Chapter 551 The Destroyer: Don't look at me as just a sheep!

Algorim was silent for a moment, then said.

"Master, we cannot be discouraged by this failure. We dark elves have an indomitable spirit. As long as we are united, nothing can stop us from moving forward."

Malekith took a deep look at Algorim, and he felt the determination and courage of his men.

He knew that the spirit of the Dark Elves was indestructible and they would not give up because of one failure.

"You're right, Algorim."

Malekith stood up, determination shining in his eyes.

"We cannot give up because of this failure. We need to regroup and look for new opportunities to realize our plans."

He started pacing the room, thinking about his next move.

He knew that they needed to reassess their strength and resources and find new allies to fight Asgard together.

"We can look for alien mercenaries."

Malekith said suddenly.

"There are a lot of predators in the universe. They just need money, and we can hire them to harass and destroy Asgard."

Algorim frowned after hearing this.

"With all due respect, Master, those predators are neither trustworthy nor reliable, and they are beyond control. They may have an impact on our plans."

He said seriously.

"It doesn't matter, Algorim, we just need to be strong enough. If we don't obey, we will all be killed."

Malekith said with a smile.

"There are many powerful races and civilizations in the nine worlds, and they may be dissatisfied with Asgard's rule. We can contact them and work together to overthrow Asgard's tyranny."

Then he continued.

Algorim nodded, agreeing with Malekith's idea.

The dark elves have been fighting alone. If they can find new allies, their power will be even stronger.

"Moreover, we can also use the resistance forces in the nine worlds."

Malekith continued.

"Didn't Odin's son 'Thunder God Thor' put down rebellions in the nine worlds before? This shows that their rule over the nine worlds is not stable. There is resistance to Asgard in the nine worlds. This is our opportunity."

Algrim's eyes lit up, and he understood what Malekith meant.

If they could harness the resistance within the Nine Worlds, their chances of overthrowing Asgard would be greatly increased.

...

In Asgard, a land shrouded in divine light, the originally peaceful atmosphere was broken by a sudden commotion.

The Destroyer Armor, the armor that once made countless creatures fearful, now turned into a sheep and was imprisoned in an exquisite cage.

There was a trace of unwillingness and confusion in its eyes, as if asking: "Why did I, the once invincible destroyer, end up like this?"

The people of the Aesir clan, who considered themselves the masters of this land, were not too surprised by the changes in the Destroyer's armor.

They knew that Malekith used ether particles to transform the Destroyer Armor into this sheep in order to eliminate its threat.

However, they apparently underestimated the power of the Destroyer's armor and the price Malekith had to pay to complete this transformation.

Although this sheep looks like an ordinary sheep on the outside, it is full of power inside.

It bumped its head lightly, and the seemingly solid cage shattered instantly like paper.

It did not choose to escape, but ran freely in the world with a new curiosity.

The power of etheric particles is magical, completely changing the Destroyer's armor, turning it into a living being with eternal damnation.

Malekith paid a huge price to complete this transformation.

His vitality was greatly consumed in the process, and it could even be said that his vitality was severely damaged.

The reason for doing this is of course to eliminate the Destroyer Armor, a powerful war weapon.

It's just that Malekith probably didn't expect that he could have power even if he turned into a sheep.

But all this is a new life for the Destroyer Armor.

The divine blessings it once possessed have now become part of it.

These divine blessings come from countless gods and heavenly fathers, and their powers come together to make this sheep extremely powerful.

I'm afraid not everyone can challenge the entire Asgard alone.

The gods of Asgard began to feel uneasy.

They knew that the sheep was no longer something they could control.

Its power was enough to easily frighten them.

However, the sheep did not choose to attack Asgard.

It seems to be full of curiosity about the world and wants to explore every corner of the world.

It ran to the forest and played with the small animals; it ran to the mountains and rivers, dancing with the wind; it ran to the lake and drank with the water.

Every move it makes is full of the power of life.

The gods of Asgard looked at what the sheep had done, and they were both surprised and helpless.

They knew that the sheep had become an uncontrollable being.

They began to reflect on whether they were doing the right thing with the Destroyer armor.

Thor didn't expect to encounter such a thing again.

However, he did not feel fear, but an urge to challenge.

He decided to talk to the sheep in person to see if he could get it back to Asgard.

So, Thor swung Thor's hammer and fell from the sky, landing next to the Destroyer Sheep.

The sheep, which was not small in size, had thick long hair and heavy horns and was obviously startled and began to dig the ground.

It seemed to want to escape from this powerful existence, but its heart was full of confusion and uneasiness.

"Hey, Destroyer, or should I call you Armor?"

Thor tried to communicate with it.

"Don't be nervous, I have no ill intentions. I just want to know why you choose to do this?"

The Destroyer Sheep dug the ground harder.

"Oh, stop, don't be nervous, I have no ill intentions."

Thor saw its action and said hurriedly.

The sheep seemed to understand Thor's words, it stopped digging the ground and looked up at Thor.

Its eyes revealed a complex emotion.

It seemed to be thinking, as if recalling the past years.

The sheep did not respond to Thor's words, but it did not choose to flee.

It seemed to accept Thor's existence and seemed to be waiting for something.

Its eyes revealed a kind of expectation and hope.

Thor slowly approached, and the next moment, the Destruction Sheep bumped into him!

Chapter 552 You were hit by a sheep

Thor felt happy when he saw it stopped moving, thinking that it was willing to communicate with him.

He stretched out his hand and showed the unique silly smile of Thor, just like when he saw the Green Hulk in Gao Tianzun's arena on Saka.

However, before the smile could fully bloom, the Destruction Sheep crashed into him with thunderous force.

Thor's reaction was not unpleasant, but even as the God of Thunder, he could not withstand this sudden impact.

Because this is not just a sheep, it is a Destroyer armor corroded by etheric particles, taking on the appearance of a sheep.

At the moment of impact, Thor's smile froze on his face, like an ice sculpture frozen by the cold wind.

His face was twisted and deformed by the force of the impact, as if he was suffering from endless pain.

The body seemed to be pushed out by a huge force, completely losing control, and the whole person flew out like an arrow from a string.

At this moment, Thor deeply realized the true strength of this destructive sheep.

It is not only corroded by etheric particles, but also blessed and blessed by the divine power of the gods.

It was the divine blessing of the Hercules, which made the power to destroy the sheep as heavy as a mountain, and every impact seemed to shake the heaven and the earth.

That was the power blessing of Ares, the god of war, which filled the Destruction Sheep with the will and strength to fight, and was not afraid of any challenge.

There is also the blessing of strength from the Egyptian god Amun, the blessing of speed from the Egyptian god Horus, and the blessing of speed from Mercury...

The fusion of these divine powers makes Destruction Sheep an irresistible force.

With the impact of the Destruction Sheep, the surrounding air seemed to be torn apart by this force, making a deafening explosion.

Thor's body drew a long arc in the air, like a meteor streaking across the night sky.

Along the trajectory of his flight, the air was torn apart, forming long air waves. These air waves are like violent storms, sweeping everything around them.

