Chapter 261 Patriarch, You're Courting Death

"Did you inject yourself with the crystal potion to fight against Jen?" Isabella jumped up from the bed in shock and grabbed Draxton's collar.

Draxton was bending down, wanting to let this woman know how powerful he was. However, with Isabella's pull, the two of them fell together.

Draxton froze, and his ears turned red.

He was actually shy.

Isabella pinched his ear in amusement while looking at him worriedly.

She reached out and gently caressed his handsome face. She said gently, "Draxton, what's going on? Did you inject the crystal potion into yourself? Do you want to die?"

Her gaze was worried, and her tone was gentle. Draxton immediately stiffened.

He had totally forgotten that his original intention was to teach Isabella a lesson. In the end, she was the one who blew him away.

He got up and was about to escape.

Isabella pulled him back. He fell onto her soft body and became stiff as a log.

He widened his eyes and said furiously, "You... Do you know how to hypnotize someone too?"

Otherwise, why couldn't he resist her?

Isabella got struck by his rare cute expression. She narrowed her eyes and smiled.

"Yeah, I know how to hypnotize. Look into my eyes." Isabella's voice was alluring.

Draxton could not help but look into her eyes.

Then, he met a pair of eyes filled with heartache and tenderness.

This was not hypnosis, but it was worse than hypnosis.

Draxton was immersed in it and could not extricate himself. It was really... Her gentle appearance made him unable to resist.

Then, he felt his wrist being squeezed.

Isabella felt his pulse. The pity in her eyes grew stronger.

Draxton came to his senses. His expression changed as he shouted, "You touched me!"

After a moment of silence, Queal repeated the question to Draxton.
He asked again, “Patriarch, what should we do?”
Draxton looked at him and said coldly. “Aren’t you Madam’s men? Why are you talking to me about this? Hmph!”
He stood up and left arrogantly.
“Patriarch...”
Looking at Draxton’s determined back, Queal was stunned. He was absolutely dumbfounded.
Isabella facepalmed herself.
She said, “Send that child back to where he came from. As for those researchers, if they are willing to submit, let them work for us. If they are unwilling to submit or are secretly compliant, deal with them as you should. There’s no need to show mercy!”
“Yes, Ma’am,” Queal replied. Then, he couldn’t help but say, “Ma’am, patriarch is...”
Queal looked extremely conflicted.
Isabella said, “It’s fine. Your patriarch is throwing a tantrum. I’ll go coax him.”
So that was how it was!
Queal heaved a sigh of relief.

Then, he thought it was somewhat strange. He couldn't bare to look at his patriarch throwing a tantrum. After Queal and the others left, Isabella went upstairs to look for Draxton.

The corners of Jeanne's mouth twitched. Then, she sighed heavily. "Draxton is acting exactly like his father when he was fooling around. Is it possible that his hidden genes have awakened? Sigh, genes are really scary!*

Ava glared at her and said, "Sister-in-law, don't say that about Draxton. Draxton is such a nice man. How can you compare Draxton to him? Didn't you hear what Bella said? It's just temporary."

Jeanne sighed worriedly.

Philip, who heard their conversation, was confused.

What was wrong with him? Was he that bad? No, he had to talk to his wife tonight.

Isabella returned to the house and saw Draxton looking at her unhappily.

Isabella's expression fell, and she sighed sadly. "Sigh, you don't want to give me Big Dipper anymore. Alright, I'll return him to you."

As she spoke, she pretended to take off Big Dipper's ring. Draxton frowned and held her hand. "I didn't say that!"

After Draxton finished speaking, he looked at the stunned members of Big Dipper and Little Dipper before turning around proudly.

The Big Dippers were speechless.

So were the Little Dippers.

That was a personal attack from their patriarch!

How could he call them noobs?

Isabella did not know whether to laugh or cry as she looked at him and said, "Are you upset?"

"Hmph, they all want to betray me and follow you. I despise them!"

He said lightly.

Isabella facepalmed helplessly and took off the Little Dipper and the Big Dipper's rings on her hand.

Draxton looked at her in surprise.

Isabella said, "The real function of these two rings is to act as a communication and navigation. Since that's the case, why don't we switch to another mode? We combine them to make a pair of earrings, one for each of us. Then, we can control Big Dipper and Little Dipper together."

"We will be wearing the same earrings?" His eyes lit up.

Isabella didn't know how to react. This man always focused on the wrong topic.

She nodded. "Yes, we will wear the same earrings."

Draxton was very happy. He took the ring and said, "I'll contact the Research Department now and ask them to modify it for us."

"Okay."

Isabella looked at him with a gentle smile.

Draxton's ears turned red again.

Isabella smiled. Although he was not as mature and steady as before, he was even cuter.

Gary was wearing a lake-blue robe. He stood under a poplar tree before Isabella and Draxton and looked at them quietly.

Sensing his gaze, Isabella and Draxton walked towards him.

"Jeremy!" The man who spoke first said in a low voice. The young man immediately shut up but still pursed his lips in disdain.

