

Infinite 201

Chapter 201: The Formal Sanctuary, Source Core Crystal, Steel Defender, and Shadow Hunter

"This mechanical fusion ability is nothing short of a miracle for me; Nuonuo truly gave me a big surprise."

"Mechanical fusion amplifies based on the mechanical creations being fused. The extent of amplification depends partly on Nuonuo's own strength, and partly on the quality of the fused mechanical creations."

"But even if Nuonuo fuses with the most ordinary firearms, she can elevate the weapon's damage to a four-star advanced level."

"Moreover, there's no limitation to Nuonuo's fusion. After fusing, as long as she doesn't engage in combat or use mechanical creations, her energy consumption is minimal."

"The most crucial part is that Nuonuo's strength is tied to my spiritual energy level. This means as long as I continuously enhance my spiritual energy, Nuonuo's level will also increase, and the amplification brought forth will be more and more, almost limitless growth!"

Su Yu realized that Nuonuo's skill was just like it was tailor-made for him, a versatile auxiliary ability that can be effectively utilized at any time!

"Whether in direct legion combat or long-range sniping, Nuonuo's ability can perfectly provide me with a huge boost."

"Even better, Nuonuo's mechanical fusion is not restricted by cooldowns and can switch fused mechanical creations at any time during battle, thus completely adapting to more complex combat environments."

"Nuonuo, you really gave me a surprise."

Su Yu grew more and more excited as he thought, unable to resist picking up Nuonuo and giving her a peck on the cheek.

"(◡ ◡)"

Nuonuo's expression looked a bit shy but still nuzzled closer into Su Yu's embrace.

After playing with Nuonuo for a while, Su Yu turned his attention to the heaps and piles of materials now accumulating.

The shells from the Giant Scorpion Clan were also processed by the Sanctuary's mechanical repair department and piled up in the courtyard.

"Next, it's time for a whole new upgrade to my mechanical creations. Although restricted by the number of intelligent chips, I can't expand the mechanical legion."

"But with this batch of materials, I can completely forge an elite squad of mechanical units."

"The contributions to the Sanctuary, considering the time, the members of the hunting team should almost have accumulated enough points; the production of those weapons on the list needs to be put on the agenda."

Su Yu said to Nuonuo, still playing: "Nuonuo, come lend a hand, it's time to work."

Hearing this, Nuonuo immediately flew to Su Yu's side.

Nuonuo's spiritual energy field was activated, and a large number of mechanical materials were manipulated by her, floating in the air.

At this moment, Su Yu also operated the Steel Resonance, his spiritual energy covering the entire courtyard.

With Nuonuo's assistance, Su Yu's crafting speed this time was several times faster than before.

Using spiritual energy, Su Yu smelted a large amount of materials and forged them into individual parts, which quickly became mechanical weapons and mechanical prosthetics under his spiritual energy's guidance with Nuonuo's help.

These mechanical weapons and prosthetics were casually piled in a corner of the courtyard by Su Yu.

These were among the mechanics Su Yu had listed on the exchangeable list beforehand.

"These mechanical weapons and prosthetics are extremely quick for me to craft now, and the experience they bring is still considerable."

"This way, the level of Legion Mechanic will not advance too slowly either."

Soon, only the clanging sounds of metal collision filled Su Yu's small courtyard.

...

At the same time, Shelter No. 73 was bustling with activity.

Whether from the hunting teams or the residents of the Sanctuary, all were equipped with the personal terminals provided by the Sanctuary.

Even ordinary residents, upon seeing the exchange list of contributions, were fired up, choosing to venture out of the city to resource points for mining, working desperately.

The three hunting teams constantly shuttled between resource points and the Sanctuary, delivering batches of ore to the mechanical repair department for preliminary smelting by Old Mo and other mechanics.

The smelted ores were then stored in the Sanctuary's warehouse.

Su Yu's plan to use the entire Sanctuary's resources to nurture himself was beginning to take shape.

At this moment, Yu Ping'an, a boy from the already destroyed Wandering Village, was pestering Lang Yun.

"Captain Lang Yun, I want to meet the manager. I don't want contributions; I just want to meet the manager." Yu Ping'an said to Lang Yun.

Lang Yun looked at Yu Ping'an, feeling a bit helpless. Yu Ping'an had joined the Sanctuary for a week now.

