

Kryptonian 491

Chapter 491 Get ready for the shock of knowledge!

Luther and Esdeath were both talented and bold, so they walked in without hesitation.

There are only metal pillars like pillars in the empty room, and there are no other decorations.

If I had to say that the only decoration in the room was a high platform located at the back of the room.

There is a layer of seats on top, with various luminous transistors and crystals behind the seats.

Then a dark figure sat on the seat.

Esdeath was a little surprised. This guy's body shape is different from that of the door. After all, this is a living room, not a palace, so why is the door so big?

Is it to facilitate challengers?

No size limit?

She looked at Boros, who looked similar to a human. Of course, it was just the structure, maybe everything inside was different.

Then there is an afro that makes the bald devil jealous and jealous. It is very fluffy and has a hard feeling.

Other than that, it's a very scary face.

There was only one eye on that face, and the horizontal one-eye occupied the upper half of the face, replacing the human eyes and even the position between the eyebrows and forehead. There were black lines spreading around the one-eye.

Esdeath felt a strange and weird feeling, the kind of uncanny valley effect.

You can't see much of it in the comics and animations, but it's quite scary to see Boros in real life.

Then there is a suit of armor that is very exaggerated and flashy. At least Esdeath can't see any practicality.

He wears a suit of armor with spikes on the shoulders and forearms, and a pair of matching curved boots.

In the comics, his skin under his armor is purple, with dark purple streaks on his face.

He also has a red orb on his chest and purple stripes on his belly and arms. He wore a pair of white bloomers and a magenta belt around his waist, with a purple blade inlaid with silver hanging from the belt.

Esdeath doesn't know that this is Boros' armor that seals his power, and at the same time creates a heavy gravity field to restrain the strength of his attacks. Every move and every move is weighed by tens of thousands of tons, allowing Boros to "handle it with care". Part of something.

After all, for him, 99% of materials are too fragile.

While Esdeath was observing Boros, Boros was also observing the two of them.

He has a unique, race-born powerful spiritual power and energy storage, and is very sensitive to energy induction.

The Boros race can be said to be energy-like life forms. Their race competes and survives in the harsh environment of their home planet, which gives them the best natural healing ability in the universe.

Boros is outstanding in natural healing, body functions and potential energy. As long as he concentrates his energy to greatly improve his healing ability, he can recover from fatal injuries to humans in a few seconds.

According to Boros, it can be inferred that Boros's race has strong combat power.

Of course, it is not ruled out that Boros is a mutant similar to King Frieza in the Frozen Demon.

As long as the energy is immortal, Boros will not die, which is why he and his race are energy-like life forms.

Luther planned to train aliens like Poros as his subordinates in the Empire of Mars and the Empire of Venus.

Kryptonians are not good, they are too unnatural and prone to accidents. Saiyans and one-eyed aliens can be cultivated.

Boros is very sensitive to energy and can judge the opponent's strength by directly feeling the amount of energy in his opponent's body.

In the world of Dragon Ball, it is estimated to be much more accurate than a combat power detector.

I just don't know whether this perception is at the cellular level or more subtle.

Now, in the eyes of Boros, Esdeath is filled with three kinds of energy, red and blue, intertwined and intertwined. It is a very huge energy, but it is nothing more than this. It may be able to solve Meluza Garudo and Gloribas. But it is impossible to be Goryu Ganshupu's opponent.

The other one is Luther who looks very calm and holds his hands.

Boros couldn't feel the energy in his body.

This alone made Poros realize that Luther was definitely an opponent beyond imagination, and Goryuganshope probably died at the hands of the opponent.

"Welcome to my ship, I didn't expect you to be here so soon."

Poros stood up and walked down the steps, each step making a clanging sound.

Luther knew that he was bearing tens of thousands of tons of pressure, and that his limbs and torso were bearing it separately. In this case, he was still able to control himself from crushing the ground with one foot, which was already very impressive.

"Before the battle, let me tell you my name. I am the leader of the Dark Matter Pirates and the overlord of the universe, Boros."

Boros looked at Luther and said.

"Luther."

Luther nodded.

"It seems that the prophecy is somewhat true."

Boros couldn't figure out Luther's strength, which made him feel very excited and looking forward to it.

"I burned, killed and destroyed in the universe, but no one dared to stand up and resist me. I was very bored at that time."

Poros told the reason why he came here.

It can also be considered as giving your opponent time and respect to prepare.

"The fortune teller I met at that time said that there is a place called Earth far away, and there are people there who can let me enjoy peer-to-peer battles. That was 20 years ago, and it took us a long time to get here. For such a long time..."

Boros had already arrived in front of Luther. He looked at Luther condescendingly, completely ignoring Esdeath beside him.

"My subordinates all thought that prophecy was a lie just to get us out of there, but I just believed it a little bit!"

Boros said excitedly, unable to see through Luther's energy. This alone can make Boros ecstatic. At the very least, this is much more interesting than meeting a guy with unimaginable energy.

"Come and give me a little excitement in my life, I'm here for it!"

Boros finally said.

"Wait, I have a question."

Luther suddenly interrupted the impassioned Poros.

"you say?"

Poros was startled, but still said.

"It took you twenty years to come to Earth. So how many living planets have you conquered and conquered? Have you ever left the Milky Way, Overlord of the Universe?"

Luther asked with a smile.

"I have conquered more than a thousand living planets!"

Poros then said.

"Overlord of the universe, do you know how big the universe is?"

Luther shook his head.

"What's the meaning?"

Poros was puzzled.

"I guess you have never even ventured out of the Milky Way. More than a thousand living planets are nothing in the Milky Way. There are hundreds of millions of stars in the Milky Way alone. There are too many star systems that can give birth to life."

Luther snapped his fingers, and a map of the Milky Way appeared in front of the three of them.

Chapter 492: Boros shock and determination

Boros looked at the star map in front of him.

So huge, so vast.

"The Milky Way observed by humans contains about 300 billion stars, of which about 200 billion are stars, but in fact the Milky Way has nearly 600 billion stars. Even if there is only one planet with life in one million stars, it is an astronomical number, not to mention that it is not that few."

Boros widened his eyes, and the star map in front of him made him feel extremely shocked.

He came from a race with only one planet, and his understanding of the universe was limited to their own planet and some stars around them.

Now, this star map was displayed in front of him, and he seemed to see an endless world.

"Six hundred billion stars?"

He whispered, unable to believe this number.

His race has a total population of only a few thousand, and here, the number of stars in a Milky Way is millions of times that of their entire race.

Luther looked at Boros's reaction and said lightly.

"Yes, this is just a rough estimate. In fact, the number of stars in the universe may be more or less. But in any case, this is an unattainable number for us."

"So, you see, the vastness and breadth of the universe, the more than a thousand life planets you conquered will not even make a splash in the Milky Way, so I am very curious about what you mean by the center of the universe and the universe overlord. Do you really know the concept of the center of the universe?"

