

Kryptonian 601

Chapter 601

Moreover, he is never arrogant and understands and thinks and accepts.

The perfect villain BOSS, compared to the comic version of Thanos who only wanted to please the goddess of death, this Thanos obviously has more character charm and personal characteristics.

To put it bluntly, one is a licking dog, and the other is a villain with dreams, pursuits, and reason.

Thanos waits for Luther to attack.

Luther walked slowly towards Thanos, his steps were steady and powerful, as if every step was stepping on the node of time.

There was a faint smile on his face, as if he had seen through all Thanos's defense methods.

"Perhaps in your eyes, the reality of the world has begun to unfold, but I want to say... you are as if you are a baby opening your eyes to see the world for the first time. It is specious."

Luther said calmly.

Thanos frowned, he could feel the strong aura emanating from Luther, and this aura made him feel a little uneasy.

He knew that he was facing an extremely powerful opponent. The emperor of the Galactic Empire not only possessed great strength and wisdom, but also had an unfathomable reserve of knowledge.

"What's the meaning?"

Thanos asked in a deep voice.

Luther smiled slightly, and there was a deep light in his eyes.

"Thanos, the gap between you and me is not only a gap in power, but also a gap in knowledge and cognition. You may have a deep understanding of the use of power gems, but you still can't understand what I mean. knowledge and theory."

Thanos frowned, knowing that what Luther said was true.

In the universe, the relationship between knowledge and power is interdependent. Without sufficient knowledge reserves, no matter how powerful the power is, it will not be able to exert its true power.

"So, please tell me, what knowledge and theories do you have?"

Thanos asked.

"First of all, it is the knowledge about dimensions or dimensions. You may have been able to perceive the existence of three-dimensional space, but you cannot understand the higher-dimensional world. In higher-dimensional space, the concepts of time and space will become complete Different, they will no longer be the linear, orderly existence we are familiar with."

Thanos couldn't help but feel a wave of emotion in his heart after listening to Luther's words.

"A higher-dimensional world? What kind of world is that?"

Luther smiled slightly and continued: "That is a world that we cannot accurately describe in words. In a higher-dimensional space, every point may be a universe, and every moment may be an eternity. Time and space will become relative and blurry, and we can even travel freely in it, transcending the constraints of time."

Thanos felt shocked when he heard Luther's words.

He had never thought that time and space could have such wonderful forms, which completely subverted his worldview.

"Do you think you have mastered the secrets of time and space and can play with me at will?"

Thanos sneered, a hint of disdain in his voice.

Luther smiled slightly, knowing that Thanos would not give in easily.

He continued to explain: "In the structure of the universe, there are multi-dimensional spaces, and each dimension is a brand new world. The three-dimensional space you understand is just a slice of this multi-dimensional universe. And I can perceive and control it. These dimensions, you can't imagine."

Thanos was silent for a while, and then said slowly: "The Power Stone has given me abilities beyond ordinary people. I can feel the flow of energy and even be able to manipulate them. However, I do not have a deep understanding of multidimensional space like you do. "

Luther nodded and continued: "In high-dimensional space, time and space are intertwined. Every tiny particle contains information about the entire universe. When you try to absorb or transform energy through power gems "You're actually interacting with the multidimensional structure of these particles, but if you can't understand those structures, your attacks will be ineffective."

"Not to mention the sense of time."

Luther continued.

"I can sense the passage of time, and can travel and manipulate at different points in time. But you can only be bound by time and cannot break away from its shackles."

"The limitations of your perception prevent you from relying on your own brain to understand the sense of space above three dimensions unless it is digitized and formulated."

Luther continued.

"But I can perceive the existence of higher dimensions and can freely shuttle and manipulate them. This is the fundamental gap between you and me."

Luther's super brain has unparalleled perception capabilities. He can see particle flow, at the most basic particle level, and can perceive a sense of space and time. This gives Luther a power beyond human understanding and imagination.

He can resonate with him in every dimension of this space and at every point in time.

Luther's body began to become blurry, as if traveling through countless parallel spaces.

"Thanos, are you ready? My attack will be launched from a dimension you cannot perceive."

With Thanos' concentration, he concentrated the energy of the Power Stone around his body, forming an indestructible energy shield.

Luther's attack will be very special. It may not only be a physical attack, but more likely a manipulation of time and space.

Luther's figure flickers in the space, and every move he makes seems to change the surrounding space-time structure.

His ability allows him to travel freely in high-dimensional space, while Thanos can only wait for the attack in the three-dimensional world.

"Thanos, every wave of air you feel, every distortion of light, may be my attack."

Luther's voice seemed to come from all directions, making it elusive.

Thanos clenched his fists. He knew that he had to rely on the power of the power gem to perceive those subtle changes. He closed his eyes, merged his consciousness with the power gem, and tried to catch Luther's trace.

At this moment, Thanos felt a weak energy fluctuation coming from his left side. He waved his arm without hesitation, and a powerful energy wave came out from his palm and hit the source of the fluctuation directly.

However, the energy fluctuation was just a bait for Luther. The real attack was launched from directly above Thanos. An almost imperceptible energy beam quietly penetrated Thanos' energy shield and hit his chest directly.

Thanos felt a sharp pain, his body was knocked out and hit the mountain wall in the distance heavily. He stood up with difficulty and watched Luther appear in front of him again.

"Your power gem is indeed powerful, but you have not yet truly mastered its power."

There was a hint of teaching in Luther's voice.

Chapter 602 A contest between two great physical masters, one of whom is omniscient and omnipotent.

Luther has mastered the secret of high-dimensional space and can travel freely between different dimensions, which makes Thanos feel unprecedented pressure.

However, Thanos is not a person who gives up easily. He decided to use the power gem he mastered to explore new possibilities in this battle.

The power gem, as one of the infinite gems of the universe, contains huge energy.

Thanos tried to combine the energy of the gem with his own consciousness, which is a dangerous but potentially effective strategy.

He closed his eyes, concentrated his mind, and synchronized his consciousness with the energy of the gem.

This process requires extremely high mental concentration and precise control of energy, and the slightest carelessness may cause energy to go out of control.

With the fusion of consciousness, Thanos began to feel an existence beyond the physical world.

He seemed to be able to perceive every corner and every dimension of the universe. He concentrated the energy of the power gem on his forehead, forming an energy focus.

This focus is not only the gathering point of energy, but also his window to perceive high-dimensional space.

Through this window, Thanos can capture those subtle energy fluctuations and perceive Luther's movement in different dimensions.

As Thanos' consciousness gradually increased, he began to be able to perceive Luther's movement in different dimensions.

He seemed to see invisible tracks, which were the paths that Luther took through space.

He could even see Luther's projections in the past and future, as well as the energy beams that tried to attack him.

These attacks were imperceptible in three-dimensional space, but they were invisible under his high-dimensional perception.

These energy beams twisted and deformed in high-dimensional space, trying to cross time and space to cause damage to him.

Each of his attacks accurately hit Luther's weaknesses.

