Chapter 551: Great Harvest! The Complete Ritual of the Fourth Rank Profession, Time Drifter!_2

Fortunately, he was cautious enough to preemptively transform himself into a quantum state.

In this state, his computational ability was terrifyingly powerful, enough to handle these horrific memory invasions.

The pollution of information must be resisted with computational power!

At this moment, the impact of the Memory Demon's memories surged like waves, one after another, each stronger than the last, endlessly.

After withstanding the first wave of memory impact, Su Yu immediately activated quantum computing to begin decrypting these memories.

A large amount of encrypted information was decoded.

However, most of it was useless information, like daily eating, drinking, excretion, and so on.

Only then did Su Yu realize that this Memory Demon, a twisted mass of flesh, actually needed to eat, drink, even sleep, and excrete in daily life.

Watching the memories of the Memory Demon waving its tentacles while cooking food, Su Yu felt a bit amused.

However, once Su Yu saw clearly the "food" this creature was cooking, he couldn't laugh anymore.

It was human!

"Indeed, it has become a complete monster, with nothing left but a vengeance obsession, apart from the original Seven-star Transcendent form, it has no relation to humanity,"

Su Yu spat in his mind.

Then Su Yu no longer looked at these daily trivialities, but focused his attention on the core key memories.

Those key memories contain what Su Yu wanted to find.

However, these key memories were highly "encrypted," extremely difficult to decode.

Moreover, their aggressiveness and pollution were way stronger than ordinary memories.

Even with the aid of quantum computing, Su Yu found it hard to completely crack them in a short time.

Luckily, Su Yu had plenty of time.

A whole day and night passed, and suddenly the massive memory torrent shuddered and stopped attacking Su Yu.

Su Yu felt a sense of relief, finally having cracked the core key memories!

Once decrypted, the memories became ordinary information, without any aggressiveness or pollution.

Su Yu immediately began to read these pieces of information.

Then...

[Possible Profession Path: Foundation Profession - Timekeeper]

[Possible Profession Path: Foundation Profession - Record Keeper]

[Possible Profession Path: Foundation Profession - Swordmaster]

[Possible Profession Path: Foundation Profession - Cardsharp]

[Possible Profession Path: Foundation Profession - Beast Tamer]

...

A long list suddenly popped up on the Profession Panel, unlocking dozens of Foundation Professions!

This was because, in the core memories of the Memory Demon, Su Yu saw the core information of dozens of third-rank professions!

The Memory Demon was formed from the fusion of dozens of Seven-star Transcendents, most of whom had different professions.

Therefore, the memories of the Memory Demon naturally contained information on these dozens of third-rank professions!

Furthermore, even the most important fourth-rank profession, Time Drifter, was among them!

It included its core ritual and Meditation Technique!

Thus, the Profession Panel immediately unlocked the related Foundation Professions!

"This is indeed a bumper harvest..."

Su Yu couldn't help but feel excited as he looked at this information.

A harvest of dozens of third-rank professions and one fourth-rank profession is nothing short of a bumper harvest!

Although it was unlikely Su Yu could take on all these professions, or even one of them, it was not surprising.

However, all these third-rank professions, various rituals, and Meditation Techniques contained extraordinary knowledge that was invaluable!

This time, Su Yu truly had his eyes opened!

He gained a deeper understanding of Transcendents, Spiritual Energy, and Subspace.

Previously, Su Yu had also considered creating his own Time System profession.

But for the time being, he could only think about it, with no clue on how to create it.

Although Su Yu had used the power to change the timeline once, this power in essence utilized the function of the Subspace Analyzer.

It was not truly Su Yu's own strength.

Without the Subspace Analyzer, he couldn't even achieve quantumization, let alone alter the timeline.

How to achieve quantumization on his own, alter the timeline, and in the process, ensure his own safety without constantly gambling with his life, Su Yu was still clueless.

But now, seeing so many third-rank professions, Su Yu suddenly had some inspiration!

He felt that as long as he devoted time to research, one day he would surely be able to create his own Time System profession!

"No wonder the Memory Demon could create the Time Drifter! It has so much third-rank profession knowledge, extraordinary knowledge, far exceeding any ordinary Seven-star Transcendent."

Su Yu couldn't help but say.

The Memory Demon truly mastered too many third-rank professions! Possessed too much extraordinary knowledge!

Even among these third-rank professions, there were some that had certain traits related to Time.

By utilizing these professional abilities, the Memory Demon could touch a bit of the power of Time!

The Memory Demon's achievements were built upon the heritage of dozens of Seven-star Transcendents and centuries of research, which Su Yu previously could not match, and that was understandable.

Fortunately, now this precious knowledge belonged to Su Yu!

Su Yu calmed his excitement and did not look closely at those third-rank professions but instead focused on the only fourth-rank profession.

Time Drifter!

The complete ritual for the Time Drifter is:

[Raise the third-rank professions 'Memory Demon,' 'Historian,' 'Descender' to Nine-star Top Level.]

[Cultivate the 'Time Meditation Technique' to the highest tier.]

[Then find powerful, ancient Transcendents as the ritual's sacrifice. At least ten Seven-star Transcendents or one Nine-star Transcendent. Their lifespan must exceed a thousand years, the older and stronger, the better the ritual effect.]

[Replace the memory mark of these powerful entities with the abilities of the Memory Demon.]

[Replace their Time Projection with the abilities of the Historian.]

[Use the 'Time Meditation Technique' to completely kill and obliterate your consciousness! Erase yourself from the current Time point.]

[As you kill yourself, use the Descender's abilities to have your consciousness descend from the Memory Space to the past. Reborn in the past, achieving Time drifting!]

[Time Meditation Technique: ...]

This is the complete ritual and Meditation Technique for the Time Drifter.

Su Yu remembered this information deeply in his mind.

"As expected of a fourth-rank profession, it starts by cultivating three third-rank professions to Nine-star Top Level!"

"Moreover, one must find powerful Transcendents as sacrifices!"

"Even, at the final juncture, kill oneself!"

"Is it possible that to gain the Power of Time, one must first die once? So that's it, it turns out I was right to have killed myself earlier...."

Su Yu murmured to himself, his brain's computational power running at full speed, frantically analyzing the mysteries of this ritual, inspiration pouring in like a tide.

At that moment, Su Yu suddenly saw a twisted mass of flesh speaking to him.

Su Yu's heart tightened, and he paused his thoughts.

Because... the one speaking was the Memory Demon!

"Su Yu! You actually managed to see this information. It seems that you have completely deciphered my memory! And have not been polluted by my memory."

"You truly are powerful; I chose the wrong opponent."

"In that case, all the secrets and knowledge in my memory are your spoils of war!"

"I hope you can make good use of this knowledge and keep becoming stronger."

"Rest assured, I haven't altered any part of this knowledge! Hahaha!"

This was a message, without any intention or intelligence.

It should have been left by the Memory Demon before its death.

The Memory Demon must have assumed Su Yu would attempt to decipher its memory, so it left him with these few words.

"Tsk, still so discomforting even in death."

Su Yu frowned slightly.

On the surface, the Memory Demon's message seemed quite friendly, intending to leave all secrets and knowledge to Su Yu.

As the saying goes, 'A man's words are good when he is about to die.'

Could it be that the Memory Demon had a conscience before dying and so spoke kindly?

That would be absurd.

And the Memory Demon saying it definitely did not alter these memories.

Should Su Yu believe this nonsense or not?

If he believed, he might fall into a trap, and there might be pitfalls that the Memory Demon set in this knowledge.

If he didn't believe, wouldn't the Memory Demon's knowledge be unusable?

It seemed that before its death, the Memory Demon was feverishly trying to retaliate against Su Yu, leaving this message to disgust him.

This creature's name was indeed fitting with the word "vengeance."

