

Kryptonian 181

Chapter 181 Need to pay more

However, although Killian has cooperated with the military and conducted many human experiments, the military has provided him with many disabled retired soldiers for human experiments. According to the information of Galvatron, it is clear that the stability and overheating reaction of the Ultimate Creature have not been solved.

Therefore, the military and America are still far from pushing the Ultimate Creature to compete with Luther.

However, the strength of the Ultimate Creature is considerable.

According to the setting of the comics, the Extremis virus was originally a virus that could help people transform the places they were dissatisfied with.

For example, it can make people who were not smart relatively improve their IQ, people with low appearance become beautiful, and people with physical defects can make up for it again...

In the movie, it was invented by Maya Hansen and Aldrich Killian, and it was improved on the basis of Maya's plant regeneration.

The Extremis virus can repair the damaged cells of the human body and regenerate the body tissues. It is a thing that can repair human defects.

Not only that, people who are injected with the Extremis virus also have the ability to change their own temperature, which can make your body produce a temperature enough to melt steel.

However, this high temperature is extremely unstable. Once the temperature exceeds the body's tolerance range, it will explode and burn itself to ashes, which is also a major reason why it is called "Extremis".

The Extremis virus in the movie can enhance the user's physiological functions by rewriting the user's DNA.

It uses the bioelectricity in the body to activate the part of the brain that controls repair and chemical coding.

This allows the user to invade the basic operating system of the organism.

It is equivalent to the Extremis virus being a hacker's means.

If the user's body chooses to accept it, the user will gain regenerative healing abilities, allowing them to heal all wounds, including previous amputations and even psychological damage.

When regenerating body parts, the wound takes on the appearance of burning embers, while regrowing the lost body parts in a few minutes and cooling into regular flesh, blood and bones.

Extreme sports can also enhance physical fitness, giving superhuman strength, reflexes and higher overall resilience.

In addition, normal Extremis virus users are able to generate large amounts of heat through complex metabolic processes, generating up to several thousand degrees Celsius of heat from their bodies.

Extremis users are able to consciously control the heat expelled from their bodies, causing the areas of their bodies that generate heat to glow intensely, overheating their tissues, blood vessels, and nerves, and outlining them in the body.

This effect or chemical reaction has proven to be unstable, and this energy is injected into the human body, constantly driving the genetic transformation to the ultimate biological, and making them consciously use the chemical reactions in the body to convert the energy taken from the outside world into ultimate biological energy to maintain energy conservation.

In extreme cases, the body will react with overload, burning the flesh and causing explosions.

Well-trained Extremis users can focus and conduct heat through a single area of their body (such as an arm or hand), and even shoot flames from their mouths, although it seems that only the most well-trained Extremis users can accomplish this feat.

For example, the original plot is that the Extremis female soldier and Killian are able to do the ability to breathe fire.

Some users have also demonstrated the ability to conduct heat to other objects through physical contact, allowing them to overheat the target by touching it, which is most commonly used for metal objects, weakening them and melting them.

By combining superhuman strength and extreme heat conduction through their arms and hands, Extremis users can penetrate and destroy most metal structures they come into contact with.

Due to this, they are able to overpower and burn through the metal alloys used in most Iron Man armors, easily destroying the Iron Man suit in combat.

But this is only one side of the Extremis, the other side is that Extremis users are very fragile.

Extremis users can be easily identified by enemies through thermal imaging, as they have a very high heat signature.

When they use their abilities, their pupils glow.

Their bodies are also not reinforced with defensive types, and wounds like a beam shot through the chest will be fatal, destroying the victim's heart and thus cutting off blood flow to the brain.

The body is also fragile and can be destroyed by bullets.

Destroying their brains and major organs through attacks is fatal to them.

That is to say, the Ultimates, who seem very dangerous in the original plot, can actually be dealt with by a few snipers.

Tony Stark traded an entire Iron Man army with the Ultimates, hitting a very high loss-to-battle ratio.

The money burned is enough to hire hundreds of snipers to kill these ultimate creatures.

Even if it doesn't work, just pull out a warthog to lick the ground.

They can regenerate, but if the head and heart are blown up, regeneration is useless.

Luther thinks that the use of the Extremis virus is a huge waste.

It deserves a better stage.

It's as outrageous as Wakanda using the universal metal vibranium to make spears.

They actually have the nerve to say that thermal weapons are too backward and are still using such a backward attack method.

"If Bronski is a natural chimera, this thing can turn people into chimeras."

Luther said with a tut, but even though he knew this, Luther was not interested.

If Luther had not found the Reality Gem Aether Particle, he might have thought of using the Extremis virus to rewrite and fuse the DNA in his body. Now, the Extremis virus cannot do such a perfect thing.

Unless Luther wants to add something to his body in the future.

But he is very satisfied now, so he is too lazy to continue adding any messy DNA.

"You can use this Extremis virus to create new Venus humans and Martian humans."

Luther decided to take action on the Extremis virus, and he planned to migrate to Mars and Venus in the next one or two years.

At that time, he must make it bigger and let the whole world know that he wants to migrate.

Let those people envy and hate!

The day after Compound No. 2 was announced for public sale, Tony Stark came all the way here.

"You won't not inject me with Compound No. 2, right?"

Tony said jokingly when they met.

"How could it be, Tony, you can't even renounce your American citizenship for me, how could I make an exception for you?"

Luther said with a smile.

Tony was embarrassed.

"So, we have to pay more."

Luther continued.

"No problem!"

Tony breathed a sigh of relief. It's just a matter of paying more. He has plenty of it!

Chapter 182 Gift

"Pepa's share can also be increased. You know, I can't live without her."

Tony continued.

Luther nodded.

Just because he came to Europe doesn't mean he left the Illuminati. That would have to wait until he immigrated to Mars and Venus.

In addition, the moon can actually be emigrated, but Luther discovered that Black Bolt's group of Inhumans are on the back of the moon, so he didn't want to go there.

In the end, Tony paid a full two billion dollars. Originally, Tony wanted Happy and Rhodes to share, but Luther said that the limit had been reached.

Next, it is not a question of money, but a question of face.

Tony had no choice but to give up his idea.

He knew that if he really continued to ask, Luther would probably agree, but then there would be no affection between the two.

Of course he didn't want to lose a friend like Luther who understood him.

"The palladium content in the blood has dropped to 0.001%. Sir, Compound No. 2 can effectively degrade and excrete components harmful to the human body. Now even if you don't research new elements, you can live for more than fifty years."

Jarvis quickly completed the test and said to Tony.

"Really? This is much more powerful than I imagined."

Tony was a little surprised. He originally thought that the effect of compound No. 2 was similar to what he imagined. He would still need a period of time to detoxify or self-control detoxification. Unexpectedly, it had not been a day since the injection of compound No. 2, and he was suffering from palladium poisoning. That's it.

At this time, the effect of Nick Fury coming to the door was greatly reduced. After all, Tony did not lose his mind because of the fear of death.

"I thank you for sending my father's relics."

Tony said to Nick Fury and Black Widow.

"Stark, the way to save you lies in these things..."

Just as Nick Fury was about to say something, he noticed that something seemed wrong with Tony's attitude.

