

Kryptonian 401

Chapter 401 It's the 400th chapter, please give me recommendation votes, monthly votes and rewards!!

This ultra-high temperature resistance immediately made Tony think of the related fields and industries of thermonuclear fusion.

If humans can get this super alloy... forget it, it's too difficult, they can't even process it.

The simple melting and shaping operations can't meet the high-precision needs.

"Its atomic structure is specially arranged, and the atomic rearrangement technology is used to rearrange its atomic sequence. The magnetic force and gravity between its atomic structure are locked to each other, which makes it almost unable to conduct heat and kinetic energy. It can be said that it has an atomic structure similar to that of sound-absorbing steel, but it is more subtle."

Luther continued.

Sound-absorbing steel and adamantium alloy are both alloys. Their atomic sequences are not natural, so their special structures are just like that. Adamantium alloy can even be used for secondary molecular sorting by molecular rearrangement devices.

And krypton gold, which has been atomically sorted by atomic arrangement technology, has reached the structural strength of the atomic level, similar to a water drop.

This makes krypton gold reach the absolute rigid body in scientific theory, which is almost indestructible!

This superalloy can be used as a strategic material or hard currency for foreign trade. Earthlings will not dislike it at all. They will take as much as they want.

Tony even wanted krypton gold first, but Luther refused.

Giving krypton gold to earthlings is not worth the loss, and it is not enough to make ends meet.

Even if Tony proposed to trade one ton of sound-absorbing steel for one hundred grams of krypton gold, Luther refused.

Tony really didn't know that he knew the situation of sound-absorbing steel very well. One ton of sound-absorbing steel for one hundred grams of krypton gold?

Even if one ton of sound-absorbing steel was traded for one gram of krypton gold, Luther would suffer a loss. Tony could completely bankrupt him, although krypton gold is something that can be bought as much as you want.

Tony then discussed various aspects of Mars, and the other members of the Illuminati were not idle either. They were busy in a daze.

Steve felt that he didn't understand at all, and didn't know why he was sitting here, just like Thor.

His identity was actually not suitable to be here.

At present, the earthlings have to rely on Mars, so Tony has no way out in all aspects. Lack of confidence is one aspect, and the Martians are not vegetarians. When Luther obviously didn't want to care, a Martian diplomat made Tony fail.

It is impossible to say that the Martians don't have the resources they need. Luther knows that only defects can beat perfection, so the Martians still have the resources they need, but Luther racked his brains to come up with precious resources that the Martians can't satisfy themselves, but need to seek from outside.

Emotional energy!

In simple terms, it is the Marvel version of the emotional spectrum, but Luther didn't plan to create the Seven Lantern Corps in Marvel. He just let the Martians pursue emotional energy, no matter what emotion it is.

This resource is urgently needed by the Martians, but they can't satisfy it themselves because their current population is too small.

Their personal terminals, that is, wrist computers, have devices to store emotional energy, similar to Monsters, and then they can convert this emotional energy into "superpower algorithms" to use various superpowers.

This is the technology from the Super Seminary, which was changed by Luther and successfully applied in the Marvel Universe.

Martians need credit points to pay for krypton gold... recharge to unlock the superpower algorithm.

For example, the simplest superpower algorithm "flying" requires 100 credit points a day.

The Venus Empire also has a similar operation, and Luther feels that this routine has great potential.

As for the Light Saber Corps... they are "Angels of the Emperor", which are different from ordinary Martians and Venusians. Their superpowers have a universal version, that is, after becoming "Angels of the Emperor", they can use some superpower algorithms for free and universally.

The personal terminal sold to the earthlings is a castrated version, but it is not ruled out that a superpower version will be launched in the future.

At that time, it is estimated that the earthlings will go crazy.

In the end, diplomatic relations were successfully established between the earth and Mars, and Tony and his team also got three diplomatic terminals.

This was something they had to fight for. Originally, the Martian diplomats only wanted to give them one.

After the incident, Tony and his friends played on Mars for a while. Tony wanted to try the Martian beauties with his own charm. After all, the Martian beauties were all genuine and better than his young models.

But they looked down on the Yodels, Hobbits and Guo Jingming people, which almost made Tony vomit blood.

Luther was amused by the joke. The size of Martians and Earthlings was not suitable, except for some men with unimaginable sizes, such as the Chakravartin and the Vodka Monk.

Tony, it's better to save your time.

Tony returned to Earth and brought back the results of the diplomacy between Mars and Earth.

The Security Council immediately found Tony and his friends, and Nick Fury was not left behind. They all wanted to know the current situation on Mars.

Nick Fury knew the environment and situation on Mars through Natasha, and then he became darker.

Mars now can be said to have surpassed Earth and left Earth far behind.

Whether it is the gap in technology or super soldiers, it is not comparable to that of Earthlings.

The Security Council learned some reserved facts from Tony and became more vigilant about Mars, but unfortunately this vigilance was meaningless.

If Mars really attacks, the Earthlings only need to wait for the Martians to plant a flag and declare colonization.

But for now, they still focus on the Saiyan invasion.

The time is almost approaching the time that Raditz said, even if they are related to Mars, they feel very uneasy.

Then Loki and Ultron, the duo of accomplices, hooked up again.

This time, both sides have reached the same goal, wanting to find the Saiyan Raditz, then control him, conquer the earth, and then they can rely on Raditz to fight other Saiyans.

Even if Raditz says that other Saiyans are stronger than him, they can't be much stronger, they can use Raditz as the main combat force to deal with Saiyans.

In any case, the success rate is much greater than relying on the Illuminati!

The villains are still very active, especially Loki has the all-pervasive Mind Scepter, and Ultron's invincible network technology. They soon found out that the Illuminati seems to have a space base.

The traces that Raditz left on the earth are finally where the war ended, and then it is said that Raditz was killed.

Chapter 402: What I give you, you are not allowed to refuse!

Considering the danger and importance of Saiyan, if he was really killed, it would be impossible for his body to leave no traces even if it was kept highly confidential.

Ultron did not find any information, not even paper documents. It speculated that either the information was on the internal network, or there was no information and it was simply recorded in the human brain!

After all, since the emergence of hackers, many important documents and information have been changed to paper documents, or simply built an internal network to store information. Some even very important information will be recorded in the human brain.

In other words, there are only a few insiders, so it is extremely difficult to obtain information.

However, Luo Ji and Ultron cooperated, so this aspect was not a problem. Ultron identified and searched several possible insiders. Luo Ji came to the door with Hydra people and used the psychic scepter to ask them what they knew. .

"Space base, Tony Stark, there's such a thing?"

Luo Ji found many targets, without the other party knowing about it, until she found the Security Council. Although the Illuminati is a private "club" organization, unlike the Avengers in the original plot, it is under the jurisdiction of SHIELD, even if Nick Fury occupied only a nominal jurisdiction.

But the Security Council has the right to know, so it can know the information about the Avengers.

The Illuminati had no connection at all, so no one was qualified to know what was going on, but Tony told Nick Fury about the situation, and Nick Fury told his trusted confidants, and then reported it to the Security Council.

