

Kryptonian 18

Chapter 18 Return

Destroy the Kryptonians!

Luther felt the power in his body, which was surging and felt like a steady stream of endless power.

This made Luther want to find someone to test his current power.

"I don't know, how much power of the Doomsday can I exert now?"

Luther thought about this problem. The most powerful thing about Doomsday is naturally his ability to adapt to super adaptive evolution. He can adapt in seconds. Even if Darkseid can kill most of the omega rays in existence, Doomsday can be killed once and quickly recover. Evolution ignores.

I don't say that there is not much difference with this, at least it can't be too far away, and this is not the performance of the complete Doomsday.

The complete Doomsday can passively release Doomsday spores to devour all life around it, and can also be reborn through the body. Even Superman can only last for ten minutes before being infected into Doomsday Superman.

He wanted to go to Broly and give it a try, but Luther was afraid of being beaten to death by Broly.

The Day of Destruction Kryptonians are not the real Day of Destruction after all, and Luther does not have the confidence to ignore everything.

"With the biological force field and Superman's various abilities, Doomsday is more than enough to protect himself."

Luther took a deep breath and activated the time travel.

He placed the universal capsule with his heart.

Then this time, Luther didn't feel much pressure, and the passage seemed to be much wider. If it could only accommodate one wire before, it is now about the size of a forearm.

Although he was still stretched into dough.

Luther returned to the Marvel Universe. This time he did not rely on sunlight. Instead, Doomsday's cells quickly recovered after being torn. More powerful power surged out, making Luther feel uncomfortable all over, trying to vent this world-destroying power. strength.

"He has become stronger again, at least several times stronger, and his recovery ability is also very good. He looks similar to Wolverine, but he is stronger."

Especially the fact that he didn't need to rely on sunlight made Luther even more satisfied.

Kryptonians are almost immortal if they have sunlight, and Doomsday can be immortal without sunlight. Adding the two together, as long as he is under the sun, Luther can probably be comparable to the incomplete Doomsday, right?

"But, does the size of the passage also change? Why?"

Luther thought about another question, and at the same time confirmed the time of his departure from the Marvel Universe through the super brain.

After being gone for so long, only a second had passed here... Fortunately, he was worried that such a long time had also passed here. In that case, the Emperor Company might not even exist.

It is also possible that the Emperor Company is still there, but it has been occupied by the magpie's nest.

Although Luther didn't care, after all, Compound No. 1 was already a product of elimination.

Returning to the Imperial Building, Luther thought about several possibilities for time travel.

The first is that the size of the passage is related to its own strength. The stronger the energy stored for crossing, the wider the passage will be.

He went to the Dragon Ball world, and the energy and energy in his body were much stronger than before. In addition, every time he traveled through the body, the energy was exhausted, so there was a possibility.

The second possibility is... it has something to do with the world traveled through.

The different worlds you travel through determine the size of the passage.

We don't know what the possibility is yet. Luther plans to try to return to the Dragon Ball world later and see if he can return to the Earth of the Dragon Ball world. If not, then he can only study the universe at Marvel first. spaceship, and then went to the earth through the spaceship.

I don't know how far the Dragon Balls can pull me, or how long it will take to fly back.

But he must go back to Earth, otherwise wouldn't it be in vain?

"Also, try to travel through new worlds to increase my variables."

What Luther pursues is to become stronger. He has no idea of living a comfortable life. He has traveled through time, changed his destiny against the will of heaven, and gained the ability of a Kryptonian. He does not pursue the strongest power, the most beautiful woman, and the highest enjoyment. , then didn't he travel through time in vain?

The Imperial Company was established for this purpose, but Luther couldn't calm down and enjoy it before. Now that he has become a Kryptonian on the Day of Destruction, Luther has relaxed a lot.

"Brought back successfully."

Luther spit out a bunch of universal capsules. These are more advanced universal capsules developed by himself. They are the same size as real capsules and are very easy to carry. Luther originally planned to just try it, but he did not expect that the passage became wider. , so he brought them all over.

"Let's study first to see if we can create a universal capsule in this world."

Luther wrapped them with a biological force field to protect them. These universal capsules are clean.

Luther is not surprised that the Marvel world does not have materials from the Dragon Ball world, but he can still find a replacement, because the most important thing about the universal capsule is not the material, but the microscopic particle rearrangement technology.

This is a complete black technology. Without this micro-particle adjustment technology, the universal capsule would not be possible.
