

Heaven 941

Chapter 941: Arrival Of Estrella's First Birthday.

Two months were quick to go by. Everyone had been focused on bettering themselves while taking care of the children, so, for Yaseña and the girls, sleep became nothing but a dream.

Their cultivation levels allowed them to be awake indefinitely as long as they cultivated from time to time. Therefore, it was more of a luxury than anything else.

Of course, while sleep was gone, getting bedded by their lovely dragoness was not. After their first pregnancy, the girls were even more active, so Yaseña took 6 hours daily to satisfy all her dears and herself.

Then, she used another 6 hours to cultivate her three paths, and finally, the rest of the day was spent keeping her family company. Sometimes, Yaseña wished there were more hours in the day.

Her work as the Sect Master and Alliance Master had been wholly relegated to other people, so she checked in occasionally to ensure nothing was going wrong.

If someone needed her personal intervention, the maids would come and tell her. Other than that, Yaseña was 100% family-focused.

As a Mama Dragon, she was almost everywhere at all times. Of course, she was always careful not to pamper them too much and tried to discipline them. A true loving parent will not only give their child their world but also teach them how to fight the world themselves.

"Skye, Dawn, how about you try to do it like this~?"

The dragoness sat cross-legged and guided them to complete the puzzle slowly. Toddlers are like sponges, so teaching them and training their thinking at young ages would go a long way to make them sharper in the future. One thing was letting your baby enjoy life, and another was forgetting that they would eventually grow up.

Teaching them general skills was excellent for the children's growth.

At the side, Yaseña heard her second eldest's young and adorable voice. "Mommy! Look! Look!"

The dragoness smiled and looked over. "Oh? What do you want to show me, Estrella?"

Estrella held a wooden sword and then made a small sword routine with incredible expertise for a child that had yet to reach one year old.

Yaseña clapped and used her tail to bring her second eldest into her arms and rain kisses on her. "You are so good! Baby is learning really fast~."

Skye, Dawn, and Aurelia looked over and became jealous. Then, they became focused and tried to do their things quicker and better.

Yaseña looked at them with a smirk on her lips. Competitiveness was a natural quality of all creatures with dragon blood. The dragoness wanted to feed on it in a healthy way.

Behind them, Angel and Evelyn sat on a bench with smiles. They loved watching Yaseña play with the kids and using her incredible intellect to raise them. The little details their dragoness added to everything, knowing how dragons worked, had helped them tremendously.

Therefore, each time Yasenias was playing with the kids, they watched closely and learned. Of course, the figure of Yasenias playing with the kids was so endearing that they would never get tired of it.

Tatyana entered the playground and smiled. "I am here~."

Estrella turned around and smiled brightly, running over. "Mama!"

Tatyana could feel her cold heart's edges slowly melting as she leaned down to hug and lift the little darling. "How is my baby doing? Hm? Is your training going well?"

Estrella nodded and said with a proud little humph. "Mommy praised me!"

Tatyana laughed. "That's really good!" Then, she approached the other three and crouched to give each of them a small kiss on the forehead. "What about you, Skye, Aurelia, Dawn? How are you doing?"

Skye babbled a few words with a large grin. "Great! Playing with Mommy is great!"

Aurelia spoke right after, her tone a bit more restrained. Her large, blinking eyes looked intelligent and cute. "Having fun."

Dawn placed down the last puzzle piece and raised her chubby arms high, exclaiming in victory. "Finish!"

Aurelia and Skye looked over, and Skye pouted. "Ah! Sister, unfair!"

Aurelia looked at her own puzzle and poked at it with her cute finger. "I almost finished too..."

Yasenias laughed and lifted Dawn into the air, throwing her not too far up. "My little Dawn is so clever~."

Seeing that, Skye and Aurelia were determined to be the next being pampered by their Mommy.

Angel and Evelyn approached, lifting their respective daughter and placing them between their legs. Using their energy to beckon the puzzle, Angel said, kissing Aurelia's cheek. "Come on, Little Gem. Let's finish it together."

Aurelia smiled and nodded. "Okay!" Angel smiled softly and allowed Aurelia to solve it.

Evelyn laughed and rubbed her cheek with Skye. "You won't give up because Little Dawn got ahead of you, right, Little Spark?"

Skye shouted her blabber without any restraint. "No give up!"

Evelyn grinned. "Great! Let's do it, Little Spark!"

Tatyana looked at Estrella and saw that she was looking at the puzzles. The red-eyed woman's eyebrow raised. "Aren't those puzzles a bit easy for you, Little Light?"

Estrella nodded, but Tatyana could clearly feel Estrella wanting to play with her. So, with a smile, she sat by Evelyn's and Angel's side, with Estrella between her legs, and took out a bit more complex puzzle. Tatyana kissed her cheek and smiled. "Let's play, Estrella."

Estrella's heterochromatic eyes lit up with joy, and she smiled widely. "Okay!"

Yasenia did the same with Dawn, and the four children and mothers continued playing together for a few more hours. Andrea, Cecile, Kali, Kaleina, and Flame eventually joined them.

Tatyana approached Yasenia when they were free and commented. "Estrella's ritual is ready."

The dragoness paused and looked skyward. "I see. It has been one year since they arrived in our lives. Time really flies by."

Tatyana smiled. "It does, and it never slows down. Always speeding up..." Tatyana muttered. "You go to meditate, and when you come out, you realize that the city to the west has disappeared, the country a few days away has been conquered, the mountain range to the east has become a lake, and the forest to the south is now a desert..."

Tatyana smiled, her smile being empty. "Then, you realize that your meditation had lasted 3,000 years. You are too focused on cultivating; when you come out, it is another place. Feeling alienated, you leave."

Yasenia used her tail to hug Tatyana and smiled. "I see. It definitely must be quite shocking."

Tatyana hummed. Andrea approached and smiled. "What are you two talking about?"

The dragoness smiled. "Well, we were talking about the passage of time. How things change quicker than we think, how we need to move on as time will never wait for anyone."

Andrea nodded. "That's really good advice. We are closer and closer to having stayed in this place for 20 years already..." Andrea paused and looked at Yasenia.

The dragoness blinked cutely and tilted her head. "What's wrong, Darling?"

Andrea hummed. "I was thinking that you... Well... You were 23 years in that place. Everything we've accomplished, and yet, we have yet to cover the 23 years you stayed in that war."

The dragoness realized and smiled. "I'd rather spend one year here than a thousand over there." The dragoness used her tail, this time, to bring her tall and heroic darling into her arms.

Andrea kissed Yasenia's forehead and smiled. "Thank you for still loving us after all of that. It's really... Incredible, to be honest. I am not even sure if I could've done it."

The dragoness snorted and joked around. "Oho~ So darling would leave me if I were away for 20 years? I see, I see."

Andrea's eyebrow twitched. She totally didn't mean it that way, but her dear dragoness had twisted her words, and now she needed to appease her. Of course, knowing that it was Yasenia being playful, Andrea wasn't bothered and pampered her. "Of course not~. I was saying that I would've probably gone crazy trying to figure out a way to come out earlier. You tackled it with a very focused approach, right? Leaving everything behind and stepping forward so that you could reach us the quickest. That's what I find impossible to do."

Yasenia now pouted for real. "Are you calling me insensitive?"

Andrea didn't even know how to answer anymore. She kissed her pouty lips and smiled. "I am just saying that my dragoness is incredible and that I love her the most in this world."

Yasenia blinked her seductive eyes a few times, her long eyelashes batting like beautiful feathers. "Hm~. That's better, hehe."

Tatyana laughed. "She has you wrapped around her little finger, Andrea."

Andrea rolled her eyes. "As if she doesn't have you wrapped up as well."

Tatyana coughed, unable to refute.

Days passed quickly like that, full of family fun and fluff. Everything was going great, and then Estrella's first birthday arrived.

Yasenia had used a large section of the house to create the children's ritual area. She didn't want anyone to bother them.

She heard Alaia's message as she was cooking the last few dishes for the birthday celebration. "Young Miss, Coraline, and the other leaders are here, saying that they come with presents for Estrella."

The dragoness smiled and asked. "How is Tengliu doing? Is she in condition to appear at the party?"

Alaia answered. "She is extremely weakened, but moving around is not a problem at all. She has used disguises to visit the sect while being accompanied by some of the maids during the last few months."

The dragoness smiled. "No wonder I couldn't find her the other time I went to visit. Bring her out for the party and invite the leaders in; I've cooked more than enough food for everyone."

Alaia acknowledged. "Understood, Young Miss."

Yasenia waved her hand, storing all the foods in her spatial ring, and then called Soluna out.

The spirit of the Sun and Moon appeared, her face groggy and smiling. "Yasenia...? Hehe, what's wrong~?"

Yasenia asked, amused. "Is it that comfortable being in my Dantian?"

Soluna blinked asynchronously. "It's... Perfect. Such a perfect balance of energies~, delicious energy everywhere as well! Also, the neighbors are nice. Did you know that Draheart has no memories of the past? It seems that she was quite a big deal in the past, but she doesn't remember."

Yasenia laughed awkwardly. "Can you not drop bombshells of information while half-asleep?"

Yasenia blinked. "Also... She?"

Soluna hummed. "Well, you'll understand when you can talk to her."

The dragoness bonked Soluna's head. "Teasing me now?"

Soluna giggled and hugged Yasenia, looking up with her exotic Moon and Sun pupils. Her echoey, double voice sounded excited. "So? Is it Estrella's first birthday!?"

Yasenia smiled. "That's right. Do you want to help me?"

Soluna puffed her chest. "Of course! It's your child's first birthday! I will help even if you prohibit me from helping!"

The dragoness laughed, caressing Soluna's hair. "Good."

Soluna felt giddy by the hand on top of her head and smiled widely. "Hehehe."

A few hours later, the banquet for Estrella was prepared. In the meantime, everyone gathered and met while Estrella's maid group took the presents and tested their safety while being monitored by one of Yasenia's maids.

Chapter 942: An Unknown Fate Between The Brilliant Stars.

Yasenia welcomed everyone at a large outdoor table. There were floating lights around and other celebration decorations, with Estrella seated on Tatyana's lap in the main seat. Around Estrella and Tatyana, each mother had her own child on her lap, and so as not to leave Kaleina out of it, Yasenia forced her to sit on her own lap, making the 17-year-old feel shy but happy.

All the leaders caught this action, and even though they already knew it, it reinforced Yasenia's love for her eldest daughter. Now, no one doubted that Yasenia might ignore Kaleina with the new children.

Kaleina didn't know that Yasenia's mind was going through a few political tricks, but she wouldn't mind either way. She was happy being in her Mama Dragon's lap.

Yasenia lifted her cup of aged blossom plum wine she brewed and spoke aloud. "Thank you to everyone who attended Estrella's first-year-old party. I guess you all will eventually get bored because there are a few more children who will soon become one year old. So, this is sincerely from the bottom of my heart. If you can't come to the rest, don't worry. I've received your good graces today."

Coraline snorted playfully. "Who would dare not to come to your children's first birthday party? Sorry, but we don't want our powers to disappear overnight."

Some people honestly laughed, while others laughed awkwardly. The dragoness pouted playfully. "I am serious."

The sudden gesture made the hearts of many feel like an arrow struck in the middle. "T-That face is really not fair!"

Yasenia then laughed, making it feel as if flowers were blooming around her. "But, I would appreciate it if you came at least to their first birthday. After all, it is quite a special one," Yasenia explained. "Back in my continent, we have a ritual that reveals the attribute affinities and constitution of the children when they become one year old. It is an ancient ritual that has been passed down for countless years. Even before the Heavenly Cataclysm that happened one million years ago."

Many didn't know what the Heavenly Cataclysm was, but they knew what one million years were. Just that absurd length of years was enough to make everyone feel respect for the ritual.

The dragoness commented. "Usually, this kind of ritual is for close family. After all, some constitutions are taboo, while others are really sought after by evil people. Still, I don't mind showing it here. Not because I trust all of you, but because I have 100% certainty that I can eliminate you wherever you flee if you dared to use that information to hurt my daughter."

Everyone around gulped at Yasenia's relaxed words. There was not a shred of killing intent behind them, which made it even more terrifying. After all, it was not said as a threat but as an absolute certainty.

Yasenia smiled. "I know some of you don't want to carry such information, as you feel it is burdensome, so I won't force anyone to come and spectate."

Then, Yasenia sat and heard Tengliu's voice calling her from the side. She was in a floating chair, moving around as she pleased. She came to Yasenia's side and asked. "So? What did you make? Your food is super delicious~."

Yasenia smiled softly and used her tail to push Tengliu closer. "Well, I've made a lot of different dishes. I even bothered making your favorite dish~."

Tengliu looked at Yasenia and raised her eyebrow. "Is this an attempt at apologizing?"

The dragoness laughed. "You wish~. I am feeling generous today~."