There is no way, if there is only one Saiyan, then forget it, but the Saiyans will continue to invade in the future!

For such a big thing, even if Nick Fury gave him the courage, he would not dare to hide it, and it would also require the cooperation of all countries to face this disaster.

So if Nick Fury knows, it means that the Security Council also knows, and Alexander Pierce also knows, but he has been exposed by Carol who was driven back to Earth, and Rocky naturally doesn't know.

After a lot of effort and going around a lot, I finally found the answer.

Although the space base seems to be very strict, in fact it is not a problem at all for Ultron. The spaceship previously planned to be built can just come in handy. As long as Tony still builds a space base between the moon and the earth, then it is definitely not a problem. May not be found!

When Rocky and Ultron were causing trouble, Luther was also causing trouble.

It's just that his target is Steve!

If Captain America doesn't become stronger, how will he fight the civil war in the future? He still wants to see the civil war of the people on Earth.

Luo Ji controls all the leaders of Hydra, so there is no reason why the Baron would not reveal the original incident to Luo Ji.

After Steve came back from Mars, he felt more and more confused. He didn't know what he could do. The Martians were too powerful, and the enemies faced by the Illuminati and the earth were also too powerful. Every time Steve saw the Saiyans, The video of the battle with the Illuminati will make my scalp numb.

He couldn't even block a bullet, let alone a Saiyan who could blast cities and destroy mountains with just one energy attack. Even the most powerful atomic bomb in mankind couldn't compare to his energy attack. He was afraid that he wouldn't be dead in one go. Not to mention fighting the Saiyans.

Reality is not like movies and comics, and Steve can't really be 50/50. He is just a mortal, made of flesh and blood.

"Steve, do you crave power?"

Suddenly, a voice sounded.

Steve's pupils shrank, and he immediately turned around reflexively, and then found that a mysterious person had appeared in his home at some point, sitting on his sofa.

Black Caesar!

Steve was even more shocked, because the mysterious man who appeared was Black Caesar.

Both the Illuminati and S.H.I.E.L.D. are very aware of the terror of Black Caesar, although there is no S.H.I.E.L.D.

Steve was only a member of the Illuminati in name only, but he also saw the power of Black Caesar.

Why would such a person come to find me?

"Black Caesar, what do you want to do?"

Steve hates Hydra deeply. Whether it is Hydra led by Red Skull or Hydra led by Black Caesar, there is no difference in his eyes, especially Black Caesar's super-powerful terrorist attack. Refresh and changed the whole world.

He is definitely one of the most terrifying terrorists in the world after the 20th century.

Before? Of course it's a hair-wash!

Steve didn't think it was a good thing that Black Caesar, the current supreme leader of Hydra, came to him, so he looked at Black Caesar as if he were facing an enemy and said.

"Don't be nervous, I don't mean any harm, Steve, I just saw that you seemed to be hungry for power, so I came to give you power in person."

Black Caesar said with a smile.

"I don't crave power, you can leave."

Steve said firmly.

"Is that so? Even if the Saiyans invade, you don't want to get more power?"

Black Caesar continued.

"If I want power, I will go to Dr. Banner and Stark, and now that Mars and Earth have reached diplomatic relations, I can also go to the Martian Empire for help, but I will not accept the evil Hydra The power!"

Steve said calmly.

For Steve, it is impossible for him to accept the power from Hydra. He is Captain America. If even he takes the lead and surrenders to the enemy, then who else can stand up?

Is he worthy of those who sacrificed their lives fighting Hydra over the years?

And he has too many choices to choose from, and he can't afford to cooperate with Black Caesar for the sake of strength.

"Not bad, not bad. You are worthy of being the super soldier who defeated Hydra back then. However, your current strength cannot keep up with the times. Let me help you. Remember, you can't refuse what I give you. , and you can't get what I don't give you!"

As soon as Black Caesar said these words, Steve knew something was wrong, and he quickly turned around to get his shield.

However, to Steve's surprise, Black Caesar didn't stop him until he picked up the shield.

"Are you ready?"

Black Caesar asked.

Steve nodded subconsciously, and the next moment, he felt a pain in his chest!

Looking down, Black Caesar was approaching him without knowing when. His arm penetrated his shield and penetrated deeply into his chest.

Steve's eyes widened as he watched the shield in his hand shatter and fall to the ground.

You must know that for him, this shield is a symbol of his faith and spirit!

Chapter 403 Smurfs

Steve watched Black Caesar pull his hand out of his chest. Surprisingly, he didn't see the wound on his chest.

Immediately afterwards, Steve felt a terrible and terrible pain erupting from his heart!

"Hold on, Steve, let me see your will. If you fail to your inner desires, you will become a monster, and if you defeat yourself, then you will gain power."

Black Caesar told Steve that what he gave Steve was an enhanced version of the "original species" that was mixed with ultimate steroid preparations, weirdo cells, terminal viruses and a lot of messy things.

Unlike the weird cells created by Luther himself in the empire dimension, this thing is a product of science, the ultimate product of Genos and Big Boss. In theory, it can stimulate the maximum potential of an organism.

It is more than enough to break the limiter, but of course, it is impossible to make the limiter disappear completely.

Luther then took it to Steve.

He wanted to see how far Steve could go.

Steve was in agony, he had never experienced pain like this before.

And Steve also heard what Black Caesar said. If he loses, will he become a monster?

He thought of those Hydra monsters he saw in the video. Steve would never accept that he would become like that.

He wanted to inform Tony and the others, but his whole body was cramping in pain. Anyone who has experienced cramps knows that it is absolutely irresistible pain.

Even if the will can resist the pain, it cannot resist the cramps.

Plus, it was cramping all over his body, and it was outrageous that Steve could hold on.

He couldn't pass out from the pain. After all, he was a super soldier. If he were a normal person, he would have "cut off the power" for self-protection.

Otherwise, it is really possible to die in pain.

Steve could only grit his teeth and persist, he didn't want to become a monster!

Black Caesar watched as the cells all over Steve's body were eroded by the invading original species. The original species infected Steve's cells through viral invasion and spread, and then carried out extremely tyrannical transformations.

In this process, the most important test is not the so-called will and soul, but the ability to endure. The transformation is completed before the immune system and cells collapse and necrosis, which is why they become monsters.

Either it is because fragments among the huge genetic fragments of human beings are activated to recombine the chimeric gene chain, or there are too many necrotic cells and tissues, and they simply need to be regrown. As for what they will look like, it depends on luck.

But Steve is different after all. He is a super soldier and the product of a very idealistic super soldier serum.

The justice and kindness in his heart were magnified, coupled with his willpower, which affected the Super Soldier Serum in his body. The Super Soldier Serum did not disappear with the passage of time. After all, it was only a short time ago, and Steve still had After cryopreservation.

So the remaining super soldier serums were activated at this time to fight against the viral invasion and spread of the original species.

Steve didn't know how long he had been in pain. He didn't regain consciousness until all the pain seemed to disappear from his body.

Then Steve lay on the floor with his eyes wide open, feeling better than ever.