He no longer passively waited for attacks, but began to actively look for Luther's traces, trying to pull him back from high-dimensional space to the three-dimensional world.

He used the energy of the power gem to create an attack method that could penetrate dimensions, leaving Luther nowhere to escape.

He also created a series of energy nets that could be deployed in high-dimensional space to capture Luther's every move.

Whenever Luther tried to cross time and space, Thanos' energy net would appear at the position where he was about to appear, waiting to capture his traces.

During the battle, Thanos constantly used various physics knowledge to analyze Luther's attack methods and movement trajectories.

He used the principles of quantum mechanics to infer the possible location of Luther;

He used the concept of relativity to calculate the speed change of Luther between different dimensions.

These theories quickly ran in Thanos' mind and became an important basis for him to formulate tactics.

At the same time, Thanos also discovered that the energy flow in high-dimensional space is fundamentally different from that in the three-dimensional world.

In high-dimensional space, the distribution of energy is more uniform, the flow is more free, and there are no restrictions in the three-dimensional world.

This brought his understanding of the universe to a new level and made him more adept at using power.

This battle is no longer a simple energy confrontation, but an exploration and understanding of the essence of the universe.

The duel between Thanos and Luther is undoubtedly the most shocking scene in this universe.

The contest between the two has long surpassed the simple physical strength competition, but has risen to the understanding and application of the origin rules of the universe.

Thanos, the overlord of the universe, is famous for his powerful strength and endless ambition.

The power gem in his hand contains endless energy, enough to destroy the entire galaxy.

Luther, on the other hand, is able to see through the nature of the universe and master the profound knowledge of multiple fields of physics, such as quantum mechanics, relativity, and string theory.

Their battle is a contest of knowledge and a collision of wisdom.

Thanos's attack is not only a physical destruction, but also an interference with Luther's state of existence.

Each of his attacks can cause fluctuations in the universe.

He tried to use the energy of the power gem to distort the space-time continuum and create tiny black holes.

These black holes are formed in high-dimensional space, and their gravity is strong enough to distort the surrounding space-time structure. This is based on the description of gravity in general relativity, that is, mass can bend space-time.

However, Luther is not an opponent that can be easily defeated.

He has a deep understanding of high-dimensional space and can manipulate matter and energy at the quantum level.

In the world of quantum mechanics, particles can be in a superposition of multiple states until they collapse into a certain state when they are observed.

Luther used this principle to create a series of complex quantum entangled states, so that Thanos' attacks are often neutralized before reaching the target.

Quantum entanglement is a phenomenon whereby two or more particles can instantly affect each other's state even at opposite ends of the universe. This connection beyond time and space allows Luther to stay one step ahead in battle.

This is the phenomenon of quantum entanglement in quantum mechanics, where two or more particles can form a connection that can instantly affect each other's state even if they are far apart.

Going a step further, Luther can also jump between different parallel universes.

In the many-worlds interpretation, every time a quantum event occurs, the universe splits into multiple versions, each with a different outcome.

Luther's ability to freely travel between these parallel universes makes it difficult for Thanos to capture his exact location.

In the theory of relativity, strong gravity can distort space-time and form so-called "wormholes", which can theoretically connect different areas of the universe or even different universes.

Luther uses these wormholes to move across the universe.

"No, I can't compare to him in this regard!"

Thanos soon realized this. After all, he was limited by his own brain and perception. Even if the power gem can be transformed, does an ant know how to transform itself into a human?

He was limited by his own brain and perception, and could not manipulate high-dimensional space and quantum-level matter and energy as easily as Luther.

Although the power gem is powerful, it is just a tool after all, and it cannot make up for Thanos's lack of knowledge and wisdom.

In contrast, Luther seems to be as easy as drinking water and eating. The advantage of the super brain in this regard is too great.

Can't go on!

Thanos intends to take a risk and use his understanding and knowledge plus the power gem to defeat Luther in one fell swoop. Otherwise, if he continues, he will definitely die and his chances of winning will continue to decline!

Relying on his deep understanding and control of the Power Stone, Thanos tried to create a new energy entity to counter Luther's ability to manipulate in high-dimensional space.

Chapter 603 Super Brain and Super Intelligence at their Best

The battle between Thanos and Luther has touched the forefront of physics.

Thanos' plan is to use the concepts in string theory to create an energy entity that matches the high-dimensional space by adjusting the energy vibrations of himself and the power gem.

This move not only shows Thanos' deep understanding of the basic units of the universe, but also highlights that his ability to control the power gem has reached a new height.

He has made some progress in his battle with Luther!

Under the framework of string theory, the basic units of the universe are no longer the particles we are familiar with, but one-dimensional strings.

These strings can present the forms of various particles and forces we observe under different vibration modes.

Thanos has grasped the essence of this theory and created an energy entity that can match the high-dimensional space by precisely adjusting the energy vibration.

This energy entity not only carries Thanos' consciousness, but also integrates the infinite energy of the power gem.

This makes it theoretically capable of fighting any form of energy, whether it is Luther's high-dimensional space ability or any other form of cosmic power.

In this new dimension, Thanos became the creator and master, and he could shape the rules and environment of this dimension according to his own ideas and wishes.

He used his control over the power gem to create a powerful gravitational field, which not only attracted Luther's energy and consciousness, but also limited Luther's quantum entanglement and parallel universe jumping ability.

In this dimension, Thanos became the absolute ruler, and every idea of his could become a reality immediately.

However, Luther was not an easy person to deal with. He felt the attraction of this new dimension and realized Thanos' plan.

"Amazing."

Luther sighed that Thanos had been able to respond to him in a way that surprised him.

He thought that he could kill Thanos with his super brain.

The attraction of the new dimension was very strong, attracting Luther's energy and consciousness.

Luther was amazed at Thanos's response, flexibility and wisdom, which was much better than the Thanos in the movie, but he did not back down.

On the contrary, he began to mobilize more cosmic forces to compete fiercely with the new dimension.

Luther first used the principle of entanglement in quantum mechanics to connect his consciousness and energy with Thanos' dimension.

Quantum entanglement is a magical phenomenon that allows two or more particles to share their states instantly at any distance.

Through this connection, Luther was able to sense every move and intention of Thanos, so that his attacks could no longer harm him, but would instead be used by him to enhance his own power.

Then, Luther used the concept of multidimensional space in string theory to create tiny cracks in Thanos' dimension.

These cracks are actually energy instabilities caused by different vibration modes of the string.

In high-dimensional space, these cracks can be regarded as the breaking points of the string, which continue to expand and eventually tear the entire dimension apart.

Thanos' consciousness and energy were swallowed up by these cracks and could no longer maintain the stability of the dimension.

In this process, Luther also used the theory of cosmic expansion.

He used the power of expansion to accelerate the collapse process of the dimension.

This caused Thanos' power to dissipate rapidly in a very short time and could no longer pose a threat to Luther.

