

HEROIC KING

Chapter 8: Underworld Contract

"You completed the defense mission, you killed three boss-level creatures, and your rating increased by 50%. Your original rating was A+, and now it's S+. Your mission reward is being calculated."

"The calculation is complete, your mission completion evaluation is S+, you are the first player to pass the A-level defense mission, and you will receive an additional reward. Please choose from the following rewards first."

The system quickly gave Lin Han the statistics of his defense for this mission, 5 waves of attacks, three boss-level creatures, nearly 2,700 units of attacking monsters in total, and even hidden units appeared. Such a terrifying offensive lineup gave him Lin Han's S+ evaluation is not an exaggeration at all, but this makes Lin Han look forward to it. The higher the defense task evaluation, the better the reward after the task is completed.

"Please make a choice among the following three rewards. After the choice is confirmed, the player will receive an additional special item - the Underworld Contract."

While Lin Han was looking forward to it, the three rewards given by the system finally came out. Lin Han just glanced at it, and he almost fainted. These rewards are too stupid!

"Reward 1: 100 units each of ore, stone, and wood, 20 units each of mercury, sulfur, and gemstones, a second-level town heart, a random 3-level green treasure, a tier-1 weapon card [50 units] x3, tier-2 Troop card [30 units] x2."

"Reward 2: 120 units each of ore, stone, and wood, 25 units each of mercury, sulfur, and gems, Skeleton Archer Class Card [50] x4, Hidden Class Building

Map - House of Dead Souls, Green Level 4 Town Treasure - Harvest Corner x1."

"Reward 3: Skeleton Archer Troop Card [50] x4, Skeleton Heavy Crossbowman Troop Card [30] x2, Zombie Troop Card [15] x2, and a green 4th-level treasure will be randomly obtained."

To be honest, this time the quest reward was replaced by someone else, it must be extremely rich, but for Lin Han, this reward is too shabby, and I am sorry for this S+ rating! Now Lin Han's only expectation is that special item - the contract of the underworld. If the selection reward has been greatly reduced, the only possibility is that this special reward occupies a large part of the reward score.

"You chose reward two, you got 120 units of ore, wood and stone, you got rare resources - 25 units each of mercury, sulfur, and gems, you got a class card - skeleton archer [50] x4, you got Hidden troops' architectural blueprints - House of Dead Souls, you have obtained a green 4th-level town treasure - Harvest Corner, and you have obtained an additional reward - Underworld Contract."

After thinking about it for a while, Lin Han finally chose the second reward. Although the first reward has what Lin Han lacks the most - the second-level town heart, this thing is not uncommon. Lin Han's dragon domain teleportation The door has been built, as long as he solves the matter here, he can directly teleport to Longcheng.

In the Dragon City, he remembered that there were several places where NPCs would randomly sell the Heart of the Town. These things were only discovered by a few interested people in the early stage. After they found them, they recorded these NPCs. In the early stage The Heart of the Town was once fired to a very high price by them, and it was not until the secret was revealed that it slowly dropped.

Reward 3 looks pretty good, but the zombie class card is really dreadful, and the hidden class architectural drawings are very expensive. In terms of cost performance, Reward 2 is the best.

"Underworld Contract: A special item. After using it, you will accept the quest - Underworld Covenant. After completion, you will open a new unit and building tree - Underworld Undead."

"This is actually a hidden race opening prop?!"

When he saw this, Lin Han's breathing became a lot heavier. Hidden races are a special existence in the Eternal Kingdom. Like hidden units, they seldom appeared in the player's field of vision, but they did not. One can deny their strength. In the later stage, if the players have a large number of hidden arms, they can even turn the tide of the battle in an instant, but now that Lin Han has been given such a big gift, it seems that the system has really not pitted him.

Resisting the urge to use this contract immediately, Lin Han entered the cemetery and began to check the various conditions of the town. This time, it has to be said that danger and opportunity coexist. Lin Han lost four second-level grievances. The Tower of Spirits, and the four Towers of Wrathful Spirits that were built later were also destroyed, the city wall was also destroyed, and the most important thing was that even the cemetery was destroyed by nearly half of its durability.

The necropolis is different from other buildings. It cannot be repaired by small skeletons. It can only rely on its own recovery. The 1-level necropolis can restore 20 points of durability per minute, which also prevents the cemetery family to some extent. Players use the powerful attack and defense of the necropolis to quickly clear wild monsters in the early stage. If they can lead wild monsters around the necropolis, as long as the monsters drag the player into the battle space, the necropolis will also join the battle.