He quickly stood up and looked in the mirror, and he breathed a sigh of relief when he realized that he had not turned into a monster.

But Steve did not relax. He contacted Tony and Dr. Banner and told them what he had encountered.

Not long after, Tony descended from the sky wearing a steel suit.

"Stay inside the house and don't move. I will ask Jarvis to be isolated and I will conduct a full body examination on you."

Tony said to Steve seriously.

Steve did not refuse or object, and cooperated with the inspection.

"What did Black Caesar do to you?"

Tony asked Steve in surprise.

"What's wrong?"

Steve asked quickly, worried that something was wrong with his body.

Dr. Banner then rushed over, as well as Thor and Carol, all to prevent Steve from turning into a monster. After all, Steve had told them everything clearly about what happened to Steve. They were all surprised and on alert.

Something like this will happen to Steve, and the same thing will happen to them too!

Tony has already arranged for Jarvis to increase surveillance of all important people. In these extraordinary times, God knows what Black Caesar wants to do. Is he really so kind and wants to make Steve stronger? So what is he planning?

"Your genetic sequence is no longer human, but the strange thing is that it still maintains the human genetic sequence. If it weren't for my advanced technology, I wouldn't be able to detect it."

Tony clicked his tongue and continued.

"I'm not human anymore?"

Steve's pupils shrank, did he still become a monster?

"You should be able to transform now. Let's see if you transform into one."

Tony joked that he was just using these words to divert Steve's attention and ask him not to be too sad. No one wanted this kind of thing, but even if all of them were here last night, there was nothing they could do to stop Black Caesar. Do whatever you want.

"Transformation?"

Steve didn't refuse, he also wanted to figure out what was happening to his body now!

So he tried to transform, but as soon as this idea appeared in his heart, the next moment, his body quickly expanded, and then... turned into a huge blue "Hulk"!

"Farke!"

Tony swore.

There is a Green Hulk in the Illuminati, and now there is another Blue Hulk.

"Congratulations, Mr. Steve, you have become a big Smurf, so I'll just call you Smurf from now on."

Tony complained, and by the way, he established Steve's nickname "Smurf", just like Thor's nickname "Breaking Point", which is applicable to all of Mr. Stark's systems.

Anyway, whether Steve will still call Captain America or Blue Hulk, he is a Smurf to him!

Steve feels that he can accept the fact that he has become a "Hulk", after all, the Green Hulk is a good example.

And when the Green Hulk found that he had a new member of the same race, he immediately came out to interact with Steve. It's a pity that Steve did not have a personality called Hulk, he was still Steve.

As for what Blue Hulk is capable of, Steve doesn't know yet, and he still needs to explore, but he hopes that it will be like Hulk, the more angry he is, the stronger he is, and there is no limit!

Steve will still be closely monitored by the Illuminati for the time being. In the absence of uncertainty as to whether he is still likely to lose control, Steve will not be able to gain freedom for the time being.

Chapter 404 Steve becomes stronger

"Good morning, Smurf."

Tony said to Steve sitting in the room.

"Stark, I've said it many times, I'm not a Smurf."

Steve didn't know what the Smurfs were at first, but after he learned about them, he felt helpless.

It wouldn't matter if his real age was an old man in his eighties. The problem is that Steve's frozen consciousness has stopped. Naturally, there can be no growth, so Steve is puzzled why everyone treats him. When viewed as an old man, he is still young, okay?

There is also this nickname of Smurf. If Steve hadn't had a good temper, he would have punched Tony in the face.

"How about calling you blue-skinned?"

Tony teased.

"... Just call me Steve. I don't have the personality of Hulk."

Steve said calmly that he was originally supposed to be called Blue Hulk. After all, it was more suitable for the occasion, but he was not born with the personality of Hulk, so he was not Hulk. Steve felt that he was still called Steve.

As for the nickname Captain America, Steve thought it was better to forget it.

"Actually, I think you can print a star-spangled flag on your body. Then you might become a citizen of the motherland."

Tony said boringly.

"What's that?"

Steve was startled.

"One of Luther's nicknames he said before was Fatherland."

Tony said.

Steve was a little surprised, a native of the motherland?

The translation of the word "motherland" has different interpretations.

Among them, "homelander" is literally translated as "home guardian", "xia" and "人" are because the word "xia" has many meanings in Chinese, and "人" is to express "guardian" more accurately. " means.

In addition, "Guo Gong" is also one of the explanations.

Steve couldn't imagine Luther having a nickname like "Patriot."

"But the Star-Spangled Banner Man seems to be a good fit for you too."

Steve felt that the way Tony chattered was really nothing like his father.

Howard doesn't have such a bad mouth.

"The research results on you have come out."

Then Tony said.

"How about it?"

Steve has been undergoing full-body examinations by Tony and Banner during this period. Banner was the most excited because he didn't know why Steve turned into the Hulk without the personality of the Hulk.

And it seems that Steve can actually control his Hulk power and transform freely, without being affected by the transformation caused by losing control of his heartbeat.

Dr. Banner planned to use Steve to study his own problem. To this end, he spent all his time researching, which made Steve feel numb.

"The good news is that your body will not lose control, and your genes will not collapse and turn into a corpse or a monster."

Tony's words did not make Steve relax. After all, this was good news. What about bad news?

"Where's the bad news?"

Steve asked.

"The bad news is, you won't be able to find women anymore."

Tony shrugged.

Steve was speechless, could you be more serious?

But he still found out about his situation later.

He learned that his body density has actually increased. Even in an ordinary human state, he has ten times the body density of an earthling. This makes him not afraid of bullet attacks. Even if a machine gun bullet hits him, he will fall off at most. A piece of meat without dying.

Not to mention when he transforms into a Smurf, duh! What Smurf!

When Steve becomes the Blue Hulk, he becomes stronger.

Luther was also curious about Steve's transformation into the blue Hulk. There is no Blue Hulk in the Marvel movies, but there is a Blue Hulk from the Hulk family in the comics, but they don't call him that. Hulk is called the Atomic Bomb.

The Hulk family can be said to be very large.

For example, She-Hulk, Hulk Banner's sister, was in a car accident and thought she merged with Hulk's blood to become the Hulk. Later, she learned to control anger from Banner and slowly controlled the power of the Hulk, but it is worth mentioning that She-Hulk will not be brainless after becoming Hulk, but will still be very conscious!

Demonic Hulk: In earlier comics, Banner's father directly appeared as Demonic Hulk. Demonic Hulk is different from Hulk in that he is in a green posture in the setting, but he himself died after Brian died. Later, Brian used Banner's fear of him as power, and then possessed other creatures that were exposed to gamma radiation, a posture he assumed.

Female Hulk: In Marvel's original setting, Betty Ross was actually an ordinary person at the beginning. However, in the later stages of the comic plot, Betty Ross once suffered from an accident (gamma poisoning) crisis, which caused Betty to... Ross has the same ability to transform into the "Female Red Hulk" like his father, General Ross the Red Hulk.

Red Hulk and Abomination need no introduction.

