Chapter 431 Little Bat and Lex

Of course, this is not the highest. There is also Wonder Woman Diana, which has reached the price of 50 million US dollars for a meal.

This is just a meal. If you want to go further, I don't know how much it will cost.

But there is no way. Who made Diana the representative of the new era women and the strongest woman in the world? No matter which identity and halo, it can attract the pursuit of those who stand at the top and enjoy everything.

They thought they had enjoyed everything, but now they found that there was something that they could not enjoy.

That is superhuman women!

And the elite education they received since childhood also made them realize that superhumans will become the masters of the new era!

Where does power come from?

Isn't it brought by fists, strength and weapons?

In addition, money, status, identity and blood genes are all garbage!

Only power is the kingly way!

The emperor is the one with strong soldiers and horses!

In the case of not being able to make yourself a superhuman, becoming a friend of superhumans is the best choice.

"Little Bat's application for joining?"

Luther got something very interesting, that is, Little Bat applied to join Superman Company as a superhero in Gotham City.

He thought about it and knew that it was very likely that the little bat had not traveled around the world, and was beaten by the Knight of Light, and the sudden appearance of superhumans had led the little bat astray.

However, his original intention was definitely to change Gotham City.

It was just that while changing Gotham City, the little bat labeled all the current superhumans as "worthy of vigilance"!

He kept a detailed record of the superpowers of superheroes published by Superman Company, but this was not enough.

He wanted to know more about the information of these superhumans and design plans based on their personalities and defects.

Therefore, he turned the original plot of studying as a ninja master into a superhero course.

It's just that even if a so-called superhero like him who has no superpowers joins Superman Company, he can only be a twelfth-line superhero.

Unless he can develop some powerful high-tech like Iron Bone in the Fantastic Five.

"Come to think of it, it seems like I haven't teased the little bat for a long time. Tsk, tsk, tsk, Lex? This bald guy who is not bald yet actually wants to join Superman Company... I see, he wants to become the leader of mankind by controlling Superman Company."

Luther found that his Superman Company had a lot more monsters and demons.

Lex is a human supremacist. Of course, he himself is also a very extreme guy who thinks that he can lead the evolution of mankind.

So he uses his genius brain to develop technology for all non-human existences, but he often wants to rule mankind and become the ruler of mankind.

Lex's technological level can only be said to be top-notch, but not as outrageous as Mr. Fantastic. The charlatan Lex has completely stopped talking about science and talked about charlatans.

Although he knew the purpose of the two, Luther would naturally not refuse.

He also thought that after Lex and the little bat met "Supernova/Little Superman", he would turn them into girls and start a series of blushing dramas.

I just don't know if Ah Fu would have a heart attack if he knew that his young master had become a lady.

The Bat had prepared for his application to be rejected, after all, he had no superpowers and no high technology.

But Superman actually let him join Superman on the grounds that he had a sense of justice and supported him to become a superhero, and he became a superhero managed by a third-rate editing team.

The bottom of the bottom, the bottom superhero who just debuted is just like that.

And the reputation of the Bat in Gotham City... can only be said to be still fermenting.

Lex is different. He designed a set of armor and became a superhero with it.

It is considered to be much better than the Bat.

The task assigned to the Bat is to deal with ordinary criminals. After all, he is just an ordinary person.

The third-rate editing team is not responsible for giving him advice, but creating novels, comics, and peripherals for him.

The Bat was shocked by this operation. He didn't even have a reputation, but he already had a comic?

And in the comics, he became an assistant trained by "Black Bat", one of the Fantastic Five.

The editing team said that this would be a way to get some popularity. Anyway, he looks so much like Black Bat, and he must be a fan of Black Bat.

The copyrights of all superheroes belong to Superman Company. They can get 30% of the total income, including the income from various peripheral products, so it is still very powerful.

Even if the bottom line is inhumane, there is still 20% of the income, which is very conscientious.

Little Bat didn't know that Luther was subtly PUAing him. Although he was dissatisfied with such an arrangement, his words were not important, unlike Lex, who directly donated 100 million to Superman Company and then became the person who decided the comics and works by himself.

As a teenager, Lex was naturally unavoidable to all kinds of middle school. He didn't have the opportunity before. Now all his comics are centered on him, leading superheroes to fight against super criminals and aliens.

Lex's father is a classic capitalist and speculator, so he will naturally not miss the ticket to superheroes and superhuman complexes.

He even wanted to transform, but unfortunately, he didn't have the ability to produce superhumans.

The difference between the Superhuman Complex and other complexes is that each superhuman is equivalent to a company of the complex, but the risk is not that great.

The training cost is almost zero.

The little bat is naturally rich, but that is Bruce's money, not his money.

Bruce, who has not yet thought of becoming a playboy, will naturally not spend 100 million to let Superman Company change the plot.

However, the artificial muscle suit of the little bat quickly became popular.

The high-tech superhero personality of the little bat also became established as he defeated a passing weirdo.

So Luther sent the little bat and Lex into the Teen Titans on the grounds that they were young.

Two high-tech superheroes + four superpowered superheroes.

The Teen Titans also declared full, and may increase or decrease members in the future, but now the upper limit is six people.

Luther is looking forward to what kind of sparks this group of people will create.

It's a pity that a circus clown was not found.

There are too many origin stories of clowns, which makes it difficult for Luther to find them.

Otherwise, he really wanted to squeeze the Joker in as well, since the Joker is a character from a parallel universe.

Chapter 432 Worthy of vigilance and high alert!

The purpose of joining Superman Inc. was not pure, and after joining the Teen Titans, the Batman was more comfortable and got what he wanted.

The young Batman naturally did not realize the problem, but thought he was lucky.

He still needed a lot of beatings to grow up.

Luther was willing to be the one who beat him up in the back.

Through his own observation, the Batman has determined that the four people in the Teen Titans are very dangerous superhumans.

Even if they are superheroes, the Batman will not let down his guard. The Batman does not need to think about how dangerous it is for superhumans to lose control. Those terrible and powerful monsters are the best examples, and they all fell at the hands of superheroes.

So, if a superhero who is more powerful and more terrible than them loses control, how serious will the damage be?

Homelander and Soldier Boy are no longer worthy of vigilance in the Batman's files, but have become "must be vigilant".

Their personalities naturally cannot be hidden from the little bat. Even though he is not the most powerful detective in the world in the future, the little bat has been consciously learning this knowledge. He is not only tinkering with artificial muscle suits and studying, but also learning other aspects.

In addition, without the time-wasting part of disguising as a playboy, he spends nearly 20 hours a day studying, and the rest of the time is used for rest and eating.

It can only be said that he is worthy of being Batman. If ordinary people do this, I am afraid they will be exhausted.

Therefore, through his own study of psychology and personality analysis, the little bat has judged which person in the Teen Titans is likely to lose control.

For example, he pays the most attention to glory and cheering, has a heavy vanity, and is good at disguising himself as a native of his homeland. Once something happens that makes him embarrassed or his personality is destroyed, he is estimated to lose control, and even develop to kill people to maintain his image.

With his ability, it will be very troublesome and tricky to lose control, so the little bat must develop a plan for him as soon as possible.