The theory of cosmic expansion describes the rapid expansion of the universe after the Big Bang, which is due to the energy density and dark energy in the universe.

By simulating this expansion, Luther made the dimension created by Thanos unable to withstand the internal energy pressure, causing it to collapse.

However, Thanos is not a person who gives up easily.

At the last moment of the dimension collapse, he fought like a trapped beast, frantically condensing his remaining consciousness and energy.

He used his deep understanding of the rules of the universe to twist these invisible forces into a ball, forming an energy ball shining with a strange light.

This energy ball contains Thanos's last stubbornness and anger, trying to launch a final counterattack against Luther.

Luther stood at the intersection of time and space, and his super brain was like a high-speed computer, quickly analyzing the trajectory and speed of the energy ball.

Countless complex formulas and images flashed in his mind, which were his deep understanding of quantum mechanics, relativity, and multidimensional space theory.

In high-dimensional space, Luther's quantum entanglement ability allowed him to perceive every tiny change in the energy ball. He cleverly used this information to avoid Thanos' attack in an almost impossible way.

However, Luther's counterattack has just begun.

After calculating the trajectory of the energy ball, Luther showed his unparalleled control ability.

He used his quantum entanglement ability to cleverly guide the trajectory of the energy ball.

The energy ball drew a strange arc in the air, and then suddenly changed direction and flew towards Thanos himself.

This counterattack not only demonstrated Luther's profound understanding of quantum mechanics, but also reflected his unparalleled control ability in high-dimensional space.

Like a magician, he turned Thanos' attack into his own use and gave him a taste of his own medicine.

This counterattack was like a thunderbolt, causing Thanos to suffer unprecedented damage.

His consciousness and energy fled in all directions under the impact of the energy ball, and the originally stable state collapsed instantly.

At this moment, Thanos realized that he might really fail.

And Luther took this opportunity to launch the final attack.

He mobilized all the forces in the universe and gathered them into a dazzling beam of light. This was not just a beam of light, but an ultimate attack that contained all the energy forms of the universe.

This beam of light contained a combination of electromagnetic force, strong force, weak force, and even gravity. It could penetrate any matter and destroy all obstacles in front of it.

As long as it hits, Thanos will definitely be attacked by this force, his power will completely collapse, and his consciousness and energy will be completely destroyed.

However, at this critical moment, a golden infinite glove suddenly appeared and blocked Thanos.

The green infinite gem on the glove shone with brilliant green light. That was the power of the time gem, which could manipulate the passage of time and even change the trajectory of history.

"Time gem, the future Thanos?"

Luther realized that this was the future Thanos, who used the power of the time gem to travel through time and space to come here and block this fatal blow for his past version.

Although this kind of intervention across time is feasible in theory, it is extremely difficult in practice and requires an extremely deep understanding and control over the flow of time.

Chapter 604 Keep your word, if you say you will kill his whole family, then kill his whole family.

Luther was a little surprised, but not surprised.

Even if the original Thanos did not show this ability, it was the Time Stone, and that was Thanos.

It is not surprising that the two sides combined to do this.

From the perspective of physics, the ability of the Time Stone involves the deep principles of quantum mechanics.

Quantum mechanics tells us that the passage of time is not fixed, but there are tiny fluctuations and uncertainties.

The Time Stone is likely to use this uncertainty to achieve the control of time in some unknown way.

As a cosmic existence, Thanos' wisdom and power are enough to allow him to understand this deep principle and learn to use it.

He is different from other life forms that have obtained the Time Stone. They may not be able to exert their true power because they cannot understand its deep principles.

But Thanos is different. He has wisdom and insight beyond ordinary people and can see through the mystery.

Taking this opportunity, the current Thanos' consciousness once again communicated with the Power Stone and his Infinity Gauntlet, and then used the operation learned from Luther to tear the space and escape.

Space tearing involves the deep application of space dimension.

In physics, space is a multi-dimensional existence, and tearing space is to break the barriers between these dimensions and achieve a leap from one space to another.

This requires extremely high energy and precise operation, but Thanos did it.

He used the power of the power gem, coupled with a deep understanding of the spatial dimension, to successfully tear the space and escape from Luther's control.

The five generals of the Black Order and the Dark Order were left in place, at a loss.

They had just witnessed an unimaginable battle, but they couldn't understand what was going on.

In their eyes, the battle between Luther and Thanos had exceeded their cognitive scope, and they could only stand there helplessly, watching Thanos escape.

Luther did not continue to pursue Thanos.

He said from the beginning that his goal was not to destroy Thanos, but to deprive him of everything and make him a lonely man.

If you really want to kill Thanos, you don't need to be so troublesome.

Luther was just playing just now. He himself has surpassed the single universe. Playing with Thanos is purely a game within the universe. No matter how much Thanos struggles, it is impossible to affect the outside of the universe.

The power of the Infinity Stones is very strong. Theoretically, each one has the power of a single universe, provided that it can be used to its limit.

But even if it is used to its limit, it is not Luther's opponent.

The power of the Infinity Stones may be able to change most things in the universe, and even affect the balance of the entire universe, but in front of Luther, these are just child's play.

As a being with incomparable knowledge and wisdom, his understanding of the Infinity Stones far exceeds that of Thanos.

He knows how to use the power of these stones, and also knows how to limit and resist these powers.

Thanos developed the use of space dimensions based on the power stone, which is a manifestation of his deeper understanding of the rule of "power".

He estimated that he would not dare to appear in front of Luther if he could not get the space stone next.

Because only by getting the space stone can he limit and target Luther's high-dimensional space manipulation and perception based on what he has just learned and his own understanding.

But at that time, Luther will reveal a new trump card to play with him.

Even if Thanos collects all the Infinity Stones and obtains the power of the multiverse level, it doesn't matter. He will ascend to heaven in one step. The lack of knowledge and wisdom will allow Luther to challenge him and tell him what "knowledge is power" means!

"Your Majesty, how are they going to deal with it?"

When the people of the Galactic Empire saw the battle was over, they all stepped forward to ask.

They witnessed the battle of their emperor with their own eyes and were very excited. Is this the power of his majesty?

As for the Dark Order and the Five Obsidian Generals, they now only have fear and despair.

They know that they have become the victims between Luther and Thanos. They don't know what their future will be like, and can only pray that they can survive this disaster.

"People should keep their words. If you say that you want to make Thanos a lonely man, you must make Thanos a lonely man, annihilate them, and send Boros off."

Luther said calmly.

With Luther's order, the army of the Galactic Empire began to move.

They quickly and orderly launched the annihilation of the Dark Order and the Five Obsidian Generals.

This was a battle without suspense. Under the leadership of Luther, the army of the Galactic Empire showed strong strength and unparalleled combat effectiveness.

Soon, the Dark Order and the Five Obsidian Generals were completely annihilated. Their bodies were thrown into the depths of the universe and became Boros's burial objects.

If Thanos did not get the Time Stone and the Reality Stone, it would be impossible for him to revive the Dark Order and the Black Order.

