Chapter 691: After Promotion, What is Su Yu's Rank?

After a moment, the Hell Mecha calmed down. It wasn't because the "King" had quieted, but because Su Yu had strengthened the seal, completely suppressing the King's power.

"It seems that in future battles, I can provoke the King a bit more, increase its pain, and unleash more power."

Su Yu chuckled.

Su Yu was very familiar with applications in this area.

Previously, Su Yu's Brutal Core grew stronger with increased brutal emotions.

The Hell Battle Armor, on the other hand, becomes more powerful with increased pain.

As for where the pain comes from? Just need to stimulate the King.

With a quick thought, Su Yu came up with more than a dozen ideas to torment the King further, generating more Pain Energy.

He was truly a genius in this field; with a little thought, he came up with many cruel and novel ideas, inspiration overflowing like a tide.

While creating the Giant God Soldier Mecha, his mind wasn't this sharp...

"This talent of mine is really..."

Su Yu shook his head, curbing those cruel thoughts and not thinking further.

He didn't really plan to walk the path of the Power of Pain.

"This Hell Mecha currently has little room for play, let's put it away for now."

Su Yu looked up at the towering Hell Mecha, clicked his tongue, then with a wave of his hand, stored the mecha into his Manifestation Space.

Now upgraded to the Fourth Rank, Su Yu's Manifestation Mechanic has expanded his Manifestation Space by many times, easily accommodating this mecha.

Su Yu planned to store any important things into the Manifestation Space in the future.

As for the Nihilty Space, since its origins are unclear, Su Yu thought it best to use it sparingly to avoid unforeseen consequences that could result in losing everything.

"Speaking of which, my Brutal Battle Armor..."

After storing the Hell Mecha, Su Yu remembered the Brutal Battle Armor that had accompanied him for a long time.

This armor had long been unable to match Su Yu's strength. Although it survived various previous battles, it wasn't completely destroyed, only slightly battered.

Currently, the armor was slowly self-repairing, nearly restored.

Su Yu willed, releasing a stream of Spirit Energy to aid the armor in its rapid recovery.

He couldn't help but sigh; previously, the armor protected him, and now the roles had reversed, he was protecting the armor.

At present, the armor seemed very fragile to Su Yu, easily torn apart with a little force.

Of course, Su Yu didn't actually tear it apart; otherwise, he would end up naked or be forced to use Data Manifestation to create a set of clothes.

Now, the armor no longer served as combat gear for Su Yu but rather as a piece of clothing—with self-repairing functionality—which was still quite decent.

Su Yu glanced at the Brutal Battle Armor, then suddenly reached out and grasped a ghostly green mechanical sphere from the armor.

This sphere, initially fused within the armor, floated quietly in mid-air once retrieved.

This was Ghost Energy Nuonuo! A trusty companion that had always been with Su Yu.

However, at present, Nuonuo remained utterly silent in Su Yu's presence, showing no reaction.

It had fallen into slumber.

"Seems like it's about to advance as well."

Su Yu nodded with satisfaction.

As a Mechanical Apostle symbiotically linked with Su Yu, Nuonuo's power closely related to Su Yu's Spiritual Energy rank.

Now, with Su Yu's advancement, Nuonuo had also entered a slumber, beginning its progression.

Estimatedly, once Nuonuo awakens, it will become a Fourth Rank Super Nuonuo, and Su Yu will have another Fourth Rank assistant.

Simultaneously, the Fear Intelligence integrated within the Brutal Battle Armor also appeared dormant—likely also undergoing evolution toward advancement.

Moreover, Su Yu sensed changes from afar within the Mechanical City and the Mechanical Spirit, indicating impending advancement.

Once they have completed their advancement, Su Yu will have several more Fourth Rank assistants.

Although they may not possess authentic Fourth Rank combat power, they can provide Su Yu with tremendous support, potentially even more helpful than a true Fourth Rank entity.

This is the intimidating aspect of a Mechanic. When one advances, it propels many Mechanical Apostles to advance in tandem, forming an army alone, with endlessly swelling strength.

Of course, only the Mechanical Apostles deeply symbiotic with Su Yu can enjoy this privilege.

Common Mechanical Creations—like cavalry, assault tanks, and other expendables—shouldn't expect such elevation.

Su Yu carefully examined Nuonuo, finding its state very stable with its advancement proceeding steadily, so he waved his hand to place Nuonuo into the Manifestation Space, allowing it to evolve gradually.

As for the Fear Intelligence, it stayed within the Brutal Core, a mere data entity that could remain anywhere.

After securing Nuonuo, Su Yu moved towards the Elder Council space.

Currently, ten Fusion People lay on the ground within the Elder Council space.

These individuals appeared half-conscious, gasping without inhalation.

Initially heavily wounded during the earlier battles, they suffered further under the King's Power of Pain, exacerbating their injuries.

It seemed, should Su Yu have arrived any later, these individuals... would still not perish.

Being Fourth Rank warriors, they wouldn't die so easily. Even without care, they might not perish in a few hundred years.

Naturally, once separated in a day, they would revert to a hundred thousand ordinary Spiritual Users and might genuinely die then.

For now, though, there was no immediacy within the one-day timeframe.

"You're quite injured, but fortunately not fatally."

Seeing this, Su Yu quickly waved his hand, releasing pure Spirit Energy to heal them.

While Su Yu hadn't taken on any healing professions, his pure Spirit Energy as a Fourth Rank warrior inherently possessed some healing properties.

Under the infusion of Su Yu's Spirit Energy, the Fusion People's condition visibly improved.

These ten Fusion People, though called Fourth Rank, were merely at the primary Fourth Rank, regular ten-star level.

While Su Yu was also ten-star, his ten-star status differed from theirs.

The combined strength of the ten might not match Su Yu alone; Su Yu's energy easily rejuvenated them all.

After a brief while, Su Yu withdrew his hand, the ten Fusion People sprang to their feet.

"Mr. Su Yu, how did it go?"

Upon regaining their mobility, they eagerly asked.

Having lost their action and perception capabilities due to their injuries earlier, they had not witnessed the battle's conclusion.

Nevertheless, the mere act of posing that question might have provided the answer.

For it was Su Yu's life-and-death duel with the King that hadn't seen the King return, while Su Yu stood well, wasn't the conclusion crystal clear?

Moreover, the strength felt from Su Yu now exceeded their own!

Though all were Fourth Rank warriors, standing beside Su Yu, they felt like children beside a robust man, experiencing a sense of "diminutiveness."

As a Fourth Rank warrior, their perceptions were extremely keen, instantly realizing Su Yu's present formidable aura was immense! Exceedingly potent! Surpassing all of them combined!

Previously, when Su Yu transformed into the Light-Cast Giant, his power was immense as well.

But that was a peculiar transformation, even the aura changed, leaving the Fusion People uncertain whether the Light-Cast Giant was truly Su Yu or some battle mecha unleashed by him.

Now, standing beside Su Yu, the Fusion People clearly sensed that this was indeed him, powerful as it was!

Previously, Su Yu intended to perform the Fourth Rank ritual; suddenly becoming so strong, did it mean that the ritual succeeded? Did he kill the King, using its body to forge battle armor, thus becoming the Giant God Soldier Mechanic?

Nonetheless, how could he be this formidable just through a successful ceremony and job appointment?

The Fusion People felt both elated and puzzled.

"I have defeated the King and used it to forge the Giant God Soldier Mecha, thereby completing the ritual, securing the title of Giant God Soldier Mechanic."

Su Yu answered their query.

Then, with a wave of his hand, he unleashed the towering Hell Mecha, several hundred meters high!

Chapter 692: Everyone Acknowledges Their 'Master', The Mechanical God on the Verge of Collapse

After the Hell Mecha appeared, it immediately exuded an overwhelming pressure.

The mecha, several hundred meters tall, was already imposing in its own right.

Coupled with the terrifying spiritual energy pressure of a fourth-order top rank, even the ten fusion people with fourth-order strength found their breath momentarily frozen.

