

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 706 - Trust and Ambition

C706 Trust and Ambition

This was the equivalent of having their own secrets exposed ...

The old man, who was overbearing just a moment ago, instantly became speechless. Although his company wasn't small, compared to such a huge being like Wu Group, his company was not even comparable to ants.

Wu Tian had 30 billion yuan worth of liquid capital, but the market value of this old man's company was only 500 million...

With his identity and status, he really shouldn't have said such words.

"Stop arguing! Are you the guild leader or am I the leader! If you don't want to, you can quit. "I'll handle this matter alone."

She seemed to feel that this was a bit too embarrassing and Guan Ruonan had finally scolded them.

She silenced the old men, who were so angry that their beards began to rise.

But what could they do? After all, Guan Ruonan was the guild leader in name.

"President Wu, I will sign this contract with you in my identity as Guan Ruonan. I don't need your guarantee, take this document back. "

This was out of Wu Tian's expectation. He did not expect Guan Ruonan to not even accept the collateral. The money he borrowed was not a small sum...

If Wu Tian really ran away, even if she apologized with her life, she wouldn't be able to pay that much money.

"President, if you are willing to shoulder this matter alone, then we have nothing else to say. We'll meet again when we have time."

The few old men left with a wave of their sleeves. It didn't matter to them whether they borrowed money or not. After all, the interest they could get in the middle wasn't too much.

Seeing the annoying people finally leave, Guan Ruonan heaved a sigh of relief.

"Guild Leader Guan, aren't you afraid of the risks?"

Wu Tian asked curiously. Why did Guan Ruonan have such great courage?

"President Wu, how can I not know your goal if others don't know about it? With your Wu Group's funds and Nanhe Securities Corporation on the side, you don't even need to borrow money from the Korea's at all. "

Even though Guan Ruonan was young and was only around 30 years old, her experience could already be considered to be very old.

"The only reason why you are doing this, if there are no surprises, is because you want to start a financial war by holding onto a large amount of the currencies of the Korea ... I think my guess should not be wrong. "

Guan Ruonan smiled as she looked at Wu Tian. On this point, she was confident that she could trust her own judgment.

Wu Tian applauded and nodded at Guan Ruonan. He admired her judgment very much.

"Smart, you did guess. "My thoughts are just like that. Actually, I did not plan to hide it from anyone. It's just that as long as I can get the money, it would count as my victory."

Faced with such a high interest rate, there was no one who would cover their own money and refuse to borrow it no matter what.

However, the moment someone lent this money, this plan, which could not even be called a conspiracy, would be like a flood that rushed into the entire financial world of Korea.

Perhaps Wu Tian's funds were not too big of a disaster, but once a chain effect was formed, then even if the Korea were rich, they would not be able to bear this loss.

"Because of this, I believe you will definitely succeed." There was no proof of this, but she chose to believe her feelings.

"Then what do you want?"

Wu Tian squinted his eyes. He felt that Guan Ruonan's flattery should be due to a request.

"President Wu is really smart. You should have seen it earlier. I, Commerce Chamber Chairman, am nothing but an empty title. The real power is still in the hands of the people below."

"Then you mean I should help you?"

Guan Ruonan shook her head. "I don't have much interest in this position, but I do need your help because I want to return home."

"Return? Then, won't you be able to return to your country anytime you want? "

Loong Yun didn't quite understand. This didn't seem to require Wu Tian's help. Could it be that this Guan Ruonan had her freedom restricted?

"Wait, are you saying that your goal is the position of China Chief, Commerce Chamber Chairman?"

Wu Tian was stunned for a moment. He told her about the bold idea that he had in his heart. He really didn't expect that this Guan Ruonan would be so bold and ambitious.

"Isn't it obvious that I'm a bit overestimating myself if you say that? But it's just as you said, that's what I was thinking."

Other than Wu Tian, both Loong Yun and Wu Zaibin were stunned. They felt that the conversation between the two of them was like the communication between gods and gods, and their thoughts were jumping fast.

