

Kryptonian 451

Chapter 451: Death of Raditz

However, Superboy's power was too strong, and with one blow, Raditz's body was instantly knocked away. His body drew a long parabola in the air and finally hit a mountain peak.

The mountain peak was instantly knocked out of a huge depression, causing rocks and dust to fly.

Raditz's body was deeply embedded in it, as if it had become an eternal statue.

Superboy didn't give up, he quickly rushed towards Raditz, preparing to give him the final blow. His whole body shone with dazzling light, as if connected with the sun in the sky.

He raised his fists high and slammed them to the ground. A powerful energy wave spread instantly, making the surrounding air tremble.

Wherever this energy wave went, everything was destroyed. The mountain peaks were flattened, and the sand in the desert was blown away, as if swept by an invisible storm.

Raditz struggled under the impact of this energy wave, knowing that he could no longer resist it. He was filled with unwillingness and anger, but there was nothing he could do.

"Damn it, I am Raditz..."

Raditz's combat power detector had been shattered, but even if he couldn't see it, he knew that Superboy's combat power had surpassed his own at this time.

If there is a chance to create the moon, there is still the possibility of a comeback.

It's a pity that he was careless and now he has no strength at all.

Superboy gathered all his strength and prepared to unleash a decisive attack.

His eyes shone with a fiery light, as if he was about to set the whole world on fire.

He took a deep breath, and an invisible energy began to gather around his body, as if time was about to stand still. This energy gradually increased, forming a powerful storm with Superboy as the center.

Superboy exhaled sharply and concentrated all his strength into one punch.

This punch carried the power to destroy everything, as if it was going to tear the entire world apart.

His attack sliced through the air with a deafening roar.

The surrounding air was instantly squeezed into an invisible wall, pushing Superboy's attack to its peak.

Raditz felt the terror of this power and knew that he could not resist it.

He struggled to dodge, but Superboy was so fast that his attacks were nearly impossible to dodge.

Both fist and Superboy turned into a beam of light.

This beam of light was as dazzling as the sun, piercing towards Raditz with unparalleled power and speed.

The beam instantly penetrated Raditz's body, shrouding his entire body in a dazzling light.

A powerful energy was released instantly, shattering everything around it.

The sand in the desert was blown away, and the mountains in the distance were trembling slightly.

The air was filled with sparks and arcs produced by intense energy collisions, as if a devastating thunder and lightning storm was raging.

Raditz screamed in pain under the impact of this energy, and his body completely collapsed under the force.

His body instantly disappeared in the aftermath of the explosion, disappeared into the light, and turned into a puff of smoke that dissipated in the air.

Superboy slowly landed on the ground.

The war between the two sides can be said to have shocked the whole world, destroying countless cities in America and even reaching the Mojave Desert.

Wherever it passed, the sky collapsed and the earth cracked, and the mountains and rivers were broken.

Luther said that Raditz died miserably and did not even leave any last words.

"Declaration of continued Saiyan invasion is gone."

Luther shook his head.

"However, when Vegeta and the others invade directly, there will be no need to worry that no one will know what a Saiyan is. Raditz will use himself to advertise!"

Luther was satisfied.

This battle undoubtedly brought huge losses to America.

Many cities were destroyed and countless lives disappeared in an instant.

President America sat in her office, holding a report in her hands.

His face was pale, and his eyes revealed endless anxiety.

There is no way, if such a big thing happens during his tenure, even if it is a disaster from heaven, he, the president, can't even think about continuing to be president.

"We must act now or the consequences will be disastrous."

He said to the consultant standing nearby.

"Yes, President."

the advisor replied.

"We are assessing damage and developing plans to rebuild, but we need more resources to respond to this crisis."

President America sighed and rubbed her temples tiredly.

"I know, I know. I'm going to do whatever I can to get as much support as I can. At the same time, we need to strengthen our defenses to prevent this from happening again."

"We have increased the alert level and started patrols across the country."

said the consultant.

"At the same time, we have recovered the Saiyan spacecraft and studied their technology, hoping to find a way to win."

President America nodded.

"Great, keep working hard. At the same time, tell people to stay calm and we will get through this."

Meanwhile, governments and media around the world are watching the battle closely.

"This battle reminds us once again that the alien threat is real."

the UN Secretary-General said at a press conference.

"We must come together to face this challenge."

Major media outlets are also reporting on the course and impact of this battle. People are panicking, worried that they will be targeted by aliens.

Scientists and researchers from all over the world have also begun to step up their research on the technology and combat power of aliens, hoping to find a way to defeat them.

However, despite the fear and uneasiness of people, some people have begun to think about deeper issues.

"This battle has shown us the huge gap between humans and aliens."

"We need to rethink our values and ways of survival in order to better meet this challenge."

Superman looked at the ruins and smoke on the battlefield, and felt a little melancholy in his heart.

He knew that his power could destroy any enemy, but he had to pay a huge price.

He felt that he was becoming more and more cold and cruel in the process, but he also knew that it was necessary. In the face of the threat of aliens, he must do everything possible to protect the future of mankind.

"Good job, Clark."

A voice suddenly appeared from behind him.

"Brother?"

Clark only remembered at this time that he had a brother, and his brother was much stronger than himself. In this case, why didn't he take action just now?

If he took action, Steve would not die!

However, it seemed impossible for him to ask his brother to fight. What if his brother died? Raditz was so powerful and so terrifying.

Then he felt weak and fell to the ground.

Chapter 452: Quarrel

Clark lost all his superpowers and fell into weakness.

However, Luther could see that Clark's cells were growing. He brought a solar instrument that could simulate and produce more powerful yellow sun rays through the yellow sun spectrum.

This would allow Clark to recover quickly.

Other superheroes were also urgently sent to rescue by Superman Company.

Captain America Steve sacrificed, and Luther did not intervene, so naturally there was no miracle.

It was already amazing to be able to fight Raditz for so long.

...

The TV screen switched again, this time it was President America standing on the steps of the Capitol, with dense troops and leaders of various countries behind him.

President America raised his hand, was silent for a moment, and then began to speak.

"Today, we lost a true hero, Captain America Steve Rogers. His sacrifice bought us precious time and allowed our country to defeat the Saiyan invasion. But his spirit will always live in our hearts."

The president paused, glanced at the crowd, and then continued.

"At the same time, we must remember that without the help of Superboy and other superheroes, we might not be able to withstand the Saiyan attack. They stepped up and protected us all with their strength and courage."

The crowd burst into applause and cheers. Superboy stood in front of the Capitol and felt the support and respect of the people. He knew that he and other superheroes had lived up to people's expectations.

Then the president announced a series of measures, including strengthening the registration and management of superheroes, and increasing investment in scientific research and military power to ensure the safety of the earth. She called on the people of the country to unite and face the challenges of the future together.

When the funeral began, a light drizzle fell from the sky. Captain America's coffin was slowly carried out and placed next to the grave. People stood silently to mourn this brave and fearless hero.

