

Chapter 46 - This Man's Body Is Amazing

'Why do you care where I go now? What's wrong with me going inside my fiancé's house?'

'Why is not good for the family? You really think everyone is like you who knows something and then wants to talk about it. What will people say if I go to my fiancé's house now?'

'What age do you think it is?'

Nicole rushed at Erin and pressed her to ask her a question.

Erin's eyes flickered. She looked at Nicole's expression, and she suddenly looked aggrieved, and even turned her aggrieved gaze to Shawn's side, wanting to get a little comfort from his side.

Nicole was really disgusting in her heart. She didn't understand what Erin was doing. She glared at Shawn again and again. So many people were watching here!

'Eye problems?'

While Nicole's heart was furious, his voice suddenly fell, the words clearly directed at Erin.

'I don't like people looking at me with that kind of eyes, like you're having a cramp. If there's really any problem with your eyes, You'd better go for a checkup before it's too late.'

'Also, you just said it's not good for her to go to my house, is not being married such a thing a problem? If she agrees to marry me, she can go to the civil affairs bureau tomorrow morning to get a license.'

Shawn's words carried some faint sarcasm.

The anger in Nicole's heart disappeared quite a bit when she heard his words, and the look under her eyes also lit up.

'Let's go.'

Shawn suddenly reached out his hand and pulled her hand, directly leading her to run ahead.

Nicole followed behind him, but as she was about to get into the car, she couldn't help but turn around and support Bob's side to look at her.

'Dad, take care of yourself, I'll come back to see you sometime.'

Nicole was angry, but still didn't forget to instruct him.

After Shawn and Nicole got into the car, Erin suddenly turned around, she shifted her eyes to Bob and stomped her foot with some dissatisfaction.

'Dad, Sis is really too much. she is targeting me all the time since we were in the hospital, and now she is still targeting me here. Why can't Sis be a little nicer to me.'

Erin reached out and pulled Bob's wrist, and the eyes that looked at Bob also gradually took on a few grievances.

'I was just worried about her. She hasn't even married someone else yet, and now she's running to his house. Isn't this not spreading out to make people laugh!'

Her tone was faintly sour.

If she could have been with Shawn, she probably would have stuck by his side and wouldn't have wanted to leave.

Bob listened to her words and his eyes fell on her. He shook his head at her.

'Don't worry, your sister isn't the kind of person who doesn't have a sense of proportion. She knows what to do.'

'What's more, they just held the engagement ceremony. Even if something really happens, it won't be anything.'

Erin's heart was reluctant again. She was telling Bob these things, just to get him to scold Nicole, not for him to say these things to herself here now!

She was jealous in her heart, but still acted worried on the surface.

'Dad, it's not right to say things like that. Two people are engaged to be married, but how do you ensure that they will get married? Shawn had set a doll's wedding when he was a child. Do you think they can get married?'

Erin gritted her teeth. She still felt a burst of anger in her heart when she talked about this matter. Why it had to be Nicole?

'Okay, don't worry about this anymore. Your sister is not worried about anything. It's useless for you to worry so much. Just pack up, let's get ready to go back.'

Bob took the initiative to end this topic. Of course he knew that Shawn was set to have a doll's wedding, but his goodness to Nicole was also something he could see.

Although only their grandparents were present at the engagement ceremony, he still believed in his ability, not to mention that in his heart, Nicole wasn't bad either.

Raven didn't dare to say anything for fear of diverting Bob's attention to himself, and he stood here in extraordinarily silent silence.

It was only after Bob said that he wanted to go back that Raven opened his mouth.

'I'll go back first, the children at home are still waiting.'

The moment he looked at Bob, a trace of loss crossed his eyes. But the look under his eyes wasn't obvious, even if he was showing something now, Raven wouldn't find anything.

'Then in that case, you go back first. Remember to take good care of your family when you go back, and contact me if you have any matter.'

Bob smiled at Raven, and his attitude didn't change much.

On the other hand, Elena was relieved. It seemed Bob did not suspect her and Raven of anything.

After Raven left, these people also left.

.....

When Shawn and Nicole returned to the apartment, she was directly on the bed, and she allowed her buttocks to face Shawn, her chin resting on her arm.

'I'm so tired.'

The body was tired, the heart was also tired.

Shawn stood here and took off his clothes while looking at her, who was lying on the bed. When he saw her round and upturned buttocks facing him like this, he let out a chuckle.

'Your butt was tired, wasn't it?'

Nicole's ears moved, and she suddenly turned over, hiding her ass underneath, while she stayed on Shawn.

She was tired today. This man was really too powerful, and now looking at his expression, Nicole could even feel his desire.

She held one hand on the bed, holding her head, and stared at the man.

'Stop it.'

'Mr. Shawn, let's talk about the fact that only two people came from your family for the engagement ceremony.'

Because there were too many things, Nicole only had time to talk to him about it now, and she stared at him with a twinkle in her eye.

'Is your family not aware of my existence?'

Shawn also lived outside by himself, and Nicole only found out about it when she came to this apartment, and she was undeniably very surprised indeed.

'Do you want them to come to my engagement ceremony with you?'

He smiled, and his smile was a bit meaningful.

As he unbuttoned his shirt, he walked towards the bed.

Looking at the shirt slowly falling off under his hands, her eyes looked a lot deeper.

His body was really amazing. How this man's body was so good!