

I Regained 271

Chapter 271: I'm the Legendary Doctor

Gu Dai returned home, contentedly enjoying her meal, having long since pushed the thoughts of Song Ling to the back of her mind.

The next morning, she received a call from Gu Yin. Gu Yin's voice, frail and tearful, pleaded, "Cousin, save me, Dad hit me again... Ah!"

Gu Dai's expression darkened, and she urgently responded, "Yinyin, I'm coming to find you right now. Find a safe place to hide in the meantime."

After hanging up, she immediately contacted Chu Min, demanding the urgent preparation of a private plane. Chu Min, sensing the urgency in her voice, promptly agreed without questioning the reason.

Gu Dai also arranged for someone to locate Gu Yin's real-time position.

Hours later, Gu Dai rushed into Chuancheng's First Hospital.

A group of nurses were huddled together, lamenting in discussion.

"That poor little girl, beaten bloody by her father, with multiple fractures and severe head trauma..."

"Some people really aren't fit to be parents!"

"I heard from Doctor Zhang that if she doesn't wake up today, she might never wake up again..."

Upon hearing this, Gu Dai's expression grew increasingly grim. Approaching the nurses, she inquired, "Excuse me, are you talking about a girl named Gu Yin?"

The nurses, taken aback, nodded and confirmed.

Gu Dai's breathing quickened slightly as she anxiously asked, "Where is she now?"

The nurse inquired, "Are you a relative of the child?"

Gu Dai responded, "I'm her cousin. Please, take me to see her."

Following the nurse into the ward, Gu Dai saw Gu Yin on the hospital bed, eyes closed, her body riddled with tubes. Pity filled her eyes, and she wished she could punish her uncle Wen Ye for this.

Dr. Zhang Li entered the room with several doctors.

Zhang Li explained, "Gu Yin's condition is critical. She's too young for a brain surgery, so I've decided to opt for conservative treatment with medication. What do you think?"

"That's what I was thinking too, I agree with Dr. Zhang's decision."

"That's a good plan."

There were voices of agreement, but Gu Dai, frowning deeper, opposed, "I disagree with conservative treatment. We need to perform a brain surgery immediately for a cure."

The doctors were taken aback by her assertive tone, especially when they saw Gu Dai.

Zhang Li, frowning and impatient, said, "Of course, a brain surgery can cure, but only if it's successful. If it fails, the patient could die instantly."

"The surgery is complex and difficult, with a very small chance of success. None of us are confident."

Gu Dai firmly insisted, "A craniotomy must be done!"

Zhang Li's irritation grew, his gaze towards Gu Dai filled with anger, "Didn't you hear what I just said?"

Gu Dai, withdrawing her hand from Gu Yin's wrist, softly said, "I heard. But Yinyin's condition is critical, and conservative treatment won't work. Only a craniotomy can save her."

Continuing, she added, "If you're not confident, I can perform the surgery." Zhang Li scoffed, looking her over with disdain, "You? Really?"

The other doctors couldn't help but speak up.

"You're just in your twenties, you surely don't grasp the difficulty of brain surgery."

"The only one who could easily perform brain surgery is the Legendary Doctor Aurora. And, who are you?"

Gu Dai, with a calm gaze, declared, "I am Aurora."

The doctors burst into laughter.

"That's hilarious. You probably didn't even know about Aurora until we mentioned her. How dare you impersonate her."

Zhang Li smirked, "If you're the Legendary Doctor, then I must be a deity!"

Gu Dai's eyes darkened as her words turned more serious, "I am Aurora!"

"We have someone who's met the Legendary Doctor. Let's call the hospital director to verify," Zhang Li ordered. Turning to Gu Dai, he said, "If you're not the Legendary Doctor, you'll apologize to me later."

Gu Dai nodded, countering, "And if I am the Legendary Doctor, you'll apologize to me."

Thinking about the prospect of apologizing to a young girl, Zhang Li felt his pride at stake. However, seeing her youthful appearance, he was convinced she couldn't possibly be the legendary doctor. Confident he wouldn't lose this bet, Zhang Li relaxed and nodded in agreement, "Alright.."

Chapter 272: Surgery Successful

|

Hospital Director Wei hurried over, and upon meeting Gu Dai's cold gaze, he was momentarily stunned.

Seeing Director Wei, Doctor Zhang Li pointed at Gu Dai and announced, "Director, this girl claims she's the Legendary Doctor!"

Time ticked away silently, with the Director remaining speechless.

Doctor Zhang's face showed a hint of embarrassment, which he quickly masked, turning to Gu Dai, "Even the Director is speechless at your audacity to impersonate the Legendary Doctor. You..."

Director Wei sharply interrupted, slapping away Doctor Zhang's hand pointed at Gu Dai, rebuking, "Lower your hand pointing at the Legendary Doctor!"

Doctor Zhang was dumbfounded, asking incredulously, "Director, are you saying she is the Legendary Doctor?"

Before the Director could respond, Doctor Zhang continued skeptically, "Impossible, how could someone so young, so inexperienced, be the highly skilled Legendary Doctor?"

Director Wei affirmed with certainty, "I'm not mistaken, she is indeed the Legendary Doctor."