During this week, Yu Ping'an worked hard; though an ordinary person, he was relentless in extracting ore in the mine daily, also presenting two mechanical blueprints from the Wandering Village to the Sanctuary.

Normally, such actions would be converted into contributions, but Yu Ping'an didn't want contributions; he just wished to see Su Yu once more.

"You've been pestering me for two days now. The manager is busy with matters; you can't see him just because you want to."

"I've already handed over your two mechanical blueprints to the manager, but there's been no response from him yet. Pestering me won't help either."

Lang Yun said to Yu Ping'an.

Seeing this, Yu Ping'an said no more, choosing instead to quietly continue his work.

During these seven days in the Sanctuary, Yu Ping'an had long recognized the strength of Shelter No. 73. No, to be precise, in Yu Ping'an's view, the strength of Shelter No. 73 was entirely based on the strong personal abilities of the current manager, Su Yu.

Chapter 202: The Sanctuary Goes Legitimate, Source Core Crystal, Steel Defender, and Shadow Hunter_2

"Father, Mother..."

Yu Ping'an buried his head in mining, his eyes slightly red.

The Wandering Village was essentially a gathering of a large group of Scavengers. In Yu Ping'an's memory, his father, the leader of the Wandering Village, was a Four-star Transcendent. Even though Yu Ping'an himself had no Extraordinary Talent, his life in the village wasn't bad.

In fact, in Yu Ping'an's own view, his parents named him Ping'an, hoping he would live a peaceful life.

Until that day.

The arrival of the Ghost Tribe brought that group of Ghost Wolf Riders, who easily destroyed the already weak Wandering Village. The woman in black who led them even killed Yu Ping'an's father.

The once fulfilling life was torn apart at that moment.

And Yu Ping'an, being an ordinary person, was saved because when the Ghost Tribe attacked, his father had arranged for him to be with a group of the elderly and weak who fled.

But Yu Ping'an would never forget that scene.

The woman in black from the Ghost Tribe, with just a glance, obliterated the leader of the Wanderers, a Four-star Extraordinary Physical Body, who was Yu Ping'an's father.

Yu Ping'an watched as the woman in black, after controlling his father, controlled him with wicked amusement to kill Yu Ping'an's mother.

At that time, Yu Ping'an hid within the crowd, witnessing everything.

He saw with his own eyes his father driving the blade into his mother's body, that desperate helplessness. He also remembered the resignation in his mother's eyes in the face of despair before her death.

At that time, Yu Ping'an saw it all, yet he could do nothing. He was just an ordinary person, he dared not do anything.

Hiding in the crowd, he even dared not weep, fearing he would be discovered by the woman in black.

Later, after the destruction of the Wandering Village, only a field of corpses remained, and that woman in black seemed uninterested in the remaining old and weak, allowing Yu Ping'an and about two hundred survivors to escape to the Sanctuary.

In the days at the Sanctuary, Yu Ping'an would dream every night of his mother being pierced by the blade, the fresh blood dripping from the wound...

"Father, Mother, Ping'an dares not forget..." Yu Ping'an's action of mining became stronger, as if he was venting his emotions.

He dared not forget; he could not forget; that scene had replayed countless times in his mind.

Originally, as an ordinary person, Yu Ping'an had only hatred in his heart, without any thought or possibility of revenge.

However, when he joined Shelter No. 73 and saw the contribution list Su Yu provided, listing one Artificial Body after another, the fire of revenge reignited in his heart.

"Artificial Body, only Artificial Body Transformation can allow a common person like me to possess power comparable to the Transcendent, and the Administrator holds such power."

Yu Ping'an muttered to himself.

In the seven days at the Sanctuary, Yu Ping'an had already realized the power of the Artificial Body. Without any Extraordinary Talent, Artificial Body Transformation was his only hope.

"I must gain power comparable to the Transcendent, no matter what the cost." Yu Ping'an touched the transparent crystal hanging on his chest—this relic left by his mother was his last bit of solace.

The transparent crystal was incredibly pure. Though small, only the size of half a little finger, to Yu Ping'an, it was his last hope for revenge.

"Mother, your spirit in heaven must also wish for me to avenge you, or why would you specifically leave this stone to me?"

Yu Ping'an clearly remembered that when his mother gave him the transparent crystal, she told him that even in her hometown, it was an extremely rare stone. Wearing it would bring him luck in avoiding danger.

Yu Ping'an also remembered the name of this thumb-sized stone very clearly—Source Core Crystal.

