

Her Fated Human Mate

Her Fated Human Mate Bonus Chapter 1

Three Months Later

We are seated in the pack house in our private dining room. We try to get together at least weekly to have dinner or just spend time together. Autumn and I are due any day now, so we wanted to make sure we didn't miss our dinner tonight. Daniella Madison Solace was born a month and a half ago. She is perfect and Archer is over the moon. She is a miniature version of Danica. She has the prettiest eyes as she stares up at me. We are still waiting for Jade and Luca to arrive with the twins. They are so cute and quiet. Maverick and I have been visiting Jade and Luca twice a week to visit my nieces and nephew. Our family has been so blessed. I love to see our parents with the pups. They are so happy to have more pups to love and spoil. I'm excited but scared about having the pups. We discussed our options with the pack doctor at our last visit and we are set up for a c-section for next week. We all believe it will be safest for me and the pups. The door opens and Jade walks in followed by Luca. Jade is holding Luna and Luca has the twins. That doesn't last long because my parents and Tabby are on their feet the moment they see them. I laugh when they each steal a pup. Tabby is bouncing Luna on her knee and her giggles fill the room. Mom is holding Lucas Lake Williams. He has both Jade's hair and eye color. Dad is holding Katherine Cynthia Williams. My sister is amazing for wanting to honor Luca's first mate.

I look around the room at all these amazing people, I get to call my family. It makes me chuckle to see how in love my grandparents still are. Grandma Sabrina is sitting on my grandfather Archer's lap. It's amazing to think about all they went through to get to this point. They must feel my stare because they look at me and smile. I watch my parents looking at their grand pups with a love that is undeniable. Soon our pups will be here and I have no doubt that they will be there every step of the way to help us get through having three newborns. I'm a little disappointed that Jade won't get to be in the delivery room like I was for her. We always talked about that when we were growing up.

Flashback Jade's Labor

Maverick and I are sitting in our office. We only go into the office twice a week now. Most of our work can be handled from the pack. The door flies open and my mother, followed by Tabby, rush inside. "Ruby, Jade's in labor." I jump up and kiss Maverick. Tabby opens the portal and we step through. Gwen wraps us all in a hug before she leads us to the royal hospital. A nurse leads me and mom to Jade's room. I knock and Luca opens the door. He smiles but I can tell that he is nervous. "Mom" Jade says, and we head over to the side of the bed. My mother wraps her in a hug. When she releases her, I bend down and hug my sister. "I'm so proud of you. You are an amazing mother." I pull back and I can see unshed tears in her eyes. She lays her hand on my very significant bump. "I can't wait to meet you little ones" Jade says, talking to my belly. We all grab chairs to sit around Jade's bed. I try to distract Jade every time a contraction comes by rubbing her legs while mom and Luca offer her encouragement. I hate seeing her in pain but we both know it will be worth it when she has her pups in her arms.

A knock sounds on the door and a man that must be a doctor comes in to check Jade. He seems kind and I can tell that Jade is comfortable with him. "Your majesty, you are ten centimeters dilated. I'm going to get changed and when I get back it's time to have another prince and princess." He leaves and the nurse starts to move around the room. It's pretty amazing to watch her set everything up for the delivery. I rub my hands over my belly, thinking that very soon it will be me delivering and Jade holding my hand. The doctor comes back and I watch my sister be superwoman. I watch her push for an hour before the room fills with the best cry I have ever heard. I follow the nurse and Luca is standing right next to me. It's a boy and he is perfect. A few minutes later, Jade begins to push again. Ten pushes later and my niece's cries fill the room. I think she could give her brother a run for his money with that cry. I head back to Jade while Luca is with the twins. I bend down, placing my forehead against hers. "They are beautiful. You were amazing. I'm so proud of you, Jade."

End Flashback

We finish up dinner and after lots of kisses for my nieces and nephew, Tabby created the portal for Jade and Luca to return to the Dragon Kingdom. It's still crazy that Jade is a Queen. I always knew that both Jade and Archer were always meant to be leaders, but the goddess knew it wouldn't be in the Scarlett Rose pack. I'm glad they made that decision because all of us are where we were always meant to be. "Hey, her water broke" I hear Connor's voice laced with fear. It's funny that the big strong men always panic. We have to step in and take charge. They can direct hundreds of warriors but they lose their mind about anything that has to do with their mate or pups. Connor scoops Autumn up and heads for the door. Maverick helps me to my feet and we make our way to the hospital. We all take a seat in the waiting room. Jonathon sits across from us and I can see fear in his eyes. He is worried for his baby girl. "Jonathon, she is strong. Tabby and Connor are with her. She is going to do great." He smiles and nods at me.