Years ago, the hospital faced a challenging case. When all hope seemed lost, the Legendary Doctor appeared and successfully performed the surgery.

Director Wei and his mentor were assistants in the operating room at the time.

Even though the Legendary Doctor wore a mask, concealing her face, Director Wei remembered her cold gaze.

Even after several years, that gaze was unmistakable to him.

Doctor Zhang tried to protest, "But..."

Gu Dai, tired of arguing, turned to the Director, "I want to perform surgery on this girl. Could you arrange it?"

Director Wei nodded repeatedly, "Of course!"

Doctor Zhang interjected anxiously, "What if something goes wrong during the surgery? The child's direct relatives will certainly..."

Director Wei cut him off, "Whatever happens, I'll take full responsibility."

Gu Dai reassured, "Don't worry, I am confident. Nothing will go wrong."

Doctor Zhang scoffed, already imagining a scenario of Gu Dai failing, and the patient's relatives causing a commotion.

Meanwhile, at the Song Corporation, Song Ling emitted a cold aura, his face dark as he perused documents.

Zhao Xuan stood trembling before him.

Since delivering the birthday gift to Miss Gu Dai, Song Ling had been seething with anger, his body radiating a relentless chill as if it cost him nothing to do so.

The entire Song Corporation was engulfed in this icy atmosphere.

Zhao Xuan reported, "President Song, that's the recent situation of the company."

Song Ling replied coldly, "Mhmm."

Zhao Xuan stood rigidly, not daring to move.

Song Ling lifted his gaze, his eyes coldly fixing on Zhao Xuan, "Why are you still standing here after reporting? Shouldn't you be working?"

Normally, after Zhao Xuan reported, Song Ling would offer a comment or two, so he was waiting for Song Ling to speak.

Zhao Xuan, observing Song Ling's grim expression, found the words he had prepared dying on his lips. Instead, he could only say, "I'll go out right now."

Song Ling ordered, "Wait, I have a task for you."

Zhao Xuan's heart sank again.

Song Ling instructed, "Find out what Gu Dai has been doing recently and report back to me."

Zhao Xuan, his mouth twitching, agreed after a few seconds.

In the operating room, Gu Dai, dressed in surgical attire, was calm and focused, her eyes fixed on Gu Yin's head, confidently making the initial incision with the scalpel.

In just a few minutes, she efficiently switched between various surgical tools, proceeding methodically.

Doctor Zhang, watching the precise incision, was shocked.

Zhang Li stared at the incision made for the craniotomy, his eyes widening in shock at its precise placement.

But to him, the incision was just the beginning. The real challenge lay in the treatment that followed, and he was skeptical about Gu Dai's ability to handle it smoothly.

Unable to resist, Zhang Li's lips curled into a sneer.

Director Wei Liang, hearing the sound, only then noticed Zhang Li's presence. He glanced at him with a cold, dismissive look and said, "If there's nothing important, leave."

Zhang Li was reluctant to go, but under Wei Liang's intimidating gaze, he had no choice but to leave, his face darkening like coal.

He couldn't believe that the hospital director had staked his reputation on an amateur like Gu Dai, whom he considered a mere child.

Standing at the entrance of the operating room with his arms crossed, Zhang

Li waited for the news of the surgery's failure.

Gradually, the red light above the operating room turned green.

Zhang Li's hands slowly fell to his sides. He rubbed his eyes, disbelieving what he saw. After confirming he wasn't mistaken, his eyes widened in disbelief.

Zhang Li thought to himself, "How is this possible? Such a difficult operation was successful? Could she really be the Legendary Doctor?"

Chapter 273: The Legendary Doctor is my idol

|

After the successful surgery, Gu Dai let out a long sigh of relief and turned to Director Wei, expressing her gratitude. "Thank you for your assistance, Director."

Director Wei humbly shook his head, smiling, "No need to thank me. It was an honor to assist you."

He added, "Observing your technique has taught me a lot and greatly improved my own medical skills."

As Gu Dai exited the operating room, she immediately noticed Zhang Li.

With his eyes downcast, he quietly apologized, "I'm sorry for not recognizing you earlier. But it's not entirely my fault; you look too young for your level of skill..."

Director Wei, who had personally escorted Gu Yin to her ward, witnessed this interaction and stepped forward, rebuking, "Youth doesn't equate to a lack of skill. Don't judge by appearances!"

Zhang Li conceded, "I know. She just doesn't look like a doctor, more like a wealthy socialite who enjoys shopping."

Gu Dai glanced at Zhang Li, then coolly advised, "Instead of making baseless assumptions about others, you'd be better off studying medical texts to improve your skills."

Eager to check on Gu Yin, Gu Dai nodded to Director Wei and quickly headed to the ward.

Zhang Li, reflecting on Gu Dai's look, slowly unclenched his fists. He had to admit that her medical expertise was far beyond his reach, and his resentment slowly turned into admiration.

Director Wei, observing Doctor Zhang's change of heart, commented, "For the next month, study medicine at home. You don't need to come to the hospital."

Doctor Zhang nodded in agreement, "Okay."

Curious, he asked Director Wei, "Have you ever seen the Legendary Doctor's real face?"

