

Her Seven LBG 481

Chapter 481

With the money she received from Eddie, Melanie hired a hundred mercenaries and divided them into several teams at her disposal. Meanwhile, Hanson saw a car speeding in their direction as soon as he started the engine. As the car showed no signs of stopping, he could tell that whoever was driving wanted to die with them.

When he realized this danger, Hanson quickly made a sharp turn and brushed against the car before pulling over. "Get out of the car now!"

At the same time, Vania and the children were shocked by what was going on, but they managed to calm themselves down shortly after and jumped out of the vehicle. On the other hand, Hanson put his foot on the gas pedal and stepped on it hard, whereupon he hopped out of the car as it sped forward. After all, he knew the closer they were to the car, the more dangerous it was to them.

Nevertheless, the few of them later found themselves blocked and confronted by several unfriendly strangers. Soon, the man, who seemed to be their leader, said, "You're skilled, Mr. Luke, but you're not getting away from me even though you hopped out of the car. Today will be the day you meet your downfall at my hands."

As soon as the man finished his words, his underlings began to splash some unknown liquid that appeared to be flammable or harmful to the skin. Due to the surprising turn of events, Hanson and the others were caught off guard by the mercenaries. Although Hanson and Vania immediately shielded the children by hugging them, they failed to prevent the kids from being covered by the harmful substance.

James, who was resourceful enough to think of a solution, said, "Brothers, it's time to use it now." The next second, the boys each took what seemed like a white spray bottle from their pockets and proceeded to counteract the harmful substance. In fact, the bottles contained an agent they had just synthesized to neutralize the detrimental effects of the harmful liquid, which could help them minimize the hazard and ensure their safety.

"Mom, Dad, we need to spray this on ourselves now." In a matter of seconds, they managed to spray themselves with the agent from head to toe. After that, they immediately turned around, knowing the way ahead of them was blocked, only to realize they were surrounded by people who came from behind them as well.

"Meet your demise today," said the leader arrogantly.

However, the mercenary leader was quickly greeted by hundreds of drones levitating above his head as soon as he finished his words. Not long after that, he realized he was met with several teams of special force members who closed in on them in a hostile manner.

"Drop your weapons and surrender, or we'll shoot to kill." The voice that came from the drones sounded indifferently intimidating. In fact, those people were the reinforcement that Hanson secretly requested when he pushed the emergency button just before the car nearly crashed. It was then that he managed to gather around the special forces to take on the mercenaries.

Chapter 482

In that instant, one of the mercenaries threw a tinder that he had prepared ahead at Hanson and Vania. "Die!" However, Hanson and his family quickly used their agents against the tinder by aiming their spray bottles at it, instantly nullifying its flammable properties.

At the same time, a few others, who were hesitating if they should throw their tinder, followed suit and shouted, "We'll die together!" As the floor was all covered with the harmful substance the mercenaries just spilled, the place went down in flames the second the tinder fell on the floor.

"Help! This place is on fire! Help!"

"Help! Help!" The bystanders screamed and shouted for attention, running away from the flames as far as they could. At the same time, the flames burned brighter and brighter as they stood there and watched the horrible sight of billowing smoke that rose to the sky.

Deep down, they were all convinced that the people who were trapped in the flames were probably reduced to ashes. However, neither of them knew that Hanson and his family were protected from the flames by the agent the children synthesized as they were unfazed by the flames.

In the meantime, Melanie, who was smiling sinisterly in the corner, gleefully gloated over the plausible death of Vania and her family on the inside. Finally, Vania and her family can rest in peace. Haha! From now on, there will be no one else left to stop me from enjoying a rich and comfortable life.

At the same time, she couldn't stop complimenting herself for her cleverness as she only spent one million out of the five million Eddie gave her on the mercenaries she hired. For that, she was happy that she got to keep the rest of the money for herself. "Haha. I'm the one who has the last laugh! Haha!" Melanie laughed maniacally in the corner.

In the meantime, Lilith was sitting in Brandon's car while watching everything in cold blood without blinking. When Brandon noticed how indifferent the girl was, he nodded to himself, seemingly approving of her without saying it.

However, he still spoke nonchalantly unlike he usually did. "Young Master Eddie heard about what happened in school earlier today. Consider this a lesson taught to them, but I trust you know what you must do should something like this happen again."

Lilith nodded in response. "Understood, Mr. Larson. Young Master Eddie has given me everything I have right now, so I'll be sure to obey his every wish and do everything he tells me to."

Brandon chuckled and answered, "Good. Remember, the best way to repay Young Master Eddie is not to let him down."

"Speaking of which, will there be a new mission for me, Mr. Larson?" Lilith thought she had a new assignment to handle.

