

Kryptonian 60

Chapter 60 Robbery and Blackmail of the Demon Queen

Theoretically, only a god-killing solar flare bombing could cause such damage.

After all, An Suyin has not yet reached an indestructible level and will still be destroyed in the face of solar flare bombing.

That moment just now had the power of a god-killing solar flare bombing, but Morgana's gene engine system did not detect any nuclear fusion effects or dark energy reactions. This was something Morgana couldn't react to after being slow to react. reason.

The gods and super warriors of the Super Seminary are too dependent on their own genetic engine systems and supercomputer bonuses. In their view, most attacks without dark energy fluctuations are not worthy of attention.

Morgana's expression was ugly. She didn't know when she had provoked such a strong guy.

"Demon Queen Morgana, the main god of the demonic civilization, I am here for your technology."

Luther knew that Morgana's missing torso had been destroyed by him. Without Demon One, Morgana would not be able to recover.

Even with Demon One, she has no resources and can't repair herself.

This is the disadvantage of the fourth-generation divine body. The strength of the divine body is too high. Even if it absorbs energy and recovers materials, the demand is much more than that of the third-generation divine body. Just look at Angel Yan, dragging a third-generation divine body half-dead. It's because there's not enough energy.

"For the queen's skills?"

Morgana was startled, this seemed too normal, so much so that Morgana never thought of this possibility at first.

Nonsense, the demonic civilization is still a super-divine civilization. There are only so many super-divine civilizations in the known universe. Morgana herself has just been upgraded to the fourth-generation divine body, so Morgana never expected that anyone would rob the demonic civilization. On the head.

Oh, now there is.

"It's your uncle's job to rob, right?"

Morgana cursed.

Then she was hit in the face by one of Luther's qigong bullets.

"boom!"

Morgana was thrown away and almost fell to the ground, but was saved by her devil's claws.

"Your computing power is no longer enough to react and use the devil's claw to resist my attack, so before I want to completely destroy you because of your bad breath, keep quiet and hand over the things."

Luther said calmly.

"...Queen, how can I trust that you won't turn your back and kill someone after you get the goods?"

Morgana said coldly.

"Then do you want the demonic civilization to be completely extinct, or are you betting that your old lover has a backup of your dark plane information? But will it still be you who is resurrected like that?"

Luther didn't answer at all, and the light of Qigong waves lit up on his hand.

Morgana already knows how terrifying this energy is. It can destroy the divine body easily, almost like a solar flare bombing. More importantly, it is very secretive to activate. There are no dark energy fluctuations or nuclear fusion reactions, which makes people caught off guard.

And Luther has the ability to completely destroy her.

This left Morgana at a loss as to what to do. She wanted to secretly contact the God of Death, Karl, but this method of using secret communication in front of others might not make the other person look like a fool.

"Queen, I don't have that much information. All my information is on Demon One."

Morgana decided to coax Luther and give her a chance to contact the God of Death, Karl. When the time comes, that guy, Karl, the God of Death, will definitely have a way to deal with Luther!

"Wrong answer."

Luther raised his hand and fired.

"Hey, wait a minute!"

Morgana quickly wanted to beg for mercy, but Luther still fought out. This Qigong wave directly destroyed Morgana's devil's claws, allowing this pair of devil's claws to accompany Morgana for an unknown length of time. Broken into slag.

"Depend on!!!"

Morgana's eyes were red, she was heartbroken, her big baby was gone!

As for her body being partially destroyed by the explosion again, Morgana couldn't care less.

She lay weakly on the ground and angrily said that Luther was not a human being, more evil than the devil, and more devil than the devil.

Then he stepped on the back of her head with one foot.

"Last chance."

Luther said with a smile.

"...Kill the queen if you can."

Morgana became angry and spoke directly to Luther.

"Goodbye then."

Luther held a huge Qigong wave in his hand.

"Damn, you're serious!"

Morgana was scared, mainly because Luther had shown a decisive attitude from the beginning to the present, and he did what he said without any hesitation or hesitation.

Only Karl, the god of death, knew about her upgrade to the fourth-generation divine body, so it couldn't have been planned by Luther. This guy was really not afraid of killing her and leaving her with nothing.

She originally wanted to let the God of Death, Carl, use the dark plane information backup data to resurrect her later, as Luther said, but Morgana was afraid of what the God of Death, Carl, would do to her. Wouldn't she just let the God of Death, Carl, slaughter her?

"Vote! Click! Surrender!"

Morgana voted without saying a word.

Luther didn't speak, and Morgana was frightened.

"Don't test my patience."

Luther finally suppressed his murderous intention temporarily. Anyway, Morgana will still die when the deal is completed.

Luther didn't mind sending Morgana on her way as it was a simple matter.

Morgana breathed a sigh of relief, but she also felt unhappy that she was scared by Luther. She was not afraid of death, she just didn't want the demon civilization to disappear like this, or be controlled by Karl, the god of death.

Then Morgana was forced to hand over her information, but because Luther did not build his own dark plane, he had no interface to receive it.

It's not impossible for the super brain to receive it. The problem is that gods like Morgana have not considered this situation, so either the gene engine system receives it or the super computer receives it. There is no brain link to transmit the data.

"How about going to my Demon No. 1? I promise that I will never have any bad intentions?"

Morgana said to Luther carefully.

Who is this? She didn't build her own dark plane, and she refused to open the gene engine system and supercomputer to receive data. So what can she do?

"No, just show me everything you know."

Luther quickly found a way to use his super brain to memorize Morgana's information and techniques.

Morgana was speechless.

"Are you too careful? With so much information and technology, how long will it take for me, Queen, to show you all?"

She also thought Luther was wary of her invading his gene engine system and supercomputer.

Little did he know that Luther had no such thing at all.

"Just do it."

Luther said angrily.

Morgana had no choice but to do as she was told and used her last energy to project the display content.

Then, she was surprised to find that Luther's learning speed was beyond imagination, or that he was very capable of using his own supercomputer and gene engine system!