Director Wei shook his head, "No, the Legendary Doctor is always mysterious, never revealing her true face. Seeing her twice in my lifetime is already my greatest honor."

He eyed Zhang Li warily, "Why do you ask about her appearance?"

Doctor Zhang, with a look of admiration, replied, "I want to etch the image of my idol into my memory."

Director Wei frowned, "Idol?"

Zhang Li nodded earnestly, "Yes, from today, the Legendary Doctor is my idol! I'll heed her advice and study at home for a month. See you then."

Director Wei watched Zhang Li's departing figure, shaking his head in bemusement.

Young people change so quickly, but perhaps that's just the charm of the Legendary Doctor.

Back in the ward, Gu Dai, seeing a healthier-looking Gu Yin, felt relieved.

She called a nurse and softly requested, "Please transfer her to the most luxurious ward."

Handing over a gleaming gold card, she instructed, "Charge it to this card, no pin required."

The nurse's eyes lit up. She had seen many wealthy patients, but none as generous and nonchalant about payments as Gu Dai.

The nurse quickly arranged the room transfer, attracting the attention of other nurses.

"Is that a room transfer?"

"Yes, that girl's cousin is moving her to the most luxurious ward. You should've seen how cool she looked swiping her card."

"I missed it, but I can imagine! It's sad that the girl has such a father, but she's lucky to have such a wonderful cousin."

After Chu Min handed the file to Gu Dai, she spoke with indignation, "Boss, Wen Ye is inhuman. He doesn't have a proper job and spends his days smoking and drinking. The neighbors say that when he gets drunk, he beats children. They often hear Wen Ye's abusive shouts and Gu Yin's pitiful cries."

Gu Dai, looking through the information about Wen Ye and listening to Chu Min's words, felt her eyes darken with increasing anger, and her desire to punish Wen Ye grew stronger.

She declared coldly, "I won't let Yinyin suffer anymore!"

Chu Min nodded, his gaze shifting to Gu Yin on the bed, and he asked softly, "How is the little girl doing now?"

Gu Dai responded, "I performed surgery on her, and her condition is gradually improving."

Chu Min's eyes widened in surprise, hardly believing what he heard, "You personally performed surgery on her!"

Looking at Gu Yin, envy flickered in Chu Min's eyes..

Chapter 274: Lawyer Shang Sui

|

Zhao Xuan pushed open the door and called softly, "Miss Gu Dai."

Gu Dai's brows furrowed slightly. After ensuring Gu Yin was comfortably covered with a blanket, she stepped into the adjacent, empty room to speak with Zhao Xuan. "What brings you here?"

After a moment of thought, Zhao Xuan replied, "President Song asked me to inquire if you need any assistance."

Gu Dai shook her head, "No, there is no need."

Zhao Xuan hesitated, then softly added, "According to my investigation, you might need a lawyer to help Gu Yin sue her father, Wen Ye."

Gu Dai's eyes narrowed, a hint of danger flickering in them.

Zhao Xuan continued, "The Song Corporation lawyers are among the best in the field..."

His words were interrupted by Gu Dai's ringing phone.

"Is the lawyer arranged?" Gu Dai asked upon answering the call.

Su Ting's cheerful voice came through, "Sis, don't worry. Shang Sui has agreed to take the case."

Relieved, Gu Dai exchanged a few more words with Su Ting before ending the call.

In the quiet room, Zhao Xuan could overhear the conversation. He instantly recognized Su Ting's voice and the mention of Shang Sui.

Even though he already knew the answer, Zhao Xuan couldn't help but ask, "Miss Gu, the Shang Sui you mentioned, is he the ace lawyer in the legal field?"

Gu Dai nodded, "Yes."

Shang Sui, renowned for winning thousands of cases over decades without a single loss, had recently stepped back from the limelight. Yet, now he had agreed to take on Gu Dai's case.

Gu Dai addressed Zhao Xuan firmly, "I don't need Song Ling's help. Please tell him to stop interfering and investigating me."

Zhao Xuan then once again clearly realized Song Ling truly stood no chance with her.

Seeing Zhao Xuan's dejected demeanor, Gu Dai curiously asked, "Why do you still work as Song Ling's assistant, given how difficult he is?"

Zhao Xuan sighed, recalling, "After graduation, I joined a corrupt company. I didn't receive my salary for two months, and even my savings were stolen."

Zhao Xuan continued, "Fortunately, President Song helped me leave that company and even advanced me several months' salary. That's when I decided to follow him for life."

Gu Dai understood, "I see."

Zhao Xuan nodded, not forgetting to speak well of Song Ling, "Although President Song is demanding and has made mistakes, it's mostly because he's always busy with work and lacks emotional intelligence. He's a good person. I hope you can give him another chance."

Gu Dai responded softly, "The hurt he caused cannot be undone."

Zhao Xuan looked at Gu Dai's retreating figure, shaking his head with a sigh.

The next moment, his phone rang. It was Song Ling.

Reluctantly, Zhao Xuan answered, already anticipating Song Ling's words.

"What's the situation with Gu Dai?" Song Ling asked coldly.

Zhao Xuan relayed everything to Song Ling.

After a pause, Song Ling instructed, "You can tell her that we can arrange for our lawyers to handle her case..."