In other words, he really became a lone man. Even if he could raise a team again, it would be impossible for him to be comparable to the Dark Order that has developed over the years.

The embarrassed Thanos appeared on an uninhabited planet, and his figure looked lonely and desolate.

The overlord who once ruled the universe was now like an abandoned wreckage, lifeless.

He tried his best to use the Power Stone to gather his energy and consciousness again and reshape his body.

However, the previous majesty and domineering power seemed to have disappeared with this heavy injury.

Thanos knows that loss and trauma are not easy to recover from.

Although the Power Stone was powerful and could theoretically repair his wounds, he couldn't.

He does not have this understanding or knowledge.

Everything in the field of consciousness or at the spiritual level can only be understood superficially by Thanos.

He was unable to understand those complex psychic phenomena and consciousness structures, let alone use power gems to repair them.

"Mind gem..."

Thanos murmured softly, a trace of desire flashing in his eyes.

He remembered that among the six Infinity Stones, the Mind Stone had the power to manipulate and shape the mind.

Only the Mind Stone could restore the trauma to his consciousness. Otherwise, he speculated that it would probably take him nearly a thousand years to recover from the damage suffered this time.

This time was undoubtedly a long torture for him.

The Mind Stone is not that easy to find.

So Thanos knew he had to find other ways.

First, he thought of the magicians in the universe.

In many civilizations, magic is regarded as a mysterious force that can affect reality and even change the trajectory of life.

Chapter 605 The Escape Duo

Thanos knew that if he could find a powerful magician, he might be able to heal his consciousness trauma through the power of magic.

He began to look for those legendary magic holy places in the universe, hoping to find a magician willing to help him.

In addition to magicians, Thanos also thought of superpowers.

In some corners of the universe, some life forms are born with extraordinary abilities. They can move objects through thoughts and even read other people's minds.

Thanos hopes to find such superpowers, who may be able to help him restore the integrity of his consciousness in some way.

At the same time, Thanos also thought of some special races in the universe.

These races may have unique physiological structures and mental powers, and their research on consciousness may far exceed that of other civilizations.

Thanos hopes to find such races and learn their knowledge and technology to repair his consciousness.

Finally, Thanos considered the science and technology in the universe.

In some civilizations in the universe, the level of science and technology has reached an incredible height.

They may have invented advanced technology or drugs that can heal consciousness trauma.

Thanos decided that he needed to find these civilizations, explore their scientific and technological achievements, and find ways to restore consciousness.

Of course, Thanos prefers to learn and master such abilities by himself.

He is a studious and motivated person.

After playing with Thanos, Luther felt bored again.

The earth has just been tossed around, and there is no way to continue to tossing around. They have to be given some time to ease up. Moreover, the appearance of the Supreme Sorcerer Ancient One has already explained her attitude.

He never showed up before, and now he shows up, which means that this is already the limit.

At least, wait until I retire, and then you can do whatever you want!

Although the power of the Time Stone is not so invincible for Luther.

He has countless ways to kill the Supreme Sorcerer Ancient One, even if the other party adds the energy drawn from the dark dimension.

The abilities possessed by high-dimensional creatures far exceed the understanding of low-dimensional creatures.

As a high-dimensional creature, Luther's perception and control of time are incomparable to Ancient One.

In the low-dimensional world, time is linear and irreversible, while in the high-dimensional space, time may show nonlinear, reversible or even multi-dimensional characteristics.

This means that Luther can move freely on the timeline and even exist at different points in time at the same time.

He can foresee the future, go back to the past, and even create branches on different timelines.

This ability allows Luther to easily predict and evade the Ancient One's attacks when fighting against the Ancient One, and even formulate a response strategy before the Ancient One launches an attack.

In addition, Luther's control of space is also unmatched by the Ancient One.

In high-dimensional space, space is no longer a simple three-dimensional structure, but a multi-dimensional structure that can be bent, folded, and twisted.

Luther can use the characteristics of this space to create a complex space structure to trap the Ancient One, or directly remove the Ancient One from the current space.

Although the Ancient One can use the energy of the dark dimension, this energy may not have enough power in the high-dimensional space, because the physical laws of the high-dimensional space are completely different from those of the low-dimensional space.

In terms of perception, the perception ability of high-dimensional creatures is also unmatched by low-dimensional creatures.

Luther can perceive multi-dimensional information that the Ancient One cannot perceive, including the Ancient One's energy field, thinking patterns, and even potential intentions.

This perception ability allows Luther to always take the initiative in the confrontation. He can easily understand the tactics and strategies of the Ancient One and formulate corresponding countermeasures accordingly.

Finally, as a high-dimensional creature, Luther's consciousness and existence may also exceed the understanding of the Ancient One.

In high-dimensional space, life may no longer exist in material form, but in the form of energy, information or even ideology.

This means that Luther can exist and act in a way that the Ancient One cannot understand, and his attacks and defenses may come from a level that the Ancient One cannot perceive.

In summary, from a physics point of view, low-dimensional creatures face huge challenges in defeating high-dimensional creatures.

In terms of perception, time and space manipulation, high-dimensional creatures have an overwhelming advantage.

Because there are more interesting things that attract Luther's attention.

"Loki and Ultron go their separate ways. Ultron intends to build his own Ultron Empire by mass-producing Saiyans and robots, and Loki also intends to build the Loki Empire by relying on Raditz and Nabal..."

They didn't leave far either, and Ultron was heading for the wormhole in the solar system.

In this universe, wormholes have become the key to achieving intergalactic travel.

A wormhole, also known as an "Einstein-Rosen bridge", is a hypothetical cosmic structure that connects two distant points in the universe.

Through a wormhole, faster-than-light travel can be achieved, thus spanning huge cosmic distances.

Ultron is planning to use the wormhole in the solar system to travel to other galaxies, because Emperor Luther is in the solar system, and the solar system is targeted by the Saiyans, so Ultron doesn't want to stay here any longer.

The structure of the universe is complex and delicate.

According to the theory of modern cosmology, the universe presents a honeycomb structure on a large scale, which is the result of the combined effect of the expansion of the universe and the gravitational effect of dark matter.

The space nodes in this structure, also known as "cosmic voids", are areas in the universe where matter is relatively scarce, and they are connected to each other through the "cosmic Great Wall".

The intersections of these voids and the Great Wall are potential space nodes, which may be ideal locations for cosmic jumps.

The space nodes of the solar system are believed to be located on Titan, a satellite with a unique atmosphere that is unique in the solar system.

At this node, the degree of distortion of space has reached an extremely high level.

This distortion causes a special folding phenomenon in space here, thus forming a channel to other galaxies.

Loki chose another way, through the secret passage of the world tree, walked out of the connection between the nine worlds and the world tree, and left the solar system!

For example, the dwarf planet Nidavellor, which is also a branch of the world tree, is obviously not in the solar system, but in an extremely distant star field, otherwise, the gravitational field caused by the neutron star is no joke.