President America walked slowly to the coffin, bowed his head for a moment of silence, and then gave a speech.

"Captain America Steve Rogers was a true hero who sacrificed his life to defend his country and the planet. His departure is deeply regretted by us, but his spirit will always inspire us to move forward."

As soon as the president finished speaking, thunderous applause rang out from the crowd. People walked to the grave and laid flowers and wreaths to mourn this brave hero.

Captain America's coffin was slowly placed in the grave. People watched silently, their hearts full of respect and gratitude.

Then, a group of superheroes walked to the grave and paid their last respects to Captain America. They placed a hand on the coffin and silently mourned this former teammate.

Superman also walked up and placed his hand on the coffin, with a lot of emotion in his heart.

Superman stood by the grave, tears blurring his vision. He tried to suppress his sadness, but the tears still flowed uncontrollably. He whispered, "Steve, how could you leave us like this?"

Soldier Boy frowned as he watched Superman crying.

Soldier Boy was silent for a moment, then said.

"Steve is indeed a true hero, but I don't understand why he is so selfless. He should be selfish and live for himself."

When Superboy heard this, he suddenly raised his head and looked at Soldier Boy: "Selfish? That's not Steve. He used his life to exchange precious time and opportunities for us to continue fighting. This is a true hero."

Soldier Boy sighed: "You are right. I just... it's hard to accept his departure."

The two stared at the grave silently.

Soldier Boy kept saying "Fuck! Fuck!" in his heart.

It was hard for him to accept the death of Captain America.

Everyone present felt Superboy's determination and belief. They stared at Superboy silently, their hearts full of gratitude and respect.

Soon after the funeral, a wave of superheroes swept the world. People began to worship and pursue superheroes because they saw the power and courage of superheroes. Superboy became one of the most popular and respected superheroes in the world.

However, Superboy did not become proud and complacent. He knew that the Saiyans might invade the Earth again, and he had to be prepared. He began to train harder and improve his strength and skills.

President America also highly praised and supported Superman and other superheroes.

She announced that a global superhero registration and management agency would be established to ensure that the powers of superheroes could be effectively used and regulated. She also announced a series of policies and plans to support the work of superheroes and protect their rights.

America's plan not only received support from the public, but also attracted the attention of governments around the world.

Many countries have cooperated with the United States to jointly promote the establishment of superhero registration and management agencies.

Under the leadership of President America, governments around the world began to work together to promote the development of superheroes.

President America discusses superhero plans with governments

In the meeting room of the Black Palace, President America is discussing plans to establish a global superhero league (GSL) with government representatives from all over the world.

The atmosphere was tense and heated, and the representatives expressed their opinions and had a heated discussion.

President America spoke first.

"Ladies and gentlemen, in the face of the possible invasion of Saiyans again, we must take decisive action. The Global Super Hero League is an important means for us to gather global forces and jointly deal with threats."

Prime Minister James of Great Britain responded immediately.

"President America, I fully understand your concerns. However, we must act with caution. The power of superheroes is enormous, but how to manage and control this power and prevent it from being abused is an issue we must seriously consider."

"We can't sit back and do nothing, Great Britain!"

President America roared.

"The Global Super Hero League is our only choice to fight the Saiyan threat. We must take action immediately!"

Prime Minister James of Great Britain responded without showing any weakness.

"America, you are simply crazy! The power of superheroes is uncontrollable. Do you want us to fall into a greater disaster?"

"Great Britain, you are just making trouble!"

President America roared.

"You only know how to oppose, but you don't have any constructive suggestions! The Global Super Hero League is our only choice to fight the Saiyan threat. Do you understand this!"

Chapter 453 Controversy

Prime Minister James of Great Britain also refused to back down.

"America, don't be too arrogant! The power of superheroes is powerful, but it is also dangerous. What power do you have to decide the fate of the entire world? GSL's proposal is too hasty, and we need more time to consider it!"

Little France mocked.

"You keep saying that superheroes are our only hope, but you don't even have a decent plan! GSL sounds more like a gimmick than a feasible solution!"

"President America, you are so selfish! You only consider America's safety but do not consider the interests of other countries. GSL's proposal seriously damages our national interests and I cannot accept it!"

"I only think about my own interests, but ignore the safety of the whole world. The power of superheroes is our common wealth, and it is not something you can monopolize! GSL's proposal is for the well-being of all mankind, not to satisfy your selfish desires!"

President Big Vodka also joins the fray.

"President America, don't go too far! GSL's proposal is not only unfair to Big Vodka, but may also trigger a greater crisis. You must reconsider this plan, otherwise we will have to take other measures to protect our country Safety!"

Dahe Crab also expressed his dissatisfaction.

"I agree with President Big Vodka. The GSL proposal is full of uncertainties and risks. We need more research and discussion to ensure that this plan will not have a negative impact on world peace and stability."

The heated debate intensified, with emotions on both sides reaching a fever pitch.

But in the end, with President America's persistence and efforts, government representatives from various countries reluctantly reached a consensus and decided to establish the Global Superhero League (GSL).

However, this is only a temporary compromise. There is still a long way to go, and they must face more challenges and difficulties.

The news quickly spread around the world.

In order to better manage and organize superhero forces around the world, governments of various countries have jointly established a global organization - the Global Superhero League (GSL).

This organization is composed of superheroes from all over the world, aiming to assemble superhero forces around the world to jointly deal with possible Saiyan invasion again.

At the same time, America also proposed a "superhero protection plan."

This plan provides superheroes with comprehensive protection, including but not limited to life safety, property protection, and social status improvement.

She also advocates the establishment of a special social service system for superheroes to provide psychological counseling, health management, educational support and other services to ensure that they can have a healthy and happy life while maintaining peace on earth.

America's plans have sparked a huge response around the world. People began to participate more actively in the superhero craze, hoping to contribute to the peace of the earth.

Superboy, as one of the most popular and respected superheroes in the world, has become the leader of this craze.

After President America proposed the Global Superhero Alliance and the Superhero Guarantee Plan, superheroes around the world responded enthusiastically. Many superheroes have welcomed the plan, saying it provides them with more support and security, allowing them to carry out their missions with greater peace of mind.

Superboy, one of the most popular and respected superheroes in the world, was the first to express his support for this plan.

He believes that with government support and guarantees, they will be able to better maintain peace and tranquility on earth. He also emphasized the importance of unity as the key to mankind's joint response to challenges.

In addition to Superboy, other superheroes also expressed their opinions.

The Fantastic Five, Teen Titans, and Supergirl were almost broken up and reorganized, and Superboy, Wonder Woman, and Supergirl became the new Big Three.

They all support it.

However, there are some superheroes who have reservations about this.

They fear that government interference will limit their freedom and independence.

Batgirl is a typical example. She has always maintained a low-key and independent style of acting and does not want to be too restricted by the government.

In order to address these concerns and doubts, President America and representatives of the Global Superhero League began to communicate and negotiate with these superheroes who had reservations.