Zhao Xuan's heart trembled slightly as he replied in a low voice, "President Song, I have already spoken to Miss Gu Dai."

Song Ling acknowledged this, then instructed, "Now, arrange for a lawyer to understand the case. We must win the lawsuit; failure is not an option. Make sure to perform well in front of Gu Dai."

Zhao Xuan opened his mouth several times, struggling to find the words to explain the current situation.

As Song Ling heard no response, his expression darkened, and he demanded, "Assistant Zhao, have you become mute? Can't you speak?"

Summoning his courage, Zhao Xuan took a deep breath, closed his eyes, and said, "President Song, Su Ting has brought in Shang Sui to represent Miss Gu Dai in the lawsuit, so she has declined our Song Corporation's assistance."

After Zhao Xuan spoke, he felt a wave of relief wash over him.

The hospital room, however, fell into an eerie silence, a chill seeming to pervade the air.

There was no sound from Song Ling's end.

A few minutes later, Zhao Xuan heard the sound of something heavy hitting the ground, followed by the sound of Song Ling's heavy, anger-suppressed breathing. The call was abruptly ended..

Chapter 275: Taking Care of Wen Ye

|

As Gu Dai stepped out of the room, she was greeted by the raucous noise from the neighboring ward.

Her expression cooling, she quickened her pace and pushed open the door, only to find Wen Ye, a chubby and wide figure, inside.

Wen Ye, with a stern face, bellowed in a gruff voice, "I am this child's father. I said no treatment for her, and who are you to put this waste of money in a luxury ward? Are you paying for it?"

Chu Min, clenching his fists to contain his rage, replied, "We have already paid for Gu Yin's medical expenses. There's no need for your contribution. Please leave now and avoid disturbing the patient's rest."

Wen Ye's eyes lit up with greed. He quickly approached the bed, reaching to grab Gu Yin.

Chu Min intercepted Wen Ye's hand, forcefully pushing him to the ground, and asked coldly, "What are you trying to do?"

Wen Ye hadn't expected to fall so easily with just a push. Feeling humiliated, his face burned with both embarrassment and pain.

He retorted, "I'm taking her to get a refund. She was just hit a few times, no need to make such a fuss and stay in a big hospital. Can't a small clinic nearby handle it?"

In his mind, Wen Ye fantasized about using the money refunded from the luxury ward for alcohol and gambling, potentially earning a fortune.

As Wen Ye raised his fist and stepped towards Chu Min, he was swiftly kicked to the ground with a loud thud.

He lay there, his face twisted in pain and disbelief, shocked that he, a burly man, was overpowered by two people, including a woman.

Gu Dai stood over Wen Ye, her voice cold as ice, "I know what you're thinking, but don't bother. I won't let your plans come to fruition."

Wen Ye's heart quivered. As he lifted his eyes and saw Gu Dai's face, a flicker of familiarity stirred within him.

Wen Ye accused, "Gu Dai, how dare you attack your uncle. You have no respect for your elders!"

Their commotion attracted attention, and bystanders began to criticize Gu Dai. "Even if an elder is wrong, as a younger person, you should tolerate it. How can you hit him?"

"Do you know how hard it is to be an older generation?"

"With such lack of respect, you mustn't have achieved much."

Chu Min's face darkened with anger.

He knew Gu Dai respected elders and had accomplished much at a young age. These accusations were far from the truth.

As Chu Min was about to defend Gu Dai, she stopped him.

Looking down at Wen Ye, Gu Dai stated, "I respect elders, but not every elder deserves respect. For example, someone like you who gets drunk and beats his own daughter, I will never respect."

Gu Yin, weak and frail, slowly opened her eyes, coughing weakly.

The crowd's attention shifted to her. They asked excitedly, "Child, how does your father treat you usually?"

Gu Yin, trembling and tearful, especially upon seeing Wen Ye, was evidently scared.

Gu Dai kicked Wen Ye repeatedly, ensuring he couldn't stand up, then sat beside Gu Yin, holding her close and soothing her, "Yinyin, don't be afraid. I'm here, and I won't let him hurt you."

Relieved to see Gu Dai, Gu Yin nodded weakly and called out, "Cousin..."

Gu Yin, buried in Gu Dai's embrace, confessed, "Cousin, as soon as I got home, Dad took all my money for alcohol. When he saw the phone you gave me, he tried to take it. When I refused, he kept hitting me, even on my head..."

Gu Dai held Gu Yin tighter, reassuring her, "I will take care of him. Don't cry; crying isn't good for your recovery."

Gu Yin apologized for not being able to protect the phone Gu Dai had given her.

Gu Dai shook her head, "It's okay, Yinyin. Don't blame yourself. I'll get you another one."

Witnessing this scene, the onlookers realized their mistake and felt guilty for misunderstanding Gu Dai. They were filled with sympathy for Gu Yin and disdain for Wen Ye, who had misled them into their initial judgment. Their sympathy for Gu Yin matched their dislike for Wen Ye..

Chapter 276:1 will secure her custody

|

Gu Dai's gaze was icy as she approached Wen Ye, who defiantly looked up at her. "I'm Gu Yin's father. What's wrong with taking her phone? And you're just a cousin. Did you ask for my permission to give her gifts?"