Tengliu laughed as well. While her strength was horribly crippled and still healing, she had enough strength to do normal activities without a problem. "Then, I will not hold back~."

Yasenia nodded. "As you should. Enjoy your [Mystic Tide Whale Rolls] with [Elder Sea Essence Sauce]."

Tengliu blinked a few times. "You even cooked the sauce!?"

The dragoness nodded. "Without the sauce, the rolls are not as good~."

Tengliu grinned. "Tsk, tsk. Apology accepted, you stupid and adorable little girl!"

Yasenia rolled her eyes, but she just smiled and didn't refute. The dinner was mostly uneventful. People took chances to ask Yasenia questions about the World's development in her mind.

Yasenia commented. "Well, nothing special. The alliance is more of a way to keep everyone united and reduce clashes between us. Will it work as intended? We'll see. The territories liberated by the wars will be neutral territories until the next World Summit. Once the next World Summit approaches, we will slowly assign everything depending on might."

The dragoness hummed. "I just want to be left alone and do it fairly when competing for things. That's it. Nothing more, nothing less."

Everyone looked at the elegantly and calmly eating dragoness with no words. 'She basically overturned an entire World to be left alone.'

The dragoness noticed Kaleina, Estrella, and her other daughters finished eating and clapped once. "Okay, let's move on."

Kaleina stood up from Yasenia's lap, and the dragoness stood up after her. She kissed her forehead once and grabbed her hand. Then, she looked to the left and extended her hand toward Flame as well.

Flame and Kaleina grabbed Yasenia's hands, and everyone followed behind.

When they arrived, they were surprised at the size of the formation. There was a massive pillar with a roulette that had a symbol for each main element engraved in it. The complex formation left everyone speechless.

Tatyana moved forward and smiled at Estrella, crouching in front of her. "Come, baby."

Estrella walked forward, a bit curious about all this place. Tatyana explained like she once did to Yassenia. "Do you see that place in the middle? The one with the big orb?"

Estrella nodded and looked at Tatyana with her large and pretty heterochromatic eyes. The light blue and golden colors in her slit eyes made Tatyana's heart somewhat tremble. 'It was only around 40 years ago that Yassenia went through this... 40 years, and this little darling has come to life...'

Tatyana couldn't help but feel overwhelmed. Sometimes, it was to the point that she thought that this was an illusion from someone, after all, who knew. But Tatyana knew that it wasn't because of one thing.

An arm that was so weak for her own strength yet somehow filled her with incredible strength circled her waist. Looking to the side, she saw Yassenia crouched like her, placing Estrella between them. 'Their eyes are really similar.'

That thought flashed in Tatyana's mind and made her smile. She said. "Estrella, you need to walk forward and use a drop of blood to start the ritual. Then, just wait, Mama and Mommy are watching, okay?"

Estrella nodded and looked at her finger with a bit of hesitation. Yassenia smirked. "Mommy did it without a single frown or flinch~. How about you, baby?"

Any hesitation disappeared, and she humphed. "Easy! I will do it too!"

Yassenia and Tatyana kissed Estrella's cheek and then returned to the rest. Estrella walked forward with determined steps. Her serious little face looked cute and adorable.

When Estrella reached the front of the imposing roulette of elements, she used her sharp fangs and bit the tip of her thumb. Pain shot to her brain, but remembering Yassenia's words, she clenched her teeth and didn't make a single sound.

Yassenia's lips arched as Tatyana laughed. "Such a brave little darling."

Then, the formation activated.

The drop of blood that appeared on Estrella's thumb floated upward, and a ray of healing energy covered Estrella's finger, closing the wound and cleaning it right away.

The drop of blood rose and was absorbed in the middle of the roulette. Then, the roulette of elements started spinning.

However, Tatyana's, Mirrory's, and Valeria's faces quickly became confused. Tatyana asked aloud to those two. "Why is it spinning the wrong way?"

Valeria's frown unlocked as disbelief appeared on her face. "Wait. Isn't this..."

Mirrory appeared and looked over. Then, her gaze went down to Estrella. She shook her head and sighed. "Well. This will become quite a hurdle, but if she manages to overcome it, she will soar to the sky."

Tatyana snorted. "Why the ambiguous wording? Tell me straight, Mirrory."

Mirrory shook her head. "I can't." Then, she disappeared into Angel again.

Valeria looked at Tatyana and shook her head.

Tatyana looked at Estrella and pondered for a second. 'Do I shut this down?'

Valeria's voice reached her mind. 'Everybody will know even if you stop them from looking. It's better to use this situation to support Estrella instead.'

Tatyana's clever mind weighed several options and nodded. 'That's for the best.'

Yasenia whispered. "What's wrong?"

Tatyana whispered back. "I don't know, but don't let anybody bully our daughter."

Yasenia's pupils thinned, and she growled lowly. "Over my dead body."

The roulette finally stopped, but nothing happened.

Everyone was confused, but the roulette sent light skyward, a sudden pillar that burst into particles and gathered into words.

Element: Attributeless.

Constitution: [Supreme Martial Abyssal Body]. Beyond the Sky and Below the Earth, none shall stop her strike.

The girls and maids were so shaken that they couldn't even exclaim. Disbelief was written all over their faces. In the Sky Continent, an attributeless child was no better than a mortal, a cripple, basically.

Attributeless meant that the inherited attributes from the parents clashed and didn't find a balance, leaving the child without any affinity for any attribute.

In short, a child abandoned by the Heavens as no gift was given to her.

While the Constitution sounded incredibly powerful, if one couldn't cultivate it, it just didn't matter. Like a shattered vessel that couldn't be used to contain water, it was just pretty from the outside but useless.

The people from Distancia had also been learning a few things, and some understood what this meant. One of them blurted, confused. "Attributeless? That means a cripple, no?"

However, as soon as he spoke, he realized his mistake, but it was too late. The gazes of the Death Empress and Emyrean Dragon descended on him with enough pressure that his knees bent, and he slammed into the ground.

BOOM!

Yasenia growled, her voice making everyone present feel chills up their spines. "Even if she were a mortal, I would love her more than this entire World. I've just settled down; don't give me a reason to go to war again. Now, kill yourself for insulting my daughter, or your entire clan shall disappear from Distancia."

The man was so terrified that he almost couldn't react. However, everyone present knew that Yasenia was far from reasonable when her reverse scale was touched, and Yasenia's family was the reverse scale of her reverse scale, so to speak. Touch it, and the consequences could be unimaginable.

Knowing that and fearing for his family, the man closed his eyes. "Forgive this foolishness! I was stupid and blurted out my first thoughts. I'll pay with my life for such a mistake, so please leave my clan in peace."

Then, he took out a sword and decapitated himself.

Yasenia didn't even look and ignored him completely. Unreasonable? She cared not. No one could bully her daughter.

The ritual drained a lot of energy, so Estrella closed her eyes when the light disappeared, and she fainted. Tatyana and Yasenia moved simultaneously, reaching her at the same time, and caught her in their arms.

They looked down, and instead of grief or any other negative emotions, there was only love in their eyes.

Yasenia spoke with a smile. "You'll find your own path, Estrella. I'll make sure of it."

Tatyana followed with another smile. "Don't worry; even if I need to flip over the entire heavens, I will ensure you can reach any heights you want and beyond."

Then, both of them leaned down to kiss Estrella's temples and spoke simultaneously.

"I love you."

Chapter 943: Estrella's Reaction. Cracking The Eggs!

Estrella woke up, and even before opening her eyes, she smiled. Around her, the warmth and softness of her Mommy enveloped her, so she knew that her pretty mommy with a dragon tail like hers was hugging her.

She felt a soft yet slim hand caress her hair, face, cheeks, and eyelashes, tickling her and making her laugh. With her laugh, an answer from the woman holding her came to her. "Oh~? Is my little darling awake?"

The voice was so soothing, so gentle, so full of tenderness that even when she was very young, Estrella could feel her mother's love for her. She opened her eyes and looked up beyond her mother's ample chest; she saw her pretty Mommy looking down at her with a smile.

"How are you feeling, Baby?"

Estrella felt a bubbling happiness in her chest and exclaimed with a big smile. "Great! I love you, Mommy!"

Her dragon mother smiled at her and leaned down to plant a gentle kiss on her forehead. "I love you too, Estrella."

Then, Estrella asked. "Mommy, did the ritual go well?"

Estrella has heard the explanation of what the ritual would do, which would, more or less, tell her talent for cultivating. Cultivating was very important to her Mommy.

Estrella understood that much. After all, even though she was a one-year-old, as a dragon, her intelligence was close to that of a typical six-year-old human.

The hand caressing her head paused for a second but then continued like always. The smile her Mommy carried looked as tender as always as she spoke. "Well, Baby's ritual was very special."

Estrella blinked and asked, confused. "Special?"

Her mother laughed. "That's right. Estrella is going to be a great martial artist!"

Estrella tilted her head again. "Martial artist? Like, using swords and sticks?"

Her mother nodded. "That's right. So, from today on, Baby will train in the martial arts path! We need to discover what kind of weapon Baby likes and has talent with, and we need to discover what kind of style Baby likes. We must also find a technique that suits your human and future dragon form."

Estrella hummed and asked shyly. "Um. I also want to be like Mommy and make those big stars appear!"

Estrella saw her mother look at her with a gaze she couldn't understand. As a child, she was perceptive, so she knew that it was not a bad gaze, but it was also not a good one. Estrella didn't know that Yasenia was looking at her with a bit of compassion. "Well, Baby doesn't seem to be talented. But we can practice together if you want after we do the formal training. What do you think?"

Estrella felt a bit down. "I can't make those big stars like Mommy?"

Yasenia shook her head. "At least, Baby will have a lot of difficulty doing them."

Estrella hummed and looked down, burying her face in her mother's welcoming and soft chest. "Hmph."

"Oh? Is Baby upset?"

Estrella harrumphed again and looked up. "Then, then... I want to learn how to make those, umm... Undead? Rise! Like Mama Tatyana!"

However, strangely, her mother, who was always supportive of her decisions, seemed like a different person today. "Hm. That would be nice, but Baby probably can't learn."

Estrella couldn't decipher her mother's expression, but she didn't like it at all. She felt that her chest was a bit stuffy when she looked at her mother's usual gentle golden eyes. So, instead of insisting, she asked. "Then, which, ummm, at... attre... attro... attri... Oh! Attribute! Which attribute is Estrella good at!"

Her mother became thoughtful, and Estrella waited for a few seconds. After a while, her mother finally answered.

"Well, Estrella doesn't have talent with any attribute."

Estrella looked at Yasenia, puzzled. "Hm? I don't understand."

Yasenia's voice was calming like always, filling Estrella with love. Yet, Estrella didn't feel as comforted as she always did. "Estrella is really good at martial arts, but in exchange, Baby is considered attributeless."

Estrella heard that and was stunned. She naturally didn't know how to react. Several complex expressions flashed on her face as she tried to process the information. But, before she could overthink it, her face was lifted a bit, and her mother's smiling face filled her entire vision.

Yasenia poked their noses together and said. "Baby, you are my pride and joy. You being attributeless means nothing." Her mother's tone was loving yet resolute. "Listen well, Estrella. You are gifted. Perhaps not gifted where everyone else is, but you are gifted in your path."

Estrella blinked a few times, not really understanding. Still, she could feel her heart soothing with each word. Her mother continued speaking gently, lovingly, caringly. "Estrella, most of the time, it is better to master one thing than be average at many. You won't understand yet, but I'll make sure you eventually understand. So, don't worry, Baby. Mommy and the rest will guide you. You are my daughter, and while perhaps you have a slower start compared to the rest, Mommy will always, always, always believe in you."

Estrella blinked a few times. "Mommy will believe in Estrella?"

Yasenia gave Estrella a little peck and smiled. "That's right. Mommy will always believe in Estrella."

Estrella felt her heart relax and her body soften while her mother's arms tightened, giving her a feeling of protection. Then, Yasenia commented. "Speaking of Mommy believing in Estrella! Did you know that even Aunt Mirrory and Aunt Valeria were surprised at Estrella's constitution?"

Estrella blinked twice. "My constitution... What is the name, Mommy?"

Yasenia put on a proud face and said. "[Supreme Martial Abyssal Body]!"

Estrella's heterochromatic eyes were filled with little stars. "WOW! It sounds cool!"

Her Mama Dragon laughed and bathed her face with kisses, making Estrella giggle happily. "Of course, it sounds cool. It is my Estrella's constitution!"

Estrella laughed, completely forgetting about her previous depressed mood. Meanwhile, Yasenia looked at Estrella's laughing face and smiled. 'Good. That face is how my darlings should be. Happy and cheerful. As if I'll let her being attributeless depress her.' Yasenia sneered. 'Attributeless? Wait for a few years. I'll make sure my Baby has the tools to become strong enough that no one will be able to mock her.'

