Chapter 431 I'm Much Gentler Now

The woman covered her mouth and laughed smugly. After laughing, she put down her hand and walked in gracefully.

The bodyguards behind her immediately followed her in warily.

No one in the Lockwood family said anything. They all looked at this woman with strange expressions. Ava said angrily, "Sofia, is there something wrong with your brain? Are you here to behave atrociously?" The woman glanced at Ava and sneered as if she found it very funny. "Mrs. Ava Lockwood, I called you Mrs. Ava Lockwood for the sake of the Willsmith family.

"The Lockwood family is about to be ruined. Why don't you take Wilson back to your mother's house now? Presumably, the Willsmith family will ensure that you and your husband can live a comfortable life.

"Why are you still defending the Lockwood family? I won't bicker with you today. After all, you've never provoked me before. I'm here today to look for Mrs. Jeanne Lockwood!"

As she spoke, she sneered at Jeanne.

Jeanne's expression darkened.

She was usually gentle and elegant, but when she was angry, she naturally had a powerful aura.

That was the dignified and stately aura of the patriarch's wife in an influential family.

"It's like this!" The woman suddenly pointed at Jeanne and said, "Jeanne, you look just like how you were back then!"

A chilling look appeared in the woman's eyes.

"Back then, you looked down on me, mocked me, and humiliated me like this. You're really the dignified eldest daughter of the Barker family and Mrs. Lockwood!"

Jeanne said in a deep voice, "Sofia, you actually came to the old residence. Are you crazy? Is the old residence a place you can come to?"

Philip also said, "Who let them in?"

No one responded. Sofia clapped her hands and smiled. Then, two bodyguards walked in with Mr. Lyons and Ricky at gunpoint.

Draxton did not know whether to laugh or cry. However, when he thought that Isabella was currently pregnant, he immediately felt a headache and his expression could not help but become serious.

He said, Bella, you have to be responsible for the child in your belly. You can't fight with others easily. It's better to be safe than sorry. Don't do it again!"

Isabella blinked innocently, turned around, and hit the back of Draxton's head. Draxton immediately looked helpless.

Isabella squatted down and hugged Ricky.

Ricky snuggled into his mother's long-lost soft embrace. His entire little face revealed a hint of intoxication and dependence.

He closed his eyes comfortably and wrapped his little hands tightly around Isabella's neck. He said softly, ' Mommy.'

His voice was filled with affection.

Isabella felt a lump in her throat. She rubbed his soft hair and planted a very gentle kiss on his forehead.

' Ricky, mommy misses you. Do you miss mommy?'

"Yes, I miss mommy and daddy!"

Isabella kissed his little face again. They were intimate for a long time. Isabella stood up and looked at Mr. Lyons. "Mr. Lyons, are you alright?"

As usual, Mr. Lyons did not speak much and did not have much of an expression. He said calmly, "What can happen to me? If I wasn't afraid that they would hurt Ricky, how could they stop me?'

Draxton said, Mr. Lyons, stop standing and talking. Let's sit down and talk.'"

Isabella also held Ricky's small hand and walked toward the sofa. Betty grabbed the Silver General and held it in her palm. She pouted and looked at it curiously.

Isabella and Ricky turned to look at her at the same time. Ricky let go of Isabella and walked to Betty's side. "Betty, we want to bathe it. Is this your new worm?"

"It was transformed from the previous worm," Betty explained seriously. Then, she said aggrievedly, ' But its performance today was too lousy."

Ricky said, It's alright. Just wash it until it smells good."

Chapter 433

The next afternoon, Isabella and Draxton arrived on time.

By the time they arrived, there were already several people in the President's living room.

Flowers bloomed along the way. There were all kinds of expensive flowers and fragrances greeted them.

They walked down the marble-paved path toward the parlor.

The door to the reception pavilion was wide open, with only a thin bamboo curtain hanging down.

