

Kryptonian 40

Chapter 40 Changes

Then Luther saw the overwhelming news.

"Another masterpiece from Stark Industries!"

"The Ministry of National Defense has expressed its intention to purchase Jericho missiles!"

"Genius or butcher? Playboy and the number one arms dealer!"

...

"Jericho missile?"

When Luther saw this, he immediately realized that the plot might be about to begin.

However, no one should know about the Jericho missile in the original plot. After all, Stark Industries will not go around shouting about it. They will only cooperate with the Ministry of Defense and the military.

"Is this coming for me?"

Luther quickly thought of the key point.

The original plot is that Tony Stark is going to Afghanistan to show General Vip the Jericho missile he invented. This kind of action is naturally kept secret.

Now everyone knows it, does it mean that the plot of the birth of Iron Man is gone?

They no longer need to go to Afghanistan for exercises?

"Is this Stark's idea or America's?"

Luther thought thoughtfully and the corners of his mouth raised. He felt very interesting.

They probably thought they could fly and escape, and were invulnerable and difficult to deal with, so they brought out missiles to deter them?

If you think about it carefully, this is in line with the mentality of America's big men, or their thinking model.

Let alone them, it is estimated that many human beings are also in this situation.

After all, this is reality. If the previous examples of super soldiers and Captain America created by Compound No. 1 can make them understand and accept it without being so resistant, then the appearance of Luther can be said to have subverted their imagination. and reality.

Flying into the sky and escaping from the earth, invulnerable to weapons, infinitely powerful, and as fast as lightning!

These abilities that are cool in movies are not so good in reality.

They may cheer at such a thing at first, but once they calm down, they start to panic.

If Luther had such ability, if he was dissatisfied with anyone, wouldn't he be able to kill him directly?

More importantly, they couldn't find anyone or a way to intercept Luther.

The video of Luther dealing with the group of armed thugs has been repeatedly studied by various experts and scientific researchers. They said that even a tank could be directly destroyed by Luther unless they dispatched armored divisions or the air force.

But Luther can fly and is so fast at the same time. His ability to catch bullets shows that he has supersonic nerve reflexes!

After Luther's incident, Tony Stark received a secret meeting from America's Department of Defense and the military, requesting Tony Stark to develop weapons against Luther, a superman!

Tony Stark found it very challenging, plus he was unhappy with Luther, and deep down he felt uneasy and worried about Luther.

Such a superman poses a great threat and instability to the security of society, and Tony Stark also feels that he needs to be restricted!

Once Luther's super hearing was turned on, coupled with the information collected by Megatron, the strong artificial intelligence, he knew that the public and the media were now saying that Luther should be supervised and that Luther should hand over this technology. To the country or something.

Of course, those capitalists did not speak. Although they are greedy, they also have a bottom line when it comes to this kind of thing, that is, private ownership cannot be shaken!

Otherwise, if today you are eyeing my things and want to take my things, and tomorrow you are eyeing his things and want to take his things, then why do they still need America!

America's officials are just their dogs, and the president is just their housekeeper and servant. If anyone dares to use America's power to get their things, they will disband America at the worst possible outcome.

Of course they also want superhuman skills, but their own bottom line is more important.

"The offensive of public opinion is boring."

Luther still prefers real business wars, sending people to assassinate people, etc. He doesn't like this insidious way of attacking people from behind.

"The company suffered 19,345 cyberattacks, 1,540 of which were very strong, with system crashes reaching 50.55%, sir."

Megatron said to Luther.

"Oh? Do you know their address?"

Strong artificial intelligence is almost invincible on the Internet, but this is not applicable in the Marvel world, because there is Skye in the unreasonable Rising Tide organization, and Dr. Zola of Hydra with the same artificial intelligence.

"We have obtained the true addresses of 97% of the attack sources."

Megatron is an artificial intelligence, and most hackers cannot hide from it. Moreover, it is growing very fast. Not to mention ordinary hackers, even the hackers of the Rising Tide Organization have their real addresses and information. , the target was locked through surveillance.

"There is no need for me to go out myself. Let the company's mercenaries go out."

Luther is very short of talents, especially these technical talents. By the way, they may be able to pack a group of action personnel back.

The mercenaries, the operational arm of the Imperial Company, all signed lifetime employment contracts and received a constant supply of superhuman medicine.

This is the first time they have received an action mission since joining the Imperial Company, so naturally each one of them is very motivated.

The welfare package of Emperor Company is very good, not to mention bonuses and so on. The mercenaries will do anything for money. I have never seen such a generous owner of Emperor Company.

There are also retired American soldiers here. This group of people can do nothing but kill people. After retirement, it is easy for them to rob banks. Emperor Company recruited American soldiers who were not disabled and used them together with mercenaries.

Mercenaries look down on American soldiers. It is well known that American soldiers buy morale with money. They are all very delicate. Most of the mercenaries come from war-torn areas and countries. They have experienced hundreds of battles and waded through bloody storms.

American soldiers also look down on mercenaries, thinking that they are not professional enough. However, they have received various professional trainings and can survive on the battlefield and retire without disability, which in itself shows their strength.

"This operation is to capture the hackers who attacked the company's network. Although the target is not very dangerous, there is a bonus of one million for catching one, and the whole team will share it equally!"

"Don't lose to those war hyenas, we are professional soldiers!"

"Don't lose to those young soldiers and deer! If this operation is done well, the company may provide human enhancement technology, and then you can become a little superman!"

"Kill the young soldiers!"

"Let them follow behind us!"
