable of transforming into a dragon?

Author: Well, the novel would've been quite different. Yasenia's strength would not have been as high, and her development would've slowed down a lot. If the same events occurred, Yasenia would've been unable to resist a few of the situations, like the moment when the Seniors pressured her with their auras.

Author: Regarding those two Gods... I can't say much, but I can tell you that they would be happier if the rebirth didn't happen.

?????: I see.

Author: Yep, also, she would be able to transform into a dragon. It is an innate skill. However, her dragon form would've been much weaker.

?????: Umu.

Author: So... that's it. Thanks for asking~.

?????: En!

Chapter 604: All girls cross the Seventh Unification Realm Level!

After Yasenia's show of skills, the other girls, who thought that they were advancing rapidly, felt urgency like no other.

Even while Yasenia was dealing with many things, and although they knew that Yasenia never stopped working on herself, her speed of improvement was exaggerated.

Evelyn was in the lightning storm area, together with Sierra. "What do you think, Sierra?"

Sierra was receiving lightning bolts as she answered. "Lady Yasenia is an exception, Evelyn. Your own speed is considered higher than hers since she is approaching fifty when you are still in your twenties."

Evelyn sighed. "But most of my cultivation energy comes from her Yang energy, Sierra. If it were not for her, I would still be in the Mental Nourishing Realm."

Sierra opened her eyes, revealing her icy eyes. She rested her enormous head beside Evelyn, looking at her with one of her eyes. "So?"

Evelyn looked at the giant wolf's head and snorted. "Doesn't this make my cultivation less genuine?"

Sierra lifted an eyebrow. "Then, what am I? A fake thing? I was a common lightning wolf who was lucky enough to find a Thunder Soul. I fed from it, developed my bloodline, and became what I was when you met me. Then, with your help, my bloodline has increased by two entire realms, and it is about to enter the Divine Beast Bloodline Realm. That's three realms higher than my original high-level Mystical Bloodline."

Evelyn muttered. "Mystical, Legendary, Mythical, and then Divine, right?"

Sierra's lips arched. "Correct. So... Am I leeching of you? Is my whole existence a joke because you have supported me until now?"

Evelyn giggled. "I get your point, Sierra. Who knew you were that wise?"

Sierra smiled. "I might be a wild beast, but I'm a few hundred years old. Moreover, you've taught me quite well."

Evelyn leaned on the thick white fur of Sierra, smelling her soft and clean fragrance. "You smell similar to Cecile."

Sierra snorted a laugh. "Don't compare me with her. It's insulting to Cecile. She is a respected Ancient Beast, while I'm just a peak-level Mythical Beast. If we were not from the same pack, I would need to lower my head in her presence."

Evelyn sighed. "You are right. Well, since we were lucky, we must do the most out of it, right?"

Sierra smiled in appreciation. "That's right. You have a very nice inheritance in your hands, one that came directly from a God. From what Mirrory told us, it's also quite a strong one."

Evelyn summoned a white jade scroll with lightning crackling around it and imagery of clouds and thunder looming over mountains and rivers.

It was complex, beautiful, and intricate, while it hid a profound reality within itself.

Sierra looked at it and asked. "How is the comprehension of it?"

Evelyn shook her head. "Besides the first three skills, I can't decipher anything else. It sounds like gibberish, to be honest."

Sierra blinked. "Isn't learning three skills really good?"

Evelyn shrugged. "I think they are the basic ones. After all, they are an offensive, an enhancing, and a defensive skill."

Sierra nodded. The blue-haired girl asked back. "So, how about your skills? Beasts learn very differently, right? Also, how are you keeping up in cultivation speed?"

Sierra commented. "Well, I use all the money Yasenya gives me to buy beast cores and other things. Moreover, your [Beast Pocket] skill helps me keep up with you."

Evelyn blinked. "Does it? Well, Tatyana gave it to us, so it can't be simple."

Sierra laughed. "I asked. She told me quite nonchalantly. 'Well, that is the secret technique of the strongest beast-taming sect I've ever come across, so it should be good.' Hahaha."

Evelyn burst into laughter. "Very Tatyana-like. Where did she find it?"

Sierra shrugged. "I didn't ask further. I'm happy she would answer my question."

Evelyn lifted her eyebrow. "You really respect her, eh."

Sierra smiled. "Of course. To be able to give birth to Lady Yasenias, Lady Tatyana is someone I look up to as a role model!"

Evelyn snorted with a teasing tone. "I will pray to the heavens so that your future pups don't go through too much hardship."

Sierra rolled her eyes. Evelyn moved away from Sierra and sat cross-legged as she asked. "By the way, have you decided whose children you want?"

Sierra shook her head. "There are good males around in these mountains, but... I find them mediocre at best."

Evelyn sighed. "Yasenias has broken your mate-standards."

Sierra smiled. "I do admit it."

Evelyn tilted her head. "Well, you are not old anymore. After entering the fourth realm, your lifespan is in the thousands."

Sierra nodded. "That's the main reason as to why my standards rose, to be honest. I have no haste. And knowing how far you will reach, I'm barely at the start of my life right now."

Evelyn smiled. "That's true. Well, let's continue with the breakthrough. I'm almost there, and all the other girls have already broken through the seventh level."

Sierra laughed. "Even Andrea was able to reach it. You became too busy with tailoring and the [Heavenly Thunder God Inheritance] scroll."

Evelyn ignored her and made her body conductive to attract the lightning bolts flying around in the clouds above.

BANG!

A massive lightning bolt struck Evelyn, but she didn't even flinch. From that moment on, the surroundings were instantly flooded with sound.

BANG! BANG! BANG! RUMBLE!!

Evelyn strangely felt calm as her body was assaulted by lightning bolt rain. Her body would destroy the lightning, absorb the light and lightning elements inside, and nourish her body.

With the help of the [Heavenly Thunder God Inheritance], her body was enhanced and tempered with powerful lightning, while the meridians pushed energy around exceptionally quickly.

Instead of using the energy to nourish, she struck her meridians and other body parts energy, using the energy released with the impacts to enhance her strength.

After twelve hours, Evelyn felt her body unable to get stronger. 'Perfect. Now, the soul.'

With her body at its peak, her focus changed to the soul.

The electric currents fused with light, and she attacked her soul. Evelyn bit her teeth as pain spread through her body.

Although our girl was a hopeless masochist with Yasenía, this pain was not pleasant at all. However, the [Heavenly Thunder God Inheritance] was about purifying your body with lightning.

Since Evelyn also had proficiency with the Light attribute, she added light energy to it. Of course, she had discussed it with Mirrory to see if it would become harmful, and the ancient Mirror had told her that it was a good idea.

So, Evelyn was ruthless with her body.

Another thirty hours went by, cultivating without stop.

BANG!

A massive lightning bolt with the thickness of a small elephant hit her, making even her extremely lightning-resistant body shudder. 'That freaking hurt!'

The accumulated energy went through her veins, meridians, and into her dantian. Then, Evelyn felt it. 'Oh? Here it is.'

Her energy accumulated, and finally, after much effort, she broke through.

BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG!

Tens of lightning bolts struck her surroundings, creating small craters as electricity swirled around her like a storm.

The color of the lightning was black and white, representing her evolved lightning and [Storm Roaring Thunder].

After a few years of discovering it, Evelyn finally gained the initial understanding of how to fuse her lightning and light elements, creating [Luminous Lightning].

Her violet eyes opened, electricity flashing through them, and her face looked indifferent and majestic.

Sierra looked at her and was impressed. 'If she were serious like this all the time, she would be quite an imposing woman.'

Evelyn stood up, her long robe fluttering as the white and black lightning coursed around her body. "Very nice. The increase in strength is impressive."

Sierra smiled and praised. "You look very badass, hahaha."

Evelyn laughed as she waved her arm, dispersing all electricity around her in light particles. "Really? I might use it later to seduce Yasenía and let her plow my holes as if she wants to dig something out!"

Sierra sighed in defeat. "Remember to shut your mouth during that time and make yourself expressionless."

Evelyn felt stumped. "But my flirting skills are the best!"

The giant wolf queen was the one stunned this time. "I've always wondered, but where does that confidence come from?"

Evelyn tilted her head. "If I could wife up someone like Yasenía, doesn't that make them quite impressive?"

Sierra couldn't counter argue even if she wanted to. What could she say, that Yasenia was an easy woman? That was clearly not the case if her lovers weren't involved.

During these three years, she had seen plenty of clan members professing their love skillfully and being demoted right the next day.

The cold-heartedness of the dragoness toward "outsiders" was very comforting in one way, as Sierra understood that Evelyn was in good hands. However, she didn't understand how Evelyn managed to get into the dragoness's good books.

Evelyn smiled widely. "Let's go, Sierra. It's time to share all of our progress with the girls!"

Sierra blinked. "Right, when you broke through, it would be the time when all of you shared all your skills as Yasenia did. Do you want to ride there?"

Evelyn jumped fifteen meters into the air, landing on the forty-meter-long and fifteen-meter-tall white wolf's head. "You've grown quite a bit, eh."

Sierra smiled. "I doubled in height and length, hahaha." Then she commented. "Although, little Ebirah, Cecile, and even Kali's beast forms had grown a lot."

Evelyn nodded. "No doubt about it, hahaha. Cecile's Phoenix form has almost two hundred meters in wingspan. You can stand on her back and look small. Not to mention, besides Kali, you look like a pup."

Sierra chuckled. "They are quite large. Ebirah, at least, follows my size standards."

Evelyn agreed. "I wonder what kind of size they will have when they enter the Dantian Spiritualization Realm. They will be like small mountains. When you enter the Divine Beast Bloodline Realm, you might also grow a lot in size."

Sierra shrugged. "It doesn't matter too much. Strength is what is important, not size."

Evelyn laughed. "Size doesn't matter!"

Sierra rolled her eyes one more time.

Then, not entertaining the innuendo, the perfectly developed muscles of the giant wolf moved as the four powerful legs pushed her body forward.

BOOM!

Sierra became a white blur as she ran through the mountains and forest with agility nothing her size should have.

"AWOO!!!"

Her majestic howl spread through the mountain basin, warning the others that Evelyn had already broken through.

A while later, all of them joined in the house they built for themselves. It had an eastern style, using one floor and a lot of terrain to build it. Walking normally, you would need about twenty minutes at a mortal speed to walk from one side to the other.

There was an intricate garden being taken care of by the mortal female maids. About one hundred of them worked here in total.

Food was not a problem, and each girl had a part of the extensive residence for them.

There was a main building where Yasenía and the others spent their time together. In this center building, there was also a huge bedroom with massive comfortable beds and a few rooms at the side used for spicy activities.

When Evelyn arrived at the main living room, Yasenía was lying on a couch, propped up by her arm, and reading a book to the not-so-small eastern dragon between her arms.

There was an open wall at the side so that Sierra could lie there and be with the rest of the family.

The two dragons looked up and locked onto Evelyn. Yasenía smiled softly. "Congratulations, dear."

Kaleína parroted. "Congratulations! Mama Evelyn!"

Evelyn couldn't help but chuckle when two similar pairs of golden reptilian eyes landed on her. "They are so cute!"

Tatyana: Well, well, the following two chapters will be quite interesting, eh?

Author: I'll try. I will really try not to make them insufferable, but as a dear said in the comments, it's about time since we have an update on our girls' skills. There have been at least 300 chapters without a clear explanation!