It seems that he is not as interested in those relics as he thought?

"Are you done?"

Tony is indeed not very interested, and he has a bad impression of his father Howard, but for the sake of the relic, he will still read it.

It was Howard who concealed such a big thing as establishing SHIELD from himself, which made Tony instinctively doubt the purpose of Nick Fury's sudden appearance.

After all, Tony has never heard anything about SHIELD in the past thirty or forty years. Nick Fury said that they have been paying attention to his growth, but Tony is not such a fool who is easily deceived. When I discovered my genius mind.

Tony didn't believe this statement that he had been paying attention to.

If that was true, why didn't anyone know about Obadiah's smuggling?

Does SHIELD think that smuggling Stark Industries weapons to terrorist organizations is something that is not worthy of their attention and handling?

If that's really what he thinks, then Tony's perception of this organization will probably drop several notches.

If he didn't think so and just lacked ability, then Tony would be full of doubts about Nick Fury's words.

In any case, Nick Fury found out about this meeting. Not only did he fail to achieve his goal, but he also made Tony seem to have a bad opinion of him.

This also gives Nick Fury a headache. He has had too many headaches recently.

Among them is the fact that Luther directly chose to turn over the table and leave America.

He couldn't imagine why America would do this. What good would it do them to force morals?

Of course, Nick Fury knew that their original idea was just to lower prices and exert pressure, but he was a "resultist" who didn't look at the process, only the results.

As a result, the group of idle guys forced Luther away.

You must know that America's lizard people have not been solved yet, and Hydra is still imminent.

Luther is the strongest man in the world. Even the Green Hulk is no match for him. Only Luther can deal with the superpowers of Hydra.

Now that Luther has left, can Tony alone, even with Green Hulk, still be able to deal with the entire Hydra?

Nick Fury sighed. World peace has been maintained for so many years. Fighting and wars between small countries are naturally not wars. Peace among major countries is the most important.

Of course, there are also tragic casualties caused by the world war, which makes many people not want to experience a world war again. Except for the new generation who yearn for war all day long, but when they really face the war, they probably do nothing but cry for their father and mother. None of them will do that anymore.

However, in the context of world peace, the emergence and rise of terrorism has allowed the whole world to witness new horrors. Although it is not as deadly, heavy and tragic as a world war, it is set against the backdrop of world peace.

Terrorism is even scarier!

Terrorist organizations are not countries. They do not follow the rules and wantonly attack, massacre, destroy and destroy the rules!

Countries around the world fear and hate it more than world wars and cold wars!

Putting aside the FBI, CIA and the terrorist organizations raised by America herself, Hydra is the largest and most powerless terrorist organization today.

Nick Fury plans to use all means to deal with Hydra, which has resurrected and become even more terrifying.

As a result, America reversed the car for him.

This made Nick Fury furious.

Hydra was in a carnival.

If you ask who Hydra fears the most, it is definitely not SHIELD and America, but Luther.

Now that Luther has left America, it seems that he doesn't want to care about America's affairs.

Isn't that Hydra's carnival?

Of course, the Hydra here refers to the group of Hydras led by Black Caesar, but Alexander Pierce's group of Hydras also felt relieved.

Luther's nickname of the strongest man on the surface also put pressure on them.

Luther left America himself because he felt that he didn't need to meet King Black Caesar, and this reason was given by America herself, a good man.

Now he doesn't have to worry about how to cause damage in America, and he can play more crazily.

So, next, a special serum made by Hydra began to circulate in the black market.

The name of this serum is "Werewolf Serum"!

Werewolf serum is naturally a gift from Luther to America.

This serum has nothing to do with cross-species genetic factor conversion technology. It is mainly produced using technology similar to bat serum.

Luther's main purpose in developing this serum is to restore the legendary terrifying creature of werewolf.

Chapter 183 The Age of Chaos Begins

Lizard serum is of course also on sale, but the price of lizard serum is not affordable for ordinary people.

So there is werewolf serum, which is cheap, affordable and practical.

How cheap is werewolf serum?

It only costs one million US dollars per bottle!

Although it is still an astronomical figure in the eyes of the lower class, people with intentions can still accept it.

Werewolf serum can transform people into legendary werewolves. Their strength may not be as good as that of lizard people, but their speed is definitely much faster than that of lizard people. They can dodge bullets according to the movement of the enemy's gun muzzle and do not get hurt.

And the regeneration ability is also very exaggerated. As long as the head is not broken, even if the whole body is gone, it can be regenerated.

After all, even if the head is broken and regenerated, it is equivalent to formatting the personality, without memory, and becoming an idiot.

The influx of these werewolf serums soon caused unrest in various parts of America.

There are too many people who want to get something for nothing. America is the world's bank robbery capital, with 2,400 times a year, 44 times a week, 9 times a day, and a bank robbery every 48 minutes.

America is still in the American style of freedom and peace. The hatred between blacks and whites is unprecedentedly high. There are various riots and zero-dollar shopping on the streets. There are an average of three armed robberies in the city every day, and at least two people are shot to death.

In such an environment, there is no problem with the sales of werewolf serum and lizard serum.

In particular, there is a big event called "Lizard Man Carnival" which has become the best advertisement.

There are even Hydras looking for Hydras to buy lizard serum and werewolf serum.

Black Caesar treats everyone equally. No matter who wants the goods, he will sell them directly!

The one who buys the most here is a Hydra leader.

Daniel Whitehall!

One of the supreme leaders of Hydra, he has always been obsessed with the obelisk of SHIELD. He lived for many years by relying on the organs of Shockwave's mother. He was also a high-level Hydra during World War II, but his power was much worse than the first three. After the split of Hydra, he could only be a district leader.

He met with Luther in his official capacity and threatened Luther.

It was also Whitehall who proposed to Pierce to develop Luther into Hydra, but the matter was left unfinished.

Now Whitehall feels that he has seen an opportunity.

Lizard serum and werewolf serum!

Whitehall has always wanted to retrieve the obelisk that was stolen from him.

The history of Hydra is much longer than imagined, but it is known to the world because the Red Skull's flag is the most powerful.

Even Nick Fury and Howard did not know that the Hydra they destroyed was only one of the heads.

Hydra is very obsessed with supernatural powers, even the modern head of the Red Skull is no exception, which is probably related to the history of the Hydra's rise.

Red Skull followed the orders of the mustache to look for items in various myths and legends, but he did not find the Ark of the Covenant, the Holy Grail, and the Spear of Destiny. However, according to the myth of the Aesir, he found the legendary dragon gem, the Cosmic Cube, in Northern Europe.

Then everyone knows the subsequent developments.

As a disciple of the Red Skull, Whitehall was deeply influenced by the Red Skull, and he also found his own Dragon Gem, which is the obelisk of the Kree.

In ancient times, I don't know what the Ancient One was doing at that time, whether it was the period when Agamotto had the final say, a group of radicals from the Kree Empire came to Earth.

The Kree Empire of this period went to war with the Skrull Empire, and by the way, it also provoked another of the three major empires, the Shi'ar Empire.

