

Kryptonian 441

Chapter 441 Earthlings Great Hybrid Plan

However, Luther is already a mature person, not the kind of keyboard warrior who shouts "Those who obey me will prosper and those who disobey me will perish" and "Only dead Indians are good Indians" on the Internet.

Even the crazy terrorists who are brainwashed by religion will not shout like this, because they will take action directly.

What is rule?

Rule is people-oriented, my friend.

It is not people-oriented in the sense of equality for all, but people-oriented in the sense of people as capital!

If the ruler only knows that those who obey me will prosper and those who disobey me will perish, then he is just a tyrant and a foolish ruler.

What the ruler should know is that all people are capital to create more value for you.

Of course, this does not mean that the ruler will not obey me and those who disobey me will perish, but he must distinguish the degree.

For those subversive elements who explicitly or secretly oppose the rule of the empire, it is natural to obey me and those who disobey me will perish!

Kill them until they are extinct, or even destroy their race and culture.

And if we want to make those who obey us prosper and those who disobey us perish just because we are dissatisfied with a certain policy, and only the dead Indians are good Indians, then it would be a waste.

The ruler should sacrifice the least capital in exchange for the greatest benefit, that is, to put benefit first.

The arbitrary tyrant is naturally also a ruler, but not a long-term ruler, nor a ruler beneficial to a civilization.

In this regard, Luther has a good learning object, so he will naturally do the same.

He has finished reading the culture of the earth in the Dragon Ball world in one minute. It is clear that although it is not as complicated as the earth in the real world, it is also a diversified earth. Luther's policy for this is to promote racial integration through preferential treatment!

What preferential treatment?

Preferential treatment of their culture and language, preferential treatment of their education, this is the top priority. Education can shape thoughts and define thoughts. The loyal dogs of the empire... no, the people of the empire recognize the empire from education!

Students of small races must be given extra points for exams, and those who fail can be given extra points to pass, those who pass can be given extra points to second-class, and second-class can be given extra points to first-class... I am going too far.

There are bonuses for good exam results, and money and honors are used to stimulate small races to learn and actively participate in education.

Ten years of compulsory education is Luther's preferential treatment for small races and even the people of the empire.

You must know that no matter whether it is a large race or a small race, it is just an interest group. History, culture, writing, language and even religious beliefs are just a judgment mechanism to distinguish one's own people. Those who agree with this standard are one's own people, and those who do not agree are outsiders.

For example, the simplest way to change nationality or even marry and integrate into the local culture is to agree with this standard.

So, how is this standard passed down?

It is definitely not innate knowledge, but education!

Parents' education is the first step in establishing the standard, knowing what race you are.

Now Luther has given them a lot of preferential treatment, especially the benefits and preferential treatment for education, which is almost the same as giving it away for free.

When they are stimulated to receive education, they will learn the history set by Luther, the language set by Luther, and the writing set by Luther in school. It doesn't take two generations, and the new generation will soon be shaped. By then, they will not even recognize the name of race.

As for whether protecting their culture will affect the great integration?

That was just an order without any practical significance that Luther gave to show his generosity as a ruler.

To the outside world, it is natural to say that we respect ethnic culture, and the culture of each ethnic group is a treasure of human civilization.

In fact, human beings are very realistic and lazy creatures. It is not ruled out that there may be those who are naturally hardworking, but the number is too small.

And for things that are not used, how many people will deliberately learn?

Human beings have so much knowledge so far, and the average amount of human knowledge mastered by each person is probably no more than 0.0001%, right?

No matter who they are, they have to live. When they grow up, they have to face reality and life first.

When they go to find a job, they will find that their original racial values are incompatible with the values of the interviewer. Will the interviewer give up people who are in line with their own values for their racial values and ideological culture?

Definitely not, unless you can let him have unspoken rules, and they have to be handsome men and beautiful women. After all, appearance is justice everywhere.

When they join the work, everyone uses the common language and writing stipulated by Luther, and their original racial language is worthless and not worth mentioning.

In this case, how many people are willing to learn these useless and time-wasting things?

Since it is useless and time-wasting, naturally no one will pay attention to it. Even if an order is issued to protect this culture, at most people will feel that they have learned useless cold knowledge again. There is such a culture in the world.

After Luther issued policies and instructions one by one, the empire began to move forward at a slow and firm pace.

It is just getting started and is now building the foundation. These policies are the foundation. Once built, the empire can basically be said to be as stable as Mount Tai.

Even if Luther, the God Emperor, is gone, it doesn't matter, there is still Dr. Gro.

Rule is a matter of force. The emperor is the one with strong soldiers and horses. What I just said is all about maintaining rule, and force is the basis for maintaining all this.

All people practice martial arts just to get better soldiers. Genes are all about survival of the fittest. It doesn't make sense that the descendants of the strong are weak. At least, from generation to generation, the earthlings will definitely become stronger.

Luther also thought about whether to introduce Marvel's earthlings. After all, the origin of Marvel's earthlings is complicated. One theory is that they are the work of the Celestials, so mutants and aliens are born.

One theory is that the earth is the heart of eternity, and the earthlings are naturally the children of eternity. In addition, this generation of eternity is technology, so technology is booming, and it seems that eternity can replace people.

Moreover, the mutation rate of earthlings is the highest in the universe. Any mutated superhero or super villain is a strong man that is hard to find in the three empires in the universe. In the comics, the Kree is interested in the endless powerful superheroes and super villains of earthlings, and they specially capture people for research.

Luther doesn't know what the hybrid of the two earthlings will mutate into, but no matter how they change, they are definitely earthlings.

By the way, the earthlings in One Punch Man's world can also be tried. Forget about the DC universe. In the universe with a creationist background, God knows what hidden mechanisms those earthlings have.

It would be nice if a super earthling could be created after mixing it up like this.

Chapter 442 The Saiyans are coming!

When the Earth Empire was steadily building, Luther returned to the DC Universe.

Before he left, he left a clone in case of emergency, after all, it was no longer the time to leave without worrying about it.

Now he is a person of status.

If you want to maintain this status, you naturally need to have backup measures.

After returning, Luther realized that two years had passed.

Superman Company is now thriving and prosperous, becoming the world's strongest company, a giant world giant!

No company in human history has such a status as Superman Company. Thanks to the plans and policies formulated before Luther left, Superman Company has successfully reached this point.

The new complex of the Superhuman Complex has now become the new mountain of America, and it is still a mountain that overwhelms other mountains.

Old Luther followed Luther's instructions and showed no mercy. Anyone who blocked it and opposed it died quietly in the hands of the weirdos or in the attacks of monsters.

After seeing that the boys of the Teen Titans have grown up and are now in the troubles of adolescence, Luther knew that the opportunity had come.

If you have time to fall into the troubles of adolescence, then come and fight monsters!

In this way, there will be no adolescent troubles, because mankind is on the road to extinction.

However, there is still a small surprise. It seems that because the concept of superheroes is deeply rooted in people's hearts, not long after Luther left, Supergirl ran out and registered for her debut and became a superhero.

Now she has become the captain of the "Super Pretty Girl" team among the three giants promoted by Superman Company.