Ignoring Wen Ye's bluster, Gu Dai swiftly punched him in the shoulder.

As Wen Ye attempted to retaliate, Gu Dai grabbed his hand, flinging him away in a swift motion.

She then delivered a series of blows before he could react, leaving him powerless to resist.

Crouching down, Gu Dai demanded coldly, "Where's Yinyin's phone?"

Wen Ye, his heart trembling, opened his eyes in a daze. Even after being beaten up, he stubbornly denied any wrongdoing, "What phone? I don't know what you're talking about!"

Gu Dai's expression darkened, and she landed several more punches on Wen Ye.

Wen Ye, holding his head in his hands and writhing in pain on the ground, pleaded, "Stop, stop, I'll talk! I'll tell you where the phone is!"

Gu Dai paused, her gaze still icy as she waited for Wen Ye to speak.

Gasping for air and weakened, Wen Ye admitted, "I sold the phone and spent the money on alcohol."

Gu Dai, unable to contain her anger, kicked Wen Ye harshly once more.

The onlookers who witnessed Wen Ye being beaten applauded and cheered.

"Someone like him who beats his own daughter shouldn't be spared."

"This girl is incredible; there's no need for us to step in."

"Good, he deserves to be punished for hitting someone after drinking. People like him shouldn't exist in this world!"

Hearing the crowd's agreement, Wen Ye trembled with rage, exclaiming, "I just hit my daughter when I was drunk. Do you have to condemn me like this? And you, a junior, making me lose face in front of all these people, how can I show my face outside anymore?"

As soon as Wen Ye said this, the murmurs of the crowd ceased. Their eyes turned towards him, and they began to condemn him one after another.

"Isn't hitting your daughter serious enough?"

"Why do you only dare to hit your daughter when you're drunk and not others? Isn't it because she's easy to bully and there's no need to take responsibility?"

"You're a coward who deserves to be dealt with. You shouldn't even step outside!"

Gu Dai, looking down at Wen Ye, spoke, "From now on, I will take care of Yinyin. I hope you won't bother her again."

Wen Ye looked up, staring defiantly at Gu Dai, "I don't agree!"

Gu Dai, unfazed, replied, "I'm not asking for your opinion, but informing you. Your opinion doesn't matter to me."

Wen Ye, frightened by Gu Dai's gaze, quickly turned his head away, but still defiantly said, "Even if I agree to let you take care of the child, your aunt won't agree!"

Gu Dai threw the documents Chu Min had brought at Wen Ye, saying coldly, "I've found out that you and Gu Si are already divorced, and Yinyin was awarded to you. So, to take her away, I don't need her consent."

Wen Ye was stunned. He had kept the divorce from Gu Si a secret, not telling anyone. How did Gu Dai find out?

Gu Dai continued, "I've already found a lawyer. I will secure Yinyin's custody."

Just then, Chu Min, having called security, helped escort Wen Ye out of the hospital without giving him a chance to react.

Turning to Gu Yin, Gu Dai saw her looking at her with sparkling eyes, "Cousin, you are so cool!"

Gu Dai couldn't help but chuckle softly.

Gu Yin hugged Gu Dai and asked quietly, "Cousin, can I live with you from now on?"

Gu Dai nodded firmly, "Of course!"

Hearing Gu Dai's words, Gu Yin's face lit up with a smile, and she began to relax, feeling sleepiness creeping over her.

Yawning, Gu Yin said, "Cousin, I'm a bit sleepy. I'll rest for a while."

"Okay," Gu Dai replied gently.

As soon as Gu Dai spoke, Gu Yin fell deeply into sleep.

Zhao Xuan, who stood nearby and witnessed the whole scene, couldn't help but marvel inwardly. Miss Gu Dai was truly formidable. Even President Song might not be able to beat her, and besides being strong, she was also so gentle!

As Zhao Xuan was lost in thought, his phone rang, and he instinctively answered it.

Chu Min, having just returned from escorting Wen Ye out, smiled at Gu Dai, "Boss, you are really cool.. If my brother saw this, his admiration for you would deepen even more!"

Chapter 277: Express Gratitude

|

Gu Dai, joining in the conversation, said, "But your older brother is abroad and can't see this. Moreover, he couldn't possibly like me. If he knew what you were saying behind his back, he would definitely beat you up."

Chu Min once again silently mourned for his brother in his heart.

Zhao Xuan, after answering the phone, quickly walked towards the exit of the ward. However, he didn't hear anything from the phone. Upon checking his phone again, he found it had returned to the home screen.

Somewhat bewildered, Zhao Xuan wondered, “Did I hear it wrong?”

He checked the call log and confirmed that he hadn’t been mistaken. There had indeed been a call from Song Ling, but it only lasted a few seconds.

Could he have called the wrong number?

Zhao Xuan tried calling back, but Song Ling hung up.

At that moment, Song Ling, with a sullen face, boarded his private plane.

He had called Zhao Xuan, intending to ask if Gu Dai needed any help apart from a lawyer, but unexpectedly, just after the call connected, he heard news of another admirer for Gu Dai.

The flight attendant informed Song Ling, “President Song, we will arrive in Chuancheng in an hour. If you need anything, please let me know.”

