

I Play Yu-Gi 1211

Chapter 1211: Light Judgement

Stardust Dragon was summoned!

"It's here, Stardust!" Jack looked at the starlight dragon that seemed to dominate the sky, "Sure enough, you can't miss this grand feast!"

But even Stardust is no match for my very soul – Red Dragon Archfiend!"

Completely ignoring Jack's chuunibyou declaration, Yusei continued on his own: "Open the set card: Continuous Trap – Ultimate Offering! By paying 500 life points, I can Normal Summon or Set 1 extra monster.

I pay 500 life points to Normal Summon 'Junk Synchron'!"

[Yusei, LP 2900 → LP 2400]

So the Junk Synchron finally couldn't escape the fate of working overtime. The little warrior in orange-red armor popped out and jumped onto the field.

[Junk Synchron, ATK 1300]

"Effect of Junk Synchron!" Yusei said, "When this card is Normal Summoned: I can target 1 Level 2 or lower monster in my GY; Special Summon that target in Defense Position, but negate its effects.

Special Summon the 'Tuningware' in the graveyard!"

[Tuningware, DEF 300]

"Level 3 Tuner 'Junk Synchron', Level 1 'Tuningware', tuning!"

[3+1=4]

"Synchro Summon —

— Level 4, Armory Arm!"

[Armory Arm, ATK 1800]

"Armory Arm's effect – Once per turn, I can target 1 monster on the field; equip this card to that target." Yusei said, "I'll equip the Armory Arm to 'Stardust Dragon'!"

Jack's face changed slightly: "It's actually a Synchro Monster that can be used as an Equip Card?"

"That's right! And the equipped monster's attack power increases by 1000 points! When the equipped monster destroys a monster by battle and sends it to the GY, inflict damage to the opponent equal to the destroyed monster's original ATK!"

[Stardust Dragon, ATK 2500 → ATK 3500]

"Stardust Dragon with an attack power of 3500 has surpassed the attack power of Red Dragon Archfiend!" Leo was excited.

"Not only that, if Red Dragon Archfiend is destroyed, Jack will also receive an additional attack power value – that is, 3000 points of damage," Luna said.

"A total of 3500 damage... Eh!?" Leo was surprised, "Doesn't that mean... Yusei won? He won over that king Jack!?"

Jack gritted his teeth: "You want to suppress me not only in strategy, but also in strength, Yusei!?"

But looking at his reaction...

"Jack's set card should be a reversal move," Yusei Vu said, "But since there is no response until now, it may be a trap triggered by the attack declaration... Of course, it may also be a free-timing trap like 'Fiendish Chain'.

It's just that he wants to wait until you enter the Battle Phase and activate it after there are no other variables."

"There is this possibility." Yusei nodded and continued, "Then, activate the effect of 'Tuningware' in the graveyard! When this card is sent to the graveyard as a synchro material, draw a card from the deck!"

After drawing another card, Yusei Vu couldn't help but sigh when he saw the new card: "Wow, you are worthy of it. You just drew a card that can eliminate variables at such a critical moment."

Yusei was stunned: "Mr. Yusei Vu, you mean..."

"Among the cards I gave you, there is one that can perfectly eliminate this variable." Yusei Vu smiled mysteriously, "Can you find out which one it is?"

Yusei's comprehension was already very high. He quickly went through the cards that Yusei Vu handed to him that he had never heard of, and soon remembered something.

Oh, if there is that monster now...

After making up his mind, Yusei took a deep breath.

"I use the effect of 'Ultimate Offering' again, pay 500 life points to Normal Summon an extra monster!"

Jack's pupils shrank slightly.

"You actually want to continue to deploy?"

[Yusei, LP 2400 → LP 1900]

"I pay 500 life points and Normal Summon 'Synchron Explorer' from my hand!"

[Synchron Explorer, ATK 0]

"When this card is Normal Summoned: I can target 1 'Synchron' monster in my GY; Special Summon that target, but negate its effects." Yusei said, "I Special Summon the 'Nitro Synchron' in the Graveyard!"

[Nitro Synchron, ATK 300]

At this time, the benefits of Lightsworn's large number of graveyard dumpings were reflected again. Yusei's graveyard was very rich in resources, which is the basis for him to lay out the counterattack.

"Level 2 Tuner monster 'Nitro Synchron', Level 2 'Synchron Explorer', tuning!"

[2+2=4]

Jack's face changed slightly: "Another four-star synchro?"

"Synchro Summon! Lend me your power again, Senior Yusei Vu——

——Level 4, Herald of the Arc Light!!!"

Enshrouded by the aura of synchro, the holy angel flew out from the starlight, and the holy white light poured down.

[Herald of the Arc Light, ATK 600]

"A small Synchro monster with only 600 attack power?" Jack frowned, "Summoning this kind of thing, Yusei, what on earth are you thinking?"

Although he said this, Jack was actually a little confused.

As a synchro monster, its stat is so shabby, which only shows one problem——

——There is something fishy about this thing!

Jack was right.

Herald of the Arc Light Light was more than just a trick...

This thing was simply a brutal and ruthless killer!

"Battle!" Yusei shouted, "Go, Stardust Dragon! Attack the 'Red Dragon Archfiend'!"

Stardust Dragon raised its head, the energy of the Armory Arm was filled, and the surging starlight was mixed with golden energy flow, which filled into the open mouth of Stardust.

The sonic speed impact seemed to tear the starry sky apart, sweeping towards the Red Dragon Archfiend!

Jack was not to be outdone: "Red Dragon Archfiend, fight back! Absolute Powerforce!"

The confrontation between the two dragons, the power of the Signers on both sides was stimulated without reservation! The dragon mark was lit up like a branding iron, and the marks on the arms of the four people seemed to react to the collision of the two trump cards at the same time!

"At this moment, open the set card!"

Jack's eyes had turned red under the influence of the power of the Crimson Dragon, and the last trap flipped beside him.

"Trap Card 'Prideful Roar'! During damage calculation, if my monster battles an opponent's monster with a higher ATK: Pay LP equal to the difference in ATK; my monster gains ATK equal to that difference plus 300, during damage calculation only!"

[Jack, LP 2100 → LP 1600]

"I pay the difference in attack power between Red Dragon Archfiend and Stardust, 500 points!" Jack shouted, "Red Dragon Archfiend's attack power increases!"

[Red Dragon Archfiend, ATK 3000 → ATK 3800]

"The attack power has surpassed Stardust!" Sister Aki said.

"But that Jack actually adopted such a tactic... Sacrificing life points in exchange for attack power?" Leo, a die-hard fan, was a little confused, "It's a bit unlike Jack's usual tactics..."

"Prideful Roar... this card is also Jack's own voice." Yusei Vu said on the side, "He betrayed his companions, gave up his past, and came to Neo Domino alone just to pursue power.

So he can't accept the fact that Yusei has not given up anything, but is still stronger than him..."

Yusei: "Jack..."

But reality is so cruel.

Because his name contained the Yu- prefix, and he had a seafood hairstyle. It's obvious that he would play cards better than Jack.

So just like President Kaiba who was cursed by the will of the universe and could never win against Yugi, Jack may not be able to escape such a fate no matter what...

"Herald of the Arc Light's effect is activated." Yusei said softly, "When a Spell/Trap Card, or monster effect, is activated: I can Tribute this card; negate the activation, and destroy that card."

"What!?"

Jack's pupils shrank suddenly, and he looked at the ugly and disappearing angel on Yusei's field in shock.

He did think that there might be something fishy about that thing, but he never thought it would be such a powerful effect!

It's just a level 4 monster, but it has the terminal power to cancel any effect!

"Prideful Roar's activation is negated." Yusei said softly, "So the attack power of the Red Dragon Archfiend remains the same."

[Red Dragon Archfiend, ATK 3800 → ATK 3000]

Jack was stunned.

Could it be that... I will lose to Yusei again?

"Stardust, attack!" Yusei gave the final command, "Shooting Sonic!"

The flames were crushed under the starlight, and the impact pierced through the chest of the Red Dragon Archfiend. The King's dragon let out an unwilling cry, but was still powerless and could only fall like a burning meteorite.

With the effect of Armory Arm, the Stardust Dragon would inflict damage equal to the attack power of the destroyed monster.