"Not at the moment. For now, just focus on what you must do." He then added, "Although Young Master Eddie taught them a lesson on your behalf, you must know that your impulsiveness in school earlier today was unforgivable."

Chapter 483

"Damn... Are they even humans?"

"What happened to them? How did they survive amidst the flames like that? This is unbelievable..."

At that moment, everyone, who witnessed the 'magical' moment firsthand, was speechlessly surprised and even scared, exclaiming in disbelief because they couldn't understand how Hanson and his family survived the unforgiving fire.

In the meantime, the mercenaries were all terrified by what they saw as they looked at Hanson in a horrified manner. Oh, jeez! We're so screwed now.

"Permission to eliminate every single hostile, President Luke."

While Hanson's eyes were still filled with strong murderous intent, he said sinisterly, "Make sure they learn their lesson the hard way."

"Roger that." The special force members physically dragged every mercenary away, for they were so scared that they could barely walk.

"Are you alright, darling?" Hanson looked at Vania concernedly.

Vania nodded and replied, "Yes, I am. What about you all, kids?"

The seven children nodded their heads together and said, "We're fine, Mom and Dad."

"Let's get to the hospital for a check-up." Worried that the harmful substance might do more damage than they thought, Hanson reckoned it was wiser for all of them to get themselves checked in the hospital.

"Sure." The family then got onto the ambulance and made their way to the hospital.

In the meantime, Melanie, who saw Hanson and Vania leaving with the kids safely, collapsed onto the ground in disappointment. No way! That's impossible. Was the fire fake or something? How did they not die from the fire like that? No! I mustn't let this end like that. She then flagged down a cab and secretly followed them.

As soon as the family reached the hospital, April quickly attended to them upon learning about their arrival. "Hanson, I've got everything arranged. Let's get you guys checked now."

"Sure." Hanson nodded in agreement.

With April around, they didn't have to wait long before they were done with their check-up. "Hanson, Vania, both of you seem to be in good health, but... I'm going to have to run some tests on this harmful poison."

"Poison?" Vania was surprised. "What kind of poison did they use against us this time?" These people really love using poison against us, don't they? They just won't stop trying to poison us even though they failed the last time.

"If I'm going to make a guess, this poison was produced in a lab. Besides, it was also mixed with some other substances that made it flammable should it ever come into contact with fire. Apart from that, this poison can also corrode the victim's skin without him or her knowing it. Given enough time, it could even corrode the bones and cause the victim's flesh to rot, which can lead to fatality."

April knitted his eyebrows, hinting that the poison was deadlier than he thought. "The scariest part is that the victim often doesn't feel anything upon coming into contact with the poison, which is usually what leads to the tragedy."

Chapter 484

"What are you doing, Lily?" Vania and Hanson asked in a concerned manner together with the other children. She then sympathetically seized the child's hand in an attempt to stop her bleeding.

"I've taken herb baths frequently ever since I was younger. As such, I'm aware that I must use myself as an experiment to see if the cure would work in this water full of herbs." Lily didn't seem to be concerned about her wound as she proceeded to drip a single drop of blood into every bucket.

"Alright, pour some hot water into every bucket and leave them there for an hour—not a second less or more. Otherwise, it could lead to fatality." As much as Lily didn't want to scare them, she was telling the truth.

"Get my people ready. I want no one to interrupt us within this hour," said Hanson coldly.

"Alright, I know what to do now." April reacted with a serious look on his face, knowing Eddie would probably start plotting against them if he found out about the cure.

In the meantime, Eddie was glaring at Brandon and Lilith, wishing he could just kill them right away. "Tell me what you just said one more time!"

However, Brandon was too scared to respond, shaking like a leaf from head to toe. "What's wrong with you? The cat got your tongue? I suppose you know how it's going to end for you. Why don't you start by telling me what you were sent to do today?" Eddie gave him an evil eye like a rageful madman.

Brandon wiped the sweat that was covering his forehead and said, "You sent me out to keep an eye on Melanie so that I could call for reinforcements should she fail."

"It turns out that you do remember, eh? Huh, I thought it slipped your mind. Who was it that told me everything went smoothly just now?"

"Me. It was me," Brandon answered in a soft voice, struggling to muster the courage to look Eddie in the eye.

"If everything went smoothly, tell me why they are still alive! Was that what you saw just now?!" Eddie snarled so angrily that he looked like he wanted to tear down the house. Meanwhile, Brandon was too timid to say a single word as he wished he could just bury his head into the ground. "What am I paying you pieces of crap for?" Eddie snapped the fountain pen in a fit of pique. "Did you use the poison on them?"

