

Kick Ass Wife 46

Chapter 46 I Can't Bring Her Back

Isabella Thompson looked at him in surprise. "Mr. Lang didn't believe me five years ago, so why now? Is it because of that video?"

Jason Lang said, "My parents and I went to where you grew up. The Thompson family didn't treat you well..." Isabella smiled indifferently. "That's all in the past. I don't care either now."

"Five years ago..."

"Five years ago, after Samantha Lang's identity was discovered, the Thompson family people started plotting against me. They were afraid that you would recognize me and take Samantha Lang's place.

"In fact, the Thompson family's couple had suppressed me since I was young to prevent the Lang family from recognizing me if I became too outstanding.

"They put an end to the possibility of me being recognized by the Lang family from the start.

"They raised me in a way that I look inferior. What they did was right. Five years ago, you guys looked down on me. You all only had eyes for the outstanding Samantha Lang.

"Of course, that was not all. When the two families first met at the hotel to discuss, Dana Shane had drugged my milk before we left.

"They put me in that hotel in an attempt to set me up with a greasy man with a big belly, which is why I didn't show up that night.

"Of course, I knocked the man out and beat him up. Then I ran out of the hotel..."

As for what happened after she ran out of the hotel, there was no need for her to say anything.

"The next morning, I returned to the Thompson family. Unexpectedly, what awaited me was the disgusting conversation between the Thompson family and Samantha Lang. They thought that I would wake up from the bed of the man they had arranged for me. They didn't expect me to return home, so they didn't hide anything from me.

"It was then that I realized that everything was planned by the Thompson family. I felt very disgusted, so I left that house. On the way out, I met you at the entrance of the neighborhood."

At this point, Isabella did not care if Jason believed her. She lowered her head and stirred the coffee in her cup. After taking a sip, she continued, "This happened five years ago. Every word of it is true.

"Of course, I don't care if you believe me, because that has nothing to do with me anymore.

"On the day of the plane crash, I was already dead. Although I survived, my life was no longer given to me by my biological parents.

"Five years ago, I didn't expect the Lang family to acknowledge me. After the Thompson family's betrayal, I didn't expect the love of my parents and family.

"The reason I agreed to come here with you today is that I wanted to say everything that I couldn't utter on behalf of myself that died five years ago.

"From now on, I no longer have any long-cherished wishes."

She glanced at the man with a deadpan expression but was actually tense. She stood up elegantly. "Mr. Lang, I've said everything I need to say. I've told you everything that you want to know."

After a pause, she seemed to have thought of something and said, "Oh, right..."

Jason blinked and looked at her. Isabella smiled at him.

"I will repay everything that the Thompson family have done to me. I won't stop until I return Samantha Lang and the Thompson family to their sorry states. If the Lang family insists on protecting Samantha Lang, I'm sorry. We will be enemies. Lifelong ones..."

The smile on her face became brighter as if she was looking forward to what would happen in the future.

Jason looked at her with a complicated expression and asked, "That child..."

"That's my son. Don't even think about touching him. If you touch him, you'll regret it."

A cold glint flashed across her eyes.

Jason was silent.

He looked at Isabella quietly. She looked beautiful and imposing like this. Jason could not help but sigh in his heart. Bloodlines could not deceive people. She was the Lang family's bloodline. This was what a daughter of the Lang family should look like.

Samantha Lang... was still a little lacking.

Jason said, "You don't have to be so defensive. How could we hurt your son? He's also the Lang family's bloodline..."