In a trance, they almost thought the [King] had come to kill again.

After all, the aura of the Hell Mecha was so strong, very similar to the [King] at the peak of its power.

"This mecha bears the aura of Mr. Su Yu and that of the [King], indeed Mr. Su Yu has defeated the [King] and used its remains to craft this fourth-order mecha..."

"No wonder Mr. Su Yu's aura is now fourth-order! It seems he has completed the ritual and become a Giant God Soldier Mechanic!"

The fusion people quickly realized that the reason the mecha's aura was similar to the [King]'s was because Su Yu had defeated the [King] and crafted this mecha using its remains.

The remnants and power of the [King] are within the mecha, so a similar aura is perfectly normal.

"This is wonderful! That tyrannical [King] is finally dead!"

"The Mechanical Race is now effectively extinct, right? Haha, the great revenge is finally fulfilled! Many thanks to Mr. Su Yu!"

"It's a pity that the [King] got off too easily!"

Once everyone confirmed that Su Yu had forged the [King] into armor, their faces lit up with wild joy, some even crying tears of happiness.

The [King] was their greatest enemy ten thousand years ago, now finally defeated by Su Yu and turned into armor—how could they not be ecstatic?

At this moment, their revenge could finally be considered a complete success!

Even if they hadn't personally exacted revenge, it was still a success in avenging themselves.

And it was all thanks to Su Yu!

"Mr. Su Yu, from now on all of us descendants of the Mechanics, will pledge allegiance to you, follow your commands unwaveringly for millennia!"

The ten fusion people suddenly prostrated before Su Yu, offering their allegiance!

Out of their gratitude to Su Yu, they directly pledged allegiance and would follow his command.

Their debt to Su Yu was so great that only this could repay it.

Even though it meant being subordinate to Su Yu forever, Su Yu was evidently a good master, so they needn't worry about being cruelly oppressed in the future.

"Rise, there's no need for formalities."

Su Yu nodded and said gently.

He tacitly accepted their allegiance.

These people were all descendants of mechanics from ten thousand years ago, each one transcendent and talented.

Subjugating them would be greatly beneficial to Su Yu's future plans.

Before, Su Yu had to rely on himself and a few Mechanical Apostles to create various mechanics, shouldering all the work.

Now, with over a million mechanics, life would likely be easier in the future.

So, Su Yu wouldn't be pretentious or feign refusal; he accepted their allegiance openly, as he was indeed worthy!

"Yes, master!"

The ten fusion people replied in unison.

Their expressions were somewhat heavy.

Having just escaped oppression, they now pledged allegiance to a new master.

Although they did so to show gratitude and willingly, there was still some discomfort.

Having been enslaved and oppressed for millennia, they had an instinctual aversion to the "master-servant" relationship.

Luckily, with Su Yu as their new master, he wouldn't be as brutal as the Mechanical Race and their lives would be much better.

"Master? Your address is incorrect."

Su Yu shook his head, his tone a bit cold.

"Hmm?"

The people looked up, puzzled, at Su Yu, wondering what could be wrong.

Could it be that Su Yu wanted to assert his authority right after becoming master?

Yet Su Yu suddenly smiled slightly: "You should call me City Lord."

"I have a Mechanical City, currently with several million residents, though there's still a large talent gap. From now on, you are also members of the Mechanical City, so you should call me City Lord."

It turns out, in Su Yu's mind, "pledging allegiance" was not about a master-servant relationship; he wasn't that feudal.

He considered himself the "City Lord," the leader of the Mechanical City.

The allegiance they pledged was to the City Lord, not some master.

In Su Yu's view, loyalty from subordinates was determined by their hearts, not merely a title of master.

"Yes, City Lord!"

They immediately understood Su Yu's meaning, and their hearts filled with joy as they enthusiastically replied.

It seemed Su Yu as City Lord was more enlightened and gentle than they had expected.

They had indeed made the right choice in pledging allegiance.

They couldn't help but start looking forward to life after joining the Mechanical City.

After a moment of reflection, feeling lighter, they couldn't resist looking up at the towering Hell Mecha.

"This mecha is truly powerful! It's far superior to the fusion mechas we're wearing!"

"It's truly a masterpiece by Mr. Su Yu!"

"However, isn't it strange? If it only used the [King]'s remains, why is the aura so strong? It's as if the [King] itself is standing in front of us, even stronger..."

"Is Mr. Su Yu's mechanical crafting capability really this powerful?"

The fusion people continued to praise, though their tones carried some doubt.

If this mecha was merely crafted using the [King]'s remains, despite being powerful, remains were still remains.

Moreover, they had previously seen the materials Su Yu used to craft this Hell Mecha, although precious, they weren't excessively outlandish.

So the power of this Giant God Soldier Mecha was somewhat inexplicable.

Little did they know, Su Yu hadn't just used some remains; he had directly sealed the entire living [King] into the mecha, using it as an energy core.

Chapter 693: Everyone Acknowledges Their 'Master', The Mechanical God on the Verge of Collapse_2

Originally, they dared not make wild guesses, after all, they had already acknowledged a master and shouldn't probe into their owner's secrets.

But now, they discovered that Su Yu considered himself the "City Lord," and was very open-minded, so they all relaxed and spoke freely.

"You misunderstood, the 'King' is not dead, but sealed by me into the Mecha."

Seeing everyone's misunderstanding, Su Yu did not conceal the truth and directly told them the reality.

"What? The 'King' isn't dead yet?"

"Mr. Su Yu, this isn't quite appropriate, the 'King' is too powerful and brutal, if it breaks free, it will be dangerous."

"And besides..."

The Fusion People were astounded upon hearing this.

They had witnessed the 'King's' power before and knew that such a terrifying enemy, if not completely dead, could escape at any time and return with a vengeance.

This was a huge hidden danger!

Why would Su Yu keep such a huge hidden danger around him?

Moreover, given their hatred towards the 'King', they were unwilling to hear news that it was still alive.

Seeing the panic among the people, Su Yu merely smiled slightly, then with a single gesture, summoned the Hell Prototype from the chest of the Giant God Soldier Mecha.

Then he manipulated this Hell Prototype, making it semi-transparent.

Everyone immediately saw the 'King' inside, and once again they were taken aback.

For within the Hell Prototype, the 'King' was howling in agony, almost rolling on the ground, devoid of any dignity or aura.

The Hell Prototype constructed by Su Yu, seemed to intensify in its Power of Pain over time, inflicting increasingly severe torture on the 'King'.

Previously, the 'King' could barely hold back from making noise, but now it couldn't help but wail.

After some more time, it might not even hold back from begging for mercy.

Though no matter how much it begged, Su Yu wouldn't spare it.

"This is..."

The Fusion People, although unable to empathize with the 'King's' pain,

The 'King's' cries were too harrowing, making them instantly realize what kind of terrifying torment it was enduring.

Seeing the once lofty and ruthless 'King' now tortured to this state, everyone's hearts were deeply relieved.

They initially felt regret that the 'King' died too quickly, sparing it too easily, and now this regret was finally satisfied.

However, they couldn't understand why the 'King', originally adept at using the Power of Pain, was now being tormented by it?

And it seemed to be at Su Yu's hands?

They looked at the 'King', then at Su Yu, utterly unable to fathom what had just happened in those few short minutes.

Most importantly, was Su Yu's method reliable?

Though it was satisfying to see, if one day the 'King' broke free, it would be catastrophic.

Su Yu knew what everyone was worried about, and so he began to explain: "I learned the method to cultivate the Power of Hell from the 'King'..."

Su Yu roughly recounted the series of events that had taken place earlier.

"What? Mr. Su Yu is a peerless genius in cultivating the Power of Hellish Suffering?"

"Just minutes into learning, and already stronger than the 'King' who has cultivated for thousands of years?"

"This black sphere is the Hell Prototype cultivated by Mr. Su Yu which can forever imprison the 'King'?"

Everyone listened, and they were all stunned.

In such a short time, Su Yu had shocked them several times, and this one was the most astonishing.