Truly vindictive to the extreme, never missing any chance for revenge.

Chapter 552: The Final Conspiracy of the Enemy Demon, the Comprehension of Death!

"Heh, an enemy like the Vengeful Demon is actually quite straightforward."

"You just need to expect the worst in everything related to it."

"The Vengeful Demon claims it hasn't altered these memories, so it definitely has. These rituals and knowledge are not trustworthy."

"But such minor tricks won't trouble me; Vengeful Demon, you can rest assured and depart."

Su Yu sneered at the petty tricks left by the Vengeful Demon and paid them little mind.

First of all, unlocking the Foundation Professions from the Profession Panel reveals that most of the knowledge from the Vengeful Demon's memories is likely accurate.

Otherwise, the Profession Panel wouldn't respond.

If it were all fabricated, how could new professions be unlocked?

It seems the Vengeful Demon understands that a clever lie must be ten truths and one falsehood to fool people.

So it only altered key parts of the knowledge, making it a mix of truths and falsehoods.

This makes it difficult for Su Yu to discern.

Even after death, it still manages to disgust Su Yu once more.

But for Su Yu, since most of the knowledge is real, it's enough for him to reference and study.

After all, he doesn't plan to actually take up those professions.

Even with the Time Drifter, a Fourth Rank profession, Su Yu doesn't plan to pursue it.

After all, the rituals and Meditation Technique of this profession must contain major pitfalls left by the Vengeful Demon.

Carelessly taking it up could very well lead to his own demise.

Moreover, the Time Drifter's rituals are exceedingly evil, requiring harm to others, something Su Yu would never desire.

What Su Yu truly wants is to use this Extraordinary Knowledge to create his own Fourth Rank profession, thereby mastering his own Power of Time!

With Identification from the Profession Panel, Su Yu need not worry that the profession he creates might have hidden dangers due to referencing the Vengeful Demon's knowledge.

Besides, Su Yu also has the ability of foreseeing the future, and if he pushes himself, he could even see the timelines.

Before conducting crucial experiments, he can check in advance if there are any issues.

With this, the Vengeful Demon definitely won't be able to trap him.

"It seems before the Vengeful Demon died, it really had no means, so it resorted to this trivial tactic to disgust me, how boring."

At this moment, Su Yu was not angry but found it rather amusing.

With the wisdom of the Vengeful Demon, it should also understand that such minor tactics cannot trap Su Yu and can only disgust him a little.

But that's what dying struggles are.

Even while dying, it wants to take a bite out of Su Yu, knowing full well it cannot get to him.

Su Yu shook his head slightly, ignoring this shadow.

However, at this moment, the shadow left by the Vengeful Demon spoke again, automatically playing internal Information it held:

"Su Yu, you need not doubt! I mean no harm; now our positions are the same."

"I was born only for revenge, but revenge might not necessarily require me to do it myself."

"Now I am dead, without the ability for revenge."

"But you have inherited my knowledge, so I hope you can use the knowledge I've left and continuously grow stronger to finally avenge me! Break those celestial locks! Destroy all those cold Mechanical Creations!"

"What do you think, Su Yu! You hate those lofty machines in the sky too, right? Then make good use of the knowledge I've left..."

The shadow of the Vengeful Demon spoke amicably and eloquently.

When it spoke, it was as if it possessed real consciousness.

However, Su Yu was certain the shadow was merely ordinary Information, like a pre-recorded video, incapable of actual thinking.

"Dead is dead; what's the point of doing these things? Really trying to deceive me?"

"However... the Vengeful Demon possessed too many Extraordinary Abilities; could it not be completely dead? Still leaving a trump for resurrection?"

"Unlikely, but being cautious is never wrong."

Su Yu listened impatiently and, with a thought, prepared to delete this shadow.

The Vengeful Demon's memories had already been fully deciphered by Su Yu and could naturally be deleted at will.

Instantly, the still chattering shadow of the Vengeful Demon vanished from Su Yu's sight.

Simultaneously, Su Yu also deleted those memories he had previously read.

At this moment, Su Yu seemed to be reading a book, tearing a page after reading a page.

Once he finished reading and absorbed all the knowledge, the book was destroyed by him.

Su Yu intended to thoroughly remove the traces left by the Vengeful Demon, eliminating any final hidden troubles.

Being cautious is never wrong.

However, just as Su Yu deleted all the memories, in an unknown mysterious place, in another timeline, a twisted shadow was laughing maniacally...

"Hahaha! Su Yu! Thank you for your accomplishment!"

"I have finally succeeded! At last, I can grasp this supreme power! Time! Fate!"

"Thanks to Su Yu, without your help, how could I ever see such a..."

"Rest assured, I will definitely repay you well..."

It was the Vengeful Demon!

It turns out it wasn't truly dead!

Even for Su Yu, altering the timeline failed to completely kill it!

Additionally, it seemed that Su Yu's action of deleting memories played right into its hands!

As Su Yu deleted the memories inside his false body, the illusionary shadow of the Vengeful Demon in this mysterious place slowly solidified.

It seemed to be transforming from a state of Nihilism to reality, resurrecting back.

Moreover, it appeared that post-resurrection, it would complete the ritual, achieving Time Drifter! Truly transcending nine-star existence!

At that time, with it in the shadows and Su Yu in the open, it would be extremely dangerous.

...

Su Yu awoke with a start.

He looked at the shadow of the Vengeful Demon again, deep in thought.

In reality, he had not truly deleted the memories left by the Vengeful Demon.

Chapter 553: The Final Conspiracy of Chou Mo, The Comprehension of Death!_2

The scene previously deleted was merely a future foresight through his ability to see the future.

In that future, Su Yu deleted Qiu Mo's memory.

Then... nothing happened, no problems whatsoever.

However, Su Yu still felt something was off.

No reason, just a feeling of wrongness.

This feeling, though, was very faint.

It seemed like a paranoid illusion, like a delusion caused by altering the timeline.

"I've seen the timeline, altered fate. My premonition now shouldn't be without reason. This shouldn't be the sequelae of changing the timeline, that's been cured."

"There must be a real problem with the shadow and memory Qiu Mo left behind."

Su Yu did not ignore this uneasy feeling.

Even ordinary people have a sixth sense, not to mention a powerful Transcendent like Su Yu?

Especially since Su Yu could foresee the future and see the timeline.

The uneasy feeling he had might just be a glimpse of some vague future, a primal alertness.

"Calm down! First, rule out the illusion factor!"

Su Yu muttered to himself, then harnessed the Power of Nihilism to calm himself and eliminate distracting factors.

In a quantumized state, the effect of the Power of Nihilism was greatly reduced, so Su Yu had to "increase the dosage."

After a long while, with the application of a large amount of the Power of Nihilism, Su Yu finally calmed down completely, without a trace of emotion.

In this state of extreme calmness, the feeling of something being off became even more pronounced.

"As expected..."

Su Yu coldly stared at Qiu Mo's shadow.

By now, he was certain that the memories and the shadow left behind by Qiu Mo were definitely problematic.

Clearly, Su Yu had repeatedly checked these were just some harmless information.

Yet Su Yu vaguely felt that if not handled correctly, these memories could become his death warrant!

"Then, where is the problem?"

Su Yu's expression grew solemn as he thought rapidly.

There was clearly a problem, but he couldn't find where it lay.

Initially, if the memory information had an issue, it would be straightforward to just delete it.

However, Su Yu knew that Qiu Mo's methods were bizarre, so he couldn't act rashly.

"Qiu Mo researched the Power of Time for a long time before his death."

"He even created the Fourth Rank profession, Time Drifter."

"Its research into the Power of Time was exceptionally profound."

"Moreover, it was killed by my altering of time."

"Meaning I allowed it to encounter the true Power of Time!"

"Could it be that it had another realization before dying, so it never really died?"