The surrounding buildings collapsed under the impact of the air waves and turned into ruins.

The trees swayed under the devastation of the air waves, and eventually turned into sawdust and scattered on the ground. The entire battlefield seemed to have turned into a mess of ruins, full of destruction and death.

Thor's body rolled in the air, and every impact caused him to feel excruciating pain.

His heart was filled with shock and unwillingness. He never thought that he would suffer at the hands of this destructive sheep. However, he also knew that the strength of this Destruction Sheep was indeed extraordinary, far exceeding his previous expectations.

His vision became blurred, and he could only see the huge figure of the Destruction Sheep approaching. He knew that he had to come up with a countermeasure as soon as possible, otherwise if he was hit by the Destruction Sheep again, the consequences would be disastrous.

Thor gritted his teeth and used all his strength to smash Mjolnir in his hand at the Destruction Sheep.

Thor's hammer drew a perfect arc in the air and hit the Destruction Sheep directly. The huge impact made Destruction Sheep take a few steps back, and Thor also took this opportunity to stabilize his body.

However, this was only a temporary victory.

The power of the Destruction Sheep was as unstoppable as the Doomsday, and it launched a fierce attack on Thor again.

That wild force seemed to be able to tear apart everything, making the surrounding space tremble. Thor held Mjolnir tightly, his eyes firm and cold, and launched a fierce confrontation with the Destruction Sheep.

Every collision they made caused everything around them to instantly turn into powder, as if the whole world collapsed under their power.

The ground continued to crack under their feet, and cracks spread like spider webs, swallowing everything around them.

The trees turned into sawdust under their impact, flying in the air, forming green storms.

The entire battlefield seemed to have turned into a hell on earth, full of destruction and death.

Everything around them was reduced to ruins, leaving only the figures of Thor and the Destruction Goat standing among them.

The air was suffocating with dust and smoke.

However, Thor was not afraid. He only had a desire to fight and a firm belief in victory.

Thor, the God of Thunder, roared angrily, and the sound was as shocking as thunder.

He finally stopped holding back and decided to go all out to completely defeat the Destruction Sheep.

He waved Mjolnir, and bolts of thunder burst out from his body, lighting up the entire battlefield.

"Mjolnir!"

Thor shouted loudly.

Thor's hammer drew a perfect arc in the air, and then slammed into the Destruction Sheep. The Destruction Sheep roared in pain, but it did not fall, but instead fought back even more crazily.

Thor did not back down. He wielded Mjolnir again and launched a more fierce confrontation with the Destruction Sheep.

Their figures intertwined in the air, and every impact was frightening.

The air was filled with roars of thunder and loud crashes, as if the whole world was shaking under their power.

Finally, Thor decided to use his ultimate power.

He took a deep breath, and the fire of hell burned in his body.

The flame is as hot as lava and can burn the soul.

Thor used his own divine thunder and lightning as fuel to burn the fire of hell, and combined with the divine thunder and lightning of physical destruction, it formed a kind of mixed injury. His strength reached its peak at this moment, and his firepower was fully unleashed.

At this moment, a hammer flew from a distance and fell into his other hand.

This is his other hammer, the Gravity Hammer, which can control gravity.

The two hammers were as flexible in Thor's hands as his arms, and they swung in the air with amazing trajectories.

As Thor shouted, the two hammers were enchanted by the fire of hell.

Their surfaces became hot and fiery, as if they could melt everything.

Then, they turned into two skull-shaped hammers, exuding a terrifying and mysterious atmosphere.

"Boom boom boom boom boom—————"

Suddenly, there was lightning and thunder, and billions of thunder roared.

The entire battlefield seemed to be shrouded in thunder, and the loud noises of the sky and the earth were endless.

Each thunder roared like a dragon and rushed towards the Destroyer Sheep, making its body tremble constantly under the bombardment of thunder.

Although the power of the Destroyer Sheep was strong, it began to seem powerless when Thor burst out with all his strength.

Its body was constantly hit hard by the bombardment of thunder, but it still resisted stubbornly and was unwilling to give up easily.

Thor did not give it any chance. He swung his two enchanted hammers and launched fierce attacks.

Every impact made the Destroyer Sheep roar in pain. Its body was shaking constantly, as if it would collapse at any time.

However, the Destroyer Sheep was not helpless. Suddenly, its body began to flash.

Chapter 553 Mounts and Weapons

That was the light of Zeus's divine power, dazzling and dazzling, like the brightest star in the night sky. Its light contained endless power, and it could even control thunder and lightning!

The moment Thor's attack touched the Destroyer Sheep, it was easily dissolved like snowflakes before an avalanche.

The power of thunder flowed through the Destroyer Sheep, as if it had become a new source of power. The light was so dazzling that it was impossible to look directly at it.

The Destroyer Sheep roared, and the sound was like thunder rolling, shocking people.

The counterattack thunder was several times more violent than Thor's attack, like thousands of thunders falling at the same time, directly bombarding Thor.

"Boom boom boom boom boom!!!"

Thor's face was solemn. He felt that the power this time was extraordinary. It was a power that could shake the world and subvert the universe.

He knew that he had to go all out, otherwise the consequences would be disastrous.

Thor quickly adjusted his state, perfectly combining his own divine power thunder and lightning with the fire of hell, forming an unprecedented power.

That power was like a volcanic eruption, surging out, making it impossible to resist.

He held Thor's double hammer tightly, as if holding the throat of fate, and attacked the Destroyer again.

Thor's double hammer drew a dazzling trajectory in the air, and the trajectory was like a meteor across the night sky, which was amazing.

And the Destroyer was not to be outdone. The power of Zeus on it became stronger and stronger, and the power of thunder and lightning seemed endless.

The two forces collided fiercely in the air, triggering a shocking duel.

The scene of the duel was like the advent of doomsday, with thunder and fire intertwined and illuminating the entire sky.

The ground was shaking, the mountains were roaring, and the sea was churning, as if the whole world was shaking for this duel.

The roar of thunder, the roar of fire, the collapse of mountains, the sound of waves in the sea, all the sounds intertwined together to form a shocking symphony.

Every confrontation between Thor and the Destroyer seemed to tear the space and shock people.

Thor's double hammers and the thunder and lightning power of the Destroyer Sheep collided in the air, triggering dazzling lightning. Those lightnings flew in the air like giant dragons, which was amazing.

Thor's divine power of thunder and hellfire formed a unique force field, which was like a huge vortex, engulfing everything around it.

And the power of Zeus of the Destroyer Sheep was like a huge lightning column, illuminating the entire battlefield, making it impossible to look directly.

This duel seemed to last for an endless time, and every confrontation was thrilling.

However, Thor did not retreat. He firmly wielded Thor's double hammers and started a life-and-death battle with the Destroyer Sheep.

In the process, Thor's blazing hellfire spread to the Destroyer Sheep.

The Destroyer Sheep howled in pain.

It is now a life form with a soul, and it is simply defenseless against the hellfire that can burn the soul.

But soon, the Destroyer Sheep found a way to deal with it. The power of Hades and Anubis blessed its soul.