Because this all sounded truly unbelievable.

Their gazes towards Su Yu turned peculiar.

There was curiosity, awe, fear, concern...

Earlier, they thought Su Yu's attitude as the City Lord was open-minded and that they could relax a bit in dealing with him.

But now, they couldn't help but become tense once more.

The 'King's' cries of agony only added to their tension.

After all, hearing that Su Yu was such a genius in the art of suffering is not reassuring.

Though Su Yu used this ability to firmly seal the 'King', which seemed like a good thing,

But if Su Yu intended to delve further into the Power of Pain pursuit, the damage caused could be a thousand times stronger than the 'King'!

After all, Su Yu had more talent!

And that, was not a good thing.

The Power of Pain was too cruel, too sinister.

Although Su Yu was their savior, their City Lord, and they shouldn't think recklessly,

But... who let Su Yu possess such heaven-defying talent on this crooked path?

If Su Yu really decided to pursue this path, he might soon break through to the Fifth Rank, or even higher!

The temptation was too great!

And Su Yu naturally knew what everyone was thinking, he merely chuckled: "You don't need to worry, I won't walk this path."

"To reach the end of this path requires fusion with the Power of Pain, making oneself eternally trapped in Hell's Pain."

"I'm not foolish, why endure such torment for no reason?"

Hearing Su Yu's words, everyone felt a sense of relief in their hearts.

Since Su Yu said so, they chose to believe it.

However, they all made up their minds to be respectful when facing Su Yu in the future, to avoid provoking him.

Otherwise, if Su Yu unleashed a bit of the Power of Pain, it would be enough for them to endure.

Then, Su Yu waved his hand once more, sending the Hell Prototype back into the Hell Mecha, and stored the Mecha too within the Manifestation Space.

Simultaneously, Su Yu brought out a vast amount of food and drink.

He then looked at everyone: "You should rest and eat for a bit, I have some matters to discuss with a friend."

With that, Su Yu vanished without a trace.

Everyone looked at each other, then grabbed the food left by Su Yu and began to feast.

Though they didn't know who Su Yu's so-called "friend" was, if Su Yu didn't want to say, they dared not ask more, for now, they'd eat first.

Now that their great vengeance was achieved, it was just the time to feast and celebrate with abandon.

However, now they numbered a million, fused with only ten mouths, getting full would be a challenge...

After leaving, Su Yu returned to the previous battlefield.

The battlefield was a blank expanse.

Those manifested structures, landscapes, and even the sky had been destroyed by the aftermath of the great battle.

Only a stretch of desolation remained.

Within the desolation, one object stood out conspicuously – the Hell Furnace.

This item, Su Yu had never collected, not because he didn't want to, but because he couldn't.

The object's rank was too high, and its material seemed very unusual.

Su Yu's Manifestation Space could not contain it, nor did he wish to place it in the Nihility Space for fear of causing some change within that space.

After pondering for a moment, Su Yu spoke to the void: "How are you now?"

There was no response, but Su Yu was patient and continued to wait.

After some time, a familiar voice finally came: "I... I'm not doing well right now."

It was the long-awaited voice of the Mechanical God.

Simultaneously, a spiral drill-like object appeared before Su Yu.

This spiral drill was cast entirely from some alloy. However, it was covered with cracks on the surface, and those cracks kept expanding, seemingly ready to collapse into fragments at any moment.

Fortunately, as the cracks expanded, they also continued to repair, forming a kind of dynamic balance.

Seeing this, Su Yu immediately breathed a sigh of relief, knowing that the Mechanical God hadn't yet completely collapsed.

The body of the Mechanical God had been in a state of collapse, but it had continuously used the Power of Destiny to alter its fate of collapse to persevere till now.

Earlier, due to the battle between Su Yu and the "King", the Mechanical God had employed a vast amount of power to stabilize this Manifestation Space, consuming a significant amount of energy.

The Mechanical God had been silent before, so Su Yu had been worried that it might have completely collapsed.

Now, it seemed alright, it could still speak.

"What do you mean by 'not doing well'?"

Su Yu inquired further.

"It means that in a day's time, I won't be able to maintain the balance and will completely collapse and perish."

The voice of the Mechanical God was very calm.

Su Yu was silent upon hearing this.

After a while, he asked: "Is there a way to repair it? The material of this Hell Furnace seems pretty special, could you use it?"

Chapter 694: Mechanical God Blueprint, Mechanical Descent!

Su Yu pointed to the Hell Furnace beside him, indicating to the Mechanical God to use the Hell Furnace to repair itself.

This was the only Fifth Rank artifact Su Yu could find at the moment.

If that didn't work, Su Yu planned to return to the Mechanical City to fetch the Subspace Analyzer to see if the Mechanical God could use it.

The Mechanical God had helped Su Yu a lot, and Su Yu considered it a good friend. Now seeing it about to collapse, he naturally wanted to help it.

Su Yu had always treated his friends generously.

Though the Hell Furnace was precious and had great research value, if it could be used to save the Mechanical God, it was worth the sacrifice.

"It should work..."

"However, I can't see it."

The Mechanical God paused for a moment, then spoke.

For high-tier subspace artifacts, the Mechanical God couldn't see them directly.

Being a Fifth Rank artifact, the Hell Furnace's tier was high enough. Although scrapped, its essence remained, so the Mechanical God simply couldn't see it, let alone utilize its materials to repair itself.

Su Yu was momentarily speechless.

"Don't worry, I've lived long enough; it's time to rest."

"Besides, I won't die so easily. Even if I do collapse, the fragments might sink into the earth core and gather again to awaken in tens of thousands of years."

The Mechanical God spoke to comfort Su Yu upon seeing his silence.

It seemed the Mechanical God wouldn't die. Even if shattered, it would sink into the earth core and awaken again in tens of thousands of years.

Previously, it had slept at the earth core of a metallic planet for an unknown duration, even enlightening an entire planet of mechanical life, creating a mechanical civilization.

"Awaken again in tens of thousands of years?"

Su Yu shook his head.

In tens of thousands of years, too many things could happen. Moreover, it was evident the Mechanical God had been shattered once before, losing considerable power and memory.

If it were shattered again this time, it might lose even more power and memory. Would the Mechanical God that awakens again be the same one as now?

Plus, Su Yu, in total over two lifetimes, had only lived a few decades; the Mechanical God's awakening in tens of thousands of years was no different from being dead to Su Yu.

Su Yu pondered for a while and asked, "If I want to use the Hell Furnace, how should I proceed? I've now advanced to the fourth rank, and I should be able to help you."

Su Yu decided that since the Mechanical God couldn't see the Hell Furnace, he would handle it.

The Mechanical God heard this and was silent for a moment, seemingly calculating feasibility.

After a while, it transmitted a large amount of information to Su Yu.

The total amount of this information was terrifying.

Su Yu's cognitive capacity had significantly expanded after advancing to the fourth rank, yet receiving this information from the Mechanical God still made him feel like his head was about to explode.

Startled, he quickly checked the information to see what exactly the Mechanical God had transmitted.

Then Su Yu discovered that the information was a set of mechanical blueprints.

The intricate and complex structures made Su Yu feel dizzy; it was too complicated, almost incomprehensible.

The intricate and complex structures ultimately formed the appearance of a spiral drill.

This spiral drill-like object was identical to the Mechanical God's appearance.

"Is this... your construction blueprint?"

With Su Yu's ability as a Mechanic, combined with such a distinct shape, Su Yu immediately suspected this blueprint was the Mechanical God's own blueprint!

The Mechanical God was a Sixth Tier Mechanical God, so the importance of its blueprint was self-evident.

[Gained Professional Experience...]

The Profession Panel instantly popped up a notification.

Su Yu gained significant Mechanic experience from this blueprint!

Several months ago, when Su Yu was still a First Rank Transcendent, given his limited conditions, he'd often gained professional and skill experience by studying mechanical blueprints.

Later, Su Yu found leveling up through fighting monsters was faster...