"We did. We were sure that they were covered with poison, and I'm absolutely positive about that." Brandon desperately tried to say something in an attempt to calm Eddie down.

As Brandon expected, Eddie appeared to lighten up a little. "That poison is incurable, and the only thing that's waiting for them is death." Soon, he sat in the chair and said in a preoccupied manner, "I can't believe Hanson was able to rally so many people to his aid in a place full of threats and danger such as Hammond. Perhaps he is indeed more powerful and influential than I thought he was."

Chapter 485

What happened? Why has he moved his plan forward? Despite Lilith's bewilderment, the only sensible thing she could do was to congratulate Eddie. "Congratulations, Young Master Eddie. Your wish has come true."

When Eddie heard the little girl's response, his mood seemed to improve as he waved his hand to signify his intention of showing Brandon and Lilith mercy. At that moment, he heard his phone ringing, whereupon he picked it up.

In the next second, his face changed while his body looked like it was surrounded by an aura of anger and wrath. "Are you seeking death, Melanie?!" Although Eddie's reaction might seem like an intimidating bluff, he was tempted to strangle Melanie to death deep down.

"What happened, Young Master Eddie?" Brandon asked, sensing something wrong with Eddie's crankiness.

Eddie angrily answered, "Melanie tailed them all the way to the hospital without my permission."

"The hospital?" Brandon had no idea that Hanson and his family had gone to the hospital.

"I just received the news that Hanson's poison has been cured," Eddie said in a hateful manner.

When Brandon heard that, he became panicky. "Young Master Eddie, this place is no longer safe for us to stay. We need to get out of there."

"Ahh..." Eddie snarled and growled like a madman, smashing every piece of furniture in the house. However, Lilith didn't seem to feel the same way at the same time. Instead, she was happy to hear the news, for that would mean her chances to stay by Eddie's side were still alive.

In the meantime, Melanie barged into the hospital after her evil plan failed. With the two men she had hired earlier, they directly made their way to the ward without even inspecting the area ahead, only to be confronted by Hanson's guards when she got there. Damn it! I just ran right into their trap.

Needless to say, she was caught and seized by Hanson's guards in that instant. Not long after that, Hanson was done with his herb bath, whereupon he sluggishly put on his clothes and showed up in front of Melanie. He didn't even bother looking at her as he said, "Take her with us."

A few moments later, Hanson and his men made their way to a cave in the mountains where the mercenaries he dealt with were kept. "President Luke," his subordinates simultaneously greeted him as Hanson responded with a nod. He then entered the cave with a gloomy look on his face before taking off his clothes and revealing his attractive physique.

Nonetheless, Melanie was not in any mood to admire his attractive figure because she was too scared for her life. In fact, some of the mercenaries who had been captured fainted right away the moment they saw Hanson.

"Wake him up." Hanson gave an indifferent order to his men, looking as though he were a judge who had the power to decide the fate of every single mercenary there.

Soon, pales and pales of water were splashed at those unconscious men as they came to their senses and begged for mercy. "Please spare us, President Luke." Although they knew their pitiful plea wouldn't make much of a difference, they still wouldn't stop begging Hanson to spare their lives.

Chapter 486

Soon, Hanson pointed at Melanie and said, "Put her with those guys."

"Yes, sir."

Melanie was then shoved toward the crowd of mercenaries, her face turning pale.

"Before putting them near the fire, be sure to give them a nice bath. Strip them off their clothes and make sure they enjoy their time. These herbs are expensive, so you'd better not waste them." Hanson then left the cave without even looking back. Despite the screams and moans behind him, he didn't even blink at all as he answered a phone call from Larry. "Talk."

"President Luke, Gray Condo is currently just an empty building," Larry reported what he had learned to Hanson.

Hanson chuckled coldly, showing no signs of anger at all. "Well, he's been in hiding for years, and I'm not surprised that we've failed to catch him once again." He knew it was easier said than done to capture Eddie. "Just tell our people to keep their eyes open for anything fishy."

"Don't worry about that, President Luke. I've made the necessary arrangements. Furthermore, our men found what seemed to be his communication portal, but the signs show that Eddie has been lying low for at least a few days by now."

Upon hearing Larry's words, Hanson couldn't help but feel impressed with Eddie's capabilities for having built a communication portal despite his tight security and surveillance. It's no wonder he has the guts to fight me over my company. Anyway, I suppose he is going to be out of action for a while now that he's lost the communication portal right here.

"Good job. Please take care of the media because I don't want to see any news about this on the internet tomorrow."

"Our IT department is already working on that, so there won't be any news about what happened today."

"Good." Hanson then put down his phone and drove back to Haling Villa.