The total damage was 3500.

The King lost.

[Jack, LP 1600 → LP 0]

Chapter 1212: The Collapsing Satellite Area

The duel ended with the same ending as last time.

The difference was that this time Jack was not lucky enough to pull out the screws to interrupt the duel again, and this time his life points were definitely reduced to zero.

Moreover, there were even witnesses in the front row this time.

This ending shocked Leo for a long time, and he kept repeating "Jack actually lost" and other words in his mouth, feeling like his worldview collapsed.

However, children are relatively heartless and obviously have no loyalty to their idols. In just one minute, Leo immediately turned to Yusei.

"Wow~ Yusei is so strong! He even beat Jack!"

"But since Jack lost, does that mean he can't be the Duel King anymore?"

"Oh, by the way, from today on, is Yusei the Duel King?"

"So awesome!"

Leo was a chatterbox, and he couldn't stop talking when he got excited. He started to mutter, not noticing that Jack, who had flipped over, was getting darker and darker, and his expression was as uncomfortable as if he had swallowed shit...

"Leo." In the end, it was his sister Luna who stopped his brother's tactless behavior.

Yes, Jack flipped over again.

To describe Jack's current situation, there was one word: blue.

He was already hit hard by losing to Yusei repeatedly, and Leo kept making up for him with his chatter. Now the Duel King was almost shut down.

He wanted to get angry, but the target was a kid who knew nothing. If he got angry at a naughty kid, it would make him, the Duel King, look rude.

...Oh no, it was the former Duel King.

Just as the naughty kid said, the so-called "Duel King" should be a man at the top of the duel world, a supreme duelist. No matter what kind of situation or what kind of opponent he faced, he must win, this was the meaning of the word "Duel King".

But he lost now. So from this moment on, he is no longer the Duel King.

Yusei should be the real Duel King.

Even if the audience didn't leak this matter, and no one else in the world knew that Jack had lost here, he knew it himself.

His own self-esteem would not allow him to stay in the position of King. In his mind, Yusei has replaced him as the new King.

But this was also good. Jack was completely self-closed. At least in this team, he would not question Yusei's decision for the time being.

A team always needed a leader, and as the backbone who was naturally gifted in connecting others, Yusei was obviously the fittest to this leadership position.

However, Jack was born to be unwilling to obey the leader, so it was actually very important to convince him in advance. He should be honest for a while next.

The conflict between the two was resolved, and the problems within the team came to an end. Next, it was time to get back to business.

According to the images shown to them by Crimson Dragon, their next destination should be the location of the old Momentum that caused Zero Reverse.

But the problem was that the location of the old Momentum was not in the current Neo Domino urban area.

After the Zero Reverse incident, the powerful energy split the old Domino into two. The address of the Momentum Research Institute happened to be located in the part of the city that was separated, which was now the Satellite area.

And that place was not just an ordinary area in the Satellite area, but in the deserted old area. Even in the slums, it was a dangerous area that no one went to, and even the sheriff generally regarded it as outside the jurisdiction.

But precisely because no one had ever been there, even the residents of the Satellite area were rarely familiar with that area.

Fortunately, they happened to know an old friend who was familiar with the terrain of the deserted old area.

Crow Hogan, Yusei, and Jack's best buddy back then.

They knew each other when they were young, and they have been the best buddies since they were young. Later, after they met Kiryu, they formed "Team Satisfaction" which was famous in the Satellite area, relying on their invincible card skills to beat all the opponents in the Satellite area.

But after Team Satisfaction was disbanded, everyone's contact gradually became less.

Crow still lived in the Satellite area and was often caught by the sheriff because of frequent crimes. His face was messed up by the sheriffs, and it was full of criminal marks, just like a street thug.

It was also worth mentioning that this person was the owner of the famous "Blackwing" deck.

His Blackwing series could also be regarded as a legend in Yu-Gi-Oh. After all, it was a world champion deck that swept the environment in the early era of Synchro, and it was the representative of the ultimate fast attack at that time.

As the best buddy in the past, Yusei, who valued his companions, naturally kept Crow's contact information.

Crow was the guide they needed to return to the Satellite area.

Yusei sent a communication request through the system on the D-Wheel. A group of people gathered around his D-Wheel, looking at the words "calling" on the screen, and patiently waiting for the line to be connected.

But there was no response for a long time.

"Maybe this guy's D-Wheel was confiscated by the sheriff again." Jack said sullenly, "It's not the first time anyway."

Yusei did not refute, because he knew Jack might be right.

Unlike them, Crow was a frequent visitor to the Public Security Bureau prison. This could be seen from the marks on his face – each mark meant that he had been arrested once.

As for whether he was released each time because of good performance or because he beat the warden in a card game, it was unknown in the original work.

But Crow's most beloved iconic vehicle "Blackbird" and his cherished "Blackwing" deck would be confiscated every time he was arrested.

However, not long after he was released each time, he would immediately sneak into the warehouse of the Public Security Bureau to steal his treasures back, and maybe he could also take some other treasures out of the warehouse.

Yusei was calling him from the communication device on the D-Wheel of the Blackbird. If the Blackbird happened to be confiscated by the sheriff, Crow would not be able to receive the call.

But luckily, after two consecutive attempts to call, the communication was finally connected.

Crow Hogan's iconic face covered with criminal marks appeared on the screen of the D-Wheel, but his expression seemed a little nervous, and the picture in the background was also dark, and nothing could be seen clearly.

"Crow!" Yusei said, "Where are you? I'm with Jack now, and we're going back to the Satellite area..."

"Listen, Yusei," Crow interrupted him before he finished speaking, and said in a deep voice, "Don't come back."

Yusei was startled: "What?"

"No matter what happens, don't come back to the Satellite area!"

Crow kept looking behind him as he spoke, as if he was on guard against something.

"Those guys are everywhere. The Public Security Bureau here has been destroyed, and the Satellite area may be hopeless..."

...But in short, if you are no longer in the Satellite area, don't come back no matter what!"

"What are you talking about, Crow? Who is everywhere? What happened in the Satellite area?" Yusei asked hurriedly.

"It's... damn it." Crow seemed to look back and saw something, and cursed vaguely, "They are coming, I must..."

The video signal was cut off and the sound stopped abruptly.

Chapter 1213: Be Sure To Take Me With You!

"Crow! Crow!"

The screen went out, and the picture was pitch black. No one responded to Yusei's call.

The air seemed to freeze, and the surroundings were terribly quiet. No one spoke for a while.

"What happened in the Satellite area?" Jack said in a deep voice.

It seemed that the former king had temporarily put aside his frustration of losing the game.

"What does he mean by not going back to the Satellite area?" Izayoi asked, "The Satellite area has fallen. Does it mean that the image we just saw..."

"No, it hasn't become a reality yet." Yusei shook his head, "But what happened in the Satellite area is definitely true."

Crow warned not to go back to the Satellite area, but the people present basically ignored this sentence.

Just like a woman saying no, no, what she really means is GKD. If there is such a line in an animated movie, you can't really obey and not go to find out.

But Yusei still has a bad feeling.

Just now, Crow mentioned that "they are everywhere", and before the communication was cut off, the last sentence was "they are coming". It sounds like an organization with quite a lot of people.

If we speculate in this way, there may be a powerful force that has attacked the Satellite area. The Public Security Bureau stationed in the Satellite area had fallen, and now Crow was avoiding the pursuit of that gang.

But this just meant that they guessed right, and the Satellite area may indeed be the center stage of a war. In this case, as Signers, they had to go.

"But Yusei, I have a feeling that this trip might be a little tricky if you are the only ones." Yuei Vu, who had been watching the CG in ghost mode, reminded him, "You may need help."

Yusei agreed with him, but at the same time said, "But we are out of manpower. Four of the five Signers have gathered here. According to what you, Senior Yuei Vu, said, the last Signer who holds the 'Dragon Head Mark' is actually Rudger Godwin. He has fallen into a Dark Signer and has long been dead.

In this case, the four of us are now the only companions who can stand up and fight."

"That's not necessarily the case."

Yuei Vu smiled mysteriously.

"If you just need reinforcements, you have a whole army."

Yusei: "?"

Neo Domino, downtown.