The setting of Hulk's darkest descendant group, Hulk Gang;

This may be the most malicious storyline that Marvel has set against Hulk's descendants. In the comic "Twilight Wolf's Homecoming", it was set that in the wasteland era, the end of the hero caused the entire world to fall into the hands of evil. During this period, Hulk also gradually degenerated and became the evil Hulk who knew how to eat and reproduce.

At the same time, because of Hulk's "output ability", there were a large number of Hulk descendants during this period, and they even formed the "Hulk Gang" that can almost be regarded as a villain organization, causing trouble everywhere.

Steve's transformation into the Hulk has a very special ability, which even surprised Luther.

Because of this ability, Steve only needs to believe that his strength is indestructible and his body is indestructible, then he can do it!

Before the transformation, Steve did not have this ability, but after the transformation, he has this ability.

As if it was born with him, Steve did not need to explore it himself, he instinctively knew his ability.

Theoretically, there is no upper limit to Steve's strength. His strength is as strong as his confidence and will. But theory is theory after all. Everything in the world has its limits, and Steve is no exception.

It's just that Steve has not found his upper limit yet, or his upper limit is too high!

Luther feels a sense of déjà vu. Isn't this ability the ability of the Shi'ar Empire's copycat Superman - Doujian?

Doujian is also called Gladiator (I won't say more about this), formerly known as Karlak, the leader of the Royal Guard of the Marvel alien civilization Shi'ar Empire, usually enforcing the law for the empire.

Dujian's immense psionic-fueled strength depends on his self-confidence, is weakened by self-doubt, and is enhanced by cosmic rather than chemical processes.

He can mentally manipulate antigravitons, bend gravity to fly by will, and reach superluminal speeds while running or flying, powerful enough to create sonic booms that break bones or pulverize internal organs.

Chapter 405 Thor Returns Home

He is almost indestructible and can survive in space, hyperspace or vacuum without protection.

Dou Jian also has incredible resistance to physical damage and is almost immune to any physical damage.

He can withstand high-caliber bullets, extreme temperatures, powerful energy explosions, falls from heights and powerful force blows, etc.

He can also survive in vacuum environments such as outer space for a long time. He is also immune to all diseases, viruses, pollution and radiation (a special kind of radiation energy can weaken his strength and vitality.)

Dou Jian's superhuman durability level depends on his self-confidence. The more confident he is, the stronger he is. If he loses confidence, he will be weakened.

He can hear frequencies beyond normal humans, has X-ray vision, and can emit specific required energy to open star gates.

Luther experienced what it means to create a father, but fortunately, Luther also has this ability.

After all, he already has the origin of mind and power. It is not difficult for Luther to replicate such an ability, and he can even super-enhance it to make this ability stronger!

And this ability is just the way to use psychic energy.

The Illuminati was naturally very happy that Steve had gained such a powerful power, and made an exception to let Steve become a first-level member of the Illuminati.

Of course, there were also depressed people, such as Thor and Carol.

Before Steve was given power by Black Caesar, he was vulnerable in their eyes, and his indestructible shield was broken by Black Caesar with one punch.

Thor was not surprised about this, after all, his Meow Hammer was destroyed by Black Caesar with his bare hands, and he knew that Black Caesar was very terrifying.

But now, Steve has become stronger, and even stronger than them!

How strong is Shi Aimin's will and confidence?

Except for the matter of Bucky, no one can shake him!

Although it seems that Shi Aimin did something unkind in the matter of Bucky, if Shi Aimin really doesn't care about Bucky's life or death, is he still Shi Aimin?

Steve didn't say that he was a saint, and saints also have private interests.

However, Steve said that it was all done by Hydra brainwashing and controlling Bucky, and it was indeed a bit excessive to let Bucky bear this responsibility.

Bucky himself had no objection. Tony wanted to take his life, so he took it. If Steve hadn't led him to resist, Bucky wouldn't have wanted to resist.

Steve had fought with both Thor and Carol, and the result was that neither Thor nor Carol was a match.

His ability was too buggy, it was simply cheating and cheating.

"Black Caesar could never have thought that you would get such a powerful force because of him. When the time comes, we don't have to worry about the Saiyan invasion!"

Steve ended a month of strict monitoring and inspection, and Nick Fury said to Steve excitedly.

Everyone thought that Black Caesar had bad intentions, but he ended up shooting himself in the foot!

Steve had obtained such a powerful force that even Black Caesar might not be his opponent. After all, Carol could still have the upper hand against Steve at the beginning, but when Steve adapted to his own abilities and strength, Steve had the upper hand.

Now Steve is the most powerful person in the Illuminati.

With Nick Fury's personality, how could he not be excited? After all, he knew very well what kind of person Steve was.

"Yes, we can give Black Caesar a surprise and let him know what a stupid mistake he made!"

Tony agreed with Nick Fury's words. He couldn't wait to see Black Caesar's upset look.

As for whether Steve can beat Black Caesar, he can definitely do it. Black Caesar's strength is about the same as Steve's. Steve even said that he hasn't reached his limit yet!

Even if Black Caesar is hiding something, Steve is at most 50-50 with him.

With their group of people, are you afraid that they can't take down Black Caesar?

"Black Caesar is very powerful, so be careful."

Steve shook his head and said very cautiously.

Before seeing Black Caesar's true power, Steve didn't dare to say that his power was stronger than Black Caesar or could compete with Black Caesar.

"You are still too pessimistic, Captain."

Tony felt that Steve was too timid. If he had such power, Tony would have gone crazy.

Unfortunately, after studying for so long, Tony couldn't replicate the power that Black Caesar used on Steve. He didn't even find anything in his research, and he didn't know what Black Caesar used.

It can be said that Steve has nothing special except that his body density has increased. How can Tony analyze and check?

"Sorry, guys, I have to leave."

However, they cheered for Steve to become a powerful force of the Illuminati, but Thor said to them with a serious face the next day.

"Thor, are you leaving?"

Tony and others were very surprised. They almost forgot that Thor was from Asgard. After all, they were familiar with each other, and Thor didn't have any airs. Except for the occasional brainless remarks, everything else was fine.

No scheming, stupid.

Now they heard that Thor was leaving the earth, and they realized this and were reluctant to leave.

"I came to Midgard to find Loki, but Loki was not found, and the Cosmic Cube was not found. I have to go back."

Thor said helplessly that after playing on Earth for so long, he certainly couldn't bear to leave Earth, even if he didn't meet Jane Foster.

Unfortunately, Asgard had problems controlling the nine worlds because of the loss of the Rainbow Bridge. It is said that rebellions broke out everywhere. In the original plot, Thor later quelled the rebellion in the nine worlds and killed a huge stone man.

Now he has to go back. His father fell into Odin's sleep. His mother contacted him through Heimdall and asked Thor to go back to Asgard through a secret passage.

"Goodbye, I will remember you, remember that I am a member of the Illuminati on Earth, and I hope that the next time I come, I will not see your grandson."

This made Thor very helpless, so he had to say goodbye to everyone, and then left in a hurry, even Tony said that he would hold a 50% discount party for the farewell party.

Tony and the others sighed. If Thor left the Earth, it would be even more difficult for them at that time.