The Marvel Universe contains hundreds of intelligent alien races, and there are three called the three major empires of the Marvel Universe, namely the Kree Empire, the Skrull Empire and the Shi'ar Empire. These three civilizations have been in conflict for many years and will involve the Earth, especially the Kree and the Skrulls.

At the same time, the Kree Empire went to war with the two major empires, and the war was naturally tight and suffered heavy casualties.

The Skrulls are okay. After all, the Kree Empire developed from the technology obtained from the Skrulls and knows the Skrulls inside and out, but the Shi'ar Empire, as the youngest empire, is very fierce and strong, mainly because they have a captain of the Royal Guard named Gladiator.

That guy is a copy of Superman. Before the birth of the pancake face, the sword fight often resulted in the loss of an entire fleet of the Kree Empire.

Although the Kree Empire later created Captain Marvel, the first Captain Marvel was no match for the sword fight.

The Kree Empire needed a large number of cannon fodder to cope with the two-front war, so they genetically modified the earthlings of this period. I don't know why, there were so many big men on Earth at this time, and no one cared about their affairs, and Asgard didn't care.

The transformation was only started for a short time, and it was stopped by the faction formed by the pink-skinned Kree and some blue purebred Kree.

However, the device used by the Kree to modify the genes of the earthlings, the obelisk they called "Prophet", was left on the earth.

I don't know why they didn't take it away. Maybe it was like the withdrawing American soldiers, thinking that it would be better to buy a new one or make a new batch.

Hydra found the obelisk according to the legend, and the Red Skull thought it could change the world, just like the Dragon's Gem.

Then, for the first time ever, he did not occupy the obelisk to conduct research. You know, when the guy with a mustache asked him for the Cosmic Cube, he turned his face away.

The obelisk was given to Whitehall by Red Skull for research. Later, it was intercepted by Peggy Carter and her Howling Commandos.

The above is the story of Whitehall, the snakehead, and the obelisk.

He had no idea what the obelisk was for, but he blindly believed that it could produce weapons of mass destruction.

Luther thought, since there are already nuclear bombs and the like, does it still take the trouble to study this obelisk for weapons of mass destruction?

If you say that you are pursuing stronger power and evolution, then Luther will look up to you.

Now Luther feels that the goals of these villains are very petty, just like playing house.

Or it is a misunderstanding of thinking.

"He ordered 100 lizard serums and 1,000 werewolf serums at one time. Is this snakehead planning to go to war?"

Luther looked at the information of Galvatron with a tut-tut.

"He wants to steal a mysterious item called the Obelisk, which is stored in the secret warehouse of SHIELD."

Galvatron even built a map model of the secret warehouse and projected it in front of Luther through virtual projection.

There is a mold master stationed here, no wonder Whitehall wants so much serum.

Chapter 184 Crazy Night

"Mysterious warehouse... I remember there are three magical stone slopes in it."

Luther thought about it and decided not to participate. America's chaos is what he wants to see. He has no idea about the three magical stone slopes. What they can do, Luther can do better.

In addition to Whitehall, other Hydra branches also placed orders for lizard serum and werewolf serum. On the one hand, they are also envious of the power of these super soldiers, and on the other hand, they want to study something through these serums.

There are also people like Pierce who want to contact Black Caesar through the channel of placing orders. He feels that there is finally a way to contact Black Caesar.

The result is that the people in charge of placing orders don't know anything. They are only responsible for placing orders and collecting money. When the time comes, the people of Hydra will come to deliver and collect money. Facing Hydra, they dare not play any tricks.

Naturally, they don't know how to find the other party to contact, and Pierce can't even squat.

Of course, Luther is not looking for innocent passers-by, he is looking for Kingpin's people.

As a middleman, Kingpin could make a profit from the price difference. He could earn $1 for every lizard serum and werewolf serum sold.

Faced with the generosity of Hydra, Kingpin expressed his willingness to serve. The profit of $1 was too great. He felt that he could serve Hydra for free without Hydra paying.

Hydra said no, I gave it to you, you must take it. If you don't take it, you are not giving me face. If you don't give me face, I will get angry and change to another underworld emperor.

Then Kingpin got angry and killed ten boxers before he calmed down.

He would find people to fight with him every day to keep his physical fitness. He would often maim or kill his sparring partners, but there was still an endless stream of people coming for money.

This time, Kingpin was obviously extremely angry.

Hydra trampled on his dignity unscrupulously. It was okay to send beggars and homeless people for one dollar, but to insult the underground underworld emperor of New York?

Kingpin swore that he would make Hydra pay the price one day. Before that, of course, he would keep his tail between his legs.

He didn't even dare to offend the Hand, let alone such a behemoth as Hydra, and showed his terrifying existence?

So far, a total of 1,234 lizard serums have been sold, most of which were purchased with loans.

There are even more werewolf serums, reaching 3,333 werewolf serums, so now America has become a place where demons and monsters dance together.

America is also in a mess at this time. When everyone is an ordinary person and has a gun, so many robberies can break out every day, not to mention now, there are robbers with the power of lizards and werewolves?

The Joint Task Force and even Tony feel that they are too busy!

It's too late to put out fires everywhere. After all, it's a robbery craze across the United States.

It's more exaggerated than zero-dollar shopping, and the scale is hundreds of times larger. The cities affected include New York, Los Angeles, and even Washington!

However, none of them shocked the world as much as what Whitehall was going to do next.

Luther had already let Hydra teach everyone how superpowers should fight.

Whitehall followed suit and used the hardest alloy to create an armor-type bulletproof vest, which was thicker than that of the lizard robbers. Werewolves don't need this, and the most important thing for them is flexibility.

However, with the physical functions of werewolves, they can walk fast in heavy bulletproof vests, which greatly increases their survival and combat capabilities.

Then, Whitehall was so crazy that every lizard man took two NSV heavy machine guns, which were more brutal than the M2 machine guns. They fired 12.7×108mm bullets, which were standard machine gun bullets of the Warsaw Pact. The M2 heavy machine gun only used 12.7×99mm bullets.

From the "dream of 300 million mice", Barrett became the most powerful sniper rifle in the rumor.

However, the US Browning .50 bullets it uses are not as powerful as the 12.7X108mm Soviet ammunition.

The 12.7 bullets of Vodka are 20% more powerful than the American Browning .50 bullets, which are amazingly powerful.

NSV is used on the battlefield to attack infantry clusters and firepower points within 2000 meters, and can also be used to deal with vehicles, light armored vehicles, and can also destroy external auxiliary equipment of heavy vehicles such as tanks.

When using armor-piercing ammunition, it can penetrate armor equivalent to 25mm steel plate thickness. As a short-range air defense weapon, it can also be used to deal with low-flying targets within 1500 meters.

The werewolves uniformly use 760 machine guns.

In terms of firepower, they are equivalent to the firepower of 100 infantry fighting vehicles and a large number of armored vehicles.

After all, these machine guns such as NSV are heavy machine guns that only vehicles have.

M60 is a "pig" for mold, which is also their affectionate name.

For the U.S. troops fighting in Southeast Asia, "carrying the pig" meant carrying an M60 machine gun through the jungles, rice fields, and waterways of the Moon Man, up the mountains.

Somehow, when you hold that hunk of metal and rubber in your arms or on your shoulders, the terrain always seems to be uphill or always plagued by mud and water.