The point is, they're both ambitious... This Guan Ruonan seemed harmless, but who would have thought that she actually set her sights on Chief Commerce Chamber Chairman's position?

Normally speaking, given her age and being a girl, it was almost impossible for her to become CEO Commerce Chamber Chairman.

In business, on the one hand, they are at the forefront of reform, but on the other, they are the most conservative.

Especially since they didn't think much of girls.

"I understand. I can agree to your request."

Wu Tian didn't think too much into it. Coincidentally, he had already accepted Tang Yanrou's request, so Commerce Chamber Chairman would be related to him sooner or later.

Although he didn't know what would happen in the future, it was always good to plan ahead from now on.

"Alright, I'll thank President Wu first. With your help and support, I'll have more confidence."

Guan Ruonan didn't waste her breath and the two of them quickly signed the agreement.

After signing this document, Guan Ruonan was ready to fulfill her promise to Wu Tian.

After leaving the Chamber of Commerce, Wu Tian suddenly had an idea as he looked at the bustling street outside.

It was said that this Shuangxing Company company was making trouble for him, but Wu Tian knew very little about what exactly this Shuangxing Company company was made of.

Since he had coincidentally arrived at the Korea, it would be a bit of a waste if he did not take a look.

Hearing Wu Tian's request, Loong Yun and the others also agreed. They immediately drove to the city center.

Shuangxing Company companies had a lot of industries, and their companies involved all sorts of industries, making them the number one in the entire nation in almost all aspects.

Therefore, it was not too much of an exaggeration for Shuangxing Company Corporation to be a nation of Korea.

In the city in front of Wu Tian, the tallest building was the one owned by Shuangxing Company Corporation.

Half the floors below them were shopping malls for sale, which involved a wide variety of products.

"President Wu, I heard that they recently developed a very interesting thing. Today, I must take you to experience it properly!"

Wu Zaibin seemed to know something and kept talking beside Wu Tian's ear.

Loong Yun pinched Wu Zaibin with a straight face. "If you guys go to the red light district again, I'll report you guys ..."

"Don't worry Secretary Loong, we're definitely not going to that kind of place!"

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 707 - Prospects for the next Generation

C707 Prospects for the next Generation

Wu Tian didn't know what Wu Zhibin was talking about, but after hearing how well he described it, he was a bit tempted.

On the ground floor of the building, a group of people were standing in a line as if they were trying to buy something.

Wu Zaibin was also very excited. He looked at everything in front of him with excitement as his voice trembled.

"This is the newest brainwave game developed by their Shuangxing Company company ... It is the industry's most advanced! "

"What is it?"

Wu Tian hadn't played the game in a long time... The main reason was that he really didn't have time and was very busy every day.

"It's said that it's a device that's worn on the head and can be used to connect to the brain to directly play the game ..."

Loong Yun, out of professional need, will have some knowledge about all kinds of industry news.

The reason the Shuangxing Company Group had such abundant funds these days was because the listing of the brainwave game s they had developed was just too popular.

This directly increased their company's market value by a large amount.

"Is that so? Is there only so many people lining up to play games?"

Wu Tian was still a bit surprised because this team had three layers on the inside and three layers on the outside. They had even almost circled around the building a few times ...

"President Wu, let's go buy a few and you'll know after you experience them."

Wu Zaibin winked at Wu Tian. He purposely used his body to block Loong Yun, so that she wouldn't hear him.

"It's said that there are some very exciting games here, that's all ..."

Looking at his vulgar eyes, Wu Tian immediately understood what he was going to say.

Sure enough, the human body's demand was the number one productivity, no wonder this brainwave game device was sold so quickly.

"Don't underestimate it. It is said that this game device called fanhua has already exceeded 100 million in just a single minute of sales ..."

Such sales figures can be said to be very impressive...

Most likely, they had already sold for tens of billions in a single day, and their numbers were still rising.

"No way ..." Wu Tian also had Technology Company, and Tianmu Technology had even now become one of the world's top Technology Company.

But even so, their sales weren't up to this level...

It seemed that he had underestimated the spending power of these gamers.

This was simply a huge market, how could Wu Tian miss it?