They emphasized that government support and guarantees are not to deprive superheroes of their freedom and independence, but to provide them with more resources and support to better maintain peace and tranquility on the earth.

After a series of communication and consultation, most superheroes gradually eliminated their doubts and worries and began to actively participate in the Global Superhero League and Superhero Guarantee Plan.

They understand that only by uniting can we better cope with future challenges and crises.

After President America proposed the Global Superhero League and the Superhero Guarantee Plan, the response was overwhelming. A public forum on the plan was held in the city center square, attracting the attention of many citizens and media.

President America gave a speech explaining the purpose and significance of this plan.

"Superheroes are the guardians of the earth. They have made great efforts for our peace and tranquility. Now, we should provide them with more support and protection so that they can face future challenges more bravely."

Superman also gave a speech on the spot. He thanked the president and the public for their support and said that he would do his best to maintain the peace and tranquility of the earth.

"As superheroes, our responsibility is to protect mankind from evil forces. With the support and protection of the government, we will be able to better fulfill this responsibility."

However, some people have expressed concerns about this.

They expressed concerns that the government would interfere too much in the behavior of superheroes and that the government would use this plan to control superheroes.

The President of America responded to these concerns, emphasizing that the government would not interfere with the independent actions of superheroes and would only provide necessary support and protection.

He said that the government's goal is to maintain the peace and tranquility of the earth together with superheroes, rather than restricting their freedom and independence.

At the end of the speech, citizens began to ask questions.

A young girl asked Superman.

"What do you think of the government's protection plan for superheroes? Do you think it will change your lifestyle?"

Superman replied.

"I think this plan is designed to allow us to do our job better. The government's guarantee and support means we can focus more on protecting the planet and not have to worry about other trivial matters."

Chapter 454 The most powerful man on earth

The establishment of GSL also allowed Luther's "Black Chapter Department" to join it.

However, there was no argument about which country would lead.

Because everyone thought they could be the big brother.

Moreover, no one is a fool. Superheroes are the nuclear weapons of the new era. For those countries that have suffered from nuclear deterrence for a long time but have never been able to deal with it, and for those countries that have broken the nuclear weapons blockade of major powers, it is undoubtedly an opportunity.

Therefore, regarding who will lead GSL, all countries have ulterior motives and are unwilling to give in.

Its rise has attracted global attention. Some countries regard it as a potential threat, while others see the hope of breaking nuclear deterrence.

But no matter what, no one can deny that GSL has changed the world's pattern.

"Whoever leads GSL is equivalent to mastering the direction of the future world."

This is the consensus of many national leaders.

Therefore, all countries have sent their most astute diplomatic teams in the hope of winning the lead.

They understand that this is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to change the balance of power in the world and let their countries stand at the top of the world.

Therefore, every country hopes to occupy a dominant position in GSL and have the greatest voice.

However, this goal is not so easy to achieve.

The establishment of GSL means that all superheroes must unite to fight against external threats together.

But this does not mean that they are willing to accept the leadership of any country unconditionally.

On this issue, each country has its own views and refuses to give in to each other.

Some countries hope to gain dominance through economic aid, while others hope to prove their strength through military demonstrations. Some countries hope to establish alliances with other major powers through diplomatic means to jointly dominate GSL.

In the southern hemisphere, countries in Australia, Africa and South America are also secretly competing.

They hope to enhance their status and influence on the international stage by participating in GSL.

In this case, the establishment of GSL did not bring the expected peace and stability, but instead caused more disputes and conflicts.

The contradictions and disputes between countries continued to escalate, and some countries even began to secretly develop superhero-related technologies in an attempt to enhance their strength in this way.

In this process, some countries began to realize that the dominance of GSL is not the most important thing.

What is more important is the cooperation and trust between countries, as well as the common sense of responsibility for the future of the earth.

They began to try to resolve differences through dialogue and consultation, and to push the GSL towards a more just, equal and effective direction.

However, this is not an easy task.

The interests and concepts of various countries differ greatly, and it takes great efforts to reach a consensus.

Moreover, external threats still exist, and the earth may face new crises at any time.

A representative from a small African country stood up.

"We hope that the GSL can pay attention to the problems on the earth and help those who are poor and suffering. The power of superheroes should be used to maintain world peace, not to intensify confrontation between countries."

His speech resonated with many representatives present.

The American representative frowned.

"It's not that we don't pay attention to other issues. But as the world's largest country, we have the responsibility to lead the GSL and ensure the safety of the earth."

The representative of the China Defense responded with a smile.

"Every country has its own responsibilities and missions. We do not oppose America's leadership, but we advocate equality and cooperation. Only when all countries work together can we truly deal with external threats."

In this situation, the members of the GSL began to reflect on their original intentions and missions. They realized that only by truly uniting together can they effectively deal with external threats and safeguard the safety of the earth.

Therefore, they began to work hard to bridge differences, strengthen cooperation, and jointly meet challenges.

In this process, some countries began to play a more active role. They took the initiative to establish contacts with other countries and promote the development of international cooperation. They not only pay attention to their own interests, but also pay attention to global welfare, and strive to play a more constructive role in GSL.

The efforts of these countries have gradually paid off.

GSL began to become more united and efficient, and cooperation between countries became closer.

They jointly developed new technologies and tactics, improved the combat capabilities of superheroes, and laid a more solid foundation for protecting the security of the earth.

The GSL Building, also known as the Alliance Headquarters, is located in the rebuilt Washington.

The establishment of the place here shows the heart of America, and passers-by know it.

Little Superman didn't expect that he would become an official in a flash.

He also became the head of the GSL organization today, holding great power.

Obviously, his brother is more powerful than himself.

However, a teenager is definitely easier to fool, not to mention that this teenager is the most powerful man on earth today, even Wonder Woman Diana is ashamed of himself.

So Superman became the director, Diana became the deputy director, and Supergirl became an S-class superhero!

The definition of an S-class superhero is that he can fight against the Saiyans, which is the highest level. After all, the biggest crisis facing the earthlings now is the invasion of the Saiyans, and the S-class crisis is defined as a global disaster.

The authority levels of the GSL are based on these levels. At present, there are only three S-class superheroes in the human world.

Of course, if Uncle Jon from Martian Manhunter is willing to come out, there will be 4.

After the Justice League vs. Steppenwolf ended in the original plot, Uncle Jonze the Martian Manhunter appeared. Although it was said to be at the end of the film, it also shows that there is a Martian Manhunter in the movie universe.

I just don't know why Raditz didn't see Martian Manhunter take action when he made such a fuss.

"Brother, I'm very stressed right now."

When Superboy came home and saw the leisurely Luther, he couldn't help but say.

"Relax, you are now the most powerful and powerful man in the world. You are popular with thousands of girls. Maybe Bruce will fall for you too."

Luther teased with a smile.

"How could Bruce fall for me?"

Clark said speechlessly. In his memory, Bluth was a very strong type of woman. Although the two were childhood sweethearts, he never dared to take advantage of Bluth.

