

Kryptonian 39

Chapter 39 New Man-Made Human

"Brother, can we go to Frieza for revenge now?"

Broly, who was lame after being tricked by Luther, took the initiative to speak to Luther.

During these days, he has been influenced by Luther's magic and words, and has been subtly controlled by Luther.

He believed deeply in what Luther said and listened to his words.

The main reason is that it is too difficult for the Saiyans to use their brains. If the Kryptonian is being fooled, Luther will be worried about the possibility of being exposed. Saiyans... I guess even the later scholar Son Wuhan is not Can't be fooled.

"Not yet, Broly, Frieza is not that simple. I got another new piece of information. The combat power of 530,000 is not Frieza's limit, but he has hidden his own combat power!"

Luther said to Broly with a serious face.

"Hide your fighting power?"

Broly originally thought that with his 500,000 fighting power, plus his elder brother's 550,000 fighting power, he would be able to avenge his tribe and kill Frieza, but he didn't expect that Frieza was still hiding. My own fighting ability?

"Yes, Frieza seems to have chosen to limit himself because his energy is too powerful for his body to bear. He has several stages of transformation or restraint. The first transformation can reach a combat power of one million , the second transformation has a combat power of millions, and the last transformation starts with a combat power of tens of millions, and can reach a combat power of 100 million in the end!"

Luther basically told all the information about Frieza.

"One hundred million combat power?"

Broly's eyes widened, this number was beyond his imagination.

Broly, who could only count to a hundred so far, had no way of imagining how big a number this was.

And Broly didn't know that he would grow rapidly in the battle, so he suddenly felt like Alexander.

"Train well, Broly, sooner or later we will get revenge!"

Luther has built a gravity chamber for Broly. Since ordinary Saiyans can exercise through this gravity chamber, there is no reason that Broly, the legendary Super Saiyan, cannot exercise through the gravity chamber.

This is probably the most suitable and stable way to improve Broly's combat power.

Luther doesn't know if he will see Broly with a combat power of 100 million the next time he comes back.

During this period, Luther also went to Namek once, collected the Namekian Dragon Balls, and made another wish, but unfortunately, his wish to merge Broly's genes failed to come true.

"There is no way to get the wish-freezing demon's genes. The namekian dragon's power is still too weak."

Luther sighed.

"Fortunately, I have obtained genetic samples of all creatures in the Dragon Ball universe. There must be some omissions. Even powerful life forms cannot obtain them, but such rich genetic samples are enough for me to use."

Then I started my own research.

The reason why he didn't take Broly back to Earth is because he was researching an android based on Broly's genes!

After all, Broly's uncertainty was too great. Even if Broly had been subtly influenced and controlled by magic, Luther did not dare to completely trust Broly.

So, the best thing to do is to make a new Broly!

That is, artificial humans.

The current experiment is very successful. Luther adopted Dr. Gro's method of cultivating Shalu, starting from the embryo. However, he did not hand it over to the computer, but used his own magic and methods to influence and control the embryo throughout the process.

After a year of cultivation, the embryo has now grown. Broly's genes have given him a huge energy bonus. Coupled with the genes of the fighting Namekians, the embryo's vitality is not like other ones. Clones are so short-lived that they grow quickly.

Luther looked at the artificial man standing in front of him with satisfaction. His appearance was completely different from Broly. This was the result of Luther's adjustment.

"Logically speaking, I should give you a numerical code name, but I think I'd better give you a vegetable name... Well, you can just call it cucumber."

After all, the names of Saiyans are all the Japanese pronunciation of vegetables, or the French or English pronunciation, etc.

The Japanese pronunciation of cucumber is Niron, but Luther simply calls it Qinggua. This is for the convenience of understanding. Otherwise, it would feel strange to write Niron or call it Longni backwards, and it would be even weirder if you add the word.

Anyway, as long as you know that he is Qinggua in Japanese.

He was named this because his favorite vegetables are cucumbers and cucumbers.

Qinggua didn't react at all. His consciousness and memory were all written by Luther, so he obeyed Luther's words. In addition, he was the legendary Super Saiyan at heart, very violent and warlike. Compared to Broly, for better control.

And Luther is also trying to take Qinggua to the Marvel world. He has increased his combat power so much this time, and the passage should become wider.

Even if it doesn't become spacious and the cucumber is crushed, he can still recover. After all, he has Namekian cells.

"Then, let's get started."

This is the first time for Luther to take someone through time travel. Although he doesn't know if he can do it, ordinary people will definitely not be able to withstand the power when traveling through time. This eliminates a lot of targets for Luther, and only those who can withstand it are some people.

The passage has indeed expanded a lot, allowing Luther to transform into Mario.

Qinggua was a little uncomfortable at first, but then he was quickly pulled by Lud to travel through the Marvel world with no expression on his face.

"Suddenly I feel like I am like Mario."

Luther discovered this belatedly.

But seeing that the cucumber was intact, Luther felt relieved.

He returned to the Emperor Company with Qinggua.

"From now on, you will be responsible for guarding this place."

The most important place for Luther is the underground base of the Imperial Building. Considering the future invasion of the Chitauri and various disasters in New York, Luther obtained the hardest metal in the Dragon Ball world by making a wish.

Thundersteel!

Bolunga was actually able to get this thing. Of course, it wasn't the thunderbolt steel from the Tournament of Power later. That thing was much harder.

Luther plans to use thunderbolt steel to protect his underground base. In this case, there is no need to worry about any problems in the underground base in the future.

Not to mention that there is a legendary Super Saiyan guarding him, and anyone who comes will die.

Of course, Polunga didn't get too much Thunderbolt steel for Luther. Luther could only study the atomic structure of Thunderbolt steel by himself and see if he could replicate Thunderbolt steel through an atomic rearranger or aggregator.

But no matter which one it is, it's not that easy to get.

"yes."

Qinggua had no objection and nodded obediently to show that he understood.