Neo Domino tonight was really unrecognizable. The evil flames burned the entire city, the urban area was torn apart, the roads were shaken into cracks, and the buildings collapsed one after another.

The Public Security Bureau was already overwhelmed by the death of its chief not long ago, and the sheriffs were even more exhausted by this series of troubles. Many sheriffs, including Ushio, were missing in the chaos and could not be contacted for the time being.

Under such circumstances, the chaos in the city can be imagined.

A large number of people rushed to the streets under the banner of "the end of the world", threatening that they would do whatever they wanted when the world was over. Some people robbed and committed crimes on the street, some kicked open the doors of convenience stores, smashed, looted, and burned, and some people simply set fires because they thought the incident was not serious enough. The noisy and chaotic streets were simply a large-scale zero-dollar shopping event.

The screwball players who had just launched the new version immediately plunged into this exciting new version event.

For the citizens of Neo Domino, this night was simply purgatory.

But for these screwballs, it was simply a carnival!

For example, there was such a thing.

A muscular man with a chain around his neck and a face full of tattoos kicked out of the convenience store with a bunch of goods snatched from the zero-dollar shopping and met an excited screwball head-on.

"You! That's right, I'm talking about you over there! Put your things down!"

The muscular man was unhappy at the time, and said with a frown: "Who do you think you are? Why are you interfering with my business?"

"Hehe, it seems that there is no point in talking more, so let's duel!" The screwball opened the Duel Disk.

The muscular man saw that he was a duelist, and immediately became serious, and also opened the Duel Disk: "Okay! But if I win, I will also take your deck and Duel Disk!"

"..."

The screwballs were actually not interested in maintaining law and order or upholding justice, they were just looking for card games to play.

It's great to get some experience and crystals, and by the way, you can also reasonably take away the Duel Disk and deck of the loser.

In the chaos, someone suddenly noticed it first: "Fuck! It's Brother Crab!"

"Jack! Sister Aki! The twins are also here!"

"..."

In fact, when Yusei Vu suggested going to the street to catch a group of screwballs to go back to the Satellite area, Yusei was skeptical.

Until just now, he was still thinking about how to attract the attention of these alien duelists and make them listen to him.

But now it seemed that he seems to have thought too much.

Brother Crab hasn't done anything yet, just stopped the D-Wheel in the middle of the road, jumped out of the motorbike, went to the station, and immediately heard someone shouting.

One person spread ten people, ten people spread a hundred people, and immediately a large group of people surrounded him. Looking at these guys' excited reactions, it was like a large fan meeting.

Such enthusiasm made Brother Crab a little confused.

He was just an ordinary citizen in the Satellite area. He had been in the city since he was a child. How could he suddenly become a celebrity?

Jack couldn't help but frown when he saw this scene.

When he saw this group of screwballs rushing up, he thought they were fans of him, the Duel King. But they called Yusei one after another, and at most a few people occasionally said "Fuck, Jack is also here."

Jack couldn't help but want to get angry at that time.

What do you mean Jack is "also" here?

I'm a Duel King, why does this sound like a buy-one-get-one-free gift tied to Yusei?

Damn Yusei, since when did he develop so many die-hard fans behind my back?

Thinking of betraying his companions, abandoning everything, and leaving his hometown, but in the end, he was still no match for Yusei, Jack was really getting angrier and angrier.

In normal times, if he didn't like someone very much, he would definitely force that person to the ground and rub him crazily through a duel. But the problem was, he had just fought with Yusei in a duel, and not only did he not win, he also overturned again.

Jack was so angry that he had nothing to say, and he just pursed his lips and sulked.

Since so many people are willing to listen to him, things will be much easier.

Yusei immediately said: "Duelists, listen to me. Now our world is being invaded by darkness, and the enemy with dark power is trying to destroy our city.

My companions and I have found the location of the enemy, and their roots may be in the Satellite area. This trip may be dangerous, and we may need as many companions as possible."

"It feels like an NPC in the RPG game is issuing quests." Leo muttered softly, "Is there really anyone willing to join us?"

"Leo, be quiet." Luna was dissatisfied.

Unexpectedly, before Brother Crab finished speaking, the screwballs had already exploded on the spot.

"Me! I'll go!"

"Damn, you're so cunning, you're trying to grab a spot before the cutscene is over? Brother Crab, be sure to take me with you!"

"..."

Chapter 1214: Return To The Satellite Area

Satellite Area.

On the deserted streets, the ruins of collapsed buildings were piled up randomly. The already dilapidated and dirty roads broke apart in the continuous tremors tonight, and broken electric poles and street lamps lay across the ground.

The air was filled with a foul and bizarre smell, and invisible particles were suspended in the air like elves.

After returning to their hometown after a few days away, Yusei and Jack drove the D-Wheel slowly on the empty road full of ruins, calmly observing the surrounding situation.

The twins and Izayoi Aki, who were also Signers, naturally followed. However, they did not have a D-Wheel or a driver's license, so they could only squeeze in with Yusei and Jack.

Well, Izayoi squeezed into the back seat of Yusei's D-Wheel, and the two children squeezed into Jack's Wheel of Fortune.

The twin's family has a lot of Wheel of Fortune figurines, and they have long been clamoring to ride a real Wheel of Fortune. Now that their dream had come true, they were so excited that they couldn't stop smiling.

At first, Aki was extremely reluctant to share a single-seat D-Wheel with Brother Crabhead, but considering that they were on a mission to save the world, and comparing it with Jack next to them, she secretly thought in her heart that "it seems that it is not impossible if it is Yusei", so she accepted it very reluctantly.

The two D-Wheels moved slowly in the Satellite area.

It was too quiet, so quiet that it was a little weird.

Even in the Satellite area, not all blocks were empty. This street should have been the downtown area compared to the Satellite area. In Yusei's memory, it was very lively every day.

Neo Domino City was in complete chaos tonight. There were many citizens who took advantage of the fire to rob, and the sheriff could not handle it at all. If the city was like this, let alone the Satellite area.

Yusei had thought that the Satellite District must be in complete chaos. The security here was relatively weak, and the people in the slums would fight for a little bit of profit. It was not uncommon for people to die in the chaotic neighborhoods.

But now the whole street was empty. There were no lawless people as he imagined. It was strangely quiet and there was no breath.

Or to be more precise, perhaps it should be said that there was no breath of living people.

At some point, the surroundings began to light up with scarlet lights like ghost fire.

Those were eyes, pairs of eyes hidden in the darkness. They were red and gloomy, and their sight was like cold spears, shooting at Yusei from all directions without hesitation, without concealing their beast-like greedy intentions.

Those shadows walked out of the darkness one by one.

Each of them was wearing a wide black robe with patterns similar to the Nazca Lines on the robe. Their eyes were hidden in the shadow of the hood, but they emitted a scarlet dark light.

Each person's forearm had clear purple lines and lines, and the light emitted was extremely eye-catching in the darkness. Each of their arms had spider-shaped marks.

"Dark Signers." Yusei frowned, "Are all of these..."

"Yes and no."

Yuei Vu floated out at the right time and explained.

"They are all residents of the Satellite area, but they were eroded by the special ability of the "Spider Mark" and temporarily became puppets controlled by others."

Rudger, who had the Spider Mark in the original work, had also done this. This was a special ability brought by the "Spider Mark".

Rudger used this ability to widely spread spiders in the city, and the people who were attached would temporarily gain the power of a Dark Signer. In the animation, he remotely controlled a passerby to attack Yusei, and remotely controlled Ushio Tetsu to attack Jack.

However, the possessed puppets were cannon fodder, and they were consumable mass-produced cannon fodder, which was completely different from the serious Dark Signers.

At this time, Yusei was facing a Dark Signer puppet in this state.

But the number was astonishing.

"It would be endless to deal with such a number one by one." Yusei frowned.

But fortunately, he didn't have to do that.

A huge shadow fell from the sky to the ground, and the roar of the engine was like the roar of a steel beast. The huge machine hovered over the abandoned city, covering the entire land from a high position.

It was a transport plane, and the mark of the Public Security Bureau was still on the fuselage.

The hatch at the bottom of the transport plane opened, and creatures more terrifying than the Dark Signer puppets rushed out from it.

Yu-Gi-Oh players.