At the same time, the power of the gods of fire, such as the sun god Ra and the fire god Hephaestus, began to affect the hellfire.

Most importantly, the source of power of the Destroyer Sheep, the eternal fire that drove it, also burned up, covering its entire body, and fighting against Thor's hellfire!

Thor's expression changed slightly. He never thought that this Destroyer Sheep was so difficult to deal with. It was knocked to the ground with a few hammers.

Now, even if Thor's brain is not very good, he can still feel that something is wrong.

Did he really solve the Destroyer armor at the beginning?

Or is it because Loki was controlling it?

The Destroyer Sheep was panting, and it was obviously very angry.

"Destroyer!"

At this moment, a voice sounded.

The Destroyer Sheep and Thor looked at the sound at the same time, and then saw the God King Odin.

"Father!"

Thor didn't expect his father to come over. This was too dangerous.

Unexpectedly, the Destroyer Sheep stopped attacking and walked to Odin meekly.

"Sure enough, the control of the Destroyer Armor is still there."

God King Odin ran out after experiencing the earth-shattering movement outside. He heard about the Destroyer Armor and was surprised that the Destroyer Armor, which had turned into a sheep, still had such terrifying power.

In addition, God King Odin suddenly felt that Thor still lacked a mount.

Just like his eight-legged horse Sleipnir and Hela's magic wolf Fenrir.

"Father!"

Thor walked over worriedly, holding Thor's double hammers, and looked at the Destroyer Sheep with caution.

"Thor, what do you think about it becoming your mount?"

God King Odin gestured to him to sit down and not to worry, and then reached out to touch the head of the Destroyer Sheep.

"Mount?"

Thor has never had such a thing, and neither has Loki, so Thor feels that he does not need a mount. If he wants to fly, wouldn't it be better to use Mjolnir or the Hammer of Gravity?

But it is impossible to say that Thor has no idea.

Because he fought a big battle with the Destroyer Sheep and recognized the power of the Destroyer Sheep very much.

"The threat of the dark elves and the Saiyans, I think you need it."

God King Odin nodded.

Thor immediately thought of the Saiyans. Raditz's invincibility left a deep impression on him.

"Okay, I also think I should have a mount, but the question is, will it listen to me?"

Thor questioned.

"Of course it will obey. It's time, Thor, go to Nidavellir. You need a powerful weapon."

God King Odin said calmly.

It is unknown why he did not let Thor go to Nidavellir to forge the Storm Axe in the original plot.

Now, facing various threats, and the problems of the Saiyans and the Galactic Empire that even Odin finds difficult, he thinks it is time.

What's more, Thor is now very skilled in playing with two hammers, which is not a good thing for him.

He originally gave Thor Mjolnir to help him control the divine power in his body, but he got another hammer.

Now, Thor loves both hammers.

So God King Odin can only let Thor forge his king's weapon in advance.

The dwarf king Etri also said "He needs the axe!" So it is translated as Storm Axe.

There is no doubt that the material of Storm Axe has never changed in the "Marvel Universe", and it has always been the legendary "Specialty of Asgard" - "Uru Metal".

Needless to say, the performance of this metal is very good. From Thor's Hammer to Odin's Eternal Spear, and even Iron Man's Anti-Thor Armor in the comics, they are all made of this metal.

Chapter 554 New Weapons

"It's really an epic enhancement."

Luther looked at Thor.

With the Destroyer mount and the soon-to-be-succeeded Storm Axe, Thor's strength will surpass that of the original plot. In addition, due to the lessons of the Saiyans, Thor has worked hard to train his body and already has the "Muscle Thor"'s strength.

The only possible exception is that he doesn't know how to use his divine power.

The reason why the God of Thunder in the original plot became so powerful was because he lost Mjolnir and could only rely on his own power of Thunder God to fight, which happened to stimulate his power of Thunder God.

Now, it is impossible for Thor, the god of thunder, to do this. Odin probably understands this, so he asked him to build the storm axe, intending to let him use the storm axe to stimulate his own power of thunder.

The original ax handle of the Storm Battle Ax should not be the wooden ax handle made of Groot's arm. Because it was said in "Avengers 3". The Storm Ax has an original handle.

I feel that if the Storm Battle Ax uses the original ax handle (which should be similar to the handle of Mjolnir), it will be more powerful.

Luther has seen the original Storm Ax in the official concept drawing, and can only say that the silver-white integrated structure is very powerful.

The handle that Groot's arm turned into gave people an overly rough look that didn't match the ax at all.

The Storm Ax was originally a prepared mold and was not designed with the ax handle in mind.

Therefore, when the dwarf king built the storm axe, he did not design an ax handle for it.

This shows that the handle material has no effect on the performance of the Storm Ax.

The power of the Storm Ax is entirely reflected in the ax head.

After being cast, Thor was seriously injured and needed a powerful artifact to activate his divine power for recovery.

Without an artifact to channel the power within Thor, he would have died.

Therefore, Groot used his own arm to fuse the Storm Ax with himself and left his own arm on the ax, thus forming the complete Storm Ax and becoming a complete artifact.

The completed Storm Ax provided Thor with restorative powers and granted him the ability to portal.

This time is different. Thor has enough time to complete the construction of the Storm Axe, and the Dwarf King Aitri also has time to design it.

Moreover, it can also prevent the dwarves from being wiped out.

The dwarves were wiped out, probably when Hela broke the seal. During that time, God King Odin died, Hela almost slaughtered Asgard, and Thor and Loki went to Saka again. Star, so the dwarves' call for help went unanswered.

Dwarf King Aitri, a well-known blacksmith master in Asgard, did not dare to show any slights.

When Thor, the god of thunder, arrived at his forge, he immediately greeted him enthusiastically, with a familiar smile on his face.

After all, the dwarves have always been protected by Asgard and forged a variety of magical weapons for the gods of Asgard.

Now, Thor, the "Prince" of Asgard, has personally come to inspect, which is undoubtedly an affirmation of their work.

"Ai Cui, I'm here this time to build my new weapon."

Thor said excitedly, his eyes shining with desire and love for powerful weapons.

"My father said you have already designed a battle ax for me."

Dwarf King Aitri nodded, agreeing with Thor's words.

He reached out and pointed to a drawing placed next to him, on which was drawn a unique and majestic battle axe.

"Yes, Thor. This is a battle ax tailor-made for you based on your own strength characteristics."

Thor stepped forward and looked carefully at the battle ax on the drawing.

He could imagine how powerful and domineering this battle ax would be when it was forged. When he suffered defeat in the hands of Saiyans and Black Caesar, he had already thought of building a more powerful weapon. Save the day.

It's a pity that his father has never agreed, and now he finally has a chance!

However, when he heard Ai Cui's next words, his face suddenly became solemn.

"In order to create the most powerful battle axe, we need to melt down both of your hammers and use their material as the main part of the battle axe."

Eitri's tone was very serious. He knew how difficult this decision was for Thor.

"Walter? Why?"

Thor was stunned. He never thought that he would need to give up his beloved hammer.