Yet the M60 also makes you feel like Mars, the god of war in ancient Greek mythology, when you use it.

Originally, Whitehall intended to let the werewolf use the M2 machine gun, but that would affect the werewolf's flexibility.

Although their speed is still much faster than that of ordinary people, they can't move quickly while shooting like holding an M60 machine gun. The huge recoil of the M2 machine gun and the weight of the ammunition and gun will affect the werewolves, and they will also be unable to avoid the covering fire.

But it's enough.

Whitehall can't wait to implement his plan.

A full one hundred lizardmen soldiers and a thousand werewolf soldiers, they sat in five military trucks and went to the target location.

These military trucks were loaded with their ammunition, a large box of high-explosive grenades, RPGs prepared for tanks or helicopters, javelins, and even several mortars, and a few "big guys".

Fifty kilograms of bombs!

The lizardmen soldiers have enough strength to throw them out, and the targets of these bombs are all fortifications.

Without transformation, these soldiers look like humans, and they are not crowded with five large trucks full of ammunition.

In addition, the interiors of these military trucks have been secretly modified, and all of them are equipped with homogeneous armor that is 75 mm thick. They can even block a shot from a tank's main gun. After all, they are used as bunkers and fortifications, and to prevent enemy attacks from penetrating the vehicle body and causing the ammunition inside to detonate.

Chapter 185 Crazy Night 2

Hydra's infiltration in America has now reached a very deep level, and these five military trucks traveled unimpeded all the way.

Of course, there are also lizardmen and werewolves in various regions now, causing America to be overwhelmed and unable to care about these reasons.

Even if someone saw it, they would only think that these military trucks were going to suppress riots and counter-terrorism.

After arriving at the base, the action team leader directly let the military trucks knock open the door of the base.

The sentry who was responsible for asking about the situation did not expect such a situation at all. He has been guarding here for nearly ten years. This is America's home base, and there is also a mold division stationed here. Who would think of attacking here?

As a result, he was knocked down by a military truck, and then the heavy tires ran over him.

The barbed wire gate could not stop the military truck and was directly knocked open.

The five military trucks made too much noise. Just after entering, before driving far, two searchlights shone over, and the surroundings were immediately bright as day.

There are six checkpoints on the way to the mysterious warehouse. There is a guard company stationed at these six checkpoints. If you want to get through, you can only fight all the way.

"What happened?"

The soldiers at this time have not reacted yet. They have been stationed here for too long, some even for nearly 20 years, and nothing has happened. They have been relaxed a lot. When the searchlight shines on five military trucks, they did not react.

Luther shook his head watching the live broadcast. This kind of quality is not good.

Then they were shot and killed by the well-prepared Hydra. An infantry platoon was wiped out in an instant.

"Something is going on!!!"

Both NSV and M60 made too much noise. Once they opened fire, the checkpoints in the rear knew that something was wrong.

However, they could not quickly organize a defense line. The werewolf soldiers had already killed them.

The werewolf serum turned these soldiers into two-meter-tall gray-haired upright werewolves, carrying a huge ammunition box on their backs. The armor-piercing bullet chain extended from the ammunition box and connected to the M60 in their hands.

When these werewolf soldiers, carrying heavy ammunition and machine guns, rushed to the second checkpoint at a speed of 100 meters per second, these soldiers had not reacted before they were shot.

"Bang bang bang bang!!!"

Some werewolf soldiers stayed to clean up, and the rest continued to move forward. They had to race against time to solve these six checkpoints!

At the same time, the Hydra hidden in these checkpoints suddenly turned against them and fired at the unsuspecting soldiers, assisting the werewolf soldiers and lizard soldiers to take down these six checkpoints at a very fast speed. The entire guard company fell and was annihilated in less than ten minutes.

The loud gunfire attracted the attention of the mold company in other guard areas.

After the Hydra approached the mysterious warehouse, they immediately let five military trucks form a semi-circular defense fortification. The lizard soldiers were responsible for firepower defense, the werewolf soldiers destroyed the surrounding surveillance, and the hackers also hacked into the surveillance system, paralyzing the surveillance of this base.

The werewolf soldiers were lying in ambush around, relying on their terrifying and strange movement speed to ambush.

Soon, a company coming to support was successfully ambushed by these werewolf soldiers, almost all the infantry were wiped out, and only a few escaped.

But they didn't care. With such a movement, the mold will soon make a big move, so the most important thing now is to find the obelisk.

The commander of the base was not a fool after the death of two companies. He did not continue to send light infantry to fight, but directly dispatched armored units.

Of course, he felt that the military quality of the invaders who could directly attack a base stationed by the mold division and wipe out two companies must be very strong.

In order to prevent a feint to the east and attack to the west, he did not send too many armored units. In addition to the mysterious warehouse, the importance of other warehouses is also very high.

Those armored units exist for these warehouses. With them, no matter how many enemies are there, they can't get in, because this is America's homeland, not the Middle East, nor the moon man!

When the enemy cannot use armored units, if you have armored units, if you still can't fight, you can just commit suicide.

A tank and two infantry fighting vehicles drove over, and there were also several military Hummers with M2 machine guns on them, as well as a company.

The battle had reached this point, and the commanders of the Fungus Division and the base were already very shocked. In order to prevent the mysterious warehouse from getting into trouble, they even drove out the tanks.

At a glance, an RPG hit a military Hummer.

"Boom!!!"

The military Hummer burst into brilliant sparks, and after a flash of fire, there was a shock wave. Even with the sturdiness and durability of the military Hummer, it was directly scrapped.

The Fungus, who had been prepared before, quickly counterattacked.

The M1A1 tank fired a 120mm smoothbore cannon directly.

"Boom!!!"

The shells came out of the gun and hit the semi-circular military truck.

The armored armor suddenly burst out a large number of sparks, deeply dented, and the high-speed friction warhead was severely deformed, and the high temperature also changed the structure of the armor.

Although all the ammunition had been unloaded, the weight of the military truck plus the armor it was wearing meant that the shot only caused the military truck to overturn, but did not completely destroy the fortifications.

Just as the M1A1 tank was reloading urgently, the infantry fighting vehicle also opened fire.

The M2 infantry fighting vehicle is equipped with a Boeing M242 "Big Viper" 25mm chain machine gun and an M240C 7.62mm machine gun.

That's a 25mm machine gun!

"Bang! Bang! Bang!"

The three-round machine gun seemed to be endless. They could fire continuously, but they had to stop for less than five seconds after three rounds.

The fierce firepower made the military truck vibrate continuously and almost overturned again.

At this time, a lizard soldier took out a mortar.

"Bang!"

The mortar shell hit the top of the infantry fighting vehicle, exploding a ball of fire.

The machine gun attack of an infantry fighting vehicle was temporarily interrupted, but another infantry fighting vehicle had already driven to the tactical position and formed a corner with the first infantry fighting vehicle, and it also opened fire.

The soldiers on the military Humvee followed, firing their M4 carbines and the M2 machine guns on the vehicle.

But at this moment, hundreds of werewolf soldiers on both sides of the road fired at them at the same time. These soldiers were caught off guard and hurriedly tried to use tanks and infantry fighting vehicles as cover.