Tatyana: Can't you use the glossary?

Author: ... I'm aiming high if ten percent of my dears even use the glossary. Not to mention, it's also not up to date!

Tatyana: Oh...

Author: Either way, I summon you!

WPOmega: Hello! How are you girls doing~.

Angel: Hehehe, you are acting as if you are returning home after a long day of work.

WPOmega: Hahaha.

Andrea: Well, WPOmega, who do you want to ask?

WPOmega: Sarah, the transmigrator!

Author: Okay, wait a second... There.

Puff

Sarah: Hm? Where am I!? System?

System: [Host. I'm helpless. I don't know what has happened].

Author: Yo!

Sarah: Woah! What are you!? An eldritch horror without shape!?

Author: ...

Angel: Hahaha.

Tatyana: I mean, it's your fault for being a humanoid-shaped mass of... cosmos?

Author: Whatever. Sarah, listen to that person, answer his question, then you can leave.

Sarah: O-Okay.

System: [Host. Are you sure? I can't sense anything from it.]

Yasenia: What's that thing speaking?

Sarah: E-Eh!? Y-Yasenia, what are you doing here?

Yasenia: Oh... Well, hello.

Author: Answer him. Chatting can be done after.

Sarah: Y-Yes!

WPOmega: Sarah, hey umm, this is rather awkward now that you have your own harem, but I was really rooting for you to join Yasenia's and be maybe the last of her wives. I mean, your chances aren't gone, just infinitely closer to impossible...but well, yeah, systems tend to affect the minds of their hosts subconsciously, so things will be hard. My question, well, the most important one for me anyway, is, do you plan to be true allies with Yasenia?

Sarah: Huh? Why wouldn't I?

WPOmega: Well, she was quite the asshole with you.

Yasenia: Cough.

Sarah: Well... You are right. But, meh, I don't want to antagonize a person with such a high-level reward for conquering. Who knows, maybe she is the endgame heroine that I met early. After all, her reward levels are similar to those of conquering something similar to a goddess.

WPOmega: ... I see.

Sarah: So, um... Can I go now?

Author: Wanna stay and chat?

System: [Host. You should leave.]

Yasenia: Oy, what are you? Host this, host that. Are you the thing inside Sarah?

Author: Well, while the dears from this dimension discover the wonders of systems, I say goodbye~. Bye-bye~.

Chapter 605: Evelyn's and Angel's exposition.

After Evelyn arrived, the rest didn't take much to make it there. Ebirah and Sierra had yet to reach the seventh level, but their cultivation was different since they were pure beasts without human-body origins.

Innate skills were something that appeared in a more natural way, and they didn't evolve. Hence, speaking about skills now was the same as talking about them after they reached it.

Yasenia sat with her legs crossed, leaving a hollow between them to let Kaleina coil there while resting her face on Mommy's soft and comfortable thigh.

Yasenia asked with a smile and a wagging tail. "Well, dears. Let's start. I'm really curious. Who goes first?"

Evelyn lifted an arm. "If you don't mind, I'll go first."

Andrea leaned back and shrugged. "Go ahead. We have quite a lot of time, after all."

Evelyn smiled. "Well, I'm still working on substituting most of my skills. It will take at least a year or so. However, I know what kind of direction I want to take."

Cecile was very talkative when fighting, skills, and similar themes appeared, so she was quick to ask. "Are you going to take advantage of your intents?"

Evelyn nodded. "Smart! During these three years, all of us have understood our intents' first level."

Valeria intervened. "That's something really impressive and out of the norm, to be honest. However, I think it is because it's just the first level. Understanding basic concepts is not that complicated. Going deep in them is where the complications lay."

Yasenia agreed. "Besides my Monarch Intent, which was pushed a level because of a change in mindset when I got rid of those two S.L.U.T.s who betrayed me, the others are still stuck in the first level."

Evelyn proudly stated. "Well, I understood a total of four intents!"

Kali blinked. "Weren't they three?"

Evelyn laughed. "Well, you see. I have created a "personal" lightning type. It's still not mixed completely, but I think I'm getting somewhere."

Mirrory materialized and floated above Angel. Evelyn sneaked a peak at the "mature" red-haired and green-eyed Angel. 'Really big, really wow.'

Mirrory asked. "After you are done looking at my breasts, can you summon a bolt of that lightning?"

The girls gave her a side-eye, and Evelyn coughed. "Here."

She extended her arm, and white lightning crackled alongside her arm. The power was nothing to scoff at.

Mirrory nodded. "Luminous Lightning."

Evelyn blinked. "It's already a thing?"

Mirrory looked at her with a deadpan expression. "If you want to create something I've never seen during my extremely long life without being a complete out-of-the-system person like that dragon, you are still too young."

Yasenia blinked innocently. "Me?"

The whole room deadpanned this time. Evelyn coughed. "Well, I'm in the midst of creating this lightning, fusing my Light and Lightning elements."

Tatyana hummed. "Have you all consumed all the [Elemental Enhancement Pills]?"

Andrea asked. "We are still in the fourth year since we received them, so we should all have one set of them left, right?"

Angel nodded and said with a serious face or an attempt at doing one. "Selena told me to be careful and only consume one of each a year!"

Sierra was curious. "Who is Selena?"

Ebirah also asked. "Which pills?"

Andrea picked up the recent adult and sat her on her lap sideways. After all, the pink lobster tail was not as flexible as Yasenias dragon tail, and sitting her on her lap was a bit of a hurdle. "Selena is Angel's personal maid, Sierra. She is a red lamia and a very strong combatant. A master in formations, sword, and shield fighting."

Andrea looked down at the little woman, looking at her curiously. She smiled and commented. "The pills are these."

Andrea took out a pill jar with a single pill inside. "These are called [Sun Enhancing Pill]. A person can eat up to five of them and have a very slim chance of evolving the attributes they are enhancing."

Ebirah sniffed it, and her pupils dilated. "Smells so nice~."

Kali at the side chuckled, her three tails swaying gently. "I'm already starting to learn those pills. But they are peak-level Heaven-Ranked and between one of the most complicated to craft below the Transcendence Realm. Not to mention, the ingredients are so rare that I'm still growing a few of them in my ring."

Ebirah deflated, looking a bit sad she couldn't eat them. Kali laughed gently as her tender tone of voice reached Ebirah's ears. "However, once I know how to make them, I'll make a batch of [Ice-enhancing] and [Lightning Enhancing] for Sierra and [Sun Enhancing] and [Water Enhancing] for you, little Ebirah."

Sierra, at the side, wagged her tail and smiled. "Thank you, Lady Kali."

Ebirah smiled widely, and her Lobster tail slapped the couch with up and down motions. "Thank you, Kali!"

Kali nodded. "No need for honorifics, Sierra."

Sierra shook her head. "Until I have a comparable bloodline level, I will give the respect I must."

Kali sighed and nodded.

Angel asked. "So, Evelyn. What were you saying about the skills?"

Evelyn flashed and sat behind Angel, fondling her little friend's breasts. "Well, you see, little Angel."

Angel's eyebrow twitched in irritation. "Can you stop groping my breasts first?"

Evelyn sighed. "You don't complain when we are together at night-."

BANG!

She flew upward with a graceful arc and fell on her back right before Yasenias.

Evelyn looked at the ceiling, stunned. "I didn't even see it coming."

Yasenia smiled and picked her up with her long tail, laying Kaleina and Evelyn side by side on top of her as she leaned sideways on the long couch she was on.

Cecile took Yasenia's legs onto her lap, and Yasenia's head fell on Tatyana's lap. "Stop being mischievous, dear. I know you are excited, so you can fondle me if you want relief."

Who was Evelyn to deny that offer?

Evelyn spoke as her hands sunk in her favorite softness. "Well, as I was saying, my four intents are [Luminous Lightning Intent], [Spear Intent], [Storm Intent], [Threader Intent]."

Valeria's eyebrows rose. "Threader Intent?"

Evelyn nodded.

Valeria commented. "That's a powerful one."

The mischievous girl tilted her head, her hands still fondling Yasenia seriously. "Isn't it a tailoring-related intent?"

Valeria smiled. "Perhaps."

Evelyn's eyebrow twitched when hearing that familiar "I know the answer, but I won't tell you" from Valeria. Yasenia chuckled and pushed her fringe to the side to plant a soft kiss. "Continue, love. We are listening."

Evelyn nodded with a sweet smile. She hugged Yasenia normally and continued. "Well, my attacking techniques were very low-level. Most of them I found in the Academy's library, and they were nothing but earth-level skills. So, I followed your steps and created my own skills!"

Yasenia praised her. "Dear, that's fantastic."

Evelyn made a bit of a silly laugh. Although she was a perverted person, honest praise from Yasenia made her shy and happy. "Listen, listen. For attacking, the skills I will be using are these."

Evelyn said. "First, I have the skills [Radiant Spear Flash], [Seven Radiant Lightning Steps], [Flowing Storm Spear Strikes], [Luminous spear throw], [Luminous Phantom Assault], [Luminous Spear Barrage], [Luminous Lightning Barrage], and finally, [Thunder Soul Destruction]."

Cecile asked. "Oh, there are a few new ones."

Evelyn stood up and took out her spear. "Here, I'll show you."

Then, Evelyn performed the skills one by one. The open space she was using was filled with strengthening formations.

Andrea commented. "You still need to work on [Seven Radiant Lightning Steps]."

Evelyn nodded. "Yes. It is one of the skills I have yet to master."

Cecile asked. "Anything more?"

Evelyn nodded. "I have these other skills. First, [Storm Roaring Thunder Descent] summons my Natural Treasure on me as an enhancement. Then, [Luminous Storm Dress] is my elemental coat's latest transformation. Another enhancement skill. It lets me use my Luminous Lightning much better."

Evelyn continued waving her hand and summoning a white lightning spear. "[Luminous Spear] is the basis of many of my skills. It helps me create lightning spears with the Luminous Lightning. It is very lovely to use and understand this lightning."

Evelyn smiled, dissipating the crackling spear. "[Luminous charge], [Thunder light overcharge], [Thunder light shield], [Flash Lightning Steps], [Light Bending: Nine Illusions], and finally [Thunder Light Sky Domain] are the rest of my normal skills."

Angel exclaimed. "They sound powerful!"

Evelyn puffed her non-existent chest. "Of course!"

Cecile asked again, interested in the rest. "You said normal skills. What more do you have?"

Evelyn laughed. "Well, there are the skills from the inheritance and my innate skills. Let's start with the innate skills. First, my [Electric Light Disaster] transformed into the [Luminous Lightning Calamity], then, my [Electric skin] became [Luminous Lightning Body], and finally, [Light and Lightning Devouring] gained quite a badass name, [Heavenly Lightning Devourer]."

Andrea exclaimed. "Wow! Heavenly?"

Mirrory commented. "That's one of the best devouring skills. Congratulations, Evelyn."

Evelyn smiled widely, very happy with the praise.

Kali asked. "What about the inheritance skills?"

Evelyn nodded and answered. "Well, there is [Storm's Descent], a super powerful skill that summons a literal lightning storm that attacks my enemies, and I can also use it to devour lightning myself. Then, there is [Storm Lightning Body], a body-enhancing skill. I become a few times stronger when I use this, but it consumes a lot of energy. Then, I learned [Lightning Temple's Blessing], a defensive skill."