Meanwhile, Lily was at home, surrounded by Vania and the six boys who were concerned about her feelings regarding the near-death experience earlier that day. "Were you afraid of what happened today?"

Lilith shook her head. "Nope, not at all." The little girl didn't see any reason to be scared of what happened earlier that day, thinking she should be like her brothers who demonstrated courage.

"Does it still hurt now?" James carefully held her finger and asked sympathetically.

In the meantime, Jack was blowing gently at Lily's finger. "Tell us if it hurts. You don't have to endure the pain all by yourself. From now on, we'll do everything for you until your finger recovers."

Chapter 487

"We're a family, which is why we don't say thank you to each other." Morgan looked at Lily firmly.

Touched by what she saw, Vania smiled in a gratified manner as she thought the kindness the boys showed to their sister was something that should exist within a family. "What happened today is a warning for us to be careful in the coming days," she said in a stern voice.

Thank God tomorrow is a holiday. At the very least, the kids can catch a break.

"Don't worry about us, Mom. We'll protect ourselves." James then proceeded to show Vania the contents inside his bag. It turned out that they were some high-tech devices that the boys had designed by themselves. Thus, they were all advanced and unique.

Although Vania knew what her children were capable of, she was concerned about their safety, considering their age. "I believe in you all, but you need to keep your eyes peeled for anything unusual. Besides, ease up on Lilith when you meet her in school, okay?"

When the children heard Lilith's name, all of them had disgusted looks on their faces. Soon, Jack said impatiently, "We'll leave her alone as long as she stays out of our hair." Deep down, they all wished Lilith could stay away from them as far as possible.

Vania nodded. "Alright, tell me and your dad if anything happens. There is nothing we can't solve together."

"Yes, we will." The children nodded in agreement simultaneously.

At that moment, Hanson pushed the door open and saw his family members sitting harmoniously next to each other, feeling relieved at the sight of that after the near-death incident that happened earlier that day.

He then caressed Lily's head and fixed his gaze on her bandaged hand, asking pitifully, "It looks like your brothers took care of you well." The man turned his attention to the six boys and said, "I'm pleased and proud of every one of you, boys."

The children felt embarrassed upon hearing a compliment from their father. After all, they had never heard a compliment from a father figure.

When Hanson sat down beside Vania, the children decided that they should give their parents some privacy. "Mom, Dad, we're going to go to bed now. Enjoy your little chat."

Chapter 488

"Get away from me." Vania felt annoyed, knowing Hanson was doing that intentionally. However, the man acted as if he didn't hear her voice at all, only continuing to bury his head in her bosom. When he didn't react as she expected, Vania tried to push him away and distance herself from him.

However, Hanson refused to give in as he remained still. "I'm scared, darling. Just let me hug you like that."

How scheming! Like hell I'm going to believe you! Vania threatened the man and said, "If you won't get away from me, I'm going to make you sleep alone."

"Please don't do that to me, darling. I'm scared." Hanson, despite his manly reputation, was acting like an injured kitten as he spoke pitifully.

When Vania heard his voice, she was helpless in front of her husband's playfulness. At the same time, she squirmed and shivered, puckering her lips. "Can't you talk properly?" That voice is giving me goosebumps.

"I'm talking properly now, darling, but you need to understand that I'm really scared." Hanson tried to hit Vania in the soft spot by playing on her sympathy.

Damn it! Vania cursed secretly. This man is getting naughtier than ever. As Hanson continued to rub his head against her bosom, Vania could feel the burning desire surging through her on the inside. If he doesn't stay away from me, I'm going to unleash my desires now.

She then pinched Hanson's ear and said, "I don't care how much you're scared. I need to meet the filming crew tomorrow." This overage child should be left alone at home.

Hanson then covered his ears with his mouth wide agape. Just as he was about to say he was scared, he was interrupted by Vania who said, "Our children will be home. They can keep you company, so you won't be scared at all."

Knowing his tricks wouldn't work, Hanson changed the subject. "Why are you meeting the filming crew?" Although he was roughly aware of Vania's schedule, he wasn't told that she would be meeting the filming crew at all.

"Are you going to become an actress?" Hanson thought to himself that he would be making a debut in the entertainment world as well if his wife was going to be an actress. After all, he couldn't put his mind at ease after knowing most of the filming crew members were men.

"You know what? That's not a bad idea, actually. I should think about it, but for now, I suppose I'm going to have to put that on hold first. I'm going there tomorrow for a casting session."

Hanson took a moment to ponder and replied, "Are you AllDayPatatay?" After all, that was the only thing Hanson could think of that would be related to Vania's filming project.