However, the werewolf soldiers were at multiple angles, so their efforts were in vain.

Chapter 186: America wakes up and experiences a massive earthquake

Moreover, the searchlight was destroyed in advance by Hydra, and other searchlights could not shine here. In the dark night, with only the light of the vehicle, the werewolf soldiers were like ghosts, walking like the wind, changing positions at any time, making the soldiers think There is no way to fight back.

Although they do not have night blindness, in this environment, it is too difficult to lock down these werewolf soldiers who move so fast.

Soon, these infantry-tank coordinated soldiers were wiped out. At this time, a werewolf soldier took out the "Tank Killer".

They must have been well prepared before coming, including how to target these tanks.

A tank killer shot hit the tank, but the tank's reactive armor immediately exploded, canceling out the tank killer's explosion.

This is the effect of reactive armor.

But the two infantry fighting vehicles could not hold up and encountered more tank killers.

They were directly scrapped, and the remaining tank could only fight and retreat. In this case, there was definitely no way to maintain accuracy. A tank shell came out with a rumble, but no one knew where it flew.

As a result, when retreating, there was only a deafening "boom" sound, and the heavy tank was directly blown over.

It turned out that werewolf soldiers had placed several anti-tank mines on its retreat route. A single anti-tank mine could paralyze the tank and break the tracks, let alone so many anti-tank mines.

At this time, the Hydra soldiers who had been looking for the obelisk in the mysterious warehouse finally found the obelisk.

However, after losing the signal from the supporting mobile company again, the commander of this base could not sit still and directly dispatched air units.

Three Longbow Apache helicopter gunships flew over, and armored units on the ground also arrived.

These Hydra soldiers are just flesh and blood and cannot withstand the gunship of the armed helicopter. That is the M-230E-1 30mm single-barreled chain gun!

What kind of concept is this? Coupled with the Hellfire missiles it carries, the armored truck's defenses were quickly completely leveled!

The Apache emptied all the ammunition it carried before returning. The remaining ground troops continued to advance. Neither werewolf soldiers nor lizard soldiers could stop them, even if they laid anti-tank mines in advance.

Although Hydra's operation failed, the impact it caused can be said to be an unprecedented earthquake in America!

The last time America was shaken was September 11th. Even the lizard man robbery was nothing. September 11th was a blatant provocation and a slap in the face to America, and it also made America see the horror. Organizational madness.

This time it is completely "even worse". This is America's own US military base. As for why SHIELD's mysterious warehouse is here, how novel it is. The predecessor of SHIELD, the "Scientific Strategic Forces", is Started and trained by America.

How long has it been since America was provoked like this? She openly attacked a US military base and caused the casualties and annihilation of multiple companies.

This is no longer a major bad incident, this is a war!

"Gentlemen, what I want to know is, what happened to America and why such a thing happened? Isn't America no longer America?"

In the Congress, the elders also got angry. Is it possible that the church can no longer do it? Outsiders have stepped over the border to plant flags. What happened to the deaths and losses of multiple companies? My eldest America has fallen to this. To what extent?

"The attackers were lizards and werewolves, the work of Hydra. We were caught off guard, but we already know that their target should be SHIELD's mysterious warehouse."

The base commander must be held accountable. He quickly reported what happened last night, hoping to reduce his guilt a little, so that the connections behind him might make him guilty.

The opponents are all super soldiers, but their soldiers are still ordinary people. How to fight?

Originally, there was a cooperation with Emperor Corporation, which allowed them to obtain superhuman medicine and No. 1 compound to cultivate their own super soldiers. However, after Emperor Industries declared bankruptcy and ran away, this order was in vain.

America could only give Aldridge Killian part of the batch of compound No. 1 and superhuman medicine she had recently acquired to see if anything could be researched.

"Damn HYDRA!"

Of course the Congressmen know where these lizardmen and werewolves come from.

Hydra!

Besides Hydra, who else could come up with so many werewolves and lizardmen?

Even if they did buy some, they were all for their bodyguards and confidants, and the quantity was not that large.

"We must fight against Hydra. What is going on with SHIELD? Why is Hydra so active now?"

So some big bosses pointed their guns at SHIELD. This was a good opportunity. SHIELD's excessive power and duplication of powers made them have great opinions on SHIELD.

Originally, the emergence of Hydra could divert conflicts and relieve the pressure on S.H.I.E.L.D.

However, that was when Hydra was exposed in the original plot but nothing major happened.

The current situation is that Hydra is resurrected, and the major incidents it has done again and again are terrible, especially this time, which can be called a war.

So this seems like SHIELD is very derelict in its duties.

Faced with the strong condemnation from America and the opinions expressed by the Security Council, Nick Fury accepted it calmly and then acted like it.

Anyway, you can't remove him from his position, and you can't find someone who can replace Nick Fury for a while.

Nick Fury's poor performance is just that he doesn't care about the various accusations against him by the Security Council and America. Nick Fury has never stopped his actions against the madness of Hydra.

It's a pity that he really can't find anything!

Who is Nick Fury? He is a level 10 agent. There are less than a dozen people in the world who can be called level 10 agents.

There has been no trace of Hydra, and the big things Hydra has done are bigger and bigger, which also makes Nick Fury start to think and doubt the direction of his investigation.

Could it be that the reason why he can't find Hydra is that Hydra is not hidden so deeply, and they have always been under his nose?

Nick Fury's many years of experience told him that when the investigation is deadlocked and even no progress and results are obtained, then it must be that his investigation direction is wrong.

He couldn't help but think, what did he overlook?

"America? This must be there. If you want to investigate, you have to spend a lot of time and effort..."

Chapter 187 Nick Fury's Brainstorm

After checking one by one, Nick Fury found a target that he had always ignored or that he subconsciously thought was impossible, absolutely impossible.

SHIELD!

Is it you? My God!

After Nick Fury noticed SHIELD, he felt that he could not ignore it.

Yes, there is no way to find anything. Hydra, which comes and goes without a trace, makes such a big fuss, and sells lizard serum and werewolf serum unscrupulously, but SHIELD can't find anything at all. Is this possible?

You know, the current SHIELD is a global united world peace agent intelligence organization with huge power, countless talents, and intelligence networks all over the world. Even those non-UN members and countries that refuse SHIELD entry cannot do without SHIELD people.

In front of such an intelligence network built by SHIELD for so many years, Hydra has not found any traces so far. Shouldn't it feel wrong from the beginning?

Why do I always feel that Hydra is hidden very deeply?

"SHIELD... If that's the case, then we're in big trouble."

Nick Fury is deeply aware of this, and he doesn't want to think about it, probably for this reason.

Hydra is hiding in SHIELD?

It's terrible!

This idea is crazy, but full of reasonable possibilities.

"Let Hydra investigate Hydra, and naturally they won't find anything. They come and go without a trace not because of their intelligence capabilities and connections, but because someone helps them deal with these traces. I should have guessed it long ago."

Nick Fury feels that he is old, and his mind is not as flexible and sharp as before.

It's a pity that Emperor International now does not accept American nationals to buy their products. I heard that their new compound No. 2 can even cure Alzheimer's disease. Many rich people have paid deposits and lined up to inject compound No. 2. It can be said that the supply exceeds the demand.