Yasenia walked forward and hugged her little dear. "You are so talented, love. I'm delighted. Tonight, you can ask for any reward you want."

Evelyn blinked. "Dragon Di-Mmmph!"

Yasenia sealed her mischievous mouth with a deep kiss. After making the dear between her arms a blob, Yasenia looked at the others and asked. "Who wants to go next?"

Angel stepped forward, excited, and tiptoed while puckering her lips.

Yasenia was confused. "What are you doing, baby?"

Angel blinked. "Aren't you asking who wants to be kissed next?"

Yasenia laughed and hugged her, kissing her deeply. Then, she suggested. "Do you want to say your skills next?"

Angel tilted her head. "Do I say all the formations I know?"

Yasenia was about to say yes, but Tatyana interrupted. "Say the main ones only, Angel. We don't want to be here for a week."

Yasenia pouted. She wanted to listen. Tatyana snorted. "You can ask later if you want. But not now."

Yasenia sighed. "Okay, later, you tell me all your skills, okay, Baby?"

Angel smiled sweetly. "Okay!"

They didn't return inside and stood outside in case they wanted to demonstrate like Evelyn.

Angel was picked up by the dragoness and said her skills as if everybody would know what they did. "Well, my most useful combat formations are [Vaporizing Laser Formation], [Formation Destruction], [Shattering Crystal Core], [Prismatic Bloodthirsty Golem formation], [Prismatic Death Crystal Imprisonment], [Iridescent Structure Amplifying Formation], [Magnifying Laser Wheel Formation], and [Thousand Mirage formation]."

Angel continued without any explanation. "Then, I can boost my formations with [Red Crystal Enhancement] and [Prismatic Energy Boost]. Oh, my energy coat has evolved into some kind of aura called [Prismatic Scarlet Heart Glass]! My defense is very tough with it!"

Angel rambled on. "Then, I know normal skills that aren't formations! Mirrory taught me a few! For example. I know [Prismatic Crystal Shield], [Light Severing Sword], [Glass Shattering], and [Eight Brilliant Swords]."

The rest had their lips twitched. Andrea asked, "What do the formations do, little Angel?"

Angel blinked and answered. "Well, using my new constitution and formation knowledge and applying the Formation Step eight from the Academy advanced formation books and the runes learned in the Lost Town formation book, I can refer to the sixth intermediate formation..."

Even Yasenia, whose theoretical knowledge of formations was off the charts, got lost mid-way because she had not read a few of the reference books Angel had mentioned.

Angel was so cute, soft-spoken, and sweet that sometimes they forgot she was an ultra-genius and extremely intelligent woman who gained heavy praise and recognition from Tatyana and Mirrory.

Angel continued. "... So, using the forty-fourth rune and seventh symbol, the [Vaporizing Laser Formation] is completed, summoning an area with various focal points that summons waves of lasers and attack everything within it."

Yasenia blinked twice and smooched her cheek. "My little genius is so cute~."

Angel smiled sweetly and hugged her neck while laughing. "Hehehe~."

Angel asked, curious. "Do you want to know about the other formations, Andrea?"

Andrea coughed. "No need. Continue with your innate skills, little Angel."

Angel nodded and spoke. "Well, my [Illuminating Beam] became [Shattering Prismatic Light]. It is a fascinating skill because I summon a Glass beam that explodes with extreme strength. It really opened my eyes when I shot a glass beam. I didn't know Glass could take fluid forms like plasma or light."

Yasenia laughed. "What more, baby?"

Angel blinked. "Well, the [Crimson Heart Surge] also changed into [Crimson Crystal-heart]. The effects are similar to your berserk skills, Yasenia."

Yasenia answered. "Oh really?"

Angel nodded. "It even changes my hair and eyes!"

Yasenia lifted an eyebrow. "Oh? To red hair and green eyes?"

Angel nodded and frowned. "Yasenia, do you think that is strange?"

Yasenia softly kissed the crease on her otherwise smooth forehead. "Of course not. You are as pretty and lovely with red hair as you are with blonde hair, love. The eyes are also like emeralds, gorgeous."

Angel blushed and hugged Yasenia's neck tighter with a silly smile. "Hehehe, I also think you are the most beautiful in the Universe, Yasenia."

Evelyn wanted to shout that Yasenia didn't say that, but knowing her friend's selective hearing with Yasenia, she didn't bother."

Angel commented. "Then, my third innate skill changed from [Laser Carom] to [Mirror World]."

Mirrory interjected. "I might have some influence in that change."

Yasenia asked. "Anything I shall worry about?"

Mirrory shook her head. "Nothing. It's quite good, actually. She will be more connected to me, and she will probably be one of my strongest users in the future."

Yasenia nodded. "That's good to hear."

Cecile asked, with competitive light in her eyes. "What are your intents?"

Angel smiled proudly. "I've learned [Truth Intent], [Glass Evocation Intent], and [Energy Flow Intent]."

Tatyana whistled. "Those are some major intents. The little girl is shaping to become a behemoth."

The Moon Phoenix knew that the second strongest, excluding seniors, was not her but Angel, so she had some rivalry with her.

Cecile nodded, thoughtful. 'Hmm... Even without Mirrory, beating Angel is quite complicated. She is really strong. I should have a four out of ten chances to beat her.'

Angel innocently asked Cecile, "What about you, Cecile?"

Author: Well, the next chapter will have Cecile's, Kali's, and Andrea's skills!

Yasenia: What about Mom's, Valeria's, and Mirrory's?

Author: That's a mystery~.

Tatyana: Why not say the truth that there are too many?

Author: Well, I could show your main skills, but I want to keep you and the other three seniors a mystery~.

Evelyn: Tsk.

Author: Either way, I summon you!

Randomplant: Hello!

Angel: Hello!

Randomplant: Little Angel, very impressive. We always forget what kind of little genius you are.

Angel: O-Oh, thanks for the praise~. Haha.

Randomplant: Either way, here is the question. Is it possible for someone with a unique element to only possess that element and no others? And would you have to use a cultivation style designed only for that element?

Tatyana: I suppose it is for us, seniors?

Randomplant: Yes!

Mirrory: Well... Unique elements like Yasenias Celestial Element can't be the only type in a cultivator. The cultivator at birth, even if they are a beast, would be unable to hold it. So... they would die.

Valeria: Imagining a newborn's dantian holding Celestial Energy makes it quite clear.

Randomplant: Woah... I didn't need that image in my head.

Valeria: Hahaha, you are the one who asked~.

Randomplant: Either way, are there cultivation techniques for Unique Elements?

Mirrory: Of course. Those elements have had predecessors, and these people created cultivation techniques. Now, the difficult part is finding them.

Randomplant: It makes sense.

Author: And that's all for today. See you later, little lurkers~.

Chapter 606: Cecile's, Andrea's, and Kali's Speech, I mean, skills.

After Angel asked, Cecile flapped her large silver wings once, making a small jump to the open space, and summoned her bow. "[Moon Chasing Bow]." From her inner fist, two plumes of white fog shot in both directions because of the freezing temperature of the weapon.

In an instant, Cecile's bow materialized. It was white, with beautiful trails of white smoke on the tips, intricate craftsmanship, and at least half her height.

Cecile commented while looking at the bow she created indifferently. "My physical bow is good, but I like to practice with bow creation skills. I think relying on a weapon that could break is not the best. After all, once I'm at melee range, battling a powerful sword like Yasenias with my bow could destroy it."

The shape was intricate, and there was something Evelyn noticed quite soon. "Oh? The edges are sharp."

Cecile nodded and continued. "As I said, I want to make close-range combat a possibility, not a weakness. Giving up on melee combat and saying it is my weakness doesn't sit right with me. So, I've created skills for melee combat besides refining my movement techniques."

Her cold voice continued to spread. "My usual attack, without using skills, is to create the [Lunar Space Arrow] and shoot continuously. They are quick, ignore the wind, and can even slightly bend space to be even faster, and when impacting, the Spatial and Moon energies inside it explode. After trial and error, I learned that adding Wind energy complicates things and limits my arrow-making capabilities. Although it is one of my elements, I'm much more attuned to the Moon and Space elements."

Kali asked. "Did you give up on the Wind Element?"

Cecile shook her head. "Not at all. However, you are right if you are asking if I have stopped using most of the skills I learned in the Academy."

Andrea pondered. "So, you've created your new skills?"

Cecile looked at Andrea and nodded. "I think most of us have created a good array of skills. Thankfully, we had Valeria, Mirrory, and Tatyana to help us refine them and avoid many detours we would've taken otherwise."

Evelyn smirked. "You are quite chatty when speaking of these things."

Cecile tilted her head, curious. "I'm not a silent person."

The others blinked a few times, and Yasenias laughed. "Sweetheart, remember that you are most of the time speaking to me via our soul bond."

Cecile nodded, indifferent. "I see. Either way..."

Evelyn's lips twitched. 'She is quite eager to continue.'

"... the intents I've learned are [Bow Intent Level Two], [Void Intent Level One], [Phoenix Intent Level One], and [Harmony Intent Level One]."

Andrea asked. "Not archery intent, but bow intent?"

Cecile nodded. "I think my knowledge in bow making influenced it. The one I'm still confused about is Void Intent. I was trying to learn space, but I learned void. They are not the same, right?"

Mirrory theorized. "I think that happened because you absorbed the [Void Soul Phoenix Tear] that you found in the middle of that Tear Lake in the Secret Realm."

Cecile tilted her head. "It might be possible. My soul grew at least ten times after I absorbed that thing. To not feel changes should be rather difficult."

Cecile continued. "Anyway, my attacking skills are the following. [Moon Freezing Catastrophe], [Moon Phoenix Feather Rain], [Flashing Moon Arrow], [Lunar Fire Storm] [Moon Shredding Shot], and [Moon Phoenix Meteor Shower]."

Evelyn commented. "Oh? They are not that many."

Cecile looked at Evelyn weirdly. "Why would I lose time in useless skills? My kit is good against powerful enemies or taking out armies. The one-against-one potential is also extremely high. Moreover, I've learned healing skills since I've tapped into the truths of being a Phoenix with an intent."

Valeria commented. "Even while mainly being a Fire-attributed creature, Phoenixes are one of the closest creatures to nature between all beasts under the heavens."

Kali smiled. "Maybe that's why I get along with you well, Cecile."

Cecile smiled thinly. "Perhaps."

Yasenia asked with a smile. "So, which healing skills did you learn?"

Cecile shook her head. "I only have two of them for now... Don't you already know them?"

Yasenia laughed. "I just wanted to ask again, sweetheart."

Cecile nodded and explained. "[Phoenix Celestial Harmony] is the first one. It is an arrow that harmonizes with the heavens and gives every person I consider an ally a part of my physical defense and regeneration skills."

"The other skill is [Lunar Yin Phoenix Fire Regeneration]. It is a self-healing skill that increases my regeneration factor at least fivefold. It synergizes well with [Phoenix Celestial Harmony]."

Yasenia pondered. "What about that other skill?"

Cecile blinked. "Do you consider that healing?"

Yasenia shrugged. "More or less?"

Cecile nodded. "I was going to go on my defensive and movements techniques now, so it doesn't matter."

Angel was curious. "Which skill is Yasenia speaking about, Cecile?"