She heard the door open and looked over to see Tatyana walking over. Yasenia pecked Estrella's forehead and said. "Baby, I'll leave you with Mama Tatyana, okay? I need to go do a few things~."

Estrella blinked twice cutely and asked. "What things?"

Yasenia smirked. "Well, I need to create a martial art for my babies~. Now that I know my precious Estrella is attributeless, I'll make a few changes so that baby can practice it as well~."

Estrella nodded twice with a big smile. "Good! I want to learn Mommy's martial arts!"

Tatyana laughed. "You will, little one. Tsk, tsk, [Supreme Martial Abyssal Body], my little Estrella is surely a cool little darling~."

Estrella giggled and extended her chubby arms so that Tatyana could pick her up.

After that, Yasenia spent a few more minutes with them and then left. After leaving, she went to the treasury, took all the martial art books they'd collected over the years, and headed toward her cultivation cave immediately.

The dragoness then started classifying all of them individually and creating piles of scrolls, books, jade slips, and other information-retaining treasures.

She worked during the nights, leaving Dual Cultivation to the essential. The others understood that the dragoness was busy, so they also only went to call for Yasenia when the Yang Energy in their womb started getting thin.

Having intercourse for Dual Cultivating and the usual one was very different. While both were done with love, it was clear that Dual Cultivation at these times was done until they were full of energy and not full of satisfaction.

Of course, saying that having sex with Yasenia was not satisfactory was a lie. Even hugging her was enough to make them feel in heaven.

In short, there were no complaints.

The dragoness dealt with all her matters, took care of the children, and was always moving around, leaving her with just enough time to cultivate a few hours daily and nothing more.

Her busy days seemed unending. However, that was not a problem for her. What she was doing was for her children, the children that she had been wanting basically her entire adult life.

Working on these matters was not bothersome; taking care of them was even less. Yasenia felt fulfilled, she felt happy, and she felt that this kind of lifestyle was probably what she wanted.

The girls looked at Yasenia's busy life, and they all naturally helped where they could. When the children played, they discussed everything with their dragoness, helping her with whatever they could and in any way they could. Even if they could just give her a massage or something, they would do it.

Their dragoness's busy life was nothing but their pride. After all, why was Yasenia so busy? Wasn't it for all of them and their children?

And so, time flew by, and soon, Kali and Cecile started feeling restless. Their motherly instincts were telling them to go to their nest and warm up, or, in Cecile's case, cool down, the egg as much as they could.

This was a clear indication that their eggs were about to hatch. Of course, taking this into account, the dragoness put everything she was doing on pause and accompanied the two restless women.

Kali muttered. "Hm. How about I transform into my fox form? I can use my entire body as a big nest for the baby!"

Cecile's eyes flashed, and Yasenia bonked their heads softly. "Silly, do you want to crush the little baby? You weigh as much as a mountain in those forms!"

Kali and Cecile blinked a few times. Yasenia extended her arms and hugged them both closely. "Relax. They will come out fine. There is no need to be this agitated. Look, where are we?"

Kali and Cecile looked around, and Kali answered. "The delivery room."

Yasenia asked again, patiently. "And, what did I do to this room?"

Cecile blinked. "Make it probably the safest room in the entire world."

The dragoness chuckled. "Right? Moreover, where is this room located?"

Kali muttered. "Inside our manor, which has another protection layer."

Yasenia kissed their cheeks and asked again. "And where is this manor located?"

Cecile commented. "Inside our sect, which has another layer of protection."

The dragoness asked. "So, are we, or are we not protected?"

Kali and Cecile nodded. "We are protected."

Yasenia teased them. "You said it so softly..."

The Fox and Phoenix women rolled their eyes softly, but they both followed Yasenia's words and said loudly. "We are protected!"

The dragoness smiled. "Right? So, relax. Each of you goes to your nests and then uses yourselves as protection. When the babies start attacking the shell, tell me, and I will go right away."

Kali blinked. "What if both of them start hatching at the same time?"

Yasenia's lips twitched a few times, and suddenly, she started feeling anxious. "I don't know. Do you want to make me panic now that you are calm, or what?"

Kali and Cecile burst into laughter and kissed the dragoness on the cheek. Kali smirked, "Don't worry. Cecile and I have talked about it, and in case that happens, you need to go toward the child who breaks the egg first~. We won't let anyone see the child until you finish with the other."

Cecile smirked. "I know you want to be the number two they see after hatching."

Yasenia harrumphed a few times and then smiled. "Okay, we'll do it that way. Now, go."

They both stood up and walked toward their nests.

Kali's nest was similar to a cave, making her feel somewhat protected. Moreover, inside, there was a bed made from her own fur and Yasenia's scales.

Similarly, Cecile's nest was also a cave, but inside the cave, there was a bird nest made from her own feathers and Yasenia's scales.

After waiting for two days, Kali's egg started hatching first.

Chapter 944: Dianna, the Fox Dragon!

When Kali's egg started hatching, Yasenia looked toward Cecile and communicated via their soul bond. 'How is our baby doing, Sweetheart?'

Cecile answered. 'Don't worry. Nothing's wrong. Go.'

Yasenia didn't hesitate and approached Kali's side. Kali, who was surrounding the egg with her tails and body, looked at Yasenia and smiled widely, her face clearly excited. "It is hatching!"

Valeria looked from the side and muttered. "I am still impressed that you managed to make Kali lay an egg."

The dragoness humphed. "Eggs are better. They protect the child better. If I could make Angel and the others lay an egg, I would!"

Valeria looked at Yasenia with a deadpan. "You've quite literally altered the reproductive organ of Kali for this pregnancy without permanent damage to the womb. Meaning Kali is still considered a viviparous beast."

Yasenia rolled her eyes. "As if there are no foxes out there that lay eggs instead."

Valeria couldn't retort, so she focused on the child. "For safety measures, I've looked inside. The little one is quite nice. Want to know how they look?"

Yasenia's tail swiftly moved and slapped Valeria. "I know you are excited, but can you calm yourself down? You are acting a lot like... like... not you!"

Valeria caressed her cheek while blinking a few times. "How are you so calm?"

Yasenia snapped and slapped Valeria again. "Would I have slapped you twice if I was calm! Can you not agitate me more? W-What if, I don't know, what if a meteor falls from the sky and I need to stop it!? I need to focus on the surroundings!"

Kali looked at Valeria and Yasenia with a stupefied expression. 'Shouldn't the one that's nervous be me? Why are these two about to do something crazy? Also, what meteor!?'

Feeling a bit annoyed, Kali spoke in an authoritative tone. "Hey, can you both shut up? What are you doing creating a noisy environment for the little one to come into the world to? I want everything to be calm and soothing, understood?"

The Empyrean Dragon and Spirit Queen blinked twice and nodded obediently.

Kali sighed and looked down at the egg that was slowly cracking. She smiled and spoke soothingly, her voice reaching deep, enveloping everything in calmness. "Come on, Dianna. Now that they are not being silly, you can come out. Don't be shy."

The large green and gold egg continued cracking as the little creature inside poked at the shell. No one intervened or helped, even though some people wanted to very much.

They allowed nature to take its course and for the little one to exit her own egg. Exiting the egg alone was vital as a creature with dragon blood.

As Dianna poked and poked at the egg, she suddenly managed to make a small hole with a loud crack. Her snout came out for a second, looking like a perfect mix between dragon and fox. Moreover, the faint fur on the snout was blue-colored, similar to Yasenia's scales.

This surprised Kali and Yasenia. They thought that the little one would be a dragon with almost 100% certainty.

Kali and Yasenia were about to cheer the little one on after seeing its snout, but to their surprise, they saw Dianna's cute snout hiding back into the egg.

Both were stunned, and Yasenia commented. "Perhaps it is more comfortable inside?"

Kali deadpanned and was about to scold Yasenia when, instead of her snout, two arms that were a mix of fox and dragon came out. They looked closer to a dragon's arms, but instead of scaly, they were furry.

Kali and Yasenia blinked as they saw Dianna's little furry claws grab the egg and then pull it apart.

CRACK!

The egg split in half, and Dianna burst out with a cute little roar.

"Rawr!"

Yasenia, Kali, Valeria, Cecile, and almost everyone currently looking felt like an arrow struck their hearts. "What is this adorable creature!? She is so cute that I might die!"

Dianna was a fox-like dragon with black fur and golden highlights. While now they were smears, they would probably grow into some kind of pattern in the future. Not only did Dianna have two pretty short golden horns on her forehead, similar to those of Yasenia, but she also had two large fox ears to accompany the incredibly cute creature.

Then, while her body was that of a young beast and unable to be truly described, she had 9 limbs that were certainly not common. At first glance, Dianna had six wings on her back, while three fox tails that extended slimly like a dragon's tail were attached to her back.

In short, Dianna was a furred, horned fox dragon with six wings and three tails. To say that she was a perfect mix of both their forms was an understatement.

Even though it was almost impossible to resist attacking her adorable little daughter, Yasenia had a big question in her head that she blurted out. "Why does she have six wings and three tails?"

Kali blinked and spoke, her voice sounding doubtful. "Perhaps my [Nine Tailed] bloodline has transformed into [Nine Limbed] for her?"

This time, it was Yasenia's turn to deadpan. However, to her surprise, Valeria agreed. "That's probably it."

"Huh?"

Was the response of both Kali and Yasenia.

Valeria laughed. "I mean, it didn't make sense that Yasenia's bloodline was going to overpower yours. Kali, your bloodline is from one of the strongest beasts in the history of cultivation. Naturally, it is not weak enough to be overpowered, regardless of Yasenia's bloodline potential. Therefore, this little one has most likely taken good parts of both bloodlines and combined them."

Yasenia blinked. "So... She is a progenitor?"

Valeria shook her head. "No. She has your and Kali's aura. She is just a mix, but the bloodline name is probably similar to yours."

"Rawr!"

Dianna's second cry turned their attention toward her, and they saw the adorable creature attacking the shell pieces and devouring them energetically. Yasenia's hands and tail twitched, wanting to lunge forward and squeeze her precious little darling in her arms, but she resisted with her tempered will. 'Don't interrupt! She is eating! ARGH! BUT SHE IS SO CUTE!'

Kali was not that good at resisting and couldn't help herself. She extended one hand and caressed Dianna's back with a smile. "You are so adorable, darling. And... Oh wow, your fur is so smooth~. My Dianna is truly beautiful."

Dianna lifted her head while munching on some eggshell and looked over, revealing her pair of amber-gold slit eyes. They were extremely similar to Yasenia's, identical to the rest of the children. This time, though, they had a mellower tone instead of fully golden.

Dianna roared again, her filled mouth making her sound muffled. "Rhawr!"

Dianna's prepared maids at the side almost had nasal bleeding from the pure cuteness attack. Today was the day that they swore to protect this adorable little darling with their very own souls. They sobbed in joy. 'My miss is just too cute!'

After Dianna finished her last piece of eggshell, she felt a warm current going around her, and then a gentle aura burst outward. She purred a bit, feeling comfortable as energy covered her body and, in her heart, the [Beast Core] formed.

Valeria raised her eyebrow and commented. "She is already in the Evolved Core Realm."

Kali noticed and asked, excited. "This is similar to the Body Modification Realm, right?"

Valeria nodded. "That's right. She is quite a strong and talented little one."

Yasenia couldn't resist anymore, and Dianna felt a presence approaching. Her instinctual answer was to dodge, so she tried to jump out of the way. However, the day she was born Dianna learned that escaping from her mother's hug was going to be the only thing she would never be able to accomplish in her life, regardless of how hard she tried or trained for it.

And so, inevitably, as if it was a law of the universe, Dianna's furry head was smushed between Yasenia's immense and welcoming soft mountains. "KYA! MY BABY IS SO CUTE!"

Still, the feeling was so heavenly that Dianna's struggles instantly died out. It was so sudden that Kali became worried. "H-Hey! Dianna is okay, right?"

Yasenia blinked repeatedly. "How can my baby not be comfortable in my loving embrace!? She is purring, listen!"

Kali's fox ears tilted slightly, and she captured Dianna's purring tone, relaxing her worries.

Of course, after purring for about five minutes, Dianna's stomach rumbled. She took her head out from the heavenly paradise that was her mother's bosom and sniffed around.

Yasenia was quick to understand, and before her baby managed to sniff out her breastmilk, she passed her to Kali. "She is hungry, go ahead."

Kali laughed as she lowered her comfortable robes. "You really don't want to breastfeed the child first?"

The dragoness coughed. "I am not underestimating you, but what if they get addicted to my milk's taste and then think yours is a bit insipid? I mean, I'd rather they get accustomed to yours and take mine like the occasional tasty snack."

Kali coughed. "I guess you are right. We can't really risk it."

No one worried about the opposite happening, though. Not liking Yasenia's breastmilk taste was probably something that the laws of the universe prohibited.