That's right, earlier tonight, in order to obtain tools to go through the city and directly to the Satellite area, the screwballs hijacked a transport plane of the Public Security Bureau.

Anyway, the city was already chaotic enough tonight, and the sheriffs were too busy to stop the screwballs who rushed up to hijack the plane with fierce momentum.

None of the players who completed this feat felt that it was inappropriate.

After all, the streets were full of arsonists and robbers, and there were also people who wanted to run away with air conditioners and TVs. As the saying goes, the law does not punish the masses, so it's okay for us to buy a plane for zero dollars during the chaos, right?

Besides, we didn't rob the plane for our own selfish desires. It is to save the world!

As for whether to return the planes that have been robbed after the crisis was resolved, that's another matter.

The Dark Signer puppets opened the Duel Disks one after another, and purple-black flames ignited around them, and everyone's eyes flashed with cold red light.

"Follow the guidance of the great god of the underworld and become a sacrifice to the new world under the power of dark sync!"

Some screwballs were immediately happy: "Then follow the guidance of the great Coke Spirite, all of you who play Dark Synchro are dead!"

The Dark Signer puppets and screwballs started fighting without saying a word, and the war was about to break out.

Yusei opened the Duel Disk and planned to find an opponent to fight, but was stopped by Yueli Vu.

"Don't waste time on these minions, they are immortal." Yueli Vu said, "They are just puppets, and they will return to their original state after winning the duel.

But there are too many of them. Instead of fighting them to death, it is better to find the source. After solving the source, these puppets will also fall apart."

Yusei agreed with his point of view. But before that, they must find Crow first.

Before Crow could finish his words, the communication was interrupted. He was very concerned about the situation of this companion anyway.

Yusei knew where Crow lived. He lived on the coast of the Satellite area, near the landmark building "Daedalus Bridge" in the slums.

While the players were fighting the dark-marked puppets, several Signers quickly left the battle and rushed directly to the Daedalus Bridge.

"Crow!"

When Yusei pushed the door open, he saw Crow in the middle of the empty room.

He knelt on the shabby floor, staring blankly at the rusty wall, and didn't even seem to notice someone calling his name.

"Crow, are you okay?"

Yusei squatted down to check on him but was stunned.

The expression he saw on Crow's face was an expression he had never seen before. It felt like a person who had lost everything, even the only hope in life was taken away, and could not find faith had a face as pale as death.

"Yusei?"

Crow looked at him blankly.

"They are gone, all gone. They were still here in the morning, and they said they would paint my portrait, but now they are all gone."

Yusei was stunned for a moment: "Who are you talking about, Crow? Who disappeared?"

Crow looked at him with difficulty.

"All the children I took care of are gone now."

Chapter 1215: The Fateful Location

Yusei knew well about Crow's situation.

In the Zero Reverse incident, Crow also lost his parents and relatives. For him, the orphans who lived with him and took care of him and had similar backgrounds to him were the closest to his family.

He had always supported those children on his own. He taught those children literacy and arithmetic through Duel Monsters cards and raised them up. From beginning to end, Crow treated the children as his own brothers and sisters.

But now, they were all gone.

According to Crow's description, it all originated from a strange black fog. Just when those huge Nazca images emerged and the earth began to shake one after another, the strange black fog suddenly came and swept across the area. All the people touched by the black fog disappeared out of thin air as if they had evaporated from the face of the earth.

"It's the Earthbound Immortal."

Hearing this, Yuei Vu has determined what is going on.

"The awakening of the Earthbound Immortal requires a large number of souls as sacrifices. Those who disappeared in the black fog are probably the offerings of the Earthbound Immortal."

Hearing this, Yusei clenched his fists in anger.

"Dark Signers... for this war, are they willing to involve so many innocent people? Even children are not spared"

"But there is still room for maneuver." Yuei Vu changed the subject.

Yusei hurriedly asked: "Senior, are you talking about those people who disappeared, do they still have hope to come back?"

Yusei could talk to Yuei Vu, but it was obvious that others couldn't see or hear the latter. From the perspective of others, Yusei was talking to himself in the air at this moment.

Aki finally couldn't help asking: "I've been a little concerned about the way you always talk to yourself, Yusei, are you talking to someone?"

"Yeah."

Yusei glanced at his companions beside him and felt that there was no need to hide it from them.

"You should have heard of the person who spoke to me. He is the first-generation Duel King, his name is Yuei Vu."

"Eh hey hey!?" Leo almost jumped up, "He is the legendary duelist who is crowned as the 'strongest'..."

"Wait," Jack frowned, "but he is just a legend, right?"

Their generation of card players has heard stories about the legendary duelists since they were young, but to them, they were just stories.

In the process of growing up, they had hardly heard any new news about these legendary duelists. To their generation, Yuei Vu was just a myth like Yugi, Kaiba, and others, and it was even impossible to verify whether these stories were true or false.

"It's true."

Yusei said seriously, looking at the duel disk in his hand.

"It was the night when I dueled with you, Jack. Our duel called out the power of the Crimson Dragon, and the duel was forced to end. Just when I was about to be arrested and taken to the Public Security Bureau, Senior Yuei Vu appeared.

Since then, he has been by my side, guiding my duels and actions."

"Wait," Jack frowned and asked, "Does that mean he's here now?"

"Yes."

Several people showed some strange expressions.

"The evidence is the new cards in my deck." Yusei pointed to the deck he had on the duel disk, "These were all adjusted by Senior Yuei Vu for me."

Jack suddenly realized.

Damn!

I said this kid has only been gone for two days, how come there are so many weird things in his deck, and he even copied my cards!

After all this time, it turns out that there is really someone behind the scenes giving instructions!

At the same time, Jack was a little unhappy.

It was clearly the two of us who were secretly playing cards in the duel field that night, so why did this old master go to Yusei instead of me?

Don't the old masters in the legend usually like to choose those apprentices with poor qualifications to teach, so that it can show that his teaching background is profound?

But the result of the duel that night should have been Jack's loss, so shouldn't the old master come to help me make a comeback and win the second round of the battle? Isn't this the normal routine?

So why didn't the first-generation Duel King play by the routine?

"Senior Yuei Vu said that those who disappeared can actually be rescued," Yusei said.

As soon as these words came out, Crow, who was lying on the floor like a dead fish, jumped up immediately.

"What? Are you serious, Yusei?"

"Yes." Yusei nodded, "Senior Yuei Vu said that the souls absorbed by the Earthbound Immortals will not be completely devoured immediately, there is a process in between.

As long as we can defeat all the Earthbound Immortals before that, those souls will be released."

"Really?" Crow's eyes were rekindled as if he had found the motivation and hope for life again.

"Wait, Yusei." Jack frowned and questioned, "But we have defeated all the Earthbound Immortals, right?"

The four Dark Signers who attacked us were all defeated, and their leader, the last Dark Signer, was also defeated by an unknown person and fell on the streets of Neo Domino.

The Earthbound Immortals have been defeated, but the lost souls have not returned."

Yusei nodded and said, "Senior Yuei Vu said that it only shows one thing, that we have not really defeated the Earthbound Immortals."

"What?"

"Senior Yuei Vu said that there should be another final Dark Signer who holds the 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal', and that is their real leader.

All these conspiracies, the deaths of the Dark Signers so far, and the rebirth of the dark power are all conspiracies designed by that person.

Only by defeating that person and the 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal' he holds, the Dark Signers will be truly defeated, and the disappeared souls will be resurrected."

"Okay!" Crow immediately became excited, "Then let's go now! As long as we can save those children, I will defeat any number of gods, no matter how many there are, no matter what the ultimate is!"

"We need to go to the location of the old Momentum." Yusei said, "The Dragon Mark showed us the image of the destruction of the satellite area, and the center is at the site of the old Momentum.

We guess if we go there to take a look, we might find something."

"The old Momentum is in an abandoned no-man's land, right?" Crow patted his chest, "Then you have found the right person, no one is more familiar with that place than me."

The Signer team set off again and headed straight to the location of the old perpetual motion machine.

In fact, Yuei Vu also had an impression of this development.

In the original animation, Yusei learned from Godwin the fate of the confrontation between the Signers and the Dark Signers, and then was led by Crow to the location of the old Momentum, and encountered the Dark Signer Kiryu for the first time there.