Other than the fragrance of flowers, there was also the fragrance of coffee. The first thing that Isabella and Draxton smelled was not the fragrance of flowers, but the fragrance of coffee.

Through the bamboo curtain, they could not see who was inside, but they could see that there were many people.

Similarly, the people inside could not see the outside clearly. Someone said, "Sir, I wonder which esteemed guest you have invited. The timing is perfect!"

A slightly rough voice sounded.

The President looked at the person who asked the question and said with a smile,

"These two will surprise everyone."

After saying that, he looked at the person who asked the question meaningfully.

The person who asked the question was Darius, the person in charge of the Greensworth Branch of the Lockwood family.

For some reason, when Darius saw the President's ambiguous gaze, his heart skipped a beat and he felt a little uneasy.

He could not help but turn to look at the bamboo curtain at the door. At this moment, the bamboo curtain was lifted and two figures walked in side by side.

Jason and Anna, who were standing by the bamboo curtain, looked happy when they saw the two people.

Isabella looked at the two of them and ignored Jason. She smiled at Anna.

Anna nodded at her with a cold expression.

The faces of the people in charge of the four branches were pale.

A trace of mockery appeared in Denver's eyes. The Lockwood family was only so-so. Draxton just left, but there were four traitors.

Moreover, these four people were all core members of the North Star Group. Four of the seven branches of the North Star Group were lost, which would be equivalent to losing half of its territory. To the Lockwood family, it was definitely not just a simple loss.

From this, it could be seen that the Lockwood family had already been troubled by external problems and internal problems.

He sneered in his heart. He wanted to see what Draxton would do. Draxton was probably going crazy.

Draxton looked at the people in charge of the four branches and slowly said, "Since the four of you are already loyal to the President, you have to be loyal to him in the future. The Lockwood family will not force anyone to do anything. Since you don't want to work for me, the Lockwood family will not force you to stay either.

"Later, I'll get Noah to reorganize the North Star Group and remove the four branches. Although your surname is Lockwood, you have nothing to do with the Lockwood family from now on."

The expressions of the four people changed subtly. Disbelief and fear flashed in their eyes.

' Mr. Lockwood, are... are you serious?' Darius was the most impatient, so he was the first to ask the question.

Draxton glanced at him and said indifferently, 'Have I ever lied?'

Darius's face turned even paler. He could barely hide the fear in his eyes. He remembered how ruthless Draxton was when it came to dealing with traitors.

The four of them had joined the President because they thought that Draxton was already dead. However, they did not expect that not only was Draxton not dead, but he had also returned safely.

If they knew that Draxton was not dead, they would not dare to act rashly.

The moment they saw Draxton and Isabella enter, their hearts were at their throats.

"Mr. Lockwood, we... we..." Darius stammered. Cold sweat broke out on his forehead uncontrollably.

Seeing him like this, the other three, Darren, Dominic, and Dylan also revealed uneasy expressions.

A dark look flashed across the President's eyes.

Draxton's methods of controlling his subordinates were amazing. Draxton knew their sore points, threatened them, and would use force.

If not for the news of Draxton's death, these people would not have dared to betray Draxton even if they wanted to.

The atmosphere fell silent again. Then, deathly silence filled the air.

Everyone was stunned. They looked at the President quietly, and confusion gradually appeared in their eyes.

They thought, "Why... was the President's attitude towards Isabella s-so amiable?

"That was not normal!"

Isabella looked at the President expressionlessly.

The President sighed and looked at Denver Wheeler and the others. He said, '

Everyone, you know that Bella is the Miraculous Doctor. You shouldn't be biased against her. She's not an ordinary woman."

Darius and the other three, as well as Denver, had stiff expressions. They did not know what to say.

However, they could not humble themselves and apologize to Isabella.

Moreover, the President's attitude was too unpredictable. Logically speaking, shouldn't the President be hostile to Draxton and Isabella?

The President said, ' Everyone, you do not know this but Bella is my niece.'

Isabella squinted slightly and quietly watched the President brag.