Cecile explained. "[Moon Phoenix Resurrection]. I can ignore one attack that would kill me and instead heal all injuries while my strength is boosted."

Evelyn exclaimed. "That's sick! So, to really kill you, a person must kill you two times, the second time being harder than the first?"

Andrea sighed. "That skill is truly heaven-defying. Is it an innate skill?"

Cecile nodded flatly. "Before going deeper into innate skills. I will tell you about the others. First, [Moon Phoenix Flame dress]. The elemental coat skill's evolution. Nothing much has changed about it."

Cecile summoned it, and white flames surrounded her. When the white fire disappeared, a gorgeous and elegant white and blue dress appeared on her. The long skirt, with long sleeves made of white phoenix feathers, complemented her two large wings and three phoenix tails behind her.

Cecile twirled once, making the flowing cloth move ethereally. She blinked and smiled, looking at Yasenia. "I'm glad you like it."

Her smiling face was like the blooming of flowers after winter, vividly lighting up her usually cold and peerlessly beautiful facial features.

Evelyn tilted her head. "She didn't say-. Oh!"

Yasenia coughed, her cheeks a bit rosy. "Sorry, I became a bit mesmerized."

Andrea giggled and hugged Yasenia from behind, placing her chin on her shoulder. "So cute~."

Yasenia gave her a coquettish side-eye with a bit of reproach. "Silly darling."

Cecile continued. "My main movement skill is [Spatial Distortion]. I developed it after my previous [Blink] skill. With my new space and void understanding, I can move myself much quicker and further instantly... For example."

Angel blinked and saw Cecile disappear. 'Where is she?'

Mirrory smiled. 'Behind you, silly.'

Angel turned around and fell into the cocoon created by the Phoenix woman's hug. 'Wow~. So comfy and refreshing.'

Cecile laughed. "A shame. I couldn't take you by surprise."

Angel looked up and admitted honestly with a smile. "Mirrory warned me! I lost sight of you for a second."

Cecile bopped her nose and used [Spatial Distortion] again to return to her previous position.

Cecile added. "Besides that skill, I have [Hollow Moon steps], a movement technique; [Spatial Moon Freeze], a space and moon attributed barrier; [Astral Shift], a way to twist space and redirect attacks that are not too strong; [Moon Phoenix Sight] a dynamic vision enhancement that allows me to look very far away and feel energies around; [Moon Feather Enhancement] a speed enhancement; and [Lunar Void Flame Enhancement] allows me to surround all my attacks in my Phoenix Fire, freezing everything they touch, including space to some extent."

Andrea admired. "So many enhancing skills. Killing you must feel like a nightmare."

Tatyana agreed. "With her skill set, defeating her might be the only option unless the person fighting her is much stronger. Killing her would be almost impossible."

Cecile smiled. "I'm a mainly ranged attacker, so making myself as slippery as possible is advice I received from Clara."

Sierra commented. "Another of the personal maids?"

Cecile nodded.

Evelyn asked. "So, what are your innate skills?"

Cecile explained. "Besides those skills, my innate skills have evolved a lot. First, [Frosted Skin] became [Lunar Phoenix Body]. It increases Moon and Space affinities and further enhances my regeneration and defense. Then we have [Moon Phoenix Resurrection], as I explained before."

Cecile smiled thinly. "Next, [Chilling Ashes] became [Moonlight Ash Domain]. I'm happy with this one; it summons an ash domain that makes space unstable and applies Wind and Moon attributes. Plus, it also damages people over time if their defense is not high enough. They can breathe in this domain, after all."

Kali exclaimed. "That's dangerous!"

Cecile nodded. "Then, I have my transformation skill that changed from [Phoenix Plumage] to [Moon Phoenix's Dignity], and lastly, [Moon Phoenix Lonesome Elegance], a battle dance skill, became [Moon Phoenix's Lunar Grace]."

Evelyn laughed. "Another battle-enhancing skill?"

Cecile nodded.

Andrea sighed. "Just thinking of fighting you is making me annoyed."

Yasenia rolled her eyes and kissed the heroic face leaning on her shoulder. "You are not much better, Darling. Each time I spar against you, I end up with burns everywhere."

Andrea smiled guiltily. "Sorry, love."

Cecile asked. "What are your skills, Andrea? You've been quite busy with Body Cultivation, so we didn't spar in a while."

Andrea smiled. "Well, my skills are much more straightforward, so I'll tell them as they are. We can always fight together if you want to know them in depth."

Cecile nods.

Andrea started. "My Natural Treasure is called [Star Born Searing Flame], so I created a ranged skill called [Star Born Searing Flame Explosion]. Then, I developed a martial art called [Warring Sun Battle Art]. I have developed the first three stances. [Foundation Crumbling], [Unwavering Barrage], and [Molten Landscape]."

Cecile nodded. "That's really impressive."

Andrea smiled. "Another attack I have is [Sun Explosion], which is the skill to blow up my elemental coat. Then, [Solar domain], [Solar descent], [Sun Molten Pillar], [Sun Obliterating War Dance], and [Sun Burning Palm] are other skills with varied offensive effects."

Kali snorted. "And you were complaining about Cecile."

Andrea smiled and raised her eyebrow. "Oh, but my offensive abilities are worse than my defensive ones."

Evelyn laughed. "Say them, and don't brag."

Andrea rolled her eyes and felt Yasenia kissing her cheek. Yasenia smiled. "Bragging suits you a lot. You look very handsome~."

Andrea softly chuckled. "Well, [Obliterating Chromosphere] is the evolution of my elemental coat. [Sun Obliterating Armament] enhances all my weapons, armor, and accessories by a level and gives them the Sun attribute. Then, [Blinding Flare] is a sight-harming skill that affects the spiritual sense slightly. Next, [Searing Solar Prominence] summons molten arcs around me, [Sun Obliterating Charge] gives me a burst of speed, [Sun Chasing Steps] is my movement technique, and [Star Born Searing Mantle] creates a molten cape and aura that increases my defense many times."

Kali sighed. "Just being near you would burn fifty percent of my plants."

Andrea smiled. "Make it eighty percent because my innate skills have evolved from [Phantom Light], [Solar Skin], and [Light Absorption] to [Molten Sun], [Solar Body], and [Sun Devourer]."

Valeria commented. "A devourer skill? That one will help you massively in later stages."

Tatyana commented. "Her bloodline is called [Sun Eating Tiger], so it must be from it."

Mirrory asked. "What about intents?"

Andrea answered. "[Alloy Weaving Intent Level 1], [Battle Intent Level 1], [Perseverance Intent Level 1]."

Tatyana laughed. "Kali is right. You would be extremely annoying to finish off. Battle intent and Perseverance intent only make you stronger as the battles go on, and your insane defense is already difficult to overcome."

Andrea smiled. "That was my intention. I want to be the frontline and hold off the enemy while all of you do the damage."

Mirrory praised. "A very suitable skill set. Moreover, the continuous damage created around you is very high. Not to mention, your body cultivation technique adds to everything else, increasing your toughness further. Congratulations, child. You are at the level of the others without a doubt."

Andrea laughed happily.

Yasenia's tail wagged, seeing her darling smiling happily. 'Her hard work will reward her, I know it. After all, my darling is exceptional~.'

Yasenia walked toward Kali and hugged her. "Only you are left, honey."

Kali returned the hug and smiled. "I also have a lot of skills depending on the injury, so I will speak about general skills."

Valeria commented. "No need to explain them much; do as Andrea has done. You have plenty of time to spar between each other before the secret realm opens."

Kali nodded and explained. "Well, my skills are [Fox Root Entanglement], [Ironbark Treant summoning], [Verdant Dryad Superior Summoning], [Life Sucking Man-Eating Plant Summoning], [Fatal Parasitic Thorn Field], [Nature's Embrace], [Living Forest], [Ironbark Tree Slicer], [Spirit Severing Sword], and [Nature Spirit Sword Strike]."

Evelyn asked, unsure. "I understand most of them, but Living Forest and Nature's Embrace, what do they do?"

Kali smiled. "Nature's embrace summons massive roots to entangle something and also slap it around. Living Forest is very straightforward. I make the forest around me come to life and attack everything I consider an enemy."

Cecile muttered. "One woman army."

Angel nodded in agreement.

Kali smiled and continued softly. "Then, I have [Three-Tailed Nature Fox Aura], my elemental coat evolution. It's really strong, boosting my life influence, defensive, and offensive power, among others."

Yasenia kissed her forehead and commented. "What more?"

Kali snuggled between her arms and answered. "Well, I have my movement technique, [Flower Blooming Steps]. A defensive skill, [Living Nature Wall]. A boosting domain-like skill, [Fox Flower Land]. A healing aura, [Healing Life Aura]. A strengthening technique, [Fox Essence Boost]. There is also an army boosting skill, [Whispering Blossom Essence Dance], which boosts my plant creatures by summoning life and nature spirits."

Angel blinked and asked, curious. "You can summon spirits?"

Kali nodded. "Lesser ones, though. I'm still learning. Here."

She gathered energy, and a green puffy thing appeared floating about. Angel approached and poked it, making it bounce in the air. Angel giggled. "So cute."

Kali smiled. "Besides these skills, there are my [Life enhancement] skills, which are called [Life enhancement: Parasite Wood], [Life enhancement: Vitality], and [Life enhancement: Verdant Core]. Finally, [Spirit Overgrowth: Berserk to one plant]."

Evelyn asked. "What about the Intents and innate skills?"

Kali answered. "My Intents are [Life Intent Level 1], [Growth Intent Level 1], and [Evolution Intent Level 1]. Then, my innate skills related to my tails are named almost the same, but stronger."

Ebirah, who had been silent, asked. "What are the names?"

Kali listed them. "[Nature Fox First Tail: Nascent Life], [Nature Fox Second Tail: Blooming Life], and [Nature Fox Third Tail: Developing Life]. Then, my [Myriad Blooming Flowers] domain skill changed to [Flower World Domain]. My transformation skill is called [Life Origin's Three-Tailed Fox]. Lastly, the skill to summon Valeria has become strange..."

Andrea lifted an eyebrow. "Strange?"

Kali nodded. "Yes, it is called [Draconic Fox Flower Queen]."

Mirrory was surprised. "Ho?"

Valeria blinked and commented. "Even my bloodline has become [Nature Fox Dragon Spirit Queen]."

Tatyana commented, unsure. "Maybe... After Yasenia had intercourse with her, she transformed?"

Yasenia was a bit stunned and pointed at herself. "Me?"

Kali rolled her eyes. "What other dragon is there that can make an effect like this one?"

Yasenia coughed. "Well, right."

Valeria looked at Tatyana and smirked. "Maybe I can evolve further if I have sex with Yasenia~."

Tatyana lifted her eyebrow. "No need to jump to conclusions."

Valeria pouted. The image of the voluptuous three-meter-tall green lady pouting was quite lethal.

Thankfully, all girls present were accustomed to Yasenia's involuntary displays of sexiness. So, they were immune.

You can imagine waking up, going downstairs the first hour in the morning, and seeing Yasenia skimpily dressed, with a breast almost out of the semi-transparent black nightgown and a lazy face reading a book or something while lying sideways on the couch.

The image was very stimulating. And although getting used to it was impossible, they could develop some resistance. If not, they would all jump on the seductive dragoness every morning.

Yasenia sighed. "You all have grown so much, dears. I'm very proud."

