Chapter 421 The Sixth Complex

Luther asked Clark to meet Homelander.

Because they were to be teammates in the future, Homelander's smile never stopped.

"Nice to meet you, little Superman."

Homelander extended his hand.

"Hello, Homelander."

Clark said with a sunny and cheerful smile, and also extended his hand to hold Homelander's hand.

For some reason, Homelander felt that his smile was set off very fake.

He hated Clark's smile for no reason.

Luther was not surprised to see the inner thoughts of the two.

Homelander and Clark were in a mirror relationship, the difference was that Homelander was only humiliating himself even if he looked in the mirror.

Even after being trained by Luther, Clark still maintained his kind nature, at most he would follow Batman and maim people instead of killing them.

Even though Luther taught him to solve the threat so that the super criminal would not have the ability to hurt others, Clark listened, but he was unwilling to kill, so he turned to maiming the other party so that he would no longer have the ability to commit crimes!

To be honest, Luther felt that this was much more cruel than himself.

For a moment, he couldn't tell whether it was kindness or evil.

Especially the appearance of these cripples will waste a lot of resources, which is equivalent to continuous consumption on garbage.

However, Clark is happy, Luther can't tear it apart.

That's so boring.

"From today, Homelander, Little Superman, you two will go on missions together to increase the topic. We will follow you in all aspects to shoot live broadcasts. Remember not to hurt innocent passers-by in front of the camera, don't say swear words, and keep smiling."

The shooting team is professional. They know how troublesome the messy things like human rights organizations in America are, so superhero videos will try to avoid this kind of situation.

However, now America is full of demons and monsters, and there are all kinds of monsters. The importance of superheroes is increasing day by day, so there is no need to worry about public opinion issues in certain aspects.

They don't know that Luther brought the concept of monsters from the One Punch Man world.

In addition to monster cells, the One Punch Man world will also have its own monsters. Luther copied and materialized this concept and finally applied it to the land of America.

Through negative emotions, which are very important and actually exist in DC, monsters are hatched, and now they are in full bloom.

Anyway, there is no shortage of negative energy in the land of America. It was only because Luther suppressed it that there was no big scene of a hundred dragons at the beginning.

If a hundred dragon-level monsters were born at the beginning, it would be a scene of heaven and earth collapsing.

But now superheroes can't roar, so they should be slow. If this kind of thing is not vented, it will only accumulate more and more. Maybe a hundred god-level monsters will be born in the future.

Don't worry, hold back for a big wave first!

A rhino monster is rampaging, it is the target of Homelander and Clark today.

The American police are powerless. Even if they dispatched a helicopter to use the onboard machine gun to shoot, the rhino monster was not afraid of the bullets of the machine gun, and even let them reimburse a helicopter to settle the account.

So they can only ask for help from Superman Company.

Superman Company and America are currently in a cooperative relationship and do not belong to the official department. After all, whether it is the military-industrial complex or something else, it has already formed a collective, and it is not so easy to squeeze in.

Even if the Luther family itself has power in the military-industrial complex, it will not work.

The so-called military-industrial complex refers to a huge interest group composed of military departments, military-industrial enterprises, some members of Congress and defense research institutions.

Since the military-industrial complex not only involves the military, but also involves defense enterprises, and even involves Congress, its influence is extremely far-reaching.

The military-industrial complex has also made it difficult for America's defense economy to operate without private enterprises.

America's practice has proved that in recent years, among the large contractors of the American Department of Defense, the top three are Lockheed Martin, Boeing and Northrop Grumman.

Among them, Lockheed Martin mainly produces military aircraft and missiles, and is a so-called "pure" defense contracting company. Northrop Grumman is also a "pure" defense contracting company in America, focusing on the production of various types of missiles.

Boeing is actually a "semi-defense contractor" that mainly produces civilian aircraft, but also accepts orders from the American Department of Defense.

According to statistics, in 2007 alone, the above three defense contractors received contracts of US$27.8 billion, US$22.5 billion and US$14.6 billion from the American Department of Defense respectively.

In addition, General Dynamics, Raytheon and BAE Systems of the United Kingdom have also become major recipients of US defense contracts.

As a complex and huge institution, the military-industrial complex actually manipulates the defense policies of America and European countries because it has close ties with the US and European military and Congress.

The Luther family is not only powerful in the military-industrial complex, but also in the other five major groups.

These five major groups are not state groups or federal groups. They are divided into five major groups, which can be called the five mountains pressing on the heads of the American people.

The first mountain is the military-industrial complex.

The second mountain is the medical complex.

The third mountain is the legal complex with lawyers as the core.

The fourth mountain is the Wall Street financial complex.

The fifth mountain, the education-media complex.

Because Luther came earlier, his idle layout allowed the Luther family to have interests in the five major groups and have a certain say.

But this is not enough for Superman Company to enter the military-industrial complex and become a part of the military-industrial complex.

But it doesn't matter. The ambition shown by the Luther family now is to become the sixth largest group!

Not a superhero group, but a "superhuman complex"!

In simple terms, all superhumans unite to become a new interest group complex.

And this superhuman complex may be much more terrifying than the military-industrial complex, because the strength of superhumans highlights a mutation and uncontrollability.

Once successful, the Luther family can become the man who controls America behind the scenes and replace the military-industrial complex.

The five major groups will definitely not agree to this kind of thing, but they refused openly, but secretly came to the door to express their support.

They are used to betting on both sides, trying their best to prevent the birth of new interest groups, while wanting to have a place in new interest groups.

They felt that this was a test, and if they failed, then this failed interest group would naturally be divided up and eaten by them.

Chapter 422 Abstract Teen Titans

Rhino monsters are on a rampage destroying the city.

"We see a monster destroying our city, the police are powerless and the National Guard is entering the battlefield!"

"We at the New York Times will continue to follow up on the report!"

"This is Fox News..."

"This is CNN..."

News media helicopters were flying in the sky.

There are also helicopters from Superman Company.

The National Guardsmen were defeated quickly, and neither of them struggled for long.

This makes other people difficult and angry.

"Do we have no other choice but to rely on those freaks?"

Today's rhinoceros monster has directly broken the previous tacit understanding. In other words, Superman Company is no longer satisfied with private cooperation. What they want is name.

This title will become the stepping stone for their rise. Although it is insignificant, although it is vulnerable, and although it is dismissive, the Luther family does not mind abiding by the rules.

After all, this is the last poor fig leaf for the big shots.

It's not like they haven't thought about taking Superman Company as their own. The military-industrial complex even asked several "mental patients" who had post-war syndrome and psychological trauma after retiring to kill Old Luther, as if they had a bright mind back then. The same as Melaleuca.

As a result, their people were killed by the freaks from Superman Company before they even got close.

The military-industrial complex realized that a behemoth, a prehistoric behemoth, far beyond their combined strength, had emerged.

For this reason, the most excited people are the people in the military-industrial complex. Other complexes just follow them to drink soup and eat leftovers. Only they can control America and decide the direction of America.

However, once this gap is torn apart by Superman Company, the most powerful person behind the scenes who dominates and controls America will have to be replaced.

It was fine at first, and they had always believed that super criminals could not exceed the power of a country, but now the rhino monster who slapped them in the face appeared.