Afterwards, Su Yu recruited believers, leveled up effortlessly through the power of faith, lying down while leveling.

So later, Su Yu rarely engaged in mechanical research, as it was too inefficient.

However, this time the blueprint he obtained was different.

This was a Sixth Tier Mechanical God, the Mechanical God's blueprint!

Just by acquiring the blueprint information without starting research, his experience skyrocketed.

In a short time, Su Yu, who had just taken on the role of Giant God Soldier Mechanic, had already risen three to four levels!

If he researched carefully and made some achievements, it's conservatively estimated he could rise dozens of levels.

The powerful effect confirmed for Su Yu that this blueprint was indeed the Mechanical God's own blueprint.

The Mechanical God actually handed something so important to Su Yu, which genuinely surprised him.

After all, the blueprint contained almost all the secrets of the Mechanical God.

Handing it to Su Yu was like handing over its life.

But now, with the Mechanical God on the verge of collapse, desperate to survive, it wasn't surprising.

Although the Mechanical God couldn't die, it clearly didn't want to sleep for tens of thousands of years, losing power and memory again.

"That's right, this is my blueprint, though simplified a bit. The full version's information is too massive for you to handle."

"Su Yu, if possible, please use your Mechanic ability to create a new body for me using the Hell Furnace as material. Then I can continue to exist."

The Mechanical God admitted after Su Yu received the blueprint information.

This was its self-rescue plan. With its body collapsing, it gave Su Yu the blueprint to help create a new one.

And the blueprint given to Su Yu was also a simplified version. The complete Sixth Tier blueprint was far beyond Su Yu's capability to handle; the sheer volume of information alone could overwhelm Su Yu's head, rendering him brainless.

Chapter 695: Mechanical God Blueprint, Mechanical Descent!_2

Not to mention, the blueprint at the Sixth Tier level might have some other strange and wondrous powers.

The simplified version, however, is much safer.

"So it's the simplified version."

Su Yu nodded.

However, Su Yu did not underestimate this blueprint just because it was a simplified version.

Even if simplified, this blueprint is likely at the top of the Fourth Order, or even Fifth Rank!

However, there is not a trace of Spiritual Energy elements in the blueprint, making it difficult for Su Yu to accurately judge its rank.

No matter what, the blueprint is extremely precious regardless.

"I will do my best."

Su Yu took on the task, preparing to use the Hell Furnace to forge a new body for the Mechanical God.

After speaking, Su Yu immediately sat cross-legged and began comprehending the blueprint.

He said he would do his best, and he meant it because the request of the Mechanical God was exceptionally difficult.

The Mechanical God itself was already a Sixth Tier Mechanical God, and understanding its blueprint, even the simplified version, would be extremely challenging.

Even if he understood it, using the Hell Furnace to create it was another challenge, as the Hell Furnace was a Fifth Rank creation. Although Su Yu was powerful, refining the Hell Furnace was still arduous.

Most importantly, the Mechanical God would completely collapse in a day, so Su Yu had to make every second count.

Realizing this fact, Su Yu dared not delay for a second, focusing all his efforts on studying the blueprint of the Mechanical God.

During his research, he naturally entered a Quantum State, and used the method of foreseeing the future to accelerate his thinking and enhance research efficiency.

[You have gained 10000 Professional Experience...]

As Su Yu continued his research, his Professional Experience kept increasing, and his level rose step by step.

However, Su Yu didn't have any time to pay attention to this; he was entirely focused on the blueprint.

After five hours...

"Finally, the blueprint has been fully decoded!"

Su Yu exhaled a long breath.

In those five hours, he pushed his computational power to the limit to complete the decoding of the Mechanical God's blueprint.

Previously battling [the King] took only a few minutes, and at that time, Su Yu was still at the Third Rank.

Now, researching this blueprint at the Fourth Rank with Full Firepower for several hours, he only barely succeeded, showing its difficulty.

Moreover, what Su Yu called successful decoding was actually just scratching the surface.

Su Yu merely figured out the construction within the Mechanical God's blueprint and could attempt to use materials to forge it.

But as for the various principles involved in the blueprint, Su Yu didn't understand; he had no clue.

The technology within the Mechanical God's blueprint was unrelated to the Subspace, purely physical techniques, incredibly sophisticated; no matter how much he increased computational power, he couldn't uncover their mysteries in a short time.

Although he did not understand the principles, merely helping to forge the body for the Mechanical God actually does not require understanding; knowing how to build it is enough.

Just like a factory worker may not have gone to school and doesn't know the operating principles of products, but knows how to do their job.

After completing the decoding, Su Yu immediately stopped pondering and then gazed at the Hell Furnace.

With the blueprint decoded, the next step was to arrange for the Hell Furnace.

Hell Mecha!

Su Yu directly summoned the Hell Mecha.

The Hell Furnace was a giant and extremely sturdy; to refine this thing, Su Yu needed to exert his full strength, so he summoned the Mecha.

However, this summoning was different from what he expected.

Su Yu originally intended to summon the Hell Mecha from the Manifestation Space, then wear the Mecha and use its power to handle the Hell Furnace, which would be the normal process.

But at this moment, the very first step was beyond Su Yu's expectations.

As soon as he summoned the Hell Mecha, he found that the Mecha had directly appeared on his body.

However, the Mecha was very small at that time, only a few meters tall, more like battle armor than a Mecha.

Then the Mecha rapidly expanded, instantly transforming from a few meters tall armor into a super Mecha hundreds of meters tall!

A Mechanical Giant stood tall on the pale land, the silver-black body shell radiating infinite majesty!

Su Yu's perspective also rose with the expansion of the Mecha.

In a short time, the transformation of the Mecha was complete.

Wearing the Mecha hundreds of meters tall, Su Yu almost felt as if he had transformed into the Light-Cast Giant again.

He raised his hand in confusion, looking at the mechanical hand of the Hell Mecha, unsure of what just happened.

When the Hell Mecha was summoned, it didn't seem to have emerged from the Manifestation Space, but instead had been summoned from the inside of Su Yu's body, rapidly expanding to its current state.

Honestly, Su Yu thought it was pretty cool, almost like... when Su Yu previously transformed into the Light-Cast Giant!

Although being the owner of the Hell Mecha, Su Yu did not know when he had designed this function for the Mecha?

"The Mecha doesn't have such a function, so is it my own ability?"

"Is this... Mechanical Descent?"

Su Yu recalled the Professional Core Ability unlocked after becoming a Giant God Soldier Mechanic.

That ability was called [Mechanical Descent].

This ability was somewhat abstract, and Su Yu, relying on intuition, surprisingly did not know what this ability was for.

Just by looking at the name, it didn't reveal much.

The Profession Panel's introduction to this ability was also extremely brief: Heaven descends with divine power, the machine is the god...

Pretty much like nothing.

Previously, Su Yu also tried to activate this ability, but no effect appeared.

So Su Yu could only wait until things were settled to study it properly.

But Su Yu's action of summoning the Hell Mecha just accidentally triggered the ability, directly bringing the Hell Mecha out of his body.

So this so-called Mechanical Descent, turned out to be a special ability to quickly summon the Giant God Soldier Mecha.

"Summoning the Mecha through Mechanical Descent is directly worn on the body, more quickly and conveniently, a mere thought and the Mecha is on."

"It can also adjust the Mecha's size using the ability, allowing it to grow or shrink!"

Upon careful analysis, Su Yu discovered that this special ability, which seemed of little use, only made wearing the Mecha a bit quicker.

But its use was actually significant.

The combat power of a Giant God Soldier Mechanic heavily relies on the Mecha.

But the Mecha is too large, making movement inconvenient ordinarily, you can't live in the Mecha forever.

And if you don't wear the Mecha normally, encountering unexpected situations, trying to don the Mecha might be too late.

But this Mechanical Descent ability perfectly addressed this flaw.

With a single thought, the Mecha descended from the void, directly worn on Su Yu, skipping the intermediate process.

Moreover, this ability could also "compress" the Mecha to some extent, reducing its size.