It was precisely the material Su Yu had long sought for crafting a small chip-manufacturing device, the only material lacking.

Yu Ping'an also knew it was the very mineral the Sanctuary Administrator had always been seeking. As a newcomer to the Sanctuary, he dared not trust anyone, so he intended to hand the stone to Su Yu personally to gain the chance to become stronger.

...

Inside the Sanctuary.

In Su Yu's exclusive courtyard, the sound of metal collisions gradually ceased.

At this moment, the prompt sound of the job transfer panel echoed in Su Yu's ears.

[Ding!]

[You successfully designed the blueprint for an Excellent-grade Intelligent Combat Machine. You gained Professional Experience (Legion Mechanic): 50,000 points!]

[You crafted an Excellent-grade Intelligent Combat Machine. You gained Professional Experience (Legion Mechanic): 50,000 points!]

[Legion Mechanic level up! Steel Resonance upgraded!]

[Ding!]

[You crafted an Excellent-grade Intelligent Combat Machine. You gained Professional Experience (Legion Mechanic): 50,000 points!]

[Legion Mechanic level up! Steel Resonance upgraded!]

[...]

[Legion Mechanic level has been increased to lv 3]

"Sure enough, the experience required for a second-tier profession is much more than for a first-tier profession."

Su Yu had finished a day's crafting.

Su Yu withdrew his Spiritual Energy, turning to look at the two massive Mechanical Creations three people tall, parked in the courtyard, and felt deeply satisfied.

Chapter 203: The Official Sanctuary, Source Core Crystal, Steel Defender, and Shadow Hunter_3

These two mechanical creations, one of which is entirely crimson in color.

And in appearance, this mechanical creation looks strikingly similar to the previous five Defenders.

However, in terms of size, this newly upgraded Defender is larger than before, and because of the abundant Tungsten Blood Steel and the shell of the Steel Giant Scorpion, Su Yu used the shell of the Steel Giant Scorpion to create a brand new external armor for this Defender.

Moreover, the connections of the armor and the critical components of the Defender were all forged using Tungsten Blood Steel.

Just this one giant Defender consumed three hundred pounds of Su Yu's Tungsten Blood Steel reserves.

Although it is still a Defender, its strength far surpasses the previous ones.

"The Thousand-Handed Prosthetic originally carried three advanced intelligent chips, and now these chips have been dismantled by me to create brand new intelligent machinery. In this way, the value exerted by these three advanced intelligent chips is far greater than before."

"This Defender is a brand new upgrade based on the previous five Defenders and is the first superior intelligent machine I have crafted. To continue calling it a Defender seems somewhat inappropriate, perhaps I should name it the Steel Defender!"

As Su Yu gave this Steel Defender its new name.

The attributes of this Steel Defender also appeared in Su Yu's eyes.

[Intelligent Combat Machine·Steel Defender]

[Creator: Su Yu]

[Grade: Superior]

[Trait: Steel Defense (The armor hardness of the Steel Defender is extremely high, capable of withstanding powerful attacks)]

[Equipment:]

[Melee Weapon: Tungsten Blood Steel Chainsaw Blade (Increased toughness, destruction, lethality) X6]

[Melee Weapon: Tungsten Blood Steel Shield (Enhanced toughness, resistance) X2]

[Skills:]

[Steel Shield Elite Type·Tungsten Blood Steel Enhancement (Increased shield tenacity, enhanced hardness): Equipped with two giant shields, the iron shields can be combined to form a semi-circular steel defensive barrier]

[Overall Strength Evaluation: Four-star top tier]

"It's indeed a superior intelligent machine." Su Yu's eyes flashed with satisfaction.

The basic panel of this Steel Defender has already reached a four-star top tier strength. If adding Su Yu's skills and core abilities, along with the fusion effect with Nuonuo,

In Su Yu's view, this Steel Defender can exert a five-star top-tier strength when necessary.

And considering the trait of the Steel Defender, the two extremely heavy steel giant shields co-cast with the shell of the Steel Giant Scorpion and a lot of Tungsten Blood Steel, just in terms of defense, even facing a six-star intermediate Transcendent, it can hold on for a while.

Then, Su Yu turned his gaze to the other mechanical creation in the yard.

This mechanical creation is entirely dark blue in color, and its outer shell armor's main material is clearly sourced from the Crystal Giant Scorpion.