"Old Willsmith, don't reprimand Jeremy. It's good for young people to be arrogant. Moreover, I think Jeremy is right. The Lockwood family's thoughts are indeed not on the orthodox path of boxing. Thinking back to the Lockwood family a hundred years ago, there were so many talented people. Everyone in the boxing world respected them. Look at the Lockwood family now. Sigh, they only want profits."

The one who spoke was the patriarch of the Simon family.

Old Willsmith and Old Craven looked at each other with bitter gazes.

The patriarch of the Simon family was a single-minded person who was proud of boxing. He had spent his entire life studying boxing.

As they walked together, he and his grandson looked the shabbiest.

Old Simon's grandson had a muscular body, yet his clothes were all patched up!

Moreover, his grandfather had raised a fine young man like him into a silly boy. He looked stupid and dumb.

Yandel felt that his seniors were all looking at him, so he gave them a silly smile.

Old Willsmith and Old Craven immediately turned their heads away, unable to bear the sight.

They headed toward the hotel lobby.

The patriarch of the Hank family had his hands behind his back as he leisurely surveyed his surroundings. He was even humming a tune.

Behind them, Old Menter and Mrs. Menter were wearing traditional suits and dresses. They seemed stern.

This group of people wore different clothes and oozed distinct auras.

Take Old Willsmith and Old Craven, for example. One wore a modern suit, while the other wore a traditional suit. They both looked glamorous. The juniors of the two families had also dressed appropriately.

Snowflakes fell from the sky. A large group of people came out of the mourning hall one after another. Some stayed for a while before leaving, while others stayed behind.

Sir Graham Lockwood, Damon, and the men from the boxing families were arguing.

Old Simon had an arrogant look on his face. He said disdainfully, "Freeman, Damon, You guys are surely capable. You betrayed boxing and earned a lot of money. I wonder if the ancestors of the Lockwood family will kick open the coffin and crawl out to smack you two unfilial descendants if they find out."

Sir Graham Lockwood was furious. "Who said that we betrayed boxing? The Lockwood family is making money and practicing boxing simultaneously!"

"That's right!" Damon said coldly. He would never allow anyone to look down on them.

"Is that so?" Old Simon glanced at them and said, "I heard none of you from the main branch can practice boxing. Only a few from the second branch can do it."

When Sir Graham Lockwood and Damon heard this, they retorted loudly, "Nonsense!"

With that, the two men waved at Ricky, Betty, and Kieran at the same time.

"Kids, come here!"

The three little fellows obediently went over.

Old Simon looked at the three children and was stunned for a moment. Then, he couldn't help but laugh.

Sir Graham Lockwood said, "Old Simon, let me tell you. These three children in my family are all little geniuses. One of them is equivalent to ten of you. Three of them can beat your entire family."

Old Simon said mockingly, "It's been many years since we last met. Old fellow, you've learned to brag!"

"I'm not bragging with you!" Sir Graham Lockwood couldn't take it anymore.

Seeing that the two men were about to fight, Old Willsmith stepped out to become the peacemaker. He repeatedly advised, "Come on, don't argue. We haven't seen each other for many years. Let's talk things out.” “Hmph, who are you looking down on? You should help your child wear a cotton-padded jacket first.”

Sir Graham Lockwood rudely pointed at Yandel’s clothes. Not only were they patched up, but they were only a single layer.

It was cold in February and March at Dawton City.

Betty raised her head and took a deep look at Yandel. Then, she shook her head and sighed. “Sigh, poor kids are so pitiful!”

Old Simon’s mouth twitched. He couldn’t stop himself from trembling.

He felt that the little girl had mocked him.

Old Willsmith looked at Draxton’s condition and hesitated before saying, “I think I’ve seen such symptoms on the ship’s information.”

Sir Graham Lockwood kept silent before saying. “I think I’ve seen it before too.”

Isabella looked at them in shock and asked, “What information? What does the information say?”

Sir Graham Lockwood said, “Fifty years ago when the various factions discovered the ship, they found at piece of information on it. According to the information, if one directly absorbed some kind of liquid, they would slowly die. There were various strange deaths, but the ending was undoubtedly very miserable. At most... They would not live for more than half a year at most.”

“The liquid described in the information should be the crystal potion.”

Isabella’s mind immediately exploded. She looked at Sir Graham Lockwood in disbelief and said, “Grandpa, why didn’t you remind me after reading that document? Draxton’s body was normal a few days ago. I didn’t expect it to be like this.”

She was close to tears.

Sir Graham Lockwood lowered his head resentfully and said gloomily, "I saw you guys were fine two days ago. I... I was a little out of my mind. I couldn't remember..."

Isabella was speechless.

Why was he always out of his mind?

Isabella pursed her lips and said word by word, "Grandpa, don't worry. I definitely won't let anything happen to Draxton!"

Isabella hugged the man in her arms tightly. Her eyes were filled with determination.

The last time she was so determined was when she gave birth to her kids.

This time, she wanted the man in her arms to wake up safely and be healthy for the rest of his life!

After Willow's funeral, Isabella brought Draxton home.

He did not wake up, nor did he have a pulse. He looked no different from a dead person.

"Only half a year..."

