

1

2.5K 58 0

In the beginning ...

Before the six singularities and the dawn of creation, came the CELESTIALS. Arishem, the prime celestial, created the first sun and brought light into the universe. Life began, and thrived. All was in balance.

Until an unnatural species of predator emerged from deep space to feed on intelligent life- they were known as DEVEANTS. The universe was plunged into chaos.

To restore the natural order, Arishem sent ETERNALS - immortal heroes from the planet Olympia- to eliminate the Deviants.

Eternals had unyielding faith in Arishem until one mission, led by the Prime Eternal, Ajax, changed everything ...

"It is time."

As the gold energy flew to my chest my eyes fluttering open. Staring at our prime leader stepping out of my zone in a dark suit with white lining. The window catches my attention as I see our next mission. The world is so beautiful and green...

"It's beautiful isn't it?" One said reminding me I wasn't the only one here.

"I'm Ikaris." He said in dull tone. He feels

Weird

"I'm Sersi." She smiled. She feels so peaceful and delicate

Tilting my head at the interaction feeling the emotions flow through them.

Odd

"You know listening to peoples conversations from afar isn't polite." I turn and looked up at him. Him.

"Hi I'm Cora. Nice to meet you!" I smiled at my first introduction. He feels...

"Druig." He walked away. Turning my attention back to the planet feeling the energy pulsing through my veins knowing why I was sent here.

5000 BC

Mesopotamia

Ikaris shot his beams to the first Deviant, we all head to the shore, I sign to makkari.

"Bring me the boy!" She sped o and in a second the crying boy was in my arms near a lady who was on the land. I hold his hand and feel myself drain the fear out of him and into me. Making sure he's okay I li my hands and build a barricade of rocks to shield the humans.

The Deviant climbed up and makkari quickly ran to get everyone out of the way. I push my hands to the deviant pushing my energy to hold him back as Kingo shoots him with his beams.

Pushing the deviant over the cli I push even further down the rocks burring him. And moving a huge boulder to top him o .

"Wow that was so heavy." I hu ed and bent over on my knees as kingo laughed.

"Good fight!" He signed to us.

"You guys too!" Makkari signed back and laughed at me. I rolled my eyes and smiled at them! I feel their

Joy

I love that, it's the best feeling with the closest people around me is okay! I instantly look around at Gilgamesh and Thena taking down the other ugly deviant. I try to not feel the deviants as it was a rule of Ajak. She told me to NEVER feel them.

The others come from the Domo.

Sprite comes down and then comes phastos, then the only person who I can't feel. Him.

His eyes turn yellow as we all walk back standing together, I turn to druig as he controls the humans to not be afraid or defensive. I can feel them, as an empath I can feel their emotions, their pain, their fear, and worst... their love. I want that.

But I am not druig. He can control it as I can only feel and take. I have to have their contact to take.

Looking back at the humans smiling. They are okay. Which is the only thing I want here.

Druig flicks his wrist up as ajak heals Ikaris wound. I turn back around to the little kid who I took the fear out of as he runs up to me hugging me.

Sersi walks up and turns a dagger to gold, handing it to the boy. He's okay.

Continue reading next part □