But now, Kiryu should have been defeated.

So Yuei Vu was also very curious about what they would see at the old Momentum Institute.

When the three D-Wheels stopped outside the institute, no one thought of what was waiting for them there.

They saw five straight shadows standing side by side outside the gate of the institute, as if they had been waiting for them for a long time.

Rudger Godwin, Kyosuke Kiryu, Misty Tredwell, Demak, and Bommer.

The five Dark Signers who should have all fallen stood at the gate of the institute like zombies.

Chapter 1216: Do You Want To 1 VS 5?

Five Dark Signers stood coldly at the door of the dilapidated research institute like machines, staring at the few people with empty dark eyes.

Four Signers and Crow jumped out of the car and confronted the five people.

"Kiryu!?" Crow also recognized this former companion of their team from the Dark Signers, and could not help but exclaimed, "Is it Kiryu? Are you still alive?"

But there was no response.

There was no expression on Kiryu's face, just like a dead person, with a stiff and cold face, without any temperature.

Jack was stunned: "Haven't they all been defeated by us?"

Yusei said in Yusei's ear: "The so-called 'King of the Underworld' has the power to transcend life and death. Even the dead who have completely died physiologically can be resurrected, so if the King of the Underworld wants, the Dark Signer is naturally immortal."

This was indeed the case in the original work. Those Dark Signers who were defeated in the battle and turned to ashes, all came back to life and returned to normal after the Dark Signer arc ended.

The so-called King of the Underworld behind the Dark Signers seemed to be really powerful, at least it may have the ability to give people the ability to revive.

But the state of the five Dark Signers who appeared in front of them at this time was very strange.

Before, these Dark Signers obviously had their own consciousness. They came back from the dead, and some extremely powerful obsessions before death were magnified, becoming the root of their fighting spirit.

When facing the Signers who had a connection with them, they often showed more emotional excitement, and even a little abnormal.

But this time it didn't happen.

This time, the five of them looked like puppets, without consciousness and emotion. But when the Signers arrived, the dark seals on their arms were lit up one by one, and the stiff bodies slowly moved, like a machine awakened from standby mode.

"They don't have their own will in this state." Yusei said, "The one behind the scenes is controlling them."

In the animation, when a Dark Signer found their conscience, or was persuaded by the protagonist to stop fighting, the one behind the scenes would appear, forcibly control the consciousness of the Dark Signer, occupy their body and continue fighting.

The five people now may be in a similar state.

Crow rubbed his fists: "Okay, then come on! No matter who the opponent is, I have made up my mind. If it is to save those children, I will defeat any opponent!"

"Wait, Crow." Yusei stopped him, "You don't understand, a duel with a Dark Signer is a gamble of life and death! This kind of duel is too dangerous, it is our responsibility as a Signer.

You who are not a Signer don't need to participate in this kind of battle..."

"I brought you all the way here, not just to watch you fight, Yusei." Crow said solemnly, "You should understand it, right?"

Those children disappeared, and I couldn't protect them, and I couldn't do anything. The regret... How could I stand by and watch as nothing happened?"

Jack was quite easy to talk to. He glanced at this old friend and said, "In that case, let's fight together. It just so happens that there are five on the other side, and we also have five..."

Before he finished speaking, a female voice that seemed to be synthesized by electronics sounded.

"Target, locked.

Deck in use, confirmed. Deck scan, completed.

Duel domain, activated."

Yusei's duel disk suddenly activated itself, releasing aqua-blue ripples, like a raging tsunami that submerged the entire venue. The aqua-blue field was overwhelming, and without any explanation, all the Signers and Dark Signers were included in it.

The broken background around was blurred, and the image of the research institute became blurred. The surging tide gathered into a vortex in the center of the venue, and a large amount of data condensed and transformed into a human form.

The black windbreaker, the golden duel disk, the unique handsomeness, just standing in that aura has overwhelmed a group of Dark Signers.

Combined with Yusei's previous words, everyone quickly realized something.

Izayoi covered her mouth: "Could it be that legendary Duel King..."

"...Yuei Vu?" Jack was also shocked.

During the time when he was the king of Neo Domino, Jack was always very curious about the legendary duelists of the past, especially the Duel Kings of all generations.

In fact, he clearly understood in his heart that there was a gap between him and the kings in the legends of all generations.

Even in the animation, many discerning people could see that Jack, the so-called Duel King, was actually a puppet supported by the Public Security Bureau.

In the later stages of the animation, it was even revealed that a challenger was threatened by the Public Security Bureau and had to play a fake match to deliberately lose to Jack.

The title of Duel King like this was naturally not as valuable as the previous kings.

At this moment, the one who appeared in front of them was the greatest legend among the kings of all generations, who was even dubbed the "strongest duelist" in rumors!

"Senior Yuei Vu?" Yusei was a little surprised.

After spending so much time with Yuei Vu, he probably understood that this senior was usually in a ghost-like state. But he had the ability to open the "Duel Domain", and only in this field could he gain a physical body to duel with others.

But now opening this field... does it mean that Senior Yuei Vu intends to do it himself?

"It's too slow if you come one by one."

Yuei Vu shook his head, took a step forward, stood in front of several Dark Signers, and opened the duel disk.

"You five come together, I will kill you all in one go."

A group of people were stunned.

Damn, is this the spirit of the king?

"I want to 1 vs 5" right at the beginning?

A whole five!

No one presented was a second-rate duelist who has never seen the world. On the contrary, they were all experts in the 5DS era.

But because of this, they could better understand how crazy this matter was.

Duel Monsters was not like other competitive events. In this game, it was already extremely difficult to fight one against two. Fighting one against three was either a fool or a true master.

One against five?

They had never heard of such a thing since they started playing cards.

And this was not just a casual abuse of five small fries, these five were all Dark Signers!

Against each of these Dark Signers, they, the Signers, had racked their brains and won the battle with great difficulty.

(Kiryu:...)

Especially the trump card "Earthbound Immortal" used by the Dark Signers, this kind of monster is beyond everyone's understanding of duel monsters.

All of them had extremely high attack power, could ignore defense and attack directly, and had complete immunity to Spells and Traps (animation effect), and in addition to these general abilities, each of them even had their own unique powerful abilities.

Even for the Signers who were blessed by the power of the Crimson Dragon, the pressure when facing a single Earthbound Immortal was too great, and they can't help but feel a sense of oppression from the bottom of their hearts, like a tiny ant facing a god.

And the five people on the opposite side, each of them has an Earthbound Immortal!

A duel like this...is there really a chance of winning?

Chapter 1217: VS Dark Signer

"Senior Yusei... Are you sure?"

Even Yusei, who trusted Yusei the most, couldn't help but feel a little worried.

Although in the duel with Kiryu, Kiryu was tricked by him and failed to summon the Earthbound Immortal in the end, just after reading the description of the card, Yusei felt that the god was extraordinary powerful.

And tonight, countless people in Neo Domino evaporated out of thin air as sacrifices, the earthquake caused by the huge Nazca paintings that almost tore the city apart, and the hellfire that seemed to never go out...

... The source of all these strange phenomena was the Earthbound Immortal.

These also confirmed the power of the Earthbound Immortal from the side.

Facing five such opponents at the same time... Is there really a chance of winning?

Others didn't say anything, but they all thought so.

They knew that Yuei Vu was the "strongest of all time", but in their opinion, no matter how strong he was, he had to follow the basic common sense of dueling. As long as everyone played cards honestly according to the basic rules of dueling, there should be a limit to how strong he could be.

One against five against this level of opponent, it was obviously a bit outrageous.

Yusei said: "Or we should do it one by one..."

"No need." Yuei Vu said lightly, "We need to save time."

As soon as this was said, several people looked at each other, only to find that this sounded even weirder.

Save time? What does this mean?

Does it mean that this duel king thinks that he can kill the five opponents faster than the five of them fighting one-on-one?

No matter how you look at it... it's too ridiculous, right?

"... I understand." Yusei nodded, and was the first to accept this setting.

"Yusei?" Jack raised his eyebrows.

"It doesn't matter." Yusei said, "Unlike Jack, Senior Yuei Vu knows what he is doing. He wouldn't do it if he wasn't absolutely sure."