The most serious one is the soldier boy, who has no moral bottom line!

This was very surprising to the little bat. A guy without any moral bottom line could actually become a superhero. The problem of Superman Company was really big!

Soldier Boy was not even as good as Homelander. After all, Homelander could at least handle the weaknesses in image and face, while Soldier Boy didn't care about these things at all. He only cared about Captain America. If Captain America hadn't become a superhero, he would probably have become a super criminal!

Without any moral bottom line, it means that he would do whatever it takes to achieve his goal at all costs. It is probably the same in defeating super criminals. It is very likely that he would not care about casualties and war damage at all, just to be able to defeat the opponent.

"The problem is big, we must be vigilant!"

The little bat looked at the data he entered into the computer.

Soldier Boy and Homelander did not hide their superpowers, and Superman Company's propaganda said it.

Both of them are superpower templates with almost no shortcomings. Homelander can even fly, which makes it even more difficult to deal with.

In comparison, the more powerful Supernova and Captain America are also worth being vigilant, but the little bat can't find any flaws in their personalities.

After all, the current Little Bat is not the dark, deep, and cruel old silver coin that he will be in the future, so he still has a good impression of the characters like Supernova and Captain America.

The monster named Batman also needs growth time and fear as nutrients to become a monster, and now it is just a small monster.

Little Bat even naively thought of using Supernova and Captain America to limit the possibility of Homelander and Soldier Boy losing control, and also targeting the Fantastic Five!

He was always said to be a fan of the Black Bat, which made Little Bat very unhappy, so naturally there was a plan for the Fantastic Five to lose control.

There is no personal grudge, it is just for world peace and human safety!

The anti-Homelander suit and the anti-Soldier Boy suit are already being manufactured.

Lex has similar ideas to Little Bat, especially after absorbing the ideas of artificial muscle suit technology from Little Bat, Lex has also entered this field.

Artificial muscle itself is not a very difficult thing to enter, the threshold is low, and it is not as fake as exoskeleton armor. For so many years, there has been no real combat exoskeleton armor, which are all alternative porters.

Although the threshold is low, not everyone can get started, not to mention that the little bat has miraculously improved the material of artificial muscle, which is actually a black technology artificial muscle suit.

Lex's idea is to combine artificial muscle and exoskeleton armor to create a more powerful armor that combines the two!

At that time, he will be able to punch the little bat and kick the Teen Titans.

The two high-tech superheroes communicate with each other and guard against each other.

At this time, they have another mission. A monster appears and threatens the safety of the entire city of Los Angeles.

This is already as high as the A-level monster and super criminal level in the danger level defined by Superman Company.

Superman Company has established a danger level for the endless super criminals, monsters and monsters.

The lowest level is the general security level, but there is also a risk of death.

There is no way, who makes this a free America, life and death every day?

Anything is dangerous at the level of D, which can kill people.

C is dangerous that can cause a large number of deaths.

B is dangerous enough to affect a city.

A is dangerous that can destroy a city or even multiple cities.

S is dangerous to an entire country.

After all, there are no countries in the One Punch Man world, only more than 20 cities, so there is the S level.

Then there is the D+ level, + means stronger, ++ means super dangerous.

But no matter how many + signs there are, it will not exceed the upper limit of the current level.

Only the Teen Titans and the Fantastic Five can deal with A-level dangers.

And the Fantastic Five are very busy, so it's the Teen Titans' turn to appear at this time.

"A+ level danger, that is, this monster can destroy Los Angeles and destroy several cities. Where did such a powerful monster come from?"

The little bat attaches great importance to intelligence. He studied the information given by Superman Company and secretly mobilized his own satellite to observe the situation in Los Angeles.

Then he saw a target in Los Angeles that met the target because the opponent was too big.

Chapter 433 The big villain appears!

Under the night of Los Angeles, a terrifying and powerful monster is wreaking havoc on this bustling city.

Its body is extremely large, like a mountain peak, and every inch of its skin is filled with a frightening sense of power.

Its eyes burned with red flames, as if it could penetrate all lies and hypocrisy.

Its power is so powerful that people cannot look directly at it. Every time it waves its arms, it will trigger a strong storm, tearing the surrounding buildings and vehicles into pieces as easily as paper.

Its roar was like thunder, shaking the entire city and making people fearful.

This weirdo is like a ferocious beast, rampaging through this human city in its eyes, destroying all obstacles that stand in its way.

In front of it, high-rise buildings are as fragile as paper, and roads and bridges tremble under its feet. Its destructive power seems endless and daunting.

Under the ravages of weirdos, Los Angeles became a mess.

Flames burned through the streets, sending debris flying into the air.

People screamed in terror and ran in all directions, trying to escape this horrific nightmare. However, wherever they escape, the monster seems to track them with ease, casting his terror over the entire city.

During this catastrophe, the police and military in Los Angeles tried to prevent the monsters from destroying them, but their weapons and defenses seemed so insignificant in front of the monsters.

Bullets and gunfire bounced off the monster, unable to do any damage to it.

Its skin seems harder than steel, and no attack can break its defense.

"We can't sit back and let it continue to destroy. Los Angeles has completely fallen."

"Look, it's the Teen Titans!"

As the refugees cheered, the Teen Titans descended from the sky!

Little Bat's artificial muscle suit allows him to ignore powerful shocks. He does not need a parachute when falling from a high altitude. The special muscles in the shock absorption and buffer layer absorb the impact, leaving only a big hole in the ground.

In contrast, Lex's exoskeleton armor fired pulses from the jets directly behind it and flew up.

Captain America was pragmatic and used his parachute to land, followed closely by Soldier Boy, but he landed physically.

The Homelander did a classic superhero landing. Superboy didn't land, he just went up to attract the weirdo's attention.

"We have to lure it out of here!"

Clark was eager to save people, so he went up and planned to punch the weirdo to make him pay attention to him.

Compared to using heat vision to smear his face, Clark still prefers the feeling of punching to the flesh.

Unexpectedly, this weirdo didn't play according to common sense at all. Clark punched him, but it appeared next to the little bat.

Although he is so huge, he still has super powers such as super speed!

Of course, after using super speed, the monster's huge mountain-like body shrunk to two or three meters high. Even so, it was still very huge.

The little bat was startled and was slapped away by the weirdo before he could react.

If the artificial muscle suit hadn't blocked the blow, it would have turned into a puddle of mud.

Seeing this, Lex opened fire with the weapon on his armor.

Because the targets are super criminals and even monsters, Lex's weapon systems are all powerful weapons, including tracking-type heat-sensing missiles, bombing-types, and blasting-types.

Anyway, there are no ordinary guns.

It's just a big banger.

Lex even thought it was not powerful enough and was planning to research a new explosive to increase the explosive power and velocity.

In order to prevent the monster from evading his own attacks quickly, Lex used heat-seeking bombs.

But he forgot that there are some super fast guys on his side.

I saw Clark duck out of the way, and he appeared next to the weirdo at some point. It was as if he appeared there in the blink of an eye, extremely elusive.