"Is Emperor Luther's departure also a conspiracy of Hydra?"

Once people start to imagine and doubt, they will also doubt other things. This is a link reaction, especially agents, who are more suspicious than Cao A Man.

To put it bluntly, it is to be cautious. The careless agents have all died.

After Hydra reappeared, in so many operations, the only one who suffered was Luther. Others, including Tony Stark and Hulk, failed to make them suffer. Instead, it was Luther. Every time Luther appeared, Hydra suffered.

What if Hydra targeted Luther because of this, and could not kill him, but could get rid of him?

Nick Fury felt that if it were him, facing a man like Luther who had no weaknesses at all, he would definitely think of driving him away or sending him away.

Thinking of it this way, the incident at the beginning revealed something strange. America suddenly found a competitor of Emperor Industries and said that the other party was very powerful. They should consider the order of ant serum from Emperor Industries.

Where did America find a strong competitor?

Before the rise of Imperial Industries and the emergence of Luther, a genius, and after Red Skull and Captain America, there was only one Hulk in so many years, and he was still a product that could not be controlled. As a result, two appeared in such a short time?

Yes, if the competitor is called Hydra, all this makes sense. Hydra's biochemical technology is very powerful. After the lizard man that appeared was captured by them, they quickly cracked and mass-produced lizard serum. Now there are lizard men all over the world.

America's horror legend Lizard Man has become a reality, and even werewolves have been studied by Hydra, and they are very close to the legend, except that they will not transform on a full moon and lose control.

This technological version of werewolf is undoubtedly more powerful and better, and has no weakness of fearing Silver.

With such technological strength, taking out a super soldier serum to fool the American military, plus the assistance of the insider, isn't it the best competitor of Imperial Industries?

Nick Fury brainstormed by himself, and the more he thought about it, the more scared he became. The more he thought about it, the more he felt that Hydra was so terrifying.

Of course, Luther himself guided this, and he even prepared a composite video of Alexander Pierce, such as Alexander Pierce saying "hail hydra (Long live Hydra)!" to the vice president.

Or Alexander Pierce saying "hail hydra (Long live Hydra)!" to a group of congressional masters.

When he saw this composite video, Nick Fury's expression would definitely be very exciting.

Anyway, even with the technology of SHIELD, it is impossible to analyze the authenticity of the composite video of Galvatron.

Of course, a version of the Security Council can also be arranged.

With this speculation, Nick Fury naturally began to investigate the internal SHIELD.

In this regard, the only agents Nick Fury can trust are Coulson, Black Widow and Hawkeye.

Alexander Pierce is of course also considered, after all, he is his immediate superior, and Nick Fury does not think he will be Hydra.

However, Nick Fury did not inform Alexander Pierce of this action. He planned to investigate first to verify whether his idea was true, so as to avoid making them feel like they were facing a great enemy if he guessed wrong, which would be bad for Pierce.

After appreciating a good show, Luther looked up at the sky. With his super vision, the entire solar system was within his observation range.

The super vision of Kryptonians is no longer an observation ability that normal people can understand, and even super hearing is hearing without a medium. He can hear the sounds of the entire solar system here, including the conversations of aliens in the vacuum spacecraft.

So, what he saw was not light, but real-time observation of all aspects of the entire solar system, but Luther was too lazy to look at it at ordinary times, even if his super brain could easily process the collected information, it would not even occupy one percent of his brain power.

But he was too lazy to look.

Now he looked because a special power came.

"Mjolnir?"

Luther saw a hammer falling from the sky, and also saw the very majestic God King Odin wearing a golden single eye mask.

The temperament and strength that the actor could not show, Odin seemed to be aware of his observation, but he could not see Luther, and the only one who could look at Luther was Heimdall.

But Heimdall did not notice Luther, he just stared at Thor.

"Thor's plot has begun."

Luther remembered that there was such a thing.

Breaking Point: Thor has come to Earth, and now there is something fun to do.

"The samples of new humans can be referenced from the Asgardian gods."

Chapter 188 The Disappearance of Thor

Thor landed in New Mexico, and in this simple place, he still didn't let go of his Thor style.

After all, he was not used to the feeling of losing his power.

But this time, before Jane Foster could run him over with her car, Luther took Thor away first.

Asgard!

Asgard is a small extradimensional planetary body (its surface area is about the same as the area of the continental United States), and its properties and physical properties are different from those of planetary bodies.

In the Earth dimension, Asgard is not a sphere like the Earth or the Moon, but a relatively flat star-shaped continental block suspended in space.

Asgard does not rotate on its axis, nor does it revolve around the sun.

Asgard has a day and night interval (undisclosed duration), even if it does not rotate.

However, there is no evidence that Asgard's seasons change.

It is unclear whether the source of Asgard's light and heat is Ete's sun, an Asgardian sun whose gravity does not act on Asgard, or a glowing ball of light whose properties differ from those of a star for most of its properties.

Unlike Earth, where gravity radiates from the center of the sphere, Asgard's gravity apparently radiates from some point or object beneath the suspended continent.

Thus, Asgard has a top that can be stood on, and a bottom that cannot be stood on, from which they will fall through space toward the source of gravity. At the border of Asgard's continent, a living or undead can enter the Void.

Apparently there is some force that prevents the bottom and edges of Asgard's continent from eroding, and whatever that force is, it also prevents bodies of water on certain borders of Asgard from flowing into the Void, and also prevents Asgard's atmosphere from escaping.

Asgard is described as floating on a "sea of space", and this sea apparently has a surface that can be navigated by Asgardian ships similar to Viking longboats.

The exact nature of the Asgardian dimension is unknown.

While Asgard's gravity is roughly the same as Earth's (Jane Foster had no problems with her arrival on Asgard), the average density of ordinary matter is much greater, so a wooden chair on Asgard is larger (and heavier) than one on Earth.

Rock, water, flesh, bone, feces - all of these substances are denser and therefore more durable.

In addition to all the anomalies mentioned above, Asgard is connected to at least two other dimensional planes in some unknown way, one of which is Earth (which the Asgardians call Midgard, meaning "Mide Kingdom"). The Asgardians call all the known major inhabited realms of their cosmology the "Nine Realms".

Only four of the Nine Realms are located on the continent of Asgard. Asgard, Vanaheimt, home of the gods, Vanir, home of the Asgardian sister races, and Nidavellir, home of the dwarves. And Alfheim, home of the light elves.

As for the legendary heaven, Marvel does have a heaven, but it is not as glorious and supreme as the heaven in the DC creationist universe.

In the comic Original Sin # 5.1, Odin tore heaven from the roots of the world tree and sealed it up, disappearing from people's sight and memory.

Erase it from the legend like a stain.

Asgard, Rainbow Bridge Palace.

Heimdall witnessed the disappearance of Prince Thor.

This made him nervous, because he couldn't see how Thor disappeared.

So he hurried to find the God King Odin to report the matter.

"Prince Thor disappeared just after landing!"

Heimdall said anxiously. He knew very well that Thor's being demoted to the mortal world this time was a punishment, but in fact it was just a test from Odin.