With a huge body of three meters high and a thick skin that is invulnerable, even the tank's main gun did not even break the skin of the opponent. If the defense can be broken, there is still hope of killing him.

As a result, even the tank's main gun failed. The tactical analysis team judged that if they wanted to kill this monster, they would probably have to drop a heavy bomb!

The problem is that the destructive power of the bomb is too great. Otherwise, the only option is to use missiles, but the missiles are only slightly better than the bomb.

More importantly, to kill such a monster and use heavy weapons in the city, they would have to find someone to take the blame.

Everyone here, it is naturally impossible for the gentlemen in the hall to stand up and take the blame.

"Can you take care of this monster?"

Others asked directly.

"If not, allowing such a monster to wreak havoc will cause great damage to America's trustworthiness and will have a very bad impact. We have no choice!"

In the end, they could only agree to the dispatch of Superman Company.

In order to prevent them from turning against each other, the whole operation was broadcast live this time, and it was also broadcast live by the Luther family's own news media, so as not to be interrupted.

The top executives of America's five major groups soon learned about this.

After secretly cursing the old fox, they made up their minds to see how Superman Company could deal with this monster.

Originally, they really planned not to comply and pretended that nothing had happened. After all, America's shame was not shame, but her interests.

As we all know, Holy Master never keeps his promises, and neither does America.

After the incident, they could say that the military had solved the incident. Anyway, the news media belonged to them.

That won't work now. Once they don't admit their fault, it's not like the super human complex can't replicate the operations of the military-industrial complex.

"Superman, a citizen of the motherland, has arrived at his destination!"

Clark and the Motherland were filmed and broadcast live throughout the whole process, so that everyone in America could see this incident. The National Guard and the military were powerless, and America could only turn to Superman Company for help.

This is causing public anxiety and kidnapping the people of America.

In the future, they will probably also question the military, the National Guard and America, and subconsciously believe in Superman Company.

"Teen Titans, attack!"

Superboy and the Homelander shouted slogans in front of the camera and then jumped out of the helicopter.

Both of them can fly, so of course they don't need a parachute.

"Teen Titans? What does this mean?"

"The second generation superhero team, Teen Titans, I like this name!"

"Lord, I hope Superboy and the people of the Motherland can deal with that terrible monster."

"I didn't expect Superboy to form a team with the people of the motherland!"

"Why didn't the Fantastic Five take action in this incident?"

"They are still children, can they solve it?"

The live broadcast barrage website has been created by Luther. This live broadcast has naturally attracted a wave of fans. Especially after discovering the magical interactive function of barrage, many people fell in love with this barrage website. .

Many fans of Superboy and Homelander are worried about the two's safety.

Especially when they saw that monster tearing down buildings like crackers.

"monster!"

The motherland fired a Cyclops shot first, and the red ray hit the rhinoceros monster.

According to the standards of the One Punch Man world, this Rhino is already a demon-level monster, a little stronger than Deep Sea King.

So although Homelander's rays are very powerful, they are just so-so for Rhino.

Since Luther wants to restore Homelander 100%, it is definitely impossible to strengthen him.

By the way, he has now thought of making an abstract Teen Titan.

Captain America + Soldier Boy, Homelander + Superboy!

Then see if he can trick Batman into joining, and then the whole Iron Man!

Wow, hahaha.

Hehehe, it's super interesting to think about it.

Homelander's laser eyes did not cause any damage to Rhino, but it attracted Rhino's attention. This black behemoth looks like Cthulhu, the same as Shark Man. It roared and punched Homelander.

Homelander wanted to show his strength in front of the camera, so he did not dodge the punch, intending to catch it and then lift Rhino up.

In the end, the show failed, and the originally elegant hand was instantly crushed by the strange force. In the slow motion, you can see that the expression of the motherland changed from elegant and calm to a distorted expression of panic.

"Boom!!!"

Then he was blown away like a cannonball and pierced through a tall building.

Chapter 423 The Dark History of the Motherlanders

"People of the motherland!"

When Superboy Clark saw his fellow countrymen being beaten away, he immediately became anxious and shouted in worry.

[Superman is so gentle, he cares so much about the people of the motherland!]

[Hahahahaha, I laughed so hard. The motherland man actually used one hand to block it, and then he was knocked away. I took a screenshot of his expression and recorded it. The motherland's dark history!]

[No, what are the people from the motherland pretending to do? He has never fought this monster, yet he still pretends like that.]

[The people of the motherland are fighting monsters for us. Come on, people of the motherland!]

[Oops, the people of the motherland were actually beaten away. What should Superboy do?]

[What kind of material is the body of the motherland made of? It penetrates seven buildings in a row. Even a real cannonball will be shattered.]

The number of barrages increased instantly.

The main reason was that this was so unexpected. The people of the motherland showed a leisurely attitude, but they were blown away. They were blown away more than once. Like a cannonball, they penetrated seven buildings in one breath before stopping.

You must know that the rhinoceros monster has not destroyed it yet. Is he here to save the city or destroy it?

Clark originally wanted to see the situation of his motherland, but the rhino monster obviously would not give him this opportunity.

The strong muscles exploded, and with a bang, everything within a few hundred meters was exploded, and the rhinoceros monster jumped up!

Clark was surprised, such a big man could actually jump so high? ? ?

He didn't react for a moment. After all, he was a noble flying species. He never expected that a mudblood on the ground could jump up and hit someone.

But after all, Clark was specially trained by Luther, and was beaten repeatedly by Luther... No, hammering... It doesn't seem right?

Anyway, it made the same sense, so he finally reacted in time, and because of the lessons learned from his motherland, Clark crossed his arms.

"Boom!!!"

The blow sent Clark back... a meter.

The rhinoceros monster lost the power to rise and fell to the ground again.

Clark looked confused, this power...is nothing more than that!

He didn't know why the people of the motherland were beaten out. He could only think that maybe the people of the motherland were careless?

The kind-hearted Clark never thought about the strength gap between himself and the people of his motherland.

But the omnipotent eyes are sharp barrages!

[Superman blocked the monster's attack! 】

[The gap is so big. The people from the motherland were knocked away in one fell swoop. The Rhinoceros were still attacking on the ground, without jumping up and bursting out! 】

【Rhinoceros man? 】

[The official nickname given to this monster by Superman Company is Rhinoceros. 】

[Yes, the gap is too big. Superboy is much better than the people of the motherland. I admire Superboy! 】

[When two people with such a huge gap form a team, it won't be another Wonder Woman and her thigh pendant, right? 】

[Aren't you happy to be Wonder Woman's thigh pendant? I can do whatever you want! 】

[The people of the motherland are already very strong, don't be like this, hahahahaha, I can't help it anymore. 】

Rhinoceros was also very surprised when he saw Clark blocking his punch.

At this time, Clark already knew that the rhinoceros monster had strong explosive power, and he could not leave it alone, otherwise it would definitely chase him and cause great damage!

So he might as well just deal with the rhinoceros monster and then go see the situation of the people of the motherland.

The rhino monster sensed danger, but before it could react, Clark had already appeared in front of it and punched it on the rhino horn.

"boom!!!"