The Big Three refers to the three most popular superhero teams, the Fantastic Five, the Teen Titans, and the Super Pretty Girls are the Big Three. The remaining superhero teams are second-tier or third-tier.

There are also bottom-tier superhero teams and individual superheroes.

Once the Super Pretty Girl team was launched, it immediately became popular. After all, who doesn't like to see beautiful women, even women are the same.

The Teen Titans had a normal style, but now because the little bat has become "Batgirl" and Lex has become "Wisdom Girl", the Teen Titans has successfully appeared the phenomenon of quarreling CP.

It is quarreling, not hyping. Hype CP is officially launched, but quarreling CP is the spontaneous behavior of fans.

Fans have made 30 kinds of CPs between the remaining four men and two girls of the Teen Titans, and there is also a more perverted three-way CP.

The official hype of CP is mainly based on the ambiguous daily interactions between the members of the Teen Titans, and the main focus is on the misunderstanding of the fans themselves. The official does not make any explanation or take the initiative to guide.

This strategy was also set by Luther. He knows very well that all kinds of CP fans are the main reason for the popularity.

Fans attack CP fans on each other, and CP fans also attack each other. Only in this way can there be public opinion, traffic, and popularity.

It's just that the effect is too good, and even the Fantastic Five, Super Girls and other superhero teams have this kind of CP fans and quarreling CP.

Fortunately, superheroes are all powerful, so extreme fans can't do whatever they want and do anything extreme.

"It's time to let humans know that they are not alone."

Luther snapped his fingers.

A fireball appeared out of thin air above Washington, America.

As the capital of America, its importance is self-evident.

Luther didn't want to start with New York.

It's better to give this rare opportunity to Washington than to let New York suffer.

And Washington is too important.

It is a special administrative region directly governed by the American Congress, so it does not belong to any state in America.

The main industries are all related to government agencies. It is the location of most American federal government agencies and embassies of various countries in America. It is also the location of the headquarters of international organizations such as the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, and the Organization of American States. It also has a large number of museums and cultural and historical sites.

The "capital" generally refers to the area occupied by federal government agencies; for example, the "District of Columbia" refers to the area occupied by residents.

The ground occupied by government agencies accounts for about 1/2 of the area of the Special District.

"Boom!!!"

With a loud noise, President America in the Black Palace was shocked.

"What's going on!"

He couldn't believe it. Was there an earthquake in Washington?

Otherwise, how to explain that this was the sound of an explosion?

You know, this is Washington!

The place where the fireball fell attracted the attention of the Washington police and the military, but the police naturally rushed to the scene quickly.

"A meteorite hit Washington? But why didn't they receive any warning before?"

Several policemen were dumbfounded. This was really beyond imagination. It was the first time in so many years. Fortunately, they had not forgotten what they learned in the police academy. However, because they ate too many donuts and coffee, their bodies were seriously out of shape and they were out of breath after running a few steps.

But they still blocked the scene, dispersed curious passers-by, and waited for further instructions from their superiors.

At this time, there was movement in the big pit where the fireball hit.

"What's going on?"

Adam King, who was holding a cup of milk tea to replenish the sugar consumed when he ran over, looked at the big pit curiously.

This was the first time they had seen such a large crater. It was estimated that the meteorite that hit was not small.

Did the meteorite inside begin to break?

The next moment, they saw a huge metal ball appear in front of them as the flame inside the meteorite disappeared.

The white surface and slightly dirty shell made it clear to humans that this thing was definitely not a natural meteorite.

And it was open at this time.

"What happened, Adam King?"

Another policeman with a donut in his hand came over.

"Oh my god..."

Then the donut in his hand fell to the ground.

Because a man came out of the meteorite!

"Alien?"

"But he looks like us, he looks like an Asian..."

In any case, the other party's appearance was too special and surprising.

Adam King even thought of the alien movies he had seen, and every time it was the police and soldiers like them who died the most miserably.

Contact of the third kind!

Direct contact with aliens, seeing the UFO clearly, especially seeing the humanoid advanced life forms in it clearly.

The first type of contact means that the UFO has no effect on the surrounding objects;

The second type of contact means that the UFO affects the surrounding objects (such as leaving burning marks on the ground);

The third type of contact means seeing alien creatures on the UFO, including direct contact with them.

Chapter 443 Grand Scene

"Hello, hello, we are from Earth and we don't mean any harm."

Adamkin said quickly.

After more than two years of being baptized by various weirdos and monsters, they are now very receptive to new things, and aliens are not that strange, even if they look very similar to humans.

"Is this the Earth?"

Raditz ignored Adamkin who greeted him and flew out of the pit. Then his combat power detector detected Adamkin beep by drop.

"A scumbag with a combat power of only 5."

Then he looked around.

"What's going on? Why do people on Earth still exist? What on earth is that kid Kakarot doing?"

Raditz looked at the surrounding buildings with dissatisfaction. At a glance, he knew that the people on Earth were living well, instead of being hunted by Kakarot and hiding underground in fear all day long.

This is also the current situation where most Saiyan cubs are sent to other planets for destruction.

It's just that Kakarot doesn't seem to be able to do even such small things well.

Raditz then began to search for Kakarot.

After seeing Raditz flying up, Adamkin and the others immediately ran away. This alien was definitely not a situation they could solve. They had to notify the "Black Chapter Department" immediately!

The Black Badge Department was forced by America to form a department that dealt with humans and monsters with special abilities. This was the so-called Black Badge Department.

With a special black official seal and imprint, it is a powerful privileged organization that overrides America's three major intelligence agencies, the obscene FCN!

Not to mention having the power to mobilize every department in America.

There are also 10 billion special funds approved by the American Congress, and a large number of industries donated by a lot of wealthy people to support the establishment.

As soon as this black chapter department was established, countless knowledgeable people shuddered.

It also made countless careerists think a lot about it.

After all, unlike Superman Company, it is still a private enterprise, and the Black Seal Department is a privileged department.

Almost everyone with insight can see how terrifying this organization will eventually expand to if it is not restrained!

And it is naturally impossible to restrict it. Its power is almost unlimited and there are few restrictions. Privileged departments with various industries should not appear in the first place.

In other words, modern society, no matter which country it is, should not have such a department in the power framework.

But it still appeared, and no one could stop it!

After the Black Label Department received the notice, it immediately notified Superman Company.

Just as the people of the motherland said in the black robe pickets, the Ministry of National Defense did not tell them about the air crash, leaving them unable to save the crashed plane.

The advantage and importance of this intelligence is now reflected through the Black Seal Department. Even the Ministry of National Defense cannot intercept the Black Seal Department. The two sides are departments of the same level. In fact, the power of the Black Seal Department is still higher than that of the Ministry of National Defense.

After learning about the appearance of aliens, America's first reaction was to block the news and prevent it from leaking to other countries.

The Black Chapter Department arranges superheroes and troops to go and try to make contact with aliens.

At the same time, Raditz was looking for Kakarot but was surprised to find that there were multiple targets with high combat effectiveness on this earth.