For this reason, Heimdall has been paying attention, and the God King Odin, who should have fallen into Odin's sleep, did not fall into sleep.

This time he punished Thor and tested his two sons.

Loki has evil intentions, and Odin wants to see what he will do.

"Missing?"

Odin was a little surprised. Did the Supreme Sorcerer attack Thor?

That's not right. It was clearly agreed that Prince Thor would go to practice and the Supreme Sorcerer would not interfere.

Odin realized that things were out of control. He just wanted to get up and descend to Midgard, but he felt unbearable pain in his body.

His overpowering divine power made his body unable to bear it and was damaged.

The older the Asgardian gods are, the stronger their divine power will be. The power of the elderly Thor even surpassed Odin.

Odin can only rely on falling into a deep sleep to reduce the damage to his body and recover his body.

Of course, Odin would not be injured and weak so quickly, but now he not only has to bear the impact of the vast and powerful divine power, but also has to suppress his eldest daughter Hela.

Hela has never stopped attacking the seal. Although Hela did not get the bonus of infinite power and infinite stamina because she was not in Asgard, Hela was powerful, and every attack would bring huge burden and damage to Odin.

Otherwise, Odin would not have been so eager to choose Thor as the God King and train him to be the God King at his prime age. He knew that he would not live long.

If he came to Midgard in his current body, Odin did not know what accidents would happen.

But he could not ignore Thor's disappearance. If the Supreme Sorcerer promised not to intervene, she would really not intervene and would not care about Thor's disappearance.

Odin sighed.

"Destroyer!"

He held the Spear of Eternity and called the Destroyer who guarded the treasure house of Asgard with his own will.

The Destroyer armor soon appeared in front of Odin. If Luther saw the Destroyer armor, he would know that this Destroyer armor was definitely closer to the comics.

There were colorful and colorful divine power patterns flashing at a frequency like breathing.

This was a blessing from the gods with their own divine power, and not just the gods of the Norse mythology system, but also the gods of the earth, so that Odin could wear this Destroyer armor and then chop off the head of a group of gods.

Although he was hung up and hammered later, it was enough to show the power of the Destroyer armor.

The blessings of the gods and gods, the power of Hercules, the thunder of Zeus, the speed of Mercury, etc.

It can be said that this armor is the super enhanced version of the Marvel version of Lightning Shazam + Black Adam.

The prerequisite is to be able to wear it and be recognized before you can use the power of the gods above.

"Heimdall, send the Destroyer to Midgard, it will find Thor..."

After Odin finished speaking, his body could no longer support him and he fell into a deep sleep.

Chapter 189 Thor's Bizarre Adventure

Thor was taken away by Luther. He was quite interested in the Asgardians. By the way, he wanted to see if he could develop the Asgardians as his own legion in the Dragon Ball world or other worlds.

Here we are talking about the royal family of the Asgardians, not ordinary Asgardians, just like the Asgardian who became a deserter and lived on Earth. Although he was also very powerful, the gap was too big compared to Thor.

The highest achievement of ordinary Asgardians might be the level of the three warriors of Asgard and the Valkyrie.

Of course, the strength of the ancient Asgardian soldiers was also very high. Three Asgardian soldiers could surround and kill a dark elf cursed warrior, and the cursed warrior in the movie was set to be four times the power of Thor!

What is this concept? Three ancient Asgardian warriors in the period of King Bauer could surround and kill Thor?

I don't know whether it was peace that made the Asgardians retreat or what the reason was. Anyway, the dark elves and a group of prisoners were able to make Asgard fall. It can only be said that the level has dropped too much.

Thor was sampled and studied from head to toe by Luther, and then Luther looked up and saw the Destroyer falling from the sky.

"The Destroyer?"

Luther was a little surprised. Was the Destroyer sent down right away?

That was definitely not done by Loki. It was probably because Thor's disappearance made Odin anxious.

In order to prevent Heimdall from seeing him, he deliberately used super speed to take Thor away.

Seeing that the Destroyer armor seemed to be walking straight towards him, although the landing place was New Mexico, the Destroyer armor seemed to have the ability to find Thor.

Anyway, the samples had been taken and studied, so Luther threw Thor out casually.

Thor's divine power was sealed, and he magically became a mortal body. Ordinary people's fists could hurt him. Luther certainly would not let Thor fall to death, even if he wanted to see if Thor would recover his divine power after falling to death.

So he wrapped a layer of biological force field around Thor's body, which disappeared just when he reached the destination.

As for the destination, of course it was America!

And it was New York.

"Thank me, Jane, for saving you from this disaster."

Luther felt that he had done a great deed, although there would be one less heroic female Thor in the future.

But at least she would not have to experience the separation of life and death, nor would she become more hopeless because of using Thor's hammer all the time.

She just lost her love, but gained her life!

Thor flew in the sky for a while and then crashed heavily into the streets of New York.

The ground sank into a big pit, and the biological force field protected Thor and disappeared after landing intact.

Thor was just awakened by the aftermath.

"Where is this place?"

Thor felt dizzy, what just happened?

He felt as if he was knocked unconscious by something, but when he woke up, he was already in another place.

"Prince Thor reappeared?"

Heimdall was observing Midgard with his own eyes, trying to find Thor, and now he found Thor.

The Destroyer armor was also stunned for a moment, as if there was some confusion in the program logic, and then it changed direction and headed towards America.

At this time, Thor had been targeted by two old Mexicans with bad intentions.

After all, his skin was so white that these old Mexicans hated him. What's more, looking at Thor's clothes, you can tell that he must be a rich man.

"Hey, man, I'm short of money, do you want to give me some money to spend?"

An old Mexican took out a switchblade. In the past, when he did this, the other party would either quickly take out money, a gun, or Superman medicine.

Now it's different, the other party smiled foolishly.

"Man, you actually pointed such a small knife at me?"

Thor didn't take the switchblade seriously at all.

Then he knocked down the two old Mexicans.

Even if he lost his divine power, Thor was at least a veteran. The original S.H.I.E.L.D. agents were not his opponents. Of course, there was also the reason why Coulson wanted to capture him alive and didn't let the S.H.I.E.L.D. agents use guns.

Otherwise, the earth might be caught in the Sarajevo incident.

Thor was so impatient that he just wanted to get his Thor's hammer back that he didn't bother with the two Mexicans.

He knew where his hammer was, so he headed there and asked people where he could buy a horse.

"You can buy a horse at the zoo."

When asked, passersby thought he was playing a prank and said unhappily.

Although America does not prohibit private horse breeding, those who can breed horses are rich people. Of course, if it is the case of Max and the bankrupt sisters, it is another matter.

The two sisters are so poor, but they dare to breed horses.

It can only be said that it is too inspiring.

So Thor went to the zoo to buy a horse, and then he was driven out as a madman and a prankster.

"Damn it, I am Thor, the god of thunder, the prince of Asgard!"

Thor said very angrily.

Not long after, Thor was put in a detention room by the police who came after hearing the news.

He tried to resist, and after knocking down several policemen, he was knocked to the ground by the stun gun.

If he wasn't in white, the police would have emptied their magazines by now.

The police were already very sensitive during this period, with lizardmen and werewolves everywhere, and schools were closed.