The weirdo didn't even react before he was caught by Clark and thrown towards Lex's missile.

"Boom boom boom boom!"

There was a fierce big explosion, and the motherland took the opportunity, his eyes turned red, and his heat vision shot directly into the explosion, hitting the position of the weirdo just now.

But it failed, mainly because the weirdo was knocked back by the thrust generated by the bomb.

The soldier boy was still brewing his chest cannon to feel it, just like a middle-aged man who had to concentrate carefully to pee.

Captain America, who knew the situation, went up to buy him time.

The heat vision of the motherland failed, and his face was a little confused, so he did not stop using the heat vision and continued to attack the weirdo.

But the weirdo's super speed is very tricky. Only Clark can keep up with the opponent's speed.

The two of them were running like ghosts, appearing and disappearing.

The soldier boy found the feeling and his chest lit up, but he couldn't fire it now because the weirdo was too fast.

"Supernova!"

Captain America shouted. Clark heard what Captain America said and noticed something was wrong with Soldier Boy. He immediately understood it, so he cooperated very well to find an opportunity, caught the weirdo, and brought it to Soldier Boy.

Soldier Boy and the others have already worked together in battles, so they have naturally developed some tacit understanding. The moment they saw the weirdo appear in front of them, Soldier Boy exploded!

The whizzing out chest cannon hit the weirdo, and then the weirdo screamed and was suppressed by the soldier boy's chest cannon.

But this was not enough. Clark took this opportunity and punched the monster through the body with all his strength!

He responded to the chest cannon of the soldier boy, and Clark knew that the penetration caused by his fist was nothing to this huge monster, so he grabbed the opponent's internal tissue and pulled it out fiercely!

This time, the monster finally fell to the ground, and the chest cannon of the soldier boy was still exerting force to destroy the internal tissue of the monster.

"Finally solved."

Others did not show any reaction, but no one cared except Homelander and Lex.

Although Homelander had fought with Soldier Boy several times, it was the first time he saw his chest cannon.

He looked ugly. He originally thought that he could kite Soldier Boy with the ability of flying and thermal vision, but now he found that Soldier Boy's chest cannon was beyond his expectations.

Although the speed was not fast, it was powerful!

If he was hit, he would be seriously injured if not dead!

"I didn't expect that my work would be destroyed by you."

A voice suddenly appeared.

The Teen Titans were shocked.

Then they saw a guy who was shrouded in shadows and darkness, and whose specific appearance could not be seen.

"You, are you also a weirdo!"

Lex said immediately.

Chapter 434 Bad Taste

"No, I'm not a weirdo. You can call me "Doctor Villain", that is, the villain who specializes in creating super villains and super criminals, the mastermind behind the scenes, the big BOSS, the person you are destined to challenge."

Luther said dramatically.

Lex could tell Luther was teasing them.

"Doctor Villain? No matter who you are, if you meet us, your conspiracy will never succeed!"

Lex said righteously, and then launched a missile without any moral ethics.

Little Bat didn't take it seriously, and even took action at the same time as Lex.

Not to mention the soldier boy, who has no moral bottom line and takes action suddenly.

Luther was very pleased. It was really good news to see the new generation of superheroes being so despicable and shameless without moral ethics.

If superheroes are too focused on martial ethics and rules, how can they fight against super criminals and super villains? ?

If this is the case, you have to be more shameless and more rogue than them.

But the attack of the three people naturally failed.

"I'm not in the same dimension as you. Do you know what high-latitude interference is, you guys?"

Luther said with a smile.

"High-latitude interference? What is that?"

Everyone was confused.

Luther thought for a while, and it seemed that it was the case. Although the theory of quantum mechanics has always been there, there are not many people studying it now. A certain Lan Da Diao is still in the Watcher universe. There is no problem that he will not appear in the world of the parallel universe.

In this case, who knows what Luther called high-latitude interference?

"Well, considering that none of you are literate, I will tell you mercifully."

Luther's words angered Lex, the little bat, and the native.

The people of the motherland were despised by Luther because they were uneducated. Lex was similar, except that he was a high-tech superhero, so he was naturally more angry.

At Little Bat's words, he was just pretending to be angry. In fact, he had already started recording and began to wait attentively for Luther's words.

When the enemy wants to explain his abilities, Little Bat will not stop him, because this will help him understand the enemy and formulate a plan!

"To me, you are a comic, and to you, I am the artist of the comic. This is a simple understanding of high-dimensional interference. If you still don't understand, then go to school, children."

Luther said.

"You mean you can arrange us as you like?"

Captain America asked with a frown.

"How is it possible? If that's the case, he might as well just let us die."

The soldier boy said disdainfully, he understood, but the soldier boy didn't think it was true. There was no need to believe the enemy's words completely.

"That's right, such a powerful super power cannot exist. Even if it exists, there must be some limitations!"

Lex followed.

The people of the motherland were frightened just after hearing this, but now they were relieved to hear Lex and the others say this.

Yes, how could there be such powerful superpowers? It must be fake.

"Is that so? Let's try it. For example, Lex Luthor is actually a girl."

Luther said in a wicked way that in order to create a strong character for the villain Doctor, he had to wait until now to turn Lex into a girl.

As soon as he finished speaking, Lex felt something change on his body. He took off his exoskeleton armor in disbelief. In fact, the exoskeleton armor verified his identity and expelled him.

This is Lex's own design to prevent others from obtaining his technology.

Now it becomes his own limitation.

"Lex, you..."

Clark was shocked, as was everyone else.

Because Lex really became a woman.

Blonde hair, blue eyes, fair skin America sweetheart!

"What did you do!!!"

Lex screamed hysterically, and, well, the sound was pretty good too.

"I just changed the facts. Now, except for us, Lex's established fact is that he is female and was born a girl. How about it? Isn't it interesting?"

Luther almost couldn't hold back his laughter, and then said.

The atmosphere around the Teen Titans was a little cold, mostly because they were scared.

Has Lex just turned into a girl, or is it a fact?

"In the world's perception, whether it is your birth information or your father, you will be considered a girl. Even if you want to go to a certain country to change your gender, at most you will change from female to male, and this is It is an established fact that my high-dimensional interference will fix the fact that no matter how many times you change your gender, you will eventually become a woman. Congratulations, Her Royal Highness Princess Lex Luthor."

Luther laughed unbridled.

Lex paled.

Others were sweating profusely.

It's so terrible, actually turning a person into a woman!

It's so cruel, and no one but them knows the truth of the world is that Lex turns out to be a man!

The little bat's scalp was numb. Such an ability was really terrifying. It was as simple as saying what he said.

"Oh, this Batman can also turn into a girl, which is quite interesting."

Then, the villain doctor suddenly said to the little bat.

The others immediately backed away and moved away from the little bat. This was mainly a subconscious behavior, as they were afraid that it would affect them.

"No, you can't do that!"

The little bat's eyes were red.

"Stop...ah, um, um..."

The little bat felt something strange in his body. The artificial muscle suit didn't match his current body, so he felt very uncomfortable. In addition, he was not used to his current body. All kinds of feelings made the little bat feel like he was stepping on clouds, floating and dying.