Zhao Xuan, after several unsuccessful attempts to reach Song Ling, reluctantly gave up. Just as he was about to leave the hospital, he suddenly heard voices from the medical room.

Zhang Li exclaimed, “The Legendary Doctor is truly incredible. I still can’t get over the surgery she performed on that little girl. With such medical skills, I doubt I could ever match her in my lifetime.”

“Wow, is she that amazing? Doctor Zhang, you are one of the best in our hospital, and even you think you can’t compare?”

“By the way, how is the little girl doing after the surgery? Any complications?”

Zhang Li, smiling, said, “She’s perfectly fine now, and I believe there won’t be any issues in the future. After all, I have faith in my idol’s abilities!”

Hearing the mention of the “Legendary Doctor,” Zhao Xuan tensed up, pressing his ear against the door, fearing he might miss important information.

He wondered if the doctor in their discussion was the same one he had in mind.

Zhang Li continued, “Not only is the Legendary Doctor highly skilled, but she is also beautiful. Oh, and Little Li took a photo of her. She sent it to me just now. Take a look.”

“Wow, she looks so elegant.”

Doctor Zhang added, “Yes, even though she didn’t remove her mask, her hair was long and black, her eyes sparkled, and she had a faint fragrance about her... Alright, enough talk. I need to follow her advice and improve my own medical skills.”

Zhao Xuan was mesmerized, especially after hearing Doctor Zhang’s description. He felt even more convinced that this was the doctor he was searching for.

The anticipation welled up in his heart, recalling the miraculous surgery the Legendary Doctor had performed on President Song. The odds of failure were 99%, yet she succeeded flawlessly.

He also heard that the doctor had performed a successful surgery on a little girl.

A little girl...

Zhao Xuan suddenly remembered that Gu Dai was caring for a little girl named Gu Yin. Could the Legendary Doctor have treated her?

Lost in thought, Zhao Xuan was startled when the door suddenly opened. Instinctively, he stepped forward.

Zhang Li, caught off guard, then asked with a frown, "Hello, can I help you?"

Zhao Xuan closed the door, leaned towards Doctor Zhang, and asked softly, "Doctor, may I know who the Legendary Doctor you mentioned is?"

Doctor Zhang replied, "Aurora."

Hearing the name he had in mind, Zhao Xuan was so excited he almost shouted but quickly covered his mouth.

After taking a few deep breaths to calm himself, he asked, "Doctor, could you show me the photo of the Legendary Doctor?"

Doctor Zhang, frowning, refused coldly, "No."

Zhao Xuan, desperate, said, "If you send me the photo, I'm willing to pay one million."

Though tempted by the money, Zhang Li resisted and asked, "What do you want the Legendary Doctor's photo for?"

Zhao Xuan earnestly replied, "Our intention is simple: to express gratitude." "Gratitude?" Doctor Zhang was puzzled.

Zhao Xuan nodded firmly and said, "Yes, our president was once in a critical condition and was helped by the Legendary Doctor. His greatest wish is to express his gratitude to her."

Zhang Li, observing Zhao Xuan's sincerity, slowly began to believe him..

Chapter 278: A Blurry Photo

Zhang Li remarked, "You don't seem like you're lying, so I'll sell you the photo. But remember, you must never leak my idol's picture."

Zhao Xuan suppressed his excitement and firmly responded, "Don't worry, I understand the mystique of the Legendary Doctor. I won't share the photo." Nodding, Zhang Li immediately displayed his phone's QR code for Zhao Xuan to make the payment.

"Doctor, can you send it to me now?" Zhao Xuan asked eagerly, transferring the money.

"Okay," Zhang Li agreed.

The next moment, Zhao Xuan received the photo. His fingers trembled with excitement as he waited for the image to load.

He had been searching for any news of the Legendary Doctor to no avail. His unexpected visit to the hospital had finally yielded this valuable information.

Even though the Legendary Doctor was wearing a mask in the photo, Zhao Xuan believed he could glean a lot of information just from her eyes, thanks to the advancements in technology.

"You'll be amazed by the Legendary Doctor's charisma once you see the photo," Zhang Li said with a smile.

Impatient, Zhao Xuan asked, "Doctor, can I take a quick look on your phone first?"

Zhang Li shook his head. "If you look now, you'll lose the excitement of seeing it on your own phone later."

Zhao Xuan didn't understand the difference, but he restrained himself.

Finally, the photo loaded.

Expectantly, he looked at it, only for his smile to freeze.

Zhang Li, brimming with excitement, eagerly inquired, “How is it? Is the Legendary Doctor as stunning, as dazzling, and as charismatic as they say?” The woman in the photo was wearing in surgical attire, her entire form tightly wrapped, with only her back visible – a blurry and unclear back at that.

Zhao Xuan zoomed in as much as possible, but could only make out a small portion of her fair neck, nothing more.

Zhao Xuan grabbed Zhang Li and asked loudly, “What can you even see in such a blurry photo?”

Before Zhang Li could reply, Zhao Xuan spoke again, “You can’t see anything, absolutely nothing. It’s as if this photo wasn’t even taken!”

Lifting his eyes to Zhao Xuan, Zhang Li said with fervor, “Do you have any idea how difficult it is to capture a photo of the Legendary Doctor? The mere fact that we managed to get this shot is already an incredible feat.”