The terrifying power brought by this punch made the rhino monster howl, his head buzzing, and the ground suddenly collapsed, sinking into a big pit.

Rhinoceros' horns were knocked crooked.

"A monster on the level of a ghost is still too weak for Clark now."

Luther watched the battle. He did not interfere with the birth of this rhinoceros monster. He chose this rhino naturally.

After all, Luther knew very well that sooner or later there would be a weirdo that America couldn't deal with, and then it would be time for America to compromise with him, so he was not in a hurry at all.

Now that's it for Rhinoceros.

It's just that Rhinoceros wasn't enough for Clark.

While the rhino monster was still dizzy, Clark grabbed its rhino horn, lifted it up, and threw it up!

"boom!"

The rhinoceros monster directly broke through the sound barrier, the sonic boom cloud suddenly spread, and the Mach cone appeared on the rhinoceros monster, and it continued to rise.

Clark charged up his energy on the spot, and then the biological force field covered the surroundings, instantly bursting out at maximum speed, exceeding the speed of sound without causing a sonic boom.

The rhinoceros monster had already begun to fall, and the next moment he was penetrated by Clark.

"Bang!"

With such a high-speed impact, the explosion easily shattered the remaining corpse of the rhinoceros monster and exploded it into a bloody mist!

Blood rain began to fall across the city, but not much, and it dispersed as soon as the wind blew.

Clark quickly rushed to the location of the motherland and found that the motherland stood up from the ruins with a bloody head.

"Where's the monster?"

The motherland man closed one of his blood-stained eyes and looked at Clark and asked.

"It's been solved, are you okay?"

Clark quickly stepped forward to support the native.

The people of the motherland are very angry, but now that his whole body is falling apart, even if the rhinoceros monster is still alive, there is no way to seek revenge from him, so he has to give up.

[Little Superman!!!]

[Little Superman is so powerful, I feel that Wonder Woman is not so powerful!]

[Full muscles, strong body, this is the superhero I like!]

[Homelander is still alive, it seems that he is also very powerful.]

[Am I the only one who thinks this kind of battle is too cruel?]

[Little Superman is the strongest!]

A lot of barrages flooded the live broadcast room, and some were to celebrate the elimination of the monsters, and they could go home.

This group of people was extremely grateful to Clark, and they also recognized the concept of superheroes.

After watching Clark eliminate the rhino cleanly, the top executives of America fell into silence.

The bigwigs of the military-industrial complex were even more scalp-numbing. If the Superman complex sent Little Superman to replicate the operation of Melozong without martial ethics, could they protect themselves?

They realized very clearly that from today, the rules of America have changed.

Or in other words, the rules of the world have changed!

From today on, it is the era of superhumans!

Things went very smoothly afterwards. Little Superman became the brilliant superhero "Supernova". His code name was changed. After all, "Superboy" was not a good name, so "Supernova" was more appealing.

Homelander was also praised as a superhero who was not afraid of powerful enemies.

Chapter 424: Complete Teen Titans

“Bang!”

Homelander was very angry and smashed the remote control through the TV.

Homelander was very angry when he saw the news report touting "Supernova".

He himself was made into a clown.

What the busiest in the circus.

They said he was not afraid of strong enemies and bravely stood up to protect civilians, but his black material had already been released on the Internet.

He elegantly and calmly caught the fist of the rhino monster with one hand, but failed to show off and was slapped in the face.

It's okay for his own bullet screen website to ban this type of video.

But other news media will not be polite to him, so Homelander's first impression of other news media is very bad.

Reporting your own black history every day, don't you have anything else to report?

But who made Homelander and Supernova the two most popular and hottest people now?

So reporting Homelander's black history every day is just for popularity and popularity, as for whether it will offend Homelander.

We are America with free press, what's wrong?

Homelander also knows this, but he knows his godfather's plan better.

"Wait, when we become the masters of this country, then..."

Homelander couldn't help but run to the roof outside when he thought of this.

There was a huge moon behind him.

"When that happens, my mom can do whatever she wants!"

After using the Crescent Sky Strike, Homelander felt much better.

This Crescent Sky Strike is not a hobby of his, but just a way for him to vent. After all, he doesn't have such a thing as a biological force field, and he can't have fun with women at ordinary times, so this is also one of the reasons for Homelander's twisted personality.

Azu is still very harmless. After knowing that ordinary women can't bear him, he developed the Crescent Sky Strike by himself.

Except for the impact of falling objects from high altitude, he is simply a law-abiding citizen among law-abiding citizens.

And I don't know if it's an illusion, Azu feels that this seems to be more refreshing.

It's also fortunate that he is not like Superman Hancock who can penetrate steel, otherwise...

Homelander cleaned it up, especially his descendants and grandchildren cleaned it up with thermal vision.

This is Luther's education from childhood to adulthood, don't leave any traces of yourself, including DNA samples.

"If you want to see a clone of yourself fighting you, then leave your gene sample."

This is what Luther said to Homelander.

In the original plot, Black is Homelander's clone, but unfortunately, the movie version of Black is a black man.

If it is like Black in the comic version, it will be interesting.

Homelander is sure that his genes will not be leaked. Although he does not have super vision, he can see farther than others and can accurately capture the location of his genes.

Luther naturally approves of Homelander's behavior. The closer it is, the more fun it is.

Then he also found the Captain America's equivalent in this world. The other party is neither an actor nor an ordinary employee, but just an ordinary football player.

"It seems that Johnny in the Fantastic Four is also a similar profession?"

Luther thought, but no matter whose equivalent he is, just because he looks so much like Steve Rogers, he has to be pulled to be a Captain America.

The Soldier Boy's counterpart was also found, and Luther was very satisfied. This time he did not intend to shape the two's thoughts and personalities, because they had grown up, and Luther planned to modify their memories directly.

Fortunately, their ages were not much different from Clark and Homelander, otherwise Luther's abstract Teen Titans with bad taste would not be established.

Under Luther's modification of an idea, it was not known whether it was Captain America or Johnny's counterpart who became an orphan in the "Biological Gene Company" raising plan in the early days of Superman Company.

Then he awakened his superpowers and joined the reorganization of Superman Company, the Biological Gene Company.

Young Steve is upright and kind, almost a replica of Clark.

He also has a good friend since childhood, that is, Soldier Boy.

That's right, Luther did not let Bucky appear, after all, Bucky is not fun to talk about, and Soldier Boy is more fun.

Soldier Boy's personality is very twisted. He is arrogant and arrogant. After awakening his superpowers, he even threatened to become the most powerful superhero.

Steve didn't know about Soldier Boy's twisted personality, because Soldier Boy still valued Steve as a friend. Both of them were orphans, raised by the BioGene Company, and joined Superman Company together.

It can be said that they couldn't be closer, and Soldier Boy didn't mind having anything super-friendly with Steve, but it was a pity that Steve didn't seem to be interested in that aspect.

So Soldier Boy was still willing to play a good guy in front of Steve and pretend.

"Soldier Boy, Captain America, you two are the new superheroes launched by Superman Company."

A female person in charge said to them.

"Why am I Soldier Boy and Steve is the captain?"

Soldier Boy asked jokingly.

"Isn't the nickname Captain America too exaggerated?"