However, there were also unlucky werewolves who did not pay attention to hiding their identities, which led to them being caught by the military and sent to the laboratory for research, trying to analyze the werewolf serum of Hydra.

They also envied the power of the werewolf soldiers.

After Thor was locked up in the detention room, the prisoners in the detention room looked at him with ill intentions.

After a while, Thor sat on a big man indifferently.

"That's it?"

Thor felt unsatisfied, but fortunately, he still remembered that his main job was to find the hammer and turn back into Thor.

So Thor tried to escape from prison, and at this moment, a big man, or a big star, came into the detention room.

"Hot Johnny, go in!"

The thin tall man in a black leather jacket was pushed in by the police.

Thor keenly noticed that there seemed to be something wrong with the man.

"I'm wronged."

The man said while holding the railing.

"All the guys who come here say so."

The police said contemptuously.

The man looked very uneasy, and he looked at the prisoners in the detention room timidly and nervously.

"Don't come near me, I'm dangerous, I don't want to hurt you."

The other prisoners who had just been beaten by Thor were now full of anger, and they all laughed when they heard the man say that.

Chapter 190 Exploding Skull

"Johnny Boom, I know you and I love watching you play."

"Hey, cutie, how are you going to hurt us?"

"Come on, I'll wait here."

A few gangsters forced Johnny into a corner of the cage, and the police turned a blind eye when they saw it. They locked Johnny in to force him to admit his crimes.

Johnny felt his eyes begin to heat up, and it was so irritating that he couldn't even open them.

He knew that this was the guy inside his body that was getting ready to come out.

"It" senses the evil around it and is about to take action.

Thor looked at Johnny curiously, not feeling at all that he was in danger.

Just kidding, I'm Thor.

Nothing happened that he couldn't do despite trying to lift Mjolnir. Thor is still so confident now, feeling that his weakness is only temporary and that as long as he retrieves the hammer, he can become the God of Thunder again.

He felt like this guy wasn't lying.

"I said, get out of here!!!"

Johnny exploded, trying to push some of the punks away, before he was punched in the eye.

The gangster who had suppressed his anger punched and kicked Johnny, and the Ghost Rider was stimulated.

The spirit of vengeance in Johnny is a spirit of vengeance like no other.

That is the soul of the elemental demon lord Zatanos, which is qualitatively different from other ghost knights.

Anyone who likes Ghost Rider should know it. Zatanos is an ancient elemental demon who once dominated one side in ancient times, but his fate was bumpy.

He was successively defeated by the original spirits of vengeance, and was defeated and weakened by Mephisto. Finally, he was fused into the spirit of vengeance by Mephisto and possessed the body of the evil ghost rider Johnny.

The combination of the human body Johnny and the vengeful spirit Zatanos. When Johnny transforms into the Ghost Rider, in order to prevent Zatanos from going berserk and occupying his body and consciousness, Johnny will try his best to suppress it after the transformation. The power and consciousness of the Zatanos uprising.

So strictly speaking Johnny wasn't in his prime most of the time.

The other Ghost Riders are all authentic spirits of vengeance. Spirits of vengeance were created by God in heaven, so they also have the characteristics of immortality. Only God can destroy what God created.

The temperature inside the cage suddenly soared.

Several gangsters who were beating up Johnny Blaze were immediately knocked away.

They hit the bars of the cage hard, and before the others knew what happened, a flaming skull stood up.

"Midgardians still have the blood of fire giants?"

Thor said with wide eyes.

This look looked too much like the fire giants he had fought, but just a little shorter.

But there is no problem in saying that he is a hybrid between a Midgardian and a fire giant. After all, Loki is still a frost giant, and he is also very short.

Anyway, everyone knows Thor's brain, so don't be so harsh on him.

"You are all guilty!"

The Ghost Rider looked at everyone, especially Thor, who was covered in a bright red light that almost enveloped the entire prison, making the Ghost Rider almost unable to see the sins of others.

So he put his primary target on Thor.

Unlike other Ghost Riders, who judge the souls of sinners by burning them up instead of eating them, Johnny is different. He is the knight prepared by Mephisto for himself, so the souls of the sinners he judges all go to Mexico. Fisto's place, strengthen Mephisto's power.

The unsatisfied hunger will make him go crazy and attack the sinners, and then every bit of the souls of the sinners he attacked will be obtained by Mephisto, so he will become even more hungry and crazy, and it is basically impossible to maintain sanity and communication. .

This is also the reason why the Ghost Rider of Agents of SHIELD was able to control himself after Johnny gave the hellfire to others.

Thor's great red light comes from the fact that he has experienced hundreds of battles and conquered the nine realms. The latest time he went to Jotunheim and killed a large number of frost giants.

With such a ghost-like thing, the prisoners naturally did not dare to continue to be reckless and quickly got out of the way of Johnny, who also walked directly in front of Thor.

"I can't see your eyes, but I know you're looking at me."

Thor was still in the mood to tease Johnny and said with a smile.

Then he was lifted off the ground by Johnny and hit against the cage.

"hateful!"

Thor struggled. At this time, he missed his divine power very much. If his divine power was still there, this guy would definitely not be his opponent. After all, he was the God of Thunder!

"Look into my eyes!"

Ghost Rider said to Thor.

"Oops!"

Heimdall saw this scene. Of course he knew about the existence of the Ghost Rider. After all, the original spirits of vengeance had caused a lot of noise.

If God and heaven hadn't disappeared, maybe there would still be scenes of vengeful spirits roaming the world, judging sins, and angels arrogantly descending from time to time to give guidance to mortals.

Because he knew the horror of the Vengeful Spirit, Heimdall could not imagine how Thor, whose divine power was sealed, could escape from the Judgment Eye of the Vengeful Spirit.

"I really want to do it, but don't you know you don't have eyes?"

Thor said helplessly.

The atmosphere at the scene suddenly dropped.

Is now the time to say this?

Everyone else couldn't help shouting and roaring in their hearts.

"Give me a little more time, and I will be able to break free!"

Thor continued to struggle as if nothing had happened.

Ghost Rider was stunned for a moment. Why didn't it work on this evil guy?

"Look into my eyes!"

He then grabbed Tony's head with both hands, pressed his forehead against his own, and stared at Thor's eyes with his eye sockets burning with hellfire.

"Hot!"

Thor was grimacing from the burns of hellfire. He punched Ghost Rider in the abdomen, but felt that his punch seemed to hit something unshakable. The reaction force made his face and neck red with pain.

At this critical moment, a beam of light broke through the wall, vaporized several unlucky thugs, and after evaporating them from the earth, it hit Ghost Rider.

This shot sent Ghost Rider flying.

The Destroyer Armor caught up and directly output the power source of Eternal Fire to Ghost Rider.

Its "artificial intelligence" is very clear about the characteristics of Ghost Rider. Physical attacks are no problem, and he can get up with a pat on the buttocks. However, mysterious attacks, such as attacks with divine power, magic, rules, etc., even if Ghost Rider is immortal, it will take some time to recover.

After one shot, the eternal fire will continue to burn Ghost Rider. Although it may not last long under the counterattack of hellfire, the purpose of the destroyer armor is to allow Thor to escape.