He fell to the ground, and the artificial muscle suit freed him. The little bat has now become a young girl with advanced development, slim and well-proportioned, hot body, and even hot and smoking.

The sky fell down for the little bat. He couldn't believe that he really turned into a woman, and he was groping up and down.

In the end, he sadly found that he really became a girl.

Luther almost followed the standard of Catwoman. Anyway, female Batman has appeared before, and so has Lex, but that female Lex is bald. What a terrible fact, even if Lex becomes Lex, he still can't change his fate of being bald.

"Doctor villain, change me back quickly, otherwise..."

Lex threatened and said viciously.

The fierce look in the little bat's eyes was similar. After all, she was only wearing a tights. In order to match the artificial muscle suit, it was naturally inappropriate for her to wear more things. As a result, her body was about to burst out, and it was so tight that the soldier boy almost wanted to whistle.

Chapter 435 Bat Princess and Bald Princess

But he didn't dare to brag, for fear of attracting the attention of the villain doctor and turning himself into a girl.

"Sorry, I can't do it. I no longer have the ability to interfere at high latitudes. I will have it after a while, but I may have forgotten this matter by then."

Luther said with a smile.

Lexi's pupils were about to burst.

"Okay, that's it for today. Next, I will continue to create superhero opponents, super villains and monsters. Only in this way can superheroes become the most eye-catching existence. I hope you will not be so easily Got it done."

Luther said, then disappeared.

"Asshole! Come out here, Doctor Villain!"

"You Bichi!"

Lexi couldn't control her violent outbursts, not to mention Little Bat, so Clark acted like a gentleman and took off his cloak to cover him.

Little Bat threw off his cloak. He still couldn't accept that he had become a girl and was resisting this.

Lex accepted the cloak instead. He knew very well that he was different from Little Bat. Little Bat's identity was probably an ordinary scientific researcher, but he was the heir to the Luthor Group. If what the villain doctor said was true, words.

With the way she is now, it is estimated that the headlines in newspapers and media tomorrow will be that the eldest lady of the Luthor Group appeared on the street in an unsightly manner.

Unexpectedly, shortly after the incident ended, Lex's father Lionel Luthor rushed to the scene in person.

"Father, I..."

Lex was not mentally prepared to deal with her serious father, but Lionel Luthor stepped forward.

"Lex, are you okay? I've told you before that girls are not suitable to be superheroes. You have to look up to Wonder Woman and learn from her to be a superhero!"

Lexi stared at her nagging father in shock.

Is this still his serious, cold father who doesn't have a good face for him?

Just because he turned into a woman, he was so caring and eager?

This is so unfair!

Lex thought.

The Lexis of this world does not have a sister, Lena Luthor.

He obviously doesn't know what it means that a daughter is her father's caring little cotton-padded jacket.

Lionel Luthor's reaction can only be said to be normal.

Little Bat and the others who know about it don't know either.

Little Bat thought of himself, what should he do?

In Alfred's eyes, he has always been a girl, but what about in the eyes of Luther and Clark?

Clark didn't even realize the fact that Bruce had become Bruce. After all, Superboy had a very moral bottom line and wouldn't use clairvoyance to see people without any problem. The people of the motherland might do it, but he was too lazy to see the true identity of Little Bat and felt that it was inappropriate. It deserves his attention.

Therefore, Clark did not realize that "Blush" and Little Bat were the same person. In his memory, "Blush" had always been a female since he was a child.

The villain doctor said that only the people present knew about the change of things this time. Clark "didn't know" that Bruce was Little Bat, which eliminated the possibility that he was a supernova. At least Little Bat would not think that he was It's a supernova.

Pretending is fun as long as it lasts.

Little Bat returned to Wayne Manor angrily. He stood outside and hesitated for a while, but finally went back.

"Welcome back, Miss Bluth."

Alfred hurriedly came up to meet her. After seeing that she was only wearing tights, he felt that the sky was falling. Was this, Cabbage was being humped?

Then I discovered that the tights seemed to be in good condition, with no signs of rupture or violent torn, so why did I need to take off the artificial muscle suit?

"Afu, there are photos of me when I was a child. Find them and let me take a look."

Little Bat said suddenly.

"No problem, Miss. Please look at this photo of you when you were one year old. It's so cute..."

Alfred collected a series of cute photos of his eldest daughter.

Looking at the strange yet familiar faces in the photos, Little Bat fell into deep thought.

So, the final flaw is the artificial muscle suit. Why should I design a men's artificial muscle suit that I can't wear?

If you ask Alfred about this matter, will you be able to make Alfred aware of the problem?

"What are you talking about, Miss Bruce? This is obviously a women's artificial muscle suit."

Alfred asked strangely after hearing what Little Bat said.

Little Bat was startled, and she started to put on the suit in front of Alfred, wanting to tell him with facts that this was a men's suit, and it was Bruce's original suit.

After putting it on, it fit perfectly.

This time the little bat was completely stunned.

Could she actually be able to do such a thing? She had been holding the suit, but it changed in her hands?

"Are you okay, Miss Bruce? Are you too tired? Go and have a rest. Just leave the maintenance of the suit and other matters to me."

Alfred said with concern.

Bruce looked at Alfred, feeling very tired.

She wanted to tell Alfred that she was originally a man, but if she really told him, Alfred might think that she had some kind of mental illness.

After Lux returned home, she also verified her various methods to find loopholes, just like the little bat, but naturally there were no loopholes. After enjoying the father's love that she had never had since she was a child, Lux encountered a more terrible father's love.

The old father said that she should not learn any superheroes in the future, and marry honestly. He thought that the two sons of the Luther family were very good. Whether it was Luther VI or Clark Luther, they were both handsome and well-educated.

Lux was confused. She had never experienced such treatment, but after thinking about it carefully, it was not difficult for her to understand that this was probably a marriage.

If Luther had not had a conscience, it would probably be that the little bat and Clark were engaged since childhood, and Lux would naturally not be able to escape.

It would be more interesting at that time, but now the two of them have not adapted to their identity as women, but it doesn't matter. Thought forms and ideologies are affected by physical factors, and female hormones will gradually make them become real women.

The matter of the villain doctor was reported after the Teen Titans came back, and then attracted the attention of the Fantastic Five.

However, they have never encountered any villain doctor, and they are skeptical about the fact that Batman and Lex turned into women, and even wonder if the Teen Titans have a second-year syndrome and imagined an opponent?

Chapter 436: Making a Big Thing

Even Wonder Woman is not immune, which makes the Teen Titans give up, but they still insist on the villain doctor's statement, intending to alert Superman Company.

Superman Company then established a file called "Villain Doctor".

The big villain who specializes in creating super villains and monsters, the mortal enemy of superheroes.

Of course, considering that the identity of the villain doctor is questionable, this file is only known to Superman Company.

It takes a certain level of superheroes to know about the villain doctor.

Little Bat began to review every word that the villain doctor said, and he tried to analyze the villain doctor's personality and thinking mode from it.

But Luther didn't know how many times she had played this routine, and he often played it in the Super Seminary Universe, so naturally the little bat would not find any flaws.

