

Chapter 31

In the afternoon, Ashley went to the Brown's Company in the Central South Building Mansion. Meanwhile, Ronald was reading the report in the office.

Ashley came in and sweetly called him dad. Ronald looked up at Ashley and said, "Why are you coming over at this time? Don't you need to go to work?"

"I happened to pass by, so I came to see you," Ashley smiled and walked to Ronald, "Dad, I called Valeria, but she didn't answer. I sent her a text message and asked her to call back. Did she call you?"

"No." Ronald shook his head.

At the mention of Valeria, his face darkened, "That d*mn b*stard. I just hit her and said a few words, and she is making a fuss. I'm so pissed off!"

"Dad, in fact, it's not Valeria's fault. Valeria was angry. It's all my fault. Because you recognized me as your daughter, and Valeria can't get it over."

"I think she is spoiled! You two used to be as close as sisters, didn't you? She even told me to recognize you as a adopted daughter. How can she be unhappy now that you have become the real sister?"

"Thing has changed. She just didn't pull herself together for a moment. Maybe it's because of Mason. Dad, you know, this thing has nothing to do with me. It's Mason who doesn't like Valeria and who pursues me first."

"I know. She's just a one-track-minded girl. Mason no longer liked her. There's no need for her to pester him," Ronald sighed.

"It's just not a good thing that she moved out and didn't come back. People would say I mistreated her, wouldn't they?" 📱

"Dad, Valeria is mad at you because of me and my mother. She is now forcing you not to recognize me and my mother as your wife and daughter. We didn't want to put you out at this time after all these years."

Ashley sighed, looking like she was well-informed and righteous.

"I discussed with my mother that we would not go back to live with you since Valeria did not want to. I'll send a message to Valeria, and maybe she'll answer your call and move back." 📱

"There is no need to do that, and you can't indulge her!" Ronald became angry when he heard Ashley's words.

Compared with Valeria's insolence, Ashley and Julie had good propriety.

He had treated Julie and her daughter badly in the past. Consequently, he could not treat them the same way as before.

"Since she likes to throw tantrums, then let her play it enough. Isn't your mother leaving the hospital tomorrow? You can take your mother straight to the villa. I want to see how long she can stay out."

Ronald's words fit in exactly with Ashley's wishes, "Dad, it's not a good way. If Valeria ignores you because of this, my mother and I will be sinners."

"Ignore her! She has been spoiled over the past years. I don't believe that she can live on her own."

After leaving Ronald's office, Ashley's face was full of joy. She sent a text message to Julie as soon as she entered the elevator.

"Mom, my dad asked you to move into the Brown family after you were discharged from the hospital. You're so smart that you know how to get advantages from my dad by making concessions!"

Julie sneered, "This is just the beginning. I still have more powerful tricks waiting for her. As long as we move into the Brown family Villa, we will be able to appear openly in front of the public!"

Valeria knew the news that Ashley and her mother moved into the Brown family villa at noon the next day.

When she heard the news, she clenched her fists. Anger and hatred gnawed at her.

She was driven out of the villa, and it was uncertain whether she was alive or dead. Ronald had not the least concern for her, and he even allowed the mistress and her daughter to move into the house.

The villa was her mother's work and she decorated it all by herself.

She clearly remembered her mother's words. She wanted to decorate a warm and happy home for the three of them.

Now Ronald took the mistress and her daughter to live in the house Valeria's mother had so painstakingly furnished. He didn't care about my mother at all.