Steve felt that he couldn't bear the nickname Captain America. Shouldn't this belong to the first generation of superheroes?

"These are all decisions made by the boss. All superhero nicknames are decided by the boss."

The female manager is old and fat, but it's not too serious. At most, she is too plump. However, the soldier boy likes this type.

Although he is still a teenager, he is already experienced.

"Boss..."

The soldier boy has nothing to say. If the boss's company hadn't taken him in, he would have starved to death on the street.

So even a heartless person like the soldier boy would subconsciously respect that man.

Not to mention Steve. He felt numb all over at this time. The nickname given to him by the boss was Captain America. Is this the boss's appreciation and recognition of him?

"So, Steve and I are partners, and I am his deputy?"

The soldier boy said. After all, the nicknames can already show the relationship between the two. One is the captain and the other is a soldier.

He didn't have any objections. It's better to say that the soldier boy thinks this is better.

"What deputy?"

Captain America said not to talk nonsense, they are just partners.

"Just like Supernova and Homelander, Homelander is Supernova's deputy, isn't it?"

The soldier boy said casually, but he didn't notice that Homelander came in from behind with a livid face and Clark looked embarrassed.

This is what Luther did on purpose, although the soldier boy's mouth is very foul and will offend people in the future.

Chapter 425: Big Fight

But Luther still stepped in to help the soldier boy incite hatred.

How else could the people of Homeland have a problem with Soldier Boy and Captain America so quickly?

"People of the motherland, don't take it to heart, I don't think so."

Clark quickly said to the people of his motherland.

"I know."

The motherland man stepped forward without looking back and coughed a few times.

Clark could only keep up.

The coughing sound alarmed Soldier Boy and Captain America, who turned around to see Homelander and Superboy.

The soldier boy touched his nose and was caught gossiping behind his back?

Captain America didn't say anything. He saw his two idols.

Although everyone is of the same age, Teen Titans shows that the members of this team are all teenage superheroes, and are considered by the outside media to be in opposition to the first generation of superheroes, the adult superhero team of the Fantastic Five.

Focusing on a youth theme.

But he has become famous, saved the city, and became a real superhero in everyone's mind.

It's probably like ordinary college entrance examination students seeing the top scorer in the country.

For Captain America, this is his idol.

Homelander and Clark looked at the two.

Are these two their future team members?

The Teen Titans are going to have a five-person team.

The people of the motherland had a bad first impression because of the soldier boy, especially Captain America, who gave him an inexplicable sense of déjà vu, as if he had seen him somewhere before.

"I'm Supernova, you can also call me Superboy."

Clark reached out his hand and said with a smile.

The people of the motherland immediately found that sense of déjà vu. Yes, it was Superboy.

"Hello Supernova, I'm Captain America."

Captain America quickly held Clark's hand.

Unlike the original Captain America, who was just a super soldier, Luther gave Captain America a very magical super power.

"What are you guys doing?"

After Captain America and the others introduced each other, Captain America asked in confusion.

"From today on, you are a member of the Teen Titans."

said the native with a smile.

"Really?"

Captain America was excited.

Soldier Boy was also a little surprised. He never expected that the two of them would join the most popular superhero team as soon as they debuted.

Originally, Soldier Boy thought they should be partners and form a superhero team. However, if he could join a team that was popular from the beginning, who would refuse?

"Let's all tell each other about our superpowers so that we can cooperate in combat in the future."

Clark said proactively.

After all, what they have to do is to deal with weirdos, monsters and super criminals, each of which can kill people.

So nothing can be done carelessly.

"It goes without saying that I have super powers, you all know them."

Clark continued.

"Me too."

The motherland nodded. Although he looked like a shrunken version of Clark, the motherland was confident that he would not be weaker than Clark, and Clark felt the same way.

All I can say is that I am really confident.

"My superpower is courage!"

Captain America then said.

"courage?"

The people of the motherland don't understand.

"It's the name given by BOSS. To be precise, it refers to bravery and fearlessness among the eight virtues of knights. As long as I always have courage, my strength, speed and physical strength will be strengthened, except for the inability to fly and energy attacks. "

Captain America explained.

In fact, he didn't know that the real name of this super power was "50-50".

No matter what kind of enemy you face, you can have a super power that is 50/50 equal to that of the enemy. However, it is limited to physical strength. It can be strengthened to the same level as the enemy. Of course, you will naturally crush enemies who are weaker than you. It is impossible to be the same as the enemy.

"Sounds like an interesting superpower."

This is the first time that people in the motherland have heard of such superpowers, courage?

"My superpowers are body enhancement and chest energy cannon."

Soldier Boy said.

Only he knows how powerful Captain America's superpower is. He is not his opponent in normal times, but as long as Captain America roars, he can compete with him and then crush him with his rich combat experience.

All I can say is that if it weren't for Captain America, Soldier Boy would definitely say that he was cheating.

"Just talking about it doesn't make it clear what your abilities are. Why don't we test it?"

said the native with a smile.

The soldier boy curled his lips, what a test, isn't it just to teach them a lesson, and then determine the relationship between the upper and lower positions in the team?

But it doesn't matter, Soldier Boy believes in the strength of himself and Captain America, this kind of thing is exactly what he wants!

If the Motherland and Supernova were no match for him and Captain America, he would definitely seize the leadership position without hesitation.

Clark and Captain America naturally pushed back. They didn't want to hurt their friendship. However, Fatherland and Soldier Boy kept trying to test it.

By the way, they can also practice their coordination!

I don't know if it's really a practice of coordination.

So, the Teen Titans came to a specially prepared battle room, a place that could withstand the torment of their group of superhumans.

"Homelander, Supernova, I heard you are going to fight?"

Luther appeared in front of several people.

"And Steve and Soldier Boy..."

That's right. During Luther's modification, he had a good relationship with Soldier Boy and Captain America. Anyway, this was an indispensable part.

"Luther, it's dangerous for you to come to this kind of place. You should go to the audience."

Homelander smiled. This was a smile from the heart. He was still very worried about his friend's body, which was still an ordinary person.

"That's right, in case someone accidentally hurts you later."

Although Soldier Boy was a little unhappy that Luther seemed to have a good relationship with Homelander and the others, and even greeted them first, he was hindered by the fact that Luther, the son of the big boss, had a good relationship with them, especially the other party did not discriminate against their orphans and adopted identities, often took them out to play, and celebrated their birthdays with them.

Even the heartless Soldier Boy had different feelings for Luther. If Luther said he wanted a woman, I'm afraid Soldier Boy would be very decisive to snatch it back for him and help him hold his hands and feet.

Unfortunately, Luther, the son of a capitalist, did not have the hobby of bullying men and women, nor did he have the cultivation of flirting with girls and sleeping with young models, so the soldier boy had no chance to follow him.

"Do you know each other?"

The motherland immediately had an opinion.

Clark, who knew that his brother was stronger than him, did not have this awareness.

Chapter 426: The father-son relationship between the soldier boy and the motherland man

"Of course I do."

Luther said frankly with a smile.

"Humph, some people are not as good as us."

The soldier boy heard something in the words of the motherland, and said angrily.

"Soldier boy, don't talk nonsense."

Captain America said immediately.