These two hammers accompanied him for countless days and nights, witnessing his growth and glory. How could he give them up so easily?

Eitri looked at Thor's expression and knew he was hesitating.

But he also knew that this was the price that had to be paid in order to create more powerful weapons.

"Thor, this is a choice. Moreover, this way, you will not lose your hammer. They just stay with you in a different way."

Thor was silent for a while, and he understood what Eitri meant.

However, he still couldn't accept this fact.

He shook his head and said firmly.

"No, Eitri. No one can touch my hammer! They mean so much to me that I can't imagine my life without them."

Eitri looked at Thor's firm eyes and knew that he had made a decision.

He didn't say anything else, because he understood Thor's love and persistence for weapons.

He believed that whatever decision Thor made, he would fully support it.

Thor turned and left Nidavellir, his heart full of entanglement and contradiction.

He knew that what Eitri said was true, and in order to create a more powerful weapon, he did need to give up something.

However, he still couldn't give up his deep feelings for the two hammers.

He hoped that he could find a way to have the best of both worlds, to keep the hammer and have a new battle axe.

Thor kept thinking about this problem.

He knew that his decision would have a crucial impact on future battles. He hoped to find a perfect solution so that he could have two powerful weapons at the same time.

Thor returned to the palace of Asgard and found his father Odin.

He told Odin all his thoughts and troubles, hoping to get his guidance and suggestions.

After listening, Odin pondered for a moment and then gave his opinion.

"Thor, I understand your love and persistence for weapons very well. But sometimes we need to learn to let go of some things in order to gain more."

Odin said earnestly.

The reason why he asked the dwarf king Atri to say that was to liberate Thor's power and no longer restrict him to his hammer.

Chapter 555: Furnace! Smelting!

Thor always thought he was the Hammer God instead of the God of Thunder because of Mjolnir.

Of course, if Mjolnir and the Gravity Hammer of unknown origin are smelted into a battle axe, the battle ax will also have the power of Mjolnir and the Gravity Hammer!

Odin was full of fear of this sudden appearance of the hammer.

He was unsure of the hammer's origins, let alone whether it would have a detrimental effect on Thor.

Even if its hammer head part is also forged in a star that is about to decline, and the handle part is made of wood from the World Tree!

Rather, it's because of the exact same material that it makes people think even more horribly.

Therefore, the most correct choice is to completely smelt them into one, so that no matter what happens or what power they have, they will all be burned!

And by doing this, you might be able to smelt the fire of hell into a new battle axe. The power of the new battle ax might be able to surpass that of the Eternal Spear, which might change the fate of Ragnarok!

"The battle ax Aitri designed for you is indeed a powerful weapon. It will make you more handy in future battles. And although your hammers are also very important, they have been with you for a long time and have been completed. Now, it's time to retire them and let new weapons take their place."

After hearing Odin's words, Thor fell into deep thought.

He knew his father's words made sense, but it was still hard for him to accept.

After all, giving up your beloved weapon is not an easy thing.

However, he also understands his responsibility and mission as a warrior.

He needs to constantly improve his strength and abilities to better protect Asgard and his family.

Especially the imminent threat from Saiyans and Black Caesar, as well as the dark elves that are about to be dealt with...

Thor stood in front of Mjolnir and the Gravity Hammer and was silent for a long time.

He stroked the surfaces of the two hammers, feeling the power and warmth from them.

Finally, he made a decision - to smelt the two hammers and create the battle ax that Aitri designed for him.

He once again rode the Ram of Destruction to Needaville.

"Thor, it seems that you have made a decision."

The mold of Dwarf King Ai Cui has been designed, and even the handle of the ax handle has been shaped. This time it is a complete and integrated battle ax.

"That's right."

Thor nodded.

So, the dwarf king Aitri started the neutron star furnace!

A vassal of Asgard, the dwarf planet Nidave is the most NB artifact manufacturing factory in the entire Marvel universe!

Nidave has long been famous in the universe. Even Rocket and Drax in the Guardians of the Galaxy have heard of the legendary artifact holy land.

Almost all Asgardian weapons are made by Nidave dwarves: Thor's hammer, Heimdall's Rainbow Bridge sword, the Asgardian female warrior Sif's sword, and the sword that symbolizes Asgardian imperial power. Odin's Spear: Spear of Eternity...

In short, in the hearts of Asgardians, Nedavi's products must be high-quality products. Nedavi's weapons are like a combination of iPhone and Nokia, durable and classic.

The common people are not guilty, but they are guilty of carrying the treasure. The unique forging skills of the dwarves have always been a planet coveted by the powerful powers in the universe.

If I want to rule the universe, Nidawi is definitely the most powerful backup. I can achieve great things with Nidawi.

The neutron star furnace rumbled into action, and its power seemed to shake the entire Nidaville planet.

At this moment, everyone held their breath and stared at the majestic furnace.

Neutron stars, one of the most mysterious and powerful objects in the universe, are incredibly dense.

The mass per cubic centimeter is as high as 80 million to 2 billion tons. This density is staggering.

Even light, when approaching a neutron star, will be affected by its strong gravity and be forced to break free in a parabolic trajectory.

However, despite the gravitational pull of the neutron star being so powerful, Nidaville is not affected by it. This is due to the mysterious outer shell of the neutron star.

This shell seems to have a magical force field, which just offsets the gravity of the neutron star, making the Nidaville planet safe and sound.

The dwarves skillfully manipulate the star rings that orbit the neutron star. They are like huge gears. Through precise adjustment and control, they can guide the energy of the neutron star into the furnace.

When the dwarf turned on the switch of the furnace, the entire furnace seemed to be ignited, giving off a dazzling light.

"boom-----!!!"

With a deafening bang, a high-temperature heat energy of hundreds of millions of degrees penetrated the entire instrument like a giant dragon and directly illuminated the furnace.

This terrifying temperature is enough to melt any substance, but in front of Thor and the dwarf king Aitri, this seems to be nothing.

After all, even the dwarf king Ai Cui can lie on the furnace and observe the situation inside without any scruples. This is enough to prove that the heat insulation ability of the furnace is powerful and can withstand at least one billion degrees of high temperature.

"Thor!"

Dwarf King Aitri urged.

Thor looked at Mjolnir and the Hammer of Gravity in his hands, his heart filled with reluctance and anticipation.

These two hammers have accompanied him through countless adventures and battles, and now they have to be thrown into the furnace. This is undoubtedly a huge sacrifice for Thor.

"Mjolnir, Gravity... we'll see you later."

He personally threw Mjolnir and the Hammer of Gravity into the furnace.

Watching the two hammers gradually melt in the flames, Thor felt mixed emotions.

But he knew that all this was for more powerful weapons, for Asgard.

The flames in the furnace burned fiercely, and the metal of the two hammers gradually melted under high temperatures.

This process seemed like a mysterious ritual, and every moment was full of mystery and solemnity.

Thor stood aside, watching all this intently.

"Thor, add your hellfire! Inject your divine power!"

The dwarf king Etri didn't know what hellfire was, but this was what Odin told him.