For instance, Su Yu with a single thought made the grand Mecha hundreds of meters high suddenly shrink in half, to around two hundred meters.

Su Yu actually wanted to shrink it further, but was limited by the ability's capacity, unable to continue.

Initially, when the Mecha appeared, the size of a few meters was seemingly an illusion.

However, Su Yu understood it was no illusion.

If the Mechanical Descent ability were pushed to the extreme, it should indeed be able to compress the Mecha to that degree.

After all, this ability of Su Yu had not been upgraded yet, once fully leveled, it might achieve that effect.

Furthermore, this Mechanical Descent ability, apart from swift Mecha wearing and size adjustment, Su Yu discovered other uses.

That is...

"How come I feel a sense of flesh and blood connection with this Mecha, as if this is my own body!"

"This feeling is very familiar, it seems to be the same as when I transformed into the Light-Cast Giant previously!"

Su Yu sensed that using this ability to summon the Mecha made it merge with him seamlessly, so much so that he could hardly perceive his original body anymore.

Most importantly, Su Yu recalled the previous transformation into the Light-Cast Giant, and how similar was it to now?

Su Yu suspected that his previous transformation into the Light-Cast Giant was actually an expression of this Mechanical Descent ability.

But at that time, Su Yu hadn't become a Giant God Soldier Mechanic, he didn't even have this ability, so how did he transform?

Moreover, was the Light-Cast Giant also some kind of Mecha that Su Yu summoned?

Chapter 696: The Terrifying Hellfire, Su Yu's Talent Unleashes Again!

In fact, even now, Su Yu still doesn't fully understand what happened when he transformed into the Light-Cast Giant.

He can transform into a Subspace Analyzer, which has an explanation; that is, after being quantumized, through self-observation, his quantum probability cloud collapses into the form of a Subspace Analyzer.

But turning into the Light-Cast Giant, that principle is unknown.

Su Yu had always thought that the Light-Cast Giant might be an inherent transformation of the Radiant Blueprint.

But now it seems there might also be the ability of [Mechanical Descent] involved.

There's no way around it; it feels too similar, making Su Yu unable to stop pondering.

But at that time, Su Yu had not yet advanced to become a Giant God Soldier Mechanic. Where did such a power come from?

Could it be that the Radiant Mecha did something before disappearing?

It gave Su Yu the Radiant Blueprint, so it's possible it had other arrangements.

Fortunately, this arrangement did not affect Su Yu's ritual, allowing him to smoothly advance to the Fourth Rank.

Thinking of this, Su Yu's spirit entered his own Manifestation Space to look at the Radiant Mecha fragment.

The fragment still lay quietly in the Manifestation Space without any changes.

Su Yu couldn't see if there were any other arrangements left by the Radiant Mecha inside the fragment.

Su Yu watched for a while, then looked at the machinery next to the fragment.

It was the Galaxy Battle Armor, which at this moment had already passed through danger and fallen asleep.

Previously, the Galaxy Battle Armor was eroded by the [King]'s Power of Pain, and it was in mortal danger.

Fortunately, Su Yu acted quickly, dealing with the [King] in just a few minutes, freeing the Galaxy Battle Armor from Hell's Pain.

But it was too exhausted and thus fell into a deep sleep.

After being released from mental limitation, the Galaxy Battle Armor became increasingly human-like.

Seeing the sleeping Galaxy Battle Armor, Su Yu was slightly surprised.

Because he discovered some unusual aura on the Galaxy Battle Armor.

"Is this... about to breakthrough?"

Su Yu found that the aura on the Galaxy Battle Armor kept growing stronger, as if it was about to break through its original rank and advance to a higher tier.

On closer thought, it didn't seem so surprising.

The Galaxy Battle Armor was a powerful nine-star battle armor a millennium ago, but later its body was damaged, causing it to fall in rank.

During this battle, it was thoroughly shaken, but it seemed to have gained some benefits.

Not to mention, the energy and precious metal materials it consumed from the Mechanical Race at the banquet were enough for it to digest.

Although the Galaxy Battle Armor itself probably wasn't too willing to digest this energy and material.

But now, in its slumber, everything is driven by instinct, leaving it no choice.

Besides the things the Galaxy Battle Armor consumed, the power [King] used to corrode it now seems to have been absorbed by it.

It looks like it's about to regain the strength it had a thousand years ago, recovering as a nine-star!

As for the Fourth Rank, that's out of the question.

Being a mechanical battle armor created by humans, advancing isn't that simple.

Su Yu's advancement to Fourth Rank required completing the ritual of the Giant God Soldier Mechanic.

For the Galaxy Battle Armor to advance, it probably needs the battle armor technology data from the [Betrayal Brigade].

Then, a dedicated brigade stationed mechanic should reforge and upgrade the Galaxy Battle Armor.

But now, in the [Betrayal] Brigade, perhaps only the Galaxy Battle Armor remains; where can we find the technical data and a dedicated mechanic?

For a long time, the Galaxy Battle Armor will probably remain at nine stars.

"Nine stars isn't bad." Su Yu shook his head slightly, exiting the Manifestation Space.

Anyway, concerning the Galaxy Battle Armor, once it wakes up, let it worry about itself.

For now, Su Yu still needs to hurry and resolve this Hell Furnace!

"Then let's begin!"

Su Yu's eyes focused as he unleashed the power of the Hell Mecha.

This Fourth-Order top Giant God Soldier Mecha now virtually merges with Su Yu because of the Mechanical Descent ability.

As Su Yu's thoughts moved, the prototype of hell in the chest of the mecha, or rather the [Pain Engine], roared to life, quickly reaching maximum power.

And if you listen closely, you can hear that the roar of the mecha engine is actually a kind of wailing cry...

With the engine's roar, the formidable Power of Hellish Suffering surged through the entire body of the mecha like an electric current.

It was Su Yu's first time activating this powerful mecha, and he felt an energy that could shake mountains and skies circulating through his body.

With a mere thought, he could invoke terrifying power!

This is completely different from controlling his own power.

Previously, when transforming into the Light-Cast Giant, Su Yu had to concentrate and exert his will to channel the energy.

But with this mecha, Su Yu doesn't need to be too concerned; a mere thought leads to an eruption of terrifying energy!

If not for Su Yu's intentional control, he might have shattered the Manifestation Space in an instant.

The current Mechanical God has no strength left to stabilize this space.

This mecha's power is truly immense! It seems even stronger than when Su Yu previously transformed into the Light-Cast Giant!

Moreover, the power of the Light-Cast Giant has some questionable origins.

In contrast, this mecha is completely crafted by Su Yu himself, with all the power belonging entirely to him!

After slightly adjusting to the mecha's power, Su Yu thought to himself, "I must install an intelligent system for this mecha quickly..."

This mecha's power is too strong, requiring equally strong control and computational capacity.

Although Su Yu doesn't need to expend will to concentrate energy, he needs computational power to control the energy.

Chapter 697: The Terrifying Hellfire, Su Yu's Talent Unleashes Again!_2

This is also the downside of the mecha lacking intelligent systems and relying entirely on Su Yu's control.

Without Su Yu's powerful computing ability, this mecha might have already gone out of control.

Without adequate computing power, even a casual movement could become a terrifying attack.

"Hopefully, after the Fear Intelligence upgrade, it can meet the computational demands of this mecha..."

Su Yu muttered to himself, then suddenly reached out and grabbed the Hell Furnace, which was as big as a hill, holding it in front of his chest.

Although the Hell Furnace was gigantic, it was insignificant in front of the mecha's massive size.

In proportion, it was like an ordinary person holding a watermelon.

Su Yu manipulated the Hell Mecha, holding the Hell Furnace, observing for a moment, then exerted force suddenly!

Crunch! Crack!

In an instant, the arms of the Hell Mecha were strained to the extreme.

Countless billions of tons of terrifying force converged in the arms, and they began to madly crush the Hell Furnace!

The Hell Mecha can convert the energy in the Pain Engine into pure physical power, which is extremely terrifying.