But before Thor left, he said that he would find a way to come back as soon as possible. After all, Thor didn't want to miss such a powerful opponent as the Saiyan.

"Fortunately, strictly speaking, our combat power has not decreased."

Tony said bad things about Thor behind his back.

But the crowd still didn't get excited by him.

Chapter 406 The Return of the Gotham King!

The 4th King Returns!

They want to find Black Caesar and see if Steve can give him a surprise now.

But Black Caesar is no longer on Earth.

Luther went to the DC world. Although he had just crossed over to the One Punch Man world not long ago, the only person worth Luther's attention there was Saitama. As for the gods, they seemed to be very high-end, but in fact, they were just that. With their current performance, even the Space Wolf was a thing that Luther could easily kill.

Even if the gods were really at the level of a single universe, they were just delicious food for Luther now.

So he would still go to the DC universe with greater potential.

DC universe!

The last time Luther came here was during the World War, and he helped Wonder Woman by the way, so that she would not be sad for so many years because of the death of an American like in the original plot.

But Luther obviously ignored the possibility that Wonder Woman would still go to sea, especially since she was not as lucky as in the original plot to encounter a passing tanker and help them arrive in London in one night.

Wonder Woman in this world drifted alone on the sea for more than a year before landing, and appeared directly in America.

Then Wonder Woman wandered around America and looked for a man named Luther.

The obsessive Wonder Woman may have missed Luther only for the stories Luther told her and the master who saved her at the beginning, but memories can beautify a person and things, especially for an immortal species like Wonder Woman.

So now she has become obsessed with Luther, like love but not love.

Luther didn't know this situation either. The Luther family he established in Gotham City has grown and developed. Before he left, he left behind an avatar of himself, which will age normally. Luther can know how long he has been away through him.

However, Luther, who just appeared, found that he didn't need to count, and a green fluorescent meteorite streaked across the sky.

"Just in time?"

Luther looked at it with surprise, or was it someone who was not called God, Yahweh, or the Lord who specially selected him to come back and sent him this fateful encounter?

The meteorite came from Krypton.

As Luther approached quickly, he could feel a special feeling coming from his body. It was the cellular-level reaction between the kryptonite on the meteorite and his body, but this reaction was minimal for Luther now, as long as Luther wanted.

Even without the biological force field to filter the radiation caused by the kryptonite, he could eat the kryptonite as a snack.

After all, he has surpassed the concept of Kryptonians.

"Clark Luther."

Luther grabbed the meteorite and did not let it fall and hit the ground, so that the noise would be much smaller.

Then Luther returned to his home in Gotham City with a lot of kryptonite and spaceships with satisfaction.

After all, the Luther family joined Gotham City at the beginning. Even the families of the Court of Owls could not compare with the foundation of the Luther family. Only the wolf pack leader of the Wayne family could be compared with the Luther family.

Luther arranged for Old Luther, his clone, to come forward and said that the Luther family had two newborns.

They are the elder brother "Luther" and the younger brother "Clark Luther".

This is a peculiar tradition of the Luther family. The eldest son is named Luther, and the same is true for old Luther.

Old Luther is already Luther V. For this peculiar family tradition of the Luther family, no one thinks it is so outrageous. There are more bizarre family traditions, but this one of the Luther family can only be said to be average.

In superhero stories, especially when it comes to origins, the timeline is particularly important.

For the DCEU, setting the timeline of heroes for Superman and Batman is an important puzzle.

Director Zack Snyder has confirmed the correct timeline.

When fans asked him, he told the story of the two heroes in "Man of Steel" and "Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice".

Clark saved the school bus when he was 13 years old.

In the interrogation scene of "Batman v Superman", he then revealed that his age was 33 years old.

There was an 18-month gap between the events of "Man of Steel" and "Batman v Superman".

And the 44-year-old Bruce said that he has been fighting crime in Gotham City for 20 years.

This confirms that there is an age difference of about 11 years between Batman and Superman.

If Bruce has been Batman for 20 years, that means that when Clark Kent was 14, Bruce Wayne was already Batman - and after the young Clark Kent used his powers to save the school bus, Gotham City had their Dark Knight.

One fan even noted that Bruce's parents were murdered when Clark first came to Earth. Snyder himself commented on the post and confirmed their theory.

"Yes you guys are right," he wrote.

While the connection between the two movies makes for an interesting puzzle for fans, the age of the characters and their individual timelines may also have a practical purpose as an example of Snyder's attention to detail in creating his DCEU world.

With the upcoming Flashpoint movie, Ezra Miller will tear up the DC Universe and make a jump to the main timeline and origins of the heroes.

For those who are not familiar with the Flashpoint comics, Barry Allen (Miller) completely disrupted the main timeline by running to save his mother.

His actions had an unexpected ripple effect, completely changing the timeline.

This resulted in the fact that in the comics, Batman was no longer Bruce Wayne, but Thomas. In Flashpoint, young Bruce was murdered, not his parents.

This detail shows that Snyder's layout was huge, but the separation of Warner and Legendary completely destroyed this universe.

So the age of the little bat is about ten years older than the big super.

Even if there is a deviation, it will not exceed five years, which means that the little bat is about to lose his parents!

Luther did not know whether his Luther family would have any impact, causing the little bat's parents to not disappear, but he decided to follow his fate... After all, Gotham City without Batman is too boring.

Without Batman, where would so many freaks be attracted?

Luther modified Gotham City with a single thought.

The birth of Batman was determined by the will of the universe, and Luther dared not disobey it!

"Luther!"

Young Bruce Wayne came to the door.

Before Luther's modification, Bruce Wayne had no impression of him.

Chapter 407 Monster Batman is out of the cage

After Luther modified it, the eldest son of the Luther family, Luther VI, became very familiar with Bruce. In terms of age, of course Luther VI had to make himself younger, but Clark just took it easy. He is still a young man now. The children who left the spacecraft are still adapting to the earth's environment.

Having high fever every day and being weak and sick is because the Kryptonian's immune system is adapting to the earth's environment and fighting against the earth's environment.

However, Luther put him on the balcony to bask in the sun, which made Clark adapt to the earth's environment faster and became healthier.

After all, we are from Krypton, so there is nothing wrong with getting some sunshine.

"What is it, Bruce?"

Luther looked at the little boy Bruce. He had a dark history. The current grandpa was not as good as he was later. The grandpa who had just debuted would say a lot of words to heighten the atmosphere before the big dance.

What "I am the darkness of Gotham City, I am the shadow, the fear of Gotham City, I am Batman..."

These dark histories were seen by Cyborg and The Flash, and neither of them dared to say anything for fear of being silenced.

Not to mention now, she is just a pink young lady.

He came to play with Luther just because he had a good relationship with Luther. Are you talking about keeping silent? That guy is a pervert. Even the little bats sense that silence seems abnormal, so they are reluctant to play with him.

"Silent"'s real name is Thomas Elliot, nicknamed Tommy. He and "Batman" Bruce Wayne are children. The two grew up together and have similar identities, backgrounds and experiences. Tommy was born into a wealthy family. The Elliot family is the wealthiest and most privileged family in Gotham City.

