

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 746 - Draw a Line

C746 Draw a Line

The next day, a blood-tears accusation appeared on every television station and every newspaper in Korea.

However, this time, the main character had become Minister of Finance, who no one paid much attention to.

Everyone was talking about something, the key piece of evidence that really appeared this time.

A document with a picture clearly written on it was the agreement between Shuangxing Company Corporation and Minister of Finance.

At this time, the matter had become extremely serious. The people of Korea, who initially did not think that it was a big deal, had all rushed to the banks one after another to withdraw money from the National Fund.

At this time, the whole Ministry of Finance was extremely busy. Minister of Finance didn't even want to think about food and tea, instead, he had to be called away several times a day by the Integrity Administration to investigate.

Even his house had been searched.

It was true that when a person was in trouble, the other person would stay away from him. The people who were with Minister of Finance before immediately hid far away.

Yan'er looked at her father who was in the house with a sad face. She suddenly felt that what she did was the right thing to do.

It had already taken effect so quickly. Right now, Minister of Finance didn't go anywhere. He just stayed at home and even helped Yan'er's mother do household chores.

In the capital market, the reaction was much more intense. The money that Wu Tian borrowed, he began to throw away large amounts of it.

This time, the rate at which prices fell could be said to be unprecedented. It was faster than anyone had expected.

The public instantly linked the various events that had occurred before the incident, from the news about the National Fund at the beginning to the fact that there was a relationship between the candidate and the Ministry of Finance to the fact that the National Fund was not passive, until now, such a crucial piece of evidence had suddenly appeared.

Everything seemed to be connected, and there was something wrong with the incident.

Seeing this situation on the public opinion field, Wu Tian would be woken up by the laughter even if he slept.

Early in the morning, Wu Zaibin went to find Wu Tian excitedly. He was so excited that he could not suppress the excitement in his heart.

"President Wu, I'm afraid this time, we really are going to succeed, the Korea and currency are already on the verge of falling."

"I knew it since a long time ago. I told you guys that I, Wu, have never been unprepared if I had the confidence."

Wu Tian smiled mischievously. The expression on his face was even more exaggerated than Wu Zaibin's.

What he said did sound like it, but was he always so confident that only Wu Tian knew about it?

Strangely, with such a huge incident happening this time, Shuangxing Company Corporation actually didn't conduct any public relations at all, allowing the society to continue fermenting this matter.

Minister of Finance and the Ministry of Finance, which they belonged to, instantly became the target of public scrutiny. Almost all the officials from top to bottom were searched.

It was possible that no one in the Korea would have imagined that such a huge change would happen in such a short month.

However, those people had already prepared ahead of time. They had even gotten a lot of benefits from taking advantage of this chaos.

Shuangxing Company company did not have any activities, but Shuangxing Company company's people were not so calm.

Early in the morning, a group of directors and vice chairman had already arrived at the Shuangxing Company Building, blocking the entrance to the chairman's office.

A few secretaries tried their best to stop them, otherwise, these people would rush in like thugs.

"Ask Jin Xianyu to come out. Explain to us what exactly is happening now!"

"That's right, there's so many media people waiting below to see us make a fool of ourselves. Even as the chairman, he didn't express his attitude."

Jin Xianyu seemed to be unable to stand the clamor of the group of people outside, he yawned and walked out from inside in his pajamas.

He rubbed his hazy eyes as he sized up these aggressive people.

"What do you want so early in the morning?"

As he spoke, he yawned a few more times, looking very sleepy.

"You still have time to sleep? It's impossible for you to not know about the Ministry of Finance right now. They even exposed our contract with them! "

"It's already so late, and you're already in such a hurry, yet you still act so carefree!"

The more they saw Jin Xianyu like this, the angrier they got.

"What are you rushing for? What does this have to do with us? We already paid the one trillion yuan. Also, we didn't take the initiative to borrow the money, we were forced to take it from the Ministry of Finance, only then can they collect the interest. Besides, this thing wasn't done by me, Jin Xianyu."

These words of his left everyone speechless.

Indeed, on this level, it did not seem to have much to do with Jin Xianyu himself.

"But this is also a terrible scandal for our company!"

The vice chairmen were still a bit unrelenting.

"Scandal? This is easy to solve. You guys go out for a press conference, apologize to your in-laws, and apologize before the Ministry of Finance says anything. Then the people will forgive us. " Jin Xianyu answered the question very easily, as if he was never worried about this at all.

The other vice chairmen wanted to say something. Originally, they wanted to use this matter to get Jin Xianyu to step down. However, they did not expect that he was already prepared.

Jin Xianyu didn't need any of the excuses he had wanted to use this time. As he watched the group of people leave, he sneered and closed the door before going back to sleep.

Soon enough, Shuangxing Company company held a press conference according to Jin Xianyu's request. The leaders above all started to go all out, blaming the Ministry of Finance's request and the previous chairman Lee Zerong's request for all responsibility.

In any case, this contract was signed a year ago. Jin Xianyu had just taken up the position on the line of fire, so it really had nothing to do with him.

The people from the Ministry of Finance, who had always been adamant in not changing their words, immediately heard of this news. They never thought that Shuangxing Company Corporation would actually reveal everything without holding back at all.

Now, they had nothing more to say.

From Minister of Finance onwards, almost all the leaders of the Ministry of Finance resigned due to the blame.

In exchange for them not being prosecuted, it was still quite profitable to some extent.

Yan'er was finally able to see her father stay at home all this time.

Everything in their lives went back to how it used to be.