Luther continued.

Esdeath looked at the star map with interest.

Boros took a deep breath and tried to digest this huge number.

He felt his vision expanding and his heart trembling. He realized how narrow and limited his previous worldview was.

At this moment, Boros's worldview was completely overturned.

He always thought that he had gone very far and conquered many planets. But now it seems that he is just looking at the sky from the bottom of the well, lacking the understanding of the real universe.

Boros was silent for a while, then answered.

"I used to think that my race was the center of the universe, and I was the strongest being in the universe."

His voice trembled a little, and it was obvious that this idea was under strong attack.

"Your viewpoint needs to be updated. First of all, no race can be considered the center of the universe. The universe is so huge that each race is just a speck of dust in it. Secondly, you think you are the strongest being in the universe, which is even more ridiculous."

Luther smiled slightly and pointed to the star map.

"There are countless galaxies in the universe, and each galaxy has countless planets. An existence like you may be powerful in a certain galaxy, but in the entire universe, you are just an insignificant part."

"The universe is constantly expanding, and the center of the universe is constantly changing. If you mean the center of civilization, then the universe is so big, what basis do you have to say that civilization is the center of the entire universe?"

The star map in Luther's hand changed again, and a galaxy larger than the Milky Way appeared.

"Galaxies larger than the Milky Way are extragalactic galaxies. Extragalactic galaxies refer to systems located outside the Milky Way and composed of billions to hundreds of billions of stars, nebulae and interstellar matter. The diameter of extragalactic galaxies generally ranges from a few thousand light years to 100,000 light years, so their volume is far greater than that of the Milky Way.

According to the appearance characteristics of extragalactic galaxies, they can be divided into three categories: elliptical galaxies, spiral galaxies and irregular galaxies. Each extragalactic galaxy is also in motion, their spatial distribution is also uneven, and galaxies exist in clusters. The Milky Way forms a group with more than 30 galaxies around it, called the Local Group.

Currently, more than billions of extragalactic galaxies have been discovered, and the most famous extragalactic galaxies include the Andromeda Galaxy, the Canes Venatici Galaxy, the Large Magellanic Cloud, the Small Magellanic Cloud and the Virgo Galaxy."

Luther continued.

"In addition to the extragalactic galaxies, there is a type of celestial system that is larger than the Milky Way, called the Laniakea Supercluster. It contains thousands of galaxy clusters and galaxy groups, covering an area of about 520 million light years. The Local Group where the Milky Way is located is part of it.

The Laniakea Supercluster is a huge system composed of many galaxy clusters and galaxy groups interacting with each other through gravity. It is shaped like a long strip, and the central part contains a large number of galaxies and dark matter. Due to its huge mass and density, it is considered to be one of the largest structures in the universe."

Luther's star map became larger, almost covering the entire room.

Boros was speechless.

"In addition, we humans are constantly discovering and understanding more large celestial systems. For example, recent studies have shown that our Milky Way may belong to a larger galaxy cluster called the "Local Supercluster". This galaxy cluster contains thousands of galaxies and spans a distance of about 100 million light years."

"Even if you conquer the entire Milky Way, you are just a small galaxy overlord. The term "universe overlord" is really ridiculous and ignorant. Even if you have the technology to fly faster than the speed of light, it will take an unknown amount of time just to get out of the Milky Way."

"Your life is not infinite. Saying that you are pursuing a defeat is just shouting in your own territory. If you go out, there are countless billions of life forms. How many super life forms do you think can fight with you, and how many ultimate life forms can easily kill you?"

Luther's words were like a huge bell, and Boros could no longer hold on. He staggered and was shocked by the star map that Luther showed, which covered the entire spaceship.

"So, a world is so huge?"

Esdeath seemed to see infinite wars and strong people.

"So that's it, the universe is so huge...hahahahaha!"

Boros laughed wildly. The reason why he staggered was just because he was shocked. This was beyond his imagination. He really looked at the sky from a well and lacked common sense, just like the ancient people would not think about how big the world is, and thought that their place was the center of the world.

The situation of Boros was the same, but now, he was like Qin Shihuang who was presented with a world map by a time traveler.

"What a vast universe, how huge, such a vast universe, there must be countless strong people!"

"Then I will conquer more galaxies and become the real overlord of the universe!"

"I want my name to resound throughout the universe!"

His eyes flashed with ambition, and it was obvious that this new world had ignited the fire in his heart.

Chapter 493: Battle

Without even needing to answer Luther's words, he knew how vast it was ahead, with countless powerful enemies waiting for him to conquer.

I actually stayed in such a place for so long and was bored for so long. It was such a waste of my life!

He should have used his limited life to find strong men earlier, instead of wasting it on boring things like burning, killing and looting.

Luther nodded, he really has a strong heart and will, or is this what martial arts idiots and fighting madmen are like?

For them, the grandeur of the universe failed to break their will. They would only feel ecstatic. There are countless powerful enemies waiting for them in this world!

"Let's start with Earth."

Boros strengthened his will and planned to go to other places in the galaxy after conquering the earth.

His level of intelligence is not low, and his brain development is quite high. He just took a cursory glance and remembered the coordinates of Luther's star map. Although there may be some discrepancies and errors, it doesn't matter. As far as Boros is concerned, let him continue. Staying in this place is simply intolerable to him!

Just like the Age of Discovery, now, as the leader of the dark matter pirate group, he is going to travel and sail in a wider star sea!

Who would want to live in a small place like Sihai when they can go to the Grand Line!

His voice was full of determination and fighting spirit.

He knew that the earth was just a small step for him to conquer the universe, and there were countless planets ahead of him waiting for him to conquer.

He will use his strength and wisdom to challenge those unknown life forms and conquer those powerful enemies.

"Don't let me down, strong men of the earth."

Poros's eyes shone with anticipation and desire.

His voice was full of challenge and fighting spirit.

He knew that the strong men on earth would not let him down.

They will be his first powerful enemies to conquer the universe, and they will also be his source of motivation to reach greater heights. He is looking forward to confronting them, looking forward to finding his own limits and value in the endless battle.

At this moment, Boros's heart was filled with endless ecstasy and excitement. His ambition and courage allowed him to see a broader world, and more powerful enemies were waiting for him to challenge.

He knew that this would be an endless journey of battle and exploration.

But he was not afraid. On the contrary, he felt extremely excited and ecstatic. Because he knows that only in such battles and explorations can he find his true self and value.

"Very good, the will you have shown meets the standards of a universe overlord, but that's it. The universe is so big, and there are countless people like you who dream of becoming the universe overlord. There are too many losers, but there is only one winner. people!"

Luther said calmly.

Buzz————

As soon as Luther finished speaking, Poros disappeared.

A figure rushed in front of Luther at an unimaginable speed.

Luther's eyes met with Boros's. Bloodthirsty, warlike, and indifferent emotions flowed through them, and finally intertwined with the purest fighting intention at this time.