These giant hands could crush almost any material on this planet, grinding the hardest alloy into powder.

After a while, Su Yu released his grip reluctantly.

Under his full exertion, even a fourth-rank Mechanical Life would probably be crushed.

But the Hell Furnace didn't show any sign of change.

When he saw the Radiant Mecha casually crushing the Hell Furnace, Su Yu wanted to try.

But now it seemed that although the Hell Mecha crafted by Su Yu was a fourth-order top mecha, it was far inferior to the fifth-order Radiant Mecha.

Moreover, the Hell Furnace was also fifth-rank; even though it was damaged, it couldn't be destroyed by sheer force alone.

However, without being able to destroy the Hell Furnace, how could it be transformed into the new body the Mechanical God needed?

"It seems there's only that method left."

Su Yu hadn't really given up. As he mobilized his thoughts, dark pain energy frantically converged in the Hell Mecha's large hands.

Bang!

Suddenly, black flames ignited in the mecha's large hands.

This was Su Yu condensing the Power of Pain to the fullest, becoming Hellfire.

Within this flame, every leaping ember contained endless pain.

However, this Hellfire had been adjusted by Su Yu.

This flame had no physical or energetic attack properties; what burned within was only pure pain emotion.

Logically, the Hell Furnace was incredibly hard, immune to physical attacks, and as a lifeless object, it wasn't afraid of spiritual attacks.

But under the scorching of this Hellfire, Su Yu quickly discovered that the Hell Furnace actually began to writhe and "melt."

No! In fact, it was not melting but repairing.

This Hell Furnace was extremely advanced and naturally had a self-repair function.

Its repair seemed not to be some intelligent process, but like the repair instinct of biological cells, requiring no conscious will, as long as there were materials and energy, the repair could be completed.

It possessed life!

And the materials and energy it needed for self-repair were pain.

And for it, Su Yu's Hellfire was the best supplement.

However, Su Yu would not let it repair completely.

Su Yu manipulated the Hellfire, navigating through the Hell Furnace, guiding its repair.

Under Su Yu's deliberate guidance, the repair process of the Hell Furnace was intermittent, changing positions every now and then.

One position wasn't fully repaired before it switched to another.

And in this chaotic repair process, the shape of the Hell Furnace gradually turned into something strange.

Vaguely resembling... a Spiral Drill?

Indeed, this was Su Yu's method to transform the Hell Furnace.

Utilizing the self-repair function of the Hell Furnace to transform itself!

The Hell Furnace at this moment was like a bonsai, and Su Yu's Hellfire was like scissors, trimming the furnace to "grow" into the shape Su Yu desired.

It sounds simple, but this process was extremely complex and precise, even nearly down to the microscopic level.

Su Yu used Hellfire to guide and forcibly transform a fifth-rank Mechanical Creation into another shape, another function.

The technical difficulty involved was imaginable.

However, Su Yu didn't feel any difficulty; it was all instinct and inspiration.

He seemed to comprehend the structure of the Hell Furnace completely, even more so than the Hell Furnace itself.

Everything flowed smoothly and naturally.

Su Yu, while transforming the Hell Furnace, marveled at his own increasingly terrifying talent in this field!

Indeed, Su Yu was able to transform the Hell Furnace because of his unparalleled talent in the Path of Hellish Suffering.

Ever since he defeated the [King] and condensed the Hell Prototype, his talent in this aspect seemed to become increasingly powerful.

Previously, Su Yu had also analyzed the Hell Furnace, expending vast mental and computational power to decipher the method of cultivating the Power of Pain from it.

But now, facing the Hell Furnace again, Su Yu handled it as if playing with a toy, effortlessly and leisurely.

This definitely wasn't due to Su Yu's advancement to Fourth Rank, but because of his talent manifesting!

Only after Su Yu condensed the Hell Prototype did he truly begin his journey on the Path of Hellish Suffering.

His talent was thereby truly unearthed, and it seemed to be growing stronger!

This talent wasn't mainly reflected in the powerful control over the Hell Furnace, but rather in this Hellfire!

Just a moment ago, Su Yu had a flash of inspiration and condensed this flame into form.

Now, after this time, Su Yu finally understood the nature of this flame.

This flame was formed by the intense condensation of pain emotions, undergoing some kind of chemical reaction-like change, which manifested in the form of flame.

This flame's appearance wasn't just for aesthetics but contained an extremely dangerous essence.

For beings below Seven Stars, they don't need to touch this flame; just a look could ignite them with the terrifying Hellfire, plunging them into endless pain, becoming fuel for the Hellfire!

As for beings above Seven Stars, even if they haven't reached Su Yu's rank, just contact with this flame would ignite them instantly!

Moreover, this Hellfire was contagious.

Spreading from one to ten, from ten to a hundred, burning more fiercely, its toxicity boundless.

And the ignited beings would all become a part of Su Yu's Hell Prototype, providing infinite power for Su Yu.

This method was something Su Yu just developed, even beyond the [King]!

"What have I done?"

Looking at the flames in his hands, Su Yu finally realized.

He had accidentally developed a terrifying move!

If he wanted, releasing this Hellfire could ignite all life globally, dragging all life into hell, enveloping the planet's surface in black flames.

Moreover, the fire's function was not limited to that.

This flame could transform the Hell Furnace and, indeed, could transform other life forms as well!

Under the stimulation of Hellfire, the self-repair ability of life would be activated and amplified.

And by manipulating this flame, Su Yu could guide the self-repair process of life, impacting the final repair result.

This influence could reach the cellular level.

If Su Yu desired, he could randomly use Hell's Painful Flames to transform a human into a twisted monster.

Su Yu could even set up a program to automate this painful transformation process.

In this way, Su Yu's hell truly took form, multiplying the "variety" of hellish tortures by a hundredfold, if not more!

And all of this occurred to Su Yu in an instant, almost without costing any computational power.

To him, it was as simple as one plus one equals two.

Su Yu truly lived up to his reputation as a genius on the Path of Hellish Suffering.

"I really didn't intend to become a demon lord!"

Thinking of this, Su Yu couldn't help but have a wry smile.

Even though he had casually created a planet apocalypse-level terrifying move, Su Yu felt no joy; such things simply weren't worth celebrating.

Then, Su Yu retracted his smile and put on a solemn expression.

"This talent of mine is really peculiar; what exactly is going on?"

Chapter 698: The Source of Talent, Unknown Black Hand? And... New Mecha Ideas!

In a short period of time, Su Yu created a technique capable of destroying planetary civilizations: Hellfire.

This inevitably made him question whether his talent was too defiant. Was there something wrong?

On one hand, his talent was so strong that it was almost unreasonable.

On the other hand, Su Yu felt that although he had no emotional resistance to the act of killing and could be considered decisive in slaughter, he only killed the enemies that deserved death.

Unless the other party was truly heinous and had severely offended Su Yu, he wouldn't subject them to cruel torture.

Given this, why would he possess such an intense talent in the Path of Hellish Suffering to this extent?

His nature wasn't that twisted, right?

It's almost... like a lure to walk the Path of Hellish Suffering!

Upon thinking of this, Su Yu's eyes showed a sense of alertness.

Could something have its eyes on him? Why had this talent not been discovered before and suddenly appeared now?

Could it be that this talent was never Su Yu's own? That something else secretly tampered with him, imposing it upon him?

If such suspicions were true, if something indeed found Su Yu, granting him this talent, it would be quite terrifying.

With Su Yu's current power, he couldn't even detect any interference on himself, let alone resist it.

What level must the existence that interfered with him be?

However, so far, Su Yu hadn't felt that any manipulation had been done to him.

This suspicion seemed more like wantonly searching in the void, somewhat scaring himself.

Moreover, speaking of talent, it truly can be unreasonable.

Innate talents are unpredictable; anything is possible.

This isn't a matter of genetics.

In this world, there is Spiritual Energy and Spiritual Power.

There are even various alien lives that might not even have genes.

In this world, what is called talent, lies more in the realms of spirit and thought.

And in terms of spirit and thought, the variables are far more numerous and unpredictable.