"Kakarot couldn't have been killed, right?"

Raditz came to this conclusion. After all, any of these combat strengths are superior to Kakarot. The Kakarot sent to the earth has less than 50 combat strengths, even if it can turn into hundreds of combat strengths through giant ape transformation. , but if he doesn't have time to transform, it's normal for him to be killed.

"What a waste. Forget it. As a brother, I will help him take care of this mess, and then I will deal with the earth after I finish the things over there!"

Raditz became annoyed when he saw these earthlings. He raised his hand and fired a qigong wave.

His brother was probably dead, so it was strange that he was in a good mood.

The idea is different from that of Raditz in the original plot. Raditz in the original plot thought that Piccolo was Sun Wukong, then went over to take a look, and either left after finding out, or scared Piccolo to death.

Now, Raditz thought Kakarot had been killed, so he killed him directly.

As soon as the qigong wave came out, Adam Jin and the others were killed immediately before they could run away. At the same time, this explosion, which was comparable to a two-thousand-pound bomb, also caused a sensation throughout Washington.

A two-thousand-pound bomb was enough to blow up several streets, and there was a risk of death from shattered internal organs even from a few hundred meters away.

There is an example of someone who was knocked away by the shock wave of a bomb from a distance. He got up and thought he was fine, but when he got back he died due to internal bleeding.

So don't think that the operations of movie characters can be imitated. The human body is still very fragile. In front of the shock wave, the surface of the body may be fine, but the inside has been shattered or injured.

Raditz's shot was equivalent to being released in the crowd, because there were many people watching the excitement and reporters, so he directly killed hundreds of people. This was a direct killing, and then indirectly caused thousands of casualties.

Countless screams and panic rang out.

Hundreds of people died in an instant, and even people who were injured far away died from internal bleeding.

For a moment, there was chaos in Washington, and then the crowd fled in fear, and countless people were crying.

"Alien attack! Alien attack!"

"Help, help my wife!"

"Don't step on me!"

"Run!"

Screaming, crying, and panic were heard everywhere.

After the explosion in Washington, the whole of America was shaken.

The news of the alien invasion spread like wildfire.

Countless people began to panic, and at this time, the top leaders of America also held an emergency meeting.

At this time, there was no quarrel or disagreement among the top leaders of America. Everyone agreed that this must be an alien invasion.

All of a sudden, the whole of Washington was boiling.

The president ordered the highest level of alert, and all non-military guns and ammunition in the capital were confiscated. At the same time, the Third Infantry Division, which was still fighting overseas, was immediately recalled!

120 tactical missile battalions were activated and ready to fight. The Ministry of Defense was fully taken over by tens of thousands of National Guards, and the military took over the defense. The whole city was under curfew!

All transportation was suspended, all news media were blocked, and the whole city was under martial law!

Countless people were forced to evacuate, countless people were trapped in place, and countless people were still running around.

The whole of Washington was in chaos.

"What are you doing? Aliens have broken in, what are you still doing here?"

"Black Chapter, mobilize all the forces in America, mobilize all superheroes and the army to fight the aliens, and block the news. Don't let this news leak to other countries!"

Chapter 444: Fierce Raditz

The American top leaders reached a consensus, and the Black Chapter Department and the Ministry of Defense also took emergency action.

The American military received the news at the first time and responded quickly, starting to mobilize all resources to deal with this sudden crisis.

Various fighters, tanks and ground forces were deployed one after another, ready to deal with any possible situation.

The battle officially started!

The American military responded quickly and mobilized a large number of fighters and tanks to support the ground forces.

However, Raditz showed amazing strength and speed.

At the beginning of the battle, the American military dispatched a large number of fighters to bomb Raditz.

However, Raditz dodged these attacks with amazing reaction speed, and even shuttled freely among the fighter formations.

He used the power of "qi" to shoot down the fighters one by one, and the sky of Washington was covered with explosions and wreckage.

The ground forces also carried out fierce bombardment and firing, trying to cause damage to Raditz.

However, these attacks also failed to shake Raditz.

Tank shells exploded around Raditz, but he just smiled and was unharmed.

Even the fleet anchored nearby launched artillery fire at Raditz, but these shells exploded when they approached Raditz, as if blocked by an invisible force.

Raditz just waved his hand lightly, and the fleet was shaken by a powerful energy wave and paralyzed instantly.

Seeing that their weapons and tactics were ineffective against Raditz, the American military fell into panic.

They realized that in the face of such supernatural forces, conventional weapons and tactics could no longer play any role. They had to reassess the situation and find new ways to deal with this crisis.

"The aliens are so powerful. Our weapons are obviously upgraded for weirdos and monsters, but they don't do any damage to him!"

"Damn it, you know, these weapons will hurt even the most powerful monsters. Are the monsters on Earth really not as good as the monsters in the universe?"

Raditz flew in the air, releasing powerful energy waves and indiscriminately attacking ground targets.

High-rise buildings, bridges, streets and vehicles were destroyed one by one.

The whole city was in a sea of fire and chaos.

People fled everywhere, trying to find a safe shelter. However, there was nowhere to escape, because the whole city had become a ruin.

Under Raditz's attack, the American military suffered heavy losses.

Many soldiers and special forces were killed or seriously injured in the battle.

The military had to retreat and readjust tactics and deployment. They understood that in order to defeat Raditz, they had to take a completely new approach.

The president took Air Force One to escape. He knew that Washington could not be saved and could only try his best to prevent Raditz from leaving Washington to destroy other cities.

He ordered to prevent Raditz from leaving Washington at all costs and sent more troops and resources to the battlefield.

At the same time, Raditz did not stop attacking. He flew in the air and used energy waves to attack ground targets.

He destroyed many high-rise buildings, bridges and important facilities, causing chaos in the whole city.

Buildings exploded and burned, and the streets were full of rubble and debris. People fled their homes in panic and looked for safe shelters.

Raditz also launched a fierce attack on the ground forces.

He used energy waves and cyclones to destroy or overturn tanks, armored vehicles and soldiers one by one.

Some soldiers tried to fight back with guns and missiles, but these weapons were no threat to Raditz.

His body seemed to be able to absorb or resist any attack, and his energy waves were able to destroy all obstacles.

Under Raditz's attack, the American military suffered heavy losses and the soldiers suffered heavy casualties.

They had to retreat and readjust their tactics and deployment.

In addition, Raditz also launched an attack on important national institutions in Washington.

He destroyed government institutions such as the Black House and the Capitol, paralyzing the country. The entire city fell into chaos and panic, and people watched helplessly as the once prosperous city was destroyed.

Despite the military's great efforts, Raditz still easily left the ruined Washington unscathed.

He showed amazing strength and speed, shuttling through the ruins and ignoring all obstacles.

The military launched a large number of missiles and artillery shells to try to stop Raditz from leaving, but these attacks seemed so insignificant in front of Raditz.

He just waved his hand lightly, and these attacks were resolved one by one. Neither the dense artillery fire nor the missile attack could cause any substantial damage to him.

After the fierce battle, Raditz left Washington unscathed.

After Raditz left Washington, he flew across America and attacked cities and villages indiscriminately.

