

Kick Ass Wife 49

Chapter 49 It's Not Easy To Be A Cute Child

Isabella Thompson shook her head to get rid of those thoughts.

Once they arrived at the house, they could hear the youngsters giggling. The atmosphere within was light and warm.

Sir Graham Lockwood couldn't stand the commotion and went upstairs. He stood on the windowsill on the second floor and looked down. He happened to see Madame Emma Lockwood walking over with a beautiful child in her arms.

The child looked exactly like Draxton Lockwood when he was young.

Wasn't this his precious great-grandson whom he had seen countless photos of?

Sir Graham Lockwood thought he was imagining things. He rubbed his eyes in disbelief and finally confirmed that he wasn't. He turned around and ran downstairs.

The commotion stopped when the youngsters in the living room on the first floor saw their great-grandfather. All of them were dumbfounded at the elder's speed.

However, they soon understood why Sir Graham Lockwood was so excited.

They saw Madame Emma Lockwood walking over with a cute little doll in her arms. The child had a shy expression.

How adorable!

Especially the two girls, Olivia and Yale Lockwood. It seemed their maternal instincts were aroused by that cute child.

Olivia's eyes lit up as she exclaimed, "Damn, he is just like my brother when he was young! Ahhh, I can finally trample on a miniature version of my brother in my lifetime!"

Yale's eyes also lit up. "I want to pamper him! I wouldn't mind if there were 10 more of them!" "Damn, this little kid is really exactly the same as Eldest Cousin when he was young."

The youngsters were all stirred, not to mention Sir Graham Lockwood. After all, Madame Emma Lockwood was biased toward her old man. She carefully handed the child to Sir Graham Lockwood and coaxed him gently.

"Ricky, my little darling, be good. This is great-grandpa. He likes you very much. I'll let him hug you, okay?" Afraid that the baby would be afraid of strangers, Madame Emma Lockwood spoke in a soft and comforting voice.

Kevin Lockwood shivered and got goosebumps. "I haven't heard grandma's gentle voice for a long time. I only recall being treated this way before I was seven years old. After I was seven years old, I only heard her roar!" The younger generation nodded in agreement. That's right, once they were past seven years old, they became too naughty, and hence their great-grandparents stopped doting on them. They couldn't help but send sympathetic gazes toward the cute baby, who was just at that particular age.

"It's not a good job to be loved by these two elders. Just watch. Soon, this cute little baby will be dressed up like a doll!"

"They might even feed him too much food and turn him into a fatty!"

"Yes, I'm sure they'll cling to him every second of the day."

They, who had the same experiences, shivered. It was not easy to be a cute child!

Ricky was in great-grandpa's arms. He was quiet and obedient. His short arms were wrapped around Sir Graham Lockwood's neck. Facing great-grandpa's loving and fiery gaze, he pursed his lips shyly, and his chubby ears turned red.

Madame Emma Lockwood also stayed beside him with a doting and gentle expression. The two elders were so careful that it was as if they were protecting some treasure. They carried the child upstairs and did not even spare the others a look.

Then, Philip Lockwood chased after her. He followed her upstairs, but he was mercilessly locked out before he could enter the room.

Philip nudged his nose and turned around silently. He saw a group of juniors looking at him sympathetically. Wilson Lockwood and Macpherson Lockwood were transplanting cherry trees in the garden. Recently, they had been working on apricot trees, plum trees, and pomegranate trees too.

They seemed to have turned the garden into an orchard. Moreover, a vegetable field had been cultivated beside the flowerbed at one corner. All kinds of vegetables were growing well, and most of the ingredients used by the Lockwood family were grown here.

were't focused on their responsibilities and only thought about planting flowers and vegetables all day long. They would the two of them would lead the younger generation astray, Sir Graham Lockwood chased trees from a farm outside. All kinds of fruits and wine were gradually produced. He developed a large corporation grow vegetables, but in the end, he opened a chain of businesses to experience the process

more.

they

these two.

chieftain position to Philip. However, it turned out that Wilson and Macpherson were even more unreliable than Philip.

urge his eldest son to give birth to a grandson every few days so that Graham Lockwood could not help but be dumbfounded. He aspects of the family business, his lazy nature started to show itself again. To free himself as soon as possible and be licentious, he of 18, Draxton became chieftain. It was when Philip finally had the chance chieftain, but that time, Draxton, who had completed his studies, could only take over the heavy workload that his father had shirked Lockwood's relief, Draxton was more outstanding than Philip in every aspect. Most importantly, this grandson of his was diligent and hardworking. He worked hard unlike his three unfilial wife. That's right. This one didn't like to plant flowers or trees.

the juniors who were watching the commotion.

It was duties. Draxton's mother was good at making western desserts. She was a very elegant and dignified from her, and not his father. This made Sir Graham wife, was more feisty. She was good at cooking up spicy cuisines and her family ran a habits had reached an insane level. She developed skincare she could not stand the dirt on her husband, but she his wife, Jeanne Lockwood, had just finished making a snack. When she turned around, she saw her

Lockwood and Mia Lockwood gave them gossip

Mom and Dad took our grandson away. I what did you upstairs. I wanted to follow them, but they slammed the door in my and elegantly, she put down her plate. She took off her apron are you going to stand up for me? Then after you teach Mom and Dad a lesson, can you teach your followed behind Jeanne like a dog and Isabella happened to overhear their her teeth. This man

As soon as she arrived in the living room, she eye-catching thing about that girl was her mysterious eyes, followed by her last thing she noticed and was attracted at Isabella with a fiery gaze and smiled elegantly. However, she could not help but mutter with a friendly smile and tone was

and replied in boy's, so she had always wanted such a sweet and soft daughter. This time, her wish was finally with satisfaction. Her son a portion in the touched
her appearance. You may not know this but she already ate