Thor nodded, and the hellfire and the power of Thor emerged. He aimed his hands at the furnace, and the hellfire and the power of Thor were released towards the furnace.

"Crackle!!!"

The hellfire and the power of Thor were stimulated, and they were melted into the steel and molten iron in the furnace and merged into one!

They interacted with the molten metal, producing a wonderful reaction.

That reaction was like a kind of magic, making the metal in the furnace purer and stronger.

His heart was filled with anticipation and nervousness. He was looking forward to the birth of the new battle axe, but also nervous about whether all this would succeed.

Chapter 556: Boros and Thanos

Finally, at the moment when the last metal dripped and melted into shape, a brand new battle axe appeared in front of Thor. This battle axe is not an ordinary product, but a crystallization of many mysterious powers.

It absorbs the essence of Mjolnir's lightning, gathers the gravitational potential energy of the hammer of gravity, and is tempered and sublimated in the heat of hellfire.

Every line seems to tell an ancient myth, and every ray of light seems to contain endless power. The axe body shines with dazzling light, like a bright star, which makes people dare not look directly.

Thor stood in front of the forging table, staring at the battle axe in front of him.

He could feel a powerful energy emanating from the axe body, which was like a violent torrent, continuous, powerful and stable. It seemed to be calling Thor and challenging his limits.

Thor took a deep breath, stretched out his broad palm, and tightly grasped the handle of the battle axe.

At that moment, he seemed to be integrated with the battle axe, and could feel its temperature, its power, and its soul.

This battle axe seems to have become an extension of him, and his power has been multiplied, surged, and increased!

If Mjolnir helps Thor control his power of the god of thunder, then this new battle axe pushes his power of the god of thunder to a new height.

It is not just a weapon, but also a symbol of Thor's power and a witness to his struggle against fate.

This battle axe is similar to the Eternal Spear in Thor's hand. They are both weapons exclusive to the king and have powerful magical properties.

In the words of the dwarf king, this battle axe is hailed as the most powerful weapon in the history of Asgard. Even in legend, it is also a weapon that can kill Thanos.

And this is exactly why Thor chose to go to the dwarf star Nidavellir without hesitation after meeting the Guardians of the Galaxy.

He is not only looking for new weapons to fight Thanos, but also to find the limit of his own power and the courage to fight fate to the end.

It is worth mentioning that this battle axe not only has the power to kill Thanos, but also has an amazing ability-summoning the rainbow bridge.

After Asgard was destroyed, Thor's travel in the universe became extremely difficult.

With this battle axe, he can summon the Rainbow Bridge anytime and anywhere, easily cross the stars, and reach any place he wants to go.

In the Marvel Universe, the "Rainbow Bridge" is not just a bridge or an attribute given by an equipment. It is more of an auxiliary ability derived from the "Power of Odin", or the unique ability of the "King of Asgard".

This transmission mechanism of the Rainbow Bridge is a standard ability in the setting of the King of Asgard's weapons.

It is imprinted in the weapon mold in a similar form of enchantment. Once the weapon is made, it can allow the user to use the King's Power (Power of Odin) to trigger the manifestation of this ability.

However, due to the addition of hellfire and Thor's own Thunder God Power during the forging process, this axe is no longer the Storm Axe that was originally destined.

Its name has not yet been determined, but it has undoubtedly surpassed the setting in the original plot and become a real artifact.

Thor holds the battle axe and feels the surging and majestic divine power inside it.

He knew that this battle axe would become his most powerful aid in future battles.

It not only represents his strength, but also his faith and determination.

No matter how difficult and dangerous the road ahead is, as long as he has this battle axe in his hand, he will have the courage to fight everything to the end.

"It's so beautiful and powerful..."

Thor couldn't let it go, and he didn't care so much about the loss of Mjolnir and gravity.

Because this axe is more powerful and more suitable, although he prefers hammers.

"From now on, you will be called - the power of Thor!"

Thor gave this battle axe a name, the power of Thor!

It represents the power of Thor. After all, his power is too complicated, and this battle axe is the same.

With the power of Thor and riding the Destroyer, Thor felt that the time was ripe and it was time to seek revenge on the dark elves!

...

In the vast and boundless deep space of the universe, a huge ship was quietly suspended.

This is Boros's main ship - "Cyclops No. 1".

Its unique design combines ancient technology with unknown mysterious elements, and the patterns on its surface seem to tell a story of dusty history.

The one-eyed logo on the bow flashes cold light in the void, as if it is a star that never goes out, guiding the direction of the warriors.

On the opposite side of "Cyclops No. 1", a huge black fleet is moving quietly and silently.

These warships are as black as ink, with a cold luster on the surface, like a sword that cuts through the night sky.

Their number is so large that it almost obscures the starlight of the entire galaxy, causing this space to fall into a deep darkness.

These warships are the warships of the Dark Cult.

They come from an organization full of mystery and evil power, with the goal of conquering and ruling the entire universe.

Their power is powerful and mysterious, making it impossible to peek into their true details.

As the black fleet slowly approaches, a heavy and depressing atmosphere begins to permeate the space.

The oppressive feeling, like a shadow, made it difficult for people to breathe, as if an invisible giant hand was tightly strangling their throats.

And in the center of the black fleet, a huge suspended throne was falling vertically.

This throne was made of an unknown material, and a deep light flowed on its surface.

And on the throne, a figure sat steadily.

He was wearing golden armor, inlaid with strange runes and gems, shining with dazzling light.

His skin was dark purple and tough, like an ancient stone tablet.

And his chin was unusually huge, covered with vertical lines, giving people a strong visual impact.

He was huge and strong, his muscles were as hard as iron and stone, and full of amazing power.

His eyes flashed with cold light, as if he could see through everything.

And the most shocking thing was the surging energy fluctuations emanating from him.

That energy was powerful and majestic, as if it could tear apart all obstacles and make people unable to resist.

He was the Mad Titan Thanos.

His name was well-known throughout the universe, and everyone knew it.

He was an ambitious and powerful ruler who was eager to bring the entire universe under his control.

His power is so strong that almost no one can defeat him, which makes people feel desperate.

"Finally found you, Thanos!"

Boros let the Cyclops main ship send a signal to the other party.

Chapter 557 The battle between the universe overlords!

"Pathetic weakling, another challenger and Avenger?" Ebony Maw looked at Boros' unique appearance. It was a one-eyed giant, wearing armor, holding a huge battle axe, and full of momentum. He couldn't remember it for a moment. After all, their men under Thanos had dealt with countless Avengers and challengers. They all wanted to deal with the Dark Cult or use the Dark Cult to make a name for themselves.

However, these challengers eventually became dust in the starry sky and became stepping stones on Thanos's road to conquest.

In Thanos' eyes, Boros's "Cyclops No. 1" battleship was just a small obstacle on his road to conquest. He sat on the throne with a sharp gaze, as if he could see through everything. He was accustomed to these challengers. Whether they were Avengers or challengers, he would unswervingly stick to his own path.

Similarly, he also welcomed all like-minded people to join his Dark Cult.

Boros looked at Thanos, and he felt the powerful aura of Thanos, but he did not retreat.