Kali, who was between Yasenia's arms, tip-toed and kissed her chin. "Not more than you, Love."

Yasenia smiled. "You will all catch up to me and overcome me! My dears are the best, after all!"

The girls laughed, and they all returned inside. While demonstrating and showing off a few of the skills, night had arrived before they knew it.

Tatyana: Well, you've done your best. Next, the equipment!

Author: ... No. I refuse. This will come much later!

Yasenia: Hahaha, well, we will improve our equipment during the one and a half years left, so it's normal not to speak about them now.

Author: Right. Anyway, I summon you!

WPOmega: Hello, again!

Kali: Hello!

WPOmega: Well, my question is for Tatyana.

Tatyana: Shoot!

WPOmega: Back in chapter 66, you ran into an old beggar selling powerful items on the roadside, except the items required Qi, mana, or a physical dantian to function. Were all of those items genuinely useless for anything in your world, or were you just preventing Yasenia from getting pulled into the fate of seniors from other worlds needlessly?

Tatyana: Well... Both. That Old Beggar is just a passerby in our story, but he might be a significant factor in another. Just an influential person doing whatever they want and trying not to be bored.

WPOmega: I see. I thought it would be like a super important person later.

Tatyana: Well, that's not in my power.

Author: Shrugs Who knows?

Author: Anyway, this is all for today! Thanks for reading, little lurker~.

Chapter 607: Sect Completed. News Spread!

Three years and nine months had gone by since they arrived in Distancia.

Yasenia was reviewing a few documents about the opening of the sect. After all this time, it was already time to open it to the public.

Their remote location, defensive formations, natural defense of the area, the current size of the Astral Sky Clan, and other factors made it more than possible to operate it.

"The Astral Point System has been refined. I've also created enough tasks in the mission Hall regarding sect management, material collection, hunting, and many other categories for disciples from mortal up to the Mental Nourishing realm."

Yasenia looked at the data on another file and nodded. "Considering the level of the world's top powerhouses, disciples, teachers, and elders above the third realm should have enough freedom to go outside instead of get stronger with tasks."

Yasenia stored everything and jumped on top of a tall building overlooking the entire basin from her high-altitude vantage point. 'There are enough facilities, formations, and landmarks to house tens of thousands of people without problems. We've also opened a library and armory with various levels. The higher the member's sect's prestige, the higher they will be able to climb and gain rewards. This will create incentives and competition.'

Yasenia summoned her sword and mounted it, flying across the sect. 'Now, I would need a first batch that will act as elders and then accept thousands of disciples. Thankfully, I made preparations in my first month here, and now I've grown my Astral Sky Clan enough to serve as a foundation for the sect.'

Yasenia pondered. 'I will take eighty percent of the clan's top-ranked people to live here, leaving behind enough people to keep the Astral Sky Shops we've opened working. According to estimates, this mountain basin can comfortably support half a million people. With about three million while feeling a bit cramped.'

Yasenia imagined managing so many people, and her lips twitched with annoyance. 'I will start slowly. A sect is different from a clan, and survival of the fittest applies. Rules and regulations will be in place, but since the entry test will be much laxer, more than a few bad apples will probably mix in. There will probably be deaths and other problems within the sect... Well, whatever.'

Yasenia shook her head. 'My accumulation of body cultivation techniques of all kinds is also in the thousands, with almost fifteen heaven-ranked ones, so we are not any less than the top-ranked sects. Not to mention, our books, scrolls, and jade slips about professions and other techniques are probably unrivaled. We've kept the most important, but information up the middle-level of the Earth rank is available to be bought.'

Yasenia looked at one of the most significant buildings and nodded. 'The Cultivation Mall for other powers to open their shops here is also done. My reputation item-making wise is resounding by now, and powers won't miss the chance to open a shop near ours because we attract a lot of attention. I've also been careful enough not to eat their market share too much and created competition instead of monopoly.'

Yasenia smiled, and her tail swished calmly as her body flew across the sect's sky.

She saw a pillar of black light in the distance, piercing toward the sky and beyond, and her smile widened as her golden eyes shone with radiance. 'Oh? Mom's formation is finally activating. Perfect. It's time to become a first-rate power and stop being scared of the major powers.'

Yasenia manipulated her sword, and her body became a shooting star as she flew in that direction.

During the next two weeks, like a bolt of lightning in a clear sky, the opening of the [Astral Sky Sect] spread worldwide.

The main reason was that during these last years, people have seen shops of this clan more often than not.

By the time people began noticing the Astral Sky Clan's existence, almost twelve Main Cities and many lower-ranked cities had one shop.

Unlike the primary shops in Koran City, they were not big, but the products they sold were always out of stock because of their high quality and popularity.

The receptionists were always of the highest quality, and the items never disappointed.

A few heard that even the capital of the Lamia Clan, Lobster Clan, and Harpy Clan had one shop, and their products were top-rated even there.

With the knowledge of the Astral Sky Sect, a few rumors of the mysterious leader also spread around.

The fact that the Matriarch liked collecting things, like humans, cultivation techniques, and rare resources, was not a secret.

Moreover, what made people recently investigating them widen their eyes was that Formation-wise, they had, at some point, become a leading power!

They couldn't help but praise the leader repeatedly. She came silently, with swift maneuvers, and by the time the world took notice, the roots of the Astral Sky clan were digging deeply into the Distancia Continent's arteries.

For the residents of Distancia, the Astral Sky Clan was like a hidden dragon that suddenly opened its wings and soared to the sky, casting a shadow on them while hovering with a lofty status above all.

While the news spread like wildfire, in the capital of the Holy Beast Empire, a beautiful woman with a girl-next-door appearance, brown hair, and honey-colored eyes walked down the street when she heard a conversation.

"Have you heard about the Astral Sky Clan opening a sect?"

She has heard this name frequently recently, so she stopped to listen out of curiosity. 'These people are making waves...'

"Of course, I've heard. I wish I could join. I've heard that their Matriarch is not only strong and intelligent, she is like a goddess that fell from the firmament."

A middle-aged woman joined. "Yes, yes. I had the chance to catch a glance when they opened their shop in the city a few hundred kilometers south. Oh, my heavens, I felt like a young girl again as my stomach fluttered, and she had a veil covering half her face! I sometimes can't help but fantasize about her."

The beautiful brown-haired girl lifted her eyebrow. 'A bit exaggerated, aren't they?' A particular pair of golden eyes crossed her mind, and she shook her head. 'If they saw that woman, they would know what real beauty that can make countries fight for a smile is.'

Another man nearby, one with reptile features, sighed with emotion. "Sigh, you have only seen her for a distance, but I had the luck of being in the queue when she entered one of the Astral Sky Shops. Her charming and long dragon tail was so captivating... It was like a piece of the night sky was plucked and printed on her dragon scales."

The listening woman's eyebrow jumped, and she approached. "Excuse me. I was listening from the side and became curious about her. Can I hear a little bit about this mysterious person?"

They turned their heads and saw a woman with a human appearance approaching. They frowned at first, but soon, their scowls disappeared.

There was a strange aura around her, and they felt a peculiar beast aura around her. It was illusory, and before they could think deeply about it, they ignored it and refocused on what the woman said.

One of them answered. "If I'm not confused, her name is Yassenia Dravory, a female dragon that has soared to the sky of top-level powerhouses in just a few years. I heard the sect is situated in the southeast part of the continent. If you know about the secret realm that is about to open, it's not that far. I have a friend who went to see the sect location in the past, and it was an unexplored land full of natural resources! However, the dangers there were too high, and a strange nauseating aura made him get out of there."

The man pondered. "If the Astral Sky Sect was created there, the Matriarch must have cleaned that location."

The woman became dazed, and her honey-colored eyes widened.

An emotionless voice spread in her mind.

[Host, this is a great opportunity. You've been wandering around without roots. Since it is her sect, you'll probably be able to join without fear of being discovered as a human.]

'But what about my lovers? Will they be able to enter?'

[Host, there shouldn't be any problems. Moreover, you have that little princess already in love with you.]

Sarah looked at her system interface and saw a window with the name of eight lovers and another name floating in the "target" section.

'System, how much does it cost the talent increase for lovers?'

[Host, your current points are 33,760. Each lover needs five thousand shop points for the lowest enhancement. However, that enhancement should make them comparable to a genius in this world. Then, 50,000 for the medium enhancement, 500,000 for the genius enhancement, and so on. The highest enhancement is the 50,000,000,000 shop points worth Godlike Talent increase.]

Sarah frowned. 'That's quite expensive.'

[Host. Remember that gaining Yassenia's heart rewards you with a trillion points. Enough to gift Godlike Talent to twenty lovers.]

Sarah looked at the archived mission again and still felt absurd. 'The rewards are too exaggerated. It feels as if the objective is not a junior but a high-level goddess. Are you sure I can complete this quest? It feels like a scam, to be honest.'

The points she earned with her system were related to seducing others and doing lover stuff.

After all, the system was called [Harem Goddess System].

The points she gained varied from person to person.

Among the many factors regulating the point gain, talent, cultivation level, body constitution, bloodline, and love for her mattered the most.

The fact that gaining Yassenia's honest love was worth a trillion points was unimaginable for her when the next person with the most points she had met with a reward for capturing until now was the little princess of the Holy Beast Empire, giving her 100,000 points.

To compare them, these were the two numbers side by side: 1,000,000,000,000 and 100,000.

[System alert. Energy waves from creatures of the True Abyss have been detected in the roots of the world. According to the signal, these signals were created many months ago. The system could not catch them earlier because the souls of the creatures had forcefully been displaced to another realm.]

Sarah was stunned. 'Different realm? True Abyss? What the hell are you talking about?'

[Insufficient authority. To learn about the True Abyss, the host must gather a total of ten million points].

Sarah sighed. 'At least tell me where it happened so I can avoid it. You don't want your host to die against something like that, right?'

[Host. According to the data collected, this event happened months ago, near the location where Yasenias Dravory's Sect has been created.]

Sarah's eyes flashed with conflicted feelings. 'Since the sect is established, either Yasenias is from this strange True Abyss, or she has defeated creatures I need ten million points to start knowing about...'

[Host. Either possibility is absurd.]

Sarah sneered. 'Weren't you unable to sense anything about Yasenias?'

[Host. I beg you to be merciful with this system for being unable to peer into her fate. However, I could discern that her bloodline had nothing to do with the True Abyss back then. The energy signals are too easy to recognize.]

Sarah sighed. 'Fair.'

[Host. Yasenias Dravory being able to defeat them strength-wise is similarly impossible. The creature had an equivalent cultivation to the Dantian Spiritualization Realm. Moreover, they knew [Abyss Chaos Intent]. Therefore, it is impossible for a less than thirty-year-old from a medium world to defeat them.]

Sarah nodded. 'Would you be able to if I use the body overtaking method?'

[Host. I must remind you that you've used all the free chances. To use it, you currently need ten thousand per ten minutes. Answering the question: It would be a difficult fight. My chances of winning would only be 70.9898%]

Sarah's eyebrow twitched. 'Didn't I say only to use one decimal at most when telling me the odds?'

[Host. Understood.]

After pondering for a while, Sarah used her communication device.

"Girls, we are going to enter a sect. Come to my room at night. I have a present for all of you."

Then, she called the little dragon princess from the Holy Beast Empire. "Xiao Long, I'm Sarah."