An hour later, Connor comes rushing through the double doors. My heart is in my throat until I see a smile spread across his face. "My little mate has been in labor since last night. The doctor said it was a good thing she got here when we did or my son might have been delivered in the dining room", Connor says. His smile is absolutely contagious. "I have a son, Maverick" he says as he pulls Maverick into a hug. These men are closer than some brothers and having wolves that are so connected has made their bond even stronger. "What did you name him" I ask. "Autumn would like you two and her dad to come meet our son." We follow behind him and Jonathon goes in first. He rushes to the side of her bed. It's amazing to see Autumn holding her son while her dad holds her. "I would like to introduce you all to Colton Jon Bradley." Autumn hands Colton to Jonathon and I can see the pride as he stares down at his first grandpup.

A Week Later Maverick POV

I can honestly say that last night was the worst sleep I have ever gotten. It's five in the morning and I'm staring at the ceiling wishing for it to be eight so we can head to the hospital. I feel like a kid who is waiting for Christmas morning. I turn over and wrap Ruby in my arms. I breathe in her scent and I'm able to close my eyes. Exhaustion finally takes me under. Tingles on my face pull me from sleep. "Maverick, we are due at the hospital in fifteen minutes", Ruby says. My eyes fly open and I hop out of bed. I hear her laughing as I rush into the closet pulling on sweat pants and a t-shirt. I grab her go-bag and take her hand, leading her through the pack house. As soon as we reach the lounge, Ruby's mother is waiting for us. "Mom, why did you get up early? You know, with the c-section only Maverick can go in with me." "I know that but I will be in the waiting room. I am your mother and I will be waiting for you and my grandpups to be in recovery. Ruby smiles and I'm so glad to have all these amazing people here to support us. We walk to the hospital. As soon as we arrive, a nurse takes us to the back. Ten minutes later, they take me to get dressed in scrubs. I hate leaving Ruby but I know that I have to follow the hospital rules. I may be Alpha, but these people have earned respect by caring for the pack. The nurse leads me to a room that says OR1. My eyes meet Ruby's and I can see tears on her cheeks. "Why are you crying love?" "I just wanted you to get here. I'm scared but I trust the doctor." The doctor comes in a few minutes later. I bend placing my lips to her forehead. "You are doing amazing, Ruby. You are the most amazing woman and I'm blessed to have you as my mate." A cry pierces the air and I press my lips to hers. This woman that is my everything to me just made me a father. She is the woman I will want every day for the rest of my life. She is the mother of my pups and my best friend. Every part of my life is better because of this woman. "Alpha, would you like to cut the cord?" I reach for the scissors. The doctor smiles "it's a girl." "Welcome to the world Olivia Ella Colwell" I say. The nurse takes her over to clean her up. "I look down to see our next pup before the cry surrounds us. He hands me the scissor again and I cut the cord. "It's a boy" the doctor says. "Welcome to the world Jackson Connor Colwell", I say and the nurses take him. "It's almost done sweetheart", I say to Ruby. She smiles and we wait to hear the third cry. The doctor pulls the next pup out and she is smaller than her sister and brother. "Why isn't she crying?" I can help the panic in my voice. "It's alright Alpha. The nurses will help her." "Maverick, what's wrong with our pup?" I kiss her forehead before I head over to check on my daughter. The nurses are putting something in her nose and after a few minutes her cries fill the room. The pain in my chest subsides and I look down at this perfect little girl. She may be small but she is mighty. "Welcome to the world Gabriella Josephine Colwell." Once the pups and Ruby are cleaned up, they take us to the Alpha suite. The bed is king sized and we sit together with our pups in front of us. Olivia is a perfect mix of me and Ruby. Jackson has my features but his mother's eye color. Gabriella is Ruby's mini me. Ruby feeds the pups and I can see how exhausted and sore she is. I lay the pups down in their bassinets before I slide in next to my beautiful mate. Her eyes flutter shut and I lay there staring at this beautiful woman. She is everything I ever wanted in a woman and thankfully, the goddess saw something that was worthy about me to be her mate. She accepted me when I was a human for who I was and helped me become who I was always meant to be.
