Chapter 181 Currying Favor

Isabella noticed Leward momentary loss of composure and asked, "Mr Duncan, did you scald yourself?" Leward quickly shook his head and said rapidly, "I'm fine, I'm fine!"

As he spoke, he looked towards the eighteen people again.

Isabella felt that his attitude was a little strange.

However, Jackson did not seem to notice Leward's loss of composure and stared at the eighteen people with interest

"They tried to assassinate you and kept their lives. What ability do they have? It can't possibly just be their fighting skills."

Based on his understanding of Bella, she would definitely not let these people live if they did not have sufficient merits.

Isabella replied, "They're not ordinary Old Mr. Sif injected the Blue Crystal Potion into their bodies. They're the only eighteen living Blue Crystals left."

Jackson was stunned for a moment before his expression instantly changed.

He suddenly clenched his fists till his joints turned white, and his expression turned extremely ugly.

He turned to look at Isabella and inspected her up from head to toe with lingering fear

Isabella hurriedly spoke, "Master Vaughn, don't worry. I've only suffered some minor injuries. I'm not missing an arm or leg. My injuries have already recovered."

To prove she was all right, Isabella even stood up and swung her fists and legs to show off her fierce punches and kicks.

Jackson's expression remained ugly.

He stared at the eighteen people. His usually gentle eyes now revealed a trace of viciousness.

The 18 Blue Crystals could not help but feel uneasy.

Isabella comforted him. "Master Vaughn, they're my men now. Don't scare them. John, come here!"

Isabella gestured at the youngest youth.

John approached her shyly.

Chapter 182 Pleasing Him

Jackson said nothing.

Isabella looked at Vanessa Falkona strangely and asked, "Aunt Falkona, you seem excited?"

A trace of discomfort flashed across Vanessa's face. "Yes. Jackson has suffered a lot over the years. I grew up with him, and we can be considered childhood sweethearts. Of course, I'm excited that his leg can recover"

Isabella couldn't help but laugh. This childhood sweetheart of Master Vaughn's was something.

The 18 Blue Crystals also glanced at Vanessa. They had seen this woman before. She was the wife of Old Mr Sif

But they were more curious about Leward Duncan.

They all found this person very familiar.

"Mrs. Lockwood, we need to talk to you," Claire said.

Isabella was stunned. She knew that Claire would not speak now unless it were something important.

Isabella smiled apologetically at the others and walked outside with the 18 Blue Crystals.

Draxton stayed inside and chatted with Jackson.

"Mrs. Lockwood, Leward Duncan looked very familiar to us. Even his voice sounded familiar "

Claire went straight to the point once they had stepped outside.

Isabella's expression changed. "You've met him before?"

Claire hesitated before she answered, "That was when we were experimental subjects. Someone was discussing the experimental data outside with Old Mr. Sif. Or rather, that person was leading the experiment. Although we were Old Mr. Sif's killing tools, that person was in charge of the experiment. We have never seen that person's face, but we remember his figure very clearly. In fact, his voice is exactly like that of Leward Duncan's."

Isabella's eyes darkened. She took a deep breath and replied, "I understand. Don't make it public for now."

"Okay"

Isabella returned inside as if nothing had happened. Seeing that Master Vaughn and Draxton were chatting, she went into the kitchen and brought out a fruit platter

"Master Vaughn, what are we eating today?"

Jackson answered, "It's Draxton's first time here today. Go prepare his favorite dishes."

Chapter 183 Blaming Azure Dragon

Seeing that Jackson did not touch the piece of pork ribs she picked for him, the sweet smile on Alanna’s face froze slightly

Isabella chuckled and looked at Alanna mockingly

Since Master Vaughn injured his leg, he became incredibly particular about his independence and self-improvement. Over time, he developed the habit of never eating what others picked for him.

Alanna’s efforts at pleasing him were for naught.

Draxton seemed to recall something and suddenly asked, “Miss Falkona, does the Sif family have any expert hackers?”

The piece of vegetable Alanna had just picked out fell on the floor.