Su Yu speculated inwardly.

The progress of Qiu Mo's research on the Power of Time definitely far surpassed Su Yu.

Its biggest flaw was that all its research was theoretical; it likely never truly experienced the Power of Time.

However, it died under the Power of Time!

Su Yu altered the timeline and killed it.

But in doing so, allowed it to "broaden its perspective" once.

Experiencing firsthand the power of time and the cruelty of fate for the first time.

For a researcher, such an eye-opening moment is more precious than any treasure!

Indeed, a researcher!

At this moment, Su Yu referred to Qiu Mo as a researcher!

Although Qiu Mo was evil and bizarre, and opposed to Su Yu, he admitted its status as a researcher.

Being able to create the Time Drifter, this Fourth Rank profession, who else but a researcher?

Su Yu has never underestimated its wisdom in the Extraordinary Domain.

So... Qiu Mo might have, before its death.

No! After its death!

Qiu Mo might, the instant it knew it was dying and before its consciousness dissipated, have comprehended deeper secrets of time!

Perhaps even at the last moment, it further modified and perfected the Time Drifter Ceremony!

"So, it altered the memory and left this shadow as its final resort?"

Su Yu muttered to himself.

"But what's the point of having this shadow say those words?"

"Does it really expect to deceive me, make me believe that a dying man's words are kind?"

"To make me believe these bindings, accept these memories, and then somehow revive?"

Su Yu pondered for a while, feeling it was somewhat unlikely.

Qiu Mo's plan shouldn't be so brainless, right?

"No! It must be trying to intentionally anger me, to make me delete these memories!"

Suddenly, an inspiration struck Su Yu, revealing another possibility.

Qiu Mo arranged for this shadow to say those words, not to deceive Su Yu at all.

On the contrary, it knew it couldn't deceive Su Yu, so it wanted to use this to infuriate Su Yu!

"The ceremony of the Time Drifter requires one to completely kill oneself at the last moment, erasing all traces of oneself from reality."

"Could it be that Qiu Mo had another realization before dying, and altered the ceremony?"

"Me changing the timeline and killing it, is that also part of the ceremony?"

"And these memories are the last traces it left behind, which, if deleted, would signify its complete death and the ceremony's completion?"

"So it left this shadow to try and anger me into deleting these memories, helping it complete the final ceremony?"

"Truly insidious! I almost fell into its trap!"

This is the other possibility Su Yu thought of!

Qiu Mo indeed died, but not completely.

Because Qiu Mo's ceremony was about completely killing itself.

And being killed by Su Yu's alteration of the timeline might be more thorough than its own suicide.

If Su Yu deleted these memories, it would truly be complete.

Although this possibility sounds somewhat fantastical.

Su Yu felt it was most likely true!

"Thankfully, I have the ability to foresee the future, allowing me to trial and error ahead of time."

Su Yu felt relieved in his heart.

An enemy like Qiu Mo is terrifyingly powerful, with endless capabilities, and one could easily fall into its traps unknowingly, making it nearly indefensible.

Fortunately, Su Yu has the ability to foresee the future, which is almost like cheating, allowing him to uncover Qiu Mo's bizarre methods and insidious plans right away.

Of course, it's also because Su Yu is cautious and smart enough.

Another reckless person, even with the ability to foresee the future, could ruin everything if they were impatient and simply deleted the memories.

No matter how strong the ability, it depends on who uses it and how it's used.

Su Yu is evidently the kind of person who can maximize his power.

"Looks like these memories should be kept."

Su Yu muttered to himself, deciding not to delete those memories anymore.

He even planned to preserve them well.

The moment Su Yu made up his mind, in that unknown mysterious place.

Qiu Mo let out a silent roar: "Su Yu..."

Then, it completely dissipated, and even that mysterious place disappeared as if it had never existed.

...

"Sure enough, this feels much better..."

Using the ability of the Data Mechanic, Su Yu heavily wrapped and encrypted Qiu Mo's memories, sealing them off.

The discomfort he felt vanished immediately, and he felt much more at ease.

It seemed that this decision was indeed correct.

"Qiu Mo really achieved remarkable accomplishments."

"Even after death, it was able to realize something, truly impressive!"

"I really wonder what the perfected Time Drifter Ceremony looks like after its improvements?"

Su Yu felt slightly regretful.

Qiu Mo's profound realization before death was likely not recorded within these memories.

It's probably knowledge no one will ever obtain.

Thinking this way feels somewhat regretful.

"But maybe not, in the future when I'm strong enough, I can help Qiu Mo complete the ceremony, let it revive, and then kill it again."

Su Yu smiled slightly, feeling much more at ease.

After all, Qiu Mo should be stuck halfway through its ceremony, neither fully dead nor able to live.

When Su Yu has enough power to handle it easily, he can release it, force it to reveal its secrets, and then kill it again...

After sealing those memories, Su Yu's mind returned to his body.

Though he left a part of his consciousness in his avatar.

Now this avatar has no hidden dangers and can serve as Su Yu's second body, greatly enhancing his combat power.

"Next, continue researching the Subspace Analyzer!"

Chapter 554: Researching Again, Expanding Consciousness! The Numb Tie Long!

Su Yu had just quantumized himself earlier, and hadn't had time to study the decryption of the Subspace Analyzer before encountering trouble from the Demon Nemesis.

Now that the Demon Nemesis is dead, he can finally continue his research.

Su Yu was very eager; the memories of the Demon Nemesis had already brought him great rewards. What kind of harvest would this Subspace Analyzer bring?

With a thought, his Quantum Body returned to the interior of the Subspace Analyzer.

He glanced at those strange instruments, took a deep breath, and then activated foreseeing the future.

For safety, he wanted to see in advance if there would be any danger in studying this instrument.

However, this time his foresight showed nothing, only darkness.

"It seems this instrument is immune to the ability of foreseeing the future."

Su Yu shrugged helplessly.

The rank of the Subspace Analyzer was too high, directly immune to Su Yu's foresight.

It's not surprising; after all, Su Yu's quantumized state and foresight ability were actually powers granted by these instruments.

Using the instrument's own power to investigate it yielded no results, which was normal.

"As expected from the Subspace Analyzer..."

"Looks like I'll have to do it myself."

Su Yu sighed slightly in his heart.

Although he couldn't see the outcomes, Su Yu still decided to give it a try.

He couldn't just abandon the research because he couldn't foresee the future and just watch and do nothing, right?

Su Yu wasn't that timid.

Though the ability to foresee the future was powerful, he would rely on it, not depend on it, and would not be bound by it.

This Subspace Analyzer contained great secrets; at the very least, Su Yu knew it definitely contained the secrets of quantumization.

And quantumization was the most important foundation for Su Yu to create his own Time System profession.

So even if he couldn't see the auspicious or ominous future, Su Yu would still take the risk and try.

He was cautious, but when it was time to take a risk, he would do so.

Su Yu's expression was solemn as he slowly gathered his strength and probed his consciousness into one of the machines.

This was his innate ability as a Mechanic, to penetrate Mechanical Creations with his spiritual power, thereby analyzing their structure and principles.

All of those instruments were of bizarre shapes, and he couldn't discern their uses, so Su Yu randomly chose one.

When Su Yu penetrated his mind into the interior of that peculiar machine, his consciousness was instantly struck as if by lightning.

Then...

Boom!

In that instant, Su Yu seemed to see a sky full of stars, infinite and boundless.

It was as if a universe of information flooded into his mind at once.

Under such intense impact, Su Yu's consciousness went black, and he seemed to faint.

Fortunately, after a moment, he came to.

However, he found he had already exited the quantumized state and returned to his normal flesh and blood body.

"What just happened?"

Su Yu was somewhat confused, even experiencing memory loss, unable to recall what had just occurred.

After a while, he slowly recalled everything he had seen earlier.