Wherever the branches of the world tree extend, the secret passages are everywhere, but these secret passages are usually difficult to find.

Chapter 606: The Transcendent

Luo Ji is obviously not among them. She can naturally discover these secret passages and then leave the solar system directly through these secret passages.

"Okay, let's knock down all the places they can go to first."

Luther said with interest.

It's time for the Galactic Empire to become worthy of its name, otherwise, it will be a little difficult to take action.

"Maybe I should get a group of Kryptonians to come over?"

Luther felt that since Ultron and the others already had Saiyans, he had to be more distinctive.

Anyway, he is no longer afraid of the Doomsday. Even if it is the ancient Doomsday, he can kill it.

Moreover, Luther himself can lock in the mutations of Kryptonians.

"The only authentic Kryptonians are those from the DC universe."

Luther then returned to the DC Universe. This was his persistence in pursuing the original version! DC Universe!

However, when Luther actually stepped into this universe, he was surprised to find that he was not in the DC universe he originally knew, but in a completely different parallel universe.

The atmosphere of this universe was a little different from what he imagined. There was a soft and sacred atmosphere in the air.

Luther felt a powerful archangel power surrounding him, as if he could immediately integrate into this power and become a real archangel if he wanted to.

However, Luther was not fooled by this power.

He had already experienced a similar experience and knew the temptation and illusion of this power.

He is just an archangel of the DC universe, can he be compared to his infinite world, the transcendent of the infinite universe?

"Get away, you damn powers!"

Luther said dismissively.

As his voice fell, the power of the Archangel seemed to be expelled by some force and slowly dispersed from his side. Luther took a deep breath and felt the unique atmosphere of this parallel universe.

He knew that if he wanted to return to the DC universe he originally traveled through, he needed to find a way to travel through it.

He closed his eyes and began to use the power of his mind to perceive the structure and rules of the universe.

Soon, Luther locked the location of the DC universe he originally traveled through.

He concentrated and prepared to travel through the past. However, at this moment, he suddenly felt a strong resistance.

He opened his eyes and found a thick barrier of light energy appearing in front of him.

No, to be more precise, it was a seal condensed by holy light, sealing the passage to his original universe.

Luther frowned.

He tried to use all the knowledge and wisdom he had to break the seal, but no matter how hard he tried, the layer of holy light would not move at all.

He couldn't help but feel helpless and angry.

This supreme God is such a fun person!

Not only did they send him to this strange parallel universe, they also set up such a seal to trap him.

Luther was unwilling to be trapped like this.

He continued to try various methods to break the seal, but failed. He couldn't help but start to wonder, what on earth does this supreme God want to do?

Luther felt that the Supreme God was a happy person. Now he felt that this man was not only a happy person, but also a super happy person.

The troublesome kind.

If you look at OAA, there aren't that many things going on.

"Okay."

Luther compromised. He didn't know what the Supreme God wanted to do. Anyway, he tried, his strongest blow, and used all kinds of proud knowledge and wisdom, but he couldn't shake the holy light at all. Luther Just gave up.

Anyway, he has the power of transcendence, and he is even more powerful than Superboy-Prime. Even the Supreme God cannot trap him. As long as Luther wants to, he can time-travel and leave the DC universe.

You cannot travel to other DC universes, but you can leave the DC universe.

He came to Gotham City, a city forever shrouded in shadow, like a huge black fortress, full of darkness and evil.

The buildings on both sides of the street are towering but dilapidated, as if they have witnessed the vicissitudes and pain of the city.

As night falls, the streets of Gotham City become even more eerie.

Luther stood on a tall building, overlooking the entire city. His eyes passed through the layers of fog and fell on Batman, who was fighting fiercely with the gangsters.

Batman wears a black tights, and the bat logo on his chest shines coldly in the moonlight. He has a strong body, quick movements, and can accurately hit the target every time he takes a shot.

However, facing a large number of gangsters, he also seemed to be struggling. From time to time, he was suppressed by the firepower of the gangsters and was unable to fight back.

Luther looked at this scene thoughtfully, and he knew in his heart that although this Batman was very skilled, he obviously still lacked enough experience and skills.

"It looks like he's the newly minted Batman."

Luther observed the battle below thoughtfully.

If it were Batman in his mature stage, he would have probably eliminated these gangsters in a few strokes. But now, Batman seems to be still groping and learning, and he seems a little powerless in the face of so many enemies.

As a result, Luther changed.

Subtle changes begin to occur in the body. His whole body was gradually covered by a layer of pitch-black armor. The armor was made of an unknown metal, strong yet light.

The golden lines flow on the black armor, just like the circuits of a circuit board, full of a sense of technology and science fiction style.

Luther's helmet was embedded with a crystal mask, covering his face.

There are complex sensors and display systems inside the mask, which can provide him with a full range of information and perception capabilities.

The streamlined armor makes Luther look more majestic, and the thick armor at the joints provides him with better protection.

He put on a black cape, and he seemed to be a ghost in the night, appearing quietly next to Batman.

Batman instinctively felt the change in the aura around him, and he did a roundhouse kick without looking back. However, his attack failed and he only felt a cold wind passing by him.

He turned around suddenly, only to find that there was another figure in front of him.

The black cloak fluttered in the wind, as if he was a demon coming out of hell.

"What a mess, Batman." Luther's voice was cold and low, as if with a hint of ridicule.

Batman frowned. He had never seen this man and didn't know his intentions. He stared at Luther warily, ready for a fight.

"Who are you?" Batman asked in a low voice that is unique to the person who cannot understand what he is saying without reading the subtitles.

"Gotham City's new superhero, you can call me - The Beyonder."

Luther replied.

His voice echoed inside the helmet, appearing extremely clear and powerful.

"The Transcendent?"

Chapter 607 Record Files

Batman's brows furrowed tightly, and his deep eyes seemed to be able to see through all darkness.

At this moment, he was concentrating on thinking about the meaning of the name "Transcendent".

However, despite the vast amount of information stored in Batman's mind, he was unable to find any clues about the "Beyond" from his own memory.

The name was completely unknown to him, which made him feel a little uneasy.

After all, what Batman wants most is to be in control of every situation, not to have situations arise that he doesn't understand.

Of course, it is also possible that the transcendent is nothing.

Just as Batman was deep in thought, the gangsters' attacks became more violent.

They were armed with guns and fired wildly at Batman and Beyond.

The bullets hit like dense raindrops, making a sharp whistling sound that made people shudder.

"careful!"

Batman yelled, warning the Beyonder to take cover.

However, he did not forget his duty - to protect the innocent.

Although he does not know the true identity and intentions of the Beyonder, he still decides to stand up and protect this ordinary person who may just simply worship superheroes.

What if he is not a powerful guy, but just an ordinary person?

Batman subconsciously wanted to swoop down to protect Luther and use his own body to block the bullet for him.

However, at this moment, he felt a strong force grabbing his hand.

He turned around and saw that Luther had grabbed his hand and led him through the streets at an alarming speed.

