Chapter 104: Benevolence and Righteousness

Charity House, that's not the place where homeless dead people are placed.

"Scared?"

Yun Jinnian remained silent.

The dead are not to be feared, what's frightening are those living with strange, inscrutable minds.

"Not particularly scared, but, somewhat apprehensive!"

Han Xuzy smiled slightly, "Tonight we'll first practice courage. To be a Divine Doctor, you must not only cure diseases but also understand how this person died!"

Yun Jinnian nodded.

Perhaps she should learn the work of a coroner.

After learning from Han Xuzi all morning, she began to review medical cases in the pharmacy after lunch. They were all Han Xuzi's notes, and he wanted Yun Jinnian to read them and then to write her own prescriptions.

She had to prescribe medication corresponding to the early, middle, and late stages of the patients' illnesses, with altered dosages, but the efficacy had to match Han Xuzi's prescriptions.

Han Xuzi originally hoped Yun Jinnian could come up with one prescription, but she wrote thirty.

After Han Xuzi looked at them, he froze for a moment before laughing heartily, "Good, good!"

Indeed, he, Han Xuzi, would have a successor.

A person of such quick-wittedness, he really wanted to take her to wander the martial world, letting everyone under the heavens know that his granddaughter would inherit his mantle.

Because of Yun Jinnian's competence, after eating dinner, Han Xuzi pulled her to study prescriptions again, skipping the visit to the Charity House for the time being.

Because Yun Jinnian's prescriptions were milder than Han Xuzi's, had the same efficacy, but were less harmful to the body, Han Xuzi somewhat acted like a learner, tirelessly discussing with Yun Jinnian.

Mrs. Han cooked chicken porridge, and Bai Que carried it to Han Xuzi's study room. Seeing the grandfather and granddaughter quietly discussing, Mrs. Han felt it was almost like a dream. If only there was one more person, life would be complete!

"Dad, Jinnian, I've cooked chicken porridge. Have some!"

Han Xuzi looked up, smiling at Mrs. Han, "Hmm!" He ruffled Yun Jinnian's hair, "Come, let's taste the porridge your mother cooked!"

"Mother's cooking is good, everything is delicious!" said Yun Jinnian, standing up and following Han Xuzi to wash her hands.

The Han Family did not have many masters, but there were plenty of servants, all literate and possessing some medical skills and Martial Arts.

If only she had a couple of maids by her side who knew Martial Arts.

Ming Yang and Ru Yue were also good, but they did not know Martial Arts.

After eating the porridge and chatting for a while, Yun Jinnian returned to her room to sleep, because tomorrow she had to go to the Zhuangyong Marquis Residence to enjoy the flowers.

Yun Jinnian didn't return to the Yun Family, going directly from the Han Family instead.

Han Xuzi was left with Mrs. Han.

"Do you and Yun Qi plan to go on like this?"

Mrs. Han fell silent.

"Shu niang!"

"Hmm!"

"Let's take Jinnian over. Let her become one of the Han Family. Whatever the Yun Family wants, just name it!" said Han Xuzi, pausing, "Gold, silver, jewels, silk, or even power, as long as the Yun Family lets go of Jinnian!"

Mrs. Han was shocked, "Dad, you..."

"Jinnian is composed and clever. With good guidance, the Han Family will thrive in her hands!"

Mrs. Han looked at Han Xuzi, "But Dad, Yun Qi will not agree. Those hypocrites in the Yun Family don't deserve power. They already look down on others without it; if they gained power, it would be unbearable!"

Han Xuzi shook his head, "The higher they climb, the harder they'll fall!"

Mrs. Han suddenly understood, "Dad, are you planning..."

"In a few days, I'll enter the palace. The Yun Family's eldest has held a third-rank position for quite some time; it's time for a promotion!"

"Will the Emperor agree?"

Han Xuzi sneered, "The tiny Yun Family, would the Emperor regard them with interest? They are easily controlled, and if one Yun Family falls, countless Zhang and Li Families will rise in their place!"

This time the Yun Family had truly been excessively bullying.

The old prude and Mrs. He are detestable, but Yun Chen, that hypocrite, is even more loathsome, and Yun Qi is no good thing either.

As a father, he does not care for his daughter's life or death – in vain does he bear the title of father.

An evil mother who does not advise, is in vain a son.

Uncompassionate and unjust people, they don't deserve to be sons-in-law to the Han Family!