Then it's a punch!

"Normal punch!"

Boom boom boom————!

In the extremely strong and terrifying air current, this sudden shocking bombardment penetrated deeply into Boros' armor!

Then, Boros's armor made an overwhelmed sound.

The fragmented sounds and explosions were so loud that they were almost indistinguishable.

Boros' body flew out uncontrollably and hit a huge metal pillar. The metal pillar could not block Boros' impact and exploded directly.

Then Boros stood up quickly. The armor on his body had completely exploded, revealing a huge one-eye in the center of his chest. It seemed to be somehow connected to the one-eye on his face, and he might also have unique senses.

And Boros made a relaxed sound, as if some restraint had been released.

"The armor I wore to seal my excessive power... just shattered."

Boros explained his current situation, and then he felt even more excited. Because there are so many planets, Boros has yet to encounter a strong enemy who can explode his armor with one blow!

And according to the name of the move mentioned by Luther, this punch was a random punch from him?

The blue muscles with perfect proportions and structure all over his body were exposed, as if to verify what he said, the energy became several times or even dozens of times stronger. Even people like Esdeath, who were insensitive to energy perception, felt it.

"Oh, really? Just take it off, I don't mind."

Luther said calmly, seemingly not caring about Boros' power and having absolute confidence in himself.

Boros stopped talking nonsense and rushed towards Luther in an instant, faster than before, so fast that he could only see a blue afterimage.

Luther was not afraid at all and punched him forward.

With a bang, the two fists met, and a wave of air exploded, sending everything around him flying.

Luther's expression remained unchanged, but Poros's face showed a little surprise.

Luther's fist clearly did not use any superpower, it was just physical power, but at the moment of contact, he felt as if he had hit a mountain.

No, not just his fists, but his whole body seemed to have crashed into a mountain!

Pressure came from all directions, binding himself tightly and unable to move.

"Is this all you can do?"

Luther said.

The flames of battle burned in the air. The confrontation between Luther and Boros was like the collision of two strong winds, which set off a series of vortexes of air.

Luther's eyes were like the abyss. He punched out with the sound of wind and thunder, and hit Boros fiercely. Boros's figure disappeared in an instant, leaving only a residual shadow in the air.

His speed was as fast as lightning, making it unpredictable.

However, Luther, as if he had expected it, slightly turned his body and appeared in front of Boros. Their sights met in the air, as if two sharp blades collided in the air, sparks flew.

Boros' eyes flashed with surprise, but it was soon replaced by coldness. He rushed towards Luther, so fast that people could only see a blue shadow. His fist hit Luther's chest with a sharp sound of breaking the wind.

Luther was not afraid at all. The corners of his mouth raised, revealing a playful smile. Then, his palm turned up and met Boros's fist. The two forces collided in the air, like waves hitting rocks, stirring up thousands of waves.

However, Luther's power seemed endless. Although his palm collided with Boros's fist, the power slid through Boros' arm like water and then condensed on his fist.

Boros' body suddenly trembled, and his fist stopped in Luther's palm.

It felt like being trapped in a swamp. The more you struggle, the deeper you sink.

Chapter 494 Serious Nonsense

There was a trace of panic in Boros's eyes. He felt as if he was being pressed down by a mountain, unable to exert all his strength.

Luther's palm exerted a slight force, and Boros felt as if his fist was clamped by iron pincers, and severe pain spread throughout his body.

"What kind of power is this?"

Poros was horrified.

But even more excited.

"Next, I'm going to get serious!"

Boros let out a weird roar, and then the black lines all over his body lit up like electrified circuits!

Immediately afterwards, his body seemed to be charged and inflated, with joints extending and muscles expanding, then shrinking and compressing.

The expanded muscles formed a dark armor on the body after being compressed. Under this change, the entire body turned into a blue-black color.

Unknown huge energy flows in it, and this energy contains powerful destructive power, as if it will destroy the entire world.

Then Boros assumed a fighting posture, causing a strong wind to hit just by raising his hands and feet.

boom----

Poros's voice was filled with a hint of madness and excitement, and his figure disappeared instantly, and when he reappeared, he was already in front of Luther.

His fists hit Luther's chest with fierce momentum.

However, Luther was not afraid. The corners of his mouth raised, revealing a teasing smile.

Then, his palm turned up and met Boros' fist.

The two forces collided in the air, like waves hitting a rock, stirring up thousands of waves.

After a fierce collision, the two powerful forces intertwined in the air, forming a dazzling light network.

Boros's energy carries the aura of destruction, while Luther's energy contains endless vitality.

Their figures intertwined in the air, and every collision seemed to shake the whole world. However, Luther always had the upper hand, and his energy continued to flow out, seemingly endless.

Their figures kept intertwining in the air.

Every collision brought with it a strong wave of energy, as if it was going to destroy everything around it.

Where Luther was, not even the metal ground exploded. Boros knew very well how strong his power was, but it felt very strange to face Luther head-on with such power.

The violent and concussive power was not wasted at all, but the feeling Boros fed back from his fist was as if he had hit something that could not be shaken but had a strong counterattack force.

It was this kind of power that caused Boros to die in a head-on confrontation, and his whole arm exploded.

Unlike Saitama, Boros was resisted by Saitama and did not fight back. If Luther, he would fight back and it would still hurt.

So Boros directly consumed energy to restore his arm to its original state in one breath.

"Did you know that our clan, which competes for survival on a planet with an extremely harsh environment, has a self-healing ability that is second to none in the universe?"

Boros said with a grin.

This is the ability that he is most proud of, especially Boros' abilities in all aspects that are unparalleled among his kind.

"My natural healing power, body functions, and potential energy are all top-notch. For you, serious injuries that are fatal to you can be recovered in just a few seconds."

Boros continued.

"Really? Do you know that our clan, which competes for survival on the same planet with extremely harsh environment, is also very strong, because we are attacked by various powerful and endless monsters, like the three under your hand? The highest level combatant is only ranked at the dragon level among the monsters we have encountered."

Luther then started talking serious nonsense again.

"Dragon level?"

Boros was very interested. Judging from his and Saitama's performance, he knew that the Cosmic Dark Matter Pirates did not have the ability to detect the situation of the people on Earth first or were too lazy to detect it, so there was nothing wrong with Luther's deception, and he did not lie.

"We humans classify various dangers and disasters, as well as alien invasions like yours, into dangerous levels. The lowest level is wolf level, which can cause death. Tiger level is equivalent to your lowest level combatant standard. The ghost level is your elite combatant or even the top three combatants."

Luther didn't lie. In a fight between Long Shai and Gui Dian, it was still unknown who would win.

At least you can let Mr. Bakuzan face off against the giant brother. The giant brother is a ghost in the formula book and settings!

There is nothing wrong with saying he is a ghost!

Moreover, his movements are very flexible, and he can create a big hole with a series of punches. Bakuzan's ability to hold on to three legs without being trampled to death is already worthy of the dragon-level brand.