This recall gave him a headache immediately.

His brain felt as if it had a whole universe stuffed inside, almost bursting!

A massive amount of incredibly complex information filled his consciousness.

This information almost completely occupied Su Yu's consciousness space, restricting his normal thinking activity.

At this moment, Su Yu was like a vintage hard drive overloaded with data.

Because the data was packed so full, normal operation was affected.

"What exactly is all this information?"

Su Yu's thinking was limited, unable to figure out the situation, and could only slowly ponder and organize his thoughts.

At this time, he had not only exited the quantumized state, unable to use Quantum Computing to boost his computational power.

Even the speed of his normal state thinking had slowed down several times over.

It was like going from supersonic flight one second to crawling on the ground with two legs the next.

The huge disparity made him very uncomfortable.

If someone with lesser mental resilience had experienced this, they might have gone insane and become mad.

Fortunately, Su Yu's will was firm, and after a while, he finally adapted to this state, regaining his normal thinking ability.

Only then did he realize what had happened.

He also understood what all that information in his consciousness was.

"That information seems to be the structural information of this instrument?"

"The internal structure of this thing is too complex and precise."

"So when I penetrated it with my mind and acquired its information, my consciousness was 'burst' by this vast data?"

As it turned out, when Su Yu infiltrated the machine with his consciousness, seeing stars filling the sky, it was endless.

Those weren't real stars but the precise internal structure of the instrument.

The internal structure of that instrument was extremely precise, too microscopic, containing a vast amount of information.

And Su Yu's Mechanic ability had always been very efficient at collecting information, and combined with his quantumized state, his computational power soared, making the efficiency even higher.

So Su Yu's consciousness instantly gathered a massive amount of structural information.

Then this huge volume of information immediately burst Su Yu's consciousness!

"This... this is ridiculous, so precise to this extent..."

Su Yu was extremely surprised.

You know, he was in a quantum state before, with incredibly powerful computational power.

He could even fend off the memory invasion of the Demon Nemesis, which was nearly ten thousand years old.

But now, the internal structural information of this Subspace Analyzer actually made the quantumized Su Yu's consciousness burst instantly.

Chapter 555: Researching Again, Expanding Consciousness! The Numb Tie Long!_2

Forced him out of the quantumized state!

The precision of this instrument far exceeded Su Yu's imagination.

Moreover, the information Su Yu gathered in that brief moment seemed incomplete, just a small part of the instrument's interior.

And that instrument was just one among dozens.

"What terrifying precision! How on earth was this thing designed and manufactured?"

"How should I study this?"

While analyzing the information in his mind, Su Yu marveled internally.

Just collecting its internal structure with his spirit had already left Su Yu overwhelmed.

Not to mention studying its principles.

"Never mind, let's take it slow."

Su Yu calmed himself down.

He once again shut off his perception, putting himself into a quantum state.

Once in a quantum state, his computational power instantly surged.

The previous feeling of his consciousness being overburdened, where his thoughts couldn't turn, improved significantly.

Then, utilizing the high computational power of the quantum state, Su Yu started to study the complex structural information in his consciousness.

After a while...

"I can't understand it at all..."

Su Yu thought helplessly.

The structural information was too complex and precise, containing an unknown number of intricate components and structures.

Each minute structure was something Su Yu had never heard of or seen before.

Even with the extraordinary computational power of the quantum state, he couldn't comprehend its principles at all.

More importantly, the structural information Su Yu gathered was incomplete, just a small part of that instrument.

Precision combined with complexity and incompleteness—understanding it would be almost miraculous.

"It seems that to study it, I must first collect the complete structure."

"But my consciousness is already filled up, what should I do?"

Su Yu felt a bit troubled.

At this moment, his consciousness was equivalent to only a partial "blueprint."

The incomplete blueprint was impossible to study and occupied a large portion of his thought space.

"Should I produce a large number of chips to store this information from my consciousness and clear it out?"

Su Yu began to think of a solution.

The simplest method was to produce a large number of Superior Level Chips and then transfer the data in his consciousness into the chips.

But that would be too troublesome and would require a large chip production capacity.

As Su Yu hesitated, he suddenly noticed something odd about himself.

"Wait, although I can't understand this information, my thoughts seem to be becoming more fluid."

"Is my mind adapting to this information?"

"Is my mind 'expanding'?"

Su Yu was astonished to find that despite his consciousness being overwhelmed with massive amounts of information, it had not collapsed or been injured; instead, it seemed to have been trained by the state, adapting to it.

His consciousness was 'expanding,' becoming capable of accommodating more information!

Not only was it expanding, but it seemed even the computational speed had improved.

This kind of improvement was extremely rare.

After all, for high-level Transcendents, thought capacity and computational power count as a kind of combat power.

In combat, calculating more and more accurately naturally gives one an edge, standing undefeated.

If calculations were slow, facing the enemy's attack, reactive measures couldn't even keep up—having strength in vain would just make one a target.

And normally, to enhance thought capacity and computational power, one can only rely on upgrading or taking a specialized profession.

For instance, advancing from six stars to seven stars would result in a leap in thought computing power.

But now, Su Yu hadn't upgraded yet still improved his thought capacity and computational power.

Su Yu's energy hadn't changed at all, but his combat power had indeed increased.

"Who would have thought, there are advantages to having one's thoughts overwhelmed by data?"

"It seems that unless you push yourself, you might never know your limits."

Su Yu felt extremely surprised and delighted about this situation.

Initially, he was worried that having his consciousness overwhelmed might cause some aftereffects.

Now it seemed that there wouldn't be any, and in fact, there were benefits.

He had never experienced such an overwhelming state of consciousness before.

After all, with his strength, the bearing limit of his consciousness was too high.

Where could he usually find so much information to overwhelm his consciousness?

The memories of the demon revenger wouldn't work, not to mention they were full of pollution and aggressiveness.

Only this Subspace Analyzer had such uniqueness, allowing Su Yu to gain such benefits.

Indeed, an unexpected surprise.

"It seems that as long as I keep trying, eventually I'll be able to completely collect the full structure of this instrument."

"No need to waste chips anymore."

Su Yu muttered to himself, deciding to once again try to gather data from the Subspace Analyzer.

Once more, his spirit infiltrated the previously examined instrument.

Boom!

Massive amounts of information flooded in again!

Su Yu once again passed out.

A moment later, he woke up again and found that he had exited the quantumized state once more.

"What was I doing just now?"

Su Yu thought in confusion.

After a while, he remembered that he was studying the Subspace Analyzer just now.

This time, he recovered a bit faster than the last, seeming indeed to have adapted significantly.

Recalling everything, Su Yu hurriedly checked his consciousness.

He found that indeed, his consciousness now contained a lot of new information.

This was all newly gathered.

"Indeed, it expanded. It seems the expansion speed is very rapid, about one percent per attempt..."

Su Yu was very satisfied.

The first time he gathered information, his consciousness was already overwhelmed and couldn't accommodate more.

But this time, there was one percent more information.

Apparently, his consciousness had expanded by one percent.

Though it may seem only one percent, this effect was already extraordinary.

After all, only a couple of minutes had passed, with just one or two attempts, and there was already such dramatic change.

What if I keep trying?

"Let's try again!"

Without hesitation, Su Yu immediately shut off his perception, putting himself into quantumization once more.

Then, once more, his spirit infiltrated, gathering information.

Then, once more, overwhelmed by information, he passed out, exiting the quantumized state.

And then he shut off his perception again...

Eventually, having become skilled, he was able to compress this process to within a minute.

A mere minute per cycle.

Meanwhile, in the Mechanical City, a group of higher-ups was in a meeting discussing global large-scale development.

This matter was extremely complex, involving all sorts of major issues. Even they, as powerful, quick-thinking Transcendents, were somewhat exhausted, so the discussion was still not finished.