Yasenia spent a few more minutes with them, and when Dianna fell asleep between Kali's fluffy tails, Yasenia gave Kali a kiss and walked toward Cecile. The Phoenix Woman heard Yasenia enter and smiled. "How did it go?"

The dragoness laughed. "Did you not look through your spiritual sense?"

Cecile shook her head. "I want to see the little ones with my own eyes first, like you."

The dragoness jumped into Cecile's nest and sat by her side. "Well, Dianna is adorable. You will love her when you see her. Other than that, more than problems, Dianna completely blasted open that egg. Hahaha." Yasenia couldn't help but laugh. "Who knew that the first action of that darling would be gripping the egg and ripping it open? Hahahahaha"

Cecile laughed with Yasenia. She asked. "So, those cute little sounds I heard, I imagine they were Dianna's cries?"

The dragoness smirked. "Indeed, she was trying to roar, but only those high-pitched adorable sounds appeared. She is a mix of fox and dragon, like, quite well mixed."

Cecile was impressed. "Really? It really shows just how powerful Kali's bloodline really is. Even Tatyana's secondary body was somewhat overwhelmed by your bloodline, right?"

Yasenia nodded. "That's what Mom said." Then, Yasenia asked. "How are you feeling?"

Cecile was blunt and honest. "Nervous. I am also highly sensitive; I focus on each sound I hear. It feels like I am becoming overstimulated by anything that happens around me. I might fall asleep from exhaustion after the little one is born."

The dragoness looked at Cecile's wings and asked. "So, how long do you estimate until she hatches?"

Cecile shook her head. "I don't know. One hour? Five hours? A day? A week? I really don't know."

Yasenia hugged Cecile and kissed her nose. "Okay, love. Don't worry. I'll be here even if it takes a thousand years. Just relax, and if you want to eat anything, tell me."

Cecile nodded. "I want meat. Any meat. A big plate of grilled meat that's juicy, and I can devour."

Yasenia nodded. "Okay, leave it to me. I'll cook it nearby, so call me if the little one starts hatching."

And so, three more days went by until Katarina started hatching.

Chapter 945: Katarina's Hatching and Otherworlder Beasts.

When the first crack of the egg occurred, Cecile's pupils shrunk as she looked downward to see the cracks around the egg nestled between her large wings. Even before realizing it, she called her soulmate instinctively. "Yasenia."

Almost without any delay, Yasenia appeared by her side, arriving from who knows where. "I am here, Sweetheart. Don't worry."

Cecile looked at the gorgeous dragoness and smiled happily, her tails swinging around. "Mhm. Good."

Yasenia smiled and looked down as well, saying. "The little one is finally going to come out."

Cecile hummed again. "She took her time." Then, Cecile asked. "Do you think that she will have any problems?"

The dragoness shook her head. "To be honest, of all the children, Cecile, ours is the one I expect to have the least amount of problems of them all if she or he has any. We are [Interlocked Souls], so we are basically fated with each other. Our children will be healthy and strong."

Cecile nodded a few times. "I see. I believe so, too."

Yasenia poked her nose and laughed. "Silly, I can sense that you are still nervous."

Cecile rolled her eyes. "Have you forgotten that the connection is two-way?"

The dragoness coughed, and Cecile laughed, lighting up her peerlessly beautiful facial features. The dragoness smiled softly, and Cecile asked. "By the way, I can sense that you are a bit disappointed... Well, it's not the feeling of disappointment, but something like you would have loved something that didn't happen to happen. What is it?"

Yasenia blinked and coughed. She didn't bother hiding anything from Cecile. "Well. It is the truth that I am delighted with all my little ones. However, there are no males between all the children. I would've loved a little boy or two to pamper as well." Yasenia muttered. "I mean, I am really happy that there have been children of my gender, Futanari. However, one or two boys would've been nice..."

Cecile laughed. "I see. Well, don't worry. There are quite a lot of chances in the future to have a little boy."

Yasenia nodded. "I also don't believe all my children will be girls. But, well, even if they were, I wouldn't mind. I would eventually have a few male grandsons to pamper either way."

Cecile smiled. "That's true, I guess."

The dragoness looked down at the egg and pondered for a few seconds. "She is taking her time."

Cecile blinked. "She really is. Is she lazy?"

Yasenia teased. "Perhaps she feels super comfortable between your wings, and she doesn't want to come out."

Cecile took it seriously and spoke to the egg. "Baby, if you are out of the egg, I can hug you directly. That will be much better. Moreover, you need to eat your egg, and while doing it from the inside is not bad, it is better if you first get out. That way, Mama and Mommy can take care of you."

Yasenia looked at Cecile and suddenly realized something. Cecile was a chatterbox through their soul connection. However, usually, she kept silent outside. Now, though, the little one was not going to be able to communicate mentally with Cecile, so, probably, Cecile would become a chatterbox with the child.

And, to confirm her doubts, Cecile started talking non-stop. "Also, while taking care of you, I can also breastfeed you. Did you know that drinking mama's milk will also strengthen you? It is really good for your health. Not to mention, if you later drink Yasenia's milk, that's like the most delicious thing in the world. You can't drink it from within the egg, right? So, how about coming out to greet Mama and Mommy? I can also give you kisses and nestle you to sleep like I've been doing in a more direct manner. Oh, right, you might want to cuddle with your Mommy as well. She has enormous breasts that are very comfy to sleep on. How about..."

The dragoness sat by the said as the monotonous tone of the phoenix constantly rang around. Yasenia smiled, amused. 'Thankfully, my Sweetheart's voice is pleasant even in her monotonous tone. If not, this would be quite a burden for the little one...'

Crack!

Yasenia paused and looked down. 'Hm? Is it working?' The dragoness's eyes danced with laughter. 'Are you coming out to shut up your mother, darling? Hahaha.'

Suddenly, a dragon snout pierced the egg, making Cecile lift her eyebrow. "Hm? Is she a dragon?"

Yasenia hummed. "I don't think so. She should have a phoenix-like body, no?"

As Katarina's snout continued poking at the shell and widening the hole, her body slowly came out, and in just 10 minutes, Katarina was out.

Yasenia exclaimed. "She is so pretty!"

Cecile nodded a few times, admiring her little daughter.

Katarina was a two-legged, two-winged feathered dragon. Her feathers were a beautiful blue color, similar to Yasenia's scales, and they even had the same effect Yasenia's scales had. They had a glossy look, with white dots reflecting light, like starlight.

On top of her head, a pair of curved horns had started to grow, while her head was dragon-like but with a slightly longer snout resembling a beak. Still, it was aesthetically pleasant because it wasn't exaggerated.

The dragoness saw Katarina looking around lazily, stopping for a while when looking at her and Cecile. Yasenia smiled. "Hello, baby. I am your mother~."

Cecile stretched her hand slowly. "You are finally out, baby. You look gorgeous. I love it. How about you start eating the eggshell, love? It is very good for you."

Katarina squinted her golden slit eyes at the touch of Cecile and let out a faint purring sound. Then, she looked at Yasenia, asking for the same treatment, and the dragoness naturally delivered.

Her fingers gently spread Katarina's feathers, scratching the skin below. The little dragon almost lost footing from how comfortable she felt. Yasenia noticed and stopped while laughing. "Come on, baby. Eat these."

Yasenia used her tail to move the broken eggshells in front of Katarina. Their scent made her nostrils flare up a few times as she sniffed around. Without much delay, the newly born dragon-phoenix started devouring the eggshell.

Cecile smiled. "She really likes it."

Yasenia guessed. "I bet the eggshell, which is full of nutrients, is quite a tonic, making it taste delicious."

Cecile looked at Yasenia and smiled a bit sadly. "Right, you couldn't eat your eggshell."

The dragoness laughed. "Well, my birth was nothing but normal. I am just glad that I could survive and become who I am today."

Cecile grinned. "But you are far from satisfied."

Yasenia raised her eyebrow. "Of course. As long as Tatyana is stronger than me, then I won't stop cultivating."

Cecile asked, amused. "And after you do that?"

Yasenia humped. "Continue cultivating, or she, or any of you, might catch up!"

Cecile laughed. "I see."

"Rawr!"

Looking down, they saw Katarina looking up at them with no eggshell to be seen around the little child. The only clue that there was an egg around a few minutes ago was Katarina's slightly inflated belly

Yasenia chuckled and said. "Well, time to make that belly bulge a bit further with Mama Cecile's milk, Katarina."

Yasenia was grateful that all her lovers had no problem in the milk production department. None of the girls were worried since they had their almighty dragoness as a backup. From what they knew, their dragoness was capable of producing more than enough breastmilk to feed a few dozen children.

Cecile lowered her robes, which were designed to be easy to lower by Evelyn, and Katarina used her two talon-like legs to climb Cecile's body and latch to the pink nipple to start suckling.

Cecile looked at Katarina and then at Yasenia, her eyes evaluating something.

Curious, Yasenia asked. "What's wrong? What's up with that gaze?"

Cecile hummed. "The feeling of you drinking and Katarina drinking is so... different."

The dragoness was speechless for a few seconds. "What did you expect? For it to be similar?"

Cecile shook her head. "I knew they would be different since I wouldn't feel arousal toward Katarina. However, the difference is really big. Are you sure you are not using an obscure spell or something?"

Yasenia laughed. "Why do you ask?"

Cecile, blunt as always, commented. "Well, you make me clima..." Cecile paused, looked down, and then corrected her wording. "You make me feel in heaven just with that action. I can't believe they are similar actions with such different outcomes."

The dragoness smiled helplessly. "Silly. I love you so much."

Cecile blinked a few times and smiled. "I love you too, my love."

Yasenia laughed and then looked at Katarina. "With you, every single little one has been born. I guess it is time to start looking outside the World. In case the Divines' signals and other otherworlders were sent out, detecting a threat far before it arrives is ideal."

The feeling of everything coming to a close felt extremely satisfying. However, she didn't relax. Her adventure was just beginning. She had a vast universe to explore, with myriads of mysteries to uncover and endless challenges to overcome.

The dragoness paused and suddenly remembered. 'Wait, what happened to those beast otherworlders?' They had been so irrelevant during the global events that Yasenía had actually forgotten about them.

Thinking of them, she scratched her cheek and said. 'I guess I can go and give them a visit soon.'

And so she did. Taking part of her army, just in case, Yasenía went to visit the domain the otherworlder beasts occupied.

It was one of the largest mountain ranges in the Distancia Continent and a big part of its surrounding land. The place was quite large.

Tatyana asked. "So, what do you want to check?"

Estrella repeated. "What to check, Mommy!"

The other children parroted one after another, creating a lively atmosphere. Yasenía decided to bring everyone over because the Skeletal World Jumping Warship had protective formations that even she, going all out and using the [Celestial Pearl], couldn't easily breach.

This boat was a powerful Transcendence Level treasure, and it showed.

Yasenía laughed and answered. "Well, I want to check what they are doing. Are they friendly? Are they... I don't know. Planning something? Like, they've been completely isolated from the last few conflicts; they might be up to something, no?"

Tatyana snorted. "You are giving them too much credit. They are just beasts."

Yasenía deadpanned. "I am one as well, you know?"

Tatyana blinked. "Oh, sorry, habits are terrible, aren't they?"

The dragoness rolled her eyes and stopped the concealing formation. Evelyn muttered. "Being beautiful even while rolling your eyes should be counted as heaven-defying."

Skye giggled. "Mommy is pretty!"

Evelyn wholeheartedly agreed with her daughter. "Your Mommy is indeed pretty. I really am sorry for your future husband or wife, Skye. With such a creature as a mother, won't your aesthetic sense get twisted beyond belief? You will look at normal, handsome men and beautiful women and think. 'Ugh! How are they so ugly!?' And mom will cry, thinking that if those are ugly, what am I? Do you understand, Skye?"

Skye looked at Evelyn with an empty gaze, clearly having understood nothing. Evelyn hummed. "It seems that your intelligence isn't quite there yet, eh? It doesn't matter, really. You are so pretty that a smile of yours is enough."

Chapter 946: Meeting the Otherworlder Beasts again.

When Yasenía stopped using the concealing formation, several deep roars echoed from within the mountain range. They were warning roars, telling people off.

Yasenia frowned and looked toward the depths. "You want to challenge my authority in front of my children?"

The dragoness jumped from the ship while they were high up in the sky, and energy surged toward her. The girls raised their eyebrows and smirked. 'Oh? She wants to show off to the babies?'

As Yasenia fell, Tatyana controlled the ship to follow her perfectly. The children looked on as a crazy hurricane of energy gathered toward Yasenia. Then, the dragoness's voice echoed with an incredibly profound tone. "[Empyrean Cosmos Dragon Transformation]."

