

Kick Ass Wife 30

Chapter 30 The Kindergarten

Cristian looked straight ahead without saying a word to his little sister.

Regina looked annoyed just thinking about it. She could not restrain herself and asked in shock, "Big Brother, you don't like her, do you?"

'Just drive," said Cristian.

Regina pouted as she started the car.

As the car drove back to Northernville Manor, Isabella was sitting in the front passenger seat. She was looking at the man who was so focused on the road in the driver's seat.

"Are you really going to let Daniel go to North Star Group just like that?" She felt a little curious about his decision.

Draxton laughed softly and replied, "If they want opportunities, they have to fight for themselves. Now that they have fought for it, there's no harm in giving them a chance, right?"

His words made complete sense, so Isabella could only go quiet.

Draxton said, "Ricky is four years old now, right?"

Isabella was surprised by the question for a moment before she nodded.

Draxton continued, "It's time for him to go to kindergarten then."

Isabella froze as she realized something.

He was absolutely right. Ricky had already reached the age to attend kindergarten. From the beginning, she had brought them out of Lotus Village with their future education in mind.

"Do you want Ricky to start attending kindergarten?" Isabella was a little happy.

Draxton saw that Isabella was having many thoughts in her mind, so he asked, "Hmm? Don't you think so?"

Isabella quickly shook her head. Then, she replied enthusiastically, "It's time for Ricky to join kindergarten. I was just thinking about it as well."

Draxton turned his head and glanced at her sideways. He smiled as he said, "Uh-huh. Lockwood Group owns kindergartens. Most of the children from the Lockwood clan attend schools that belong to the Lockwood Group. It is all-rounded and has the best resources in town. What do you think about sending Ricky to our kindergarten?"

wanted to send Ricky to the best kindergarten in town. In reality, the Lockwood Group not only had kindergartens, but they also owned a primary school, middle school, and Ricky who was sitting obediently in the backseat, without making a sound. She asked in a gentle tone, "Ricky Baby, what attending kindergarten. She clearly loved the child and respected their wishes a lot. Also, she was good at communicating and nodded obediently. "Yes. Thank you, such a sweet little boy. If they were not in a moving car, she would have mind. Still, she did not have to worry about Betty. Grandmaster and Master Grey were going to teach and guide her, smart children. They were clearly more intelligent than normal children there.

they could get very good grades. From their previous performance, both the composed Ricky the boy sitting in the backseat through the rearview mirror. The boy looked physically just like him and had the same composure. He gentle look could be seen

Draxton made arrangements to send Ricky to the kindergarten and Isabella also tagged along.

up personally at the kindergarten, making everyone feel charge of the kindergarten was also a member of the Lockwood family. His name was Owen Lockwood, and he was the current principal of the kindergarten. From his appearance, version of the chieftain, his jaw nearly everyone. "She's my fiancée and looked at Ricky in shock and then at Isabella in absolute people, Owen Lockwood was considered an had a more straightforward personality. Ever since taking on his role as the kindergarten his retirement age. They had already started grooming a vice-principal to take over his vice-principal also arrived. The vice-principal, Veronica Lockwood, was a young woman in her thirties.

look of surprise took over from upper management at North Star Group, so she managed to take a glance at Draxton she had seen the chieftain from a distance, everyone naturally remembered his gently in is Veronica Lockwood. She was transferred to the kindergarten last year. She's very good second look

beside herself with joy as eyes on no one, except Isabella said, "It's getting late. Didn't the principal say instantly. She moved her head and