"Master, just deal with them directly."

Ebony Maw looked at Thanos, his tone full of respect and loyalty to Thanos.

He planned to use all their warships to launch a salvo to destroy Boros's warships on the desolate planet.

However, Thanos shook his head, looked at Boros with deep eyes, and said, "Don't worry."

He wanted to conquer Boros, he could feel the powerful energy in Boros' body!

It was an energy more powerful than the five black generals. If Boros joined, his plan would be more successful.

Boros stopped the Cyclops on a desolate planet, a desolate and silent place, with only the desolate surface and a few dim planets in the distance as the background.

Thanos also stopped, and then got off the throne directly. He walked towards Boros step by step, and every step seemed to carry endless majesty and power.

"I am the warmaster of the Galactic Empire, Boros. I heard that you are the overlord of the universe, so I want to challenge you!"

Boros said loudly, his voice echoing on the empty planet.

His eyes were firm, full of desire for challenge and persistence for victory.

"Galactic Empire?"

Thanos was slightly stunned. He felt that this was the first time he heard this name.

In his cognition, there were not many empires in the universe, and each one was a behemoth that dominated the world.

He had never heard of this Galactic Empire before, but he did not underestimate Boros because of this.

After all, those who can be called empires must have their own strengths.

Moreover, Boros's ability to possess such powerful energy is enough to prove that the strength of this Galactic Empire should not be underestimated.

"Challenge me, Boros? Then come on, I, Thanos, accept your challenge!"

With Thanos's bold words, the entire universe seemed to fall into a solemn atmosphere.

Above the starry sky, streams of energy rushed, as if they were the flags of the warriors charging into battle, foreshadowing the coming storm.

Boros' figure flashed, turned into a meteor, and rushed towards Thanos at an incredible speed.

His speed was so fast that it seemed that he could travel through time and space and reach anywhere in an instant.

On his fist, there was a blazing energy. The light was so strong that it was like a star about to explode, making people dare not look directly at it. The blazing energy seemed to be able to burn everything and turn the universe into ashes.

Facing Boros's fierce attack, Thanos' eyes condensed. His eyes were deep and cold, as if he could devour everything.

He clenched his right hand into a fist, and a majestic cosmic energy gathered.

The energy was so powerful that it seemed to shake the entire universe.

He punched hard, and a huge energy shock wave tore through the air and went straight to Boros. The shock wave was so fierce that it seemed to instantly destroy all obstacles in front of it.

Boros did not show any weakness, and he rushed up against the energy shock wave.

His fist collided with the shock wave, bursting out a dazzling light. The light was so bright that it seemed to illuminate the entire universe. The two powerful forces stirred each other, setting off a violent energy storm. The storm was so fierce that it seemed to swallow the entire universe.

Thanos raised his eyebrows, and the Infinity Gauntlet on his left hand emitted a dazzling light. The light was so bright that it seemed to illuminate the entire universe. He clenched his fists, and a more powerful energy gathered.

The energy was so magnificent that it seemed to shake the entire universe. Boros was also unwilling to be outdone. He exerted all his energy to fight Thanos head-on.

The two forces finally collided with each other, as if two planets collided, and a thunderous sound broke out. The shock of the loud sound seemed to make the entire universe tremble.

The entire universe seemed to tremble at this moment, and endless energy turbulence overflowed, tearing everything around it to pieces.

The surface of the earth was as fragile as tofu in front of this force, and was instantly torn into pieces by the energy turbulence. Those solid rocks and towering mountains were as small as sand in front of this force and were easily crushed.

And those once prosperous cities were now in ruins and in a mess.

Transparent lightning intertwined at the tips of their fists, and the light was so strong that it seemed to tear the entire universe apart. The lightning was so fast that it seemed to be able to travel through time and space and destroy all obstacles in an instant.

The space was twisted and deformed under this force, like a boiling ocean. The ocean was so turbulent that it seemed to be able to swallow everything and involve the entire universe.

Boros and Thanos both felt the strength of the other party, but neither of them retreated.

"That's it!"

Boros was very excited. He felt the power of Thanos.

Thanos was also a little surprised at Boros's strength. After all, not everyone could withstand the attack of his Infinity Stone!

After Luther separated the power of the Infinity Stone, although Thanos lost the Mind Stone and did not get the Cosmic Cube, he successfully got the Cosmic Sphere!

The newly born Cosmic Sphere was the most naughty. After Thanos crushed the shell of the Cosmic Sphere, the Power Stone released its power unscrupulously, almost killing Thanos, but also allowing Thanos to successfully master the Power Stone, a crucial and purest Infinity Stone.

At this moment, the purple, brilliant and noble energy light shone.

Boros rushed towards Thanos again. His speed was so fast that he seemed to be able to travel through time and space. His fist was filled with fiery energy, as if it was going to burn the entire universe to ashes.

Thanos calmly responded to Boros' attack. Although his movements were slow, each step was full of power.

Chapter 558 A Different Thanos

His fist seemed to be filled with the mighty energy of the universe, and every muscle fiber seemed to contain endless power, as if it was going to instantly destroy all obstacles in front of it.

The strong energy fluctuations distorted the surrounding space, as if everything seemed so insignificant under this power.

Boros was not afraid of this powerful energy at all.

His eyes flashed with a determined light, and he roared and charged at Thanos.

His figure cut through the sky like a meteor, and with endless determination and courage, he rushed towards the cosmic overlord holding the power gem.

"Bang!"

The two powerful forces collided violently in the air, and the shock wave generated made everything around tremble.

However, this time, Thanos, who condensed the power of the power gem, blew Boros's arm with one punch.

Boros' body flew backwards like a kite with a broken string, and the wound on his arm emitted a dazzling light, which was the leakage of energy in his body.

However, Boros was not frustrated at all, and his eyes flashed with a more determined light.

Energy surged instantly at his broken arm, filling the wound like running water. The broken arm recovered quickly and grew again under the nourishment of energy.

This scene made Thanos frown. He had seen the recovery ability of countless races, but it was the first time he had seen such a powerful life ability as Boros.

"So that's it. You are a semi-energy life form. As long as you have energy, you can continue to recover. It's really a powerful life ability."

Thanos looked at Boros's regrown arm and said slowly.

There was a hint of appreciation in his tone, but also a hint of caution that should not be underestimated.

Based on Thanos's knowledge and experience of traveling the universe and crossing countless planets, he could see the specialness of Boros' life at a glance.

"That's right, I'm different from you life forms. You will get tired and injured. You can defeat you by accumulating injuries. But I only need energy. As long as I have energy, I have physical strength and can recover!"

Boros smiled proudly.

He was proud of the strength of his race. In his opinion, this powerful life ability was the foundation of their race.

However, Thanos just looked at him calmly, with a sneer on his lips.

"Ignorance makes people vain, proud and arrogant, and it also leads people to destruction."

He said lightly.

There was a hint of sarcasm in his words, as if he was mocking Boros's ignorance and arrogance.

Boros was angered by Thanos' words. He roared and rushed towards Thanos, wanting to prove his strength with his fist.