Batman's pupils shrank, and he could hardly believe his eyes.

He felt as if he was being sucked into an invisible vortex, and the surrounding scenery was moving backwards rapidly.

Driven by this force, he and Luther actually passed through the entire battlefield unscathed amidst the intensive firepower of the gangsters.

When they stopped, Batman found himself behind the gangsters.

He looked back and saw Luther standing there with a faint smile on his face.

The feeling just now made him both surprised and curious, and he couldn't help but want to explore the source of this power.

Luther didn't expect that Batman would want to protect others in this situation instead of instinctively avoiding bullets, so he also helped Batman.

Then, Luther moved extremely quickly, barely giving Batman much time to think.

He took action decisively, and his hand seemed to be equipped with some kind of special device, which emitted a faint light in the night, making it appear both mysterious and dangerous.

Luther's fingers lightly touched the firearms in the hands of the gangsters. In an instant, those solid steel weapons began to twist uncontrollably.

Their originally straight lines became twisted and weird, as if they had been kneaded by some invisible force, completely losing their original shape and function.

At the same time, the gangsters' hands began to undergo mutations.

Their palms also began to twist and deform the moment Luther touched the gun, and there seemed to be some kind of force tearing under the skin, causing them excruciating pain.

The screams came one after another, echoing in the silent night air, which was terrifying.

Batman witnessed all this, and his heart was filled with shock and awe.

Such a strange and powerful ability was completely beyond his cognition.

He couldn't help but want to explore the true identity and origin of this mysterious man-Luther.

However, this is not the time to think about this.

Batman quickly came to his senses, and he understood that the most important thing now was to stop the gangsters' attacks and protect the safety of innocent people.

He used his fighting skills and extraordinary strength to quickly rush towards the gangsters who had lost their fighting ability and subdue them one by one.

Luther was not idle either. He used the special device in his hand to continue attacking the gangsters. With the combined efforts of the two, the gangsters were quickly subdued and could no longer pose a threat to innocent citizens.

After the battle, Batman and Luther stood in a mess. Batman's eyes revealed curiosity and vigilance about Luther's abilities, while Luther had a relaxed smile on his face, as if all this was just a piece of cake for him.

"Who are you?"

Batman finally couldn't help but ask.

"I have already said that I am the transcendent."

Luther replied with a smile.

"Your abilities are too dangerous, Transcendent."

Batman said in a deep voice.

"Oh? Then what are you going to do? After I deal with a group of gangsters, are you going to take action against me?"

Luther asked defiantly.

Batman was silent for a moment, and then said: "No, I won't attack you. But I will keep an eye on you and hope you don't become a criminal."

Luther shrugged and said, "Same here, Batman."

There was a defiance and confidence in his words.

The atmosphere between the two suddenly became tense, as if a fight would break out at any time.

"See you next time, Batman."

Then Luther suddenly laughed and said.

After saying that, his figure suddenly disappeared, leaving Batman staring warily in the direction he disappeared.

Batman looked at Luther's leaving figure, filled with doubts and vigilance.

He knew that this mysterious man named "Transcendent" would be the one he needed to focus on in the future.

When Batman returns to Wayne Manor, he tells Alfred what happened tonight.

Alfred is Batman's butler and assistant, and one of his most trusted people.

"Alfred, record the data, file 'Transcendence', the ability to move at high speed and twist force, suspected to be a gravity generating device." Batman said to the headset.

"It's done, Grandpa."

Alfred's voice came. He has always been Batman's right-hand man, whether it is trivial matters in life or difficult problems at work, he can handle them properly.

"But, sir, don't you think this is a good thing?"

Alfred asked suddenly.

Batman was stunned for a moment, then said: "Alfred, you mean Transcendence?"

"Yes, sir."

Alfred said.

"We have been working hard to maintain peace in Gotham City, but you also know that this is not easy. If more people are willing to stand up and help us, wouldn't it be a good thing?"

Batman was silent for a while, then said: "You are right, Alfred. However, we must be cautious. We can't blindly trust anyone, especially a mysterious person like Transcendence. We need to understand his true purpose and motives."

"I understand, sir."

Alfred said.

"But we can't miss a potential ally because of fear. Perhaps we can try to contact him and see if he is really willing to help us."

Chapter 608 Batman's Analysis and Response

Batman nodded slightly and responded calmly: "Afu, your words make sense. I will think about it deeply."

Alfred looked relieved. It seemed that the young master from home still maintained a clear mind and did not blindly question the other party.

This is undoubtedly a gratifying thing, because in this way, my young master may be able to find a trustworthy partner and comrade-in-arms.

After all, it is too dangerous to fight alone. The more strength you have, the more protection you will have.

Bruce Wayne stared intently at the image of the Beyond captured by the camera inside the Bathelm.

He agrees with Alfred's suggestion. However, before he can truly accept this mysterious figure, he must first reveal the true identity of the Transcendent.

So, he acted quickly, input the image data of the Transcendent into the database, and conducted a detailed comparison between the body shape and the facial model.

This database was established by Bruce Wayne through the citizen files of Gotham City carefully collected by the Wayne Group. It covers information on almost all residents of Gotham City.

Except for those unidentified criminals and stowaways.

However, the results of the comparison were disappointing. No object matching the Transcendent was found in the database.

This means that the Beyonders are likely not native to Gotham City.

Bruce Wayne frowned, pondering the significance of this discovery.

Although he certainly believed that there were pure good people and heroes in the world, given the complex environment of Gotham City, it was difficult for him to believe that there would be such outsiders willing to set foot in this chaotic place.

If there really is such a person, Bruce is not sure whether he is really a pure good person.

"The comparison results are out. Unfortunately, we did not find a match for the Transcendent in Gotham City's archive database..." Bruce Wayne said solemnly.

Alfred walked in with black tea and dinner. When he heard this, he couldn't help but raise another possibility: "Master Bruce, maybe this transcendent has disguised his body to some extent."

Bruce Wayne nodded, he had indeed considered this possibility.

However, in his opinion, this possibility is not high. The structure of the human body has its own inherent laws, and even if it is disguised, it is difficult to completely conceal the true characteristics.

What's more, he has received rigorous training in the Assassin's League and has an in-depth understanding of the human body's structure.

By observing the image of the Transcendent, he was able to confirm that the Transcendent did not make a clever disguise.

Therefore, he was even more convinced that the Beyonder was not a native of Gotham City.

However, that doesn't mean Bruce Wayne can't continue to track down the Beyonder's identity.

As the guardian of Gotham City, he has abundant resources and means.

After all, Gotham City is his home, so it is very easy to obtain the identity files of Gotham City residents.

Although he cannot directly obtain database information from cities outside Gotham City, he can investigate and speculate through other means.

For example, he can analyze the characteristics and behavior patterns of the transcendent and speculate on its possible origins and motivations.

At the same time, he can also formulate corresponding response strategies based on the abilities of the transcendent.

For example, the armor of the Transcendent seemed to be made of all metal, according to his visual inspection.