Tommy is the same age as Bruce Wayne and is Bruce Wayne's only friend in school.

Bruce Wayne's father, Thomas Wayne, was also very happy that his son finally had a friend.

It's naturally different now.

"I'm here to see Clark!"

Bruce said.

Bruce was very concerned when he learned that Luther had a younger brother. The relationship between the two families was very good under the care of "Old Luther", and Bruce often came over to play.

The Luther family also has a butler who is similar to Alfred Pennyworth "Afu" in Iron Fist, named "Sebastian".

The housekeepers of the two families also have a good relationship. After all, they are similar in age and have many common topics.

Then Bruce saw Clark.

"He's so little."

Bruce looked at Clark basking in the sun, and suddenly felt as if something had touched his heart.

Luther looked on.

"Luther, why is Clark sunbathing? It will hurt his skin!"

Then Bruce said very nervously.

"The doctor said Clark is very weak and needs to be exposed to the sun to replenish calcium so that he can become stronger."

Luther answered.

"So that's it."

Bruce had little experience and knowledge, so he was easily fooled by Luther.

Bruce envied Luther for having a younger brother. Although he regarded Luther as his own younger brother, after all, Luther was much younger than him, but Luther acted too mature, which made Bruce not feel like an older brother. Sometimes when he gets into trouble, Luther solves it.

It's different now. Clark is so young, he must be able to set an example of being a big brother.

Luther looked at Bruce's inner thoughts.

The little bat now is really boring, his mind is full of these things.

Luther shook his head.

Bruce stayed at the Luther family's manor for a long time. Old Luther also invited Bruce to stay for dinner. Bruce naturally would not refuse, since he had been here for so many years anyway.

I'm afraid the Waynes are all grateful to Old Luther for creating opportunities for the couple to give Bruce a younger brother and sister. Ever since he found out about Clark, this kid has been pestering them for a younger brother and sister. He has been pestering them all day long. Where did he come from? Time for his younger siblings?

In this way, the days passed, until one night, as fate would have it, the Waynes took Bruce to a movie.

Bruce originally wanted to invite Luther to go with him, but Luther refused because he had to take care of Clark.

Bruce had to give up the idea.

Then the family of three was robbed by a gangster in an alley. The gangster was robbed in name, but actually came to kill the Waynes.

The Wolf King of Gotham City no longer wants to continue the underworld business and wants to clear his name, so naturally the pack of wolves under him will not obey. The Wolf King is old and it is time for a new wolf to take over!

Otherwise, how could a mere gangster take the life of an established underworld boss?

Gotham is chaos, but chaos is the order here!

For this reason, this matter was also concealed from the Luther family. After all, with the relationship between the Luther family and the Wayne family, their purpose was impossible to achieve.

In addition, the Luther family is not involved in the underworld or gang-related business, so they can hide it from them.

The Luther family mainly operates in energy, light industry and military industry.

Their Luther Group has one of the top 50 companies in the world. Like Wei Bancheng, the Luther family can also be called "Luban City". Half of Gotham City is owned by the Luther family, and they belong to the upper class. All kinds of luxury goods, including the pistols and bullets handed down to the citizens of Gotham, are all produced by the Luther family.

They just mainly operate in three major areas, which does not mean that they are not involved in other industries. In fact, the Luther family also has a product that sells out of stock and sells as much as it produces.

"Weight loss pill"!

As the superstar product of the Luther family, this weight-loss drug truly measures how much fat and calories each tablet can burn. It does not require hard exercise or dieting. You only need to enjoy delicious food and take one tablet to maintain your figure.

This is undoubtedly good news for those in the upper class who are not nouveau riche. They pay so much attention to physical maintenance and health that they cannot experience many enjoyments. Now they no longer need to worry about this problem.

Closer to home, Bruce witnesses his parents being killed, and he breaks down.

He felt that the darkness around him was full of terror, and those flying bats had become Bruce's biggest fear in his life!

Luther kicked away a gangster who was picking up small pearls. He watched Bruce die in darkness and fear, and then walked out of the alley again, a monster named "Batman".

The murder of the Waynes quickly alarmed the Gotham Police Department and big shots.

Old Luther came to the scene in person. After Bruce saw Old Luther, his heart was shaken. The next moment, his shadow turned into a big bat.

"Uncle Luther!"

Bruce threw himself into old Luther's arms and cried.

Chapter 408 Uninvited Guests

"Hey, nephew Bruce!"

Old Luther said, stroking Bruce's hair.

"Uncle Luther, my parents..."

Bruce howled.

"They are all dead. They are completely dead. They can no longer be saved. My eldest nephew, my condolences!"

Old Luther sighed and said.

Bruce was so shocked by his words that he couldn't even cry out with his mouth open.

Although he didn't know that Old Luther might want him to recognize this fact, but was this a bit too direct?

Can't you be more tactful and tactful?

It has to be so direct, right?

"Uuuuuuuuu, Uncle Luther, what should I do, I don't know..."

Bruce brewed for a while, regained his emotions, and continued to cry.

Alfred came over after hearing the news and knelt on the ground.

"Sir, madam!"

He cried more sincerely than Bruce, and almost cried.

The problem in this matter is naturally very serious. After all, the Wayne family is a famous family in Gotham City. According to the Chinese language, they are a famous family, at the level of landlords and squires. If something happens to such a big shot, the murderer will soon be found. Got it.

It was just a little gangster, which made Bruce feel impossible. How could a little gangster kill his parents?

But it turned out that this was just an accident. No one expected that the head of the famous Wayne family would go out in a place like Gotham City without bodyguards.

So this tragedy and accident happened.

After Bruce realized this fact, he vowed to change Gotham!

When the little bat was transforming, the Luther family was visited by an uninvited guest.

Luther VI was surprised to see each other.

"Diana?"

Luther didn't expect Wonder Woman Diana to come to her door. Shouldn't she be working in London at this time?

...Oh, I have changed her plot, and it probably doesn't have the same development as the original plot.

"Luther..."

Diana searched for a long time, until she heard that there was a Luther family here in Gotham City, and with the idea of giving it a try, Diana came here. Then she discovered that Old Luther was not the way she was looking for. Germany, when she was about to leave, she saw little Luther.

No need for Luther to say anything, Diana was sure that he was Luther.

Luther didn't expect Diana to recognize him, so he simply stopped hiding it.

"Long time no see, Diana."

Luther said with a smile.

"It's really you, Luther!"

Diana stepped forward excitedly and looked at Luther, who was not even taller than her legs. She had no idea what had happened to him to become like this.

"How did you become like this?"

Diana couldn't help but hugged Luther. After finding out that he didn't refuse, she was very happy and then asked.

"Because I am immortal and if I want to move around in the human world, I have to learn to disguise myself so as not to attract attention and the greed of mortals."

Luther was talking serious nonsense.

"So, you can still change back, right?"

Diana only understood this important point.

Luther nodded.

"sure."

After hearing what Luther said, Diana was still waiting for Luther to change back, but Luther seemed to have no intention of doing so, so she had to give up the idea.