Draxton could not bear to listen anymore. The President was trying too hard to establish a relationship with Isabella. He looked at the silent crowd and said calmly,

"Everyone, it looks like you should apologize to my wife."

The atmosphere was silent for a moment. Dominic said, "Even if we're in the wrong, you and your wife beat my wife until she bled yesterday. There has to be an explanation for this!"

Killing intent gradually filled Draxton's eyes. He said coldly, "You want an explanation?

The President looked at everyone and explained, "You guys didn't know this, right? Wesley is Bella's teacher. I said before that Bella is my niece because of their relationship."

Everyone had different expressions as they looked at Isabella in bewilderment.

Isabella lowered her head and poured herself a glass of water.

'Don't try to make you two seem closer than you really are. Bella is my student. What does it have to do with you?' Wesley retorted unhappily.

The President looked at him and said, "Wesley, let's not involve others in our disagreement. You're my younger brother. Wouldn't that make your disciple my junior?"

"Draxton, don't you think that makes sense?" Draxton said, "Let's not talk about this for now. Since the matter has been decided, please prepare for the handover of the property."

"The four departments of Big Dipper are already your businesses. I'll go back and make arrangements at the Vernon Branch. You can send people to the Vernon Branch for the necessary procedures."

The President's expression froze. He looked at Draxton and said, "Draxton, have you thought it through?" Draxton said calmly, 'Sir, why do you say that? Isn't that what you want?"

The President said nothing.

Draxton stood up and said, "Bella is pregnant. I'll take her back to rest first. Goodbye, Sir."

Mr. Lyons, Bella and I will leave first," Draxton said respectfully to Wesley.

Wesley nodded and reminded, "Be careful on the road."

The room fell into a temporary silence as soon as they left.

Mr. Lyons swept his disdainful gaze past Darius and the others. He snorted coldly and lowered his head to drink his coffee.

Darius looked at Wesley hesitantly and said to the President, "Sir... what does Mr. Lockwood mean?"

The President did not say anything. His expression was dark.

"Everyone, you can go back first," the President said to them.

Denver's expression changed slightly. He was a little unwilling. He wanted to say something, but Michael pulled him back, so he could only shut his mouth.

The President fell silent. He let out a long sigh and looked at Wesley. "Wesley, come back and help me. We're brothers. I need your help."

He thought that Wesley would still reject him like before. However, this time, Wesley did not hesitate at all. He said calmly, "Alright, I'll enter the parliament. Haven't you always reserved the position of councilman for me?"

The President was stunned at first. Then, his eyes flashed and he said, "All right. It's good that you've thought it through."

"That's it then. I'll go to work tomorrow." Wesley put down his coffee cup and walked out.

The President stared at his back and said, "Wesley, you will help me, right?"

Wesley did not even turn his head as he said coldly, "Dream on! You're the one who asked me to return to Dawton City. I'll only care about my work. I'm not involved in anything else."

The President fell silent as he watched Wesley's back disappear.

Draxton and Isabella returned. Sir Graham Lockwood asked, "Did you really hand Vernon over?"

"Yes, grandpa," Draxton replied.

Sir Graham had a melancholic look on his face. "Vernon..."

Draxton said, "Grandpa, the first batch of people who founded the Vernon Branch are no longer around. The current Vernon Branch is no longer the Vernon Branch of the past!"

"I know." Sir Graham sighed. "Draxton, you did the right thing. If you don't remove the poisonous thorns, they will rot in your flesh forever."

Winna rubbed against Isabella's shoulder like a harmless kitten and complained,

"Bella, he's a bad person. He doesn't have any gentlemanly manners at all. He even stole my car just now!"

Isabella looked up and saw that there were indeed scratches on the door of Winna's car.

Isabella looked at Roger disapprovingly and said, ' You did it on purpose?"

Roger replied, "O-Of course not."

He was obviously feeling guilty.