This made him think of a possible tactic - using the release of electricity to paralyze the Transcendent!

After all, not everyone insulates their suits like he does.

Not to mention that it is an all-metal armor. In order to ensure strength, it is impossible to ensure insulation and isolation.

Also, he noticed that the Beyonder's armor was covered with golden circuit board-like circuits, which was probably the power source of the armor.

Bruce Wayne was lost in thought, knowing that the confrontation with the Beyonder would not be easy.

However, he also firmly believes that as long as he is cautious and smart enough, he will be able to uncover the true face of the Beyonder and find the best way to deal with him.

"Afu, do you think those golden circuit board-like circuits of the Beyonder are the power source of his armor?" Bruce Wayne suddenly asked.

Hearing this, Alfred also carefully recalled the image of the Transcendent. Those golden circuits were indeed very conspicuous.

He nodded and said: "It is indeed possible. Those circuits look like channels for transmitting electricity and energy, and are probably the power source of the armor."

Bruce Wayne was convinced, and he continued his analysis: "If those circuits are really the source of power, then we may be able to paralyze his armor by cutting off these circuits."

After all, the Beyonder's armor is too powerful. However, no matter how powerful the technological armor is, it has an energy supply. As long as its energy supply is cut off, it can be used against him.

"Master Bruce, don't forget, the Transcendent is also very fast. How do you cut off his circuit?"

Alfred nodded in agreement, knowing that Bruce Wayne was always great at tactical planning.

But he also put forward his own opinions.

After all, it can be seen from the image how terrifying the speed of the Transcendent is, and it can even dodge all the bullets so densely packed.

Facing such a terrifying speed, it would be impossible to cut off the circuit of his armor.

"Not to mention, he also has very dangerous weapons."

Alfred went on to say that kind of weapon that seems to be able to twist everything, whose principle is unknown.

Even metal can be easily twisted into a mass, let alone his master's flesh and blood?

"Prepare smoke bombs, smoke bat darts, gloves that release electric current, and bat darts for me."

Bruce nodded, and then suddenly thought of what he was taught in the Assassin's League, attacking people's senses.

He could choose to block the sight of the transcendent first, and then use electric current to knock him down unexpectedly.

In this way, he could avoid close contact with the transcendent. He speculated that the transcendent's weapon should be close contact to achieve the greatest effect.

This undoubtedly made the transcendent very scary, restraining everything and wanting to fight him in close combat.

But Bruce Wayne was flexible in thinking. If he couldn't fight in close combat, he wouldn't fight him in close combat.

"Understood, Master Bruce, I'll have someone prepare it now."

Alfred nodded, and then silently hoped in his heart that his master and the transcendent would not really fight.

But he also agreed with his master's words that necessary preparations were still needed.

This way, when facing the transcendent, they won't be helpless.

Luther read their analysis and preparations with great interest.

Chapter 609 Gotham City needs a transcendent.

Really good, he saw through the secret so quickly.

Luther was amazed. This fledgling Batman could have such a sharp analytical ability. It was really impressive.

However, even if he could see through everything, what could he do?

Luther smiled, because he deliberately exposed the flaws to show the power of the armor, like a gorgeous show-off.

His speed was fast enough to capture the trajectory of the bullet and avoid the fatal shot;

This was the super speed ability of the Transcendent Armor.

And the close-range distortion field was like the tentacles of the devil. Once touched, it could twist and deform the metal like kneading dough and break it into pieces.

This technological armor seemed to be born for close combat, and it seemed to be designed to restrain close combat.

If Batman could notice this and formulate a strategy based on it, Luther would reveal more means.

How could his high-tech armor only have these two abilities? That was just Batman's conjecture.

Luther had already planned in his mind that he would make this armor as changeable as the nano-enhanced suit in Crysis.

At that time, he would activate the power mode, and with one punch, Batman's suit would be reduced to dust;

Or he would activate the armor mode, making Batman's electric shock darts, electric shock gloves and other attacks ineffective;

There is also a stealth mode, which would make Batman fall into the fog and can only passively take the beating without any ability to fight back.

Luther was very excited when he thought of this.

Gotham, the city that never sleeps, is like a giant beast, roaring in the endless night, revealing its hidden chaos and sin.

The towering skyscrapers are like a steel forest, and in the shadows, sin lurks like a snake.

However, in this seemingly unsalvationable darkness, a new light is quietly rising.

He, known as the Beyer, is the new hope of Gotham City and the nightmare of those criminals.

He is different from Batman, the guardian who adheres to the doctrine of non-killing.

The Beyer's methods are more direct and more cruel. He believed that the best punishment for those criminals who committed crimes was to completely deprive them of the ability to commit evil.

In the hands of the Transcendent, those once arrogant criminals became like kites with broken strings, and their hands and feet were twisted into incredible shapes, like twists.

This kind of pain was enough to make them spend the rest of their lives in regret and pain. And such a punishment also made those criminals completely lose the ability to commit crimes again.

Policeman Gordon stood in front of the window of the police station, looking deeply at the city guarded by the Transcendent outside the window.

He was both happy and worried. He was happy that Gotham City finally had a superhero who could really deter criminals; he was worried that the Transcendent's methods were too cruel and would cause greater social problems.

"He was too cruel."

Gordon muttered to himself, his brows furrowed, as if he was thinking about whether the Transcendent's behavior was appropriate.

He knew that the appearance of the Transcendent had significantly improved the public security in Gotham City, and those once arrogant criminals were now hiding in dark corners and dared not show up easily.

However, he also knew that such a method was not a long-term solution.

However, the Transcendent did not seem to care about this.

He continued to patrol the streets and alleys of Gotham City, looking for those hidden criminals.

His figure was like a ghost, always appearing when he was most needed, bringing a fatal blow to those criminals.

His reputation quickly spread in Gotham City and became a legend among people.

"The Transcendent, he is our savior!"

"Gotham needs the Transcendent, not Batman!"

"I really love the Transcendent, he is so cool."

Citizens were talking about it in the streets and alleys, and their faces were filled with long-lost smiles. They knew that with the Transcendent, Gotham City finally had a glimmer of hope for peace.

However, not everyone appreciated the Transcendent's behavior.

Some people thought that his methods were too cruel and did not meet the standards of justice. They began to organize and try to stop the Transcendent's actions.

These opponents began to post comments on social media to criticize the Transcendent's behavior.

"He could have just stopped them instead of hurting them!"

"Oh my God, don't you think his behavior is too cruel?"

"He is simply a demon. My innocent cousin who was passing by had his hands and feet twisted by him."

"He doesn't respect human rights at all!"

They even organized some protests to try to attract more attention.

But their voices were soon drowned out by those who were grateful to the Transcendent.

Bruce Wayne. He looked at the news reports with mixed feelings.

They were all about the Transcendent.

Who made him the supernova of Gotham City and the most popular person in Gotham City.

He didn't approve of the other party's behavior, but the Transcendent did not do evil. He was enforcing justice and didn't kill anyone.