"Dragon level is the three most advanced combatants, as well as more powerful monsters, all belong to the dragon level. Esdeath, who was following me, killed two top level combatants. The next level up is the god level. Can destroy all mankind."

Luther said.

Poros listened carefully. He did not think that Luther was lying. After all, how could a strong man like Luther lie?

They are all straight-tempered, right?

"God level?"

Boros felt that it must be me. Although Boros was surprised that dragon-level monsters appeared one after another on the earth, the three most advanced combatants were only obtained by him after plundering more than a thousand living planets. The earth is actually There are so many?

So, if I want to replenish combatants, I just need to find them from Earth?

"You are not at the god level yet. Only those who can defeat me are god-level. We Earthlings are not as good at regeneration as you are. We only have indestructible bodies and powerful strength!"

Luther said.

"I see. It seems that we are both the top of our respective races."

Boros said excitedly. Is this the opponent mentioned in the prophecy? The top strong man of a race born in such a harsh environment. Only such a strong man is worthy of himself!

"Go on!"

Boros' body shook slightly.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

An unprecedented huge gas explosion sounded.

Esdeath was intact under the protection of Luther's biological force field. Boros could not break the biological force field on her body even if he died of exhaustion.

Even if Boros had just lost his armor, he could burst out supersonic speed at will, which was faster than all human flying objects!

"Bang————!!!"

The energy exploded, but was suppressed by Luther's biological force field and failed to destroy the spaceship.

The next moment, Boros was knocked out, just like before.

Chapter 495 Boros is shocked

Boros's fighting spirit began to burn like hot oil.

"Hey, Boros, I've decided!"

Luther said suddenly.

"Um?"

Boros froze.

What has been decided?

"If you fail, you will become my subordinate, my absolute slave."

Luther said.

"Are you too excited, you guy?"

The corners of Boros' mouth rose. He felt that Luther had no opponent because he was too strong. Now he recognized him, and wanted to keep him by his side to enjoy fighting.

but!

"No problem, this is what I want to say. If you lose, you will become mine!"

Poros agreed with Luther's decision.

If he wants to conquer the universe and become the true overlord of the universe, he needs a powerful subordinate who can fight with all his strength!

Anyway, his lifespan is very long. The physiological function of Boros' race allows Boros' race to live for ten earth days, which is equivalent to one day in the past. And Boros's lifespan, as long as he does not use meteor bursts, can at least live as long as one day. Thousands of Earth years.

As the top Earthling, Luther doesn't know how long he will live, but even if Luther dies, isn't there still an Earth here?

If a Luther can be born in such a harsh environment, then it may not be possible for a second one to be born!

boom----

There is no nonsense, Boros is still the main attacker.

In this serious state, Boros does not need fancy moves. Absolute speed brings absolute power. Just a straight dash is hundreds of times more terrifying than the ferocious momentum of a fighter jet!

The ultra-high temperature generated by air friction is enough to melt the alloy of the spacecraft, but under the coverage of the biological force field, it is still intact.

Boom boom boom boom boom————! ! !

Continuous, no-frills battles!

At that moment, there were hundreds of extremely high number of collisions, each blow carrying the power of destroying the world and being as fast as lightning. If either party could not react quickly, they would be beaten to death.

Then, Luther's fist changed, and the light flowing throughout his body converged on the fist. Anyone with a discerning eye could tell at a glance that Luther's punch was ready to go, and its power was estimated to be earth-shattering.

Poros faced Luther's attack without any fear.

He smiled coldly, and gathered all his strength on his fists to face Luther's attack.

The two fists collided, the force collided, and the air seemed to freeze at this moment.

Their figures were intertwined and moving so fast that it was impossible to see their movements clearly.

However, Boros actually lost to Luther in terms of strength.

His body was blown away by Luther's power and hit the ground hard, raising a cloud of dust.

"No!" Poros was shocked. He did not expect that he would lose to Luther.

A trace of unwillingness and anger flashed in his eyes, and he stood up suddenly, all the strength of his body gathered on his fists again, and smashed hard at Luther.

However, Luther gave him no chance.

His movements are faster, more accurate, and more ruthless than Boros.

Each of his attacks can accurately hit Boros's flaw, making Boros unable to counterattack.

Boros took a few steps back.

"Hahaha! It's such a long-lost pleasure of fighting. I will use my full strength next, but I must not die."

After Boros finished speaking, he roared again, and the energy in his body surged. The energy accumulation field even covered his whole body, forming a spherical energy group, and the lightning crackled and shone brightly.

This energy gathered in the single eye on his chest, and an even more dazzling blue light lit up!

"Now I am going to release the huge energy in my body. If anyone touches it, it will turn into ashes!"

In less than a second, Boros exploded with a shocking energy bombardment!

A beam of light that could almost penetrate heaven and earth filled the entire room, and everything was washed and bombarded by this beam of light!

Miscellaneous fish cannon?

Luther laughed and gathered energy in his hands.

The energy from the Dragon Balls is still very useful, and it's not a power that doesn't belong to him.

"I also want to release vast energy. Don't die. There is no dragon-level monster who can survive this move."

Luther releases golden energy with one hand!

Boros became more serious after hearing this, and he also felt the great terror coming towards him, like the vast energy breath of the universe!

Boom boom boom boom boom—————

Comparable to the explosion of thousands of thunders, this terrifying energy bombardment brings the power of destroying the heaven and the earth.

Boros failed to be protected by the biological force field. Luther's Qigong wave defeated Boros's fish cannon and bombarded Boros with undiminished momentum.

Boros became shattered under the bombardment of this terrifying energy.

"Won?"

Esdeath had been standing still and watching the battle, even when the energy exploded, because she believed that her master could protect her.

Even if it can't be protected, it doesn't matter. The death of the weak is only caused by the weak's own lack of ability.

"No."

Luther said calmly.

The fragmented Boros suddenly erupted with bright blue light, and his broken body came together instantly.

"I didn't expect it to be so powerful?"

Boros staggered and fell to the ground. Fortunately, the steady supply of energy allowed Boros to recover quickly.

This is a huge energy source that can drive a spaceship for twenty years, and there is also energy to return. For a life form like Boros, that is endless energy.

"Give up, Boros."

Luther said.

"Give up? It's not over yet. You are strong, Luther, really strong. I can't hold back any more, so give up."

Boros hesitated. He felt that he had two ways to win. One was to win quickly, using meteors to burst, but in that case, Luther might be killed instantly.

Wouldn't he have come in vain?

Another way is to rely on powerful energy consumption to wear down Luther again and again, and wear him out alive, but this feels like an unfair victory.

"Really? So confident? But I have hidden power, and I can't hold back. If you don't give up, I will kill you."

Luther said.

Boros' eyes lit up. Luther still has hidden power?

"My hidden power is very strong, because I am a super earthling who only appears once every thousand years in the legend of the earth!"

Luther said.

"Super Earthling?"