Unlike the Steel Defender, the body of this mechanical creation is extremely slender, and it does not have heavy armor, indicating that this intelligent machine does not possess strong frontal combat capabilities.

As a trade-off, this intelligent machine has an extraordinary long-range assassination capability beyond conventional intelligent machines and boasts extremely fast mobility. It is the second elite intelligent machine created by Su Yu, besides the Defender type elite intelligent machine.

This is also a piece of mechanical creation whose quality has reached the superior grade, a special model intelligent machine that Su Yu created by expending a large number of resources.

And Su Yu named this intelligent machine:

"Shadow Hunter!"

Su Yu's gaze was firm as he stared at the Shadow Hunter before him. In the next moment, the panel of the Shadow Hunter appeared in Su Yu's eyes.

[Intelligent Combat Machine-Shadow Hunter]

[Creator: Su Yu]

[Grade: Superior]

[Trait: Shadow Stealth (Derived from the shell of the Crystal Giant Scorpion, it grants it powerful concealment abilities, making it the silent death on the battlefield)]

[Equipment:...]

[Skills:...]

[Overall Strength Evaluation: Four-star top tier]

"The appearance of these two superior intelligent machines, coupled with Nuonuo's mechanical fusion, inherently grants my mechanical army a combat power that can stand on its own, no longer relying solely on numbers."

Su Yu looked at the red and blue mechanical creations in front of him with immense satisfaction.

"It's just a pity that the number of my mechanical army is ultimately limited by the number of intelligent chips, and the lack of Source Core Crystals needed for the small intelligent chip manufacturing equipment still remains unresolved."

Su Yu felt quite helpless about this.

After all, the Sanctuary, which is now on the right track, is not lacking in materials at all. Only intelligent chips remain as the sole constraint on the number of Su Yu's mechanical army.

"Even low-level intelligent chips are extremely rare. Even the original Sanctuary, with its many years of accumulation, only allowed me to create this mechanical army composed of these hundred or so mechanical creations."

"Even these days, after sending Lang Yun and others to try and trade with other settlements and even Scavengers in the wilderness, the retrieved intelligent chips are still scant, and there is no news whatsoever about Source Core Crystals."

Even when Su Yu released a task concerning Source Core Crystals through his personal terminal, with quite generous contribution rewards offered for the mission, no one brought back any news about the Source Core Crystals to Su Yu.

However, Su Yu was not surprised by this. If the Source Core Crystals required for small chip manufacturing equipment could be found so easily, intelligent chips would not be so precious.

Su Yu thought about it and sent a message to Lang Yun and others, informing them that the mechanical creations on the exchange list had been manufactured and were ready for pickup.

At this moment, Lang Yun sent a message.

"Administrator, the young man named Yu Ping'an keeps saying he wants to meet you, and he claims that he has information about Source Core Crystals."

Chapter 204: Yu Ping'an's Crazy Idea, the Human Brain is the Perfect Intelligent Chip!

"The previous hydroponic plant system and transport crawler were handed over by Yu Ping'an, and he didn't want any contribution, only to meet you once."

"And in the past two days, Yu Ping'an said he had news of the Source Core Crystal, but he wanted to tell you in person, my lord."

Seeing the message from Lang Yun on his personal terminal, Su Yu paused slightly in his heart.

"This Yu Ping'an should be the son of the leader of the Wandering Village, that boy with some courage, but not much." Su Yu had some impression of Yu Ping'an, after all, when the refugees from the Wandering Village were being recruited, it was Yu Ping'an who had forcibly stepped forward.

"The hydroponic plant system and transport crawler are very timely for the Sanctuary now. Although I can design similar mechanical tools, it's likely that they're not as easy to create as these blueprints, which have come from years of experience by the Wandering Village."

"If these two blueprints were exchanged for contributions, they would be worth at least 10,000 contribution points, and Yu Ping'an offered them just to see me once and said he had news of the Source Core Crystal."

Su Yu suddenly grew curious about Yu Ping'an and immediately replied to Lang Yun on his personal terminal: "Captain Lang Yun, bring people to my residence, take away the prosthetics and weapons that can be exchanged from the contribution list, and bring Yu Ping'an along."

"Since Yu Ping'an wants to see me, I'll meet him and hear what he has to say." When it came to news about the Source Core Crystal, Su Yu wouldn't miss it for anything.