A brilliant blue star appeared, pushing the clouds away with the powerful shockwave expanding from it. Then, from that ball of light, the figure of a majestic dragon appeared. Its body was well over one kilometer large, with wings that spanned even beyond that. The mountainous dimensions of the creature even dwarfed the Skeletal Warship.

Her blue scales reflected the sun's light and scattered it around her, while the enormous Moon and Sun on her sky-shrouding wings glowed with their own brilliance, no less majestic than the actual Celestial Objects.

The enormous dragoness extended her wings, stopping her massive body from further falling down, and stopped in front of the mountain range.

Then, as many different kinds of presence-amplifying skills she knew enveloped her body, she took a deep breath and opened her mouth, releasing an earth-shaking and lasting dragon roar.

"ROAAARR!"

The children's eyes widened as the deep and imposing dragon's roar boomed outward and shook their chests and hearts. Even the girls couldn't help but gawk at the incredibly majestic figure of their lover.

Evelyn communicated through spiritual sense with the other girls. 'To think that THAT made us pregnant.'

The girls rolled their eyes a bit, but inside, they were feeling proud enough that their lips were twitching upward. Who didn't love it when their most important person looked as glorious and majestic as Yasenia?

After the long-lasting dragon roar stopped, Yasenia kept her dragon form and flapped her enormous wings while looking toward the mountain range.

Meanwhile, Estrella said, excited. "M-MOMMY IS SO COOL!"

Skye lifted her arms and shouted. "RAWR!"

Evelyn would've fallen down while clutching her heart if she wasn't holding the little one. "Why is my little darling so adorable? Argh! She is killing me with cuteness!"

But it got worse, or better, depending on the perspective, as the rest of the children followed Skye's example and lifted their arms, filling the place with glorious "rawrs" that were defeating even the battle-hardened maids.

"T-They are... Too cute!"

"S-Sister! Resist the urge! Remember Lady Tatyana's training!"

"I-I can't. Lady Tatyana's training didn't prepare us to resist the absurd level of adorableness Young Miss's children would have! I-I want to cuddle them!"

Tatyana looked at them, speechless. 'Well, I can't really blame them, can I?'

Kaleina giggled while looking at her little sisters. "I was also like that."

Flame looked at her sideways and smiled faintly. "Was? I bet that your tail would be helplessly wagging if you were in your dragon form."

Kaleina blushed and hit Flame's shoulder. "Cough. I-It wouldn't be... Although Mommy is super awesome! I would be able to resist! I am not an infant anymore! I am a big sister now!"

Flame laughed gently. "Sure, sure. Miss big sister is very mature. But, tell me, Miss Big Sister, why are you hugging and kissing Dianna's head?"

Kaleina coughed. "It is the daily ministrations of sisterly love."

Flame laughed together with Kali, who was looking at Kaleina with gentle eyes. Kaleina looked at Kali and asked. "What is Mommy doing, Mama Kali?"

Kali looked over and said. "Well, she is telling them. 'Do you dare roar back? Or, do you submit?' Something like that. That's why even her Monarch and War intents were used in that dragon roar."

Kaleina nodded. "I see! Does Mommy want to make those beasts her underlings as well?"

Kali hummed. "Do you know why we are here?"

Kaleina shook her head, but she threw a guess. "Did they do something against us?"

Kali shook her head and laughed. "No. What about you, Flame. Any guesses?"

Flame muttered. "Aunty Yassenia's mind is too deep. I probably can't guess her reasoning."

Kali laughed again and said. "Well, Yassenia forgot about their existence because of their lack of presence, so she is here to check what they are doing."

Flame looked at Kali with a stupid expression, and Kaleina burst into laughter. "Mommy is so cute sometimes! Hahahaha! Ouch."

Looking down, she saw Dianna biting her finger playfully. Kaleina blinked. "You have quite sharp teeth, don't you, Little Sister Dianna?"

Kaleina scratched Dianna's nape, making the little one stretch her limbs because of the pleasant sensation. Kali looked toward the horizon and commented. "Oh? They are here."

Both girls looked over.

Yassenia didn't move as several presences approached and waited patiently. Then, from the mountains, several beasts appeared. Their size was also enormous but not bigger than Yassenia's dimensions. After all, the dragoness was considered a giant beast, even between those at the same level.

"Yassenia Dravory, we never provoked you. Why are you here?"

The beast that spoke was a massive griffin in the tenth level of the Legendary Core realm. Regarding raw strength, he was far above Yassenia.

But even then, and while the tone was majestic, there was no disrespect in his tone. The dragoness noticed and answered more cordially. "Don't worry, I have no interest in the mountain range you use as your nests. However, since you've remained neutral during the conflict, I never really had the chance to interact with you. Would you mind if I do a little inspection around the continent?"

An eastern dragon reaching almost 3 kilometers in length spoke. His voice was deep and slow. "Yasenia Dravory, we want a reason for this. You can't come into our homes and ask for us to show it to you without expecting anything in return."

The dragoness hummed. "Well, you are right. How about this, you let me thoroughly inspect the mountain range to confirm you are not doing anything fishy that might endanger my position, and I'll build an energy purifier in the center of the Mountain Range. While these mountains have good energy quality for what Distancia is, it still feels lacking, right?"

The seven beasts paused, and eventually, the griffin asked. "Can you really do that?"

Yasenia flapped her wings and moved toward the warship. "Angel, hop onto my head."

Angel looked down at her baby and asked. "What about Aurelia?"

The giant dragon smiled, her ethereal voice sounding gentle. "Give her to Selena, for example."

Angel nodded with a smile. "Okay!"

After Selena grabbed Aurelia, Angel jumped and landed between Yasenia's eyes. The Empyrean Dragon's head was large enough to carry them all, not to mention one person.

Once she returned, Yasenia commented. "Here, I present to you one of my wives, Angel Dravory."

Angel waved her hands, smiling cutely. "Hello!"

The griffin nodded and answered. "Welcome."

Yasenia explained. "Angel is one of the best formation masters in Distancia's continent. I know that might not impress otherworlders like you, but she was considered a blessed individual even back where I came from, the Sky Continent, a middle-level world."

Their expressions somewhat changed, paying more attention to Angel.

Angel laughed shyly, feeling happy about Yasenia's evaluation of her. "I am not that good, hehe. Yasenia overestimates me!"

The dragoness smiled gently. "You are, baby." Then, she continued. "Well, she has helped cover each and every one of the cities under my direct ruling into places with several times the energy they had before. Right now, they are thriving and you can go visit them whenever. Even entering is possible, as we've done a few tweaks to the city's layout to allow giant beasts to roam around. Of course, it is not easy, but it is not impossible."

The griffin got thoughtful and eventually asked. "Do you mind if we visit those cities first? We just want to be sure about everything."

Yasenia didn't even doubt a second and smiled. "Of course, come with me. Oh, no need to change into human form if you are more comfortable this way. My ship has spatial formations, so it can hold all of us even though it is smaller than us in appearance. Tatyana, activate the spatial formations!"

Tatyana waved her hand, and the ground below them expanded several times, creating a broad and spacious main deck.

The dragoness flew upward, and the other seven looked at each other once and decided to follow.

Then, they saw Yasenya strangely shifting through a transparent dome around the ship and shrinking as her body went through.

The rest of the beasts were doubtful at first, but eventually, they gathered some courage and did the same, arriving on the main deck of the Skeletal Warship.

The griffin saw the ample space to walk on and muttered. "Excellent spatial formations. This must've been built by a Transcendent Level Formation Master, right?"

Tatyana answered with a smile. "I built this one long ago, I was a level seven Transcendent Realm cultivator back then. I made this one as a present for someone who I recently killed with my own hands."

The griffin looked at Tatyana with confusion. "Did you have a cultivation deviation, Lady? I can sense that you are a Level 3 Dantian Spiritualization right now."

Tatyana smiled. "Not at all. I am using a body double. Thanks for asking."

The seven beasts blinked a few times, unable to fully comprehend. Then, they heard a few soft and childish voices speaking.

Dawn muttered. "So big!"

Skye answered with a snort. "But Mommy is bigger!"

Aurelia spoke calmly. "But that long dragon is longer than Mommy!"

Skye insisted with two snorts. "But Mommy is bigger! She also has bigger wings!"

Estrella nodded. "Right! Mommy is also the prettiest! Look at her scales. They are so pretty!"

Aurelia hummed. "I agree. Mommy is the prettiest."

Andrea looked up and smiled apologetically. "Sorry, the children learned to talk not long ago, and they say everything that comes to their mind."

The beasts smiled, and the Eastern Dragon laughed. "Those are some good dragonlings. They will become strong and proud members of the dragon race."

The griffin looked at the Eastern Dragon with a mocking face. "They are not going to be your type of dragon, though."

The Eastern Dragon shook his head. "A dragon is a dragon! Even those four lasses with the dragon tail are proud dragons!"

Yasenya nodded a few times. "Right, right. All my babies are the best in the Universe."

The seven beasts looked at the giant dragon with a deadpan, but they didn't dare refute it.

Evelyn spoke. "Anyway, Sirs and Misses, we are going to arrive in a few minutes, so don't get startled by the speed of this thing. Everything will go by quickly, but you won't feel a thing!"

The seven beasts nodded, and right after, the Skeletal Warship accelerated and disappeared, vanishing into the horizon.

Chapter 947: Children's Rituals!

Their visit to the city went as Yasenias planned. The beasts were able to notice the change in energy quality, reassuring them that what Yasenias promised was feasible.

After that, the conversations flowed easily. With Yasenias's current experience, she was more than able to check on what the beasts were doing.

To her surprise, there was nothing wrong with their place. So, after signing a contract with her to build the energy-purifying formation, Yasenias left. Of course, Angel hid a spying formation inside the energy-purifying formation just to make sure that nothing was missed.

After returning to her sect, everything was done, and time started accelerating. Days went by, weeks passed, and Skyes's one-year-old birthday soon arrived.

Everyone gathered, similar to Estrella's birthday, and then, the ritual ensued. Yasenias was a bit nervous, but thankfully, nothing went wrong with Skyes.

The roulette worked perfectly, and soon, the sky was filled with starlight. That was not all. Skyes's roulette spinner worked again, and the stars in the sky shot lightning bolts, chaining everything together.

Then, a massive bolt fell down and broke mid-air, transforming into letters.

Attributes: Lightning and Star.

Constitution: [Star Thunder Devourer Physique]. From star to star, without stop, endlessly swallowing the sky.

Seeing that everything was as expected, the people around released a sigh of relief. People were already careful after the previous reveal. After all, someone ended up dead. This time, though, everyone clapped with genuine smiles of relief.

Yasenias and Evelyn picked up the fainting Skyes and took her back. That was not all, during the next two years, all the children had their own turn at the ritual, Dianna and Katarina included.

Their attributes and constitutions were revealed, impressing everyone. By order of birth, they went like this.

Aurelia's attributes were [Sun] and [Glass], while her constitution was named [Empyrean Glass Heart Physique]. The combination of attributes and Angel's natural talent with formations pushed them to teach Aurelia a similar path to Angel's so that she could use formations mid-combat.

Dawn had only one attribute, the [Sun] attribute. However, its purity was incredibly high, as she had inherited it from both Yasenias and Andrea. Her constitution was named [Sun Devourer Body].

The girls were quite impressed when the third "devourer" type of constitution appeared. Devourer constitutions usually had faster cultivation speeds because of their natural ability to absorb energy. Yasenias's talent and bloodline seemed to have awakened similar talents in all of her children.

After Dawn, they needed to wait a few months, and then Dianna's and Katarina's time to get tested arrived.

Dianna proved herself as the daughter of Kali and Yasenia, and she inherited the Life and Star attributes. A combination of attributes that would make many jealous. Then, her constitution came, and its name was [Origin Star Lifeblade Physique].

Seeing that, the girls knew that Dianna would be good with blades, so, even with a beast body, they tried to teach her how to use her claws and other similar slashing items to accustom her for when she could use humanoid weapons.

Finally, Katarina revealed the Star and Moon combination, accompanied by an incredibly powerful constitution. The name was [Cosmic Starcalling Physique], and its quality was really high.

When Yasenia caught Katarina, she smiled and looked behind her. Her little babies were a bit more grown because their physical development was quick as creatures with a powerful dragon bloodline.

While they had yet to reach the age of two, most of them looked almost four or five years old.

The entire house had been lively during the last year, and everything was going exceptionally well. Still, as Yasenia expected, Estrella had been feeling a bit sad lately.

When Estrella realized that all her sisters had attributes and that she was the only one without them, she felt a bit isolated, as if an invisible barrier was growing.

Of course, everyone in the family quickly smashed those barriers. Be it Kaleina, Kali and the rest, or even Skye and the other little ones, everyone never placed Estrella aside during any activity.

The dragoness also didn't give her special attention. She treated her like she treated the rest. This showed Estrella that she and the others were exactly the same for Yasenia. They were her dear children.

And this worked.