So anything is possible; despite being an ordinary person, it's possible for Su Yu to hold a peerless talent in the Path of Hellish Suffering.

Su Yu hadn't realized it before only because he hadn't encountered the right opportunity, like meeting someone proficient in the Path of Hellish Suffering like King.

Otherwise, he might have triggered such a talent long ago, mastering the Power of Pain.

Moreover, Su Yu had already used some torment techniques on the City Lord of Heavenly Punishment and his fanatical followers.

These fanatics, because of their faith in the God of Heavenly Punishment, when they died, their spiritual souls entered the "Divine Kingdom" of the Heavenly Punishment Evil God.

The so-called Divine Kingdom was actually Su Yu's spiritual space because Su Yu seized the Heavenly Punishment Evil God Origin.

Since these guys brought it upon themselves, Su Yu, of course, wouldn't show mercy, burning them with spiritual flames daily, punishing them for their sins.

Those fanatics, being spiritual bodies and fervent believers, almost wouldn't die in the so-called "Divine Kingdom," so they had been tormented by Su Yu to the brink of death and back till now.

Although this torment was still far from the real Hell of Suffering, it was frightening enough, almost like a small Hell.

And Su Yu had almost forgotten about them, only now did he remember.

Su Yu had always felt that these fanatical followers of Heavenly Punishment, who rained down "divine punishment" on human settlements, with blood-stained hands from millions of humans, were utterly unforgivable, and hence no punishment was excessive.

He had no psychological barriers in tormenting them.

But now thinking carefully...

"Thinking about it this way, I really am a bit twisted. Perhaps it's truly some sort of talent..."

Su Yu pondered, realizing that he had truly been quite talented in cultivating the Power of Pain in the past...

It was just that he hadn't had any method to cultivate nor coagulate a Hell Prototype to master the Power of Pain.

Rather, it had wasted the painful emotions of those fanatics.

"Maybe my cruel methods attracted something's attention..."

Another guess popped up in Su Yu's mind.

That his torturous acts on the City Lord of Heavenly Punishment and his minions may have satisfied some kind of ritual, thus drawing the attention of something.

Of course, all of this was merely Su Yu's speculation, and he had no evidence to prove it. He didn't even know if that thing truly existed.

"Anyway, this matter needs to be watched carefully and investigated cautiously."

Su Yu warned himself inwardly.

He decided to immediately commence an investigation once the Mechanical God's matter was settled.

This was no longer just an ordinary enemy, but a huge threat to Su Yu's essence.

If something could modify Su Yu's talent, granting him a peerless capacity in the Path of Hellish Suffering, could it thus exert a deeper influence on Su Yu?

Such a significant matter, Su Yu had to take seriously.

"However, at least for malicious characters like the City Lord of Heavenly Punishment, having the means to punish them is a good thing."

Su Yu's thoughts shifted as he reflected on the advantages of the Power of Pain.

Besides combat, its greatest utility might be in administering punishment.

With this thought, Su Yu directly moved with his mind, transporting the City Lord of Heavenly Punishment and his vile fanatics into the Hell Prototype.

Originally, these guys, after such a long time, seemed to have somewhat adapted to the torture by Su Yu's spiritual power flames and didn't scream as much.

Some with a firm will endured the pain strongly, showing almost no change in their expressions.

Chapter 699: The Source of Talent, The Unknown Black Hand? And... The Concept for a New Mecha!_2

There are also some particularly twisted ones who seem to "enjoy" it.

Others, on the other hand, have given up on thinking and entered a state similar to slumber to fight against the pain.

Continuing like this, Su Yu's torture punishment of them might soon lose its effect, and by then Su Yu's mental space would really become the Divine Kingdom they desired.

But for now, everything is not a problem.

"If you have the ability, just adapt to this."

Su Yu moved them to a real hell to broaden their horizons.

"Ah!"

"It hurts!"

"Let me die, let me die..."

Those fanatics instantly let out earth-shattering screams upon entering the Hell Prototype.

The true pain of hell is not just Su Yu's previous "child's play".

How about the resolute ones, the twisted enjoyment ones, those who gave up thinking... all useless!

Their spirits were forcibly awakened, kept in a state of high alert, clearly feeling every bit of pain.

And their pain further strengthened the power of the Hell Prototype, making the pain within even more intense.

With this new "fresh force," the output of the Pain Engine increased significantly, and the Hell Mecha's power also rose accordingly.

At the same time, Su Yu felt his mastery over the Power of Hellish Suffering also improved greatly.

"Heh, you can slowly enjoy it."

Su Yu chuckled lightly.

Those fanatics screamed miserably, but Su Yu felt no sympathy; on the contrary, he felt greatly relieved.

For these scumbags, this hell is the best homecoming for them.

Then Su Yu blocked out the screams of these guys and withdrew his attention.

"For now, let's save the Mechanical God first."

Su Yu collected his thoughts and focused his attention on the Hell Furnace.

At this moment, the Hell Furnace was unrecognizable, completely different from its original form, resembling an incomplete Spiral Drill like the Mechanical God.

Su Yu transformed the Hell Furnace into the form he desired through the stimulation of Painful Black Fire.

Just one more finishing step, and it would be finished.

The whole process took only a few hours, incredibly fast.

The Mechanical God observed the entire process, seeming a bit surprised at Su Yu's efficiency being so high.

To have really completed the transformation of the Hell Furnace in such a short time.

However, during the final stage, Su Yu discovered an unexpected matter.

Which was...

"Those Mechanical Beings are not completely dead?"

Su Yu found, deep in the Hell Furnace, within some hidden microstructures, some strange mechanical structures lurking.

These mechanical structures seemed somewhat baffling, not harmonious with the overall structure of the Hell Furnace, appearing as foreign objects.

After investigating carefully, Su Yu finally understood what these mechanical structures were.

They were the Mechanical Race that had been eroded by the Power of Pain during the previous banquet.

They had fused into the Hell Furnace under the control of the [King].

Of course, that was just the appearance; given those Mechanical Beings' rank, they couldn't possibly fuse into a Fifth-Rank Hell Furnace.

The truth should be that the Hell Furnace devoured them, using their pain as fuel to activate the furnace.

Later, the Hell Furnace was damaged by the Radiant Mecha, and Su Yu thought these guys were completely dead, but unexpectedly, they were still alive!

However, it's hard to say if these Mechanical Beings are truly still alive.

Their bodies have been completely absorbed and digested by the Hell Furnace, leaving only the most basic mechanical structures.

These mechanical structures are extremely small, like cells, with very few functions.

The function of these mechanical structures is to retain the consciousness of these Mechanical Beings and then produce pain!

Currently, these miniature Mechanical Beings are still continuously producing the Power of Pain, trying to repair the Hell Furnace.

However, the Radiant Mecha's blow was too harsh, and these miniature Mechanical Beings were also heavily injured, so the repair effect is not very good, far less useful than Su Yu's hellfire.

But the victory lies in the continuous effort; if Su Yu had left the furnace alone earlier, it would eventually have been fully restored thanks to the "efforts" of these miniature Mechanical Beings.

"What should be done with these guys?"

Su Yu looked at these Mechanical Beings, pondering slightly.

If he wanted to maximize the benefits, he should burn all these Mechanical Beings with the flames of Hell's Pain to turn them into fuel, which would make the Pain Engine on Su Yu's mecha stronger.

"Forget it."

Su Yu thought it over slightly, then abandoned the idea.

The main reason was that these Mechanical Beings were actually pitiful, harmed by the [King].

They were deliberately cultivated by the [King], representing a relatively pure faction, like G7.

These pure Mechanical Beings could produce the strongest pain, thereby activating the Hell Furnace.

And precisely because of their purity, although they had oppressed humanity before, they weren't excessive.

Not even remotely as malicious and cruel as the pure humans like the City Lord of Heavenly Punishment City.

Of course, these pure Mechanical Beings still exerted a normal level of oppression over humanity.

After all, their "purity" was within the Mechanical Race itself.