If this is really the case, the cemetery family will be the fastest growing race in the early stage, which is extremely unfair to the game, so the system has also made restrictions on the large cemetery of the cemetery family, which cannot be repaired. You are prepared to do this. When the monsters attack the city, once the city is broken, a dilapidated cemetery means that you will be directly exiled.

"Repair the city walls, and by the way, rebuild the Wraith Tower. The blacksmith shop is ready to forge black armor-piercing crossbows. Well, forge 200 first."

After giving the town construction order, Lin Han immediately took the newly added 200 units of skeleton archers out of the city to clean up. At this time, there were a lot of skeletons, skeletons and even zombies and ghouls outside the city. , which is left by monsters sieging the city. Players can clean up these monsters after defending the city. Generally speaking, these monsters will drop resources, and if they are lucky, they will also drop some treasures.

Lin Han's purpose in clearing these guys is not for resources, but because he only needs more than 100 experience points to reach level 3 lords. If these new skeleton archers want to upgrade to become skeleton heavy crossbowmen, they have to fight a lot of wild monsters. , as long as they are promoted to skeleton heavy crossbowmen, and then equipped with black armor-piercing crossbows, Lin Han will have a very good long-range output firepower.

"Please note that the walls of your town have been built."

"Please note that the Tower of Wraiths is completed."

"Please note that the Tower of Wraiths is completed."

When Lin Han returned to the town, three prompts appeared in front of him at the same time. Lin Han immediately chose to upgrade the Tower of Wraiths to the second level. Skeleton Archers have all been upgraded to Skeleton Heavy Crossbowmen.

As for Lin Han, he has also successfully reached the third-level lord. At the third-level, he drew a very good racial skill - the wind of darkness. This is a good skill that can increase the movement speed of all undead units by 0.3 meters per second. Unfortunately, this skill cannot be upgraded. The appearance of this skill also greatly compensates for the lack of mobility of Lin Han's early arms. As for strengthening skills, he is very lucky. This time he randomly got the primary ranged resistance. After learning, all his troops will reduce the ranged damage by 15%. If it can be upgraded to the advanced level, the ranged damage reduction of 45% will be extremely powerful.

"This is a peculiar portal. The other end of the gate is the Dragon Domain. Do you want to teleport to the Dragon Domain? Please note that when you are in the Dragon Domain, your town will also be attacked by enemies or wild monsters. Please Always be ready to come back."

After arranging everything, Lin Han brought the skeleton heavy crossbowman to the portal of the Dragon Domain, and a prompt popped up immediately. The Dragon Domain is the easiest place for players of the same race in the Eternal Kingdom to communicate, but once the lord After entering the Dragon Domain, if there are no heroes in the city, it is easy to be robbed by others, so there will be such a prompt before entering the Dragon Domain portal.

"Enter!"

Lin Han is not very worried about this. At this stage, there are not many troops in the player's hands. It is impossible to have a tide like the monster attacking the city before. The primary granite city wall is enough to support Lin in the event of danger. When Han comes back, the Tower of Resentful Spirits, which will soon be upgraded to LV2, will also be a big killer in the early stage. Some players who want to harass will definitely regret their actions.

"Deduct 1,000 gold coins, teleporting, target - Dragon Domain!"

After deducting Lin Han's 1,000 gold coins, the portal shone with dazzling light, and Lin Han's eyes were filled with white light. When the white light disappeared, he had already appeared on an extremely empty street. "Huh, I'm back again, Longcheng." Lin Han smiled slightly when he looked at the familiar buildings on both sides of the street. He had seen this scene many times in the previous life, but every time the street was full of players, like This is the first time that the streets are empty now.

"Crack!" "Crack!"

Lin Han walked slowly, the sound of metal hitting the ground was particularly harsh on the silent street. Black warrior, this is the hero image that Lin Han chose when he first entered the game. A warrior covered in black armor, only Fighting to maintain the glory of the past, this is the black warrior. This is Lin Han's favorite arm in the last life, because they have extremely large branches. The black warrior is just an ordinary sixth-order arm of the cemetery family, but its Branches and promotions have reached the highest level of the legendary arms - the Four Knights of Scourge, which were once known as the four strongest knights in the underworld!

"That's it."

Lin Han entered an alley under the gaze of a large group of NPCs. With a vague memory, Lin Han wandered around and finally came to a very inconspicuous store. Looking at the mess at the store entrance, the corner of Lin Han's mouth A slight arc is raised, and just from the appearance, it is estimated that few people will know that this is the store that caused countless players to go crazy in the previous life.