Boros was shocked. What was that? It sounded very powerful.

"The strongest warrior in the legend can transform into a super Earthling. His strength will be increased by fifty times in all aspects!"

Chapter 496 Super Earthlings!

"Super Earthling?"

Boros was stunned. He had never heard of this term.

As far as he knew, only those warriors with powerful and mysterious powers would be honored as "super warriors", but he had never heard of the so-called "super Earthling".

And it can also improve all aspects by fifty times, which shocked Boros.

What an exaggerated number.

"Come on, Boros."

Luther said to Boros.

Esdeath heard the conversation between the two, and she didn't know if what Luther said was true. Is the matter of super Earthlings true?

After all, Boros was too strong. Even if Luther still looked at ease, Esdeath was still a little worried.

"In that case, let me show you my full strength!"

Boros got excited.

He didn't care about anything that would consume his life intensely.

He just wanted to fight with all his strength!

"Meteoric Burst!!!"

Boros' trump card for a quick battle-full power burst to break through the limit, but it would bring great burden to himself and even shorten his life.

This also completely changes his appearance, and his body color becomes cherry red.

Boros's appearance has changed dramatically.

His hair has grown longer and has grown to his back (Super Saiyan 3).

Both eyes have turned completely white, with a black pupil, and his body is engulfed by white energy, while the stripes on his body return to their original dark blue.

After the meteor bursts, Boros's speed will increase significantly.

He is like a purple stripe when moving at high speed.

Just moving near it, the ship around him melts.

Boros's movements are driven by energy, not his limbs.

Turning the energy in his body into propulsion, he gains explosive speed and power beyond the limits of biological beings, and his destructive power is greatly increased. In the remake, he can tear the spaceship apart with one blow, and his power can kick a person to the moon.

In an instant, Boros's body seems to turn into a gust of wind, sweeping across the entire battlefield.

His speed has surpassed human cognition, as if a meteor fell from the sky with the power to destroy everything.

His hair danced wildly, as if it was electrocuted. The hair that was long to his back was pulled straight in high-speed movement, like lightning piercing the darkness.

His eyes turned completely white, full of endless enthusiasm and persistence, and the black pupil in the middle was like a bottomless vortex, swallowing everything around.

His body was covered with a layer of powerful white energy, which continued to flow out of his body, as if endless. His muscles swelled up under the energy, appearing more sturdy and powerful.

The stripes on his body turned from the original dark blue to bright blue under the reflection of energy, like the bright stars in the night sky.

Boros's movements have surpassed the normal speed.

Every time he moved, it was like a high-speed flying meteor, crossing the sky in an instant.

His strength has also been unprecedentedly improved, and every punch and kick brought a strong air wave and impact.

The spaceships and buildings around him were turned into dust under this power.

His punch could even break a mountain in half.

And his speed is incredibly fast. He can appear thousands of meters away in an instant and return to his original position in an instant. This speed has exceeded the perception of humans.

At this time, Boros is no longer a simple warrior, he has become a real god of destruction.

Every attack of his carries the breath of destruction, as if he wants to bring the whole world under his control.

"Luther, where is your transformation?"

Boros said expectantly.

"Come on, let me see it, Super Earthling, otherwise you will die."

Boros said.

"Just what I want."

As soon as Luther finished speaking, a powerful breath spread instantly.

Luther's body exuded a dazzling golden light, and the whole person seemed to have turned into a bright sun.

The energy in Luther's body began to surge.

His body emitted a dazzling light, as if it had merged with the power of the universe.

His body changed dramatically in an instant, as if he had turned into a mythical figure.

His eyes became bright and an indescribable power burst out from his body.

Luther exudes a powerful aura, which is even more powerful than Boros's.

The energy in his body seems endless, pouring out continuously, wrapping him in golden light.

"This is the super earthling!"

Luther is having a lot of fun playing with memes.

"Yes, that's it, hahahaha!"

Boros roared and laughed wildly, his fighting spirit suddenly burning, and then no sound could be heard at all. Boros could only be seen turning into a pink white light and disappearing in an instant, and the ground collapsed into a large deep pit.

Before the punch arrived, the surging sense of power had already overturned like a mountain and an ocean, and the energy that was vented wantonly stirred up the space and trembled faintly, and even the atmosphere was squeezed into an "arm armor" that was many times harder than steel.

"Bang!"

Luther caught the punch steadily with one hand, without moving a muscle.

Boros's pupils shrank. Although the acceleration distance was limited because he was inside the spacecraft, not any creature could block the punch just now. Boros had never seen any creature that could catch the punch.

"What's the matter, Poros, are you hesitating?"

Luther said with ease.

"Of course not!"

Boros smiled grimly.

In a thousandth of a second, illusory white light and golden light formed light and shadow that spread throughout the room.

"Boom! Bang! Boom! Dang!"

The explosions caused by the fists and kicks were continuous, and the speed of the two of them was so fast that Esdeath couldn't even watch the fight.

Boros relies on his racial talent that is very sensitive to energy, and he can capture Luther's figure without using his eyes.

He was surprised that Luther could keep up with his speed.

"Boom————!!!"

The golden and white energy bombarded each other, and the indestructible space trembled. The two distinct energies squeezed each other, refusing to give in, and the sound of an invisible thing cracking came out in the air.

The next moment, the energy squeezed to the extreme was overwhelmed, and a big explosion occurred, forcing the two people back.

But Boros saw Luther disappear instantly.

His pupils shrank, and Luther's forehead speed actually became faster again?

Boros, who had experienced many battles, instinctively blocked, and then a punch full of explosive energy hit him hard on the arm!

Chapter 497 Sublight Speed Battle = Destruction of Heaven and Earth

Boros was beaten so hard that his body was shaking.

The explosion and the concussion produced by the explosion are very fatal. If Boros was not in a half-energy life state, this hard-hit attack alone would be enough to kill him alive.

In this case, Boros exploded the energy in his body with all his strength and pushed forward violently, but it was knocked empty.

Luther had already moved his position, so fast that Boros even wondered whether the thousands of punches he received in one second were actually completed by Luther long ago.

Where?

Boros quickly looked left and right, then raised his head instinctively, and saw Luther's right leg wrapped with violent and domineering force. Boros didn't have time to think too much, and the energy pushed his arms to block between the lightning and flint.

But this time, the power was completely beyond Boros's endurance. The heavy battle ax easily chopped off Boros' arms. The huge force spread along the arms to the whole body, and Boros was smashed into the floor. among.

There is no advantage in terms of strength!

Boros immediately realized this. The advantages of Earthlings and Super Earthlings are all-round powerful, but his advantage is speed!

As long as there is enough distance to accelerate, you can win!

Boros was fascinated by situations that left him racking his brain to figure out how to win.

It's this exciting sense of excitement and tension!

“Ahhhhhh———!!!”

Boros dug through the ground in an instant, avoiding Luther's subsequent bombardment.