"Quick, go buy a few! I want to see how powerful this thing is! "

Wu Tian patted Wu Zaibin on the shoulder and told him to find a way to buy a few.

There were so many people lining up. If he obediently went to line up, he didn't know when he would be able to buy one.

However, this Wu Zaibin always had a way. He reported back to the 4 machines within 10 minutes.

The machine was not very big, and the box was only the size of a shoe box.

"Alright, let's hurry back to the hotel!"

Wu Tian seemed to be more anxious than Wu Zaibin, the few of them hurriedly took the game device back.

He opened the package and took a look. Inside was something similar to a pair of glasses. However, there were no lenses.

At their request, they would lie in bed and wear the device over their heads to cover their eyes.

After the computer was successfully turned on, Wu Tian was surprised to find that he could see some scenes.

It was a well-made menu game, and he even found out that he could move his body.

Very quickly, Wu Tian set his name, character, and a series of other things as required by the game console.

He even formed a team with Loong Yun and Wu Zaibin.

"How is it? Isn't it amazing!"

Wu Zaibin was very proud, even some of his facial expressions could be seen in the game.

And the world in here can be almost as real as it really is. If he didn't go out, he might even think that he was living in the real world.

"Has the technology developed to such a mature stage now ..."

Wu Tian remembered that in the past when they were playing games, they still had to use the computer and the keyboard.

Even though the quality of the painting was extremely realistic, there was still a huge gap between it and reality.

And this kind of operating experience that would allow you to wholeheartedly and completely immerse yourself in was simply several times better than that type of computer.

"This is definitely a revolutionary invention!"

Wu Tian exclaimed in admiration, as long as it was developed by him, it would definitely cause a huge commotion throughout the world.

It's just that this hot spot is currently in the hands of Shuangxing Company Corporation.

"I estimate that there will be more and more of these products in the future. Our company needs to arrange and arrange these as soon as possible."

After Wu Zaibin finished his excitement, he began to analyze calmly.

"You're right, I'll arrange for someone to do this right away." With the strength of his Tianmu Technology, developing such a product would not be a problem. As long as he dared to invest in it, he would definitely be able to develop it with sufficient time.

"I don't think we have to develop hardware. We can focus on software..."

Wu Zaibin was a gamer and knew more about these areas than Wu Tian did. He also knew where he could make a bigger profit.

"Why do you say that?"

"Once the hardware is invented, someone will create it very soon. At that time, we can't guarantee our absolute profits. But the software is different. If you develop a game and can run it on a variety of platforms... then we can make money from this game... "

Wu Zaibin spoke frankly with assurance. He had thought about this aspect and even had a series of theories about the game.

"You're right about that. I remember in the past, there would always be a game that would spread across the entire country. Everyone in the streets and alleyways would be playing it."

Wu Tian started to recall the past. At that time, he didn't have much money, and most of the time, he only heard about it and didn't go play with it himself.

"Although this game has started to sell, the supporting games haven't caught up. The ones we can play now aren't very big."

It had to be said that it was a pity. Wu Zaibin especially liked the big game. Being able to play the game in this way was something he had always dreamed of.

"Nothing else. Didn't he have no game? Let's develop one now! Do you know anyone involved in this? We should just find some people from Korea and set up a game company! "

The more Wu Tian thought about it, the more excited he became. This was even more exciting than financial battles.

If it could be done, then Wu Tian could expand from the area of Jiangnan, the nation of China, to the entire world in one go.

This was not a small step, but a step towards tearing the egg to pieces.

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 708 - Virtual Currency

C708 Virtual Currency

Since he already came, Wu Tian decided that he might as well play in the game for a bit.

After all, they had been busy all this time. Now that they had a chance to rest, it could be considered as them trying out the products from their competitors.

However, he had just gotten his hands on it and Wu Tian still didn't understand it clearly, so he had to leave all these matters to Wu Zaibin to settle.

Although there weren't many games available, there was one that suited them.

Wu Zaibin brought them into a brand-new game.

It's called the Infinite Trade.

