

Kick Ass Wife 42

Chapter 42 The Thompsons' Scheme

But after some moments of hesitation, Isabella finally fell silent.

There was no rush when it came to Betty's matter.

By the time the evening came, Isabella suddenly sensed that something was wrong.

Because she realized that her bedroom had been moved from the master bedroom to Draxton's room. Isabella was speechless.

With a serious expression, Draxton said, "We're legally married, and we even have a child. Sleeping together shouldn't be a problem, right?"

She said nothing.

This man was indeed a fearless one.

Seeing that Isabella said nothing as she looked at him with a dazed expression, Draxton raised his eyebrow and said, "Five years ago, you were so bold. You even made the move yourself. Why are you so timid now?"

Isabella looked at him in surprise and asked, "Mr. Lockwood, do you want me to... treat you like I did five years ago?"

Draxton fell silent.

His ears turned red. But his face became stern as he said, "We're already married. I think you should address me differently."

Isabella pondered for a moment and called out, "Draxton."

The corners of Draxton's taut, straight lips curved upward slightly.

Being with her had always felt comfortable. She would always make him feel at ease.

He added, "You don't have to treat me like you did five years ago. Instead, I'll take the initiative now."

Isabella was confused for a moment. It was only when she realized what he meant that she could not help but laugh.

Her almond-shaped eyes curved up. She looked at him with fascination, and her voice seemed to carry a teasing note. "Is that so?"

Although Draxton's ears had turned crimson red, his expression was extremely solemn. "Yes."

It was as if he was talking about a serious topic.

Isabella could not help but laugh.

She said, "Well, then... let me see how you'll fare."

She turned around and went into the bathroom.

Draxton's handsome face blushed slightly. He watched her silhouette walk away while narrowing his eyes assertively.

He could never let her underestimate him.

In the eyes of the law, they were now husband and wife.

That night, both of them indulged in the ultimate form of pleasure. Only this time, they were both sober.

They were so in tune with each other that the night was beyond their expectations. But there was no doubt that the next morning, Draxton looked at Isabella with even more passion.

Isabella was a little sore the next day. Feeling quite upset, she did not look at him.

She was not angry at how rough he had been last night. She was upset at how she had lost to him. She felt humiliated.

No, she had to get back at him tonight.

After breakfast, Isabella took Ricky to the kindergarten.

After the incident with Alan and Martin, when it came to sending and picking up Ricky, Isabella no longer wanted to hire someone as a driver.

She had nothing to do, after all, and she preferred to do it herself.

When Isabella sent Ricky to the kindergarten, she did not notice that a red sports car was parked across the street. Two people were sitting inside.

They were none other than Samantha and Mr. Thompson.

Samantha, who had lost to Isabella previously, had been looking for a chance to get back at her.

But as it turned out, she could not even figure out Isabella's whereabouts.

not find a single accidentally saw Isabella sending a child to the

to think about the relationship between that child and Isabella. She only spoke excitedly. "Dad, look. It's Isabella.

immediately looked in the direction she pointed at. Indeed, a classic full-length beige trench coat. She had let her hair down and completely different shackled beast. Her true nature had been hidden. But

Mr. Thompson's expression changed.

"True royalty is such thoughts only popped into his mind for a brief moment. Immediately, he abandoned them

Sammy was the how scary she was that day. I think she's a desperate lunatic and muttering to her father after seeing Isabella.

stared at Isabella. A trace of ruthlessness

"Sammy, don't be scared. Mom and Dad are here. She will not be a threat to you. We will protect you. Since she died five panic, but a smile flashed under her

He was now wearing a suit worth tens of thousands of dollars, the live such a good life. It was to time, Samantha would give them some money, too. During these five years, considered rich among first lady of the Lang family, the good times would never even either. It was as if she had the Lang family and the Thompson family, only Samantha was everyone's little princess. She sudden return had caught the Thompson family off seen her yet, we have to make her

the law. We can simply kick her you get

Samantha said that on purpose. She was retreating in order to felt touched by Samantha's words. His daughter was so sweet that he could more said, "Sammy, you're a good girl. I know what to do about Isabella. You don't need to truth was, for her, her parents had returned, she was glad to realize that having provided for her parents for five years example, they could be her weapon whenever

A very handy weapon.

next to her

"I have not. This is my first time seeing him. Dad, whose child do you think that is? He can't be mother gave her the entire night. She must have been fooling around with the man. That bastard child might have Cristian knows about her.

Isabella has an illegitimate child, he won't like her anymore. I have did you say? Does Cristian like

If the Lang family realized what had happened, they might not recognize Sammy as their family anymore. Sammy's true pillar only be truly secure when she married into a wealthy family and became the wife of Cristian, nothing must get in the and become the young mistress of became more and more her father should be determined to get rid of her having to do anything, her parents, who were also her sharpest weapons, her.

was over, Isabella had street corner, a black car suddenly appeared without that driver crazy? Or is he drunk while driving?" But at the moment She fell silent.

pressed her foot on the gas pedal, Thompson thought Isabella must have mistaken the gas all. His car had been modified. It was sturdy. It would crash into Isabella's car looked he suddenly sensed that was really as if she that Isabella was not

was right Isabella

was very confident in his