

KRYPTONIAN: MAN OF STEEL

Chapter 14 Confession

Luther has no interest in little girls like Bulma, he likes beautiful older sisters.

However, considering the genius Bulma has shown in this area, Luther plans to sacrifice himself and let Bulma study cells and genes. At that time, Bulma may be able to help him solve the problem of Kryptonian genetic limitations, and what Luther wants most.

Combine the power of Kryptonians and Saiyans!

Although most Saiyans are weak, only Sun Wukong and his few are outstanding, and all of them are air mages, but they are strong enough. The Super Saiyan state of Saiyan monkeys shocked the entire second dimension at the time, and it was known as the most fashionable and legendary form.

The Super Saiyan is too powerful for the improvement of strength.

Of course, Luther also looks down on ordinary Saiyans. He plans to merge his cells and genes with Broly, the legendary Super Saiyan.

Broly is not an air mage, but a complete berserker, with a humanoid giant ape body that is not much worse than the body of steel. Sun Wukong fought for so long without breaking his defense, so you can imagine how strong his defense is. You should know that Broly did not know how to use air to attack and defend at the beginning, and he relied entirely on physical combat.

More importantly, Broly grew too fast, catching up with Sun Wukong and Vegeta's efforts for so many years in just a few hours.

Given a choice, Luther naturally wants the best.

"Brother Luther, I had a lot of fun today, thank you."

Bulma looked like she was full of spring in her eyes, and her cheeks were full of rosy clouds. Today she felt Luther's meticulous care. Although Luther's behavior seemed to treat her as a little sister to be taken care of, Bulma felt that this was a huge improvement.

"I also have to thank you for helping me solve a problem."

Luther said with a smile. He deduced from Bulma's age that she would probably go looking for the Dragon Balls soon, but now because of his appearance, Bulma may no longer have the motivation to find the Dragon Balls.

However, Luther knew that there was a dragon ball in Bulma's warehouse, and he used his super vision to find the dragon ball.

Dr. Brief didn't care about dragon balls. Maybe someone gave it to him as a gift, and then he threw it into the warehouse casually?

Luther studied the dragon ball radar by himself, preparing to find the seven dragon balls.

After Bulma received Luther's thanks, she seemed to be flying. The next moment, she found that it was not an illusion, but she was really flying.

Luther held her hand, and the two flew up regardless of gravity.

If Luther hadn't covered Bulma with a biological force field, Bulma would probably have her arm torn off.

Instead of this romantic scene that was beyond imagination.

"We are flying???"

Bulma widened her eyes, unable to believe what she saw.

"Yes, Bulma, I am actually a Kryptonian from the destroyed Krypton civilization."

Luther talked nonsense seriously.

"Kryptonian? Are you an alien?"

Bulma was curiously standing on tiptoe to see if there was anything under her feet, but she found nothing.

When she heard Luther's words, she was stunned.

Alien?

"I need your help, Bulma."

Luther looked at Bulma sincerely.

"I, I, I will help you, Brother Luther!"

Bulma couldn't calm down. Whether it was because of the height, the instinctive fear of heights caused something like the suspension bridge effect, or because she was attracted by Luther's perfect appearance at close range, Bulma felt that the little deer in her heart had now turned into a super invincible flash spiral black hurricane deer.

It violently hit her atrium, knocked her head dizzy, and felt dizzy all over.

Not to mention, Luther is also an alien!

This is a sure kill for the little girl who is now full of fantasies.

Luther just thinks that confessing his identity can help Bulma better help him study the genes of Kryptonians, but he doesn't have so many ideas, after all, he can't telepathize.

"Thank you, Bulma."

"No, you're welcome."

The two returned to Bulma's house soon.

"Ah, little Bulma, why are you back so late?"

Mrs. Brief, Bulma's young and beautiful mother, teased her daughter with a sly smile, especially when she saw Luther, who was tall and handsome, with a very outstanding appearance, and had no turtle neck or hunchback, but was very upright, and his whole spirit and spirit were very unique.

She didn't know that Luther was Brief's assistant.

She thought Luther was Bulma's classmate or even boyfriend.

"I, I went out to play, oh, mom, don't be here, go back quickly, you haven't done your beauty treatment yet!"

Bulma was so embarrassed by what she said, and quickly pushed Mrs. Brief in.

Luther smiled politely at the lady, then turned and left.