He was afraid that Soldier Boy would offend his motherland and Supernova in the future.

"It doesn't matter. He is indeed right. Not everyone is as good as me."

The motherland man showed his teeth and smiled, and then said.

"Okay, you will be a team from now on, and everyone will be friends."

Luther said adding fuel to the fire.

‘Who is his friend? ’

"You're right, we will be a team and friends from now on."

"Yes, friend, let's test it out so that we can coordinate better in the future."

Captain America and Clark both smile sincerely, while Soldier Boy and Homelander are hypocritical to the extreme.

But neither of them cared.

Luther said, "Why don't you start fighting? Let him watch for fun!"

So, Captain America and Supernova Clark haven't even started yet.

The Patriots and Soldier Boys were the first to fight.

"Do you need me to let you go?"

said the soldier boy, holding a triangular shield in his hand.

"Why are you carrying a shield?"

The native asked curiously. He found that both Soldier Boy and Captain America had a shield in their hands. The difference was that the shield in Soldier Boy's hand was a harpy shield, which was also the pattern of America's flag.

Captain America's buckler is very complicated, with the Stars and Stripes pattern printed on it.

What does this mean?

Do these two people have to be so American in character and spirit?

You must know that Captain America and Soldier Boy are both versions of the movie with hoods and masks, so they look just like that.

"This is what BOSS prepared for us. He said it would give people a sense of security and protect the hostages."

Captain America replied quickly.

"Simply because the shield looks less harmful and dangerous."

The soldier boy said nonchalantly.

For example, wouldn't his shield be able to cut and split other people's bodies with his power?

This is what soldier boy likes to do the most.

"Come on, let me see what you are capable of."

The motherland man put his hands behind his back and said to the soldier boy with a smile.

"Aren't you going to fly?"

Soldier Boy said teasingly.

"No, you can't fly, that's so unfair."

The natives smiled and shook their heads.

"Really, then you have to be careful."

The soldier boy said with a wicked smile. He just said this deliberately just to stimulate the people of the motherland and stop him from flying.

The gap between the two is really not that big.

Agility: Motherland\u003eSoldier Boy (Suppression Level)

Top movement speed, coupled with the ability to fly, this is an unparalleled gap!

Attribute value: Motherland\u003eSoldier Boy (Suppression level)

As a new generation of superheroes, Cyclops's instantaneous output, clairvoyance, and super hearing are all amplified human attributes that are stronger than Soldier Boy's.

Durability and resilience: Soldier Boy \u003e Motherland (slightly stronger)

After the first fight, Soldier Boy's strong self-healing ability allowed him to drink beer without fear, but the people of the motherland needed concealer to face Maeve's taunts.

Defense: Soldier Boy \u003e Motherland (suppression level)

Most superheroes are afraid of the Cyclops of their motherland, but Soldier Boy has the ultimate defense of physical body connected with Cyclops! Plus a shield to resist shock waves, explosions, and Cyclops, he can be called the defensive king!

Output ability: Soldier Boy \u003e Motherland (slightly stronger)

Judging from the scope of destruction, Soldier Boy's chest laser cannon is obviously more powerful than the Homelander's Cyclops. And it has the unique function of dissipating superpowers.

Luther restored both sides 100%, and there was no such thing as strengthening one and weakening the other.

The soldier boy was not polite to the people of the motherland. From another level, this father-son relationship was very complicated.

With one stride, he punched the motherland in the face.

The motherland's pupils shrank and caught the soldier boy's movements. His eyes turned red and his heat vision immediately roared out.

The red heat sight made the soldier boy dare not take a direct hit. Even though his body strength was an enhanced version after being studied by vodka, and he could gargle rifle bullets with no problem, the heat sight of the motherland was much more powerful than rifle bullets.

After avoiding the heat sight, Soldier Boy's uppercut was blocked by the Homelander.

"Bang!"

The moment the fist was blocked, a white explosion appeared, shaking the air.

The soldier boy was surprised to see that the man from his motherland blocked his punch with one hand.

The motherland returned the favor and punched the soldier boy.

The soldier boy used his shield in time to block the punch of the native.

The motherland originally wanted to smash the soldier boy's ridiculous shield, but found that his punch was like an ordinary person hitting a hard wall.

Of course, the wall was fine, but he was knocked back by the reaction force, and at the same time, he felt pain in his fist.

This surprised the people of the motherland, but it seemed normal.

Because he has not lived in a world like foam boards since he was a child, Superman Company has many things that can withstand his attacks.

This guy's shield is probably something similar.

Instantly, Homelander waved his hand and threw his fist at the soldier boy like lightning.

The soldier boy punched back fiercely.

The two fists collided, making a deafening roar, and Homelander secretly cried out in his heart that it was not good.

He changed his offensive, suddenly spread his legs, and his hands hit the soldier boy like a storm.

Since he grew up in Superman Company, Homelander would of course learn combat training. After all, his opponents are not ordinary criminals in the world of the Black Robe Pickets. Without combat training, how can he deal with the strong?

The soldier boy retreated again and again, but still couldn't resist Homelander's domineering momentum.

He suddenly turned sideways to dodge this wave of attacks, and the fierce shield hit Homelander's back.

Homelander turned his head and grabbed the shield.

The next moment!

Their fists and feet hit each other like hammers, making a continuous loud noise, which made people tremble with fear.

Throwing down a roar, Homelander greeted the Soldier Boy's fierce fist with both hands, and the force collided instantly, and the air exploded.

The two frowned, their eyes were like lightning, and the muscles of their bodies were highlighted because of tension.

Their movements became faster and faster, and both of them began to become crazy and crazy.

The two's fists and feet intertwined, their muscles entangled, and they tried their best to attack and defend each other.

"See how long you can hold on!"

The Soldier Boy taunted.

Homelander smiled.

"You are too naive."

Chapter 427 Captain America and Superboy

After saying that, he punched the soldier boy, and the force of the punch made the ground tremble slightly.

But the soldier boy did not retreat. He also swung his fist, and the two fists collided with a loud "bang".

The fight continued, and the two seemed unwilling to give up, and they had fallen into a state of fanaticism.

No matter who wins or loses, this battle will become a black history in each other's hearts. It is comparable to a life-and-death struggle.

Especially in front of good friends and good brothers, can you lose?

This is simply an alternative father-son game.

Their eyes revealed a strong desire to fight.

Suddenly, the two of them burst out with unparalleled power at the same time, as if the whole air was shaking with them.

The bodies of the two moved quickly, and in an instant they were immersed in the storm of fists and feet. The soldier boy's fist hit the homelander like a rainstorm, but the other party easily dodged it.

The homelander clenched his fist and punched the soldier boy hard, but was blocked by the other party with a shield.

"You can only hide behind this turtle shell?"

Homelander couldn't help cursing.

They fought for so long, and the two were so fast, which was equivalent to the physical exertion of a boxer fighting for nearly twenty minutes.

As a result, what frustrated Homelander the most was that every time he was about to hit Soldier Boy, the other party used this damn shield to block his fist.

If Homelander didn't have Cyclops, Soldier Boy would probably be fine.

After all, his body is thick and tough.

This made Homelander very unhappy.

"This is my weapon. Who can you blame if you don't use it yourself?"