However, Thanos just smiled lightly, and when he waved his hand, a more powerful energy burst out from his fist, directly knocking Boros out.

"Although it's only a semi-finished product, it's enough to deal with you."

Thanos looked at the Infinity Gauntlet on his hand, which had cracks, and then clenched his fist and said.

The reason why he said this was not to boast about how powerful the Infinity Gauntlet he made was, but to state a fact.

As a person who was also cursed by knowledge, Thanos would naturally make the Infinity Gauntlet.

Even Tony Stark can use the iron suit to contain the power of the infinite gems to create the infinite gauntlet, let alone Thanos?

In the original plot, Thanos's behavior of looking for dwarves to create the infinite gauntlet is actually a derogation of his personality.

However, for the Marvel Universe, it is not strange to eat books frequently.

Thanos relied on his knowledge to create the infinite gauntlet to contain the overly powerful and active power gem.

Despite this, the infinite gauntlet still began to be unable to withstand the erosion of the power gem, and cracks gradually appeared.

The new power gem, its domineering and fierce power is really amazing.

Even the Celestials like Star-Lord are now probably turned into ashes and annihilated by it. However, Thanos can withstand this power.

"Although I don't know what that thing is, I can feel the powerful energy emanating from it. This is so exciting!"

Boros' eyes flashed with greed, and he stared closely at the power gem on Thanos's infinite gauntlet.

The gem, shining with noble purple light, seemed to contain endless energy, which shocked and excited Boros.

He had never seen such powerful energy, which made him want to take the gem for himself.

If he could get this gem, he might really be able to challenge the man named Saitama.

"I've decided, I'm going to show my real strength and take it as my trophy!"

Boros said with a healthy smile.

"If you think you have the ability to take it, then just give it a try."

Thanos looked at Boros, and his tone revealed an indomitable domineering attitude.

He was not worried that Boros would really take the power gem, because in his opinion, Boros was not qualified.

Thanos looked at Boros's actions and did not show any panic.

He stood there quietly, as if everything was under his control.

He knew that although Boros's power was strong, it was not enough to compete with him.

"Meteor burst!!!"

Boros shouted, and the energy in his body rioted and released.

The next moment, as if teleporting, Boros' fist, which had soared to almost the speed of light, landed on Thanos' face!

However, the expected scene of Thanos being blown away by a punch did not appear.

The Titan's burly body rolled in the air, drew a parabola, and fell heavily to the ground.

"this....."

Boros was stunned.

He knew the power of his punch very well. You must know that he accelerated to sub-light speed. With one punch, the destructive power produced was enough to crush everything.

But just when his fist hit Thanos' face, Boros realized something was wrong. The huge kinetic energy was absorbed by Thanos' face, and the effect was just that he fell.

"A pure and simple attack."

Thanos touched his chin, then looked up at Boros and commented lightly.

"After I got the power gem, I have been studying and understanding the power gem. I even understood part of the mechanism of the power law. After using the principle of the law to transform my body, kinetic energy attacks are no longer effective against me."

Upon hearing Thanos' words, Boros's pupils shrank and a look of horror appeared on his face.

He had no idea that Thanos was so powerful that he could be immune to kinetic attacks!

Chapter 559: Death without a complete body

"However, the fact that you can reach sub-light speed on your own is already very good. Among the powerful people in the universe that I know, you can at least be ranked in the top five. However, if you rank it according to the degree of threat to me, you are even the top five. Not even ten can fit in." Thanos's voice echoed in the void, calm and confident.

Boros's heart tightened, and he understood that this battle was far from over. Although Thanos' words sounded like a compliment, they were more of a provocation and a contempt for his strength.

"Next, it's my turn to attack." Thanos's voice sounded again, and this time, his figure disappeared instantly in front of Boros.

Boros's pupils shrank sharply, and he felt a strong sense of crisis rising from his heart. He tried to avoid it, but his body seemed to be bound by invisible chains, unable to move at all.

"What kind of power is this?!" Boros was horrified. He had never encountered such a situation before and could not understand why he suddenly lost control of his body.

Just when Boros was panicking, Thanos' figure suddenly appeared in his sight. His fist was so huge that it cut through the void like a meteor, bombarding Boros with the power to destroy the world.

"Bang!!!"

A deafening loud noise spread across the sky, and Boros' body flew backwards like a target hit by a cannonball. He drew a long parabola in the air, and finally fell heavily to the ground, with dust flying into the air.

Boros struggled to get up from the ground, a trace of blood spilled from the corner of his mouth. His face was full of shock and unwillingness, and he understood that the gap between him and Thanos was much wider than he imagined.

"This is..." A flash of understanding flashed in Boros's eyes. He did not lose control of his body, but Thanos' speed was too fast, so fast that his brain could not capture his movements, which resulted in illusion.

"That's what the meteor burst is called."

Thanos raised the corners of his mouth with a proud smile, "I have mastered its principle and mechanism of action."

When Boros heard this, he was even more shocked. He originally thought that his meteor burst was unique, a unique skill that he had learned through countless battles.

However, in front of Thanos, this so-called stunt seemed to become a joke.

"You actually learned my meteor burst."

Boros felt that there was an essential gap between himself and Thanos.

That's the difference between a scumbag and a top student, or even a god of study!

"Surrender, and surrender to me."

Thanos's voice echoed in the endless space, full of absolute confidence and unquestionable majesty.

Boros, the overlord who once made the entire universe tremble, now only responded coldly.

"impossible."

His voice was full of determination and firmness, as if he was ready to face anything.

Thanos nodded slightly, without any unexpected expression on his face, as if he had already anticipated Boros's answer.

He lost the Mind Stone, which was indeed a trouble. Otherwise, he could have used it to control Boros's will and make him his puppet.

But now, he can only rely on his own strength to defeat this powerful opponent.

Boros's body began to tremble, which was a sign that he was accumulating energy.

He roared angrily, as if he wanted to vent all the anger and unwillingness in his heart.

A dazzling light began to glow around his body, which was when he absorbed the energy of the universe and prepared for the final battle.

The whole person seemed to turn into a burning flame and ran quickly.

Seeing this, Thanos was not to be outdone.

He also began to absorb cosmic energy. There seemed to be an endless abyss in his body, constantly devouring the surrounding energy.

Light began to glow around his body, and the light was more dazzling and hotter than Boros's.

At this moment, Boros's body trembled violently, and his energy began to erupt, generating huge propulsion.

His body was like a meteor, instantly soaring to a terrifying speed of sub-light speed, heading straight towards Thanos.

Thanos sneered, the light around his body flashed suddenly, and his speed instantly increased to the true speed of light! His figure left a dazzling light trail in the sky, directly facing Boros.

Their bodies collided violently in the air, making a deafening sound. The surrounding space seemed to be torn apart by this force, creating space cracks.

Boros' body was shattered by Thanos' punch at the moment of impact.

The fragments of his body were flying in the air, each fragment emitting a faint light, which was because his energy was dissipating.

"Even for energy life, there is an upper limit for recovery."

Thanos's voice was cold and calm, as if he had everything under control.