A soft and cute voice was heard from the device. "Sarah! I miss you a lot." Then, she said shyly.

"Can you give me that massage you gave me the other day? I- um. I felt excited and like floating~."

Sarah looked at the seventy-nine affection points and nodded. "Sure, come to my room tonight."

Sarah cut the connection and pondered after speaking a few sentences with her. 'After I gain the 100,000 from her, I'll increase all their talents and also pay 50,000 to increase mine. Nine people, including the little princess, will be 45,000, and the 50,000 for myself, leaving me with an extra 5,000.'

Her face became a bit strange. 'The little princess is triple my age, but she acts so cute that sometimes I feel like I'm doing something illegal. Moreover... She is taller than me by a head, and her breasts are bigger than my head... Are all dragons this well-endowed?'

She shook her head, and with a plan, she began moving.

Kali: Ho? Is Sarah making a comeback?

Angel: She built her own harem? Strange, she was so in love with Yasenia...

Yasenia: Does it matter? Although... I'm curious about what will happen. How will I react?

Evelyn: That's a strange thing to say...

Andrea: Agreed, hahaha.

Author: We'll see~. I summon you!

dezwon quinn: Hello~.

Kali: Welcome back!

Author: Well, what is the question?

dezwon quinn: Respected seniors, what is the farthest you've seen some with incompatible elements and constitution make it in their cultivation road?

Tatyana: I'm limited by my own cultivation. The highest is the early level of the Transcendence Realm.

dezwon quinn: What happened?

Tatyana: She tried to flirt with me, so I killed her.

dezwon quinn: O-Oh...

Valeria: In my case. There was a mid-level Demigod that controlled darkness and light elements very nicely. Sadly, he angered the Divines, and he was eventually killed.

dezwon quinn: I see...

Mirrory: Well... One of my users was a rare Ice and Fire attributed cultivator. He did not bad.

dezwon quinn: How far did he go?

Mirrory: Spoiler

Mirrory: ...

Author: Cough, ranks above the seventh realm can't be undiscovered yet...

Mirrory: Whatever.

dezwon quinn: Well, thanks for answering. It's a shame that I will forget what I heard when I leave here...

Author: And that's all for today~. Have a nice day!

Chapter 608: Five Beasts and a... Holy? Person.

When Sarah heard the news, the news reached a mountain filled with powerful beasts.

Over the last three years, the previously wild creatures had organized and created groups.

The powers in the surroundings were surprised and learned that five youths had appeared and led them with very progressive methods.

After investigating, they couldn't discover much besides that their high-level bloodlines and intelligence were outstanding.

On the mountain range, these five youths were listening to a tiny rodent. A rare race of beasts that maintained their mortal size while increasing their strength.

"Five Divine Heirs, we've learned something about the person you've been searching for!"

One of them, a tall and voluptuous woman with large green draconic wings and a long tail with emerald-like scales, lifted her eyebrow. "Oh? What did you find?"

"Yes! We've discovered the existence of the Astral Sky Sect. A power that will open in the near future."

A half-black, half-white-haired youth approached the voluptuous and tall dragon woman. "He beat me to it, it seems. What do you think we should do, Laurina?"

Laurina pondered seriously, but her wagging tail because of happiness didn't escape their eyes.

"That's really good. It has been a few years since I saw little sister Yaseña's delicious body- cough. I mean, since we managed to gather and unite all the senior beasts of this mountain range, and their strength is not bad, we should guide them all toward little sis Yaseña so that we can become her strength."

Gorena, a very tall, muscular, but gentle-looking woman, smiled. "All of them? What about the natural resources here?"

Laurina looked up at her and spoke. "Just take everything Earth ranked and above. Moreover, you are an [Island Turtle]. Can't you transform and float most of the things we can't store in our rings on your back?"

Gorena softly chuckled and turned her head. "Frisk, can you help me?"

Frisk, a short blonde man, nodded. "Sure, big sis Gorena. I'll summon a cloud below you to help you during the journey."

The half-black-half-white-haired man asked. "We can tell those oldies to help us, no? A few of them can't take their human forms either way."

The last one, a blue-haired, slender, and cold-looking woman, sighed. "Razar, you know that we should be respectful. They might have low-level bloodlines. But at least they are our seniors."

The man snorted. "Whatever. Can you not be so serious all of the time, Sirae? Being an [Ice Phoenix] doesn't mean you must act like an iceberg."

Sirae rolled her eyes and turned toward Laurina. "When do we leave?"

Laurina smiled. "Now! I hope Yasenia likes her new three thousand subordinates."

Frisk tilted his head. "Aren't there a few more?"

Laurina blinked her green slit eyes. "But those in the Mental Nourishing Realm and above are about three thousand, right? Those below that level aren't worth it as a subordinate. They must train first!"

Gorena patted Laurina's head. "Don't say something you don't feel aloud. I know you consider them close. What if they hear you? They would be heartbroken, right?"

Laurina pouted but pushed her head against the big hand on her head. "Big sis Gorena, I'm not your child. Also, I knew it already. No need to remind me!"

Gorena smiled. "I know. But I'm the oldest, so I need to take care of all of you. You also call me big sis, so I'll treat you as my little sis."

The other four snorted, but their eyes had a smile. In recent years, facing difficulties together has brought them much closer to each other.

Lorena, the [Nature Dragon], laughed and pointed southeast. "Let's go! Destination: Yasenia's sect!"

The five heirs from the beast clans of the Sky Continent and their three thousand subordinates gained in Distancia moved toward the Astral Sky Sect while escorting about nine thousand younger ones.

When the grand total of 12,000 beasts moved, the earth quaked at their steps, and nobody dared stop them.

Many surrounding cities became highly alert, thinking that a beast tide was approaching. Thankfully, the thousands of enormous beasts ignored all cities and continued in one direction, taking detours not to enter other people's territories.

While this beast army moved across, there was another very hidden place in the southern part of the continent that got information about Yasenia's presence and had previous knowledge about her.

The place was in the middle of a desert, in a cave hidden by complex formations that appeared nothing like the Distancia Continent's formations.

Underground there was a city built underground with a large temple in the middle.

The structures were mainly white, with flames gently adorning the giant pillars.

Looking inside, in the middle of the largest room, a room with incredibly dense energy, a gorgeous woman wearing ceremonial clothes sat there and cultivated with resources gathered by her followers.

The aura around her was profound and mysterious, and her whole appearance made her feel holy.

One tall man approached and kneeled with reverence. This man was, surprisingly, a human. "Lady Xian, we've heard about the demonic creature who hurt your esteemed self in the past."

The woman slowly opened her eyes, and a mysterious aura filled with Fate energy filled the surroundings. "Oh? Did you find out about that lizard woman? Is she close to us?"

The man was confused and commented. "Lady Xian, we've learned that she is a pure dragon, not a lizard."

The beautiful woman's black hair flowed with anger, and she said in a dignified manner. "A dragon is nothing more than a lizard with wings!"

The man was slammed onto the ground by the pressure of the aura. "Y-Yes, it was my fault. Don't be angry, Holy daughter."

The woman's anger diminished. "I lost my composure. That woman is the enemy of all humans, and she only wants to kill all of us."

The man nodded with a maddened fervor. "There is no need to apologize! This one is stupid, and I didn't know better!"

The woman nodded, satisfied. "You are the second strongest, Wulf. No need to call yourself stupid."

The beautiful woman, Tang Xian, followed. "Have you discovered anything about the Holy Son, Long Baidi?"

The man shook his head. "We are the only human power of this continent, and gathering information is difficult. Yet, we've received information about a secret realm opening."

The woman nodded nonchalantly. "Is the cultivation limit known?"

The man nodded. "If we are not incorrect, it should be up to the peak level of the Ethereal Soul Body Realm."

Tang Xian muttered. "So, up to half-steps of the Unification Realm." She asked again. "When does it open?"

The man commented. "Lady Xian, we've heard that it will open in about a year and a few months."

Tang Xian calculated and smirked. "Those half-bastards think they are better than us, humans? Hahaha, I'll show them what living at the bottom of a well means. Our counterattack begins in the secret realm! It's time we take this continent back from the clutches of the impure beast humans."

Tang Xian looked back at the only Mental Nourishing Realm human below her and nodded. "You can leave."

The man nodded and left.

Then, she closed her eyes and used her highly developed Fate attribute to feel the future.

'Hmm, I still feel nothing if I try to calculate that bitch or anyone around her. Does she have a Fate master by her side? Long Baidi... I also feel nothing. After that day when I suddenly felt his presence disappearing, I haven't been able to learn anything about it.'

The woman opened her beautiful eyes and sighed. "Even with my [Fate Intent] already at the second level, I'm still unable to perceive them. Well, let's continue to cultivate. I'm a chosen one from the prestigious Tang Family with powers and treasures that these people can only imagine. I'm a superior being controlling the strongest attribute, Fate!"

She smiled with a saintly expression and stated. "This continent will eventually fall to its knees under my influence."

Her aura burst outward, revealing a stunning eighth-level Unification Realm Cultivation on the verge of breaking through to the ninth.

The thousands of humans who felt the wave of energy looked toward the temple with fervent expressions, many kneeling and muttering prayers and thanks toward their Holy Lady.

Whatever treasures she had found in that cave, they had helped her cultivation speed be absurdly high.

A few days back, back in the Astral Sky Sect, Yasenya arrived at the place where the black pillar originated.

It was an open area outside the sect's boundaries. Yasenya heard that it was in case the formation collapsed. The dragoness blinked. "What did she create? We are about five hundred kilometers away from the mountain basin. Does this have that much destructive energy if it goes wrong?"

Tatyana was floating in the middle of a massive formation that could be comparable to a city in size.

Unlike the sect formations and other similar ones that used repetition and patterns to cover large expanses of terrain, this formation was this large without those tricks, showing levels of complexity Angel could only dream of achieving right now.

A transparent black pillar of energy continuously shot upward as if the beam pierced the heavens.

Tatyana saw Yasenya arriving and smiled. "I see that this time you listened~."

Yasenya pouted. "You told me not to come until a massive pillar appeared, so I will listen to you."

Tatyana laughed. "Tell that to the Abyssal Horror that slapped you half-dead."

Yasenya blushed a bit. "A-Anyway, what is this all about? Aren't you worried seniors will arrive here to investigate?"

Tatyana smiled coldly, with dignity and a regal aura behind her words. "They can come if they want. Anyway, this formation has been successful."

Our dragoness was surprised. "What does it do? You told me that with it, we can become a first-ranked power, right?"

Angel and the others arrived while they spoke and waited beside Yasenya.

Tatyana answered. "Well, you'll see. From now on, don't distract me. This thing is complicated to control with my seventh-level Unification Realm Cultivation."

Mirrory muttered. "I'm surprised you can control it at all."

Valeria nodded and revealed. "This is at least a peak-level Transcendence Realm formation. Maybe higher..."

The girls were stunned.

Angel looked at how the formation's symbols, lines, and lights ethereally moved and transformed under Tatyana's peerless control. "So many processes at once, such mastery... Oh my heavens, it is so beautiful."

Yasenia looked at Angel and saw that her cheeks were rosy because of excitement, making her feel amused.

'I wonder what will happen?'

Andrea: Wow... I want to know what will happen.

Author: :3

Yasenia: Hum... what do you girls think?