After all, Estrella grew up without special attention, and this helped Estrella feel more like part of the family.

If Yasenia and the other girls had pampered her greatly instead, Estrella would have grown to know that she was different or someone deserving pity. Children were highly perceptive, and odd behaviors were easy for them to discern.

Yasenia sat cross-legged in the garden, her eyes closed and her tail resting on the ground around her in a circle. 'The martial art is almost completed.'

The dragoness continued imagining the stances and energy movements, and then, she looked down at the hollow between her legs. There, Estrella's upgraded cultivation manual rested. "[Martial Emperor Body Technique]. In the end, the technique Tatyana took as a filler has become a life-saver."

The dragoness pondered. "Hm. Estrella is a pure beast with a somewhat inactive [Beast Core]. The [Beast Core] received damage because of her birth, so it is slowly recovering. Estrella will probably transform back into her beast form when the core recovers. However, since she has been a human, she will quickly gain her morphing skill. She might even master semi-transformation quicker than me."

Cecile answered her. "What does that do?"

Yasenia was talking to herself, but she didn't mind Cecile's company. She looked up at the flying Phoenix Woman and smiled. "Well, that ensures that Estrella is like me. She will be a beast that can train in the other three paths."

Cecile raised her eyebrow. "But?"

The dragoness sighed. "She can't practice the Spiritual Path. Attributeless people are unable to practice it, not before the Heavenly Cataclysm, not after it. At least, according to Mirrory." Yasenia chuckled. "That's quite a trustful source of information, so I don't doubt it."

Cecile landed in front of Yasenia and folded her wings while sitting cross-legged. "What does that imply?"

Yasenia answered as if it were a matter of fact. "That the first thing we should focus on after going out of Distancia is finding a Soul Path cultivation technique."

Cecile agreed. "Sure. We can do that." Then, Cecile smirked. "By the way. This time, try not to take over the entire World again. I mean, it will take quite a while, and you have a time limit, no?"

Yasenia rolled her eyes. "As if I wanted to conquer this world on purpose. Stupid people that kept provoking and poking at me. In the end, I bit off their arms, torso, and other parts and then swallowed them. That should teach them not to bother me."

Cecile rolled her eyes, and the dragoness asked. "Where is Katarina? You and her are inseparable lately."

Cecile laughed. "Well, Katarina is important, but my big girl was starting to feel a bit frustrated. So, I needed to come check."

Yasenia smiled at Cecile's light tone. It had been long since they met, and the previously mute and cold woman who didn't know emotions was now blossoming. In 100 years, Cecile would probably be much more outspoken, almost indistinguishable from any other woman.

Yasenia didn't complain. As long as Cecile was happy, she would support her path.

Cecile looked at Yasenia's soft smile and sighed in admiration. It has been more than twenty years, and the woman before her looked even more gorgeous than before.

With the years, wars, and other political intrigues, the previous attractive and young seductive woman has completely transformed into a lethal being.

Her body, even more seductive than before, had an air of maturity and power that made her look like a ripened fruit ready to eat. Her facial features couldn't be described as anything other than enthralling. Not to mention her aura, which would make anyone feel like they needed to obey her, yet, for close people, it was similar to a protective embrace, full of love and care.

The dragoness gained maturity and charm with age, increasing her overall attractiveness.

Cecile asked. "Say, Yasenia. How about you wear a veil or something?"

The dragoness blinked cutely. "A veil? Why?"

Cecile hummed. "I really think that it will save us from quite a few troubles if we all just cover our faces with veils and our bodies with loose clothing. In this world, where lustful people roam almost every corner, at least trying to keep our beauty secret might be better."

Yasenia hummed. "It is actually not a bad idea. How about you speak with Evelyn so that she can create a design that we all like? Dear has recently made another breakthrough in her tailoring while creating the dresses for the little girls."

Cecile laughed. "Did she? I didn't hear about it."

The dragoness snorted. "How could you hear anything when 40% of your time is with me, another 40% with Katarina, and the last 20% you use to cultivate."

Cecile coughed. "Sorry, I'll try to involve myself a bit more."

Yasenia smiled. "You better. Cecile, I know you are really possessive of me and that the Moon Phoenix instincts keep you from caring for anything else other than family. I also know that if anything happened to the other girls, you probably wouldn't mourn much."

Cecile hummed and didn't deny it. It was undeniable that she got along with the rest. She didn't have any problems with them, and if she could, she would help them with her all.

Yasenia smiled. "Anyway, come and help me finish the last set of moves. I need something so that phoenix-type beasts don't get stuck in the moves."

Cecile stood up and said. "Are you trying to make the martial art available for all kinds of creatures?"

Yasenia nodded. "At least available to all my children's races. There are a few moves that can be done with multiple limbs so that Dianna can use them. Everything is attributeless, of course, so that Estrella can practice them."

Cecile hummed. "I see. That's nice."

Yasenia commented. "Speaking of that, how are the girls doing cultivation-wise?"

Cecile asked. "Do you mean Katarina and Dianna?"

Yasenia nodded. "Nop. I mean, Kaleina, Flame, Katarina, and Dianna."

Cecile blinked. "Well, Kaleina is slowly approaching the third realm, while Flame has almost managed to break through into it. Then, Katarina and Dianna are both in the second beast core realm; none have advanced."

Yasenia nodded. Cecile commented. "By the way... Have you been using the Transmutation Cauldron?"

Yasenia paused and blinked a few times. "Wow. I can use it now! Oh, why did I almost forget we have that treasure!?"

Cecile laughed. "The [Earth Refining Cauldron] has been gathering a bit of dust in your ring, has it not?"

Yasenia nodded. "It totally has. Impressive. I have something that can, quite literally, pop materials from thin air, but I have not been using it. Anyway, let's move on. I want to complete this martial technique before Estrella's third birthday."

Cecile nodded. "Sure."

Chapter 948: Paths Are Meant To Be Treaded, Not Skipped.

Estrella looked around the training room, which her mother had built for them to train in various things. Behind Estrella's figure, 20 maids stood straight and formal.

They were her personal maids, and all of Yassenia's children had one group. The head maid of those twenty asked when she saw Estrella's lost look. "Little Miss, is anything wrong?"

Estrella looked at the black-haired woman and shook her head. "No, I was thinking about what to try next. I have a martial body, but I don't really feel like I am much better than my sisters. Do you know why is that?"

The maid smiled reassuringly. "Little Miss, sometimes, people have an affinity toward different types of weapons, and finding the right one is very difficult. Perhaps Little Miss is really good with an unconventional weapon, but you haven't found it yet. Care to tell me which weapons you've tried, Little Miss?"

Estrella nodded and commented. "I've tried the two-handed longsword, the giant sword, a spear, and twin swords."

The maid nodded. "Well, I see that you've tried to use Lady Tatyana's, Lady Yassenia's, Lady Evelyn's, and an original one, right?"

Estrella blushed a bit, but she honestly nodded. "Yeah... I don't feel comfortable with them..."

The maid laughed. "It's okay for you to try the Lady's weapons. Not only is it okay, it is very clever."

Estrella blinked, her heterochromatic blue and golden eyes looking adorably puzzled. "Why?"

The human maid leaned down and poked Estrella's nose with a smile. "Well, you are their daughter, Little Miss. Therefore, you might have talent with their choice of weapons."

Estrella nodded a few times with a bright smile. "I see!" Then, she pondered and commented. "Do you think Mommy and Mama will mind if I ask them what weapons they use?"

The maid straightened and laughed. "Mind? Little Miss, prepare to be showered with kisses~."

Estrella giggled and ran off. The other maids giggled. "Little Miss is adorable."

"She is also very hardworking."

One of them sighed. "It is a bit of a shame that she is attributeless. This blocks her Spiritual Path advancement."

Another one nodded. "It is, but it doesn't matter. Little Miss feels like a late bloomer. She might struggle at first, but with Little Miss's constitution alone, she can probably reach further than any of us."

The head maid said. "Moreover, don't forget whose daughter she is."

The other nineteen nodded seriously, and then they all followed Estrella at an appropriate distance to intervene in case anything happened.

While attacks were impossible since there was no one who dared to barge into Yassenia's house to attack her children, Yassenia's personal maids sometimes made an attack simulation to test the new maid's alertness.

When Estrella arrived at Yasenia's cultivation, she saw Doriel there and waved her arm. "Doriel! Is Mommy there?"

Doriel's cold and indifferent face mellowed as she looked at Estrella and smiled. "Young Miss is currently inside. Do you want to see her, Estrella?"

Estrella nodded a few times. At first, Doriel's vibe was a bit scary for some of the children. However, when Skye spoke with her, asking about something, they saw Doriel's usually scary expression soften, which made all of them realize that she was a good person.

Of course, "good person" was a subjective adjective that only the children would probably attach to someone like Doriel, but since she was good to them, they were no longer scared.

The maids behind Estrella bowed in greetings to their senior, and Doriel nodded back.

Doriel hummed and got thoughtful, and Estrella asked. "Is Mommy doing something important?"

Doriel smiled. "She is doing something very important, but it shouldn't be a problem if we interrupt for a second. Young Miss would probably scold me if she later knew that I turned one of her babies away."

Estrella humphed. "Don't worry, Doriel! I will tell Mommy not to shout at you!"

Doriel laughed. "Then, I am in your hands, Estrella."

Estrella nodded severely, crossing her little arms while her tail wiggled haughtily.

Doriel approached the enormous door and spoke. "Young Miss, Little Miss Estrella is here."

It took not longer than a minute for the doors to start opening, releasing a wave of extremely dense energy. The maids behind Estrella held their breaths as Yasenia appeared.

They were relatively new, and for them, Yasenia was a godlike existence. Not to mention the sheer authority her presence radiated, and the dragoness's beauty was enough to make the heart of almost anyone in the entire continent tremble.

She was, quite literally, chosen as the most attractive female in the entire continent. Even between beasts, her beast form was incredibly stunning.

When Yasenia came out, she looked down at Estrella and smiled brightly. "Oh~? My hardworking baby is here?"

Estrella ran forward and jumped into Yasenia's arms. "Mommy!"

The dragoness easily caught her jumping darling and used her tail to secure her quickly. Then, she kissed her nose and asked. "So, it is rare that you come to visit me at these times. You are usually practicing. Is there something that baby wants to tell me?"

Estrella nodded a few times and looked back at her maids. The head maid smiled and nodded back, reassuring Estrella.

The dragoness raised her eyebrow, seeing the interaction, but she waited for Estrella to talk. Estrella looked at her Mama Dragon's gentle face and asked. "Um... Can Mommy tell me which weapons you are good with? I still haven't found one that I am good at or that I have a talent for, so I wanted to know yours..." Estrella muttered. "I am your daughter, after all..."

Yasenia almost died from the cuteness attack that her daughter threw her way. "Uuu! Baby, why are you so cute!"

And, as the maid expected, Estrella's face was quickly covered with Yasenia's kisses, making the child laugh happily. After the dragoness was satisfied, she commented. "Well, baby. I am good at a few weapons. I am the best at with my giant sword... Let me show you."

Yasenia placed Estrella down and called [Draconic Heart]'s red core. Estrella looked at the red orb and asked. "That's mommy's weapon?"

Yasenia smiled. "That's right, look." Her energy poured into Draheart, and a bluish material surrounded the core, swiftly transforming into its usual giant sword shape.

Estrella clapped. "That's so cool!"

Even the maids behind Estrella were surprised. 'Lady Yasenia's weapon must be extremely strong.'

Yasenia took a perfect stance, showing an air of confidence and strength, and she started moving slowly. "The giant sword needs broad strikes that carry the weight of the body. Agility is usually not something that you should have with this weapon. It is more of a war sword, as you use the broad strikes to blast the frontlines. Still..."

Estrella saw Yasenia's movements faintly change, and suddenly, the sword's speed multiplied, and Yasenia began swinging it around with almost no effort. "... If you are strong enough, you can use the giant sword agilely like this, creating something like a massive spear that has wide edges. Agile combat with the giant sword is possible for me because of two main reasons."

Yasenia didn't stop moving around, showing extreme mastery with the giant sword, enough to leave the maids behind Estrella breathless.

"The first reason is I am physically very strong," Yasenia explained. "My body is not only enhanced by my Beast, Body, and Spiritual cultivation, but I also have various skills that give me even more strength. I've been refining my body with a powerful body-refining skill for many years."

Yasenia did a powerful lateral strike and summoned an enormous gale that swept all the leaves off the ground. Yasenia looked at Estrella and smiled. "The second reason is my tail."

Estrella asked, curious. "Tail?"

Yasenia nodded and commented. "Focus on my tail in my next routine, okay?"

Estrella nodded twice and looked at Yasenia's gorgeous tail.

Then, the dragoness started moving again, and Estrella realized that the tail was constantly swinging behind Yasenia, helping her with weight balancing. "Ohh!"

