Kick Ass Wife 76

Chapter 76 Martin Gates Waking Up

Jacob's expression changed. That was truly disastrous.

Patriarch Riker and Bridget looked at each other with uneasy expressions.

"We're just getting started, haha."

Jake laughed heartily over the phone.

Isabella said helplessly, "Alright, this indeed looks like your style of doing things. I hope that old Carlos Orwell is not too useless. It's best if he can stay alive. After all, I don't want him to die so easily."

"30 million dollars. I just transferred it to your account. Something for you to feed the two babies."

Jake said happily

"I don't lack money to feed them. Why did you transfer the money to me? You're the ones working!"

Isabella rubbed her forehead.

Jake snorted. "Hey, you were the one who asked for 30 million!"

Isabella was speechless. She did not say anything else. The two of them hung up in a good mood.

The corners of Isabella's lips curled up. She looked at her phone and suddenly remembered that Draxton had not called her for a long time. She knew that Draxton was on a mission and might be busy, so she did not disturb him.

Instead, she made a video call to Betty. She missed her daughter.

At Lotus Village's side, Draxton and Betty silently looked at the caller ID on the phone that said "mother". Draxton's face grew darker. "Your mother has been secretly keeping in touch with you?"

He gritted his teeth.

The little girl midnight blue's eyes widened. She snorted in a childish voice and ran away with her phone. Betty walked to the side with her phone. Just as she was about to take it, she suddenly hesitated. Her mother did not know that she had picked up that man. She wondered If her mother knew, wouldn't it be equivalent to knowing that her existence had been discovered indeed.

That would mean that her mother would definitely fly back to Lotus Village in a hurry.

At that time, it was hard to say if that man would be able to stay alive. Besides, she wondered what if her mother couldn't beat that man and suffered a beating instead.

Betty figured that she had already grown up, that she had to protect her mother!