To a foreign race like humans, "pure" didn't necessarily mean anything; oppression was still inevitable.

But the resentment wasn't so deep as to warrant them to sink into hell, never to recover.

After making the decision, Su Yu activated his spirit and directly extracted those miniature Mechanical Beings from the Hell Furnace, relieving their pain, and prepared to store them in the Manifestation Space for later processing.

The Mechanical Beings, who had been screaming in pain, immediately fell into happy unconsciousness once rescued by Su Yu.

Previously, they had been in constantly conscious pain, and now, upon release, they couldn't withstand it anymore.

"It seems G7 is among them? The Galaxy Battle Armor would be very happy to know its friend isn't dead."

Su Yu carefully analyzed the composition of these Mechanical Beings and found that G7 and its spouse, Phantom, were among them.

Su Yu didn't hold any particular animosity towards these two, and seeing they weren't completely dead, he felt quite pleased.

"However, now these guys have become so small due to the power of the Hell Furnace... does this count as the legendary nanotechnology?"

Su Yu looked at these miniature Mechanical Beings and suddenly had another thought.

Before his traversal, Su Yu had seen many stories about nanotechnology in movies and dramas.

In those stories, nanotechnology was ever-changing, magical, and powerful.

But stories are ultimately stories; nanotechnology sounds impressive but actually has a lot of flaws and technical challenges.

Under normal circumstances, achieving such effects is nearly impossible.

However, in a world with Spiritual Energy and Subspace, it might be possible to create.

Though it's still technically very challenging.

Previously, Su Yu at the Third Rank found it somewhat difficult to manufacture such things.

After all, dealing with the microscopic scale involves extremely high technical difficulty, and previously, Su Yu didn't have the technical reserve, so he never considered it.

But now, seeing these miniature Mechanical Beings gave Su Yu a spark of inspiration.

Now being Fourth Rank and a Giant God Soldier Mechanic, he had enough strength and technology to create the legendary nanomachines.

Additionally...

"My second Giant God Soldier Mecha will be based on nanotechnology!"

Su Yu, as a Giant God Soldier Mechanic, can gain power feedback from different Giant God Soldier Mechas. The more mechas, the stronger his own body becomes.

So making just the Hell Mecha wasn't enough; not even a day had passed, and he was already contemplating building a second Giant God Soldier Mecha.

And this second one would utilize nanotechnology!

However, then again, if created, can it still be considered a "Giant" God Soldier Mecha? Maybe it should be called "Micro God Soldier"?

While Su Yu was pondering this, his transformation of the Hell Furnace had finished.

Su Yu collected his thoughts, picked up the completed Spiral Drill in his hands, and looked toward the Mechanical God, ready to begin the consciousness transfer.

However, Su Yu realized that something seemed strange with the Mechanical God?

Chapter 700: Mechanical God's New Ability! The Being Behind the Scenes Appears!

At this moment, the Mechanical God was emitting a strange fluctuation.

This kind of fluctuation, Su Yu had never seen before. It seemed to be some kind of information data, yet it also appeared to be... a peculiar spiritual energy!

"Spiritual energy?"

Su Yu was a bit surprised.

The Mechanical God did not possess any spiritual energy.

All His abilities were purely physical technology, without spiritual energy or subspace elements.

At most, He utilized His powerful computing power to control the Fifth Rank intelligence, the Giant God, to deploy the Manifestation Space and use spiritual abilities indirectly.

But He Himself still did not have any spiritual energy.

So under normal circumstances, it shouldn't be possible for Him to emit spiritual energy fluctuations.

But now, what was going on?

"What's wrong with you?"

Su Yu quickly asked.

The Mechanical God did not respond, continuing to emit that strange fluctuation.

Suddenly, His body shook.

The next moment, the Mechanical God's main body, the spiral drill head covered in cracks, completely shattered and scattered on the ground.

At the same time, from the Hell Furnace Su Yu had just finished transforming, the voice of the Mechanical God came through:

"I'm alright. When you completed the transformation of the Hell Furnace, my consciousness began a resonance transfer and has now completed."

"Thank you for your help. I am no longer in danger, though my strength might have decreased somewhat, and I need time to recover."

It turns out, just now, the Mechanical God abandoned His original body and transferred into the transformed Hell Furnace.

It looks like His life was saved, and Su Yu successfully rescued Him.

"That's good; losing strength is better than losing life."

Feeling the strange vitality within the Hell Furnace, Su Yu was also somewhat pleased. Saving the Mechanical God, this friendly alien, left Su Yu in a good mood.

However, Su Yu was still somewhat perplexed and asked: "The fluctuation you emitted just now was a bit strange, somewhat similar to spiritual energy fluctuations. What was that about?"

The Mechanical God was silent for a moment, then spoke: "When I was transferring consciousness, I seemed to perceive something strange."

"I think I saw the subspace your humans talk about..."

The moment the Mechanical God finished speaking, a powerful spiritual energy exploded within the Hell Furnace.

It turns out the Mechanical God truly possessed spiritual energy!

However, the spiritual energy of the Mechanical God felt incredibly strange to Su Yu; he had never seen such a form of spiritual energy.

It seemed the complete opposite of all spiritual energy he had encountered before!

Just like how other spiritual energy is "warm," the Mechanical God's spiritual energy was "cold," which was an instinctual feeling, indescribable.

"You can really perceive subspace? And you even possess spiritual energy?"

"Is it because of the body the Hell Furnace was forged from?"

As Su Yu analyzed the nature of the spiritual energy emitted by the Mechanical God, he asked.

He suspected that the original Mechanical God, insulated from subspace, suddenly possessing spiritual energy was due to Him changing His body.

Switching to this spiritual energy Mechanical Creation, the Hell Furnace, enabled Him to perceive subspace and possess spiritual energy.

However, Su Yu felt it wasn't that simple.

If simply changing His body could enable the Mechanical God to have spiritual energy, it would be too simple. With His abilities, He should have been able to achieve this long ago, not wait until now.

The Mechanical God pondered for a moment and then replied: "Indeed, it is because of this Hell Furnace."

"The material of this Hell Furnace is rather strange. It seems to have no real material components, purely a subspace creation. Moreover, the grade of this subspace material is extremely high."

"Whereas I was entirely composed of real material, with no subspace elements."

"When my consciousness resonated with this Hell Furnace during the transfer upload, the contact between the two completely opposite materials caused a peculiar change."

"Due to this change, I finally sensed the subspace and gained so-called spiritual energy..."

The Mechanical God's speech was a bit slow.

It seemed He was analyzing the situation as it happened and simultaneously conveying the results to Su Yu.

And this result left Su Yu quite shocked.

Was this Hell Furnace truly so unique? Pure subspace material?

Subspace spirit power can indeed condense into various similar material forms.

Previously, Su Yu defeated the Brutal Split Mind and obtained the Evil God's Bone, which is a similar entity.

However, that Evil God's Bone wasn't pure, still mixed with a lot of real material.

Simply put, the Evil God's Body back then, formed by the Ghost Tribe members' sacrifices and fusion, was naturally mixed with a lot of real material.

And the data manifestation ability, in fact, is also spiritual energy condensed into material form.

Except for this data manifestation, it requires real material as a "basis" and "reference," else it cannot be manifested.

Just like how snowflakes need dust as a nuclei for condensation.

Although only a tiny bit is needed, almost negligible, it is essential.

And now, the Mechanical God told Su Yu that this Hell Furnace is entirely pure subspace material, having no relation with the material universe at all, which is incredible.

Pure, absolute, complete... anything associated with these words is nothing short of remarkable.

No wonder such a bizarre object could react with the equally pure Mechanical God, granting Him spiritual energy.

It's unknown how the "King" obtained this thing and forged it into the Hell Furnace.

"Seems like I need to find time to thoroughly interrogate this guy."

Su Yu contemplated interrogating the "King."

In fact, according to Su Yu's usual practice, capturing an enemy alive would definitely mean an interrogation, extracting all the opponent's secrets and obtaining information and benefits.