I never thought about what it would be like to fall in love with Bruce.

God, that must be hell!

"Luther, you are obviously stronger than me, why don't you want to come out?"

Clark asked. He felt that he could not bear this responsibility. He could only be a soldier, but he could not be a commander.

On the contrary, his brother Luther is more qualified than him to become the director of the GSL organization!

Clark thought it would be great if the two brothers fought side by side.

Chapter 455: Tricking Clark

"It's not that I didn't want to take action, it was just that I didn't find the right time."

Luther looked at Clark and said seriously.

Clark frowned, obviously not satisfied with this answer.

"What about when Raditz invaded? You just watched from the sidelines?"

He remembered Luther saying that he was nearby.

"Clark, you misunderstood. I was indeed at the scene at the time, and I have been observing. Unless you are in danger, I will not take action easily. You know, I have always believed that you are the savior on the surface. It is enough for me. I want to be the black emperor hidden behind the scenes."

When Clark heard this explanation, a trace of doubt and confusion flashed in his eyes.

"Hidden Black Emperor? What does this mean?"

Luther took a deep breath, knowing he needed to give a reasonable explanation.

"Just like there are two sides of chess, black and white, the hidden black emperor is the black piece."

"This time the Saiyan invasion was actually due to Raditz's recklessness and arrogance, which gave us a chance. But what if the next time the aliens are more cunning and conduct a detailed investigation of the earth in advance? They may Like a wolf, he will be cunning and cruel, using various means to obtain our information, and then find out our weaknesses and shortcomings to attack. Therefore, we need someone who can control everything in the dark, a hacker who cannot let the enemy grasp the information. emperor."

Clark was fascinated by the idea and began to understand his brother's intentions.

"You mean they'll have information about superheroes?"

"That's right."

Luther nodded.

"Once they get their hands on it, the consequences will be disastrous. They may use our weaknesses to attack us, and they may even use our relatives and friends to threaten us. Therefore, we need someone who can plan and direct behind the scenes, someone who has no one." The Black Emperor Who Knows."

Clark was deep in thought. Although he didn't understand why his brother chose to hide behind the scenes, he had to admit that this was a very strategic plan. He began to understand his brother's painstaking efforts and intentions.

Luther watched his brother's expression gradually become clearer, and felt relieved.

He knew that his explanation had worked. But he also knows that this is just the beginning.

He needs to give Clark more information and reasons before he can truly accept his plan.

So Luther continued.

"Clark, think about it, if aliens have information about us, they may make countermeasures in advance. For example, they may set up defenses in advance, or make plans against us in advance. In this way, We will be in a passive state when dealing with alien invasion, and it will be difficult to win."

Clark nodded.

"I understand what you mean. If aliens have our information, they will make countermeasures in advance to keep us in a passive state."

"That's right."

Luther nodded affirmatively.

"So, we need someone who can control everything behind the scenes. This person needs to have enough wisdom and strategy to predict the actions and plans of aliens. At the same time, this person also needs to have enough strength and means to be able to make critical decisions at critical moments." Always available to help us."

Clark thought of something.

"Such a person must be you! You have wisdom, strength, and strategy. You are the most suitable candidate!"

Luther shook his head.

"No, Clark. I am not the only one like this. There are many heroes and strong men on our planet. They all have extraordinary abilities and wisdom. As long as we unite and work together, we will be able to resist the alien invasion. "

"This is the meaning of the Black Emperor. I will lead a group of superheroes to hide, or super criminals, to become black pawns, and you will be white pawns."

Clark fell into deep thought after hearing his brother's explanation.

He began to realize that the Black Emperor hidden behind the scenes was very necessary for the earth.

This will ensure stability and peace on earth.

And Luther is a very suitable candidate for this black emperor.

He has wisdom, strength, and strategy.

He is able to take control and keep the Earth safe.

Luther was talking nonsense seriously. He knew that he only needed to find a reasonable reason.

Clark was too persuasive to doubt his older brother.

A normal person wouldn't think that his eldest brother's lack of limelight simply means that the stage is not big enough. Raditz almost destroyed most of America. Isn't this a big enough stage?

As for the Black Emperor's statement, it was just Luther deceiving Clark.

But Clark seemed convinced.

"Luther, you just said super criminals, do you still want those super criminals to be your tanks, soldiers?"

Clark asked confused.

Luther nodded.

"That's right, Clark. Although super criminals have all committed crimes, they are not all evil. In fact, many super criminals only embark on the road of crime because of their own ambitions and desires. If we can guide them, let them If they become our pawns, they will become an important force in our defense against alien invasion."

Clark fell into deep thought after hearing this.

Although he had a better understanding of his brother's plan, he still had doubts about one aspect.

"Luther, if you really take super criminals for your own use as you said, I'm worried that something will go wrong. They are all criminals after all, and their morals and values are very different from ours."

Clark said worriedly.

Luther looked at Clark and nodded seriously.

"I understand your concerns, Clark. You pointed out an important issue. Indeed, we cannot simply collect all super criminals. We need to screen and evaluate them to ensure that they have sufficient moral bottom line and sense of justice. For "Those criminals who are willing to reform and fight for the planet can be given a chance to start over."

Clark heard his brother's response.

"This puts my mind at ease. We need to treat this issue carefully to avoid unnecessary trouble."

Luther continued.

"Yes, Clark. We must proceed with caution. In addition, we also need to establish an effective mechanism to ensure that these super criminals do not cause harm or threat to ordinary people while fighting for us."

Clark took a deep breath, knowing that there were still many issues that needed to be considered and resolved in this plan. But he believes that as long as they work together as brothers, there is nothing they can't solve.

"Luther, I will work with you to ensure the smooth implementation of this plan. We will definitely protect the peace and tranquility of the earth."

Clark said firmly.

Chapter 456 Reunion

"Clark, thank you. I believe that as long as we unite as one, we will be able to overcome all difficulties and challenges."

Luther encouraged.

The two brothers held each other's hands tightly and worked hard for the future of the earth.

In fact, we can only say that those who understand understand.

Clark untied his knot and felt very guilty for misunderstanding his brother and having prejudices.

Fortunately, the eldest brother didn't seem to care about such things.

Luther certainly didn't care. Now he was concerned about other things.

"The DC universe is also on the right track. When the Kryptonians invade next, copy the Kryptonians and throw them to Marvel."

Luther was still very interested in how much trouble the Kryptonians could make in Marvel. Now that Marvel was missing Thor, he went back to quell the rebellion of the Nine Realms.

The only ones left were Captain Marvel Carol, Blue Hulk Captain America, Green Hulk, and Tony Stark.

But it is not ruled out that there will be some hidden characters joining.

If there is enough time, Luther would not mind going to the world of One Punch Man to pick up Boros and the others.

Fighting with Saitama is a dead end, a complete crushing, but fighting with the superheroes of Marvel and DC, maybe it will be more exciting?