Soldier Boy taunted.

The two separated a few steps and entered the confrontation again.

They stared at each other and taunted each other.

The air was filled with a strong smell of gunpowder.

Both sides stared at each other, one hand on the chest, panting, eyes full of dissatisfaction and hatred.

"Then you continue to hide behind it!"

Homelander roared angrily, and his fists seemed to become more fierce.

The Homelander hit the soldier boy in the face, leaving a bright red mark on his face.

The soldier boy swung his shield vigorously and hit his arm.

The Homelander dodged swiftly, flew into the air, and kicked the soldier boy hard.

The soldier boy showed no weakness and easily dodged the kick.

The punches and kicks hit each other, and the sound was deafening.

The soldier boy's moves were very fierce, catching people off guard.

And the Homelander was no worse.

The fight between the two sides reached the point of being watertight, and each move was as ruthless as a poisonous snake digging out the heart, hitting the opponent's knees, lower abdomen, ribs... making both sides fight again with severe pain and persistence.

Both sides were fighting with fists and flesh.

The Homelander relied on his agility to dodge the opponent's attack in an instant and counterattacked immediately.

The soldier boy held a shield and blocked the Homelander's attacks again and again, which made the Homelander feel very difficult.

The two people wrestled with each other, trying to gain the upper hand.

"If Azu looks at it that way, he's at a disadvantage. He's learned so many fighting techniques, does he need Ms. Shiva to teach him?"

Luther watched the fight between the two.

It seemed that all the fighting techniques and martial arts that Homelander had learned were in vain.

On the contrary, Soldier Boy had the upper hand with a shield.

"That's enough, let's stop them, they seem angry."

Clark said.

Captain America naturally agreed.

But Luther shook his head.

"Wait for them to finish themselves."

Homelander took a big step forward and punched Soldier Boy's shield hard.

Soldier Boy was not affected by the shock, but quickly swung his shield to hit Homelander.

Homelander dodged and kicked Soldier Boy with his back leg.

Soldier Boy bent down to dodge, grabbed Homelander's ankle and pulled hard, making Homelander lose balance.

Homelander took the opportunity to pounce on Soldier Boy's head, but Soldier Boy quickly rolled away.

The battle entered a white-hot stage, and the two men's fists and feet intertwined like a storm.

Each punch and kick exploded with great power in an instant, forming waves of air that rushed and dispersed.

The soldier boy's shield made a deafening roar every time it was used, and the Homelander left a trail of afterimages every time he dodged and attacked.

The expressions of the two became more and more intense.

The soldier boy laughed wildly.

"That's it? Is that all you can do?"

He didn't feel any pressure at all.

In an instant, the Homelander jumped up and attacked the soldier boy like lightning.

The soldier boy dodged sideways, but the Homelander's punch was in full swing and he was almost hit by the Homelander's moves.

The soldier boy was repelled by the close attack, but he immediately adjusted his breathing and accumulated strength to counterattack.

A punch was thrown out, and the Homelander saw that it was not good. He blocked the soldier's attack with his left hand, and his right leg fell like a hammer. The soldier boy withstood this move, and the two sides formed a stalemate.

The two sides rushed towards each other again.

The Homelander's attack speed was fast, but the soldier boy's defense was accurate.

Then it was like garbage time, Homelander and Soldier Boy were playing hide-and-seek and going around in circles.

Finally, Clark couldn't stand it anymore and stopped the two of them together with Captain America.

After the two were pulled apart, they were still stubborn and mocking unwillingly.

Homelander looked at them with disdain.

"You still want to block my fist?"

The soldier boy snorted.

"Can you withstand my shield?"

The people of the motherland feel that today they are just not flying. If he were to fly, he could kite the soldier boy to death.

"Your shield is just a liability."

"Okay, okay, for my sake, just say less."

Luther stepped up to be a good guy at this time.

Fatherland and Soldier Boy gave up for the time being, but there was no winner between the two.

The people of the motherland feel that they are not flying and not giving their best.

Not to mention Soldier Boy, he still has a chest cannon move that he hasn't used yet, and that's called fierce!

"It's our turn."

Captain America smiled and said to Clark.

"good."

Clark nodded.

The two of them fought peacefully. Captain America mustered up his courage and felt strength surging through his body.

Clark curiously observed Captain America with his clairvoyance eyes and found that there were subtle changes in the captain's body structure.

"I'm on it, Superboy!"

Captain America swung his shield around like a Frisbee.

Clark obviously didn't expect this move, after all, the soldier boy didn't have a flying shield.

The disk flew towards Clark with the speed of magical air-dead aerodynamics and the law of gravity.

Clark already knew from Soldier Boy's battle with the Homelander that their shields were not simple, so he grabbed the shield directly.

Chapter 428: Stand up and do sit-ups

"Captain America is certainly no match for Supernova."

The native said with folded hands.

Although his relationship with Supernova is not very good, at least he and he are partners and work together. Of course, the people of the motherland have to speak up for Clark.

"What a coincidence, I feel the same way. No one is Steve's opponent."

The soldier boy said not to be outdone.

And he wasn't lying. After all, he had seen how terrifying Captain America was when he was at full strength.

When there is no upper limit, Captain America can only surpass him, but when there is an upper limit, Captain America can always follow and surpass the opponent.

Superboy is very powerful, but he is absolutely no match for Captain America!

"Then we'll see."

The native said with a sneer.

Soldier Boy is also waiting to see. He can't wait to see the scene where Superboy is pressed to the ground and rubbed by Captain America, slapping the faces of his countrymen.

Clark grabbed Captain America's shield, and Captain America took the opportunity to get close to Clark.

He was in a heroic and fearless state at this time, and his strength and speed had been greatly improved.

Captain America struck first, using a short-distance attack. He was extremely fast, closing in, and used a vicious low side kick.

Clark had quick eyesight and quick hands, and dodged the kick with lightning speed. At the same time, he used force to grab Captain America's foot and slammed him into the ground.

Captain America turned over, strode towards Clark, opened his arms, shouted loudly, and the sound of fighting as long as deafness came from his belly, driving the storm energy in the air, and struck dozens of punches in a row, Clark gained another surge of energy and resolved this continuous onslaught.

Clark and Captain America fought, fists and kicks flying at a speed that was dizzying.

The two are equally powerful, and every move is exquisite and looks very gorgeous.

The two fists collided instantly, making a dull sound.

They separated, taking their time to confront each other again.

Clark strode forward and punched Captain America in the chest. Captain America twisted his body angrily and punched Clark in the face.

The strength of the two people offset each other, their fists danced rapidly, and the thunderous impact echoed on the battlefield.

Clark and Captain America collided heavily, and there was a heavy collision sound from their fists and footsteps.

Neither side backed down or showed weakness.

Their legs and feet kept moving, attacking quickly and with high morale.

Every move makes people feel powerful.

Captain America's arm muscles were strong and strong, and when they hit Clark's face, they caused a violent shock.

Clark's fist was like a meteor, passing through the air and hitting Captain America's chest, leaving him breathless.

Clark and Captain America were dazzling by their lightning-fast fists and kicks.

Clark's moves are fierce and powerful, and his momentum is compelling. Every punch and every kick exudes infinite power.