At this moment, everyone suddenly noticed Tie Long's changing expression, looking almost comical.

Curious, the others quickly asked, "What's happening? Has something happened to Mr. Su Yu again?"

They all knew that Tie Long was a Believer of Su Yu and could feel Su Yu's state of life and death.

Tie Long nodded and said, "It seems Mr. Su Yu... has been dying and coming back to life, dying once and living once every minute..."

The constant cycle of his faith object dying and returning had overwhelmed Tie Long a bit.

Whenever Su Yu died, Tie Long instinctively felt grief and sorrow.

When Su Yu lived, Tie Long instinctively felt joy and excitement.

Such was the nature of a Believer, and Tie Long was unable to control it.

Under normal circumstances, this instinct would not cause much impact.

At most, dying once would be the end of it.

But now, once per minute—who could stand that?

What is going on?

Everyone was speechless upon hearing this.

Has Mr. Su Yu evolved again?

Why is he dying faster and faster...

"No, Mr. Su Yu is working too hard, we need to speed things up too..."

Stimulated by Su Yu's "effort," everyone hurriedly sped up the pace of their meeting discussion...

Su Yu spent the entire day dying and coming back to life.

Tie Long and the other Believers became numb by the end, to the point that even if Su Yu died a tragic death before them, they probably wouldn't react much and might even be amused...

After spending an entire day dying and coming back to life, Su Yu finally expanded his consciousness to its limit! Over ten times his prior capacity!

By now, he had completed collecting all the information about that instrument!

Just as he completed the collection, Su Yu suddenly vibrated all over!

His body suddenly twisted, shockingly losing its human form and transforming into that peculiar instrument!

Chapter 556: Ever-Changing, Su Yu's New Ability! The True Function of the Subspace Analyzer!

At this moment, Su Yu had completely lost his human form and turned into a bizarrely shaped machine.

This machine was exactly the one Su Yu had been researching earlier.

After Su Yu had fully captured all the structural information of this machine, his quantumized body had directly transformed into this machine!

This machine was neither square nor round, not at all symmetrical, with a peculiar shape.

The surface was covered with countless dents and sharp protrusions.

At first glance, it almost seemed like a useless piece of scrap metal.

However, upon closer inspection, one could see some intricate mechanical structures on the surface, slowly operating.

Only then could it be recognized as a mechanical instrument.

"How did I become like this?"

Su Yu's thinking ability was unaffected, but he was quite shocked.

The sudden bizarre transformation of his body startled him, even though he was somewhat flustered.

He could sense that his body was not just changing on the surface but had transformed into a machine at the deepest level, in every tiny structure.

At this moment, he had no flesh and cells at all, completely a machine! There was no human trait left!

He even vaguely felt that this machine he transformed into was still operating, not just a facade; it truly had functionality!

Although Su Yu still didn't know what exactly this machine was supposed to do...

"Oh no! Will I remain like this forever? Quickly change back!"

Su Yu was not interested in delving into the machine's functions for the moment; instead, he wanted to return to his former self.

He still considered himself a genuine human being and had no desire to live on as a bizarre machine.

With such a strong intention, the machine he had become started twisting and soon reverted to a human form.

This made him feel relieved; thankfully, he could revert back.

If he couldn't change back, there would be big trouble.

But why did he suddenly turn into a machine?

Su Yu was very confused.

He carefully recalled the details of the moment when the transformation occurred.

After a while, he finally started to understand a bit:

"It seemed to be... the observer effect?"

At this time, Su Yu was still in a quantumized state.

In this state, his body was entirely composed of a quantum probability cloud, not real physical matter.

He maintained a human form through "self-observation."

In Su Yu's deep subconscious, he identified as Su Yu, as a human.

Thus, this intention, under certain principles, caused his probability cloud to collapse, maintaining a normal human body.

But this self-observation was actually unstable.

Therefore, if one looked closely at Su Yu's body at the moment, they would notice a somewhat ethereal, uncertain feeling.

It seemed like Su Yu's body existed in several places at once.

It was never possible to measure Su Yu's precise location.

This is the trait of a quantum probability cloud.

If Su Yu's spirit collapsed and he couldn't maintain self-observation, then his body would instantly collapse as well, turning into a chaotic probability cloud, unable to maintain a human form anymore.

The scene that just occurred was similar to this principle.

After Su Yu collected the complete critical information of that mechanical instrument, his self-awareness also changed.

At that moment, he subconsciously felt that he was not a human but a machine.

There was no helping it; the amount of information about that machine was simply too large.

It occupied almost all of Su Yu's memory.

This is why he had such an illusion.

For someone who is a human, but 99.99999...% of his memory consists of information about a mechanical instrument,

It's not surprising for that person to have the illusion that he is an instrument.

And because of this illusion, Su Yu's self-observation also changed.

He felt like he was a machine, and under the influence of self-observation, his quantum probability cloud actually collapsed into that machine.

"The quantum world is truly amazing."

After understanding the principle behind this, Su Yu couldn't help but marvel once again.

Since encountering the quantum domain, he had sighed in awe several times in a short period.

He had never seen anything like it before; now he was truly enlightened.

"Tsk tsk, this seems quite similar to data materialization."

Su Yu thought about data materialization.

The Mechanical Spirit can also transform endlessly, changing from formless data into tangible entities.

But it still differs greatly from Su Yu's quantum probability cloud now.

These are fundamental differences.

The differences still need further research.

Then, Su Yu had another peculiar idea:

"Doesn't this mean that now I can be like the legendary monkey, capable of limitless transformations, the seventy-two changes?"

Su Yu thought that if he felt like a machine, then using self-observation, he could turn himself into a machine.

If he considered himself as something else, could he possibly change into that too?

However, Su Yu quickly realized, not everything can necessarily be changed into.

Su Yu was able to turn into that bizarre machine and could even operate, possibly using its functions.

The main reason is that he had collected all the structural information of that machine, having absolute understanding of it.

If there were no information, then even if he could transform, there would be no internal structure, just an empty shell.

Another crucial point is that Su Yu must alter his self-perception and fundamentally believe in his deepest subconscious that he is not Su Yu, not human, but something else.

This is actually the greatest difficulty; changing one's self-perception is extremely dangerous, and one wrong move could turn him into a lunatic.

Chapter 557: A Myriad of Transformations, Su Yu's New Ability! The True Function of the Subspace Analyzer!_2

Thinking of this, Su Yu quickly checked the state of his mind.

He soon discovered that deep within his thoughts, there was indeed some chaos, with occasional confusion like "Who am I, where am I".

It seems that although he had transformed back, the effects hadn't been completely eliminated.

This power also comes with a huge price.

"Power of Nihilism!"

Su Yu identified his problem and quickly began to use the Power of Nihilism to heal himself.

Under that desolate power of nihilism, he quickly entered into a state of absolute calmness.

The chaos deep within his thoughts slowly calmed down in this state.

Su Yu sighed in relief. Although there was a price, as long as it could be healed, there was no problem.

The power of the Ghost Hidden Blade, after advancing, transformed into the Power of Nihilism, which is truly useful, capable of treating most mental issues.

The first profession unlocked in the profession panel is the Ghost Hidden Blade, which seems to have profound significance.

This profession is the key for Su Yu to maintain his humanity when facing various evil gods, spiritual pollution, memory invasions, quantization... and other dangers.

Back then, to obtain this profession, he fought a war with the fragment of the Brutal Evil God for a whole month, and it was truly worth it...

"Since the hidden danger can be treated, then... how about trying to transform again?"

After completing self-healing, Su Yu immediately prepared to try transforming again.

This miraculous ability definitely calls for a thorough investigation.

Su Yu immediately began to try, but he didn't transform into that strange machine again, but into something he's most familiar with... a cavalier.

