Chapter 56 The Thompson Family Strikes Again

Samantha Lang clenched her phone unwillingly, and a trace of impatience appeared in her eyes.

But in the end, she picked up the phone.

Mrs. Thompson's sobbing voice immediately came from the other end of the phone. "Sammy, Jason helped mom get out of the police station!"

At first, Mrs. Thompson addressed Jason Lang as the eldest young master. Later, as the two families interacted more, she called Jason's name directly. Sometimes, she even spoke to Jason Lang as an elder

"It's good that you're out." Samantha had a lot on her mind. Samantha was extremely anxious when she thought about Jason Lang and the Lang family's attitude towards her, as well as the Rivera family's annulment of the engagement

She felt a great sense of crisis. She felt if she didn't take action, her life would be reduced to its original state.

She was just a commoner's daughter. Her mother had been a nanny, and her father was just an employee. She was a nobody without the Lang family.

Anyone could trample on her if so.

Samantha broke out in a cold sweat when she thought about that.

On the phone, Mrs. Thompson continued, "Sammy, your father is awake. I'm alone in the hospital now. I wanted to ask Jason to help me find a better doctor for your father, but he said he has something to do. Sammy, why do I feel that Jason is acting strange?"

Samantha's knuckles were turning white.

Had her brother reached the point where he did not care about her father anymore?

From this, it could be seen that Jason felt estranged from her.