"This place is not a game in the strict sense of the word... It should be called an online currency exchange... "

Wu Zaibin scratched his head. As he was a finance major, he was naturally interested in this.

However, he didn't know if these things were interesting to Wu Tian and the others.

If you don't know what's inside, you're probably going to be very bored.

"Wait a minute, what is online currency?"

A lot of new concepts had popped up in these few years. Although Wu Tian could be considered to be following current affairs, he still might not be able to assimilate everything new.

It was like a blue sea with lots of places to be discovered.

Loong Yun cleared her throat and said slowly, "This online currency is virtual currency. Although it can be used as money, it is not directly linked to real money ..."

"What the hell?" Wu Tian was confused after listening to it for a long time.

She also said that it was a currency, and that it had nothing to do with real money, so how could it be valuable if it wasn't?

He couldn't possibly print out two sheets of paper on which it was written that I could spend as much money as I wanted.

"This... Let me introduce you. " Wu Zaibin came over. It would be hard to understand something like this without knowing about finance.

"It's very simple. Usually, our current money has a ratio to gold. However, as for this virtual currency, they also have something similar to gold as a guarantee. And then it's up to this thing to determine its value. "

"Forget it, don't explain yourself. I'll know when I see it."

Wu Tian felt that no matter how hard they said it, he wouldn't be able to understand them. Once he saw the real thing, he would know what these things were.

After jumping into the game, what appeared in front of Wu Tian and the others was a huge square.

There were a lot of people here, and there were at least a thousand of them.

A transparent screen seemed to be placed in front of everyone, and a stream of voices could be heard.

"These are the traders who are dealing with the virtual currency, just like the stock exchange. You must not underestimate this. Right now, the amount of money that the virtual currency is going to increase is very scary. Furthermore, the more expensive it is, the more expensive it will become. "

Wu Zaibin clicked his tongue. Honestly speaking, foreigners can get anything that is more creative in this area.

Because of this special characteristic, they were able to earn their first pot of gold. Those who entered later would only be able to eat the rest of their money.

"Same as stock?" Wu Tian was interested, as long as it was a place to trade, he would definitely be able to earn a profit.

"Let's go and take a look as well."

In the center of the square, there was a huge circular screen.

Its height and size ensured that one could see it from any corner of the square.

The price displayed was the latest virtual currency – FTC s.

Next to it is a recent rise in its price.

This seems to be a lot easier to understand than stocks, because stock companies are different and the gains are different, so randomness becomes more complicated.

However, this FTC was much simpler. Its price fluctuated every now and then, and it could be sold at any time it bought. All he needed to do was stare at this point.

"Why don't we try it out? If we don't spend too much money, we won't have much of a loss."

Wu Tian was already eager to give it a try. On the other side, Wu Zaibin had already hired a guide.

"Hello, I am the guide for the FTC transaction, White."

The one who spoke was a very beautiful Caucasian woman. Her figure was especially voluptuous.

People couldn't help but focus their gazes on the two areas most exposed by her body.

"Hello, I would like to open an account. By the way, I would like to ask, what is the transaction format for this so called FTC? How can I make a profit? "

Since she was the guide, she would also be asked to answer these questions.

"Opening an account is very simple. You just need to fill in your bank card and bind it properly. As for the trade you mentioned, we can use real money to buy a certain number of algorithm capacity. This so-called algorithm capacity is actually equivalent to our world's real currency. "

To put it simply, the algorithm capacity was in a virtual world. The most basic requirement was the computing power of the computer.

Technicians use a special method to modularize these items and can be used to package them for sale.

"So you're saying that I just need to spend some money to buy this, and then use this algorithm capacity to buy the FTC?"

"That's right. The FTC's rise and fall are both very fast. Here, it basically changes every second. "

This speed was already quite fast. If the price changed every second, then there would be very little room for manoeuvres.

But the range of ups and downs will also be very large.

"So that's how it is. Very well, I'll buy a million first."

Wu Tian easily hit a huge number of zeros, giving the guide a fright.

"A million?"

However, this was the first time she saw someone so rich. Before this, she had received countless people, but most of them only cost tens of thousands at a time.