He diligently recalled the structure of a cavalier, and in his heart hypnotized himself, telling himself he was a cavalier.

Slowly, his body indeed began to change, transforming from a human into a mechanical cavalier.

However, this cavalier was somewhat off-kilter, the body not quite symmetrical, even sparking as if something short-circuited.

Bam! A light sound indicated it indeed short-circuited.

Then Su Yu reverted to human form.

"Indeed possible, but not very easy."

An excited Su Yu after the successful experiment.

His quantumized form indeed held the ability to undergo myriad transformations!

Although it was not a case of changing at will; there were significant limitations.

Earlier, due to a lack of proficiency, the cavalier he transformed into had some defects.

But even so, this ability is powerful enough!

Su Yu changed his mind back to human form.

Then used the Power of Nihilicity to heal himself, and transformed once more, this time into an assault tank!

This time, his transformation was much more perfect, not leaking electricity everywhere like before.

"Even a tank this large can transform..."

Having turned into a tank, Su Yu rolled his wheels and tracks, feeling extremely wondrous.

Then he reverted to human form once more.

Next, he changed into every mechanical creation he was familiar with.

Not even Nuonuo or the Brutal Battle Armor were spared.

As long as he understood the specific structure, he could transform!

In the end, when he tried to change into the Mechanical City, he failed due to the vast size difference.

It seems this transformation does have its limits.

At that point, Su Yu stopped, reverting to human form, no longer changing back and forth.

He had been practicing and researching this ability, and now has a decent grasp of it.

He could study it slowly in the future.

Now, he can try transforming into that strange machine once more!

Priorly, Su Yu spent an entire day researching that machine and collected a massive amount of information, yet still couldn't figure out its purpose.

So, he prepared to transform into it, experiencing its functions personally.

Su Yu's thoughts stirred, starting to hypnotize himself, altering his self-cognition.

His body changed once more, quickly transforming into that strange machine.

In this state, he had an instinct; just with a single thought, he could start up this machine!

And so, he activated it!

Then he saw...

"This is... the Subspace Analyzer!"

At that moment, Su Yu was filled with astonishment.

Having gone through so many major events, even witnessing abstract things like the timeline.

Su Yu could definitely be considered knowledgeable and experienced.

But now, he was still shocked by everything he saw.

Though, he technically wasn't "seeing" it.

Because he had become a machine, devoid of any flesh or eyes.

All human sensations had nothing to do with his current state.

His perception capability had transformed due to becoming a machine, into something more abstract and powerful.

With this ability, he witnessed vast sceneries he had never before seen.

He saw Subspace!

Clearly, Su Yu had already entered and exited Subspace many times with his spiritual body, seeing plenty.

Why would he be shocked by seeing Subspace now?

It was because this time, the perspective was different, and so was the field of view.

Previously, whenever Su Yu entered Subspace, even with the Evil God Origin, he barely managed to discern directions and coordinates within Subspace.

But it was really difficult to clearly see any specific things.

Most of the time, he only saw chaos and abstraction.

It was like being in a fog, where even with great eyesight, Su Yu could only see a dozen meters around him.

But this time, it was as if he was equipped with a high-tech see-through device.

All the fog dissipated before Su Yu's "eyes".

Moreover, this "see-through device" wasn't just for transparency; it even had a farsightedness feature.

Thus, the vast skies and wide oceans, endless scenery unfurled before him.

Su Yu's "gaze", aided by the device, delved deep into Subspace.

He saw deep-level domains which he had never seen before.

Just like a regular person, encountering a telescope for the first time, gazing at the starry sky, witnessing the vast universe.

That kind of shock, beyond words, gave Su Yu a significant impact.

For the first time, he realized that such a chaotic place as Subspace could contain such beauty!

No mistake, at this moment, Su Yu was witnessing beauty!

Though chaotic and abstract,

If such chaos and abstraction reached a certain scale, it would unquestionably be considered beauty.

Like the ocean, which is essentially a large puddle, what's so captivating about it?

But because it is immense, naturally it is grand and impressive, enough to move people.

And now, what Su Yu witnessed was a vast ocean of Subspace!

Various abstract information, emotions, and thoughts composed its "waters".

The surging waves were the rise and fall of spiritual energy, never ceasing.

At this moment, Su Yu realized for the first time that Subspace indeed has "layers".

Su Yu used to participate in transcendent gatherings, all at the "surface layer", like the ocean's surface.

Underneath the "water", Su Yu had never ventured.

He was unaware of how many secrets and dangers lurked there, prompting Su Yu to explore.

"My understanding of Subspace was truly shallow before..."

"So that's how spiritual energy reaches the material world."

"It turns out..."

Su Yu observed with increasing astonishment.

Many previous doubts now became suddenly clear.

Even though he had always used spiritual energy, he never truly comprehended how it operated, how it journeyed from Subspace to the material world.

It's akin to someone eating every day.

But asking what nutrients are in the food, and how those nutrients are absorbed and transformed into strength and muscle, he might not articulate.

Previously, Su Yu couldn't articulate either.

But now, with a mere thought, he slightly adjusted his ability.

And then he "watched" the rise and fall of the Subspace ocean, a small "wave" that quickly disappeared.

With the ebb and flow of this "wave", spiritual energy permeated into the real world, available for his use.

Meanwhile, the intention behind Su Yu's ability activation, containing thought, emotion, and will, merged back into the Subspace ocean in reverse, becoming a part of the Subspace "water".

Su Yu had never so vividly seen how his ability operated.

"If I had seen this scene earlier, I estimate I could have created a fourth-rank profession long ago!"

Su Yu mused to himself, feeling somewhat excited.

Previously, although he resolved to create his own profession, he didn't have much direction.

The dozens of third-rank professions of the Vex Demon gave him much inspiration, yet it remained challenging.

But now, equipped with this ability, able to directly view into Subspace's depths and witness the operation of spiritual energy.

Thus, the path of creating his own profession became much simpler.

The former him was akin to a blind person attempting to become a painter.

The challenges could well be imagined.

Now, he finally possessed "eyes", capable of seeing colors!

"The Subspace Analyzer, truly lives up to its name!"

Chapter 558: New Discovery, Extraordinary Materials Science!

At this moment, Su Yu finally understood what the name "Subspace Analyzer" meant.

It truly can analyze the Subspace.

After all, it can view the Subspace with such clarity.

Of course, merely seeing clearly doesn't count as analyzing.

The name "Analyzer" obviously suggests a data processing and analysis function.

The machine Su Yu transformed into now has no such capability.

However, inside the Subspace Analyzer, there are more than a dozen bizarre machines.

The one Su Yu transformed into is just one of them.

I estimate the other machines each have different powerful functions.

There should be one or several machines with strong computing power to analyze these subspace images being observed.

Earlier, Su Yu thought it was a Subspace Simulator, but simulating the Subspace is probably just part of its function.

All the functions combined make up the complete Subspace Analyzer.

If Su Yu could gather the structural information of these dozen machines, he might be able to transform into the complete Subspace Analyzer and experience all its functions.

At that time, Su Yu would be the Subspace Analyzer, and the Subspace Analyzer would be Su Yu.

However, that requires Su Yu to increase his consciousness capacity.

Su Yu would need to expand his consciousness by more than ten times to gather all the information of those remaining dozen machines.

It's even possible those remaining machines have even more precise structures, with more information.

The required capacity would also be greater.

A hundredfold, a thousandfold increase is not impossible.

Su Yu cannot accomplish this task in a short time.

But Su Yu is not in a hurry, after all, he hasn't yet figured out the machine he himself transformed into.

At this moment, Su Yu named the machine he transformed into as [Lens].

This machine serves the function of a lens and can be used to observe the Subspace.

However, this [Lens] might not only be used to observe the Subspace.

"Use this lens to look at other things..."