Zhang Li paused for a few seconds before speaking again, “Moreover, to truly appreciate a photo of the Legendary Doctor, one must feel it with the heart. If you look closely and earnestly, you’ll surely be able to discern her features.” Zhao Xuan opened his mouth, intending to scold Zhang Li, but the words died on his lips.

With a sigh, Zhao Xuan, holding a sliver of hope, asked, “Is the Legendary Doctor still at the hospital? Can you take me to see her if she is?”

Shaking his head, Zhang Li replied, “She left after performing surgery on a little girl. We don’t know where she went.”

Zhao Xuan felt a pang of disappointment, but having been through similar experiences, he quickly accepted the reality.

His primary concern now was how to explain to President Song that he had spent a million only to obtain a blurry photo of the Legendary Doctor's back.

After being thrown out of the hospital, Wen Ye lay at the entrance for a long while before he regained enough strength to slink off to a nearby park. Sitting on a bench, he called Gu Si.

As soon as the call connected, Wen Ye blurted out, "Gu Dai is planning to take Gu Yin away, and she's discovered our divorce!"

Gu Si demanded sharply, "What happened?"

Wen Ye stuttered through the explanation.

Gu Si got out of bed, pacing with one hand cradling her arm, and spoke angrily, "I've warned you repeatedly to be careful in your actions and not to get caught. But you never took my words seriously."

Wen Ye wanted to argue, but before the fierce Gu Si, he couldn't utter a word.

Breathing heavily with anger, Gu Si scolded, "You're useless, creating problems that I have to solve!"

After, Gu Si hung up the phone and threw it onto the table.

Wang Fang brought tea to Gu Si's table, speaking softly, "Madam, please have some tea to calm down."

Gu Si nodded, her gaze drifting to the seascape outside the window. After a long silence, she asked, "Fang, why would someone suddenly want to care for a child that isn't their own?"

After a moment of contemplation, Wang Fang replied, "I think it might be because that person is fond of children.."

Chapter 279: That's just my nature

|

"Fond of children?" Gu Si shook her head, dismissing the idea.

To her, children were the most bothersome creatures in the world, especially the likes of Gu Yin, a primary school student who knew nothing but how to cry and whine.

Gu Si was certain that Gu Dai's decision to adopt Gu Yin was part of some scheme against her.

She thought how Gu Dai had become smarter and more difficult to deal with than three years ago.

Yet, Gu Dai's move was still a mistake in Gu Si's eyes, for she cared nothing for a child born from a man she neither cared about nor loved. Even if Gu Dai harmed Gu Yin, Gu Si wouldn't blink an eye.

However, Gu Si saw this as an opportunity to meet Gu Dai and remind her of her insignificance, like a bug that could be squashed with ease.

Sipping her tea, a satisfied smile curled on her lips.

After arranging her stay at a hotel, Gu Dai received a call from Su Ting.

"Sis, Lawyer Shang Sui has sent the lawsuit and custody application to your email. You can check them when you have time," Su Ting informed her.

Surprised at the speed, Gu Dai raised her eyebrows, "This fast?"

Su Ting chuckled and nodded, "Mhmm."

"There's also evidence of Wen Ye's domestic violence as an attachment. We'll surely win with that in court," Su Ting added.

Gu Dai opened her mailbox and, seeing the neatly arranged files, smiled and said, "Thank you for hiring the lawyer."

Su Ting replied softly, "It's always my honor, Sis. I never find it bothersome."

Su Ting, fearing that Gu Dai might still be too formal with him, quickly added, "Sis, I'm off to work now. Once I'm done, I can return to see you."

Gu Dai responded, "Alright, I look forward to your early return."

After she hung up the phone, her gaze settled intently on Gu Yin. She gently brushed away the hair from the child's forehead, her fingers lightly resting there.

A moment later, she withdrew her hand, her voice relaxed, "A few more treatments, and you should be fully recovered."

When Song Ling arrived at the location Zhao Xuan had told him about, he saw Gu Dai tenderly looking at the child on the bed.

He felt as if Gu Dai emanated a kind of light at that moment, mesmerizing him.

Song Ling felt all the gloom that had weighed on his heart these past days vanish at the sight of Gu Dai.

Upon turning and seeing Song Ling, surprise flickered in Gu Dai's eyes, and her brows unconsciously furrowed as she asked in a lowered voice, "What are you doing here? Are you healed?"

Song Ling came back to his senses, his gaze sweeping over the ward. Seeing no other men, he relaxed.

He nodded, "I'm healed. Don't worry about me."

Gu Dai responded indifferently, "I wasn't worried, just asking out of courtesy."

She was only concerned that Song Ling's injury might be severe, implicating her brother.

Song Ling said, "I heard from Zhao Xuan that the Legendary Doctor visited the hospital and even performed surgery on a little girl."

His eyes intently fixed on Gu Dai, hoping to discern some detail, but unfortunately, she remained calm and composed.

"Yes, the Legendary Doctor saved Yinyin," Gu Dai stated calmly.

Then, recalling Song Ling's inquiry, she added, "President Song seems very interested in the Legendary Doctor."