Then he crashed through the spacecraft, and Luther followed through the spacecraft and arrived outside the spacecraft.

Poros took a deep breath and disappeared instantly when Luther appeared.

He ran around the spacecraft before charging at Luther.

Luther collided with him, head-on, without any bells and whistles.

Every encounter carried destructive energy and destructive shock waves. The spacecraft was reduced to nothing in just one bombardment by the two people. The outer shell that was hard enough to sail through the stars melted like snow and turned into high-temperature magma.

boom!

boom! boom!

Boros was shocked that Luther could still parry and fight back.

The spaceship fell apart and was shattered. Every time the two collided, the death storm caused was much more terrifying than the most terrible natural disaster in history.

At least natural disasters can't blow away a mountain, they can.

The two men bombarded them unscrupulously, the overwhelming power and energy surged, and the sky and the earth trembled.

All the S-class heroes were shocked.

He had no idea what was going on, because the speed was too fast, except that Flash Flash could see it, but he could only see two lights and shadows.

After all, Boros' current speed is no longer something humans can capture.

In the sub-light speed battle, every collision between Boros and Luther seemed to leave a deep imprint on the atmosphere.

Their energy release reached such a high level that the surrounding air molecules were heated to millions of degrees in an instant, forming an energy surge visible to the naked eye.

This surge was like a huge wave in the sea, sweeping across the entire battlefield, leaving nothing alive wherever it went.

Every move they make, whether it's a straight-line sprint or a curved detour, is accompanied by the release and absorption of energy.

The flow of these energies forms strong magnetic fields and electric fields, which intertwine and influence each other, causing the surrounding magnetic fields and electric fields to fluctuate violently.

The impact of this fluctuation was so great that electronic equipment hundreds of kilometers around were instantly destroyed, and along with the electronic equipment disappeared those lives close to the battlefield.

Each of their attacks, whether physical strikes or energy releases, carries extremely high kinetic and potential energy.

The release of this energy causes the surrounding air molecules to be compressed, heated, and ionized, ultimately forming a high-temperature, high-pressure, and high-density plasma.

These plasmas were excited, ionized, and expanded under their attacks, forming bright plasma beams that illuminated the originally dark sky.

These plasma beams are extremely bright, even brighter than the sun.

They are also very hot, reaching millions of degrees, hotter than the surface of the sun.

During the diffusion process, these high-temperature plasma beams continuously interact with surrounding air molecules, producing strong X-rays and gamma rays. These rays cover the entire battlefield in a short time, causing the surrounding organisms to be affected. suffered severe radiation damage.

Because of their extremely fast speeds, reaching sub-light speeds, their movements cause strong relativistic effects.

These effects bend the surrounding space and time, creating what is known as a "relativistic shock wave."

The formation of this shock wave causes the surrounding matter and energy to undergo violent compression and expansion, forming powerful energy tides.

These energy tides are so powerful that they can split a mountain range in two and send ocean waves hundreds of meters high.

The impact of this battle is not limited to the atmosphere and ground levels, it also has a profound impact on the entire earth's ecosystem.

As a result of their attacks and release of energy, the internal structure of the Earth also changes.

The earth's crust and mantle were violently shaken and squeezed, triggering large-scale earthquakes and volcanic eruptions.

The seawater in the ocean evaporated due to the high temperature, forming clouds of steam that covered the entire sky.

The starry night sky also became dark under the influence of this force.

The sun's brilliance also became pale and powerless in front of this force.

In addition, their battle also triggered climate change and the collapse of the ecosystem.

Due to the increase of pollutants and radiation in the atmosphere, the climate became extremely bad, and extreme weather phenomena such as storms, tornadoes, and hail appeared.

The ecosystem was severely damaged, a large number of plants and animals died, and the food chain was broken.

The creatures on the earth are facing an unprecedented survival crisis.

The impact of this battle is not limited to the atmosphere and the ground level, it also has a profound impact on the entire ecosystem of the earth.

Due to their energy release and mutual collision, the rotation and revolution of the earth were affected, and the position of the earth in the universe also shifted slightly.

Boros appeared panting.

Luther also appeared with a calm face and no breath.

"What's wrong, is it not okay?"

Luther said.

Although the two of them made a lot of noise and were devastating, the actual fighting lasted less than a second.

For two monsters that could move at sub-light speed, a second was a very long time.

Chapter 498 Rebuilding the Earth's Ecosystem and Environment

Boros was panting, and he hated that his battle could only last so long.

"Entering this state will consume my life force."

Boros said to Luther.

"I see, then the battle between us should be forgotten, right?"

Luther knew what Boros could and could not accept, so he said it deliberately.

"No! I have one last move. If even this move can't solve you..."

Boros began to gather energy.

"Oh? Then I'm looking forward to it."

"Be careful, with this next move, I will release all my energy and completely destroy you and the entire surface of this planet!"

After Boros enters a meteor burst, he can fire a massive golden shockwave from his chest.

He needs to concentrate and release all his power to unleash this skill.

And this move is powerful enough to destroy the surface of the planet.

When Boros' "Star Collapse Roaring Cannon" was released, the sky was instantly penetrated by a dazzling beam of light. The brightness of this beam of light was extremely high, making everything around it look eclipsed.

The air around the light pillar was quickly drawn away, forming a huge hole. The hole continues to expand, and the edges present a twisted and broken scene, as if the atmosphere is being torn apart.

As the light beam extended, strong air waves spread in all directions. These air waves seem to have powerful energy, instantly heating the surrounding air, forming heat waves.

These heat waves continue to roll and collide, releasing a deafening roar that makes people feel heart-stopping.

At the same time, the mountains in the distance began to collapse under the impact of this force. Huge rocks rolled down driven by the air waves, forming a spectacular stone flow. Wherever the stone flow passed, everything was ruthlessly destroyed.

The buildings seemed fragile in front of this force and were smashed to pieces. Trees were uprooted, flew through the air, and turned to ashes.

The ocean also began to change under the impact of this force. The waves instantly evaporated into water vapor, forming a huge fog. The mist spread in the air, covering everything around it. In this mist, everything becomes blurry, as if entering another dimension.

Luther also felt the power of this force. There was no fear in his heart, only expectation.

He clasped his hands together, and the golden light all over his body became more dazzling.

As the energy gathered, the surrounding air began to vibrate violently.

Luther's whole body was surrounded by golden energy, and his body seemed to be integrated with the surrounding energy.

Finally, when the energy gathered to its peak, a golden shock wave with the same power as Boros' attack rushed out from Luther's hands and rushed straight towards the opposite light beam.

"The Big Bang!"

When the two forces met in the air, the entire space seemed to fall into silence.

The energy unleashed by Boros and Luther was like two stars colliding with each other, triggering an unprecedented energy confrontation. The power of this force is far beyond the imagination of ordinary creatures.

In the atmosphere, the intersection of the two energies forms a huge energy vortex.