Currently, the only barrier limiting Su Yu's rapid power development was the number of intelligent chips. Once he obtained the Source Core Crystal, he could manufacture small intelligent chip-making devices and have a continuous supply of intelligent chips.

Very soon.

After a while, Lang Yun arrived at Su Yu's doorstep with a dozen members of the hunting team, with Yu Ping'an quietly following at the back of the group.

At this moment, Yu Ping'an was extremely nervous. He knew the importance of the Source Core Crystal in the Sanctuary. Although he didn't know the use of the Source Core Crystal, Yu Ping'an knew from the exchange list that merely providing news of the Source Core Crystal could earn nearly 10,000 contribution points.

This clue allowed him to deduce the preciousness and importance of the Source Core Crystal.

Yu Ping'an tightly grasped the transparent gem hanging on his chest, the last relic his mother left him, which was also the Source Core Crystal Su Yu currently needed the most.

"I hope that after getting this Source Core Crystal, the administrator would be able to meet my demands." Yu Ping'an tightly held the Source Core Crystal on his chest with his left hand, staring blankly at the property belonging to the administrator before him.

To Yu Ping'an, the Source Core Crystal hanging around his neck had become his last chance for revenge.

Yu Ping'an considered this Source Core Crystal extremely important. During his week at the Sanctuary as an outsider and wanderer, it was naturally impossible for him to earn the Sanctuary's trust. Yu Ping'an was also unfamiliar with the Sanctuary's environment and didn't trust anyone.

He dared not tell anyone that he had a Source Core Crystal, fearing it would be snatched away. Even when he found Lang Yun, he only said he had news about the Source Core Crystal, not that it was on him.

At this moment, Lang Yun patted the dazed Yu Ping'an and said, "What are you staring at? Weren't you always saying you wanted to meet the administrator? Why hesitate when you have the chance now?"

With that, Lang Yun didn't bother much with Yu Ping'an and proceeded to Su Yu's premises.

At this moment, Su Yu was in his courtyard performing final adjustments on two newly crafted Superior Intelligent Machines.

Seeing Lang Yun and the others arrive, Su Yu stopped his actions.

Meanwhile, under the sun's rays, the Steel Defender and Shadow Hunter emitted a faint metallic glimmer.

Nuonuo was also circling around Su Yu at the time.

Lang Yun felt an inexplicable dread upon seeing these two machines.

He had a vague premonition that these two machines were fundamentally different from the mechanical army previously created by the administrator, not on the same level at all.

Lang Yun even felt an illusion that if these mechanical creations were used against him, he probably wouldn't last a round.

"Has the administrator's mechanical skills grown stronger again?"

"This Sanctuary, under the administrator's leadership, might not take long to become a new medium-sized settlement in this Dead Silence Wilderness."

While fearful, Lang Yun also felt a little excited, thinking that making Su Yu the current administrator was the wisest decision the old administrator ever made in his life.

"Administrator, where are the mechanical creations on the exchange list you mentioned?" Lang Yun put his thoughts aside and asked Su Yu.

Su Yu pointed to a corner of the courtyard, where a large number of mechanical prosthetics and mechanical weapons were stacked, all provided on the exchange list.

"Captain Lang Yun, they're stacked over there. You can have people move them to the mechanical maintenance department and let people redeem them."

"By the way, has Yu Ping'an arrived?" asked Su Yu.

Hearing this, Lang Yun said, "Yes, I'll have them moved now. Yu Ping'an is here, but he's still standing at the door; I'll go call him."

Lang Yun quickly went outside, beckoning his subordinates to start moving them.

Chapter 205: Yu Ping'an's Crazy Idea: The Human Brain is the Perfect Intelligent Chip!_2

Lang Yun felt somewhat excited in his heart. Over the past week, Lang Yun had accumulated quite a lot of contributions. Although he was still far from the twenty thousand contributions needed to exchange for a four-star mechanical weapon, he hadn't seen the actual items on the exchange list before, which always left him a bit worried.

Now, seeing these mechanical creations being manufactured put his mind at ease. He was left with one thought: to work hard for the Sanctuary and accumulate contributions as soon as possible. Others who came with Lang Yun had the same idea in their hearts.

Then Lang Yun saw that Yu Ping'an was still standing at the door.

At that moment, Lang Yun said, "What are you standing there for? The Administrator wants you to go in."

Hearing this, Yu Ping'an no longer hesitated and walked into the courtyard.