Isabella muttered to himself. Then, she picked up her phone and called Fernando.

Jeremy silently turned his face away. His grandfather was a very particular person. He had never seen his grandfather lose his composure like this.

Smiling. Gilbert looked at Old Willsmith and said, "Old Willsmith, ignore anything else in my family, but this meal is superb. Since you guys have come to Dawton City, why don't you come to my house more often to eat? Haha, I guarantee you'll gain ten pounds when you leave!"

Old Willsmith was shocked. He couldn't imagine what it would be like to gain ten pounds of weight. His face. slowly turned green.

He looked at Gilbert and said, "Gilbert, that day at Willow's funeral, you saw what happened to Draxton Lockwood. Draxton won't be able to live. At most, he can only survive half a year. Don't you have any thoughts about this?"

Old Willsmith looked at Gilbert with a burning gaze, his eyes flickering.

"Thoughts?" Gilbert sighed and said, "Sigh, I'm also very regretful about this, but thoughts alone can't save Old Willsmith was speechless.

"Gilbert, Draxton has fallen. Didn't you think of who will be the new patriarch of the Lockwood family?

"According to the Lockwood family's habits, the older one will become the patriarch. The oldest one now is Gary. You'd better be careful!"

"Did I hear snacks?" Yoda walked over, and his eyes lit up. "Where are the snacks?"

Old Willsmith was speechless.

So was Jeremy.

This family was indeed abnormal!

Gilbert glanced at his son and said, "Vivian baked a small cake yesterday. It's in the fridge. Go get it. Be careful not to let Vivian see it!"

Yoda turned around to get it.

Isabella could not help but laugh when she heard that.

Old Willsmith and the others were surprised to see her reaction.

Isabella's reaction was too calm. She was so tranquil that it gave them the illusion that they were being looked down upon.

At this moment, Isabella's gaze suddenly turned sharp. She looked at Old Craven and the others. "You seem to have forgotten that the Lockwood and Barclays family will lead the crystal potion experiment. The Lockwood family was also the one who gave you the right to participate in it. The crystal potion experiment has yet to officially begin. I'll show you some respect on account that you're all elders. Please go back and wait quietly. I'll inform you after the experiment begins!"

Isabella wanted to let these men from the boxing family know who the master of the laboratory was.

She wasn't a pushover and would never allow them to suppress her like that.

The patriarch of the Hank family and Simon's family's eyes lit up. The way they looked at Isabella had already changed.

The Lockwood family's young patriarch's wife seemed very powerful.

Old Willsmith and Old Craven's expressions changed. They did not expect Isabella to be so arrogant at such a young age.

"Hmph, what right do a woman like you have to meddle in the Lockwood family's business? Stand down. You're not qualified to talk to us!"

Old Craven scolded sternly. His attitude was even more overbearing than Isabella's.

When the Big Dipper and the others heard this, their expressions immediately changed. They looked at Old Craven and the others with unfriendly gazes.

Isabella's expression also turned cold. These elderlies were really ungrateful.

Isabella sneered and said, "Looks like you guys have made up your minds to overtake the scene today. Since that's the case, don't blame me for teaching you to be polite."

With that, Isabella did not even turn around and said calmly, "Queal, invite these guests out. The laboratory is currently not a place outsiders can enter. This place is confidential. If anyone doesn't know what's good for them, kill them on the spot."

As soon as Isabella finished speaking, Queal and the others immediately rushed forward. Queal's lips twitched, and he looked at the elderlies from the boxing families with a wicked smile. "Gentlemen, please!"

As he spoke, he pounced forward, forcing the elderlies to retreat.

As Jeremy saw his grandfather getting forced and staggering backward, his face immediately darkened. Without saying a word, he attacked.

Old Craven was unwilling to give up and headed to a place with the group of old fellows from the boxing family.

On the way, Jeremy’s expression was listless. He was still in shock from being beaten up by Queal in just a few moves.

He was the heir of the Willsmith family, one of the boxing families. His talent was one of the best in the boxing world. How could he not be able to defeat a mere guard from the Lockwood family?

Jeremy was starting to doubt his life.

Old Willsmith glanced at him and snickered. “What? Are you hurt? Do you know how powerful the Lockwood family is now?”

However, Jeremy’s focus was not on the main point. He asked, “Grandpa, that guard is powerful, but what does that mean?”

“What does it mean? Hmph, you want to know? Then I’ll tell you. It means that any member of them can easily defeat you!”

Jeremy was stunned!

His eyes widened as he stared at his grandfather in disbelief.

Old Craven said, “Old Willsmith, don’t provoke Jeremy so much.”

Then, he said to Jeremy, “Jeremy, don’t listen to your grandpa. He’s only half right. The Big Dipper’s guards were chosen from the Expendable Camp. Their physique has been modified and specially trained. It’s different from our normal cultivation. Although the Lockwood family’s Big Dipper is powerful, their bodies have already been overdrawn. In a few years, the disadvantages will appear. However, our boxing will only become stronger and stronger. It’s nothing for you to lose to them.”

Jeremy said, “Even so, the Lockwood family’s Big Dipper is really impressive.”