After spending so many days together, Yusei thought he had a deep understanding of this Duel King. In his opinion, this senior was not only powerful and unfathomable, but also never blindly confident. Everything he did had its own reasons.

But Jack was not happy to hear this.

Damn! What do you mean different from me? How can I, Jack Atlas, become a negative example?

Jack was so angry that he almost wanted to take out the Duel Disk and play cards out of habit, but then he thought of the fact that he had just been beaten up and pestered, which made him look very embarrassed, so he simply shut up and sulked.

"Interesting..." Dark Signer Rudger said in a low voice.

Kiryu: "...You are not a Signer..."

Misty: "...Yet you dare to challenge all of us..."

Demak: "...Then let your soul..."

Boomer: "...Become a sacrifice to the Ultimate God!"

The five people's voices were low and hoarse, obviously coming from the same behind-the-scenes BOSS, not their own consciousness controlling their bodies.

Yuei Vu knew that the five of them were not controlled by their own consciousness at this time. The situation of the Dark Signers was equivalent to the mastermind behind the scenes opening five small accounts and playing cards with Yuei Vu five to one.

"Duel!" x6

[Rudger, LP 4000]

[Kiryu, LP 4000]

[Misty, LP 4000]

[Demak, LP 4000]

[Boomer, LP 4000]

[Yuei Vu, LP 4000]

"Since it's five to one, do you have any objection to me taking the first move?"

None of the Dark Signers said anything, so Yuei Vu took the first move without hesitation.

"My turn, draw!"

Yuei Vu glanced at his hand and said to himself: "If I play against you, this deck is perfect.

Summon 'Reactor Slime' in defense position."

A lump of steel jumped onto the field and took a defensive stance to block Yuei Vu.

[Reactor Slime, DEF 500]

"Slime?"

Everyone felt strange, and from each other's eyes, they could see that they had never seen such a monster in their dueling careers.

"Yusei, what is this?" Izayoi asked.

Yusei shook his head: "I don't know either. This is the first time that Senior Yuei Vu has shown this deck."

"The effect of Reactor Slime is activated. Once per turn, special summon two 'Slime Tokens' on the field."

The reactor was activated, and a "buzzing" sound came from the huge furnace. A burst of scorching golden light flowed, and two small and sticky slimes jumped out of the furnace.

[Slime Token, DEF 500] x2

The two monsters not only have low stats, but also were very short. At first glance, they looked very weak and unthreatening, like two lumps of mud.

"Set a card, I end my turn."

Three slimes and a set card on the starting field seemed to be a relatively standard formation.

"Then, let's start with my turn," said Rudger, the leader of the Dark Signers, and he took the initiative consciously, "Draw."

He drew a card in his hand, and the field grid on one side of the Duel Disk popped up simultaneously.

"Field Spell 'Earthbound Geoglyph' is activated!"

The field card was inserted into the Duel Disk, and the terrain was instantly transformed. The earth began to shake, purple flames leaped up, and the burning lines outlined an illusory pattern on the ground.

The huge pattern woven by the Nazca lines dominated the entire duel field, solemn and solemn.

That was the field of the Earthbound Immortal. According to legend, the ancient gods were bound to the land painted with the Nazca giant paintings, using countless souls as energy, so they were named "Earthbound Immortal".

The exclusive field of the Earthbound Immortal.

"As long as there is a level 10 monster on the field, this card can neither be targeted nor be destroyed by card effect."

Several Signers have fought against Earthbound Immortal before, and they have understood the power of this field after hearing this.

"Originally, the biggest weakness of Earthbound Immortal is the Field Spell. After all, Earthbound Immortals are gods bound to the earth. If the field is lost, all their abilities will be negated."

Yusei explained.

"But this field ensures that Earthbound Immortal will not be in an embarrassing situation where they cannot exert his power because the field is destroyed... It is the most powerful guarantee for Earthbound Immortal."

"Then activate the Quick-Play Spell 'Hand Destruction'." Rudger continued, "Each player sends 2 cards from their hand to the GY, then draws 2 cards."

Yuei Vu silently picked out two cards and discarded them, and then drew cards from the deck.

"Activate the Spell Card 'Silent Doom'. Special Summon a Normal Monster in my Graveyard in Defense Position."

Rudger drew a card that had been removed from the Graveyard.

"I Special Summon 'Hunter Spider' in Defense Position."

[Hunter Spider, DEF 1400]

"Then activate the Spell Card 'Monster Gate'. Tribute 1 monster; excavate cards from the top of my Deck until a monster that can be Normal Summoned appears.

Special Summon it, also send the other excavated cards to the GY."

Rudger flipped three cards, and when he saw the monster he flipped, he couldn't help but curl his lips and reveal a dangerous smile.

"The card I excavated is 'Double Coston'," he said, "so, Special Summon this monster in Defense Position."

[Double Coston, DEF 1650]

"Double Coston can be treated as 2 Tributes for the Tribute Summon of a DARK monster.

So! I tribute the 'Double Coston'! Tribute Summon!

The souls of the dead who lurk in my light of destiny! Grant me the power to lead the dark truth in this protean world! Appear –

– Earthbound Immortal Uru!!!"

Chapter 1218: The God Bound To The Earth

A huge stone heart emerged in midair, with bright red lines drawn on the surface of the stone heart like blood. It kept beating, and each sound was accompanied by a heavy thump like a drumstick.

Countless souls were absorbed and turned into nutrients for the revival of the evil god. A phantom gradually turned into a solid entity from the position where the heart emerged, looking down from a high place, with countless eyes looking down at the world indifferently, without any warmth.

It was a spider.

A terrifying giant spider with red lines all over its body.

It's Earthbound Immortal Uru, the Earthbound Immortal held by Rudger, the leader of the Dark Signers.

[Earthbound Immortal Uru, ATK 3000]

The moment the Earthbound Immortal descended, the marks on the arms of the Signers all lit up at the same time. The Dragon Mark released a transparent red protective shield, isolating the Signers from the terrifying pressure that made people tremble with fear.

"Summoning the Earthbound Immortal right at the beginning..."

Leo swallowed his saliva.

If it weren't for the force field protection released by his sister Luna's Dragon Mark, he might have had difficulty even standing.

Although he was not a Signer, Leo also participated in the duel with the Dark Signer Demak before. The twin worked together to finally defeat Demak, so Leo had also faced the Earthbound Immortal before.

Because of this, he could better understand the horror of the Earthbound Immortal.

"Set a card, I end my turn!"

Rudger's thick and strong arms swept, and a set card appeared beside him.

"Then it's my turn, draw."

In the Battle Royal mode, no one could attack in the first turn. But the five Dark Signers had to take a turn each before Yuei Vu reached his turn.

This was why everyone thinks that theoretically there should be no chance of winning in a one-on-five situation.

"I Special Summon 'Gilasaurus'!"

[Gilasaurus, ATK 1400]

"Gilasaurus can be Special Summoned directly from the hand, but when Special Summoned by this effect, the opponent can Special Summon a monster in his Graveyard."

Yuei Vu shrugged: "I don't have a monster to summon, you continue."

"Then activate the Equip Spell 'Sacrifice of Grave Goods' from the hand!" Demak continued, "The monster that is equipped with this card can be treated as 2 Tributes."

Therefore, I treat 'Gilasaurus' equipped with 'Sacrifice of Grave Goods' as two Tributes!"

The faces of the Signers suddenly changed.

"This posture, does it mean..."

"That's right!"

Demak pulled the corner of his mouth, revealing a cold and ferocious smile.

He raised a card in his hand and shouted in a voice that was not his own.

"Tribute Summon—

— Earthbound Immortal Cusillu!!!"

The monkey mark flashed on his arm, and the burning Nazca lines drew a giant monkey pattern on the ground!

The huge portrait woke up, and the god bound to the earth slowly stood up on the flames of the underworld. Its eyes were empty, and its movements were heavy and slow, but just standing there was awe-inspiring!

The second Earthbound Immortal was summoned!

[Earthbound Immortal Cusillu, ATK 2800]

"Summoning two Earthbound Immortals at once..." Aki's face also became a little ugly.

"I see!" Jack suddenly realized something, "This duel is not just an ordinary five-on-one!"