Evelyn: Hm... A formation that took Tatyana almost four years to complete? Even if she is just in the Unification Realm, I don't dare underestimate it.

Tatyana: Hehehe, you'll see the next chapter.

Author: Either way, I summon you!

Randomplant: Hello!

Angel: Hello~.

Randomplant: I wanted to ask Sarah's system something!

Author: Hmm... Let me summon it.

System: [Host? Analyzing events, no information, unable to determine the current situation. Entering emergency-]

Bonk

Author: Stop. You are not in danger.

System: [Creature made of inestimable power. Chances of winning zero percent.]

Author: Listen to this question and answer it.

Randomplant: Hey, system. As a mission target becomes stronger and time passes, does the mission still give the same reward, or can the reward be altered by different conditions?

System: [Unable to answer. Not enough Authority.]

Randomplant: Um... Author, can you do something about that?

Author: As I did with the gods that decided not to answer, I will not intervene.

Randomplant: Ugh... This place is not under Heaven's influence, you can answer.

System: [Unable to answer. Questions from Non-host will not be answered.]

Randomplant: Tsk. It's a wasted question.

Author: Anything more?

Randomplant: Sigh, nothing more. Thanks for summoning it.

Author: No worries~. This is all for today, little lurkers~.

Chapter 609: Tatyana Pierces The Void.

Meanwhile, Tatyana focused on the formation and felt her meridians straining to move the energy, but her face didn't change in the slightest.

The rivers of energy her body was moving per second would drain even Yasenias with just a minute of supporting it.

She was mid-preparation, slowly activating all the extra measures she needed to take.

Tatyana looked around, and her powerful spiritual sense spread to analyze the formation. 'Good, the connection is done. The space is stable. The countermeasures are prepared. Moreover, I was able to trick the main will of the heavens...'

While doing all of this, Tatyana's red eyes and skin glowed because of the sheer amount of energy flowing through her meridians. Because the dantian was located in the soul, her current body had access to her actual energy reserves, so there were no problems regarding the energy quantity needed.

Tatyana lifted her arm, and a small part of the lines and symbols lit up, connecting her soul with the vast formation.

"Come to me. [Void Shredding Formation Pen]."

Her voice echoed as the space around her hand twisted as she summoned a treasure from her spatial ring in her main body.

The space above Tatyana collapsed, and a massive translucent hand that dwarfed mountains descended from the void, handling the Death Empress something.

Distancia, a low-level world, could not resist the sheer pressure from her soul descending into the world.

Looking at the events, the girls gulped. Her raw strength to twist, crumble, and tear space apart with just her presence was awe-inspiring.

Looking at the item that appeared in Tatyana's hand, they all found it familiar.

Tatyana had momentarily summoned the Death Empress's personal formation pen from the main body's spatial ring.

The space around the extremely high-quality treasure twisted and cracked in a few spots because of the sheer pressure of the Formation Pen's aura, hastily regenerating right after.

Unlike Yasenias spatial ring, a treasure previously owed by Tatyana but of lesser quality, this formation pen didn't have space qualities to avoid leaking its pressure. Not to mention, the current Tatyana was not strong enough to suppress it. Therefore, low-level worlds couldn't even handle the stress its aura emitted.

Naturally, the heavens were not happy.

RUMBLE!

The appearance of a treasure far beyond what these heavens could resist was something they didn't want to support. Hence, they summoned terrible tribulation clouds that gathered with monstrously strong lightning dragons danced between the clouds with a thunderous presence.

Tatyana looked upward indifferently, with her body connected to her descended soul. She was unafraid. "Did you not learn your lesson? If I wanted to destroy you or the balance of this world, I have much more direct methods."

She didn't speak loudly, but her voice seemed to reverberate in the fabric of the world, making everything around twist by the raw strength of her voice.

The gathering clouds thundered with tremendous might, seemingly still angry.

RUMBLE

"This is a warning."

Tatyana waved her arm upward, and her soul's aura burst from her toward the sky.

It was not her current body's aura but her main body's aura. Something she could summon thanks to the formation, the same with her formation pen.

The girls saw the space above Tatyana literally twisting and cracking as an enormous wave of invisible yet noticeable pressure slammed against the tribulation.

BOOOOOM!

The clouds above burst open as if a bomb exploded in the middle. The space cracked, twisted, and exploded, allowing the Sun to shine through right above Tatyana. Even then, the light rays were not straight, as they bent because of the spatial fracture created by the Death Empress's aura explosion.

Even if it was sent upward, the girls on the ground flew backward like a leaf in the middle of a hurricane.

Tatyana had a sense of property, and the other two seniors also protected them, so they were thrown without any damage to them.

The girls looked at the aftermath and licked their dry lips. The fantastical sight of the tribulation clouds having a hole while the light and space passing through twisted unnaturally, falling on top of the floating red-eyed woman, was surreal, sending shivers of awe and terror down their spine.

Tatyana spoke again, her words piercing deep into the fabric of the world with regal might. "I will not warn you again. Don't interfere. I promise not to summon anything that you disagree with. Not to mention, you will benefit from this."

The floating black-haired woman was inviolable, unmatched, and divine as she faced a shattered heavenly tribulation with indifference.

A moment later, the clouds stopped gathering, and shortly after, they dissipated. However, the pressure remained because the heavens looked attentively at what was happening.

Kali gulped. "D-Did mother-in-law just chase a heavenly tribulation away?"

Mirrory explained calmly. "If Tatyana's real body could descend here, she could not only chase it away, but killing these heavens wouldn't be that problematic. Hence, a burst of her real aura is enough to make the space in this place collapse."

The girls' mouths formed an "O" shape.

Tatyana then waved the [Void Shredding Formation Pen], writing in the fabric of the world with it.

Angel's eyes opened wide. "S-She is creating a formation within the raw fabric of space?"

Mirrory nodded. "For what she wants to do, it is necessary."

After a minute of writing neither quickly nor slowly, she let go, and the formation pen disappeared, returning the space around her to normal.

Her long black hair waved around, even when no wind was present, and her eyes glowed with bloody light.

Then, she chanted aloud. "[Interdimensional Transcendent Sunder Formation]."

As her words spread around, the World fell silent.

The girls looked at the formation and saw that the center glowed with tyrannical energy waves.

From the formation's center, an energy beam as wide as a mountain shot upward with unstoppable might and broke open the sky, literally.

BOOOM!

The previous spatial rifts were different from what happened now.

With the might of that beam, Tatyana literally ripped the sky open.

A giant black hole was above all of them, like the maws of some beast about to swallow worlds and suns alike.

Tatyana looked through the void for a few seconds, making them look on with confusion as to what she was waiting for. Tatyana spoke. "Little Treasure, cover Kaleina's eyes."

Yasenia covered her eyes and pushed her head between her breasts as her long tail coiled around her torso to hide her and make it impossible to look. "Love, don't look and be obedient, okay?"

Kaleina, who was looking at the magical spectacle with awe, blinked twice as her head was buried in the, in her opinion, most comfortable place in the world, between her mommy's breasts!

Now that she was buried in Yasenia's comfortable embrace, her tense body relaxed. She obediently snuggled deeper and closed her eyes, sniffing and rubbing against the softness. 'So comfy~.'

Yasenia didn't know why Tatyana ordered that, but she dared not be negligent.

The reason was revealed a few seconds later.

Valeria squinted with hatred. "Here they come."

They all saw with wide-open eyes how the sky was torn open, creating a purple-red twisting portal that opened toward a place that made no sense.

"GRAAAHHH!!!"

"SCREECH!"

"ROAARR!"

A cacophony of deafening, abhorrent howls was heard, but a protective barrier created by Mirrory and Valeria protected our girls.

They all saw horrifying beasts trying to cross over from that strange place.

The Heavens of Distancia Continent trembled as the nauseating and corrupting aura poured from the hole in the sky.

Yasenia's pupils thinned as the aura was extremely familiar. "Abyssal Horrors!? Why!?"

Mirrory shook her head. "Abyssal Horrors are just weaklings. These things are the real deal."

Not to mention their deformed shapes, a few with countless mouths, others with myriad eyes, and others a mass of tentacles and twisting flesh; the aura was horrifying enough.

Angel trembled slightly and hastily hugged Yasenia's side. The other girls were not much better.

Thankfully, Yasenia already had some resistance, so she didn't feel that bad.

The largest one was so big between them that only one finger was more enormous than a mountain.

However, the Death Empress sneered and quickly cast a skill with the help of the formation. Her elegant voice spread majestically as she spoke. "As if I didn't expect company from the True Abyss while breaching dimensions. Now, all of you disappear. [True Aura Manifestation: Eternal Abyssal Rendering]."

The heavens once again trembled with fear since this was a similar skill to the one that hurt in the past.

However, it didn't react too badly because the attack was not directed at it.

A massive hurricane of Death and Fate energies swirled and manifested a kilometric Death Reaper wearing a long red robe while holding a bulky scythe bigger than many mountains in the surroundings.

Tatyana pointed toward the hole in the sky. "Go."

With an eerie cackle, it disappeared and crossed the hole in the sky in less than an instant. Its speed made it look as if it had teleported.

Then, the girls saw it blurring as it slashed around the hordes of horrifying Abyssal Creatures.

The strongest ones reacted quickly and attacked back, but the massive Death Reaper was untouchable, with enough speed to kill at least a hundred of them per second.

Tatyana looked on with an emotionless face and commanded. "Finish it."

The giant Reaper cackled as the enormous Scythe glowed with a black and white aura as it rushed toward the biggest one of them.

Even with its massive size, the reaper looked small. However, after dodging a flurry of attacks from various limbs, it slashed downward, right down the middle.

SLASH!

The giant creature was bisected in half, and with it, all of the Abyssal creatures that approached were slain.

The red-cloaked Death Reaper turned into a red light and crossed the portal to sink into Tatyana again.

Then, the strange passage collapsed, leaving the previous black void in the sky.

The Death Empress nodded. "Now, I can proceed."

Tatyana focused on the formation and then activated it in its entirety.

"[World Connecting Array]."

Instead of darkness, a white light shone and descended from the hole in the sky.

The light lowered and consumed the translucent black pillar, finally landing on the ground with gentle force.

The pureness of the energy made the Heavens relish, as it was of much higher quality than what it could produce.

This was because the energy came from the Sky Continent!

The pure aura sunk into the Earth, nourishing the surroundings. Moreover, Tatyana guided this aura toward the mountain Basin, increasing the energy concentration of that place at least fivefold.

The hole in the sky mended in the next second with the help of that energy, and the world returned to normal.

With it, the heavens retreated, and the invisible pressure disappeared.

Yasenia and the girls looked toward the middle of the formation, and their eyes widened.

Tatyana looked around and smiled. "Very nice. There are more than I expected."

In the middle of the formation, fifty women wearing maid outfits kneeled, not toward Tatyana, but toward Yasenia. Then, their voices spread around in a pleasant harmony.

"Young miss, we are here to serve you!"

Tatyana turned toward Yasenia and smiled widely. "Fifty of your personal maids from back in the Sky Continent have arrived~. You should welcome them, little treasure."

Yasenia's mouth fell open in astonishment. "Huh?"

Chapter 610: Yasenia's Nostalgia.

Tatyana burst into laughter. It was rare to see her daughter making such a silly face.

