Chapter 24 24: Ghorm Upgrade

All in all, he has one hundred forty-three goblin riders, and it cost him fifty soul coins.

"System, If I remember correctly on the information you give to me, I can upgrade the realm of any monsters of the dungeons right?"

[The host can, but I need to remind the host that the monsters on the first floor can only be upgraded to Qi Gathering Realm.]

"So that means, even if I buy a Golden Core monster, I will not be able to use it until I have a second floor?"

[Yes.]

"Then how much is the second floor?"

[As long as the host gathered 10,000 soul coins, a dungeon floor section in the shop system will be unlocked.]

"That much?!" Argon blurted out.

[It's not much, now that the dungeon is getting known, many people will come to the dungeon, and getting 10,000 soul coins would just be a breeze for the host. Though being known, will also bring a higher chance of stronger beings coming for the dungeon, so the host should be careful.]

"That's right." Argon was a little embarrassed.

Now, he needs to upgrade his defense again, so, not wasting time he teleported to Ghorm.

"Stand up... I'm here because I will give you an opportunity. I will upgrade your cultivation to the peak of Building Base Realm."

"I will not disappoint My Lord, and live up to My Lord's expectations." Ghorm felt excited inside, but his face was still of that very respectful.

Although he calls Argon a My Lord, but in his eyes, Argon is a God whom he worships, his creator. It's not for Argon's orders to call him My Lord, he would call Argon Almighty God.

"En." Argon nodded in approval.

The cost of a peak building base monster was one hundred soul coins, and since goblin riders cost double the price, he needs to pay two hundred soul coins.

"System, upgrade Ghorm to the peak of building base realm."

Shortly after, Ghorm's cultivation base started soaring. Eventually, it stopped at the peak of building base.

"From now on I will appoint you to become the leader of the goblin riders."

"Thank you, My Lord."

"But for now you just stay here first and don't attack the humans, as much as I want all these people to die, we can't scare them too much, lest they will bring a Qi Gathering cultivator. For now, I will buy a low-level building base monster, you can use them as you want."

Argon was left with fifty soul coins, so he can only buy two first-stage and second-stage building base hobgoblin riders. If a goblin became a building base monster it will evolve into a hobgoblin.

After buying the goblin riders, Argon left the cave.

"You two, I need you to gather the goblins and attack the human encampment. You don't need to kill all the humans, as long as you kill more than half of their number you can leave." Earlier Argon instructs Ghorm, not to wipe out the humans.

"Yes, Lord Ghorm."