There were no loopholes, and the little bat felt very tricky.

The same is true for Lex. After all, she is also a high-IQ character, of course, it is impossible for her to give up so quickly, and Lex even plans to study the technology that can turn herself back into a man.

On the other hand, Luther was not idle either. He used his connections to get Catwoman, Harley Quinn, and Poison Ivy to his company. Since the little bat had become a woman anyway, these female villains were useless to him.

Although Poison Ivy was suspected of being a lesbian and often flirted with Harley Quinn, Luther didn't care. He had no idea about these female villains. He just wanted to have villains as his subordinates in the future. Isn't it good to have beautiful and pleasing female villains to set off others as rough and without background?

By the way, you can also intercept the daughter of the ninja master.

"Rice won't be born, after all, Batman has become a girl."

Luther said.

Of course, it's still early now, and that's when the little bat is about to reach middle age.

Luther is not in a hurry.

Seeing that this side has been put on the right track, the appearance of the villain doctor has given a good endorsement to the endless weirdos in the future, and indirectly set off the villain doctor's style.

Tired of beating up the young Batman, the little bat is not stubborn. He has not been active in Gotham City recently. He probably wants to avoid the Knight of Light. Every time he sees him, this sad guy rushes up and beats him up, saying that he is helping him exercise.

In fact, the little bat knows that he is just playing with himself!

Luther temporarily left the DC universe and went to the Marvel universe.

The incident of almost being turned into an angel before made Luther feel scared about the DC universe. The Supreme God paid too much attention to him, which was not a good thing, so Luther planned to temporarily avoid the edge and let the Supreme God pay attention to Lucifer.

Of course, it is not ruled out that he felt very bored and couldn't find Supergirl. Who knows where Kara ran to? She came to Earth later than Clark, but she can't be found until now.

Otherwise, Luther's family will have an extra sister.

Back to the Marvel universe, Luther felt that his imperial dimension had changed again.

The mysterious power that came from him almost becoming an angel resonated and echoed in the Marvel universe, and the one who responded to it was a parallel universe.

That is the universe of the comic series, the universe where the Avengers fight the Justice League!

In this universe, DC and Marvel are connected, and it can be regarded as two omnipotent universe-level bosses exchanging what they have.

Before, Luther's power was not strong enough, but this time after he came back from DC, the powerful angel power finally made this universe resonate.

What can half of the DC angel power do?

Luther felt that it seemed no problem to hang up and beat 99% of the dimensional demons.

Because this power is so awesome.

Therefore, it is not impossible for Luther to sense other parallel universes.

Even, Luther unexpectedly discovered that it seemed that as long as he wanted, he could open the channel to the DC universe.

What would happen if the channel to the DC universe was opened in the Marvel universe?

It must not be a friendly exchange, unless the last time he left the Marvel universe, OAA did something that he didn't know, and they used him to complete a communication?

The great will came at this moment, Luther was familiar with the road, lying flat and letting C, anyway, he knew from the hands of the Supreme God that he couldn't escape, so he simply didn't struggle.

The Great Will didn't do anything to Luther, or it might have done something, but Luther couldn't find it.

But Luther didn't care about this. It was better for the other party to let him know that He had been here than not knowing that the other party had come.

After he came back, he found that the means he had left behind had been successfully staged.

Loki and Ultron worked together seamlessly. The two had found the space fortress and even landed there, but the Illuminati didn't know about it yet.

Tony was studying "Vision".

After he temporarily made peace, he began to develop more advanced combat suits, and at the same time he was thinking about how to deal with Ultron.

After thinking about Ultron's plan to destroy and kill Jarvis, Tony realized that Ultron was likely to be afraid of Jarvis.

This was an inevitable development, but in the absence of the Mind Stone, Tony still created Vision.

Of course, this Vision was definitely not that Vision, but Jarvis.

In Tony's own words, it was "stronger and smarter" Jarvis, who upgraded to more powerful artificial intelligence technology.

After Jarvis had a body, he did not disappoint Tony.

Found a lot of Ultron's bases on Earth and destroyed these bases that continuously produced Ultron robots.

It caused a lot of losses to Ultron, and made Ultron determined to cooperate with Loki.

It really couldn't continue to deal with the increasingly powerful Illuminati by itself.

Steve was getting familiar with his power after transformation.

Now he has become the trump card of the Illuminati, and even the Hulk is not his opponent. Of course, when the Hulk gets angry, there is still no problem.

As for Captain Marvel, she is not Steve's opponent, which makes Captain Marvel feel very frustrated.

Fortress!

Ultron invaded the independent system here, the LAN settings, and the artificial intelligence named Friday and Veronica. Theoretically, it is impossible to invade here, but Ultron did it.

Although the possibility of the LAN being breached is only due to internal problems, Ultron quickly invaded the LAN of Fortress with the help of Loki. Before Friday and Veronica reacted, the invasion was successfully completed and controlled here.

Although there were fluctuations in the connection with the Earth, this kind of signal fluctuation is actually very normal.

Chapter 437 People who like to have fun are not afraid of trouble

Raditz didn't know how long he had been detained here.

But it shouldn't have been more than a year, otherwise Vegeta and Napa would have come to Earth and found themselves.

He had never imagined that sober confinement would be so unbearable, and after only such a short time, he was already close to madness.

Although Saiyans have the potential to greatly increase their combat effectiveness after being seriously injured and on the verge of death, but Tony naturally does not dare to give Saiyans too good recovery measures.

The anesthetic was injected non-stop, a minimum life-sustaining supply, passed directly from the cold tube into Raditz's mouth.

Various elements that can be maintained to a minimum are synthesized, and then after the steaming nutrient solution passes through the cold pipes, in the end, only the cold taste is left.

The temperature remains below zero, which is difficult for humans to adapt to.

Although he does not know the physiological mechanism of Saiyans, Tony can study it. At this temperature, all aspects of Saiyan's mobility and conditioned reflexes will be greatly reduced. It is so cold that Raditz's hands and feet become stiff, and his blood flow slows down. .

Moreover, as long as there is any accident, the pipes connected to the wounds all over Raditz's body will directly execute the "death injection".

Various chemical toxins and neurotoxins that are highly toxic to humans are all in amounts exceeding one thousand milliliters.

Once they are all released, not to mention killing Raditz, they will all be super poisonous that will kill millions of people in minutes.

Tony Stark would come once a month to regularly check on Raditz and take samples for research.

Now, here comes a group of uninvited guests.

Loki strode up to Raditz with the Mind Scepter in hand.

"My warrior, I have come to greet you."

Loki looked at Raditz, who was scarred and looking at him with one eye open, and was ecstatic.

Loki was quite afraid of the Saiyans. After all, he had seen with his own eyes what his stupid brother had been beaten into.

At that moment, in Loki's eyes, the Saiyans had surpassed Asgard. Except for Odin, an old man who didn't know if he could beat him, the Saiyans were invincible.

Now that he has the opportunity to control a Saiyan as his warrior, he will not have the final say in the nine worlds in the future!

As for what to do if the Saiyans invade, if I control a Saiyan, I can fight against the invading Saiyans.