This vortex continuously swallows the surrounding air molecules, causing them to instantly heat to extremely high temperatures.

In this process, air molecules are ionized into plasma, which emits dazzling light.

The entire sky was illuminated by this light, as if a second sun was ushering in.

As the energy vortex continues to expand, it begins to produce strong disturbances in the surrounding atmosphere.

The originally stable atmospheric structure became fragmented under the impact of this force.

Then the energy vortex triggered an earth-shattering explosion.

The energy generated by the explosion was extremely powerful, as if it would explode the entire planet.

This force is so powerful that it has exceeded the limits that nature can bear. It has had a profound impact on the atmosphere, surface, biosphere, and molecular movements in the microscopic realm.

First, this energy caused unprecedented damage to the atmosphere.

At the moment of energy impact, the high-temperature and high-pressure air waves spread instantly, causing the air molecules in the atmosphere to gain huge kinetic energy in a very short period of time.

These molecules collide with each other while moving at high speeds, causing the entire atmosphere to become extremely violent.

The originally stable atmospheric structure instantly collapsed under the impact of this force, forming a chaotic airflow area. In this area, the temperature, density and pressure of the air have changed drastically, as if it were a huge boiling furnace.

As energy continues to diffuse, the main components of the atmosphere, such as oxygen and nitrogen, also undergo chemical reactions.

In an environment of high temperature and pressure, these gas molecules gain enough energy to break the original chemical bonds and form new compounds.

These compounds diffuse rapidly in the air and further react with other surrounding gas molecules, forming a chain reaction.

The energy released by these chemical reactions further aggravates the instability of the atmosphere, causing the entire atmosphere to fall into a state of chaos.

In addition to its impact on the atmosphere, this energy also wreaked havoc on the surface.

At the moment of energy impact, materials such as rocks, soil, and water on the earth's surface gain tremendous energy.

These substances heat up and expand rapidly under the influence of energy, making the surface of the earth uneven.

As energy continues to spread, the minerals in rocks and soil undergo phase changes.

Some common minerals such as quartz and feldspar are transformed into molten silicates at high temperatures. These molten rocks flow on the surface, forming a vast sea of molten rock and a piece of flowing lava.

These lavas flow freely on the surface, swallowing everything around them.

In this catastrophe, all life on the surface suffered a catastrophe.

Whether it is dense forests or vast grasslands, they are reduced to ashes under the impact of energy.

The water in the organisms evaporates rapidly under high temperatures, turning them into shriveled shells. Even those organisms hidden deep underground cannot escape this disaster.

The rocks and soil underground become extremely hard under the action of high temperature and high pressure, crushing these organisms alive.

In the microscopic field, this energy also has a profound impact on molecular motion.

At the moment of energy impact, the molecules in the air gain huge kinetic energy and begin to move at high speed in space.

These molecules constantly collide with the surrounding molecules during their movement, making the molecular movement in the entire space extremely violent.

The strong energy enables the electrons in the atoms to gain enough energy to jump to a higher energy level.

Chapter 499: The two supreme beings fought until everything was destroyed

This electronic transition not only changes the properties of the atoms, but also changes the interactions between atoms.

At the same time, the high temperature and high pressure environment also causes some originally stable molecules to decompose and recombine, forming new compounds and substances.

These new compounds and substances are widely present in the atmosphere, surface and biosphere, and have a profound impact on the planet's natural environment.

In addition, this energy also has an impact on the macro field.

During the energy impact, the surrounding space seemed to be distorted by this force.

The originally parallel light rays were refracted and reflected under the action of this force, making the entire space become bizarre.

In this environment, even those solid objects become extremely fragile.

Their internal structures were severely deformed and broken under the impact of this force, causing them to lose their original functions.

These two energies, which are enough to destroy the surface of the planet, have had an extremely serious impact on the natural environment.

They not only destroy the structure of the atmosphere and surface, but also cause the entire biosphere to suffer disaster.

In both the microscopic and macroscopic realms, this force has a profound impact on molecular motion and the internal structure of objects. These impacts not only alter the planet's natural environment but also cause irreparable damage to entire ecosystems.

After this disaster, it will take a long time for life on the planet to reproduce again. And those surviving creatures also need to continuously adapt and evolve in the harsh environment in order to re-establish a stable ecosystem.

This disaster is not only a challenge to the planet's natural environment, but also a test of the will to life. Only those organisms that can adapt to environmental changes and evolve continuously can survive this disaster and continue to reproduce.

Boros and Luther both bear the energy of the hedging with all their strength. The air around them became extremely thin, as if even breathing became difficult.

"What the hell happened!"

Even the heroes died in the aftermath of such energy. Those who survived were the monsters among monsters.

Hell Tornado's whole body was wrapped in green telekinesis. She looked at the devastated world, her eyes widened in disbelief.

In the sky, two figures caught her attention.

"Did you two bastards do this!"

Hell Tornado was furious and rushed towards the place where the two were fighting with bloodshot eyes.

But a figure stopped her.

It was a tall woman, wearing a white military uniform, who looked very royal.

"I can't let you interrupt the battle between the two of them. After seeing that kind of terrifying power, you should be self-aware, right?"

Esdeath said with a smile.

She was also shocked in her heart. Esdeath never expected that her master could do this.

Although it was true that she had never seen Luther show strength before, it was not as shocking as this time.

"Get away!"

How could Hell Tornado accept Esdeath's words? Her sister had no chance of surviving under this kind of power. Should she let go of the murderer who caused all this?

"Oh, are you the type who can't communicate? I happen to be the same."

Esdeath pulled the brim of his military hat and said with a smile.

The war between the two sides was about to break out, but at this time, the confrontation between Boros and Luther was over.

Luther's "Big Bang" blasted through Boros' Star Collapsing Roar Cannon, but when it was about to submerge and devour Boros, the energy disappeared.

Boros stared at this scene blankly. Does Luther's ability to send and receive words so freely mean that his strength is far superior to his own?

Looking at his withered limbs, while Luther was still spotless and unscathed, Poros already had the answer.

"Submit to me, Poros. You shouldn't be the kind of person who wants to commit suicide. In that case, I will have to give you some means."

Luther said with his hands crossed.

"No, I will fulfill my promise."

Boros shook his head. Although he also had such thoughts, it would be a pity to die here like this. He also wanted to see more powerful people and a broader world.

Why is Boros unwilling to submit to others? Poros has no such psychological burden at all. Submitting to the strong is a matter of course.

"But what to do now? The earth has been destroyed like this, and my spaceship is gone. If we want to recover, we have to wait hundreds of earth years, maybe even longer."

Boros is very experienced in this kind of thing. After all, this is not the first time he has used the Star Collapsing Roar Cannon to destroy the surface.

"To bring it back, of course."

Luther said with a smile.

"recover?"

Hell Tornado and Esdeath were very surprised when they heard Luther's words.

This also made Hell Tornado hesitate.