Yasenia stopped and looked at Estrella. "Our dragon tails are an excellent asset during combat. Even if we don't use it to attack, which it totally can because of their sturdiness and hard scales, it can be used to aid the body's movement."

Estrella's eyes glittered. "I see!"

The dragoness sent energy toward the sword, and soon, it transformed into a pair of draconic-shaped gloves. They looked like scaly gloves with a red orb shining on top of Yasenia's right hand. They also went up to Yasenia's elbow, giving her a wild and imposing look.

"The weapon I am most proficient with after the giant sword is armored claws."

Yasenia went into a martial art position, which Estrella swiftly picked up on, and the dragoness explained. "Claws are usually quite useless weapons. Their range is deficient, and a spear user can easily overpower you if they are good enough. Even the attack power behind them is lacking."

Estrella tilted her head. "Then, why do you use them?"

Yasenia grinned. "Because I am physically strong. My combat style is me trying to overwhelm my opponent with raw power and technique. I don't send attacks at random, but each attack I do is backed with brutal power and heaviness."

Estrella nodded a few times, and Yasenia commented. "Look. This is exactly the same strength I used to make that sword swing that blew away the leaves."

The dragoness's body rotated from her ankle, up her leg, and through her torso, reaching her shoulder and transferring all the strength toward her fist.

Then, Yasenia completed the perfect punching motion.

BOOM!

The air before the dragoness exploded, creating a small shockwave.

The loud sound made Estrella's heart jump, but instead of fear, she felt excitement. Yasenia recovered her stance and laughed. "That's why I use claws. Because if I manage to sneak in and land a punch, they will be in a world of suffering. If I manage to release a combo on them? Heh, the fight would probably be over soon."

Estrella asked. "Are these suitable for me?"

Yasenia smiled. "I don't know."

Estrella blinked and pouted. "Won't mommy tell me?"

The dragoness laughed and began a martial art routine with the claws. "Estrella, the martial arts path is very personal. I will give you and the other children something when you are three years old. Then, after that, you need to learn by yourself."

Estrella kicked a small rock at her feet, but her eyes followed her gorgeous mother's movements. They were mesmerizing and profound, showing incredible martial arts knowledge and depth.

Even the maids behind Estrella were learning each time Yasenia moved.

The dragoness laughed softly. "Baby, don't be sad. Remember this, and remember it well."

Estrella listened, and Yasenia explained. "There are no shortcuts in the cultivation world. You can advance quickly. You can advance slower. However, you can't skip things. Everything needs to accumulate slowly and become your strength. You know that I couldn't even fight a few levels above my level at first? I needed to accumulate strength, and now, look at Mommy. I can fight high-level Epoch Cores while at the Low-Level."

Estrella pondered, half-understanding Yasenia's words.

The dragoness added. "Still, baby. That doesn't mean that we won't help. Remember, the path is yours, but the guidance on how to tread on your own path is not received from nowhere. We, the maids, and everyone else are your teachers, and we will slowly help you learn."

Yasenia made a series of beautiful movements, turning toward Estrella and finishing with a punch in her direction that blew some wind in her direction.

"Estrella, your name means 'Star.' You are bound to become a star, those that are high in the sky. Never give up, okay? I will always be your support."

Estrella looked at Yasenia's extended fist, and she lifted her short arm and bumped it with her. Then, she smiled. "Okay!"

Chapter 949: Grand Cosmos. Martial Enlightenment.

Inside her cultivation room, Yasenia looked at the wall and saw a timer for Estrella's birthday. 'Two weeks.'

Her eyebrows frowned and she looked at the several parchments of paper around the room, all containing martial arts techniques. The number of them was well over 10,000. With her reading and comprehension skills, she had spent the last 2 years reading and trying to perfect all of them.

However, she had too much information in her head, and organizing everything to make a coherent martial art that could evolve as she herself became stronger was proving to be much more complicated than expected.

'I need to review the cultivation anatomy books for each race. I only have two weeks, though.'

The dragoness rubbed her forehead, her eyebrows gently coming together. "What do I do...?"

She waved her hand, summoning several piles of books that would take a mortal several years to read, and sat down cross-legged. "Focus. That's what I need to do. I need to create the base for the martial art so that Tatyana, Mirrory, and Valeria can look at it together later and fix the fundamental flaws, perfecting it. "

She took in a deep breath and then used her energy to levitate one of the books in front of her. She opened it and began flipping page after page. Information about the anatomy of humans entered her powerful brain and was dissected and absorbed.

Then, a book about dragons.

Then, a book about phoenixes.

Then, a book about snake beast humans.

Then, a book about fox beasts.

Book after book, race after race, she compiled everything and used the information she already knew to compensate and fill some voids.

Yasenia's theory books were provided by Tatyana and kept in the [Five Realm Spatial Ring] since the second she left her house back in the Moon Empire.

The dragoness had used a small portion of all the books she had. One thing Tatyana didn't hold back from giving were books, scrolls, jade slips, and information of all kinds.

The only thing blocking Yasenía from learning more was her own cultivation level and time.

So, for the next week straight, Yasenía read anatomy books without stopping for a second. The girls outside knew what Yasenía was doing, so they took care of the children in the meantime.

The only time Yasenía stopped was when a child asked for her presence because other than serving as a small rest for her mind, she could also feel and sense her children's energy affinities.

She could inspect their empty energy paths and several other things. While Yasenía was with them and paying attention, her subconsciousness constantly absorbed everything she could.

All her children visited the dragoness this week, and this helped her tremendously. 'Finally, I've discovered what type of meridians and acupuncture points are commonplace in every single race.'

Yasenía stomped the ground and summoned a giant stone tablet reaching over 100 meters in height. Draheart manifested in her hand, and she took a simple stance.

The dragon's golden eyes focused so intensely on the stone tablet that it began physically trembling from the sheer pressure of her gaze. The dragoness was about to take her first step with the sword, but she stopped. 'No... This is wrong. It is a path with an end. I can't create a martial art that works with every weapon by making it appropriate for each weapon. Even between swords, there are differences. Even between bows produced by the same blacksmith, there are differences.'

Yasenía didn't release Draheart, but instead, it let it cover her body. The scaly substance covered her hands, arms, torso, breasts, neck, face, head, waist, hips, legs, and tail.

Then, it tightened without losing the armor-esque figure. Then, her aura soared and burst outward, blowing everything that was on the ground away.

"[Draconic Heart: Martial Heart Style]."

BOOM!

Yasenía's aura completely changed as [War Intent] manifested, unlike any other time. [War Intent] was an intent that took the concepts of [Battle Intent], [Slaughter Intent], [Weapon Intent], [Wisdom Intent], and [Instinct Intent] and then meshed them together in perfect harmony.

This time, when Yasenía manifested [War Intent], she didn't do it as a singular mixed intent. Instead, one could feel the five intents rotating and clashing with each other around her.

Her aura suddenly soared.

BOOM!

[War Intent Level 8]!

However, Yasenía didn't stop there. Her eyes were focused on the giant stone tablet, and her body was tightly covered by the blue-scaled draconic armor.

At that moment, every single martial art she had read, every single anatomy book she had read, every single aura of her family, and every single energy path. Yasenía's everything condensed and manifested as an enlightenment.

When the enlightenment started, Yasenía's comprehension speed increased far beyond anything she had done before. She was looking at everything with such a clear mind that every single detail felt obvious.

The massive cluster of information in her mind swiftly reorganized. However, the dragoness knew; she felt it in her bones, in her soul! She knew that she needed to take one more step if she truly wanted to complete what she wanted.

Therefore, her mind remembered the Abyss she summoned.

She felt the slaughter she unleashed, hundreds of thousands, millions dying in literal mountains of corpses.

She saw the cries of desperation from a situation that could have been taken care of by another path.

She saw the thousands of weapons trying to clash with the absolute [Abyss] to no avail, breaking one after another.

She saw the natural reaction of every single creature toward the [Abyss], the raw fear and the instinct to flee or fight until the bitter end.

She saw Admiral Tidal Break's battle, not with the creatures, but with himself. A battle between trying to take down his enemy with everything they had or telling his own army to kill themselves as that was mercy.

BOOOM!

A gorgeous hurricane of intents surrounded Yasenia as her comprehension of everything increased to the limits of the mortal realm, and hence, it was born.

[War Intent Level 9].

[Monarch Intent Level 9].

Then, and only then, when everything she could currently pass on gathered and squeezed inside herself, Yasenia took a step forward.

The armor surrounding her figure soared with energies that entangled almost beyond perfection.

Her figure, at this moment, felt invincible under the mortal ranks.

Her feet moved, and Yasenia flew toward the gigantic Stone Tablet. When she was at the perfect distance, her fist flew and exploded outward, shaking the very fabric of space.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, First Form: Stellar Burst]."

BANG!

BOOM!

CRACK!

Giant black spatial cracks covered the stone tablet as her own punch created large fissures.

Yasenia's figure spun around her axis, and the energy around her rotated with her body, gathering toward her leg and tail.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Second Form: Galaxy Stream]."

BOOM! BOOM!

CRRACK!

But it didn't stop there. Her punch followed, using rotational energy and precise movement technique, striking the Stone Tablet and creating several more fissures across the entire item.

This continued for a few seconds into a mesmerizing barrage of perfectly linked rotational strikes that left no gap between them.

BOOM!

After her last powerful kick, the dragoness was shot skywards. Then, as if physics had stopped working, energy surrounded Yasenias, and when she was high enough, her body accelerated down toward the Stone Tablet, leaving behind a scorched trail created by pure energy.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Third Form: Comet Descent]."

BOOOOM!

CRRRACK!

Like a meteor crashing onto the ground, the raw power behind her punch ruined the spatial integrity of the World, spreading the black spatial fissures all across the stone tablet again.

However, the dragoness suddenly got stuck. A martial art was not only an offensive set of attacks; it needed much more. However, there was only a tablet in front of her and no one to attack her.

At this exact instant, Tatyana, Mirrory, and Valeria appeared and attacked Yasenias without a single word, using only martial arts. Their eyes glowed with a strange fervor as if they were looking at a wonder of the Universe forming before them.

The dragoness, deep in her enlightenment, didn't register who attacked, but she registered several brutal attacks approaching from incredibly powerful opponents.

When Tatyana's fist was about to smash Yasenias armored face, the dragoness moved with enough swiftness to dodge the Death Empress's serious punch. Tataynas lips arched in a wide but painful grin as the armored tail sunk into her stomach.

BANG!

Tatyana's figure flew backward just as Valeria's leg completed the wide motion to attack the dragoness from an angle that was impossible for Yasenias to dodge.

Neither of the three was holding back a single bit. They were there to truly strike Yasenias down. However, that was not their intention. They were trying their best because they knew it; they felt it.

'Yasenias can dodge.'

And she did.

When the lateral kick of the Nature Queen was about to hit the dragoness, Yasenias deep and mellow voice echoed.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Fourth Form: Cosmic Flow]."

Yasenias body spun in the direction of the kick, and her arm perfectly interlocked behind Valeria's leg, pushing it above herself. Worse, as Valeria's leg passed, the dragoness was in a perfect position for her leg to fly up and hit the Nature Queen on the side of her body.

BOOM!

The Nature Queen flew as Yasenia's strength and Valeria's own power exploded on Valeria's figure.

Yet, Mirrory appeared at this time, falling from above with ridiculous speed. Yasenia's current position was extremely awkward and dodging was nothing but a dream.

Mirrory's emerald eyes were looking at the dragoness; no, they were asking. 'What now?'

Yasenia used the arm that diverted Valeria's kick and slapped it against the ground from an incredibly awkward position that would've left others helpless.

Like a spring, Yasenia bounced upward and kicked against Mirrory's incoming attack.

BANG!

Mirrory flew upward while Yasenia shot toward the ground. Yet, with ridiculous agility, the dragoness fell on her four limbs.

By this time, Tatyana had recovered and was rushing toward Yasenia again. The three seniors attacked the enlightened dragoness for the next minute straight, creating a balanced battlefield where Yasenia dodged, blocked, deflected, and even counterattacked them.

However, even in her enlightened state, Yasenia could not permanently hold against them, and Mirrory finally managed to sneak in a truly unavoidable strike.

Tatyana and Valeria, who were recovering their stances, looked attentively as Yasenia's attributeless energy gathered around her body like a nebula.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Fifth Form: Nebula Ripple]."

Then, Mirrory's strike landed.

BANG!

Tatyana's and Valeria's eyes widened as the dragoness easily blocked the strike. Even Mirrory was stunned. The punch that Yasenia just stopped carried several Level 9 Intents behind it.

Mirrory felt the piercing golden eyes looking at her from beyond the armor's vision, and her heart dropped. 'Defend!'

She gathered her arms to her right, and right after, with a speed that appeared blurred even for them, Yasenia's leg smashed Mirrory with the force of a cosmic explosion.