First, he came to Chicago, a prosperous city known as the "Windy City".

Raditz hovered in the air, releasing a powerful energy wave, instantly destroying skyscrapers, commercial districts and residential areas in the city center.

The sound of explosions, screams and burning flames intertwined to form a hellish picture. Soon, the whole of Chicago became a ruin, and the once prosperous city was now only left with debris and rubble.

Then, Raditz flew to Los Angeles, a city full of Hollywood dreams and vitality.

He released energy waves wantonly, destroying movie studios, theaters, and entertainment venues. The entire Hollywood area instantly turned into a sea of fire. People fled everywhere, trying to find a safe shelter, but there was nowhere to escape. The whole city was shrouded in fear and despair.

Then he continued to fly east and came to New York City, a metropolis known as the "City That Never Sleeps".

Raditz released powerful energy waves, destroying landmark buildings and attractions such as Times Square, Fifth Avenue, and Central Park. The entire New York City fell into chaos and panic. People fled their homes in fear, but many were trapped in the ruins and could not escape.

Raditz's journey of destruction continued.

He flew over cities such as Philadelphia, Houston, and Boston, and everywhere he went was a mess. The whole country fell into panic and chaos.

The president ordered a national state of emergency and mobilized all resources and forces to deal with the crisis.

However, in the face of Raditz's powerful strength and unparalleled combat ability, humans seemed helpless.

"Damn, Raditz is so efficient, much more ferocious than the one in Marvel."

Luther didn't expect that Raditz could do such a big thing.

Chapter 445: Nuclear explosion, instant kill of superhero

Originally, the Fantastic Five and the Teen Titans were about to arrive in Washington, but before they arrived, Raditz had destroyed the forces of Washington and the American military and left in a swagger.

Only at this time did the terrifying and powerful alien invasion of the Saiyans show how terrifying they are. They can easily explode nuclear weapons and fly at supersonic speeds. They are basically difficult to intercept and attack. Even if they use nuclear weapons, they will be avoided by the other party.

Now the whole of America is in fear. They don't want to continue to hide the idea that the Saiyan Raditz, an alien, has come to Earth, and they can't hide it anymore. With such a big commotion, they really think that other people are fools.

After witnessing the powerful strength and unparalleled combat ability of the Saiyan Raditz, the top military officials of America realized that they needed to adopt a new strategy to deal with this crisis.

They understood that they could not cause substantial damage to Raditz with the existing weapons and tactics alone.

The American military began to cooperate with the Teen Titans and the Fantastic Five.

They realized that the military alone could not defeat Raditz, and the superheroes had some special abilities and tactics that might be able to hurt him.

So the military provided some advanced technology equipment and intelligence support to help the superheroes develop a more effective attack plan.

At the same time, the military also began to study Raditz's abilities and weaknesses.

They organized a special team of scientists and researchers to conduct in-depth research on Raditz.

This special team used the military's laboratories and resources to conduct a comprehensive analysis of Raditz's body, energy, and fighting methods, trying to find his weaknesses or breakthroughs.

"You are the most powerful warriors on this planet. Gather together and save me from cleaning up one by one."

Raditz said.

"Clean up?"

Diana has never encountered such an alien invasion. If she hadn't accepted modern society for so many years, she might have no idea about aliens.

"I am the strongest fighting nation in the universe, Saiyan Raditz. It's not wrong to say that you are invading. Try to struggle to please me as much as possible!"

Saiyan Raditz took the lead in launching an attack with his powerful strength.

He rushed towards the Fantastic Five at an astonishing speed, intending to defeat them in one fell swoop.

Black Bat cleverly avoided Raditz's attack with his high-tech battle suit.

At the same time, he used his equipment to counterattack Raditz, and then was whipped away by Raditz's tail and disintegrated in mid-air, and the whole person was torn into pieces.

The Deep Sea King used his ability to communicate with fish... Bah, using his powerful physical strength comparable to that of marine creatures to fight.

"Blue Whale!"

He shouted, and the dorsal fin and other features of the blue whale appeared on his body. At this moment, he gained the tonnage and strength of the largest creature on the planet!

Then he was punched in the head by Raditz, as easy as popping a balloon!

"Black Bat! Deep Sea King!"

Everyone was shocked and looked at this scene in disbelief.

So many dangerous battles, the two had experienced it, but when facing this alien, there was a reduction in personnel, and two people died at once!

However, Raditz is a terrifying enemy who destroyed dozens of cities in America. He is an unprecedentedly powerful enemy.

If ordinary superheroes like Black Bat and Deep Sea King are not killed instantly when facing him, it must be the protagonist's halo.

"Don't be dazed!"

Iron Bone used his copying ability to create various high-tech weapons to fight Raditz.

Raider even discharged electricity on a large scale, but his ordinary lightning was too weak to hurt Raditz.

At the same time, members of the Teen Titans also joined the battle. A group of young superheroes such as Superboy, Homelander and Soldier Boy used their power to fight against Saiyan Raditz.

Supergirl was not to be outdone. She dealt with Raditz with amazing strength and speed.

The American military also played an important role in the battle. They used advanced weapon systems and tactical strategies to provide strong support for ground forces.

Various fighters and tanks bombarded Saiyan Raditz fiercely, trying to weaken his power.

However, despite facing multiple attacks, Saiyan Raditz still showed amazing strength. He fought the Fantastic Five, Teen Titans, and the American military all on his own, and was not at all inferior.

"What kind of monster is this!"

"Are all aliens so powerful?"

"Didn't you hear him say that he is the strongest fighting race in the universe, the Saiyans, which means the strongest race in the universe?"

"So, we are fighting the most powerful creature in the universe???"

His powerful strength amazed everyone.

Although the combined forces of the Fantastic Five, Teen Titans, and the American military were numerous, they still seemed powerless in the face of the powerful power of the Saiyan Raditz.

In the face of Raditz's powerful power, most of the attacks seemed futile.

With his super defense, he easily resisted the attacks of various high-tech weapons and superheroes, and once Raditz fought back, it was a one-shot kill!

Captain America, with his courage and superpowers, has become a unique and powerful existence.

He engaged in close combat with Raditz with amazing strength and endurance.

Although Raditz's power is unmatched among many superheroes, Captain America can gradually adapt to and resist Raditz's attacks through his courage and perseverance.

During the battle, Raditz showed his powerful Qigong wave skills.

He gathered energy in his hands and then launched the Qigong waves with amazing power.

These Qigong waves are extremely powerful and can easily rewrite the terrain. Destroying a mountain is as easy as destroying a small hill.

Facing Raditz's Qigong waves, the superheroes felt unprecedented pressure.

Even they who have various superpowers seem so small in front of Raditz's Qigong waves. After all, no one will release a nuclear bomb during a battle.

The power of the Qigong wave shocked the entire battlefield, and the aftermath of the explosion even affected the surrounding towns and buildings.

However, even in the face of such a powerful enemy, the superheroes did not give up resistance. They used their respective abilities to try to resist Raditz's Qigong wave attacks. At the same time, they were also looking for opportunities to try to launch a fatal attack on Raditz.