After all, this was an emerging market, and no one knew how it would develop in the future.

To dare to invest so much money in one go, he must be a tycoon or a fool.

"That's right, it's one million. You guys can't be unable to provide me with enough algorithm capacity, right?"

"Don't worry about that, we still have quite a lot of reserves."

Although White was a bit shocked, she still managed to open his account for Wu Tian very quickly.

These things were handled very quickly on the internet. Wu Tian immediately sent the calculations to his account after purchasing it.

"Wu Zaibin, now is the time for you to display your abilities. This one million algorithm capacity is for you, why don't you give it a try? "

Wu Tian handed the algorithm capacity in his account over to Wu Zaibin.

Although he was interested, he was not a professional financier. Therefore, he chose to hand the operation over to the professional.

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 709 - The Attacking Way of the Capital Plutocracy

C709 The Attacking Way of the Capital Plutocracy

Wu Zaibin was a little flattered. Although this amount of money wasn't a lot, but Wu Tian's trust in him made him very touched.

"Don't worry, I won't let you down."

In this FTC Exchange, the rules were relatively simple, but there weren't many rules either.

Because almost everything is open and transparent, you can use any means you can, as long as that doesn't violate the most basic legal morality.

As for whether the FTC rose or fell, no one would care.

Moreover, Wu Tian noticed a detail.

On the big screen, there was a transaction price for a FTC. This number continuously scrolled across the web, continuously increasing.

Moreover, this increase was huge. If this figure was true, then this thing's speed of growth was extremely fast.

In other words, it could be described as unprecedented.

"This could very well lead to a revolution ..."

Wu Tian couldn't help but sigh as he watched the grand event.

"Is that really possible? "Why do I feel like this is a scammer, this is all a scam..."

Loong Yun didn't know much about this sort of thing. Her opinion also represented the thoughts of an ordinary public.

"You don't know about this. Actually, if we were to communicate among the various countries, we can clearly feel that the current trading pattern is a bit behind. "Look, the 30 billion that we spent this time is going to be very difficult."

Back then, Baili Zhenlin had spent quite a bit of effort to exchange these thirty billion for the currency of Korea Nation.

He seemed to first convert it into gold, and then transform it into the currency of Korea.

Putting aside the time and effort, there was also quite a bit of loss.

"Trouble is trouble, but isn't it safe?"

Loong Yun felt that with such a large amount of funds being transferred, the more trouble it would be, the better it would be. Trouble means regulation.

"Actually, it's not quite the same thing. Although this currency looks like a child's money, I think it's already very mature. "If we can really sell it on a large scale in the future, it would be easy for us to convert to other countries' currencies in the future."

Wu Tian also noticed that the FTC had a very terrifying function, which was that it could not be tracked at all.

In the current era, many things had already been monitored, but this was the only thing that couldn't be done.

Therefore, if there were no surprises, then it was very possible that some dirty money would also specially run over to the FTC to wash clean the blood.

"It is indeed very convenient. It's just that I don't know who is in charge of this FTC.

Loong Yun and the others looked at the game for a long time, but still could not find the developer of the game. They also did not know who the developer of the FTC was.

"Yeah, if only we had this thing too. That's right, why can't we develop this virtual currency? "

Wu Tian was stunned for a moment, it was only after a long time did he remember this. Since he was already going to develop this brainwave game device, it would be better to develop the virtual currency as well.

This way, he would be able to control such a huge trading market.

Even if he didn't participate in the conspiracy, just the fees alone was enough for Wu Tian to make a fortune.

"This, where can I find such a talent ..."

Loong Yun was a bit troubled. If it was in any other industry, they would know where to go to recruit people.

But this virtual currency...

This was something that had just appeared, and there were probably not many people in the world who would specialize in studying this kind of thing.

"Take your time. Don't worry, I'll leave this matter to you."

Once again, Wu Tian perfectly became the shopkeeper that didn't care about his business. His attention was once again focused on Wu Zaibin.

He wanted to carefully observe if this trading model was suitable for them to operate in the future.