She hurriedly picked it up as Vanessa chided, “Look at you. That’s not polite.”

As Vanessa spoke, she smiled and apologized to everyone.

Isabella said, “It’s just a piece of vegetable. Don’t mind it. Oh, right, Miss Falkona, I see you’re quite favored in the Sif family. You should know about the Sif family’s expert hackers, right?”

Alanna had already adjusted her emotions. She shook her head and answered, “I don’t know. I’m just a stepdaughter Old Mr. Sif appears to dote on me in front of outsiders, but he doesn’t treat Mom and me well.”

As she spoke, she lowered her head sadly

Vanessa was also very cooperative and put a lonely look on her face. Both mother and daughter were drama queens.

Isabella said, “I see. That wasn’t polite of me. But I’m confused. When the Sif family sent assassins to Lucsia, a hacker hacked into the Lockwood family’s security system. That hacker’s techniques closely resemble that of Azure Dragon. A few days ago, I was nearly assassinated in the Barclays estate. Later, I heard that the Barclays estate's security system was also hacked with a technique similar to that of Azure Dragon's."

"Azure Dragon?" Jackson stopped eating and looked up.

Isabella shrugged innocently

She and her parents were not fated with one another in this life, but she also had no regrets because of her

Jackson patted her shoulder "Alright, there's no hurry to settle the matter now. Since you're both here, stay for a few days."

At night, Isabella and Draxton were fooling around in bed.

Faint footsteps could be heard in the corridor outside.

Sitting on Draxton, Isabella's ears twitched, and she jumped off the bed. She then leaned against the door and peeked outside.

Draxton looked at his body and gritted his teeth as he walked over

Isabella turned around and gestured for him to keep quiet before pointing outside.

Through the crack in the door, they saw Vanessa wearing a translucent white nightgown with a white lace veil over it and walking barefoot to Jackson's room.

She knocked lightly on the door with one hand and held a soup bowl in the other

Speechless, Draxton followed Isabella and peeked at Vanessa's actions behind the door

Draxton was the dignified Lockwood family patriarch. When had he ever done such a stealthy thing like peeking?

It was already past eleven at night, and Jackson was asleep when a knock on the door awoke him. When he opened the door, he saw Vanessa.

“Vanessa, what are you doing?” Jackson frowned at the scantily clad woman in front of him.

In order to take care of Vanessa, Alanna had no choice but to move to the hospital

Jackson's house was quiet

The next morning, Isabella yawned as she stretched and came downstairs.

Seeing her like this, Jackson could not help but smile resignedly "Bella, why don't you sleep a little longer?"

Isabella said, "No, I still have things to do later."

"Come and have breakfast." Jackson and Draxton sat down at the dining table.

Isabella walked over. At this moment, Frank, the captain of Big Dipper, walked in.

He first cast a glance at Draxton, then handed the phone to Isabella ingratiating. There was an electronic document on the phone.

After Isabella finished reading, her expression turned completely cold.

She looked at Jackson with a hesitant expression.

Jackson picked up a napkin and wiped his mouth. "Why are you hesitating? Have you found evidence of Leward?"

Isabella said, "Master Vaughn, why don't you check it after you finish your meal?"

Jackson said in a miffed tone, "Alright, give me your phone."

Isabella had to pass the phone to him. After reading it, Jackson could not help falling silent for a moment. He sighed softly "Let's continue our breakfast After we're done eating. I'll go with you to see him."

After breakfast, Isabella, Draxton, and Jackson went to Leward's house together

Leward was in the pharmaceutical business. He had a pharmaceutical factory and was very famous in Fruggia.

His company was also one of the top companies in the industry. He was also a big shot in the industry Leward was not surprised at all when Isabella and the other two suddenly came to visit.

He sat on the sofa in the living room and smiled. "I'm glad you guys came."

Then, he instructed the servants to serve tea.

Upon hearing this, the servants served tea. Isabella and Draxton remained wordless, but they looked at Leward with unhappy expressions

Jackson sat opposite Leward. No one touched the tea on the table.

