

Kick Ass Wife 87

Chapter 87 The Chosen Bridget

The Lockwood family's guards couldn't be such pushovers.

The Blue Flames members fought with the Lockwood family guards for a while and were at a disadvantage. However, their goal was only to save Bridget, and they did not want to be entangled with the Lockwood family guards.

The Lockwood family didn't seem to have discovered their goal, and they actually managed to save Bridget. The Blue Flames guards protected Bridget and were about to leave, and only then did the Lockwood family guards seem to know what was going on and try their best to stop them.

The Blue Flames members immediately felt strenuous.

At this moment, a black figure suddenly arrived. He moved very fast and descended from the sky like a gust of wind.

He came in and protected Bridget in his arms without a word. He raised his other hand in the air, looking as if he wanted to grab something.

There was a thin wire tied to his waist. The thin wire was only a little thicker than a strand of hair, and it was hoisting both him and Bridget in the air.

There was also a thin steel wire in the air between the two buildings. The man in black and Bridget could reach the other end of the building almost instantly.

At this moment, Draxton slowly raised his gun.

He sported a deadpan look on his face, then calmly and elegantly, pulled the trigger.

Bang!

the sky, blood splashed

immediately

fired a

the back of that man and swayed. Just as they were about to fall and shatter into pieces, a helicopter suddenly arrived at the critical moment and took the two

did not give

Bridget and the man in black and fed them medicine. The bathrobe walked over. His black bathrobe

extremely stunning, but his temperament was extremely mature

red wine and at the

that blood-red bracelet on her wrist was the most eye-catching thing about her. However, Truth Poison.” The woman came over and in black and the beautiful man
a little confused. “What is Truth
You actually don’t
and her smile became even more arms lovingly and pecked her on the this!”