If he could, of course, he would advance to this area on a large scale.

"How is it?"

Wu Zhibin stood there staring blankly for a long time with that screen on. When Wu Tian came over to take a look, he saw that the total sum of one million yuan had not been moved.

"This item seems a little complicated ..."

Didn't he say it was very simple at the beginning? Why did it become complicated again?

Wu Tian looked at Wu Zaibin, who was already sweating profusely.

"What do you mean?"

He looked at Wu Zaibin's screen and saw that it was filled with transactions by FTC.

Some people were looking to buy it, while others were selling it. Wu Zaibin could also choose to sell it or offer it to others.

The way of trading could be said to be very free, and the prices were randomly defined and clearly stated.

The prices varied between high and low, with most people buying at low prices and selling at high prices.

However, if they did so, the transaction volume would be smaller. For the most part, the prices were relatively stable, thus the volume of trading increased.

"If I chose the more stable way of doing business, I'm afraid we wouldn't be able to make much money at all. "But, if you want to buy something with a large difference in price, you will be at a disadvantage ..."

Wu Zaibin was tangled up with this matter, and no matter how he looked at it, it wouldn't be easy to carry it out.

The only possibility was to observe a trend in the whole.

If the overall price rose, then he would not lose out no matter what price he bought. However, if the overall price decreased, then he would lose out no matter what price he bought.

"Just take a cheap one and buy it ..." Wu Tian said in a nonchalant manner. Since the one that affected the value of this item was the computer's algorithm capacity, then this item could be bought or upgraded with money.

It did not mean that it could not affect the value of the FTC.

"I'll buy it as I like?"

Wu Zaibin was stunned, he still didn't understand what Wu Tian meant.

"If you want to buy all of them, just buy whatever you want. I don't even think that a million is enough. I have already thought of a way to make this FTC rise in value."

Wu Tian added a lot more money into the account as he spoke.

"This is just a capital game. If the demand from the outside world remains the same, the price will naturally increase as long as there is less supply."

Everyone understood this logic, but when it came to actual operation, the change in the market was not so clear.

This was because if you relied on a large number of acquisitions to increase the price, there would be people who would be able to see the price increase and throw out this item to earn a large amount of profit.

As a result, there was a high chance that the buyers would lose a lot of money when they went in and out.

However, when Wu Tian said that he was confident that the FTC would appreciate, Wu Zaibin was slightly moved.

"Buy it then!" Without hesitation, he bought all one million of them into the FTC.

Wu Tian, who was on the side, was even more ruthless than him and directly bought over a hundred million yuan.

With this one move, it seemed to have swept away almost all the FTC on the market.

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 710 - Your Rules Are Not Valid for Me

C710 Your Rules Are Not Valid for Me

The entire FTC Exchange was thrown into chaos. Everyone was very surprised to see that the demand for Fontenby had dropped in an instant.

Many people couldn't even buy it, and its price had risen several times in just a few minutes.

Wu Zaibin was shocked when he saw the change in the price.

Only Wu Tian snickered. This was all his doing.

He had been watching the big screen for a long time. He quickly came up with a message, and that was that the amount of money in circulation in the FTC Exchange was relatively small.

Because it was just the beginning, their transaction value had only just surpassed a billion.

Although this number was already not small, this was still the transaction value.

This meant that the total value of the FTC must be less than this number.

Therefore, Wu Tian just drew out 100 million and poured it all in.

Any FTC that could circulate in the market were all bought by Wu Tian. This meant that the right to set a price was in Wu Tian's hands.

"Heavens, I thought you wanted a small sum of money. A financial alligator like you suddenly barged in and this exchange market is going to collapse ..."

Who would be able to withstand this kind of shaving, especially since it was created not long ago in a virtual FTC Exchange.

"Then who can he blame? He doesn't have the money to blame me, and I can only do this once or twice after saying it. I estimate that there will be other capital entering soon."

Wu Tian shrugged his shoulders to show that he didn't blame himself at all.

They were chatting and laughing at the same time. They watched as the guide, White, ran towards them in a flurry.