When the time comes, join forces with the powerful guys in Midgard to kill the Saiyans, and then reap the benefits yourself!

Even, maybe he can fight other Saiyans through Raditz, and then control them and use them to his own advantage!

Raditz looked at Loki weakly. What was this Earthling talking about? How could a Saiyan become his warrior? Are all weak Earthlings so naive?

Ultron looked at Raditz, this is a Saiyan. If he can get his genetic sample, can he use cloning technology to get himself a Saiyan body?

For Ultron, he originally wanted a vibranium body, but now he has changed his mind. The vibranium body is not as popular as the Saiyan body.

Advocating for foreigners, Ultron disdains the bodies of earthlings and feels that they should be cleansed of earthlings and build a country and civilization belonging to his robot. However, after encountering the desperate Saiyans who are more powerful than himself, Ultron feels that Saiyans are hope, their hope!

Loki used the Mind Scepter, ripples of blue energy spread, and Raditz felt something trying to get into his brain.

He immediately started to struggle, but in this environment, Raditz couldn't struggle at all. He could only be controlled by Loki after one minute.

Loki saw Raditz's eyes turn blue, and he breathed a sigh of relief. At the same time, the phantom remained dignified and elegant, but the real body was already cheering for joy, extremely excited, and jumping around without anyone seeing it.

Luther watched from the side and found it irritating.

I didn't expect Loki to have such a side.

"Very well, Ultron, now shut these things down and let Raditz out."

Loki said looking at Ultron.

"As you wish, Your Highness Loki."

Ultron did not refuse. The other party had already controlled Raditz. If Raditz was needed to fight against the invading Saiyans in the future, Ultron would naturally not do anything.

Even if Tony didn't intend to liberate Raditz, so he didn't design an unlocking program at all, but who is Ultron, this kind of thing would naturally not be difficult for him.

After a series of operations, the shackles on Raditz's body were opened one by one, and Raditz also fell to the ground. The needles and other things separated from his body, making Raditz cry out in pain.

But he got out of trouble.

Raditz exhaled a long breath. Even though he was still scarred, he still felt better than ever.

This is what freedom tastes like!

Loki looked at Raditz's injuries and knew that he would need time to recover, so he did not plan to cause trouble, but left the battle fortress with Raditz.

Ultron, who was a step slower, looked at another place with interest, where Raditz's blood, various body fluids and samples were automatically collected by the Battlestar and frozen for storage, waiting for Tony to come and recycle them.

Ultron is cheaper now.

Ultron took these Saiyan samples away, and decided to vigorously develop cloning technology after returning. The most important goal is to kidnap all cloning technology experts.

Of course, before it is completed, Ultron does not want to alarm the Illuminati, so it did not cause any problems with the Space Fortress, and let it continue to contact Tony Stark as before.

Tony Stark had just come before, and it would take more than half a month before he would come again.

This time is enough for them to do things.

"Raditz is controlled, and it seems that everyone is looking forward to the good show, but don't worry, Raditz still has to rush to the DC studio."

Luther plans to go to the Dragon Ball world to catch another Raditz. Anyway, there is a time machine, and he can travel to a parallel time and space to catch Raditz.

In his Dragon Ball world, Raditz is missing, and it is impossible to revive Raditz through the Dragon Ball. His people are no longer in the Dragon Ball world, so how can there be a soul to revive?

So the best way is to travel through the parallel universe and catch Raditz who has just arrived on Earth!

It always feels a little less interesting to make one myself. It's not that I can't do it, but it's not that fun.

Let the people on DC Earth get used to the Saiyan invasion first.

Chapter 438 No. 18!

Raditz got the best recovery. Ultron found Dr. Zhao Helen. Her Cradle of Life technology is very suitable in this regard, second only to the Extremis virus.

After all, the Extremis virus is unreasonable.

Raditz just lay in, and in less than a moment, the injuries on his body were repaired by the Cradle of Life technology.

When Raditz came out, his energy became stronger, which made Loki worried, so he brainwashed and hypnotized him again.

Loki already knew that the control of the Mind Scepter was very strong, but it also had weaknesses. That is, after the head was hit hard, it was easy to restart and restart, and then the control effect was gone.

So Loki has been studying the Mind Scepter recently, and successfully let him research a new way to play the Mind Scepter.

The foundation of the first wizard in the Nine Realms is not in vain.

Luther did not expect Raditz to make such great progress.

Raditz was detected to have a combat effectiveness that reached the standard of a superior warrior, so he was judged to have the potential of a superior warrior.

Although he was regarded as a superior warrior in his childhood, he lacked experience in fighting strong enemies when he grew up, and did not exercise his tail, which is a weakness of Saiyans. The lack of training turned him from a superior warrior in his peers into a loser who was ridiculed by his peers.

This shows that Raditz has the potential, but it is a bit exaggerated to soar from 1500 combat power to 6000 combat power after being on the verge of death and then recovering. This is higher than Naba!

Naba's combat power is only 4000.

"I thought Raditz would soar to 4000 at most, but it turned out to be 6000?"

Luther was very surprised. Of course, he also knew that this was nothing. Just look at Sun Wukong and you will know. Every time he was on the verge of death and recovered, his combat power was multiplied. In comparison, Raditz's failure to soar to 10,000 was already a very weak improvement.

With 6,000 combat power, it may not be possible to destroy the solar system, but destroying the earth is already a piece of cake.

Loki was not in a hurry to let Raditz attack and rule Midgard.

He planned to solve this problem together when the Saiyans invaded.

On Ultron's side, through Dr. Zhao Hailun's life cradle technology, combined with the blood and body tissue samples he collected from Raditz, he successfully obtained the Saiyan's DNA and shaped it through the life cradle technology.

And Ultron also let Vibranium be injected into this cell, so that he would not have to worry about being injured or dying.

The enhanced version of the Vibranium Saiyan was born!

However, Ultron has discovered that this kind of Saiyan is very weak and does not have such strong power. It can only be cultivated and matured.

Luther looked at the Vibranium Saiyan created by Ultron. This Saiyan is not easy to be injured. In that case, the plug-in that can soar in combat power after being on the verge of death and then recovering will not be experienced.

And because it is a forced growth, directly shaping the adult version of the Saiyan, so the combat power of this Saiyan is also pitifully low, I am afraid it is not even as good as the young Sun Wukong.

Ultron didn't know that the Saiyans had gained their strength through fighting and training, and thought that it was because the Saiyans were not mature. It thought that the Saiyans were born so strong and had no concept of training.

He was looking forward to what would happen after Ultron began to transfer consciousness and found out about this.

By then, it would be too late for it to regret.

"Let's go and bring back Raditz, and by the way, see if Vegeta and Napal have arrived on Earth. If they do, we'll pack them up and bring them back together."

Luther activated his ability to travel through time.

Dragon Ball Universe!

Because of Luther's influence, Dr. Gero became his top doctoral researcher, and the Earth has always been very safe.

After all, supermodel things like androids have already been created.

Even if Vegeta and Napal invaded the Earth when he was away, they would only be beaten to a pulp and then captured by Dr. Gero for research.

"You're back, Boss."