Captain America, with his courage and perseverance, became stronger and stronger in the battle.

He rushed towards Raditz and tried to fight him in close combat.

Chapter 446 Easily changing the terrain, doomsday is coming

Raditz looked at the exhausted coalition forces with a disdainful smile on his lips.

He looked at these so-called superheroes on Earth and mocked.

"You earthlings are so weak! Your self-righteous superpowers and fighting skills are not worth mentioning in my eyes!"

Raditz's words stung the coalition's heart like a needle.

They understood that Raditz was right.

Despite their superpowers, they are nearly defenseless against Raditz's immense power. They try to defeat Raditz using various tactics and strategies, but all seems to be in vain.

"Saiyan, you will regret saying this to an Amazon warrior!"

Wonder Woman Diana shouted angrily.

"We will definitely defeat you!"

Raditz sneered disapprovingly.

"Defeat me? You earthlings are not qualified enough! I came here to conquer your planet, not to play children's house games with you!"

Clark gritted his teeth in anger.

"Don't be too arrogant! We will definitely find your weakness and defeat you!"

Raditz shook his head disdainfully.

"You can't find my weakness, because I have no weaknesses! No matter how you attack, you can't hurt me at all!"

Captain America took a deep breath and said firmly.

"We won't give up! We will definitely find a way to defeat you!"

Captain America used his shield to block Raditz's attack, and there was a strong banging sound on the shield.

At the same time, he uses his great strength and fighting skills to start a fierce battle with Raditz. He moved quickly, dodging Raditz's attacks and constantly launching counterattacks.

Clark and Supergirl Kara used air superiority during the battle.

They flew above Raditz and attacked from the air.

"Supernova, be careful!"

Kara yelled, but it was too late.

Raditz sent out a powerful qigong wave that hit Clark directly.

Clark tumbled through the air, lost control, and plummeted to the ground.

"Supernova!"

Kara rushed over to catch Clark, but luckily he was okay.

Clark had dual defenses with a body of steel and a biological force field. He was rough-skinned and fleshy, and the Qigong wave was powerful, but it only blew up his biological force field, causing Clark to be temporarily unable to fly.

Superman's flight is not a separate superpower, but relies on a biological force field to fly.

Wonder Woman Diana battles Raditz with her strength, endurance, and agility. She used the divine shield in her hand to resist Raditz's attack, and at the same time launched a fierce attack on Raditz with her Vulcan Sword.

After Raditz defeated the three superheroes, they were shocked and dismayed. They had never encountered such a powerful opponent, and Raditz's strength made them feel frustrated.

"Can we really defeat him?"

Supergirl Kara is filled with doubts.

"His power seems endless, what should we do?"

Wonder Woman Diana also looked heavy.

Now the whole of America is in chaos and panic. People began to question the capabilities of the government and military, as well as the strength of superheroes.

"Why do these aliens come to Earth? What is their purpose?"

There are rumors that aliens are there for exploration purposes, and some people think that they are there to plunder the earth's resources.

"Are governments really capable of fighting aliens? Why weren't they prepared in advance?"

"Is the government really going all out to fight aliens? Or are they hiding something?"

Due to America's erroneous silence and information blockade, people began to wonder whether the government was hiding the truth or not taking enough measures to fight aliens.

"Are superheroes really capable of fending off alien attacks?"

Some people began to question the abilities of superheroes, worrying whether they could truly protect people.

"Can our military and superheroes protect us in time?"

As the situation worsens, people are beginning to worry about their survival and questioning whether they are adequately prepared to deal with the crisis.

The radio was filled with rumors and scaremongering, sending the entire country into panic.

"Urgent news, according to reliable intelligence, aliens have occupied many cities, and the government is secretly evacuating residents!"

The news spread quickly, causing panic among people, who began to hoard supplies and prepare to flee the city.

"Rumors say that a member of the Fantastic Five died in a battle with aliens, and they may not be able to continue fighting!"

This news caused people to lose hope, and they began to question the abilities of superheroes and despair about the battle ahead.

"Scientists warn that aliens may use unknown technological means to attack us, and humans may not be able to resist!"

This statement intensified people's panic, and they began to fear for their lives and looked for various ways to protect themselves.

"The latest news is that the government is conducting secret negotiations with aliens, and they may be betraying our country!"

The news cast doubt on the government's motives and loyalty, and they began to question whether the government was serving its own interests at the expense of the country.

After all, America tried to block the news at first, which led to the emergence of conspiracy theories.

Although if they have a choice, they don't mind being dogs if it's really possible.

Because even through the screen, they can feel how powerful and invincible this alien is.

When the Qigong wave hits the target, there will be a violent explosion and shock, as if the whole world is shaking.

The blast of air instantly swallowed up surrounding buildings and streets, as if it was about to level the entire city.

People screamed in terror and ran in all directions, trying to escape the scene of the disaster.

In addition to destroying mountains, Raditz's Qigong waves can also rewrite the terrain. He can change the terrain by adjusting the energy release range and intensity of Qigong waves.

Whether it's turning plains into mountains or filling up the sea, he can do it easily.

This terrifying power makes all enemies tremble.

Facing such a powerful enemy, the coalition forces fell into a bitter battle.

Raditz's Qigong wave attacks have a wide range, are fast, and are powerful, making it difficult to dodge.

Even though the superheroes resisted bravely, they were still powerless in the face of Raditz's powerful power.

"It's still sloppy. Raditz is just a fish fry now."

Luther shook his head.

Neither Superboy Clark nor Supergirl Kara, as well as Captain America and Wonder Woman Diana, are no match for Raditz now.

Chapter 447 Raditz can also act cool

Luther was puzzled as to why Raditz, who was defeated in Marvel, was so successful in DC.

"Big Pancake Face is not that strong. Thor and Hulk can't stop Raditz's attack. Why can he win?"

Luther said, glancing at Homelander and Soldier Boy, who were lying on the ground pretending to be dead.

After all, as long as they are not stupid, they will never think they can defeat Raditz.

Just kidding, Soldier Boy's most powerful chest cannon can only destroy a building, but Raditz can destroy half of the city with one Qigong wave, and even one-third of America has been destroyed by him now.

An alien has such terrifying power, Soldier Boy must be crazy to sacrifice for America.

Even if he wants to sacrifice, it is a question whether he can stop Raditz's Qigong wave.

Homelander is scared.

Raditz is like a god descending from heaven, and he scared Homelander, who was originally fearless and unconvinced by anyone.

This is the result of pure physical crushing against numerical monsters.

To use the words of the Great River Crab Country, Raditz broke the hearts of his countrymen and gave birth to a demon in his heart. If he cannot solve this demon in his heart, he will never be able to stand up again.

Also slacking off were the wise woman Lux and the bat girl Bruce.

Lux said that a genius brain like him should not be sacrificed here, and a way should be found to deal with the Saiyans.

The same was true for Bruce. The growing little bat was severely taught a lesson by Raditz, and his hands trembled and his whole body was numb.

He began to doubt his original purpose. With a mortal body, could he really match the powerful aliens and enemies like Raditz?