"Mister, it's a good thing you're here. We just observed that you've brought a lot of money into your account ..."

Looking at White who was out of breath, Wu Tian stood there and nodded with a relaxed smile.

"Yeah, what's the matter?"

"Right, I just want to confirm that this is the money you invested. Then, are you sure you want to invest this much money in one go?"

White stuttered. Although they didn't want Wu Tian to destroy their market, as a manager, they still wanted this platform to develop slowly.

However, Wu Tian had broken the balance here all of a sudden ...

"You want me to pay you less?"

Wu Tian obviously knew what White meant. But he still pretended to be stupid.

"Didn't you say that you can do business as you please here? If I have money, I can buy as many as I want. Did I violate your rules?"

"You don't have that ..."

White was truly unable to say anything. This was how their rules were written to begin with. If Wu Tian wasn't allowed to invest so much, it would be equivalent to him losing face.

"That's great. To be honest, I feel that 100 million is not enough. If it's possible, I can even invest another 100 million ..."

In the world of rich people, it was hard to imagine. 100 million was a lifetime's worth of money for an ordinary person, but in Wu Tian's mouth, it was as easy as taking out a dollar.

He didn't seem to care at all.

"Sir, our leader would like to invite you over for a chat ..."

White had a high probability that there was nothing he could do to convince him anymore, so he could only let his leader take the blame.

"I thought you had no one in charge here ..."

Because Wu Tian didn't find any organizations or individuals who claimed authority here.

It's said that no one knows who developed this exchange... So much so that even the one who created the FTC ...

This was like an urban legend. People constantly passed it from mouth to mouth, but no one was able to find the true answer.

"Um, there are indeed no managers in this Exchange. We can only organize ourselves and lead some newcomers to enter ..."

It was said that his profit from the transaction fee charged by the exchange was only used to maintain the exchange.

As well as providing margin for some deals and the like.

Therefore, almost no one could profit from this exchange. White and the others were spontaneous organizations as well.

"Alright, then take me with you."

One of the benefits of a wife game was that their actions would be greatly enhanced in the game.

It seemed like a long journey, but it was only a few steps away.

In a remote corner of the Exchange, there were a few tents.

It looked simple and crude, but they didn't really need anything.

Many of the necessary documents could be transferred directly from an individual's account.

The only difference between these guides and ordinary traders was that they were wearing a badge.

It wasn't on White's chest, but people's attention points weren't usually badges.

The so-called leader who had brought them here was actually a young white man. He looked very handsome.

Perhaps it was due to the sudden influx of such a large amount of money that the guides were a bit different. Even now, this white guy still had a look of shock on his face.

He could not believe that Wu Tian was the culprit behind all of this.

"Heavens, are you that mysterious person?"

The young man expressed their surprise in the exaggerated way they did.

However, Wu Tian didn't buy it. He was very unhappy with the prejudice these white-skinned people had towards them.

What, is Wu Tian from China so he shouldn't buy so many?

He just felt that the people from China were poor.

"So what? What are you trying to say?"

"Hello, my name is Brawne, I'm the person in charge of this responsible organization. We observed that you ate FTC in large quantities, and we felt that this matter would have a certain impact on the market, so we hope that you can stop. "

Nothing happened, this guy called Brawne immediately put a big hat on Wu Tian.

He only has a large number of these FTC ... Since the market was small, it couldn't be blamed on Wu Tian.

Isn't capital the same as this? Large fish eat small fish and small fish eat shrimp.

"What do you mean? Why is this FTC Exchange opened by your family?"

Wu Tian looked coldly at this person and did not put him in his eyes at all.

"No, it's just that it's really hard for others to deal with you like this."

Brawne found that the person in front of him wasn't as easy to deal with as he had imagined. For a moment, he was completely speechless.

He quickly organized his words and prepared to use his method to persuade Wu Tian.

"What's that got to do with me? Since you are so caring, why don't you just buy them back? "

Wu Tian did not give him any face, so he directly retorted.

That was the kind of person he hated most, standing on their moral high ground and pointing fingers at others.