Anyway, they are all going to die, so why not give Luther some fun, at least Boros can be satisfied and have fun!

With nothing to do, Luther went to the universe of the Super Seminary.

Since he was almost turned into an archangel by the Supreme God in the DC universe, Luther went back to the Super Seminary universe to settle Qilin and the others. He didn't want anything to happen to Qilin and the others.

It is not safe in the DC universe and the Marvel universe. Although they are all in their own empire dimension, the empire dimension is just something that the Supreme God and the Great Will can study at will.

It is safer to go directly to another universe. It just so happens that the Super Seminary universe has been controlled by Luther. Even if the void age comes, it is just a matter of Luther's slap.

Luther adjusted the time flow of Qilin and the others very slowly. In Qilin and the others' perception of time, Luther only left for a few minutes or seconds, so they would not feel alone in an empty room.

"Luther."

Qilin sat in Luther's arms, and Dilena was very unhappy when she saw it.

"I want to sit too!"

Qilin hurriedly prepared to get up, but was stopped by Luther.

"Don't spoil her."

Luther said to Qilin, you are the main wife, you must have the bearing and majesty of the eldest wife.

"Is that so, Lena, you also heard it, so I can't give up my seat."

Qilin said with a blushing face.

Dilena was very unhappy, but she didn't continue to make trouble, and sat directly next to Luther.

Then soon, she found something wrong.

"You two are going to die!"

Lena didn't expect the two to play so much, it was still early in the morning, and they started playing.

The key is that they didn't bring her with them!

The moment of glory and panic seemed to be coming.

Dilena used the most abundant silent hand to untie the accumulated wind strips.

Luther vaguely saw a group of dancers from a primitive tribe walking in with the passionate drumbeats.

Then, a faint breeze containing the fragrance of peach blossoms swept through Lena's little head, and then spread a piece of wheat seedlings with flowers and ears,

Then a bright sun flashed, and her sun light burned in the sun!

After a morning of commotion, Luther was able to get away.

He Xi was studying and did not notice Luther's arrival.

She was full of curiosity about her current state and planned to study what was going on and see if she could use it.

"What are you busy with?"

Suddenly, an important hub was attacked, and He Xi was shocked. She relaxed after hearing a familiar voice.

"Go, find your other wives, don't bother me."

He Xi said so, but if Luther dared to leave, she would chase him.

Fortunately, Luther saw through her thoughts, and now his main point is to be a companion, let's see who can't help it first.

He Xi found that since Luther came, she found it difficult to calm down.

After all, she really fell in love with Luther, not the kind of love that can only be formed by relying on data matching and long-term getting along.

So He Xi quickly turned against Tiangang and captured Luther's important hub and firmly controlled it in her own hands.

Luther commanded his troops to rush to the enemy in an overwhelming manner, and the bullets cut through the air and made a sharp whistle, passing by people's ears, fighting hand to hand, and the bayonets clanged.

Riding a crane to the west, riding a crane to Yangzhou...

Next, she dismembered him piece by piece with ill-intentioned tenderness.

Sprinkle salt and pepper according to her preferences, add a cap and a bay leaf, pour in chopped onions and lemon juice,

Marinate in a dish until it is just right, and the stove has been adjusted to the right temperature.

...

Then Luther did nothing else, just stayed with Qilin and the others, but Qilin said she wanted a child.

"We are all immortal, what do we need children for, reproduction?"

Luther's words were very disappointing, but Hexi felt the same way.

"If you want a child, I'll help you get one."

Hexi said.

Qilin was speechless, she really couldn't get used to the thoughts and life of this kind of god.

"Anyway, I will always be with you, so forget about the existence of a child."

Luther hugged Qilin tightly and said.

"All right."

Qilin nodded. Since Luther said so, there was nothing she could do.

Qilin only wants a child because her parents are urging her to have a child, but since her parents no longer have life expectancy issues, there seems to be no need to worry about this?

After spending a good time with them, Luther left the Super Seminary Universe.

Then Luther planned to make a new crossing.

What he lacks now is ways to become stronger. The problem is that DC and Marvel have these methods, but these methods all have pitfalls. What Luther wants is more opportunities. Otherwise, regardless of how powerful he is now, But the DC and Marvel universes have grabbed a lot of them.

If nothing else, Galactus is a perfect example.

The invincible Uncle Tun fell down again!

In the world of American comics, arrogance is quick, but fall is also quick.

Luther's current strength, except for the Kryptonian given to him by the unknown existence at the beginning, is all from external forces.

Of course, his own research on fused Broly and Doomsday doesn't count.

It can be said that Luther did not like this feeling of being completely controlled by others and wanted to seek opportunities for transcendence.

And this opportunity for transcendence is undoubtedly his very magical super power to travel across the world.

The emergence of such superpowers among Kryptonians can be said to surpass the miracle of the "DC Universe".

Chapter 457: Kryptonian with Transcendent Power

Being able to escape from the limitations of the "DC Universe" or one's own universe and travel to other universes.

This in itself is a kind of "transcendent power".

Luther still doesn't know how he awakened such power. At first, he thought it was normal. Until now, when he thought about it carefully, he found that such superpowers completely exceeded the upper limit that he, a Kryptonian, should have.

Even the most magical "Silver Superman" could not awaken such superpowers.

However, I don't know whether it is special in this superpower or in the power of the Kryptonian given to him by that unknown existence?

Luther thought about this when he was looking for an opportunity to transcend.

In particular, he had a bold idea. Could it be that he was actually in the situation of Superboy Prime?

Superboy Prime came from the original Earth, where all superheroes were fictional characters in comics.

Therefore, Superboy Prime actually belongs to the "real dimension".

He knew about the comics about the Justice League, knew about the existence of the editorial department, and even beat up the "editor".

Breaking the "fourth wall" and mastering the ability to break through the sixth dimension.

Superboy Prime has the ability to change the reality of the universe by relying on powerful strength.

Superboy-Prime has all the abilities that other Kryptonians have because of the yellow sunlight, and he also has many unique abilities that other Kryptonians do not have, which is why he is stronger than other Kryptonians.

Superboy-Prime's most powerful ability is that he can change reality simply by relying on strength.

Many god-level characters in the DC multiverse can change the reality of the universe, such as the Hand Clan of the Source represented by Perpetua, the creator of the DC universe. They rely on the seven cosmic forces given by the Source.

Dr. Manhattan changes the reality of the universe by relying on his own connection energy, which is the positive energy of the universe like the seven cosmic forces.

The Dark Knight changes the reality of the universe by relying on connection energy and crisis energy. Connection energy is positive energy, and crisis energy is negative energy like the seven hidden energies.

These god-level characters change the reality of the universe by relying on these special energies. Superboy-Prime is different from them. Superboy-Prime changes the reality of the universe by relying solely on strength.

In the 2020 comic event "Dark Nights: Death Metal", the Laughing Bat gained crisis energy and evolved into the Dark Knight, changing the reality of the universe and turning the multiverse into the "Last 52 Universes", each of which is full of darkness.