Captain America, on the other hand, is more flexible and agile, which makes him look particularly powerful.

His moves may seem light, but they still retain the essence of profound kung fu.

"I didn't expect that Captain America is close to the level of a fighting master."

Luther actually thought about going back to the Marvel Universe and bringing over a copy of the current Steve.

But this Steve's growth surprised him.

So I gave it up.

Clark's fist hit Captain America like a cannonball. The latter quickly ducked sideways, turned around and used his agility to backhand a palm, hitting Clark hard in the face.

Clark's eyes widened, this blow made him feel strongly passive.

He took a few steps back with the help of the recoil, and kicked Captain America with both legs, but the latter still easily dodged.

The two men quickly charged and collided, making a deafening roar.

In an instant, Clark hugged Captain America at extremely fast speeds and pushed him towards the wall.

The walls made an unpleasant thud.

Captain America pushed Clark away with a backhand blow. He used the rebound to move slowly against the wall and swooped back like a bat.

He kept attacking, but Clark still blocked it powerfully, but the more he fought, the more surprised he became. He felt that Captain America's strength was still increasing and his speed was getting faster!

He clamped his hands around Captain America's neck and tried to push him to the ground.

Captain America dodged Clark's attack, turned around quickly, and rushed towards him quickly, approaching step by step.

Clark struggled to stand up and delivered sharp punches and knees to Captain America. Their bodies collided with each other and the ground made a "collapse" sound.

Clark kicked to the side, but Captain America turned around to avoid it, and hit Clark hard on the back of the head with a backhand palm.

Clark yelled, and his head was suddenly hit hard by a huge force, but he was not knocked down. Instead, he returned a palm and collided with Captain America's giant palm.

As soon as the fists and kicks of the two people exchanged, it seemed as if the whole world was shaking. The powerful impact surged in the air, causing cracks in the surrounding walls.

Their power has exceeded the upper limit of what this room can bear.

Clark and Captain America's fists and kicks intertwined, and the roar continued.

Clark suddenly punched out with his right fist, and Captain America reacted smartly, dodging and dodging easily.

Seeing this, Clark suddenly kicked his left foot. Captain America sidestepped cautiously, and struck with his right fist at the same time. Clark sidestepped to avoid it.

The two kept switching between offense and defense, and both sides were equally strong, with no clear winner.

The fists quickly intertwined, hitting each other's bodies with a dull sound.

Clark's strength was undoubtedly unparalleled, but Captain America's reaction was also extremely fast, and the muscles on his face were bulging, full of strength.

Every punch, every kick, and every swing of the two people constantly collided with each other.

As the battle continued to accumulate, the momentum of both sides became more and more compelling.

Clark punched at the other side fiercely, like an arrow from a string.

Captain America turned sideways, met Clark's fist, and took advantage of the situation to control it.

Clark did not give up. He turned his head suddenly, exerted force with his legs quickly, and immediately hit Captain America with his other elbow.

Captain America's reaction was also very fast. His fist retracted in time and avoided the blow.

The fight between the two has reached a white-hot level.

As time went on, the movements of the two became more and more unpredictable, and they moved back and forth on the court.

Clark's fists and feet swept in like a storm, instantly forcing Captain America into a dead corner.

Captain America was not afraid. After standing firm, he punched Clark in the face. Clark fell heavily to the ground in an instant.

Chapter 429: 50-50, then surpass!

Clark was not knocked down. He stood up quickly and hit Captain America in the chest with a hard punch. Captain America's sternum broke with a snap.

Captain America did not flinch. He stared at Clark with eyes full of anger and determination, and stood up without fear.

The two sides came face to face again. This time, Captain America struck first, hitting Clark in the face with a straight punch with astonishing force. Clark dodged sideways, and hit Captain America hard on the chest with a backhand punch. The United States The captain fell again.

Clark did not relax. He followed Captain America's body and flew with fists and kicks. Each blow was extremely fast and powerful.

Captain America, however, showed his ability to respond quickly in critical moments. He kept dodging, looking for loopholes, not relaxing for a second, and maintaining a high-intensity state of challenge.

The two sides clashed again, Clark's speed was even more astonishing, his punches and kicks were coming out endlessly, and Captain America began to struggle, but he still persisted and did not flinch.

"That's it. You're hurt."

Clark's blood was boiling. Except for his eldest brother, he had never encountered such an evenly matched opponent.

But his eldest brother is completely crushing him, which is not interesting at all.

But Captain America can fight fiercely with himself. This feeling of punching to the flesh is addictive.

But Clark couldn't help but stop when he saw Captain America's injury with his clairvoyant eyes.

"Looks like that's all for your partner."

The people of the motherland also have clairvoyance, so they naturally saw Captain America's injuries.

"Steve won't lose so easily. Just wait, he will surprise you."

Soldier Boy said calmly that the injury was nothing to Captain America.

That cheating-like "courage" superpower is very outrageous.

"Don't worry, I can fight you all day long."

Captain America remembered that he was bullied when he was weak. At that time, he did not give up the confrontation. Now that he is stronger, should he still give up the confrontation?

Of course not!

Speaking this sentence, Luther seemed to see his soul.

Steve's soul.

Although all this was arranged by him, things like fate are really interesting.

Clark discovered that after Captain America's words, his injuries miraculously healed on their own!

At this time, even Clark couldn't help but explode in his heart.

Isn't this cheating? ! !

Captain America has "bravely" caught up with Clark's intensity. Their fists and kicks are roaring, their momentum is like a rainbow, and the battle scene is extremely fierce.

Clark jumped up and released a punch, which instantly penetrated Captain America's attack. Then he spun up and kicked Captain America's waist with his legs.

But Captain America did not show weakness. He walked forward step by step and quickly struck out. He reached out and grabbed Clark's chest. He picked it up and threw it down hard. Clark's back hit the ground with a bang, and the dust around him all splashed.

It was inevitable to destroy the surrounding buildings during the battle. The rubble from the blasted buildings hit the surroundings shockingly, leaving a mess, which further highlighted the strength between the two.

Speaking of which, on earth, only the two of them could lead such a shocking battle scene.

Luther couldn't do it because he was a man of fun.

The figures of Clark and Captain America disappeared fleetingly, sometimes appearing in the air and sometimes landing on the ground.

Of course, Captain America can't fly, he just jumps.

He dodged Clark's attack, then struck out with a sharp chain of kicks, and Clark quickly counterattacked.

He delivered a powerful side kick, which Captain America dodged again, followed by a punch that hit Clark in the jaw.

Clark was hit hard and took a few steps back.

Clark bursts out with his super speed, but his super powers cannot be used smoothly together, and there will often be lags when switching.

Suddenly, Clark took a step forward and was beside Captain America in an instant, punching him in the chest instantly.

Captain America was knocked back a few steps by the punch, but quickly regained his balance.

He turned his head sharply, raised his fist and punched Clark.

Clark quickly dodged the punch, then raised his foot and kicked Captain America hard in the lower back.

Captain America was hit by this kick and his body fell forward.

But soon, he quickly turned over and pounced on Clark again.

The two men's moves were carried out alternately, and the speed was so fast that people could not see clearly.