Five years ago, the Legendary Doctor had saved him, and upon waking up, he had been searching for her, wanting to thank her in person and, if possible, befriend her for future assistance.

But as the Legendary Doctor was a woman, Song Ling feared Gu Dai might misunderstand his interest, especially since their relationship had already become strained over the Jiang Yue incident.

After much deliberation, Song Ling decided not to reveal his true reason to Gu Dai.

"I've long heard of the Legendary Doctor Aurora's superb medical skills and have always wanted to meet her," said Song Ling.

Gu Dai was surprised by Song Ling's interest in her alternative identity, though indifferent to her disguise being discovered, she didn't want to reveal it to Song Ling that easily.

Looking up, Gu Dai shrugged, “Unfortunately, I don’t know the Legendary Doctor.”

Song Ling’s gaze deepened as he pressed, “If you don’t know her, why would she perform surgery on the child?”

Pausing for a second, he continued, “And when you talk about the Legendary Doctor, you seem very calm, not at all excited about having seen her. Your attitude makes it seem like you’re quite familiar with her.”

Gu Dai met Song Ling’s gaze firmly, “That’s just my nature..”

Chapter 280: Refuse to have dinner together

|

Song Ling felt that Gu Dai was deceiving him, but since regaining her memory, she had undergone a significant change. It was as if she had found her soul, making her all the more captivating.

Regardless of whether Song Ling believed her or not, Gu Dai continued, “As for why the Legendary Doctor treated Yinyin, it only shows her kindness and willingness to help others.”

Gu Dai praised herself without a hint of embarrassment, maintaining her composure.

Song Ling didn’t find anything amiss in her words. In his heart, the Legendary Doctor was indeed as Gu Dai described.

Chu Min entered the hospital room and, seeing Song Ling, his smile faded slightly. Turning to Gu Dai, he spoke softly, “Boss, I’ve made a reservation at the restaurant. Let’s go have dinner.”

Gu Dai, eager to avoid Song Ling, promptly agreed, “Good, let’s go.”

After instructing the caregiver to take good care of Gu Yin, she left the hospital room with peace of mind.

Song Ling, watching Gu Dai leave, instinctively followed her.

Gu Dai, exhaling deeply, turned to Song Ling and asked, "President Song, do you need something?"

Song Ling replied confidently, "It's my first time in Chuanchen, and I only know you here. I'm also hungry, so I thought of joining you for dinner."

Gu Dai didn't believe a word. Over the years, Song Ling had traveled across the country and globally, certainly capable of handling unfamiliar environments without needing to follow anyone.

She couldn't understand why his attitude had taken a 180-degree turn. He used to be indifferent to her, but now, after their divorce, he began to pursue her again.

Looking at Song Ling, Gu Dai said, "You don't only know me in Chuanchen. You can also find Zhao Xuan."

Without blinking, Song Ling countered, "Zhao Xuan has returned to the capital."

Gu Dai remained silent, her gaze falling behind Song Ling.

Feeling a sense of foreboding, Song Ling followed her gaze and saw Zhao Xuan, wishing he could disappear into the ground.

Zhao Xuan stuttered, "Pres... President Song..."

Song Ling's face darkened. Turning back to Gu Dai, he could only watch as she walked away.

Frustrated, he kicked a nearby trash can.

Zhao Xuan, scared, offered, "President Song, I'll go back to the capital now."

After a moment of silence, Song Ling collected his thoughts and coldly said, "No need."

"Tell me everything that just happened," Song Ling demanded.

After landing, Song Ling learned from Zhao Xuan about Gu Dai's whereabouts and the Legendary Doctor treating Gu Yin. He hurried to find her, unaware of the exact details.

Zhao Xuan recounted, "Gu Yin was injured by her father, Wen Ye. Miss Gu came to Chuanchen to handle this. Wen Ye caused a scene at the hospital. He's a burly man and made a big fuss, Miss Gu..."

Song Ling interjected, "Did Gu Dai get hurt?"

Before Zhao Xuan could reply, Song Ling scoffed, "She looked perfectly fine. Why should I worry about her?"

Zhao Xuan didn't know how to respond, but eventually, he revealed, "Miss Gu is agile and not only avoided injury but also beat up Wen Ye."

Song Ling simply grunted.

Zhao Xuan, noting Song Ling's silence, spoke up softly, "President Song, I bought a photo of the Legendary Doctor for a million yuan from a doctor."

Song Ling's eyes flickered, asking, "Where's the photo?"

Wiping sweat from his face, Zhao Xuan replied, "It's in my phone. I'll send it to you."

Zhao Xuan coughed lightly, adding, "The photo is quite blurry, and it's hard to get any useful information from it."

Song Ling nodded, "It's fine, just send it to me."

Even if he couldn't glean useful information, Song Ling didn't want to miss any detail about the Legendary Doctor.

Zhao Xuan nodded, "Alright."

Despite his attempts to resist, Song Ling couldn't overcome his feelings. After a moment, he turned to Zhao Xuan, "Find out where Gu Dai is having dinner and take me there."

Zhao Xuan quickly agreed, internally mocking Song Ling's apparent infatuation with Gu Dai. Even after being rejected, he seemed to disregard his pride completely..