Chapter 489

Nevertheless, Hanson didn't appear to be concerned at all, his eyes suddenly becoming sympathetic. "Don't move, darling. Let me check out your skin." After all, they had come into contact with the poison earlier today, and he wanted to make sure Vania's skin was fine.

In the face of the man's sudden change in his emotions, Vania became confused since she didn't see that coming at all. "I'm fine, so don't worry about me." She then tried to put her shirt back on even though Hanson was halfway through taking it off. When she felt his cold fingertips rubbing against her skin, she felt the burning desire growing even stronger inside her body.

"Darling, what happened to you earlier today broke my heart." Hanson stared at her blushed cheeks, thinking his trick was working. However, he continued to show a sympathetic expression on his face.

In the meantime, Vania, whose heart was racing, didn't notice that the shirt she had just put back on was undone by Hanson once again. At that moment, Hanson's fingers felt as if they were torches, lighting up the lady's skin on fire as they touched her.

When the man got even closer, Vania realized he had been trying to distract her all the time. Sensing how fast he was able to switch between emotions, Vania sarcastically reckoned that he should put his talent to good use by becoming an actor. "Darling..." Hanson moaned again, keeping his face down as he was filled with sympathy and desire at the same time.

Meanwhile, things were less harmonious with Eddie who had already shifted to another secret base—White Island Villa. While the building seemed to be uninhabited for quite a while, it appeared to be rather desolate without any fancy decorations.

At that moment, Eddie sat in front of the window while Brandon bowed down to him and maintained that position for almost an hour. Despite the pain and sweat, he was feeling, he remained still and quietly waited for Eddie's wrath.

After all, all the foundational work that they had spent so much time and energy laying down in Hammond had all been destroyed by Hanson effortlessly. Thus, Brandon could understand why Eddie was so angry.

Soon, Eddie clenched his fists so hard that his finger joints started to pop, his face blanching intimidatingly. "You're going to die a horrible death, Hanson..." He snarled and threw a punch at the window, shattering the glass instantly.

"Watch out for your hand, Young Master Eddie. Your hand is too precious to be wounded by the glass."

Only then was Brandon brave enough to move and stop Eddie.

Eddie stared at his bleeding hand and said, "I'm going to make Hanson pay even more for what happened today." He then turned his attention to Brandon. "Bring the guy from the lab to me. I want to ask him what kind of lousy poison he just made."

I thought there wasn't a cure for the poison. If so, why is Hanson safe now? The same thing happened last time. Is that guy undercover or something?

Chapter 490

The next morning, Vania wore a long-sleeved shirt with the collar covering her neck while looking sick.

"Do you have a cold, Mommy?" James asked her with concern.

"I'm okay." Vania forced a smile. She wasn't feeling her best just because she hadn't slept well.

"Why are you wearing so much, then?" Jack studied Vania's attire. Although the weather was turning cold, it was still not time for long-sleeved shirts and long pants.

While grinding her teeth, she glared at the calm Hanson on the side. "Oh, it's just to protect my skin."

She was furious. Last night, Hanson pretended to check her skin and left marks on several parts of her body. They were all in obvious places, making her unable to show any part of her skin. She still needed to go to the filming set today, so he definitely did this on purpose.

When they looked at Vania's expression, the children kept quiet obediently as they didn't want to be a part of Daddy and Mommy's fun.

"I'm going to be on the filming set for two days. Take care of yourselves at home and don't go out, okay?" Vania grabbed her luggage while instructing them.

"Alright." The children ignored him right away.

Seeing their reaction, Hanson rubbed the tip of his nose and thought, Well, I guess I got the wrong idea yesterday. My status in this family still hasn't improved at all.

He then pulled Vania, who was a few feet away, into his arms. "Let's go, darling. Goodbye, children." He raised his hands and waved goodbye to his kids.

However, the children only waved to Vania. "Bye, Mommy." Since Hanson had bullied their mother, they chose to ignore him.

When Hanson heard that, he thought, They only care about Mommy, and not Daddy. I'm not worth it.

As soon as Vania left, she immediately arranged for a press release labeled 'Casting For 'AreYouComingBack', AllDayPatatay's Latest Drama.'

Although she was her own investor, she still needed to earn an income from it. Thus, she had to promote everything about her drama.

'So soon? I thought AllDayPatatay hasn't started writing yet. Is she already writing the script?'

'Is AllDayPatatay writing the script and shooting at the same time? Is she going to leave a mark in the history of drama filming? I'm so excited about it.'

'As expected, it's totally different with the participation of Vania Greyson.'

'I'm waiting for a plot twist.'

The reporters saw the news as well and were waiting at the casting venue.