"I've been looking for you for a long time. I've been drifting on the sea for a long, long time..."

Diana said to Luther.

Luther had a strange expression after hearing this. No wonder Diana appeared here. She had been drifting on the sea for so long, but with her strength, she shouldn't have been trapped on the sea for so long, unless she was really lucky. Not so good, never close to the coast?

Moreover, she went to sea after she left?

Luther didn't know. If he had known, he would have realized that Diana treated him differently.

You must know that she also specifically told herself how much effort she had spent to find herself.

In Luther's view, this is a little girl who doesn't know how to express love and can only say it through these things, and she doesn't even realize it.

It's really easy to deceive an inexperienced girl... But it also has something to do with Luther's charm. Otherwise, she would have been deceived by other men in the process of looking for Luther for so many years. It's because she has seen the best, plus There were so many comparison objects in the Internet that made Diana's impression of Luther deeper and deeper, and the same was true for her obsession.

"What are your plans next? Do you want to go home? I know the location of Paradise Island and can send you back directly."

Luther said.

Diana was talking happily at first, but now she was suddenly speechless.

She remembered that Luther had indeed appeared on Paradise Island out of thin air, which meant that Luther could send her back at any time if he wanted.

After leaving Paradise Island for so many years, it would be impossible for Diana to miss home, but she finally found Luther, and she didn't want to go back so soon.

"Can I stay?"

Diana said to Luther.

She has a very proactive personality. After all, she is a princess who grew up in the Amazon. In a certain world line, Diana even had a harem, and both Batman and Superman were members of her harem.

It's just that she hasn't realized that her feelings for Luther are not friends, otherwise she would launch an offensive.

"Of course, we are friends. If you want to stay, you can stay."

Luther didn't care much.

Diana couldn't help but touch little Luther's hair.

"Don't worry, I won't affect the things you want to keep secret."

Little Luther was so cute that Diana had a special idea.

"How about you give me an identity, like your cousin or something like that."

Diana couldn't let go and said.

"That won't work."

Luther broke free from Diana's arms. What did this bad woman want to do? She wanted him to commit a crime, right?

But the real Diana is much richer than the actor, with a broad mind and a broad mind.

Her skin is also flawless, and Luther can't see any flaws. However, after Luther's dimensionality upgrade, he doesn't care much about this aspect.

After all, in his eyes now, even the gods like Diana are the same, there is no difference, everything is the same.

It's like reading a comic, everything is clear at a glance.

"Sorry, you look so cute like this."

Diana said.

She missed the tall, handsome and charming Luther, but this cute little boy was also good, which made Diana feel eager to try.

Then Luther arranged for Diana to be the daughter of Luther's friend, and an orphan.

Chapter 409: All your wishes come true

Diana complained about why she assigned herself such an identity.

"Both your parents are dead, so no one will care about your origins. Anyway, you are living in Luther's house. This is Tuogu."

Luther said.

As for whether Wonder Woman will debut first in the future, it is not a big problem. At this point in time, there is a Green Lantern fighting a super villain, passing over the heads of Silence and Batman.

It's normal for Gotham City to debut a Wonder Woman first.

Then Diana saw Clark.

"So cute, is he?"

Diana's maternal heart overflowed and she couldn't help but hug Clark and asked.

"My brother, he is also a god."

Luther didn't hide it.

"Your biological brother?"

Diana said in surprise. She thought Clark was Luther's younger brother in disguise. It is said that the Luther family served Luther to hide his identity. The entire family helped disguise. No wonder Luther was able to hide in the human world for so long. .

Diana also thought about whether she should create a Diana family.

"certainly!"

Luther nodded. Clark would definitely be transformed into the Lutheran Clan in the future. Wouldn't he be his "brother" by then?

It's just that Luther was hesitant about DC's biological son like Dachao. He didn't know how much the Supreme God paid attention to and cared about him.

But you shouldn't be too concerned about it?

Otherwise, he should be blessed to become an angel, just like Lucifer, who tore his angel wings many times and spurned the power of angels, but the Supreme God will still help him grow angel wings after he tore his wings. .

This is how much you love Lucifer. Once the angelic power is proved forever, he will always be Lucifer Morning Star under one person.

But if the Supreme God is not interested in him, the Luther clan is on the other hand. This is an entire clan of gods without any origin. In other words, the origin is Luther.

This gave Luther the possibility of becoming the Supreme Being, if only his Lutheran race could develop.

Then the Luther Protoss was recognized in the Marvel Universe, and a lot of things were added. Now Luther doesn't even know what the concept of the Luther Protoss has become. Anyway, it should be very strong. He transformed it into Qilin of the Luther Protoss. Their starting strength is at the Heavenly Father level. Although not as good as Odin, they are still very strong Heavenly Fathers.

If Da Chao, DC's biological son, is transformed into the Lutheran Clan, his strength will probably start in a single universe. Luther will also be able to gain great benefits, as well as Batman.

As DC's biological father, Batman may have greater benefits, but it's a pity that Luther has no idea of converting Batman.

It's too dangerous.

Luther was very envious and jealous, and he also wanted to be the most beloved cub of the Supreme God.

Who knows, just when Luther's idea came up, a flawless white light fell from the sky.

"Walter!"

Luther's eyes widened, and the pure white feathers slowly fell down. A bright and dazzling light illuminated the sky. In the center of the light, there was a pure white world with a different dimension from the earth.

A group of fluttering humanoid creatures appeared, looming.

Ye Gong's dragon-loving Luther immediately wanted to run away to the Marvel Universe, but the magnificent holy light fell directly on him. It was obviously only the speed of light, but faster than the super-light speed of Luther.

He really wanted to escape, but he couldn't!

"No, I'm just saying it!"

Luther didn't want to be an angel at all, and he didn't even say it.

Is this a different kind of wish-fulfillment?

But the holy light instantly filled Luther's body, and a pair of dazzling light wings appeared behind Luther.

Dazzling, dazzling and gorgeous!

Luther screamed, fearing that he would be bound to the DC Universe in the future.

Fortunately, it seemed that he was aware of Luther's resistance, and the Holy Light finally converged into Luther's body.

"What's the meaning?"

Luther noticed that Diana was sluggish and guessed that it was the one who stopped the movement of the universe.

Then he discovered that his current situation was very special.

In terms of race, although Luther has become a dimension demon, strictly speaking, he is not actually a dimension demon. It is just his part-time job or sub-professional. The main race is Kryptonian + Doomsday + Saiyan + Restriction The weapon disappears=Luther Protoss.

This operation of the coming of the Holy Light turned Luther into half of the noble angel...

He has the power of an angel and the authority of an angel, but he is also a Lutheran.

Strictly speaking, it would be more appropriate to use an angel hybrid.

Became a string.

But Luther doesn't care much. He has turned himself into a string through research. As long as he can get power, Luther doesn't care about anything. What's more, this kind of thing is not innate, how can it be Is it considered a string of strings?

A little more high-end, a little more cultured, this is called genetic modification!