BOOOM!

CRRRAACK!!

Mirrory's immaterial form flew and smashed against one of the walls as several black spatial fissures opened all around the area.

Valeria's eyes flashed, and her figure basically vanished.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Sixth Form: Celestial Alignment]."

Yasenia's focus increased. It soared beyond comprehension. Aided by the nascent martial art, the dragoness's perception and intuition heightened to such depths that she could perceive even the particles of dust clashing with each other.

Valeria, who appeared from nothing behind Yasenia, attacked the back of the dragoness's head with a rising fist strike that carried her entire strength.

Even Tatyana was worried that the attack would make Yasenia's skull explode, almost leading her to intervene. However, she felt Mirrory's gaze just at the right time, preventing her from intervening.

Even Valeria was unsure of this attack. Yet, just when her fist started to feel the cold radiating from the armor the dragoness wore, the head right before her fist disappeared.

"[Grand Cosmos Martial Art, Seventh Form: Astral Convergence]."

Valeria's spiritual sense focused in an instant out of pure battle reaction and saw the dragoness rotating toward her body. 'S-She predicted me-GOUGH!!?'

Yasenia's punch sank into the lower stomach of the Nature Queen, using their combined strengths to explode with the energy of the stars.

BOOM!

Tatyana's and Mirrory's pupils shrunk, seeing that the stomach of the Nature Queen had actually been blown open with blood pouring all over.

Yasenia then looked at the Stone Tablet covered with cracks and rushed at it, releasing a barrage of space shattering attacks.

Five minutes later, all energies vanished together with the dragoness's armor, and Yasenia fainted.

The three seniors rushed forward and easily caught her. Then, they looked at the giant tablet, and they laughed.

Mirrory muttered. "Incredible. I have seen geniuses all my life, even those that had reached Yasenia's current achievements as early as her. However, they were all high-level Heaven juniors."

Tatyana blinked, surprised. "She actually created a martial art and infused its essence into the tablet. This stone tablet has absorbed all of Yasenia's intent and strength, becoming a martial art stele."

Valeria smiled. "The cracks are now mending and forming, guided by Yasenia's remaining energy, the shapes and forms of the martial art. In a few centuries, they will change into visual forms that guide people not by words but by comprehension."

Tatyana laughed. "Well, we don't have that much time, do we?"

Mirrory sighed. "This will be annoying, but sure. Let's accelerate it and finish it by Estrella's birthday."

Chapter 950: Estrella's First Big Present!

Kali and the rest looked at their pouty daughters and smiled awkwardly. Skye asked loudly. "Why can't I see Mommy!? I want to see Mommy!"

Dawn said, her young face full of adorable seriousness. "Mommy is doing something important, Big Sister."

Skye harrumphed and pointed to the side. "But today is Big Sister Estrella's birthday!" Skye looked at Evelyn and exclaimed. "I, um..." She frowned for a few seconds and looked at Evelyn. "Mama, what was the word?"

Evelyn blinked, confused. "Which word?"

Skye gestured incoherently with her words. "That... um. The word like ask?"

Evelyn realized where her daughter was going and answered. "Demand?"

Skye's golden eyes lit up, and she nodded, smiling brightly. "Thank you, Mama!" Then, becoming serious again, she shouted cutely. "I demand Mommy!"

Evelyn was speechless. She didn't know whether to praise her daughter or smack her butt.

Aurelia spoke softly while obediently sitting on Angel's lap. "Mommy loves us the most, so she will come. She is probably busy."

Skye pointed at Aurelia and stuttered. "W-Whose side are you on, little sister!?"

Aurelia shrunk a bit, hiding behind her book. But after a few seconds, Angel nudged her sides, and she poked out her blonde head, showing her bright and intelligent golden eyes that they all shared. "I am on big sister's side. I want her to be happy."

The personal maids of each child looked at the interaction with baffled expressions. They'd seen that education started really early and was very demanding. Still, the children were two years old. Other two-year-olds they'd seen in the past were still eating their snots and learning to talk!

Andrea placed Dawn on her lap and laughed. "Honestly, I love how intelligent they are, but they are growing a bit too fast."

Angel nodded a few times and hugged Aurelia as if she were a teddy bear, squeezing her into her ample bosom. "I think the same! My baby can be a baby for longer!" Then, Angel blinked. "Oh. Is this how Yasenias feel about me?"

The rest of the girls almost choked. 'Only now, you realize!?'

Meanwhile, Aurelia didn't know what to do when her mother's oversized breasts snuggled her entire body. 'I can't read...'

Cecile caressed the plumage of her daughter and said calmly. "Don't worry; Yasenias are going to be here soon."

Katarina lifted her dragon head and cried cutely. Her own golden eyes looked eager. "Rawr!"

Kali laughed. "As expected, Yasenias have become the favorite."

Evelyn snorted. "What did you expect? At the end of the day, they are our daughters. Do you think that the creature that managed to make us love her so crazily won't take our daughter's heart away just like their mothers?"

Kali coughed. "No ince... Ahem, that word."

Evelyn raised her eyebrow defiantly. "As if I would let her steal my place. We already have quite limited time with her. I am not letting anyone else come inside and take more of her time!"

Andrea smiled with twitching lips. "Isn't that the wrong reason..."

Evelyn snorted. "It is enough reason! Also, aren't Yasenias' genetics... super powerful? If you understand, you understand. But she would not have any biological problems!"

Andrea couldn't really deny it, so she didn't say anything. "You win."

Skye grinned widely. "Mama wins!"

Dawn pouted and looked at Andrea. "Why did Mama lose?"

Both new mothers didn't know how to answer. Thankfully for them, the door opened, and when everyone looked over, their eyes brightened.

Yasenia was welcomed to a sea of gazes that felt like the savior had arrived, and her eyebrows twitched twice. "U-Um, I am here?"

Skye shouted, raising her arms. "MOMMY!"

Yasenia saw her darlings running toward her, with two of them flying over the others. Seeing the five cuties running toward her, she couldn't help but laugh happily. Still, she kept her eyes on the one who didn't come to greet her.

The dragoness caught all her dears and used her tail and arms to pamper them. "How are my babies doing?"

All five children started talking and rawring together, but Yasenia understood all of them and answered slowly, one by one. After a few moments, she looked at Estrella with a big smile and asked. "What, is my big baby feeling pouty?"

Estrella, sitting on Tatyana's lap, nodded softly. "Mommy didn't come to wake me up..."

The dragoness sighed. "I am sorry, baby. I was finishing the present I wanted to give all of you, so I didn't have time." The dragoness smiled and looked down at the five little darlings clingling on her. "How about we go sit down and eat the birthday longevity noodles? I also prepared a few cakes~."

The five children dispersed and went toward their mothers while Yasenia looked at Kaleina and beckoned her. Kaleina knew where this was going, and while she felt a bit embarrassed, she was a bit more accustomed than the first time.

Yasenia sat on her chair and then pulled Kaleina onto her lap, tightly hugging her from behind and leaning forward to give her cheek a kiss. "So, how is my big baby doing?"

Kaleina blushed happily and falsely complained. "I am not a baby anymore!"

The dragoness laughed. "Even if you are older than the stars, you will always be my baby, Kaleina."

Kaleina giggled and rubbed her face with Yasenia's. Then, she asked. "What did you prepare for Little Sister Estrella, Mommy?"

The dragoness lifted an eyebrow. "Oh? Feeling mischievous? You know that presents are a secret until they are revealed, right?"

Kaleina smirked. "Well~, but I am not the one receiving Mommy's present~, so it doesn't matter~."

Yasenia grinned. "Oh~? But you are~."

Kaleina blinked twice, confused. "Eh?"

The dragoness poked her nose and laughed gently. "So, be patient until Mommy reveals it."

Then, the dragoness looked right, and she smiled. "How are you doing, Little Flame?"

Flame nodded and answered softly. "I am doing well, Aunty Yasenía."

The dragoness raised her eyebrow. "What, not approaching for your daily kiss?"

Flame coughed, blushing a bit in happiness, and she obediently approached. The dragoness planted a short kiss on her cheek and laughed. "Better~. You are part of our family, Flame. Don't hold back with me."

Flame nodded, her eyes full of gratefulness and love. "Thank you, Aunty Yasenía."

Yasenía smiled, satisfied, and asked. "By the way, how is the blacksmith shop you've opened? Did anyone try to bully you?"

Flame laughed. "I don't think anyone dares to bully me with your backing, Aunty Yasenía."

The dragoness snorted. "As it should be. See if someone dares to touch you wrongly. Their entire family will disappear from this world in one night."

Kaleína nodded sagely. "Mommy can do that, indeed."

Flame gave Kaleína a reproachful look, making the young girl poke her tongue out playfully.

Tatyana cleared her throat, garnering the attention of the people present. Those that were there were just family people. The maids, the children, the girls, and a few relatives or really close people like Coraline, Loberon, Tengliu, and more.

After her battle with Yasenía, Tengliu's past was completely forgotten and forgiven. The girls were very welcoming of her, making the Harpy Matriarch feel that everything had been worth it.

The feast went really well, and everyone had the chance to taste Yasenía's cooking one more time. Lately, Yasenía's invites received the nickname of the best gastronomic experience in Distancia.

Tatyana spoke. "For Estrella's third birthday, there are two special things. First thing, it is my present, or, well, a bit more than a present, I would say."

Estrella saw Tatyana wave her hand, and Alaia walked forward, placing a big box in front of her. Everyone was curious about it. Yasenía didn't know about this as well, so she couldn't help but try to guess.

Suddenly, she remembered. "Oh? Is it about that?"

Tatyana looked at the dragoness and smiled. "That's right."

Yasenía laughed. "I see."

Estrella looked at the box curiously and asked Tatyana. "What is this, Mommy?"

Tatyana kissed her hair and smiled. "How about you open it?"

Estrella blinked a few times, looking between the box and her mother. Eventually, she nodded. "Okay!"

So, the little child slowly stood up on the chair, supported by Tatyana, and started attacking the big package that she placed on the table. Seeing that the present was enveloped in many layers, Estrella's little sisters became a bit restless.

Kaleina, knowing her little sisters well, used her energy to move the box and place it on the ground. "Let's go, little sisters! Attack!"

All the little girls laughed and went at it, helping Estrella open the big box.

Everyone looked on with smiles, and eventually, the package came off with one of Estrella's pulls. "Ha! Done!"

The adults looked with puzzled faces, and Kaleina muttered. "A... Jellyfish?"

Estrella blinked a few times, looking at the floating jellyfish with wide eyes. "So pretty!"

The Jellyfish had gorgeous light around it, looking like its body was filled with a beautiful nebula.

Yasenia explained. "When we were returning from the sea, we caught a giant Jellyfish fighting a shark-like monster. We felt their battle after the aura that this little one gave off, who at the time was nothing but an egg."

Tengliu asked, impressed. "You noticed the child before a battle between two peak-level deep ocean monsters?"

The dragoness nodded. "We did. Because of that, we've tested this little one in one of the rituals as well. We were surprised to see that her bloodline was at the limit of what Distancia Bloodlines can go. Not only that, but the potential is nothing to scoff at. She is, quite literally, a creature with the potential to become a [Star Beast]."

Coraline asked. "[Star Beast]?"

Yasenia nodded. "Her potential is that of creatures who roam the universe. The beasts that live outside worlds, roaming in space, are usually called [Star Beasts]. All of them have extremely high potential, most being able to grow to large enough sizes to swallow stars and worlds alike. [Star Core Beast Realm] is almost a certainty for them as long as they live long enough."

Coraline asked with a stunned expression. "Wait, Star Core was the realm equal to..."

Tatyana smiled. "Mine. That little Jellyfish, if nurtured properly, can reach my current cultivation realm and even beyond."

Everyone sucked in a cold breath.

Estrella poked at the crystal a few times, and the jellyfish gently floated toward her finger, squishing its body against the glass. Estrella's face lit up, and she burst into giggles. "I like you!"

The Jellyfish jiggled adorably as if reciprocating the feelings.

Tatyana told Estrella. "Little Light, from now on, this cute one will be your companion, okay? Treat her well."

Estrella nodded seriously. "I will!"

The other children looked at the Jellyfish, and Yasenia asked. "Do you all want one? We can get you one for your birthdays if you want them~."

To her surprise, they shook their heads, not looking too interested. Yasenia didn't ask why and smiled. Still, she had an inkling. Her children were very clever, so they probably noticed that Estrella was having a few issues with cultivation.

So, in their minds, they decided to let Estrella be the only one with a "pet" so that Estrella had her own thing going.

While this thought seemed too complicated for children, in their heads, it was more similar to something like 'I want Big Sister to have something special.'

Yasenia then commented. "And that's not all. Today, we have another big surprise!"

Everyone looked at the dragoness, and Yasenia walked outside. "Follow me."