After observing the Subspace for a while using the [Lens], Su Yu suddenly became curious.

He shifted his gaze away from the Subspace and looked at the Brutal Battle Armor beside him.

He was curious what the Brutal Battle Armor would look like under the gaze of the [Lens].

When Su Yu was quantumized, the Brutal Battle Armor was removed and stood quietly beside him.

When Su Yu pointed the [Lens] at it, he immediately saw another side of the battle armor.

Su Yu observed that the Brutal Battle Armor was closely connected to the Subspace Ocean.

In the Subspace Ocean, under the influence of the Brutal Core, a vortex formed, linking it to the Brutal Battle Armor.

A large amount of "seawater" was absorbed by the Brutal Battle Armor through this vortex and converted into high-level Ghost Energy.

Under the [Lens], these high-level Ghost Energies also revealed another side.

Ordinary Spiritual Energy is like the surface waves of the Subspace Ocean.

These high-level Ghost Energies, however, seem like products from the "seabed" of the Subspace Ocean.

Although Su Yu was capable of using high-level Ghost Energy, it was the first time he clearly saw the essence of Ghost Energy.

So this is how different this energy is from Spiritual Energy!

One comes from the ocean surface, the other from the seabed.

Of course, the so-called "ocean surface" and "seabed" are just metaphors.

The essence and spatial structure of the Subspace are far more complex than the ocean.

What's lurking beneath the deep and endless surface of the Subspace Ocean is something even Su Yu, with the [Lens], cannot fully perceive.

And these high-level Ghost Energies come from the seabed of the Subspace Ocean.

No wonder they differ so vastly from normal Spiritual Energy.

"Is this the essence of the corrosive and polluting nature of high-level Ghost Energy?"

Su Yu pondered.

High-level Ghost Energy has a very close connection to the seabed of the Subspace Ocean.

As a result, high-level Ghost Energy seems to have a trait that drags any contacted matter toward the depths of the Subspace Ocean.

This is probably the source of the so-called corrosive and polluting nature.

Su Yu even discovered that the entire Brutal Battle Armor was being continuously pulled toward the depths of the Subspace Ocean by high-level Ghost Energy.

However, the material of the Brutal Battle Armor is special and can resist this corrosion.

In fact, those materials, due to the corrosion, established a connection with the "deep sea" of the Subspace, acquiring various powerful traits.

This is also the source of the Brutal Battle Armor's power.

"So this is the essence of these special materials?"

"To be able to see even this, this [Lens] is truly valuable..."

The more Su Yu looked, the more excited he became.

Because... materials!

Materials are extremely important!

The materials used by Su Yu to create the Brutal Battle Armor were acquired and exchanged from the Transcendent Union.

Under the stimulation of high-level Ghost Energy, these materials reveal various different properties.

Su Yu utilized the special properties of the materials to create this powerful armor.

However, why these materials had such properties and what the principles were, Su Yu only partially understood.

It's like how ancient people used tough and resilient steel to make armor and weapons.

But why is steel hard and resilient? What's the principle?

Ancient people didn't know.

Su Yu's situation was similar before.

But now, using the [Lens], Su Yu finally understood some of the principles of these materials!

"It's truly amazing..."

Su Yu's gaze delved into the materials, observing how they created changes.

Like scientists using precision instruments to study the crystal structure of steel, investigating why it is hard and why it is resilient.

Chapter 559: New Discovery, Extraordinary Materials Science!_2

With this, scientists can actively develop more advanced alloy materials, a world apart from the half-understood methods of the ancients.

And now, Su Yu can do it too!

"Doesn't this mean, with the help of the [Lens], I can create new Ghost Energy materials myself? Spiritual Energy materials should also be possible!"

"This is a new discipline, let's call it... Extraordinary Materials Science!"

Su Yu was very excited.

As an Extraordinary Mechanic, everything he creates is inseparable from the word "materials."

Without materials, how can he forge Mechanical Creations?

Even the data materialization of Mechanical Spirit is essentially a special type of material.

He intends to conduct global development, tapping into worldwide resources.

In fact, most resources are various types of materials.

But what materials are developed depends entirely on fate.

Use whatever is available.

But now, with the [Lens], Su Yu can actively influence the properties of materials.

Research, develop, and improve new materials!

He can even upgrade the materials of the Brutal Battle Armor again! Greatly enhancing its performance!

The significance of this is enormous!

"Tsk tsk, Materials Science is said to be a big pit."

"But no matter how big the pit, I have to jump in!"

"This thing is too important!"

Su Yu thought back to the society he lived in before his transmigration.

The technological development at that time was often limited by Materials Science.

A single room temperature superconductive material troubled the scientific community for many years.

Su Yu's Mechanical Creations were also limited by materials.

He could create one set of Brutal Battle Armor, but making a second set would be difficult.

Because there were no corresponding high-end materials, more needed to be collected.

This development method is actually very backward and cannot be mass-produced.

But there's no choice, the body materials of the Brutal Battle Armor are high-grade goods, extremely rare, and every bit used is a bit less that's left.

But if Su Yu can deeply research Materials Science and use ordinary materials to produce advanced ones, there would be no such problem.

Although achieving such a thing will certainly be fraught with challenges, Su Yu knows this step must be taken!

Only this way can he hope to build the Seven Star Army.

If not, relying solely on global development and "mining"?

The limitations are too great.

Where can you dig up so many materials suitable for crafting advanced battle armor?

Su Yu even suspects that on this planet, those high-grade materials have long been almost exhausted.

Otherwise, with such extensive creations of Zhang Chenfeng in the sky, what materials are they made from?

"I suspect that Zhang Chenfeng had acquisitioned material technology from the Human Empire back then. Unfortunately, it's currently unattainable."

Su Yu knows that the Human Empire definitely had extremely advanced material science technology back in those days.

But such things are probably hard to come by.

The gifts from Zhang Chenfeng's creations to Su Yu were only Energy Crystals, energy technology.

Nothing related to Materials Science.

It's unclear if they don't have it or just don't want to give it to Su Yu.

Or perhaps... they don't have the authority to give it?

Perhaps Extraordinary Materials Science is also a key classified technology in the Human Empire.

The creations of Zhang Chenfeng lacked the authority to freely bestow such technology on Su Yu.

Su Yu can understand this kind of thing.

"But it's okay, I can research it myself."

"Before crossing over, I heard the 'Four Great Pits' of biochemistry, rings, and materials; I never thought I would also be working on this now..."

Su Yu made a joke to himself in his heart.

However, researching Extraordinary Materials Science is not a task that can be accomplished in one day.

He needs to await the start of global development, collecting a large amount of research material before beginning, there's no rush now.

"Right, how about I take another look at myself?"

Suddenly, Su Yu had a new idea.

That is... to look at himself!

Just from observing the Brutal Battle Armor, he saw the various details of its energy operations, uncovering Extraordinary Materials Science.

Then, if he looks at himself?

At this moment, Su Yu transformed into the machine [Lens], utilizing its powerful functions.

But he still lacked understanding of the principle of this function, completely unable to comprehend it.

But it doesn't matter, use [Lens] to look at [Lens].

Let's see what principles this machine operates on!

Tasked near immediately, Su Yu switched his perspective and looked at himself.

Of course, if it were a real optical "lens," it would definitely be impossible to see oneself.

However, this machine is not an optical device in the conventional sense.

Thus, as soon as Su Yu shifted his thoughts, he was able to see himself.

Su Yu was filled with anticipation.

Compared to Materials Science, uncovering the principles behind this magical [Lens] could potentially yield even greater rewards!

Then Su Yu saw... nothing.

Within the vision of the [Lens], only a peculiar machine in operation could be seen.

There was nothing like when he viewed the Brutal Battle Armor, where he saw the subspace ocean, the corrosion of Ghost Energy, or the operations of various energies.