"If even your atoms are decomposed and annihilated together with energy, you won't be able to be resurrected, right?"

There was an unquestionable confidence in Thanos' voice.

He knew that although Boros was an energy being, his recovery power had its limits. If all his atoms were annihilated by energy decomposition, he would never be resurrected.

Thanos' words caused Boros's body to tremble suddenly.

When Thanos's power collides with Boros's energy, the changes in the microscopic realm become particularly dramatic.

Atoms, the basic units that make up all matter, showed their most mysterious and amazing properties at this time.

Boros' body, composed of countless atoms tightly arranged, began to decompose under the impact of Thanos's powerful force.

Each atom seemed to be torn apart by an invisible force, and the bond between the nucleus and the electrons was instantly broken.

The protons and neutrons in the nucleus, these particles with positive and neutral charges, began to separate under the impact of energy.

The strong force between them was broken, and the protons and neutrons were forcibly separated, releasing huge energy.

At the same time, the protons and neutrons in the nucleus themselves began to change, and their internal structures became unstable under the impact of energy, and began to decompose into smaller particles.

And electrons, these negatively charged particles moving around the nucleus, were thrown away from the nucleus under the impact of energy, forming the so-called "electron cloud".

These electrons move at high speed in space, releasing strong light and energy.

During the whole process, Boros' atoms were completely decomposed under the power of Thanos, the bonds between the nucleus and electrons were broken, protons and neutrons were also decomposed, and finally more basic particles such as quarks and leptons were formed.

Chapter 560 The War is Coming

In the deep vastness of the universe, particles dance in space like dancers, and their high-speed trajectories release dazzling energy and light. They intertwine and collide with each other, performing a magnificent cosmic fireworks show.

And under these gorgeous fireworks, Boros's body was completely decomposed like fragile glass under Thanos' unrivaled power. His body turned into countless tiny particles, which flew away under Thanos' power and gradually dissipated into the abyss of the universe.

Although this process is spectacular, it takes place in a microscopic realm that is unimaginable. This subtle change cannot be captured by the naked eye. Only with the help of sophisticated scientific instruments can people get a glimpse of it. In this ever-changing process, Boros's life is slowly coming to an end.

The existence of Boros was originally composed of countless atoms that were closely connected and built together. However, in the face of Thanos' powerful power, the connections between these atoms were ruthlessly torn apart, and his body was completely decomposed and turned into nothingness.

As the body dissipated, the energy contained in Boros' body was also rapidly lost. The pride and dignity that once supported him to stand proudly dissipated like smoke into the depths of the universe at this moment, no longer existing.

His eyes were full of fear and despair at this moment. Boros seemed to have realized that his fate could not be changed, and his body was gradually dissipating into countless energy fragments. These fragments are scattered everywhere in the universe, their light gradually dims, and eventually they will completely disappear in the endless universe.

Poros's heart was filled with unwillingness and anger. He was unwilling to end his life like this, and he didn't want his glory to come to an end. However, no matter how much he struggled, no matter how much he resisted, he could not change the fate that was already destined.

His body has completely dissipated and turned into countless energy fragments. Those fragments are scattered everywhere in the universe, their light gradually dims, and eventually they will disappear completely in the endless universe. The pride, dignity, and energy that once belonged to Boros also disappeared at this moment and ceased to exist.

Watching Boros' body gradually dissipate into the universe, Thanos did not show any pity or sympathy. His eyes were full of indifference and determination, as if everything was expected.

Inside the Cyclops 1 main ship, the air seemed to have solidified.

The crew members were silent, their eyes focused on Boros who was gradually disappearing.

His body, which was once as indestructible as an iron tower, gradually became transparent under the power of Thanos, like smoke blown away by the wind, disappearing into the endless universe bit by bit.

Their warmaster, the hero who had led them to defeat the enemy countless times, the leader who was as brave and fearless as a beast on the battlefield, just disappeared before their eyes.

His smile, his bold words, his bravery, everything disappeared along with his body.

"Let's go back!"

A one-eyed man suddenly broke the silence, his voice filled with deep despair and helplessness.

"Asshole, are you going to run away? There are no deserters in the One-eyed Star clan!"

Another one-eyed man retorted angrily.

"Idiot, I am not running away, but there is no point in continuing to fight like this. We have to go back and inform His Majesty!"

The first one-eyed star explained.

"Let your Majesty avenge the Warmaster!"

Other crew members also echoed.

The One-Eyed Stars began to quarrel fiercely with other races of the Galactic Empire.

Their voices were filled with anger and reluctance, but more importantly, helplessness and despair. They knew that their Warmaster was gone and they could no longer fight as fearlessly as they had in the past.

However, amid the quarrels and confusion, the One-Eyed Stars were eventually persuaded.

They knew that the most important thing now was to go back and report the terrible news and let their Majesty avenge their Warmaster.

"Master, do you need to intercept them?"

Ebony Maw bowed respectfully to Thanos and asked.

Thanos did not answer immediately, his eyes still focused on Boros who was gradually dissipating. His heart was filled with mixed emotions, including respect for Boros and regret for losing a powerful opponent.

"Their warmaster is a good opponent, let them go back and report the death."

Thanos finally said.

Ebony Throat nodded. He was also surprised at how powerful Boros was. For the first time, he felt that his ability was not as powerful as he imagined. In addition to Thanos, Boros could threaten him.

This Galactic Empire has never been heard of, and I don't know if there are any other strong ones?

...

Luther doesn't know that Boros is dead yet, so why should he pay attention to Boros when he has nothing to do.

Is it because Esdeath is no longer good looking, or is it that No. 18 doesn't look good?

Not to mention the upcoming battle between Thor and the Dark Elf riding a sheep of destruction.

Thor has obtained a new weapon "Thunder God's Power". This ax is really powerful. It has absorbed all of Thor's hellfire. The strengthened Thor's power does not even have a skull sculpture on the surface. In other words, it is the power of hell. Fire was completely controlled by the power of Thunder God and became a part of it.

At the same time, Thor also felt his mysterious connection with the Rainbow Bridge.

Now, he can summon the magical bridge connecting the Nine Realms and even the universe with just a thought.

This ability allows Thor to travel freely in the Nine Realms and even the vast universe, whether chasing enemies or returning home, without having to worry about the long journey.

And Heimdall, the eye that has always been guarding Asgard, also has insight into the movements of the dark elves.

They did not choose to hide in their own world, but began to wander around, constantly recruiting troops and winning over those resistance forces that were dissatisfied with Asgard.

After the dark elf Malekith escaped, he did not choose to be silent, but became more active.

He knew that his power was not enough to fight Asgard alone, so he decided to find allies from the Nine Realms to fight against that powerful divine domain together.

His goal is very clear, which is to make Asgard fall from the rule of the Nine Realms and let the dark elves rise again.

In this context, many forces in the Nine Realms were shocked by the power of the cursed warriors displayed by Malekith.

They saw the hope of resisting Asgard, as if they saw a brand new future beckoning to them.

However, they did not realize that they were just insignificant cannon fodder in this huge conspiracy.