Dr. Gro walked out with his hands behind his back. He was controlled by Luther's mental power, so there was no need to worry about his betrayal. However, Luther once again strengthened his mental control over him. Dr. Gro followed Android 16 and Android 17.

The last time Luther came here and told Dr. Gro about the laws and rules of artificial humans, Dr. Gro quickly completed this, so Androids 16 and 17 were controlled and had to obey Dr. Gro's orders.

If they violate Dr. Gro's orders now, they will be forced to shut down.

"Where's No. 18?"

Luther took a look and asked.

"No. 18, come here immediately."

Dr. Gro said.

The next moment, No. 18 appeared in front of the two. After seeing Luther, No. 18 was startled.

For some reason, she felt as if she had seen Luther and had a deep impression of him.

The last time Luther gave No. 18 a mental hint through the culture tank, it was just right at this time.

She and her twin brother were kidnapped by the Red Ribbon Army. After completely erasing their original memories, they underwent cruel transformation into artificial humans.

Therefore, the mental suggestion that No. 18 felt made her think that Luther was someone she knew before, but Dr. Gero called him BOSS, so she probably didn't have a close relationship with him?

Luther looked at No. 18 in front of him. Although he had seen it before, after seeing it now, he still felt pleasant.

Naturally, there is no comparison with the technological beauties in the Super Seminary. After all, they are all carefully crafted from the microscopic field, and there is no fault at all.

And when a two-dimensional character like No. 18 was transformed into a three-dimensional character, he was flawless and looked like a bastard in Marvel.

She has short blond hair, a delicate appearance, and an aggressive look in her eyebrows that ordinary women don't have, making her look wild.

It's completely the type of beheading both men and women.

"Identity verification, I am your BOSS, number 18."

Luther said.

No. 18 was startled, and then the instructions implanted by Dr. Gero appeared in his mind, obeying all orders from Luther.

Originally, No. 18 was Luther's scheduled bodyguard. Dr. Groh had no objection. Anyway, he only wanted No. 16 and No. 17.

We are still researching artificial humans, just to surpass Luther.

This is the fault of scientific researchers. They can't help but chase after something they can see. It has nothing to do with loyalty or not. They just want to surpass the BOSS. Such behavior can easily make a father.

However, Dr. Gero feels that with the laws and regulations of artificial humans, even if the new artificial human surpasses the BOSS, he can still control the opponent, so that he can also prove his abilities and skills to the BOSS!

Chapter 439 Bulma

Luther could see Dr. Gero's thoughts. He found it very interesting and supported Dr. Gero's attempt to commit suicide. Anyway, as a scientific researcher, if he forced him not to study these things, he would probably do it secretly.

Loyalty is loyalty, but it is not absolute loyalty.

Luther was also not interested in making Dr. Gero absolutely loyal to him. Just think about how perverted the Emperor's fanboys were.

If it's a woman, that's okay, but if it's a man, Luther thinks it's better to forget it.

No. 18 followed Luther and saw Luther casually taking out the weird cells. He didn't know where he took them out. He clearly didn't see anything on him.

Luther was already able to create Monster Cells from the Imperial Dimension, but he still gave Dr. Gero original Monster Cells from the Superman world.

Letting each world collide with each other and create sparks is Luther's greatest pleasure. Except for the existence of the Supreme God and the Great Will, he basically will not overturn other worlds, which is regarded as amusement for himself.

"What's this?"

For safety reasons, Dr. Gro would naturally not come into direct contact with the samples. He originally planned to transform himself into an artificial human to achieve an alternative form of immortality so that he could continue to research.

But Luther stopped him and demanded that his artificial human transformation must be able to defeat him before it can be transformed. Before that, Luther would use other methods to delay his aging.

Dr. Gero found this a challenge and accepted it.

So now he has no ability to protect himself and is extremely weak.

No. 16 held the sample on his behalf. After all, he was a robot, so he didn't have to worry about the weird cells.

"This is a magical substance I discovered in another world. It can stimulate the potential of living organisms at the cost of turning into monsters."

Luther said simply and clearly.

This aroused great interest in Dr. Gro.

"Really? That seems worth studying."

Dr. Gero said immediately.

Then Luther saw the situation of the earth today.

When he left, the large number of Luther's books he threw had turned this earth into a magical earth where magicians and martial artists competed.

It's just that martial arts masters have mastered Qi after all, and the upper limit Luther set for magic is just that.

It is impossible for him to let an ordinary person squander the explosive power, so the magician is not a very powerful opponent of the martial artist.

The martial arts masters also discovered that these magicians were just a little weird in their methods. In fact, in a real fight, the martial arts masters' conditioned reflex speed and shooting speed could completely defeat them.

In particular, a rising star "Sun Wukong" has emerged among martial artists.

In order to find his grandfather's missing relics, he stepped out into the mountains and forests where he lived. Then, by a series of coincidences, he did not meet Bulma, but instead became a disciple of Kame Immortal.

Just because King Pilaf was casually killed by Luther, the Great Demon King Piccolo could not be born. Now Sun Wukong is still participating in the World's No. 1 Martial Arts Association.

Raditz was packed away by Luther before he even appeared on Earth. As a result, Sun Wukong's current combat power is still very weak and he can only crush martial artists and magicians.

In addition, Luther will definitely take Vegeta and Napa away later, and Sun Wukong will probably still have several hundred points of fighting power when he reaches adulthood.

But this is not bad. The innocent Sun Wukong is much better than the scumbag Carter behind him.

Luther also met Bulma.

"Luther, you're back!"

Bulma hugged Luther happily and wouldn't let go.

She is no longer young. Luther, like a busy person, often appears and disappears. Bulma decided to capture Luther this time no matter what.

"Yeah, long time no see."

Luther nodded. He was going to take away Bulma's future husband. It didn't seem good to let Bulma stay alone in the empty room.

Although he had previously upgraded Bulma to a third-generation angel super gene, so he didn't need to worry about aging, it was not good to keep delaying it like this.

Bulma did not expect that Luther would be different after returning this time, and the two completed their marriage very quickly.

In the original plot, Vegeta was unwilling to hold a wedding ceremony with Bulma. This was also what Future Trunks said was Bulma's regret, because Vegeta was already dead by then.

Luther's words, of course, it is impossible not to do this just because his status and strength have surpassed the earth.

"Bulma, will you marry me?"

Luther looked at Bulma and took out the ring.

"I do!"

Bulma burst into tears, feeling that all these years of waiting had finally come to fruition.

No. 18, who was in the dark, felt depressed and uncomfortable for some reason. He felt as if his things were being taken away.

Dr. and Mrs. Breeve were very happy that little Boomer finally got married.

Now, except for their eldest daughter who has not come back from traveling with Spaceman Lark, they have nothing to worry about.

The capsule company can also be left to Bulma and Luther with confidence.

Although Bulma is already a third-generation angel, her fighting ability in front of Luther is still insufficient.

He was easily dealt with by Luther.

Bulma originally thought that he could conquer Luther, but he was conquered instead.

No. 18 was watching from outside. When he got angry, he kicked a building down.