The battle entered a white-hot stage, and both sides launched a swift offensive.

The shadows of fists were intertwined in the sky, and the air was filled with a fierce fighting atmosphere.

Every time the fists and feet collided, the air seemed to pause for a moment, and then rolled violently.

The temperature rose significantly, and the shock wave spread, like ripples on the water, one wave after another.

The battle entered a more white-hot stage.

Captain America, Wonder Woman, Superboy and Supergirl attacked Raditz with all their might, and every punch and kick they threw was powerful, but Raditz stood firm like a mountain.

Suddenly, Raditz let out a deafening roar, and a powerful energy wave burst out from his body and spread out in all directions. Wherever the energy wave went, the air seemed to be burning, trees were uprooted, and buildings were blown to pieces.

Seeing this, Supergirl immediately flew forward and tried to resist the energy wave with her powerful strength. She clenched her fists, her whole body emitting dazzling light, and collided head-on with the energy wave.

At the moment of the collision, the air seemed to tremble, and an invisible shock wave spread out in all directions. The stones on the ground were shaken and splashed, and the trees in the distance were uprooted and swept into the air.

Seeing this, Wonder Woman immediately blocked the shock wave with her shield. The shield emitted a dazzling light, collided with the shock wave, and made a deafening roar.

Captain America and Superboy also joined the attack, and they attacked Raditz with all their might. Their attacks became more and more fierce, as if they were going to knock Raditz to the ground.

Other superheroes also joined the attack, and they attacked Raditz with all their might.

"Too slow, this level is not good enough!"

Raditz laughed wantonly.

"Weak fist, even if I stand still, you can't hit me!"

He stretched out his hands suddenly, and his five fingers pressed Captain America's fist tightly like a clamp.

Captain America tried to break free, but Raditz's strength was extremely strong.

"Come on, what are you waiting for? Why hesitate when you have the advantage in numbers?"

Raditz taunted the other party, and kicked Captain America's abdomen with his foot.

Captain America bent over in pain, and Raditz took the opportunity to launch a more fierce attack.

In the fierce duel, every tiny movement seems particularly important.

Raditz's eyes remained calm, his body twisted flexibly like a snake, and he cleverly dodged his opponent's attacks. His figure was as fast as lightning, sometimes appearing behind this hero, and sometimes suddenly appearing in front of another hero, catching them off guard.

Superboy and Supergirl attacked together, their fists intertwined and powerful.

However, Raditz easily dodged their attacks. He jumped up flexibly like dancing, rolled in the air, and avoided their fatal blows. His movements were graceful and confident, as if everything was under his control.

Wonder Woman blocked Raditz's attack with her shield, but Raditz's strength was amazing. He grabbed Wonder Woman's arm and twisted it hard, and Wonder Woman frowned in pain.

But he didn't stop, he continued to taunt Wonder Woman.

"Woman, you are too weak!"

Despite the strong opponent and pressure, Wonder Woman did not give up.

She attacked Raditz fiercely with her shield, trying to break free from his restraints. Her eyes were firm and resolute, and her will to fight was not shaken by Raditz's ridicule.

Captain America also joined the attack, and he used all his strength to attack Raditz. However, no matter how he attacked, Raditz could easily dodge or block his attack.

Raditz continued to taunt the other superheroes.

"You earthlings, can you only attack in this way?"

His voice was full of provocation and taunting.

However, the other superheroes were not shaken by his taunting.

They knew that Raditz was very powerful, but they also believed in their own strength and justice. They gritted their teeth and continued to attack Raditz.

Their attacks became more and more fierce, but Raditz remained calm and composed. He evaded the attacks flexibly and constantly launched counterattacks. Each counterattack was full of power and skill, forcing other superheroes to deal with it with all their strength.

The battle had lasted for a long time, but neither side had the intention of giving up. They went back and forth, and the sound of fists and feet colliding continued to ring. The air was filled with a fierce fighting atmosphere, the temperature continued to rise, and the shock wave was stirring.

Suddenly, Captain America hit Raditz's abdomen with a heavy punch.

Raditz's body trembled slightly, but he quickly adjusted his posture.

A smile appeared at the corner of his mouth.

"Not bad! You still have some strength!"

Chapter 448 Famous Scene

Luther was ready to attack, but he stopped when he saw that Captain America's fangs could reach Raditz.

It was interesting to come out to save the world in the spotlight and show his prowess in front of everyone.

However, it seemed interesting to see Raditz being knocked down. Moreover, since Raditz was not really desperate, Luther's appearance seemed to lack the sense of decisiveness.

Luther's idea was to save the broken ball with one hand.

At worst, he could wait until Vegeta and Napa came.

Captain America was shocked when he heard Raditz's words.

So he mustered up his courage again, waved the shield in his hand, and launched a more fierce attack on Raditz.

Every time the shield was waved, there was a strong sound of wind, which made the surrounding air tremble. Raditz faced Captain America's attack with a hint of surprise in his eyes.

He originally thought that Captain America was already very strong, but his current performance made him look at him with new eyes.

"What's going on? Why is the combat effectiveness of this earthling increasing?"

Raditz frowned.

However, Raditz did not retreat, but rushed towards Captain America's attack.

His figure was like a flash of lightning, quickly shuttling through Captain America's attacks, sometimes appearing on Captain America's left, sometimes on his right.

His speed and strength made Captain America feel pressured.

But Captain America did not give up. With his superpower "courage", he constantly adjusted his state and tried to find Raditz's flaws. His eyes were firm and his heart was fearless. Every attack was full of strength and determination.

The air was filled with dust and tension. Every time fists and feet collided, a cloud of dust was stirred up, and every collision made the ground tremble.

Raditz's strength was amazing, his attacks were fierce and powerful, and every attack seemed to completely defeat the opponent.

Captain America, Wonder Woman and Superman fought hard, but still felt powerless.

At this moment, Captain America's shield was hit by Raditz's punch, and the shield was instantly shattered, and fragments flew everywhere.

This scene was extremely shocking and amazing.

A trace of loss and sadness flashed in Captain America's eyes.

His shield has always been his spiritual symbol, his courage and determination.

He looked at the fragments of the shield scattered on the ground, and a complex emotion surged in his heart.

That was his comrade, his companion, and his shield.

Its shattering seemed to foreshadow his end.

But at this seemingly desperate moment, Captain America straightened his back and shouted at Raditz.

"Your power is strong, but my will is stronger! I will show you that the shield can be destroyed, but the power of justice cannot be destroyed!"

He took a deep breath, straightened his back, and prepared to launch a counterattack. His eyes flashed with firm belief and fearless courage, and his power seemed to become stronger.

Raditz sneered.

"Do you think you can block my attack?"

Captain America answered firmly.

"No, I can't stop it. But justice will prevail, and I will fight to the end!"

"Your shield is strong, but your body is weaker than it."

Raditz punched Captain America in the abdomen, causing him to bend over in pain.

However, Captain America did not fall down.

He endured the pain and looked at Raditz with a firm look.

"My body may be fragile, but my will and faith are indestructible."