Fists, kicks, elbows, knees, all kinds of moves were used in turn, and the scene was extremely intense.

Clark managed to dodge a punch and then hit Captain America hard in the head with his own elbow.

Captain America was concussed by the blow, staggered back a few steps, and then fell heavily to the ground.

A shocking muffled sound was heard.

Even the calm soldier boy was a little unsure.

"Steve!"

The next moment, Captain America got up, with a determined expression on his face. He shook his head and faced Clark's attack.

Captain America had already picked up his shield during the battle. At this time, he used his classic shield to fight against Clark's punches and kicks.

He quickly dodged Clark's knee attack, and then hit Clark hard with his shield.

"Bang!"

A loud noise comparable to the explosion of a high-explosive bomb.

Clark fell to the ground.

However, Clark did not stop.

He rushed towards Captain America at a super high speed, hit Captain America, and made Captain America fall backwards.

Captain America stood up again, his bloody body revealing a firm strength.

Clark was already panting at this time. He had just knocked Captain America away, but Captain America stood up right after that.

He was like an invincible tumbler and a cockroach that could not be stepped on.

Even Clark admired his willpower.

Clark then launched a violent combo, and his fists fell like raindrops!

Captain America did not retreat and hit Clark in the face.

Clark dodged, turned around and raised his hand to punch Captain America in the back.

Captain America felt the heavy punch from Clark and wanted to fight back, but Clark had already stood behind him at this time.

Clark got the upper hand, he grabbed Captain America by the back of the collar, lifted him up, and threw him backwards!

Captain America drew an arc and hit the ground hard.

"Courage!"

Captain America stood up again, this time his strength and speed surpassed Clark!

Chapter 430

"Are you kidding me?"

Clark couldn't help but complain.

Captain America stood up again, looking very incredible, especially after he shouted, it was as if a miracle had happened.

"This is almost as outrageous as Luther!"

The last time Clark saw such an outrageous guy was his eldest brother Luther.

Mental strength is similar to Captain America's courage, but Captain America's courage requires more.

You must have firm beliefs, unwavering courage, and a heart without fear.

Only by being brave and fearless can you become stronger as you fight, and only by being defeated repeatedly can you finally surpass your opponent!

"Good job Steve, that's it, knock him down!"

the soldier boy shouted excitedly.

The people of the motherland looked at him with disdain, thinking that he was very annoying, but they also became nervous. After all, it seemed that Clark could not completely defeat Captain America.

It's as if the opponent has no limit. Every time he falls down, he gets stronger when he stands up!

This made the people of the motherland realize that they might not be a match for this guy called Captain America.

Captain America and Clark faced off against each other, as if they could see streaks of lightning intertwining between their fists and feet.

Even now even the Patriots and Soldier Boys couldn't see clearly where they were hitting, and could only hear the muffled sound of thump.

The strong wind blew, causing both the motherland and the soldier boy to be pushed back a few steps. The intensity of the battle had reached a level that they could not influence.

Captain America's movement was unmistakable and he kicked Clark in the knee, causing the latter to bend over in pain.

However, Clark was not willing to be defeated. He jumped up and slammed his elbow into Captain America's ribs.

Captain America raised his arms, and a burst of energy flew out, hitting Clark on the shoulder, forcing the latter to retreat.

Both sides were constantly attacking, raising and lowering knives, kicking and kicking, and the scene was extremely fierce.

Clark's fist hit Captain America's face with a harsh sound, but Captain America stepped forward and blocked the move with his arm.

At this time, the shield in Captain America's hand flashed with metallic light, like a huge sword, stabbing Clark's neck.

But Clark dodged instantly and hit Captain America hard with a backhand punch.

This punch caused the surrounding air to explode, but it no longer posed a threat to Captain America.

After blocking it easily, every move from fists and feet to elbows and knees seemed to tear the air.

Clark has a strong body, and his fist bursts out with invisible power in an instant, hitting Captain America's chest.

Captain America ducked out of the way and kicked Clark in the stomach, but Clark blocked it with his elbow.

However, this time, Clark was beaten back.

Clark has realized since the last battle that Captain America is more powerful than himself, but now what comes back is a more powerful power that has surpassed him.

Captain America gasped. His bravery can increase strength, speed and physical strength, but it is not without cost. Just like a fighter pilot endures G force, now Captain America is also under such pressure.

Although this will not affect his combat effectiveness and performance, it will extremely test his willpower. If he cannot persist, then his strength will leak out like a punctured balloon and drain out!

If he can persist, even if it is filled with gas like a balloon and expands to the extreme, it will not explode.

How could Luther give him super powers without side effects and costs? Wouldn't that be unfair to other people?

Moreover, Captain America has already deviated from his original character, so Luther did not give him the idealistic power of the sword fighting version.

Otherwise it wouldn't be Captain America, but Captain Earth.

"What I'm best at is dealing with people who are stronger than me and then fighting back against them."

Clark looked at Captain America and wanted to laugh.

The pressure that Captain America put on him was not as great as Luther's. With one casual punch from Luther, he had to kneel on the ground and beg himself not to die!

Therefore, Captain America discovered that Clark's attack suddenly changed style and turned into a defensive counterattack.

Moreover, Clark's transformation was too fast. Before Captain America could react, Clark seized the opportunity, moved his body forward, and then counterattacked with a fierce punch on his chin.

Uppercut!

It can also be called Shenglong Fist.

This time, Captain America was knocked off his feet and hit the ceiling.

Suddenly his whole head was buzzing.

"The winner has been decided, and we have entered the stage that Clark is most familiar with."

Luther shook his head. As long as Clark performed normally, it was impossible to lose, and Captain America had reached his limit.

The ensuing battle was as expected, with Clark successfully seizing the opportunity to take away Captain America.

Although Captain America was defeated, he simply admitted defeat and was not unconvinced.

"The gap between you and me is not only the gap in strength and speed, but also the gap in combat. Please give me more advice in the future, Supernova."

Captain America smiled and said sincerely.

"I'm just more familiar with getting beaten than you are."

Clark smiled equally brightly.

The two sunny and cheerful boys made the two guys next to them look extremely sinister, cunning and hypocritical.

But they didn't care.

Afterwards, Homelander was not convinced and went to Captain America again, but he was no match for Captain America.

Homelander was used to bullying weak players. Even if there were monsters and super criminals, there were not many people who could compare with him.

In this case, it was naturally difficult for Homelander to make progress.

Captain America was different. He was usually stronger than ordinary people, about the same as Soldier Boy, and he had a weak period and was experienced.

He soon caught up with Homelander and defeated him, without having to wait until he surpassed Homelander.

So far, Homelander was still very unconvinced because he had not yet flown.

Of course, only he knew how much of this was just a dead duck's mouth.

The Teen Titans team added new members, Soldier Boy and Captain America!

This incident quickly became a new news headline.

Now it is not only the Luther family's own media that is reporting, other media are also competing to report on superhumans.

There is no way, they began to find that people no longer care about current affairs news, celebrity scandals and gossip, they are now concerned about superhumans!

They are interested in everything related to superhumans. Some people even contacted the Superhuman Company for a high price, wanting to have dinner with Supernova and Homelander.

Ten million dollars just to have a meal together.