"What happened? There was an earthquake?"

Bulma was startled, having already fallen into a deep sleep.

"It's okay, it's just a house that collapsed."

Luther comforted Bulma. He didn't expect that No. 18 would have such a feminine side. Was he trying to scare him?

The original plot didn't seem to be like this between her and Krillin.

"Ah, then go and save them."

Bulma said hurriedly.

"Someone has already gone. It's a magician."

Luther said.

Some magicians seek personal gain, while others use magic to benefit society and are selfless.

Luther treated these white wizards well. His power limit was higher, and his aging and death were delayed.

Black wizards didn't get such treatment and died quickly.

It was a righteous act to clean up the bad guys from the side and increase the number of good people in the world.

"Is that so."

Bulma felt relieved and went back to sleep.

Luther spent a few days with Bulma and planned to go to other parallel time and space through a time machine.

Luther had already told Dr. Gro about Vegeta and Napal. Even if the two of them came after he crossed over, it wouldn't be a problem.

Bulma modified the time machine, and Luther wrote down all the design drawings of the time machine, so that he could repair it even if there was any problem.

He adjusted the time to the year when Raditz appeared, and then started the time machine.

Chapter 440 Trying to be a Universe Emperor

Earth in the past!

Luther appeared here, and then saw a fireball appearing in the sky.

"The time is just right."

Naturally, he could clearly see that inside the fireball was Raditz's spaceship, so before the fireball landed, Luther packed up Raditz.

When the time comes, just go to the DC Universe and release it.

Then Luther started the time machine and returned to the earth in his time and space.

The parallel time and space in the Dragon Ball universe is very magical. If you go back and do nothing, it will be your own past and future. But as long as you make a few changes, it will immediately become a parallel time and space.

Theoretically, this is also consistent with the idea of parallel universes. However, in this case, the time machine loses its meaning.

It means that time is irreversible. I wonder if the same is true for Super Dragon Ball.

Luther took Raditz directly away, so this time and space was originally the past of his time and space, but it is no longer the past.

"Dr. Gero, start planning."

After Luther came back, he said to Dr. Gro.

"As you wish, BOSS."

Dr. Gero has been waiting for this day for a long time. Luther told him to take a longer view. What is the difference between just staring at the earth and a group of monkeys competing to be the monkey king?

Might as well go out and conquer the universe!

Therefore, Dr. Gro is ambitious and continues to develop artificial human technology for this day.

Although Androids 17 and 18 are made of special materials, resulting in Cell being incomplete after birth, it is not difficult to mass-produce artificial humans.

These mass-produced androids look exactly the same. They are all the same mechanical androids as No. 16. However, because they are mass-produced, their strength is naturally not as strong as those of No. 16 and the three of them.

According to Dr. Gro, their combat strength is only 10,000.

However, due to the input of the genes and data of all the martial arts masters in the world, plus the Saiyan cells and Namek cells provided by Luther, the combat power reached 10,000.

Vegeta is sad when he hears it, and sheds tears when he hears it.

A legion with a total strength of 10,000 people is enough to sweep the universe at this time.

The combat effectiveness of Dragon Ball Super was severely damaged later on, and Luther's current strength dared to show off.

The artificial man army captured the earth under the banner of Luther. The magicians and martial artists resisted stubbornly. Unfortunately, they were no match for the artificial man and were easily defeated. However, the artificial man did not kill them either.

They are needed for empire building, and population resources cannot be wasted.

In less than a day, the earth has been unified. The earth itself in Dragon Ball has a different environmental situation from the real earth. There are many countries, but the position of king is still traditional. Now after the unification, it has become the Earth Empire. .

None of the Briff family expected that in the blink of an eye, they would become the emperor's in-laws.

Bulma was originally opposed to Luther's behavior of ruling the earth, until those who resisted were not dead, but after being imprisoned, Bulma could only accept it.

She didn't expect Luther to do this, but she and Luther were already married, so there was nothing she could do.

The imprisoned rebels became slaves, and the hard work of building the empire was done to them.

Moreover, Luther also let people be released to let the people know the fate of the resisters. Although they did not die, they were more painful than death.

Good behavior can reduce the sentence, but you will be monitored by the Empire for life.

Luther plans to experience the feeling of being the emperor of the universe in this world first.

It is too difficult to be the emperor of the universe in the Marvel universe. Even Thanos dare not say that he is the emperor of the universe. He is just the overlord of one side.

It's better to go to a place like Dragon Ball where you know the basics and are confident.

Not long after the Earth Empire was established, the Android Legion began to organize an army.

Luther asked martial arts masters to collect Qigong techniques from various schools and teach them to people in the army.

This is called improving the combat effectiveness of the army in all aspects.

It is worth mentioning that Sun Wukong was also among the rebels, and Luther gave him no special treatment and allowed him to serve with him.

Earthlings are actually not weak. Refer to the following Klin, the strongest Earthling. He has potential, but it is not that easy to reach. After all, Klin has experienced the adventure of being exploited by the Great Elder of Namek and so on.

But it shouldn't be a problem to mass-produce soldiers with combat effectiveness above 50 points. As for 100 points, that's the level of the grown-up Monkey King and Tao Baibai.

In the past, there were not so many people because there were not so many martial arts masters. Now Luther promotes martial arts practice by all people and encourages everyone to become a martial arts master.

A hierarchy of citizens was also set.

It is a different kind of aristocratic system.

Those whose combat effectiveness reaches 10 points are citizens of the empire. Non-citizens have various privileges and benefits.

By tilting resources, everyone is stimulated to work hard to become stronger.

Stop thinking about things like the economic system, political opinions, cultural background, past history, and religious beliefs.

Although culture and history are the foundation for maintaining a race, Luther has now ruled the earth!

Then these things must be changed. Luther is also thinking about having a "Hydra invasion from another world" someday. At that time, the Earth's Hydra will invade Marvel's Earth, or invade DC's Earth... ..Hmm, how about DC getting a Hydra out there?

The political system of the whole world must undergo earth-shaking changes and become Luther's system. The economic lifeline must also be in Luther's hands. The language and writing must also be unified under the situation of great unification, at least the official language must be unified.

Then the historical culture and schools of thought that are not conducive to the rule of the empire must also be changed. The burning of books and burying of scholars is actually played in this way.

Not to mention religious beliefs, which are the top priority. If it doesn't work, just ban them directly. Learn from the emperor brother next door, the golden big guy, Luther will become the new belief, the supreme, the emperor with equal power and divine power!

Of course, the emperor brother himself is unwilling to become the emperor.

Let all the people in the empire abandon the barriers, integrate and unify, regardless of their superiority and inferiority, to form one country, one race, and one civilization!

However, this thing is not to do it if you can. Luther's thinking is far beyond that of ordinary people, and he naturally knows the problems that integration will bring.

Multi-ethnic integration is inevitable after the unification of the world. This is the general trend and it is imperative.

It is not easy to merge a small race into a large race. The races have different blood, culture and language, and even had deep hatred in the past, so this kind of integration will inevitably be resisted.

This resistance is not only a provocation to the ruling authority, but will actually undermine the stability of the rule.