He shouted and attacked Raditz with all his strength.

Raditz said, who knows what you said, shouting about justice, invincible will and then rushing up.

The key is that it is really getting stronger and stronger, and Raditz is confused.

"What's the matter with this earthling?"

Raditz looked at Superboy and Wonder Woman, they all fell down, but Captain America was still holding on.

Raditz sneered and punched Captain America in the face.

"Do you think your body can withstand my attack?"

He sneered.

Captain America had no time to respond, and a side kick suddenly attacked him. He tried to dodge, but was still kicked in the side, and bent over in pain.

"You are strong, but not enough to compete with me."

Raditz said coldly, and hit Captain America's back with another heavy punch, sending him flying several meters away.

Captain America fell heavily to the ground, his whole body in pain, almost unable to move.

But he knew that he couldn't give up. He gritted his teeth and struggled to stand up.

"You can't beat me, Raditz."

He roared, waving his fists and rushed towards Raditz.

Raditz jumped up and kicked Captain America away with a heavy kick. Captain America rolled several times in the air, and then fell heavily to the ground.

"Do you think you can beat me like this?"

Captain America struggled to stand up and glared at Raditz.

Raditz smiled disdainfully.

"I am surprised by your vitality, but you still can't beat me."

Captain America did not respond, he took a deep breath, and prepared to launch the final attack. He rushed towards Raditz quickly and punched him in the chest.

Raditz easily blocked the attack and hit him with a knee strike.

Captain America bent over in pain, but he did not give up and hit Raditz's abdomen with another uppercut.

Raditz grabbed his hand, and then threw Captain America into the sky with a strong swing.

"Steve!"

Superman quickly stood up and was about to fly over to save him, after all, Captain America couldn't fly.

But his biological force field had just recovered, and he couldn't fly fast, so Raditz naturally couldn't catch him.

"Annoying bugs, one or two of them are like this, can't they just die obediently?"

Raditz was very impatient.

So he planned to destroy them completely so that they couldn't continue to bother him.

Raditz sneered, pushed out with one palm, and a powerful Qigong wave instantly condensed into shape, with the power of destroying the world, rushing straight towards Superman and Captain America.

The Qigong wave was like a bright beam of light, instantly illuminating the dim sky.

The surrounding air was instantly evaporated by the high temperature, leaving only the deafening explosion and the whistling sound of the air wave.

As the Qigong wave approached, the surrounding air seemed to be twisted by an invisible force, forming a huge energy vortex. Trees, buildings, and even the earth were shaking, as if screaming in fear.

When the Qigong wave hit Superboy and Captain America, the force instantly exploded, forming a huge shock wave. The power of this shock wave was unparalleled, as if even the sky was torn into a huge hole.

The surrounding buildings were reduced to dust under this force, and huge stones and steel bars were thrown into the air by the air wave and then smashed down fiercely.

Chapter 449 Raditz: The Earthling is Cheating!

The trees were uprooted, and the leaves were evaporated into ashes in mid-air by the high temperature.

Superman was terrified. He wanted to escape, but he couldn't. He could only watch the Qigong wave rushing towards him.

The Qigong wave was like a violent beast, exuding a sharp momentum, and was about to swallow Superman.

Just when the Qigong wave was about to hit Superman, Captain America's figure suddenly blocked in front of him.

The shield was broken, and without any protective measures, he faced the danger without hesitation.

Without the ability to fly, he could only hug Superman and use his body as a shield to protect him.

"No! Steve!!!"

Superman screamed heartbreakingly, and the blood in his body seemed to solidify. He couldn't believe that Captain America would sacrifice himself like this.

Captain America's eyes were firm and resolute, and he knew what his choice meant. He used his life as a shield to protect Superman. At the last moment of his life, there was no fear in his heart, only firmness and determination.

The Qigong wave hit Captain America's body hard, evaporating him instantly.

However, Captain America's sacrifice was not meaningless.

Although the Qigong wave was powerful, at the moment it hit Captain America, part of the energy was absorbed by his body, allowing Superman to survive.

Superman was blown to pieces by the Qigong wave, his flesh and blood flew everywhere, his bones were visible, and he was covered with scars.

His body rolled in the air, and every impact made him almost faint with pain.

His clothes were stained with blood and torn.

Raditz sneered at Superman's painful struggle and mocked him.

"You are so lucky that you can't die like this. But what if you are alive? Aren't you going to die now?"

Superman ignored Raditz's mockery, he endured the severe pain and struggled to stand up.

His eyes became firm and sharp, like two sharp blades.

He rushed towards Raditz and punched with all his strength.

This punch carried Superman's anger and sadness, as well as Captain America's faith and courage.

Raditz sneered and punched him.

The two fists collided, the air waves surged, and powerful energy burst out instantly.

Superman's fist was smashed to pieces, bloody and blurred.

But he did not retreat, he firmly believed that Captain America's spirit continued in him.

"Not really."

Luther said silently after seeing Superman's inner monologue.

It's sunlight!

Under the light of the yellow sun, Superman's cells continuously absorbed energy, and then released energy to repair his severely injured body.

Raditz and Superman's fists collided, as if two meteorites collided, and a deafening roar broke out.

Superman only felt that his fist was hit hard by a hammer, and severe pain spread throughout his body. His arm seemed to be pulled by a powerful force, and he swung back involuntarily.

"Humph, kid, your strength is still far from it."

Raditz sneered and mocked.

Raditz's power seemed endless, and every attack was like a violent storm, sweeping over.

Superman was suppressed by Raditz's power and could only passively bear his attacks.

"Hahaha, is this your strength? How disappointing!"

Raditz laughed and taunted.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom————

Seeing Superman struggling helplessly in mid-air, a cruel smile flashed in Raditz's eyes.

He suddenly retracted his fist and kicked Superman out like a football.

Superman was kicked straight out, like a flash of lightning across the sky. His body rolled in the air, and every turn was accompanied by severe pain.

His chest, back, and head were hit one after another, and each time it was like being hit hard by a hammer.

Raditz's figure flashed around Superman, and every jump was accompanied by a fierce kick. Superman was kicked dizzy, and all the bones in his body seemed to be broken.

It was like kicking him back and forth like a football.

"Damn it, how could I be so weak!" Superman roared in his heart.

Superman felt desperate. Raditz's power was too strong for him to resist.

He tried to struggle, but his body was immobile as if locked by an iron chain.

He could only watch Raditz's figure flashing in the air, and each time was accompanied by a fierce blow.

Superman's body rolled in the air, and his consciousness gradually blurred.

Pain and despair made him unable to breathe, and he felt like he was thrown into endless darkness.

Suddenly, a blazing red light flashed in Superman's eyes.

The red light was like a blazing flame, splitting the sky in two.

Raditz's attack was blocked by the red light, and his figure paused in the air.

Superman took this opportunity to twist his body and face Raditz.

His fists were clenched, and all the strength of his body was concentrated on one point.

He roared, and all the cells in his body were trembling. Under the powerful enemy of Raditz and Superman's own will, his cells changed.

The tearing cells become stronger, absorb more energy, and release more energy!