The Dark Knight used the abilities of these dark universes to form a dark army to attack the heroes of the main universe.

A dark version of Superman attacked Superboy-Prime, who killed the dark Superman in seconds, and the reality of the universe where the Superman lived immediately changed from a dark world to a bright world full of sunshine.

After that, he used all his strength to give the Dark Knight the last blow, and after completing the last blow, he fell to the earth, not knowing whether he died or was seriously injured and unconscious. And the "Last 52 Universes" became bright. Superboy-Prime's full-strength blow changed the reality of the entire multiverse.

At present, among the heroes in the history of the DC universe, only the main universe Superman in 2018 has had a similar performance without relying on external forces. Superman shattered the multiverse with one blow and defeated the six-dimensional god world forger Alpheus, but his performance was not as good as that of the Prime Superboy.

Shattering reality and modifying reality are two different things. As mentioned above, in the 2005 "Infinite Crisis", the Prime Superboy had the performance of breaking reality, and the performance of modifying reality was far greater than breaking reality.

And Alpheus's strength is far inferior to that of the Dark Knight.

Alpheus and the three brothers Manov and Mobius merged into the Ultimate Monitor to have the strength to match the mother of creation Perpetua. The Dark Knight killed Perpetua, and it is obvious that the Dark Knight's strength is far greater than Alpheus.

As a secondary ability to shatter reality, the Prime Superboy has the ability to travel through dimensions. In the 2005 "Infinite Crisis", he broke the heaven dimension and came to the new earth.

During the 2009 "Final Crisis: Countdown", he traveled through various parallel universes to hunt down Superman in the multiverse.

Superman under the Prime can even break free from the Speed Force. You should know that whether it is Barry Allen or Wally West and many other speedsters, they have been trapped in the Speed Force and cannot break free.

In "Infinite Crisis", the Prime Little Superman was pushed into the Speed Force by many speedsters, and soon he escaped simply by relying on strength.

What is called breaking all laws with one force, proving the truth with force, and being strong enough to fly bricks.

If this is really the case.

Then Luther obviously did something wrong.

He can surpass the multiverse simply by relying on his own strength, but he chose to strengthen himself by independent research and development.

If he did nothing at the beginning and always relied on basking in the sun, would he be stronger than he is now?

The answer is definitely not, because Luther really felt that his progress was slow, and with the temptation of Broly, he planned to study Doomsday and Broly. The result is also obvious, and his strength has improved by leaps and bounds.

How long has it been since I reached my current strength?

"The Supreme God pays special attention to me. You can also say that the Supreme God is a fun-loving person, but OAA also pays special attention to me. Is it because of this?"

The more he thought about it, the more it felt like a sure thing. It was very likely that if he gave up everything he had done, he would become even less powerful than he is now, but he would be a Kryptonian with transcendent power, which might be even more outrageous than Superboy Prime.

Then it was not surprising that he received special attention from the Supreme God and OAA. The Supreme God even planned to transform him into an archangel.

Just because of his idea, after he resisted, the archangel power became a part of him for him to drive.

The Supreme God who was so easy to talk to only had it when facing Lucifer.

OAA also helped him to merge the power of the Infinity Stones, fearing that he could not control it.

Luther traveled to the new world.

As soon as he appeared, he was in an environment of ice and snow, with no sunlight.

So he manipulated the clouds to separate and let the stars get closer to here.

The ice and snow melted, and the golden sunlight shone on the earth, shining brightly.

Luther looked at the sun and fell into deep thought.

He was using his super brain to calculate his thoughts and possibilities, because Luther was going to make a major decision.

"The possibility is only 50%, but if I gamble, even if I lose, I will just have to walk the current path again. I have already mastered the current path, so it won't take me long to walk the current path again."

Chapter 458 Separation Power

Luther is very clear about how to become stronger. He has a clear grasp of every step and every process.

So even if he loses this power, he can quickly change back in a short time.

This is the confidence that the super brain brings him.

Understand the nature of power, master the method of power, and make yourself the master of power, not the slave of power!

Luther deeply understands the true meaning of power.

He knows clearly that to truly master power, you must understand and control its essence.

"Then, the first thing is to eliminate other powers in my body."

Luther does what he says, clean and neat, without dragging his feet.

The main purpose of choosing to separate power in other worlds is to avoid the influence of DC and Marvel.

He resolutely uses the power of DC Archangel in his body to separate the original power of the Infinity Stones!

This is because this is the most powerful power in Luther's body. The power of DC Archangel even makes Luther a super-single universe-level existence in one fell swoop. As long as he becomes a true archangel, he is a multiverse-level boss.

The power of the Infinity Stones is second, and the power of Broly and Doomsday is third.

So he had to use all his strength and his own strength to fight against the power of DC Archangel and the power of his own empire dimension.

Since he was going to separate, he might as well do it!

His eyes were firm and resolute, without any hesitation.

He sat down, closed his eyes, and began to look for those powers that did not belong to him in his heart.

These powers grew wildly in his body like weeds, but Luther knew that if they were not controlled and separated, they would become his shackles rather than helpers.

He took a deep breath, and every breath seemed to be a dialogue with these powers, telling them his firm determination.

In the process of separating other powers in his body, Luther's body and mind experienced unprecedented challenges and torment.

This process was painful, like being tormented in flames. His body seemed to be torn apart, and every cell was trembling.

His heartbeat was like thunder, and every beat was accompanied by severe pain.

His lungs seemed to be tightly held by a pair of big hands, and every breath became extremely difficult.

His eyes were bloodshot and his vision was blurred, as if he was in a sea of fire.

His body seemed to have become a battlefield, and every cell was in fierce confrontation.

He felt a huge force running wild in his body, as if countless needles were piercing his skin, and every nerve was being pulled and twisted mercilessly. This pain penetrated deep into his bones and was unbearable.

His muscles were like being burned by flames, sometimes tense, sometimes relaxed, and every spasm brought waves of severe pain. His bones seemed to be broken by this force, and the cracking sound from the joints made him shudder.

His heart seemed to be about to break out of his body, and every beat seemed to be bearing a huge force, as if an invisible hammer was smashing his chest. Every breath became extremely difficult, and the air entering his lungs seemed to be cut by a knife, which was heart-wrenching.

But Luther did not give up. He gritted his teeth and fought against this force with extraordinary willpower. His sweat flowed like a waterfall, intertwined with painful tears, slid down his cheeks, and wet his clothes.

In this fierce struggle, Luther's body seemed to have become a volcano, enduring endless pain and releasing his inner anger and perseverance.

His heartbeat was in sync with the vibration of the earth, his breathing resonated with the whistling of the wind, and in this painful process, he gradually found a balance of symbiosis with power.

Time seemed to stop at this moment. Luther's consciousness wandered in his body, having a silent dialogue with those powers.

"I am the master of this body, you are just passers-by!"

This pain was unbearable for Luther, and he felt as if he was about to be torn into pieces.