Luther now has a special state called "angel form", which is the form of the huge pair of light wings just now. Entering this form, all of Luther's abilities have the power of high-latitude interference.

It looks awesome, but it's actually awesome. I just don't know if it's awesome in the DC universe or if it can be so awesome in all universes.

"Half Lutheran and half angel, I just don't know what would happen if I went to other more advanced worlds..."

There is a Supreme God and a Supreme Being who cannot be said to be who in the Marvel Universe, which made Luther realize how insignificant he is. This is also the reason why when he grew up, he did not like to travel to new worlds. He was worried about going to a world where the Supreme Beings gather together. , and then got stuck there.

The world starts moving again.

Diana was even more excited when she learned that Clark was Luther's biological brother. She had always wanted a younger brother and sister. Now looking at little Luther and Clark in front of her, she felt that both wishes were fulfilled at once.

It's a pity that she is no longer a child, otherwise it would be more suitable.

After Bruce's parents died, he rarely came to Luther's house to play. Most of the time, he was alone tinkering with things.

Alfred saw something was wrong and personally visited the house and asked Little Luther, Bruce's friend, to help enlighten Bruce.

But he just thought that his young master might have psychological problems because he was too sad, and he never thought that it was no longer Bruce.

Luther agreed to him. Anyway, he hadn't seen his eldest nephew for a few days, so he still missed him.

"Luther."

Bruce, who saw Luther coming, understood something and glanced at Alfred preparing black tea and snacks.

"Bruce, what are you doing? Ah Fu came to me to enlighten you. If it weren't for Ah Fu's black tea, I wouldn't have come."

Chapter 410 Clark Grows Up

"Luther, what do you think of Gotham City?"

Bruce said to Luther.

"Very good, this city is half yours and half mine, and the future belongs to us."

Luther said confidently.

Bruce frowned.

"That's not what I'm talking about."

Bruce shook his head.

"I think Gotham City needs to change!"

Bruce said to Luther very seriously.

"Relax, Bruce, Gotham City's future belongs to us, so you can change it as you want when the time comes. There's no need to be so sad as you are now. The reason you think so much is because you are too idle."

Luther said.

"I suggest you learn high school knowledge by yourself like me. The more you know, the more you feel that such worries and thoughts are groundless and meaningless."

Luther said.

The reason you have wild thoughts is purely because you know too little. If you know more, you won't have the opportunity to have wild thoughts.

Bruce didn't agree with Luther. Learning is necessary, but he also has to think about how to change Gotham.

Just like that, Bruce thought Luther was still too young to realize this aspect.

He could only rely on himself!

"Although I know that it's useless for me to say anything, the little bat is indeed a paranoid and has fallen into his own paranoia."

Luther looked at Bruce thoughtfully.

Bruce now doesn't listen to anyone, which is why Alfred asked Luther to come over.

"Master Luther, Master Bruce, this is your afternoon tea."

Alfred pushed the exquisite snacks and black tea over.

"Thank you, Afu, your black tea is much better than Sebastian's."

Luther said.

"Master Luther, my name is not Afu."

Alfred once again corrected Luther's address, although the abbreviation Afu is not bad.

"Also, Sebastian is not good at making black tea, but his Tianchao tea is a must, but we are not used to it."

Alfred said modestly.

People in Great Britain and America drink tea with a lot of milk and sugar, or honey. They can't accept the bitter taste of leaves soaked in water.

Only the Chinese like to drink the feeling of bitterness and sweetness.

Alfred can really taste the quality of tea, but he can't accept drinking tea simply.

Luther doesn't care. Drinking tea is just his habit and hobby. Luther used to have no interest in cigarettes and alcohol. He was even a monster who didn't even drink Coke. The only drink he liked was tea, but he drank cheap ones at that time. Now he has money.

The mother tree of Dahongpao, a few million a little bit, or those tea leaves that are priceless, Luther can drink them now.

It feels like that, it may be good for ordinary people, but unfortunately, he is no longer an ordinary person now.

Bruce didn't care about the chat between the two. Afternoon tea is just a desire for him. It's over after eating.

Then Luther said that he was powerless to Bruce's situation.

"Bruce is probably still immersed in sadness. I suggest you take him to amusement parks to relieve his mood, such as circuses with clowns, amusement parks with clowns, theme parks with clowns, etc."

Luther gave advice very seriously. After all, they are lifelong enemies. How can you not know your enemy in advance?

The clown is a master of spiritual victory. He doesn't care about his own embarrassment and unbearableness. He just needs to be satisfied spiritually. This is also the main core idea of the clown business.

Pleasing others with his own ugliness, but the clown is upside down and pleases himself with the ugliness of others.

Luther feels that it is necessary to let Bruce contact clowns and understand clowns since he was a child, so that he can deal with clowns.

"Why are they all clowns?"

Alfred asked curiously.

"Because clowns are the saddest people, they please others with their own sadness."

Luther said.

Alfred thought about it and felt that Master Luther seemed to have become deeper. Was it an illusion?

In the following days, Luther entered a very harmonious state. He occasionally teased Clark, who was still a baby, and was often ravaged by Diana.

Of course, Diana didn't dare to abuse Luther in private, but this woman would find an opportunity.

In addition, Luther could not disobey Diana, who had the power of a mountain. He was always held in her arms and abused in front of outsiders, and was unable to speak under the pressure of the heavy mountain.

It was too much!

In Luther's eyes, the concept of time was no longer important, so he stayed for several years. Anyway, he had stayed for several years in the Marvel Universe and the Super Seminary.

During this time, Clark gradually grew up, but he was no longer the Clark Kent in the original plot.

Clark was very attached to his brother Luther. For the sake of the future, Luther did not let Clark become a rich second-generation waste who was eating and waiting to die, but gave him an elite education.

Although Clark has become stronger than the original plot because of the sun exposure since childhood, his superpowers are still awakening, and his immune system has not yet fully adapted to the drastic environmental changes, because he was born naturally. If it was genetically adjusted, Clark would have adapted now.

Just like General Zod and others quickly adapted to the environment of the earth and controlled the awakened superpowers.

In terms of learning, Clark has not awakened his super brain, so he cannot be smarter than his peers.

Luther did not want to train Clark to be a useless scholar like Sun Wuhan. The field of research was useless at all. In addition to learning normal knowledge, Luther also asked Clark to major in materials science and energy science, as two modern sciences. A big cornerstone, you're right to learn this.

He was looking forward to what a technological version of Super would look like. Maybe he could crack the dangers of kryptonite himself?

But one day Clark discovered that he was very powerful.

This frightened him so much that he quickly found his father and brother.

The mother didn't know who it was, but Old Luther said that their mother had passed away, and he took them to visit a grave in a decent manner.

So when little Clark encounters problems, he can only go to his father and brother.

"Brother, I seem to be sick!"

Clark was scared and said to Luther nervously.

"What's wrong?"

Diana came out interested and asked. She saw Clark holding up a car with one hand, and she also saw Clark running to Luther in a panic.

"Sister Diana..."

When Clark saw Diana, he immediately shut up. He didn't want an outsider like Diana to know about such a thing.