Draxton, with a deadpan exterior, put away his gun.
"He must be killed by us," Draxton said.
Leward was dead, and Jackson was busy holding his funeral.
However, Isabella and Draxton had already started to take action.

Late at night, Isabella and Draxton went to the Sif family with the 18 Blue Crystals, Little Dipper, and Big Dipper

However, when they went to the Sif family, Old Mr Sif was nowhere to be seen.

Isabella and Claire gasped in shock. Isabella whispered, "He escaped?"

Claire's face looked even grimmer than Isabella's. "Damn, he's too sneaky"

Finally, they found Irene huddled in a corner of the garden, shivering.

In just a few days, after her father went crazy that day, everything in the family had changed.

First, her father suddenly disappeared.

Immediately after, the Barclays family launched a crazy attack on the Sif family.

In just two days, the Sif family, once considered the pinnacle of opulence and prosperity, found themselves fallen into a state of disarray and desolation.

The servants in the house ran and fled. Irene heard footsteps approaching and looked up to see Isabella and the others.

"Ally, is there no other way?" Vanessa trembled in fear

Alanna's face was pale and gloomy After a pause, she said, "Arvid is unreliable. He dumped me just like that today With Isabella around, my chances of marrying into the Rutherford family are almost zero.

"However, I still have other chances. The assembly is my chance and my last chance. I gotta succeed this time."

Floyd's family lived in Jackson's house and got along very well with Isabella and the others.

Isabella had to go to the Barclays estate every other week to give Winna treatment.

Two days before the assembly, the poison in Winna's body had been completely removed.

However, her body had been tortured by the poison for many years and was somewhat damaged.

Isabella prescribed her nourishing pills for half a month and told her that after taking these pills, Winna's body would be no different from that of an ordinary person.

Isabella could feel the excitement in Fernando's eyes at that moment.

Winna cried tears of joy.

Fernando said to Isabella, "You never asked why Winna was poisoned."

Isabella smiled. "This is a family matter of the Barclays family."

Fernando sighed. "I thought you would be more or less curious."

Isabella did not say anything. She packed up the first aid kit and prepared to leave. It's good that Winna is already healthy "

Fernando looked at her and sighed silently.

After Isabella left, Winna blinked her big eyes at Fernando and asked, "Fernando, will Miraculous Doctor still come to our house as a guest in the future?"

Her clear gray eyes were filled with reluctance to say goodbye to Isabella.

Fernando patted her head and said, "If Winna wants to see her, you can invite her to our house as a guest. yourself, or you can take the initiative to visit her

Winna's eyes lit up when she thought about how she was already a healthy person and could go wherever she wanted in the future.

Fernando could not help but smile when he saw how happy she was.

Two days later, the assembly officially began.

Isabella did not dodge. An empty plate suddenly flew over and hit Irene right on the wrist.

Irene winced as the dagger fell from her hand.

Isabella didn't even blink as she looked at Irene with interest.

Claire strode forward. She was the one who had thrown the plate.

Irene held her injured arm and looked at Isabella in horror and hatred.

Isabella looked down at her and asked, "Miss Irene, who sent you to assassinate me? Is it your father
Old Mr

Sif?"

Irene just looked at her resentfully and said nothing.

The guards in charge of Bloody Rose's safety quickly came up and took Irene away.

Fernando walked forward with an ugly expression and asked with concern, "Are you alright?"

Isabella said, "It's fine. What can a small potato do to me?"

Her words were disdainful and arrogant, but no one who heard them felt that she was forcing herself.

There were also some people who gave a serious look at this beautiful Lucsian woman for the first time.

They all saw that she came with Draxton, but they did not know that she was Draxton's wife.

At first, they thought that she was Draxton's female companion. They were also puzzled why the patriarch of the Lockwood family would want to get close to a woman.

But now, someone suddenly remembered that Draxton was married.

Was this Lucsian woman in front of them the mysterious wife of Draxton?