The two fists collided, and the air seemed to tremble.

Raditz and Superman's figures intertwined in mid-air, and the power collided and surged between them.

He swung a punch and directly knocked Superman out and hit a building.

Superman lay on the ground, gasping in pain. His body had reached its limit, but he knew that if he gave up, then everything would be over.

He closed his eyes, concentrated his mind, and began to draw strength from the sun.

A powerful energy surged from his body, and every cell was vibrating at a high frequency.

This power not only repaired his injuries, but also stimulated his unprecedented potential.

Suddenly, Superman felt a change in his body.

His muscles became stronger and his body became more agile.

His strength and speed were greatly improved.

He opened his eyes and saw Raditz walking towards him.

"It seems that you still have something to look at."

Raditz sneered.

Superman did not answer, he took a deep breath and jumped up from the ground.

His whole body radiated a fiery red light, and a powerful energy burst out of his body.

"What is this power?!"

Raditz looked at Superman in astonishment.

"How can you have such a powerful energy in your body!"

Raditz saw that his combat power detector soared to a number quickly!

A fiery red glow ignited in Superman's chest.

His whole body seemed to be bathed in golden sunlight, emitting a fiery glow.

Every cell in his body was releasing powerful energy, and the golden-red energy was full of light and passion, so powerful that it was awe-inspiring.

Chapter 450 I will beat you to death!!!

Superboy raised his hands in the air, and fiery energy spurted out from his body. His eyes burned like the sun, as if they were about to set the whole world on fire. The surrounding air was instantly evaporated by the high temperature, forming a void of nothingness.

Raditz stood in the distance, feeling the fiery energy radiating from Superboy, and couldn't help but feel panic in his heart.

Superboy's eyes released two blazing beams of light, like two fire dragons soaring into the sky.

The beam of light rolled in the air, emitting a terrifying heat.

The whole world seemed to be shaking, as if it could not bear such power.

"Justice and peace, never bow to evil!"

Superboy shouted.

His voice was filled with determination and determination, and his eyes were burning with fire.

Superboy felt stronger than ever, full of power.

A steady stream of power gushes out.

This is Superman's new power in the New 52 - Solar Flares!

Based on heat vision, the solar energy stored in the body is concentrated at a point and released explosively to form a big explosion that can affect the entire city. Although it has powerful power, it will temporarily lose its superpower (about a few days) after use.

Of course, there are other versions, such as greatly increasing the energy instead of turning into a bomb.

Superboy is obviously a version with greatly increased strength.

"This is the power of justice!"

Superboy was excited.

Under the bright sunshine, Raditz and Superboy started a fierce battle.

Raditz's moves are astonishingly powerful. His fists pierce the sky and his kicks can split the earth. His speed is so fast that you can barely see his figure, only afterimages can be seen.

His qigong waves were so powerful that they were like nuclear explosions, setting off huge heat waves that shook the earth. A mountain peak was reduced to ashes under his blow, and a city was reduced to ruins under his qigong waves.

Raditz's Qigong waves collided with Superboy's heat vision, making deafening noises, and the energy waves set off made the surrounding air seem to burn.

Superboy dodges Raditz's attacks at astonishing speeds while constantly launching attacks, using his super strength to knock Raditz back.

Their battle shook the entire world, as if all elements in heaven and earth were involved.

Everything around him, from the tall mountains to the vast oceans, from the lush forests to the vast grasslands, was trembling with the effects of the battle.

Deep cracks opened in the earth, as if everything was going to be swallowed up. The sky was filled with fiery energy, as if it was about to set the entire sky on fire.

Superboy exploded instantly, accelerating from a static state to the extreme. In an instant, everything around him seemed to have stopped.

He instantly appeared in front of Raditz, raised his foot, and kicked the opponent violently.

The surrounding space seemed to be torn apart by an invisible force, and a twisted gap appeared.

Superboy's foot kicked Raditz's arm hard, causing a roar.

Raditz felt a sharp pain, and his body instantly flew off the ground as if being swept away by a huge wave. His consciousness became blurry at that moment, and he could only feel his body rolling under a powerful force.

When he reluctantly opened his eyes, he found that he had flown out of the atmosphere.

He struggled to adjust his body, trying to maintain balance, but his body continued to rush upward involuntarily.

Suddenly, the figure of Superboy appeared above him. He cupped his fists with both hands and hit Raditz with all his strength. Raditz felt an irresistible force pouring into his body, and his body lost control in an instant.

His vision went dark, and the whole world seemed to be collapsing.

His body fell straight to the ground like a stone. He could only watch helplessly as the ground got closer and closer, and the fear in his heart could not be described in words.

Just when he was about to hit the ground, he suddenly used all his strength to steady his body and knelt half in the air.

But the aftermath of the impact continued to rush downwards, creating a huge crater in the ground.

Sand and dust rose everywhere, covering the sky and the sun, and everything around became blurry.

Superboy was ready to go and appeared in front of Raditz in an instant.

His eyes were piercing and his whole body exuded an irresistible aura.

Superboy raised his leg and kicked Raditz with thunderous force.

His movements were as fast as lightning, making it impossible to see clearly.

The surrounding air was squeezed in an instant, making a deafening explosion.

A powerful energy wave spread out around Superboy's feet, destroying everything in its path.

Raditz felt the terror of this power and knew that he could not resist it. He quickly ducked to the side, trying to avoid the blow.

However, Superboy is so fast that his attacks are nearly impossible to dodge. Raditz only had time to scream in surprise before he was punched in the chest by Superboy.

His body rolled in the air and flew out, drawing a long parabola. He felt as if his body was being pulled by an invisible force, rolling around until he hit a mountain.

Raditz's whole body was in intense pain, and he felt as if his bones were about to shatter. He struggled to his feet and looked up at the sky.

He saw Superboy suspended in the air, looking down at him. There was no expression on his face, as if everything was under his control.

"You are strong, but I am stronger than you!"

"Saiyan, pay with your life for Steve!"

Raditz was extremely angry, and he was unwilling to lose to a little Superman like this.

"Asshole, I am a Saiyan from the strongest fighting nation in the universe, how could I lose to you, an earthling!!!"

He took a deep breath, mobilized all his strength, and prepared for the final resistance.

He clasped his hands together, gathered a powerful energy, and rushed towards Superboy.

His speed was extremely fast, and the energy wave almost caught up with his body.

Superboy was not afraid at all. He also condensed a powerful energy, and then greeted Raditz with his fiery red fist.

The two forces collided in the air, making a loud noise that shook the earth.

The whole world seemed to be shaking, and the rocks on the mountain peaks were rolling down.

A huge shock wave spread in all directions, destroying everything in the way.

Suddenly, Superboy appeared in front of Raditz with lightning speed, so fast that only an afterimage could be seen. His fists were clenched tightly, condensing a powerful energy that seemed to tear the entire world apart.

Superboy jumped up and punched Raditz directly in the chest.

His attack was like a falling meteorite, carrying the power to destroy everything.

Raditz had no time to dodge and could only resist the blow. He mobilized all his strength to try to resist Superboy's attack.