Isabella's expression darkened. "Since you're so free, I'll get Draxton to arrange some work for you later."

Roger immediately looked as if he had been struck by lightning.

Winna's eyes curved into a smile and she happily rubbed against Isabella's arms again.

"Bella, you're the best. I like you so much!"

Isabella could not help but laugh as she stroked her hair and said, "Are you guys going to the old residence? I'm going back too. Get in the car."

Winna said, "Bella, I'll take your car."

Isabella could not help but laugh. She held her hand and got into the car.

There was a driver in Winna's car. He drove into the old residence himself when he saw Winna get into Isabella's car.

Isabella went back to the bedroom. Draxton was having a video conference. The people on the other side were Big Dipper's higher-ups, and the person in charge was Noah Lockwood.

Isabella took a glance at him and left. She went downstairs to talk to Winna.

After a while, Draxton came down and asked, 'Bella, are you all right? Did you tell Bruce about the Black Crystal Potion?'

Isabella answered, "Yeah, I asked him to draw a tube of my blood for testing."

Draxton nodded.

He looked at Roger on the sofa. Roger was arguing with Winna. The two of them were like two childish kindergarteners fighting for the same apple.

Draxton's lips twitched to reveal a faint smile.

Isabella also saw their childish behavior. She raised her brow and found it rather interesting.

Alfred sighed and said, 'Their relationship has always been harmonious, but the two of them haven't been in a good state for the past two days. This is also the reason why he didn't come personally to pick you and Isabella up'

Draxton said, How could there be spiked wine at a business meeting? Has Stanton found out who did it?"

Alfred shook his head. "There're no clues. The people who attended the business gathering that day were all famous people in the industry. They also have a good relationship with him. There's really no one to suspect."

Draxton said, It's fine. I'll help him investigate this matter since I'm here.'

Alfred nodded, relieved.

The car got off the highway and drove onto a winding mountain road heading to the suburbs.

However, not long after, they were forced to stop the car.

The path ahead was blocked by a group of people.

The black car parked haphazardly on the road. A few cars had been turned upside down, and there were also a few whose doors had been knocked out. There were even some that were on fire.

A group of people in black suits were confronting a group of people dressed in colorful clothes. Both sides were covered in wounds, and some of them even had blood on their heads and faces.

Isabella protected the two children and looked out coldly. At the same time, she did not forget to cover

'Wow! Daddy is so awesome!'

A low excited cry rang out from her arms. Isabella looked down and saw that the two little children were staring at the fight outside, their eyes exposed.

Isabella immediately felt stifled. She did not want her children to be led astray by the fighting.

For a moment, Isabella could not help but feel resentful toward those brawling fellows outside. They had been minding their business and driving on the road, yet they still encountered such a thing. It was infuriating.

Draxton had already been dragged into the battle. The few men in black suits, who had been beaten until their heads bled and could not even stand up, were overjoyed when they saw how powerful Draxton was.

No matter who this person was, he had saved their lives today.

At this moment, a few guys in colorful clothing turned their attention to the car and rushed over.

Two of them reached out to open the driver's door and pulled Alfred out of the car by his collar. Alfred raised his hands. He was holding an electric baton. He slammed the baton toward the two without a second word.

One of them tilted his head to dodge the hit, but the electric baton hit his shoulder.

The other was furious. He threw a punch and smashed Alfred against the car door.

Alfred's eyes glazed over as he raised the stun baton. His head tilted to the side as he fainted.

Isabella glanced at Alfred. She was really worried that his weak body would not be able to withstand the next beating.

At this moment, another guy in colorful clothes opened the door of the backseat of the car. Isabella protected her children with her arms as she turned her head. She squinted slightly.

She raised the corners of her eyes as she tilted her head slightly. She had an ambiguous smile. Her long hair slid downward, and her entire body exuded an indescribably dangerous aura.

Butterfly Wing vibrated gently on her fair and slender fingertips. It was like a butterfly that was raring to fly.