Yasenia looked at her laughing mother and looked back at the familiar fifty faces, then she asked, still dumbfounded. "You summoned them?"

Tatyana nodded with a smile lingering on her lips. "That's right."

Yasenia was confused and frowned. "Why? Doesn't this make things much easier for me? It doesn't match your usual methods."

Alaia, the yellow dragon maid with azure eyes, flapped her wings and approached Yasenia.

Alaia could be said to be the leader of the mortal-ranked maids, so her taking the lead was not strange. Not to mention, Alaia's closeness to Yasenia was apparent, as many of her habits came from her.

Well, Yasenia was very close to all her personal maids.

As if to prove it, when Alaia hugged Yasenia, she pulled her down and buried our dragoness's face between her large breasts while kissing her forehead and asking in a distraught manner. "Young Miss, we've missed you so much! Are you not satisfied with our presence?"

Yasenia didn't struggle and hugged Alaia back with a smile. "Of course, I'm satisfied and happy. But it's a bit strange. Anyway, it's good to see all of you again."

Alaia released her from her hug, and the other forty-nine maids flew to Yasenia's side and began asking about her well-being one after another.

The first one asking was Alaia. "Did someone bully you, miss? We are here now, and we'll punish everyone who dares bully you!"

Yasenia smiled, her eyes shining with a soft light. "Well, I've had a problem with a few, but let's speak about that later."

The maids frowned, and thick killing intent emitted from them, making the spectating girls feel goosebumps and chills.

One said seriously, like a worried big sister. "You must tell us, young miss! If you don't want us to make a move, that's fine, but we must know who is bullying you!"

Yasenia nodded with a smile. Flora, the dryad, asked with concern. "Young miss, have you eaten well? Have you taken fancy of any other vegetables?"

Yasenia chuckled and spoke. "Yes. I've even become a Spiritual Chef. However, until now, there aren't tastier vegetables than yours, Flora."

Another maid smiled. "That's fantastic. A good diet is essential to make you grow healthy!"

Yasenia had already grown, but for these maids who still didn't know about the Trial, Yasenia was still in her twenties. Of course, even after they know about it, they won't change.

Clara, the tanned human maid with white hair and silver eyes, continued. "How is your cultivation, young miss?"

Yasenia answered. "I'm more than three-quarters into the seventh level of the Unification Realm."

The maids blinked and widened their eyes, and then they all puffed their chests with palpable pride.

Angel muttered with a laugh. "Cute."

What followed was praise flying left and right.

"As expected of young miss."

"She has become a talented and beautiful lady."

"Of course! Our miss is the best!"

"Humph, that's right. Those brats back in the Sky Continent are so arrogant, thinking they can even rival with a scale of my young miss's tail!"

Many of them bragged about Yasenia, making our dragoness feel like she had returned to her youth.

Although Tatyana had raised Yasenia, the personal maids had been with her since birth.

From the millions Tatyana overlooked and trained, only three hundred made it to become Yassenia's personal maids.

Moreover, about seventy percent of them were beast-humans or beasts in human form between them.

As previously mentioned, Tatyana concealed their race to avoid Yassenia gaining tender feelings for beast humans and avoid Yassenia getting too emotional when she saw other beast humans in slavery.

Tatyana's raising methods were extremely well thought out to create who Yassenia is today, but the maids also had a big part in her life.

They all were like Yassenia's big sisters since birth, and they took care, taught, and guided the dragoness when Tatyana couldn't.

To be fair, if Yassenia hadn't left her house to get a much-needed harem for her early cultivation levels, she probably would've chosen them as her harem members.

Yassenia looked around and tilted her head. "Where are Anna and Eve?"

Tatyana commented. "Although I could summon a few, I can't break this heaven's laws... Well, it's more like I don't want to break them. Anna and Eve are in the Transcendence Realm, so I couldn't summon them here. The number was also limited to fifty because of my limited cultivation and the maximum that the formation could transport."

Andrea asked. "Can't you create that formation again and summon all of them in batches?"

Tatyana shook her head. "You've seen the destruction I create with it. This world can't bear the strain of a formation of that caliber again. It must recover."

Yassenia asked. "How long?"

Tatyana smiled. "Long enough that it doesn't matter if you know. After all, we will probably be in another place by then."

Cecile tilted her head. "Couldn't you have summoned us back to the Sky Continent?"

Tatyana again shook her head. "The destination formation is quite simple to build. However, the "launching" formation is extremely complex. Especially when I'm piercing dimensions, I can't create it with my current strength. I need at least to reach Half-step of the Dantian Spiritualization realm or above, I'm not sure."

Mirrory, who had been silent, spoke, materializing and floating above Angel. "If you take into account the new fifty maids, you most certainly will need higher cultivation. They are all Dantian Spiritualization Realm cultivators, after all."

Yassenia observed their auras and could see improvement in their cultivation. "Wow. You have become so strong! A few of you weren't in the Dantian Spiritualization Realm before!"

The top five cultivators responsible for assisting Angel and the other girls were the dedicated maids assigned to each of them. Alaia, the yellow dragon maid, served as Evelyn's maid; Flora, the dryad maid, was entrusted with Kali's care; Selena, the red lamia maid, took care of Angel; Clara, the tanned silver-haired human maid, looked after Cecile; and Leila, the brown dog maid with droopy ears, attended to Andrea.

Alaia had a ninth-level Dantian Spiritualization Realm cultivation, Flora and Selena at the eighth level, and Leila and Clara at the seventh level. The equivalents of high-level Epoch Core realm cultivators.

The other forty-five maids were not as strong, with fifteen between the fourth and sixth level and the other thirty between the first and third level.

Kali was confused. "Mother-in-law, although the number is limited, why choose those with relatively low cultivation levels?"

The maids blinked and turned toward Kali. Kali coughed and explained herself. "I mean, with mother-in-law connections, finding fifty half-step Dantian Spiritualization people to teleport here shouldn't be that difficult, right?"

Tatyana clarified. "The reason I summoned them was not to place Yasenias as the top power of the continent. If my sources are right, the top powers of the continent have between one hundred to three hundred Epoch Core cultivators."

Tatyana continued. "Therefore, this summoning was to cut the waiting time for Yasenias by decades. In the end, the Distancia Continent is just a step. She doesn't need to build every single step from nothing."

Tatyana looked at Yasenias with pride in her red eyes. "There have been a few mistakes, but little treasure has managed to create a very solid foundation in a continent full of enemies. Moreover, this was all done while covering the fact that all of you human girls were slaves. This is not easy."

The Death Empress added. "In a land where they are looked down upon, slaughtered for no reason, and used as sex toys by many, Yasenias created a power where beast humans born in these circumstances began accepting humans, and she also created a connection with the top powers without making them suspect of her intentions."

She furthered added. "She managed to gain enough wealth to rival top powers, a working force, created an alliance, and next week, she will open a sect surrounded by natural defenses and a very powerful formation that would need quite a few peak-level Epoch Core cultivators to breach. What does this mean? Even if things go awry, Yasenias just needs to turtle in the formation and cultivate. In fifty years, who can stop her?"

"Furthermore, little treasure has made negligible enemies, and the offenses are not deep enough to throw everything out of the window and attack her with all forces. So, taking into account a scenario where a lot of high-level Epoch Core cultivators assault her power is nonsense."

"Taking everything into account, and many other achievements like the plethora of local techniques she acquired that I haven't mentioned, little Treasure has already managed to dominate the Distancia Continent. The only thing she has left to do in this Continent is to get a proper Body Cultivation for all of us."

"By summoning the maids, I can avoid wasting little Treasure's precious time on useless things like politics by giving her trusted and capable subordinates so she can relax and focus on improving her cultivation without neglecting and even accelerating the inevitable ascension of her Astral Sky Clan."

While being stared at by all the girls and maids with gawking expressions, Tatyana shrugged and finished by saying. "In short, me summoning the fifty maids only accelerates Yasenias ascension to supremacy in this continent. She has already done all the foundation building."

The girls and maids couldn't help but feel a wave of admiration toward Yasenias.

Everything happened so gradually for the girls that they didn't really understand the extent of Yasenias achievements until now when Tatyana laid them bare before their eyes.

Although they had helped her in many aspects, they knew that more than fifty percent of the work to make the Astral Sky Clan what it is today came from their dearest.

Thus, hearing everything summarized in a sentence was impactful.

The maids who came here without prior knowledge of what happened didn't know what to do with their surging feelings.

They were delighted and proud that their young miss reached such heights in four years. However, they also felt their heart prickling because managing to achieve all of this meant she had to suffer.

Yasenia smiled and spoke. "Well, if it weren't for my dears and your presence, I wouldn't have managed to do all of this, Mom."

Tatyana chuckled and didn't deny it, even if she felt otherwise. 'It is true that she had committed a few mistakes, but didn't most problems stem from the fact that Yasenias had to cover for us because we were humans? Were she alone, she would've managed similar achievements.'

Of course, she wouldn't discredit her own and the other girls' efforts, but it was an achievement Yasenias should be proud of.

Yasenia presented Kaleina to the maids, and a wave of squeals, hugs, and kisses fell on the young dragoness.

Kaleina was very fond of receiving affection if the people were trusted by her Mommy, so she purred in happiness as fifty new aunts pampered her.

Time passed after they returned to the Astral Sky Sect, and Yasenias put them all up to pace.

Not only that, Yasenias prepared many core positions to be passed on to them.

Since Tatyanas formations had concealing arrays ingrained, nobody knew about the arrival of the fifty maids.

Yasenia also didn't inform anybody, so they were kept hidden for a while as they prepared to "honestly" climb the ranks and "fairly" snatch the top places in their young miss's power.

Then, in the fourth year of Yasenias arrival to the Distancia Continent, the [Astral Sky Sect] finally opened its doors to the outside world.

Tatyana: I think I've covered all bases as to why they've arrived.

Author: Humu, I also think so. I wonder what the dears think?

Evelyn: By the way...

Author: Yes?

Evelyn: While being squeezed between a pair of large breasts Why are they here?

Alaia: Hoho? You don't want me here, little Evelyn?

Evelyn: Not at all!

Angel: Selena is also here!

Selena: Of course, little Angel. Come here, I miss hugging you.

Andrea: pats her head Welcome, Laila.

Laila: Thank you, lady Andrea.

Cecile: Lets spar later.

Clara: Hahaha, so eager!

Kali: I need to present to you someone, Flora.

Flora: Oh?

Valeria: Hello, child~.

Flora: M-Mother?

All: Eh?

Author: Either way, I summon you!

Evelyn: No, no. Explain-.

?????: Hello!

Kali: Wait, anonymous, we need to ask the author something!

?????: Why can't I hear them?

Author: No worries, what's your question?

?????: Humu. Strange. Anyway, in some stories, dragons reproduce by dividing their energies. The female lays the egg and the male fertilizes it with his energy. Is it possible that Kaleina's egg was an unfertilized egg and that Yasenias is actually her father?

Evelyn: Argh! I need answers!

Author: So, who do you want to answer your questions?

?????: How about, Valeria?

Evelyn: I want you to answer, Author!

Author: Valeria it is.

Valeria: The reason of what you said is not possible boils down to one thing.

?????: Which is?

Valeria: Yasenias didn't use her sperm but blood. Hence, it was a fertilized egg.

?????: I see.

Author: And that's all for today. Bye-bye, little lurkers~.

The rest: Author!!!!