The [Lens] machine seemed completely unrelated to subspace, merely an ordinary Mechanical Creation.

Thus, the [Lens], which could observe subspace, could not see through itself!

Because it lacked Spiritual Energy, having no connection with subspace!

"But how can that even be possible?"

"How could it be this way?"

Su Yu became baffled.

Such an incredible machine lacks Spiritual Energy and Ghost Energy, apparently having no link with subspace?

How is this achieved?

Su Yu fell into deep thought.

In this instance, not only did he fail to penetrate the secrets of the [Lens], it instead became even more mysterious.

Su Yu's contemplation this time was exceptionally prolonged.

After a long time, he finally came up with a startling possibility:

"Could it be that this [Lens], fundamentally, doesn't use any subspace or Spiritual Energy-related technology?"

"Is it possibly entirely a technological creation?"

"Purely utilizing the physical rules of the material world?"

"How... how is that possible?"

Su Yu was shocked by his own idea.

Because he surmised that this [Lens] is truly just a scientific creation!

Without any involvement of subspace technology!

This is too incredible.

Su Yu's Mechanical Creations were predominantly associated with Spiritual Energy and subspace.

His initially constructed Cavalry could autonomously absorb Spiritual Energy to maintain power.

Various Intelligent Chips were actually creations involving Spiritual Energy, with its participation.

Thus these Intelligent Chips had immense computing power, far exceeding the silicon-based chips Su Yu was familiar with before his transmigration.

The technological development of this world is founded on Spiritual Energy and subspace.

In Su Yu's mind, pure mechanical creations without Spiritual Energy are very low-end.

For instance, light bulbs and water heaters merely rely on pure electricity to generate heat and light.

Such things lack significant technological content.

However, this time, Su Yu was amazed to find that without relying on subspace or Spiritual Energy, it is possible to create something as miraculous as the [Lens]?

What kind of technology is this?

"Quantum technology?"

Su Yu speculated.

This [Lens] undoubtedly involves quantum technology.

However, it certainly must include more than just quantum technology.

But what specifically is involved? Su Yu didn't know, couldn't even guess.

"Could it be that this world has another technological development pathway?"

"A path that doesn't rely on Spiritual Energy, purely physical?"

"Even to the extent of utilizing this technology to observe and analyze subspace!"

"This is more like alien technology than that of the Empire!"

At this moment, Su Yu's mind was sparked by the thought of "aliens!"

The "aliens" he contemplated were not those outside of the Ruins Star.

After all, the Human Empire once roamed the Galaxy, leaving their mark across the cosmos.

It was filled with Human Empire's Colonial Stars everywhere.

Other planets, if inhabited, wouldn't really be considered alien.

The "aliens" Su Yu envisioned were beings beyond the Human Empire.

An Alien Star civilization entirely different from humans!

This purely physical technology [Lens] is too peculiar! Truly like the creation of an Alien Star civilization!

Chapter 560: Quantum Teleportation! Revisiting Radiation Land!

Su Yu had heard that before the Human Empire was established, they had embarked on a galactic expedition, defeating a variety of powerful alien civilizations, spreading colonial stars across the universe, and establishing a strong Human Empire, creating a glorious human civilization.

The vast starry universe is home to billions of stars, and humans are not the only intelligent life forms.

Among the alien civilizations defeated by humans, there were some extremely advanced and powerful entities.

These civilizations had evolutionary paths that were often completely different from humans.

They either developed bizarre and magical technology, or focused on physical body evolution, or concentrated on spiritual energy and the spirit.

Some even developed some more peculiar forces.

Originally, Su Yu only listened to these stories as tales and did not take them seriously.

After all, he hadn't even left the Ruins Star.

As for alien civilizations, he hadn't encountered any information about them, and no one knew whether they were true or false. Overthinking it was useless.

But now, this Subspace Analyzer gave Su Yu a feeling of being an alien creation!

Su Yu had no evidence, but he just felt that this Subspace Analyzer did not seem like a human creation.

It was an instinctual feeling from being a powerful Extraordinary Mechanic.

Because the technology contained within the Subspace Analyzer was too unique.

So unique that Su Yu had never seen it before! Completely different from the human technology he was familiar with.

All of human advanced technologies involved the use of subspace and spiritual energy.

The more powerful the creation, the deeper the use of spiritual energy.

But this Subspace Analyzer itself didn't have the slightest hint of spiritual energy or subspace.

Relying purely on physical world technology, it could analyze subspace.

It could also allow Su Yu, a powerful Transcendent, to complete quantumization.

It was truly magical and bizarre.

Therefore, Su Yu boldly speculated that this device was not originally manufactured by the Human Empire but was a product of some alien civilization.

This alien civilization possessed extremely powerful technology, and their technological paths were completely different from humans.

They focused on the material world, studying various rules of the material world, developing advanced technology independent of spiritual energy and subspace.

However, they were not content and went on to create the Subspace Analyzer, attempting to analyze subspace...

Of course, these were all Su Yu's speculations, and it could very well be that the Subspace Analyzer was also an Imperial creation.

The Human Empire at that time was too vast.

Developing a technology path independent of subspace and spiritual energy, besides the spiritual energy technology route, might not be impossible.

But Su Yu still felt that the possibility of the Subspace Analyzer being an alien creation was greater.

It's not just the technology path issue.

Mainly because Su Yu collected structural information from this [Lens] and found all sorts of structures inside to be extremely peculiar, messy, and completely asymmetrical, just as bizarre as its exterior.

Although peculiar, upon careful thought, Su Yu faintly felt that it seemed to conform to some high-level rule or theorem.

All of this completely exceeded Su Yu's knowledge and understanding of mechanical creations.

To this point, Su Yu still couldn't understand how the Subspace Analyzer operated.

Not even knowing what energy source it operated on.

If it were an Imperial creation, regardless of the different technological paths, it wouldn't have such a bizarre structure.

Nor would it leave Su Yu without the slightest clue, completely unable to comprehend it.

It could only be attributed to being an alien civilization's creation.

The vast chasm between civilizations left Su Yu unable to understand the technological concepts and paths among them.

"This Subspace Analyzer might be an alien creation."

"But the profession of Extreme Ice Agent shouldn't be an alien civilization's profession? This is clearly an extraordinary profession, with a technological path different from this Subspace Analyzer."

"Could it be that the Human Empire of the past had obtained some technology and creations from this alien civilization and conducted research?"

"The Extreme Ice Agent is the product of such research? It seems the Human Empire valued this alien civilization quite a bit back then."

"It's no wonder, given how powerful this civilization's technology is. I also wonder if there are still such alien creations existing on this planet."

"Or even, are there any living alien beings present?"

Su Yu pondered deeply; he wanted very much to learn more about this alien civilization.

He wanted to know if an alien civilization not reliant on spiritual energy and subspace would still face threats from Evil Gods?

Additionally, without relying on subspace, how did this civilization traverse the galaxy?

A civilization valued by the Human Empire was probably not limited to just one planet.

They should have some technology for traversing the galaxy.

But without spiritual energy, relying only on ordinary spacecraft to cross light-year distances is really too slow.

The Human Empire then had subspace transmission technology.

This alien civilization, what did it rely on?

Could it have been quantum teleportation?

After being quantumized, Su Yu did feel a bit of the flavor of instant teleportation while moving.

With just a thought, he could let the quantum probability cloud spread and instantly teleport.

"Quantum teleportation, could it possibly surpass light speed? Traverse the galaxy?"

At this thought, Su Yu's heart was moved.

Now he could complete quantumization using the Subspace Analyzer, and if possible, could he directly use this method to leave the Ruins Star and head for the cosmic starry sky?

The temptation was simply too great!

Thinking of this, Su Yu directly dismissed the transformation, reformed from a machine back to human.