Luther could feel the flow of time jumping at his fingertips, like the melody on the strings. Every moment was a note, and they made up the sound of the world.

A powerful energy burst out from his body, and this power instantly tore apart the bonds of time and space. The whole world seemed to stand still for a moment beside him, and time seemed to become soft and elastic.

His spiritual power surged out like a torrent, guiding the flow of time. He seemed to have become a conductor, waving his baton and leading the symphony of time. Every moment jumped, spun, and flowed backwards under his control.

First, nature began to change. The land that was scorched by the energy shock began to recover. The withered trees grew green leaves again, and the grass became green again. The rivers began to flow, nourishing the earth. Animals began to reappear, coming out of their hiding places and resuming their normal activities.

Then the atmosphere recovered. The molecules destroyed by the energy shock began to recombine, and oxygen and nitrogen re-formed fresh air. Clouds began to gather, and fresh rain fell, washing every inch of the earth. The air was filled with a fresh smell, as if it was the breath of nature.

In the macroscopic field, the shape of the surface also began to change. The mountains that were flattened by the energy shock began to rise again, and the rivers began to flow according to their original river courses. The volcanoes stopped erupting and the earthquakes stopped shaking. Everything seemed to have returned to its original state.

In the microscopic realm, the movement of molecules and atoms also began to recover. The electrons excited by the energy shock began to fall back to low energy levels, and the atoms recombined into stable molecules.

The newly generated compounds and substances began to decompose and return to their most basic composition. The whole world seemed to gradually restore harmony in a silent symphony.

Chapter 500 Savior

His spiritual power was like a ray of light, illuminating the recovery process. Every breath he takes, every heartbeat, is synchronized with the flow of time.

His consciousness penetrates into every moment and guides every change.

Time seemed to have stopped at this moment.

All life seems to be waiting with bated breath, waiting for the world to change.

Every breath Luther took became a symbol, a symbol of hope.

His spiritual power continues to be injected into the torrent of time, pushing everything to develop in a good direction.

Then, in an instant, everything changed.

The air is filled with the breath of life, and the colors of the earth become more vivid.

Those lives claimed by the disaster reappeared, and the world became full of life again.

It was as if everything had never happened, except for the deep imprint left on the hearts of those who had suffered the disaster.

Yes, Luther did not save the world but made everyone forget his own operation.

He had made a name for himself in this battle. If that was the case, why did he walk in brocade clothes at night?

Of course he wants to show his holiness in front of others!

Esdeath, Boros and Hell Tornado were all stunned.

This kind of power involving time is really shocking and can be said to be completely beyond imagination.

"Who are you, this guy?"

Hell Tornado looked at Luther warily and said.

"Savior."

Luther said casually.

"ha?"

Hell Tornado was startled, savior?

This person's tone was probably too arrogant, but when Hell Tornado thought about it carefully, it seemed normal.

Because the big scene just now has shown how terrifying the aliens that invaded this time are. The predictions of the prophets are indeed correct. The earth is in danger.

If Luther hadn't stepped forward, Hellspout wouldn't have known if he could have dealt with the invading aliens.

Speaking of which, are the invading aliens nearby?

"You've caused so much damage, how dare you say you're the savior?"

Hell Tornado has the toughest mouth. Unlike the cowardice and timidity she had when she was a child, after being enlightened by the explosion, she has learned not to rely on anyone, so she needs to arm herself with the identity of the strongest superpower to make others dare not Easily capture her attention and thoughts.

To put it simply, he is a tsundere type. He talks about being upright and unforgiving. In fact, he carefully protects the safety of other heroes in every battle. I can only say that he is too gentle, my tornado!

It's a pity that Luther has no interest in children, even if she is a legal loli, but Luther only likes those with ripe and full fruits.

As for the hell tornado, I can only say there is no hope.

"Also, you are probably the enemy leader of this invasion. Why are you still alive?"

Hellspout said as he was about to attack Boros.

Boros still doesn't understand the situation. Luther is so powerful, but this female Earthling actually asks him who he is, with such a disrespectful tone. Does it mean that Luther has no status on Earth?

This is unbelievable and incomprehensible!

"Come on, Boros, I will take you to meet another monster."

Luther didn't intend to pay attention to the hell tornado at all. It was too difficult to open her mind. He was not Saitama and would not do such a thankless thing. Instead, he wanted Boros to touch Saitama. Let him know how weak he is.

"Another monster?"

Before Poros could react, the three of them disappeared.

Hell Tornado was startled, and he quickly used telekinesis, only to find that Luther and the others had completely disappeared, and Hell Tornado couldn't find them no matter what.

"Savior?"

Hell Tornado chewed on this nickname. Is this the heroic nickname that guy gave himself?

Although she was unhappy, Hell Tornado had a straightforward character, so when other S-class heroes arrived, Hell Tornado told him about Luther.

This incident attracted the attention of the Heroes Association, because Luther's time reversal did not restore their memories to the original, so they clearly remembered that they died once and then came back to life.

And the aliens that invaded this time are powerful enough to destroy all mankind, and they are a well-deserved "god-level disaster."

"Who is this savior?"

"Yeah, who is he?"

Many people were puzzled, including the heroes present, because Luther and the others had completely disappeared, and no one knew where they had gone.

"No matter what, the crisis has finally been resolved this time."

"But this crisis is so terrible. If the savior hadn't appeared, we would all be dead!"

"I didn't expect the crisis to be so big this time!"

"Yes, yes, I even remember that I died once."

"Fortunately, there is a savior. I didn't expect that there would be such a powerful hero on the earth. He single-handedly defeated the most terrifying enemy that invaded this time. I think we should try our best to find the savior and let him become the leader of our Hero Association. hero!"

Capitalists are quick-thinking, and the media has already reported on the savior.

Chairman Xiqi is the most urgent, because he is also frightened. The catastrophe just predicted by the prophet is coming so soon, and human beings have already been exterminated once.

In this situation, no one would be able to remain calm.

This time the savior is very powerful, and powerful enough to shock the world.

If a hero of this level can join the Hero Association, it will definitely be a great thing for the Hero Association.

But this kind of person is definitely not easy to invite, so Xiqi decided to do it himself.

Xiqi felt that his decision was perfect. In this way, he could win over the savior and improve the strength of the Hero Association.

"This crisis is really terrible."

"Yes, if the savior hadn't appeared, we would all be dead."

"But who is this savior? Why does he have such a powerful power? He can actually use the power of time reversal!"

"I don't know, but he saved everyone."

"Yes, if it weren't for him, we would all be dead."

The rich people in the Hero Association were discussing Luther's affairs.

"Okay, okay, let's stop discussing it."

Xiqi stood up and said.

"This crisis was so terrible that we were almost wiped out."

"But the good news is that this crisis has finally been resolved."

"The Savior is too strong and should not be on the same level as an S-class hero. Considering that he is the one who defeated the God-class monsters alone, it is better to give him a position as an SS-class hero, the only SS-class hero!"
