C747 Police Distress

In the end, although the whole incident was investigated clearly, the battle situation in the trading market had just reached its climax.

When many of the international players saw the news of Korea Country, they immediately smelled a rich smell, and quickly brought in a large amount of money to fight their way in.

In the entire morning, the transaction figures above the trading market were constantly refreshing.

Even the staff of the Exchange may have never seen such a large-scale sale of Korea and currency.

With the passing of each day, the value of the Korea currency plummeted as if it was diving into water.

Moreover, Korea had used up all their foreign exchange reserves at the very beginning.

Wu Tian was currently selling off the Korea's currency at an extremely terrifying speed. This made the Korea's currency fall in value like a waterfall, making it unable to stop.

As for the people who lent money to Wu Tian, they really wanted to cry, but there was nothing they could do.

Although these creditors now knew that Wu Tian was deliberately shortening their finances, Wu Tian did not offend the currency of their Korea, so they had no other choice but to watch the currency fall bit by bit.

Finally, five days after the incident broke out, a bank executive jumped off a building and committed suicide.

The huge pressure made them, who were in the financial industry, unable to hold on any longer.

With this incident, Korea had finally dispatched their men to intervene in this matter.

The police station was their first target.

"Listen up, this is a mission arranged by the higher-ups. We have to find evidence of their crimes and seal Wu Tian and his company!"

This was a death order. If he could not complete it, his position as the police chief would definitely be taken care of.

"Chief, I've been inside their company all this time, but I didn't find anything wrong."

Superintendent Liu said helplessly. If there was any evidence, she would have grabbed Wu Tian long ago.

However, these people were quite cautious in their actions. They had even specially hired a team of lawyers.

"Even if you can't find it, you have to at least find it for me. There will definitely be some clues. Aren't you in the company? If not, then we'll attack together!"

The police chief was going all out this time. This mission had to be completed, no matter the method.

At the end of the meeting, Superintendent Liu had a helpless look on her face, but she didn't have a better way to solve this problem.

"What's wrong? Feel troubled? How about I go and help you? " The knife-scarred man looked at Superintendent Liu's pained expression and hurried to her side, wanting to help her solve her problem.

Superintendent Liu shook her head. She didn't know why, but she didn't really want to do it.

"Tell me, is it really okay for us to do this? We're police. He clearly didn't break the law, but we wanted to scheme and punish him."

Superintendent Liu had always been conflicted about this matter. She felt that if they did this, they would be no different from corrupt officials.

Scarface was stunned by her words. He didn't expect Superintendent Liu to think this much.

For a time, he couldn't answer her.

Because this really does look like a problem.

They could understand what was going on up there, but the judiciary should be independent of these things.

Even if what Wu Tian had done was a huge loss to the Korea Empire, wasn't this all due to the collusion between their Finance Department and Shuangxing Company company?

Therefore, this was just a way for government people to be desperate. Even if this method was successful, they would not be able to gain the trust of this financial capital in the future.

"Don't think too much into it, let's just do our own thing. If he's really not guilty, we can't find out anything. "

Scarface could only say that as he drove Superintendent Liu back to Wu Tian's company.

"Do you really not need me to send you additional people?"

"No need, your job is pretty hard too. I can handle this by myself." Superintendent Liu still refused.

The atmosphere in Wu Tian's company was actually better than anywhere else.

This was something that Superintendent Liu felt very strongly about.

Previously, Superintendent Liu had been sent to various companies to squat there. Some companies would intentionally give her face, or cause trouble for her everywhere.

In short, they wanted the police to back off.

But when it came to Wu Tian, not only the boss, even the employees treated her like a member of the family.

No one rejected her. They would even often share some delicious food and gossip with her.

Wu Tian basically treated her like she didn't exist and never spoke coldly to her.

Logically speaking, Superintendent Liu felt that she already liked this place a little.

"Oh, isn't this Superintendent Liu? You're here."

Wu Zaibin, who was carrying a bunch of fried chicken and beer, was just about to enter the car. When he saw Superintendent Liu get off the police car, he opened the door and stood at the entrance to greet her.

"Yes, I'm here."

Superintendent Liu's eyes were wide open as she looked at Wu Zaibin holding so much stuff in his hands. She could hardly believe it.

"Do you want to eat so much alone?"

Wu Zaibin had two or three people inside his hands, so he could definitely finish them all by himself.

"Hehe, I'm sorry, I accidentally bought too much just now. Did you eat something? "If you haven't eaten, then help me share some of it."

As he said that, Wu Zaibin handed over a plate of fried chicken in a natural manner.

Before Superintendent Liu could react, her hand had already reached him.

"About that, actually, we can't ..." "Forget it, thank you."

When her stomach smelled the fragrance, it was already beginning to growl secretly.

In the end her reason gave way to her belly.

Besides, this wasn't considered as a violation of the rules. As long as she didn't take the initiative to ask for it, the other party could take the initiative to give it to her.

"All of you are really working hard. I don't know why your police department is so interested in our small company."

Wu Zaibin and Superintendent Liu walked in a line, but his mouth never stopped as he kept on grumbling.