But he knew that this was the only way to become stronger. He gritted his teeth and endured this torture desperately. His sweat was like rain, soaking his clothes, flowing on his skin, bringing waves of coldness.

His body began to spasm, and his muscles contracted involuntarily, as if to squeeze out the power. There were bursts of low roars in his throat, which were painful groans. But Luther did not retreat, he firmly believed that he could survive.

In the torment of pain, Luther's consciousness gradually became blurred. His eyes were dark, as if swallowed by darkness. But he knew he couldn't give up, he struggled desperately, trying to stay awake.

As time went by, the pain began to ease.

Those powers seemed to hear Luther's voice and began to slowly withdraw from his body.

This process was as gentle as drizzle, but as painful as a knife.

But Luther did not give up, he persisted.

When the last bit of other power left his body, Luther's body trembled violently.

Then, he slowly opened his eyes. Although his body was still exhausted, there was a glimmer of victory in his eyes. He knew that he had successfully separated the other powers in his body.

His body was exhausted, as if he had been exhausted after a fierce battle. His muscles were sore, as if they had been crushed by a heavy object. His fingers trembled slightly and shook uncontrollably.

But these feelings of exhaustion and soreness could not cover up the joy and satisfaction in his heart.

Finally, when the power completely left his body, Luther's body seemed to have been drained of all strength.

He collapsed to the ground, his muscles relaxed, and the ground was soaked with sweat and tears. But his eyes flashed with victory. He knew that he had successfully separated the other powers in his body and took the first step to become stronger.

The original power of the Infinity Stones condensed the essence of the stones in front of Luther.

The Power Stone, the Reality Stone, the Mind Stone, and the Space Stone!

Because it was condensed from Luther's origin, there was no situation where it could not be used outside the Marvel Universe.

Then there was the brilliant Archangel power, a pure ball of light. Anyone who got it could become a super-single universe-level strongman at will.

Broly's power was a distorted green ball of light, and Doomsday's power was an ominous red ball of light.

There was also the Imperial Dimension, which condensed Luther's Lutheran Protoss concept and a lot of power, and was a colorful ball of light.

For these things, Luther threw them to his wife Qilin without hesitation.

Anyway, it was all for others, and the fat water didn't flow to outsiders, so it was better to give it to Qilin.

Qilin is in the Super Seminary Universe and doesn't need to worry about these power issues.

Chapter 459 Belated Power!

Then Luther felt weaker than ever.

His personality fell directly from the super-unit universe to his current strength. He must be very weak, after all, he has become so much weaker.

Although for most of the world, it is still extremely powerful.

"There's no special feeling..."

Luther was thoughtful, and the next moment, a lot of prompts appeared in his mind like a screen.

These tips are the changes in the body discovered by the super brain and compiled in a systematic way for him to see.

Super power!

Super power!

Still a superpower!

Biological force field, body of steel, super strength, super speed...

The changes in the body bring about changes in cells caused by crazy absorption of sunlight.

Luther felt that his body was getting stronger at a speed visible to the naked eye.

This feeling is very strange, like a person who has been hungry for a long time and is eating like crazy, but he is not exhausted to death. Instead, his muscles are recovering as if they are inflated.

All kinds of superpowers!

Astral projection, telepathy, telekinesis, reality distortion, time manipulation, super strength, ultrasound, pain transfer, beam emission, teleportation, gigantism, mind control, super speed, clairvoyance, high-speed flight, time travel, etc.

By controlling these changes in the body, Luther's super brain calculated an answer that Luther had previously thought was the most likely.

"Is that really the case? I limited myself."

Luther looked at the calculation results speechlessly.

This Kryptonian of his is really different, or in other words, he is completely wearing the skin of a Kryptonian!

According to all the physical changes since birth calculated by the super brain's infinite computing power, his body will undergo a super evolution when absorbing sunlight from different universes.

It's just that this kind of super-evolution was suppressed by Luther himself. To put it simply, it is as if human beings have not stopped evolving, but most of the unnecessary evolutionary mutations have been treated as diseases.

This is Luther's situation. He likes stability, so he uses a biological force field to filter sunlight. In addition, after integrating Broly and Doomsday, there is no need to absorb sunlight.

Doomsday has unlimited physical strength and Broly has unlimited energy. There is no need to worry about recovery. Then why does he need to absorb sunlight?

But this instead limits Luther's own true power and evolution.

Since his birth, this Kryptonian has evolved to absorb the sunlight of countless universes. The sunlight of different universes represents different powers. Evolution is to adapt to this power and then make it his own.

He is a Kryptonian destined to become the Supreme Being, if only he keeps traveling through time.

"If you pick up sesame seeds and lose the watermelon, you will have to buy a coffin and return a pearl."

Luther laughed at himself, but if he regretted it, Luther did not regret it.

It was inevitable to make mistakes when doing business, and he didn't think there was anything wrong with being cautious at the beginning. Luther didn't dare to take a gamble without knowing the situation clearly and without instructions.

Again, without knowing it, he would still do it because it is in his character.

"Although it is not as powerful as before, at least it is very powerful, close to the power of a single universe."

Luther's current power has skyrocketed, increasing by astronomical figures. This is the super evolution brought about by absorbing the solar energy of other universes. In terms of power, his evolution is the most rapid.

Other superpowers need time to grow slowly, but strength does not.

And absorbing the solar energy of other universes is actually absorbing the regular power of this universe!

"I don't know what kind of universe this universe is..."

Luther melted the ice and snow in the polar regions, and the climate was expected to change drastically, but he didn't care.

"General, this is it!"

Then he saw someone appear.

Teleporting in front of this group of people, Luther saw a "general" at the head.

It's just that this general has long ice-blue hair, wears a white Western-style military uniform, and has a tall and graceful figure.

Still a female general!

"Who are you?"

The female general and her men were shocked when they saw Luther appearing out of thin air.

However, the female general's reaction was very interesting. After she was startled, she quickly turned into an expression of interest.

At this time, Luther had seen everything about them through telepathy.

Only then did I know what world I had come to.

Warm, healing and touching! The world of Crimson Eyes.

Even Luther did not expect that he would come to this world.

It's a beautiful world from top to bottom, one where ordinary people wouldn't survive a day.

This female general is the famous Esdeath.

The Queen of Shaking S is also Luther's favorite woman after watching this show. He has no feelings for other women. At most, he feels pity for Hill.

The animation is more cruel than the manga. At least a few characters survived in the manga, but all of them were killed in the anime.

However, the changes complement each other. Esdeath is the kind of character who destroys things when they don't get them. The ending of the animation can only be said to be very consistent.

There are a few or even a handful of comic adaptations with better plots than the original, albeit more cruel.

At this moment, Esdeath has obviously not met Tazmi yet, and Najexitan has just betrayed the empire and joined the revolutionary army.

"Are you an imperial weapon user? An imperial weapon that can move instantly, could it be the Dimensional Array Shangri-La?"