"Is it you who offered the drawings of the Water Cultivation System and the transport crawler, just to see me?"

"And you also have information about the Source Core Crystal?" Su Yu asked.

Yu Ping'an nodded, looking at the people in the courtyard who were moving mechanical creations, hesitated a bit, and said, "Administrator, I do have precise information about the Source Core Crystal, but..."

Seeing this scene, Su Yu understood. Yu Ping'an was clearly afraid that others would overhear the news, which also made Su Yu trust a bit more in the authenticity of the information Yu Ping'an had about the Source Core Crystal.

The hunting team worked quickly, and in no time, they had moved the mechanical creations piled up in the courtyard. Clearly, seeing the actual items on the exchange list ignited their enthusiasm for work.

Su Yu was not surprised to see this. This was exactly his intention in setting up the exchange list, to attract people in the Sanctuary to accumulate contributions for exchange with various mechanical implants and powerful mechanical weapons, thereby becoming stronger and better serving the Sanctuary.

At this moment, Yu Ping'an, who was in the courtyard, remained silent, constantly observing the two Superior Intelligent Machines standing in the courtyard, as well as the white orb hovering beside Su Yu.

Seeing the massive size and heavy shield of the Steel Defender, and the large caliber sniper rifle, which suggested its power, of the Shadow Hunter, Yu Ping'an developed a deeper understanding of Su Yu's strength.

"The Administrator's strength is indeed formidable. If the Wandering Village had this kind of mechanical creation when the Ghost Wolf Riders arrived, it might not have been destroyed so quickly, and my parents would not have died tragically."

"This is my only chance."

Seeing those two Superior Intelligent Machines, Yu Ping'an's resolve grew even stronger.

After the hunting team left and only Su Yu and Yu Ping'an remained in the courtyard.

Yu Ping'an finally spoke.

"Administrator, I do have information about the Source Core Crystal, I'm not lying about this." Yu Ping'an knelt down immediately, removed a pendant of the Source Core Crystal from his neck.

"But there is one thing I didn't truthfully tell Captain Lang Yun, which is that not only do I have information about the Source Core Crystal, but it's actually on me."

As he spoke, Yu Ping'an handed the pendant to Su Yu.

"This pendant is a peace charm my mother gave me. Before she passed away, she told me this gem's name is the Source Core Crystal."

"I am willing to offer this Source Core Crystal to you, Administrator."

Su Yu felt a burst of delight in his heart; he activated his Spiritual Energy and took the pendant from Yu Ping'an, extracting the crystal from it.

The transparent crystal, the size of a thumb, was pinched in Su Yu's hand, emitting warm light in the sunlight.

"These are the features of the Source Core Crystal; this really is the Source Core Crystal!"

Su Yu never imagined that the Source Core Crystal he had always needed would be obtained so effortlessly and without any exertion.

"The thumb-sized Source Core Crystal, although it doesn't meet the minimum requirements on the small chip blueprint, isn't sufficient to craft it."

"But, for me, my mechanical technology can further minimize the demand for the Source Core Crystal. Even though the manufacturing output for small intelligent chip manufacturing equipment will be reduced, it's still acceptable."

"It's already enough to solve my current dilemma."

At this moment, the information prompt on the job panel also helped Su Yu confirm that this was indeed the Source Core Crystal.

Su Yu immediately stored the Source Core Crystal safely.

Then, looking at Yu Ping'an who was still kneeling, Su Yu felt a bit curious: "Offer it to me?"

Yu Ping'an lowered his body further, and slowly said, "Yes, Administrator, I am willing to offer this Source Core Crystal to you."

"Previously, I hid the fact that I had the Source Core Crystal from Captain Lang Yun because I was afraid that the news would get out and someone else would take away the Source Core Crystal."

"So, I didn't report it and thought I could personally offer this Source Core Crystal to the Administrator, thus taking such a drastic measure."

Yu Ping'an was very honest, and he was also very smart.

He clearly knew that in front of a strong person like Su Yu, any little schemes would only make Su Yu unhappy.

Even about the Source Core Crystal, Yu Ping'an clearly understood its importance to Su Yu and the Sanctuary, and he didn't dare to have any thoughts of bargaining.

After all, Yu Ping'an was just an ordinary person, without the capability to do so.

Therefore, after meeting Su Yu, the first thing Yu Ping'an did was to confess everything and present the Source Core Crystal.