Originally, because the 'Earthbound Immortal' is too powerful, there can only be one Earthbound Immortal in the same venue..."

Aki also suddenly realized: "But because the five of them have five fields respectively, the maximum number of Earthbound Immortals that can be summoned..."

"... is five." Luna said softly.

"Eh hey hey!?"

Leo was dumbfounded.

"Five Earthbound Immortals!? Isn't that cheating???"

Yusei didn't say anything, but his face was solemn.

He originally thought that even if it was one against five, as long as he could defeat the opponent before the opponent completed the preparation conditions to summon the Earthbound Immortal – just like when he dueled with Kiryu – maybe he would not have any chance of winning.

But he never expected that these Dark Signers would not give him any chance at all, and they all came up and directly bombed.

In this way, even if it was Senior Yuei Vu... did he really have a chance?

However, he looked at Yuei Vu and found that the latter seemed to be calm and composed as if these were not beyond his control.

"Heh, you seem to feel indifferent. Because no one can attack in the first turn of the Battle Royal mode, so you have an inexplicable sense of security?" Demak sneered, "Then let me wipe out your ridiculous sense of security!"

As he spoke, Rudger raised his hand, and the set card at his feet had already turned over.

"Continuous Trap 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal'! If a Normal Summoned 'Earthbound Immortal' monster is on the field: Target 1 face-up monster on the field; destroy it."

Rudger chuckled.

"I don't know what the use of your small monsters is, but better destroy them for good."

He snapped his fingers crisply.

"I destroy the 'Reactor Slime'!"

The trap flipped, and the wave of earthbound swept out! The power of God was activated by the trap, and locked onto the Reactor Slime in front of Yuei Vu from a distance. The proliferation furnace was instantly crushed into metal fragments.

"My turn is over." Demak declared.

Next was Misty: "My turn, draw!"

I activate the Spell Card 'Reptilianne Spawn' from my hand. Banish 1 'Reptilianne' monster from your GY; Special Summon 2 'Reptilianne Tokens'."

She drew a card that was retired from the graveyard.

"I remove the 'Reptilianne Naga' sent to the graveyard by 'Hand Destruction' from the game, and Special Summon two 'Reptilianne Token'!"

[Reptilianne Token, DEF 0] x2

"Then, release two 'Reptilianne Tokens' and perform a Tribute Summon!"

Several Signers continued to be amazed.

"Wait, is she going to..."

"Devour those pathetic souls and pass judgment on this filthy world!"

Laura raised her white arms.

"Come down! Earthbound Immortal Ccarayhua!!!"

The third heart emerged, and as countless souls poured into it, the heart beat faster and faster!

The netherworld flames of hell gathered in one place, and the strange blue flames burned through the earth. The strange green light was released from the crack in the earth, the crust was blasted through, and the giant beast broke out of the ground.

The twisted body, the green lines, the huge and terrifying eyes, and the standing body seemed like a black mountain overlooking the world.

Earthbound Immortal Ccarayhua was summoned!

Jack's face was extremely gloomy.

"The third Earthbound Immortal..."

As everyone knows, the Earthbound Immortal in the hands of each Dark Signer is unique and there is absolutely no spare copies.

.....So, could it be that all of these people's Earthbound Immortals have 502 stuck to their hands???

Chapter 1219: Destruction of Destiny

The third Earthbound Immortal, Ccarayhua, was summoned!

"Then the effect of the Continuous Trap 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal' is activated again." Rudger said, "If a Normal Summoned 'Earthbound Immortal' monster is on the field: Target 1 face-up monster on the field; destroy it!

I destroy the 'Slime Token' on your field!"

The power of the Earthbound Immortal was once again activated through the trap, and a token was annihilated in the transparent impact and torn into pieces in an instant.

"Ultimate Earthbound Immortal is a Continuous Trap, so its effect can be activated once every turn." Yusei's face was gloomy.

Leo hadn't recovered yet: "What do you mean?"

"It means that they can activate the effect once during each Dark Signer's turn." Luna explained, "Five people, five turns, in other words, they can destroy up to five monsters."

Leo's eyes widened: "Five... five monsters!?"

"Not only that, but when it's the Duel King's turn, the opponent can use this 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal' to interrupt his actions," Jack said.

"Isn't that a complete lack of chance!?" Leo was mad.

Jack didn't say anything.

At least from his perspective, he felt that there was no chance.

But...

Jack couldn't help but look at the calm and composed legendary king on the field again.

Could it be that in this situation... this king still has a way out?

Is the gap between himself and the past Duel King really that big?

Next was Kiryu's turn.

With the previous foreshadowing, everyone was not so surprised by what he did.

Kiryu first used the Quick-Play Spell "Trap Booster" to get a chance to activate a trap from his hand. Then he activated the trap "Limit Impulse", discarding two cards from his hand to special summon two tokens on the field.

Finally, he tributed the two tokens, and the Earthbound Immortal who failed to summon and did not show up in the duel with Yusei finally arrived!

Earthbound Immortal Ccapac Apu!

Yuei Vu was a little surprised when he saw this Earthbound Immortal. To be honest, he remembered that he had instructed Yusei to pull it out, didn't he?

However, considering that the "King of the Underworld" was behind these Dark Signers, it didn't seem to be a big deal to print one more Earthbound Immortal.

Of course, Yuei Vu didn't mind the other party's shameless card-printing behavior at all and even encouraged it.

Print as many as you can!

The more the better!

The dark giant, with blue lines drawn by the Nazca lines on his body, stood up. The stripes on the front of the face looked like an eye, which looked empty and weird.

[Earthbound Immortal Ccapac Apu, ATK 3000]

And in the new turn, Rudger did not forget to activate the effect of "Ultimate Earthbound Immortal" again and blew up the only slime left on Yuei Vu's field.

In this way, Yuei Vu's front field was empty and nothing was left.

The last one was Boomer's turn.

Boomer Normal Summoned "Black Salvo", and then activated its effect. When Black Salvo was Normal Summoned, it could Special Summon 1 Level 4 DARK Machine-Type monster in his Graveyard.

He Special Summoned the Level 4 monster "Trap Reactor Y FI".

Then he used the Spell Card "Double Summon" to obtain the right to Normal Summon once more in this turn. "Black Salvo" and "Trap Reactor Y FI" on the field were released, and the Earthbound Immortal was directly summoned –

——Earthbound Immortal Chacu Challhua! ! !

It was an extremely huge whale, swimming in the air like a cloud covering the sky. Its upper body was pitch black, with purple lines still painted on it, and its mouth had sharp saw teeth like a shark.

[Earthbound Immortal Chacu Challhua, ATK 2900]

In this way, there were five Earthbound Immortals!

Five Earthbound Immortals, standing upright on the field, each with a huge Nazca lines pattern on the top of their head, and five colors of light shining together, occupying the entire sky.

That was a scene that you couldn't see on weekdays. After all, these powerful gods had the restriction of "only one can exist on the field". If it weren't for this special rule of five to one, giving the Dark Signers five separate fields, even if the conditions were complete and the sacrifices were gathered, it would be impossible to summon so many Earthbound Immortals in one breath.

Even with the energy of the Dragon Mark protecting their bodies, the Signers still felt tremendous pressure facing these dark and huge gods. They could hardly imagine how Yuei Vu, who didn't even have a Dragon Mark, could remain motionless in the face of so many Earthbound Immortals.

That was simply not a pressure that humans could bear!

"Well, now our formation is all over."

Rudger sneered: "You luckily survived. In the first turn of the Battle Royal mode, no one can attack. If it weren't for this rule, you would have been wiped out now."

However, Yuei Vu not only didn't respond at all, but even yawned out of boredom.

He said impatiently, "You guys are really slow."

Rudger was choked by him, snorted lightly, and said gloomily: "Hehe, are you still stubborn? But when it's your turn, your field is empty, and no matter what you summon, it will be crushed by my continuous trap "Ultimate Earthbound Immortal".

In this situation, do you really think you still have a chance?"

Yuei Vu still had a blank expression: "So, is your turn over?"

"Still be arrogant, huh?" Rudger said disdainfully, "Then as you wish, let's see what else you can do."

The last Dark Signer Boomer issued an ending declaration.

"Set a card, I end my turn."