Esdeath looked at Luther curiously. There was nothing suspicious about him, and he didn't look like a northern alien.

Esdeath killed all northern aliens without mercy, but most of the time, in order to continue to enjoy the fun of war, she would let some northern aliens go.

She didn't expect that she had accidentally achieved the operation of keeping the enemy and protecting herself, making the ministers and the little emperor inseparable from her.

Looking at the entire original plot, except for the existence of legendary super dangerous species such as the Cross Tailed Dragon and the Ice Phoenix, Esdeath can be said to be the strongest. With part of the blood of the Ice Phoenix, she can exert a powerful force far beyond other imperial weapons.

Of course, there are also claims that Esdeath was not so tyrannical, and it was the tyrannical consciousness and desire in the blood of the Ice Phoenix that influenced her.

However, when she was a child, she tortured dangerous species with a knife and liked to see them struggling in pain. How could it be influenced by the Ice Phoenix?

This is her natural character.

"Esdeath, do you desire power?"

Luther asked irrelevantly.

"I desire power?"

Esdeath smiled contemptuously when he heard Luther's words.

"General, let me take him down first!"

There were no three beastmen around Esdeath, so an officer said directly.

Chapter 460: Esdeath Desire for Power

Esdeath was just about to stop his men, but he was gone.

Not very suddenly, it disappeared with a bang.

This time, Esdeath and the others felt like they were facing a formidable enemy.

Esdeath didn't see how Luther did it at all.

What kind of Teigu is this?

Never even heard of it.

Luther looked at Esdeath with interest. He still needed to bask in the sun, so he didn't mind vacationing here for a while. After all, he would have to go to the One Punch Man world and other worlds to bask in the sun.

Make up for all the missed super evolutions.

Esdeath suddenly took action.

She has a fearless character. No matter how strong the enemy is, Esdeath will not give in. Luther will kill her if he has the ability.

Then she will be convinced.

Luther ignored the ice spikes shot by Esdeath. The ice spikes disappeared when they got close to a certain distance.

Esdeath then concluded that his ability was likely to have a protective ability, not just a weird attack.

"Interesting, let me see how strong you are!"

Esdeath drew his sword and swung the ice blade to clear the way, but also disappeared after getting close.

Then Esdeath thrust forward with the sword, and after the sword got closer, it disappeared and disintegrated inch by inch.

This caused Esdeath to change the momentum of the impact, tighten the muscles in her legs, and jump up the next moment.

"Hailfury Leap Strike!"

She snapped her fingers in the air, and the cold air behind her began to condense the moisture in the air, forming a huge frost version of the Tianzhen Star!

"Try and see if you can block this!"

Esdeath would not rashly come into contact with the unknown power, but she was curious about the upper limit of Luther's power, so she created this huge Tianzhu earthquake star. She used the power of jumping to reach Tianzhu. above the earthquake star, and then punched the huge hailstone!

With Esdeath's power, he can actually shake a huge hailstone and exert acceleration. It can be said to be very terrifying. Even compared with the physical strength of the group of animals in One Piece, it is not weak at all.

At the very least, it must be stronger than Diamond Jozi, because the iceberg that Diamond Jozi dug up with all his strength was not even one-tenth the size of the hailstone Esdeath.

But for Luther, it was nothing. He still stood where he was, not even bothering to raise his head.

Then, huge hail fell, and then it seemed as if it had touched some realm of absolute destruction.

Along a plane, the hail disappeared without touching the ground. It covered such a wide area, but it didn't miss a single bit. It wasn't until Esdeath fell to the ground that she looked at Luther in surprise.

This actually completely wiped out his own hail?

She didn't know whether it was erased or destroyed, but it felt very outrageous.

This is the first time she has seen someone take on her own move so easily. You must know that Esdeath once directly defeated an army of 100,000 people with this move.

This is an attack comparable to a natural disaster, and it is also the Mahabotmo that Esdeath used later (a big move that can freeze time and can only be used once a day).

There is also General Binglan who has a super blizzard covering the entire empire from east to west, north and south. Unless Esdeath dies, the blizzard will not stop, and the blizzard can continuously create ice armies, ice knights, ice soldiers, etc., with automatic combat. intelligent.

Only these two moves can possibly beat Esdeath's Hailfury Leap Attack.

Even with the strongest move, I couldn't see anything more about Luther, so Esdeath planned to do it by herself.

"White Ice Breaking Blow!"

Esdeath closed his hands together and then pulled them apart, creating hundreds of huge ice spikes, each one larger than an adult, flying out.

Luther still didn't make any move. He planned to make Esdeath realize the absolute strength gap between her and himself through this.

Esdeath watched as all the ice spikes disappeared after getting close to Luther. Without any surprise, he tried various attacks.

In the end, she chose to fight in close combat, but after she got close to Luther and punched him, the fist disappeared.

Only then did Esdeath stop.

One arm was gone. No matter how unruly Esdeath was, she knew that Luther was not a guy she could match.

"General Esdeath!"

Seeing her general's arm disappear, her men became anxious.

He quickly wanted to charge over.

"Don't come here!"

Esdeath frowned, and the pain of her broken arm did not make her cry out. She stopped her men from approaching.

"I thought you would show mercy to me?"

Esdeath looked at his broken arm and said with a smile.

"You are not mine yet, why should I show mercy?"

Luther asked rhetorically.

"You are right."

Esdeath nodded. She just chose to fight in close combat because she thought that Luther had recognized her when they first met and asked if she was thirsty for power. So she judged what value she might have for Luther. He also planned to use this point to make Luther throw his hat into the ring, and then find an opportunity to turn defeat into victory.

As a result, Luther's behavior told her that Luther actually didn't care about her life or death.

Then there is nothing to say. The law of the jungle is deep in the bones. Esdeath, who firmly believes in this, either chooses to die, or... longs for power!

Luther had told her this before, and the main purpose was to prevent her from surrendering rather than die.

Esdeath believes in the law of the jungle, where the strong prey on the weak. She will definitely submit to someone stronger than herself, but submission does not mean she will surrender.

Just like in the original plot, after Akahime and the others defeated Esdeath, Esdeath chose to commit suicide.

She is very stubborn, she would rather die than surrender, she would rather break than bend. If you are stronger than me, I will submit, but I will not surrender.

Even if a group fight beats her, Esdeath will not think that the other party won unfairly. She will only think that she is not strong enough.

What a pure woman.

Therefore, Luther naturally had to arouse her interest from the beginning, so that she could think of this.

Esdeath naturally desires power.

"You can submit to the emperor and ministers who are not as strong as you, so why can't you submit to someone stronger than you?"

Luther said with a smile.

Esdeath paused, and knelt directly on the ground with a sense of relief.

"I submit to you, my new master."

She said straightforwardly.

"Very good."

As soon as Luther finished speaking, Esdeath felt an extremely itchy feeling on her broken arm.

This itch was unbearable for Esdeath, but what happened next made Esdeath's eyes widen.

She originally thought that her broken arm would never be restored.