

Chapter 06— A new world

Kidnapped By The Alpha

EMMA

Maybe I was mad, mad and out of my head for letting a total stranger, someone who had Kidnapped me to kiss me like this, to kiss me like no man has ever done, believe me I have kiss a lot of guys before, but this kiss was like no other, his lips claimed mine, urging me to open up for him and when I do, he thrust is tongue boldly into my mouth.

He swallowed my moan, I should pushed him away, i wanted to but instead my body betrayed me since it has been doing ever since he showed up in my life, my fingers gripped is shoulder like it was afriad to let go, when he pulled away slightly just staring at me, I blushed looking down at my fingers as I twist them to stop me from reaching for him again.

I wanted to cry from embarrassment, I couldn't believe I responded to him that way, Jake and I hadn't done anything pass kissing, shocking right? My father wanted me to marry as a virgin, yes he put a price on it, a price Jake brought and yet to claim, he was supposed to claim it at our wedding night, we could have done it either way but he had accused me of being cold several times. I never really understood how or why.

I was glad when Jet pulled away from me completely and settled back on his chair, I wanted to disappeared into mine, when our gaze met he smirked at me, and I glared harder.

"Now that anger won't be needed, not after the way you responded" He smirked glancing briefly at his watch.

"How dare you say such thing! You forced it on me!" I lied, badly wanting to protect myself, there was no way I was giving him that satisfaction, I belong to Jake, he already paid for my heart, body and soul, no matter how much Jet claimed me as his, I knew who I belong to. If my father ever found out about the kiss, he would have my head. "And you are not allowed to tell anyone that" I added watching as his eyes change from dark to shining gold eyes in a flash.

"Seems like that the story we are going with" His tone was dry, the smirk was wipe of his face, when his eyes went back to their normal color, in a moment I thought I read a bit of sadness in them, my imagination was playing tricks on me. Jet was without emotions, the only emotions he showed was anger. Typical him!.

He stood up without another word, he walked away and disappeared into one of the cabin leaving me alone with my thoughts, I wasn't alone for too long cause Kale showed up and made himself comfortable on the seat Jet had just stood up from.

"What do you want?" I rolled my eyes.

He chuckled. "I'm asked to keep you accompany, looks like Alpha doesn't want to be around you"

It wasn't supposed to hurt but someone it did, but I breathe through the pain, telling myself it was madness. "Glad to know cause I really don't want to be around him either" I bite my lips looking for something else to say, something that doesn't have to do with Jet, something that doesn't make me replay our kiss over and over in my head.

"If you say so" He chuckled winking at me like he knew something I don't.

"Where do you guys live? Or where are we heading to?" I required ignoring that annoying smile on his face, Jet was short tempered so it was easier to make him angry but this guy, he just smile like he got no problems in the world, I don't suppose he does, I meant I'm the prisoner after all.

"We are heading west to our pack" Then he look me up and down. "You ate young, why are you in such a hurry to marry? I thought humans are in no hurry to get marry? You guys are too busy doing drugs for that" He said casually and I managed to stop myself from reaching out and slapping him.

"I take it as you are a dog then?" I blurted out before I could stop myself.

The smile on his lips died down for a moment. "Never call us a dog especially Jet, he will kill you before you say I'm sorry which by that way doesn't answer my question. Why were you in a hurry to get married?" He paused. "Maybe it was an arrange wedding and you were forced into it, I could see the headline, Mafia princess married to the highest paid suitor" He burst out laughing causing me to wonder what was funny in that statement, my Dad wasn't a Mafia and I was definitely not a princess.

"Please get the hell out of my present" I spat angrily at him, if Jet was annoying, I couldn't stand Kale, he was much worse.

"Whatever you say... Milady" He winked as he stood up.

"And don't freaking call me that" I was so flushed with anger it took a while for it to last, I collapsed unto the chair letting myself drift off to sleep after dealing with the two most annoying humans ever, the fact that they referred to people and humans like they aren't humans though in suspecting Jet to be an alien, in movies especially the twilight movies Vampires are known to be white though Jet look a lot like Jacob in twilight. That guy was hot, plus I really wished Bella had ended up with him. So I hate that movie as much as I hated Kale.

I woke up later when a voice sounded over the microspeaker or whatever that is used make an announcement on a private jet, apparently Anastabitch is informing everyone that we are landing in ten minutes, I would have been excited if I wasn't a captive and I have an idea where we are going, they could be taking me to their alien planet for all I know.

"Buckle up" Jet growled without looking at me as he fling himself opposite me.

I glared at him then did as I wad told. "What do you want with me?" I asked again as I felt us going lower unto the ground.

His heated gaze met mine. "Everything" He wispered not taking his eyes off me.

I started at him for only God knows how many minutes thinking of what to respond to that, there was something in his eyes that told me he meant every word he said, before I could respond, we landed and Jet was reaching for me, helping me on my feet and matching us towards the entrance.

Immediately my feet touched the ground, he turned to look at me, then leaning close to my ear he wispered. "Welcome home... Luna"