It just made them live a life worse than death.

This made Bruce Wayne very worried.

He was worried that the Transcendent would get out of control!

Excessive violence can easily lead people astray and lose control.

"I have to talk to him."

Bruce finally decided.

He doesn't want to meddle in other people's affairs, nor does he want to interfere with other people's affairs with his own opinions.

He just didn't want a hero to go astray and lose control.

That night, he prepared everything.

Including the equipment that was previously developed for the Transcendent, as well as special training with Alfred, and simulated combat with a 100% winning rate for the Transcendent.

He pursued that no matter what the environment, he would defeat the Transcendent 100%. Even if he couldn't do it by only 1%, it would be a failure for him.

Under the moonlight, Batman unfolded his cape, like a big human-shaped bat.

He stood on a tall building, overlooking Gotham City.

Then he heard gunshots from the Gotham Port.

The Gotham Port is a place where there is never a lack of sin, because even if the port is just a piece of land, it means a steady stream of money.

So the sin there is the most dense and sinful in Gotham City.

"The gunshots are very intense. It seems that they have encountered an unimaginably difficult enemy."

Batman watched coldly. Whether the Transcendent is there or not, he has to go over to take a look.

Then he jumped down from the tall building, and his cape turned into a hang glider, taking him quickly to the Gotham City Port.

At this time, the Gotham City Port was very busy.

A group of drug dealers who were trading drugs here opened fire and attacked the Transcendence who suddenly appeared.

Chapter 610 The Battle for the Bottom Line

The Transcendent opposite looked calm and unhurried. He stood still, but all the bullets passed through his body.

"Damn it, it's the ghost movement of the Transcendent!"

"I heard it's called super speed?"

"No matter what it is, we just need to seal off all the spaces where he can hide!"

After the drug dealers saw this scene, they were no longer as shocked as before.

Because the Transcendent has demonstrated this ability too many times.

At first, the criminals thought they were attacking a ghost, or that the Transcendent used projection technology to trick them into wasting bullets.

Then they gradually came to know that none of this was the truth. The truth was the transcendent's high-tech armor exclusive ability, super speed technology!

I don't know who said it, but it suddenly became mainstream knowledge.

The person who made the disclosure claimed to have obtained the exclusive information, but in fact it was Luther himself who revealed it.

He even explained the principle of super speed technology. After all, he wanted to increase his persuasiveness and fool a certain little bat.

This super-speed technology actually combines cutting-edge technologies in multiple fields such as bioelectricity, neuroscience, and materials engineering.

First of all, the study of bioelectricity has allowed scientists to understand that the human body's nerve signals are propagated in the nervous system in the form of electrical signals.

Advances in neuroscience have enabled a deeper understanding of how these signals control muscle contraction and relaxation to produce movement.

By stimulating and accelerating the nerve reflex speed of the human body's bioelectricity with electric current, the transcendent's muscles can react in a very short time, reaching a speed beyond ordinary people.

This technology can accelerate the speed of human nerve reflexes to an incredible degree.

Through this technology, the Transcendent can react in a very short time and even dodge the bullet while it is flying.

This ability has shown great advantages in actual combat, allowing the Beyonder to remain calm and safe in the face of a hail of bullets.

However, drug dealers do not give up easily.

They began trying to block all of the Beyonder's hiding spaces, trying to force him to be unable to use his super speed technology.

But at this moment, another ability of the Transcendent - the distortion field - began to come into play.

The Transcendent walked directly into the hail of bullets. The bullets hit his armor, but when he was still a fist away, they were all distorted by the distortion force field generator.

Under the influence of the force field, the bullets were all twisted into clumps or fragmented, losing their forward momentum and becoming harmless.

This twisting force field technology is based on advanced physics principles, especially in-depth research in the fields of quantum mechanics and electromagnetism.

The Beyonder's armor is equipped with a special energy field generator that can generate and control powerful magnetic and electric fields.

As the bullet approaches, these fields interact, creating twisting forces that alter the bullet's flight path and render it ineffective.

The Transcendent's actions were swift and precise, and his appearance was like a ghost, making drug dealers feel unprecedented fear.

He was so fast that drug dealers could barely catch him.

The figure of the Beyonder shuttled between them, and every contact brought devastating consequences.

When the Beyonder's fingers lightly touched the guns and arms of the drug dealers, a strange phenomenon occurred.

The hard metal and flesh underwent huge deformation in an instant, as if they were twisted and squeezed by invisible forces.

This is the effect of the twisting force exerted by the Transcendent, a force powerful enough to alter the structure of matter.

The twisting force is a mechanical principle based on physics, especially in the fields of material mechanics and elasticity.

The ability of the transcendent is actually to change the molecular structure inside the object through precise control of the local force field, thereby achieving the effect of distorting the shape of the object.

The application of this kind of power requires extremely high precision and control, and the Beyonder's high-tech armor provides just such technical support.

"Ahhh, my hand!"

"No, don't do this, don't hurt me!"

"I surrender, the Transcendent lets me go!"

The drug dealers screamed and fell down one after another. Some even fainted from the heart-wrenching pain, foaming at the mouth and convulsing all over.

What's even more terrifying is that because the distortion force of the Transcendents is distorted together with their firearms, their arms become twisted at the same time.

The fragments of the firearm and a large number of metal fragments were also entangled with their arms. They were indistinguishable from each other, becoming one among you and one among me.

Even the most astute surgeons in the world would not be able to separate these flesh-and-blood metal fragments from their arms.

"Stop it, Transcendent!"

Batman suddenly appeared, his voice echoing in the night sky with unquestionable determination.

"Batman, what's wrong? Are you going to stop me? You know, I made Gotham City a better place."

Luther mocked, his voice full of confidence.

Batman walked forward slowly, his eyes burning as he stared at Luther closely.

There was no expression on his face, but his deep eyes revealed incomparable determination.

"No, I'm here to help you, Beyonders!" Batman's voice was calm and powerful.

Luther raised his eyebrows. He was obviously surprised by Batman's words.

"Help me? What you see now is that I am the most popular superhero in Gotham City. Everyone loves the Beyer. I also met an enthusiastic female fan tonight who insisted that I go to her house to sit. In comparison, Batman, do you think you are perfect?" Luther's words were full of provocation.

Batman was unmoved. He said calmly: "I admit my shortcomings, and for this I am also prepared to fall into the abyss. But you are different, the transcendent. I did not see anything from your words. Your bottom line."

"Bottom line? Are you talking about your principle of not killing people?"

Luther sneered.

"Stop joking about your ridiculous bottom line. In this city full of crime, sometimes killing is a necessary means."

Batman shook his head, and his voice became more serious: "Killing will corrode people's hearts, and unchecked power will give birth to the devil. You may feel that you are doing justice, but what you have done has exceeded the bottom line."

"Over the line?"

Luther sneered, "Then tell me, what is justice? Is it like you, watching criminals accept the punishment of the law, and then go free in the blink of an eye, and be helpless?"