Rudger sneered at the last set card in Yuei Vu's backcourt.

"Although I don't think you would have such a naive idea, I'll still remind you." He said, "That card is the one you set on the field at the beginning. You don't think that card can be effective against the Earthbound Immortal, right?" Seeing Yuei Vu silent, he thought he was right, and just raised his head and laughed.

"You Signers should have fought against the Earthbound Immortal, so you should all know how funny this method is!"

"Indeed." Leo gritted his teeth unwillingly, "No matter what kind of Spell or Trap card it is, it is useless against the Earthbound Immortal."

After a pause, he couldn't help but yell: "This effect is really cheating! Unaffected by the effects of Spells and Traps, cannot be attacked, and they can also attack directly over monsters. Such monsters are impossible to win..."

"That's right!"

Rudger raised his voice, and at the same time, the dark cyclone erupted with him as the center, and the power turned into a terrifying wave that swept in all directions, and the darkness seemed to dominate the world.

"It's not a monster, it's a god! The Earthbound Immortal has no blind spots!"

When facing the five Earthbound Immortals at the same time, any duelist is humble and insignificant. All they can do is recognize their own fate and accept the cruel reality!"

However, facing the oppression of the five Earthbound Immortals and the shocking dark aura that erupted from Rudger – or the mastermind behind him who controlled him – Yuei Vu just chuckled.

Disdainful, even sympathetic to the frog in the well.

"Who made you think that I would use this card against the Earthbound Immortal?" He smiled.

"?"

"Since you are so afraid of this card, then let me show you what this card is."

Yuei Vu snapped his fingers.

"Trap Card – Destruction of Destiny!"

Send 3 cards from the top of my Deck to the Graveyard, and I take 1000 damage for each Spell or Trap Card sent to the Graveyard this way!"

Everyone: "???"

Chapter 1220: Gods

Destruction... of Destiny?

Why does this sound like destroying one's own destiny?

Not only the Dark Signers but also the Signers as teammates were confused, unable to understand the meaning of such a card.

Yuei Vu slowly turned over the top three cards of the deck.

Everyone could see clearly that all three were Spells and Traps.

"I sent three cards to the graveyard, so I took 3000 points of damage."

[Yuei Vu, LP 4000 → LP 1000]

Seeing Yuei Vu's LP drop sharply, everyone was even more confused.

After a long while, Rudger thought he understood something: "What do you mean, you guy? Are you kidding us?"

Do you think that even if you give up 3000 LP, you can still win?"

Even Jack, who always loved to show off, was a little surprised.

Although he often liked to do some meaningless operations, deliberately giving up the advantage and then fighting back from the disadvantage, in order to increase the effect of the show and boost the atmosphere of the audience, and he called it "King's Duel"...

...But no matter how you look at it, this is too arrogant, right?

This is directly facing five Earthbound Immortals, and if you lose by mistake, you will really die!

Is this first-generation king really so confident in his own strength?

"Ahhh, the opponent hasn't made a move yet, and he has already lost 3000 life points!"

Leo has begun to scratch his head.

"Isn't this extremely bad!?"

Yusei frowned and didn't say anything, but he still firmly believed in Yuei Vu in his heart.

He felt that if Senior Yuei Vu did this, he must have his reasons.

And Yuei Vu... of course, he had his reasons.

He glanced at the Dark Signers and the huge monsters on the field, his mouth twitched slightly, and he slowly raised his hand.

"Earthbound Immortal... If this is your God, then as a reward for letting me see the gods, I will open your eyes a little."

After a pause, he narrowed his eyes.

"See what the real so-called... God is."

Rudger's black eyes narrowed slightly, and the manipulator behind the scenes felt something was wrong from Yuei Vu's reaction.

What does this guy... want to do?

No, no matter what he does, it's meaningless.

Five Earthbound Immortals directly slap his face, how can we lose?

Even if he prints a banned card like "Raigeki" on the spot, it will not work against the invincible Earthbound Immortal!

"My turn!"

The first round was over, and the right to operate was once again transferred to Yuei Vu.

Duel Skill: God's Anger, activate!

If your LP is below 1000, during your Draw Phase, instead of conducting your normal draw, add 1 "Obelisk the Tormentor" from outside the deck to the hand!

It's not the enhanced version of the real card that Yuei Vu always has in his hand, but the real original "Obelisk the Tormentor"!

When Yuei Vu drew that card from the deck, everyone seemed to sense something.

The surge of power, the invisible energy overflow, the blue transparent ripples burst out at the moment the card was drawn, and a blue arc was drawn in the air.

It seemed that there was some other power... a tyrannical and powerful force that broke into this earthbound domain domineeringly.

The Earthbound Immortals roared one after another, and all the Nazca lines were lit up, and the light illuminated the dark sky, as if they all sensed some invisible threat.

"Discard a card..." Yuei Vu said, "Then I Special Sumomn 'The Tricky' from my hand."

A card in his hand was discarded to the graveyard, and a magician with question marks all over his body and wearing a cloak jumped onto Yuei Vu's field.

[The Tricky, ATK 2000]

"The Tricky can be special summoned by discarding a card." Yuei Vu said, looking at the dark Signers on the opposite side with a playful look, "Of course, you can also take advantage of the effect of the continuous trap 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal' to destroy him and interrupt my next step."

After a pause, he smiled even more: "If you are really afraid of what I will do next."

His words revealed what Rudger was thinking in his heart. The latter couldn't help but frown and said in a deep voice: "Humph, this kind of small monster can't threaten the great Earthbound Immortal at all, it's not worth wasting the god's extra attention."

"Really? Then I have to continue."

Yuei Vu shrugged and drew another card and inserted it into the duel disk.

"Of course, whether you choose to explode it or not, the result is the same.

I then activate the Quick-Play Spell 'Tricky Spell 4' from my hand. This card can only be activated by sending 1 'The Tricky' on my field to the graveyard.

According to the number of monsters on the opponent's field, special summon the corresponding number of 'Tricky Tokens' on my field.

Because there are five 'Earthbound Immortals' on your field, I special summon five 'Tricky Tokens'."

[Tricky Token, DEF 1200] x5

After a pause, Yuei Vu chuckled again: "How about it? It's okay to activate the effect of 'Ultimate Earthbound Immortal' to destroy the token now."

Rudger was silent and didn't say anything.

Yuei Vu had spawned five tokens in one breath. As long as his brain was not broken, he would not waste the precious once-per-turn effect of "Ultimate Earthbound Immortal" on one of the tokens.

Instead of using it here, it was better to save this precious effect and wait until Yuei Vu summons a big monster for the counterattack.

"No? What a pity."

Yuei Vu's expression straightened, and he raised a card in his hand.

"Then let's see it together with you pathetic undead bound to the earth... the true posture of God!

Release the three 'Tricky Tokens' on the field, Tribute Summon!

The burning wind blows wildly across the earth, and suppresses everything with absolute divine power! Descend—

—— God of Destruction, Obelisk the Tormentor!!!"

At that moment, everyone clearly saw a huge beam of light rushing straight into the sky from Yuei Vu's hand, and the dazzling blue divine light rushed straight into the sky!

"He just said Obelisk..." Aki looked at the beam of light rushing into the sky and couldn't help covering his mouth.

Jack was also shocked: "That light is..."

"Legend has it that it has long passed away in the long years, and only the two original duel kings have it." Yusei was also moved, "Even I saw the Egyptian God in Senior Yuei Vu's hands for the first time."

While he was talking, the three Tokens had turned into powder and dissipated one by one. The golden powder poured into the sky, as if the power of the monster's liberation became a medium, connecting with a more powerful existence in the void.

The energy beam fell from the sky like a thick pillar, as if it was going to penetrate the entire dimension!

With a mighty force, like the wrath of heaven, the thunder wrapped the giant's body and smashed it hard on the ground.

The dust was stirred up like a curtain, and the earth broke apart under the heavy load. The ground-bound venue seemed to be wailing, and the dark realm seemed to be falling apart under pure destructive energy.

It was a blue giant.

His muscles are like indestructible rock, his body seems to be forged of steel, and his scarlet eyes seem to contain an everlasting rage, watching everything indifferently.

[Obelisk the Tormentor, ATK 4000]