

Kryptonian 611

Chapter 611 Achievement

Batman took a deep breath and his eyes became firmer: "Justice is not simple killing and revenge, it requires wisdom and courage. We need to protect those who are weak and keep them from harm. Not like you Same, use violence to solve problems."

Luther snorted disdainfully: "The law of the jungle is the law of nature. This is even more true in a sin-filled place like Gotham City. I'm just doing what I think is right."

Batman was silent for a moment, and then said slowly: "Maybe your approach can achieve some results in the short term, but in the long run, it will only plunge Gotham City into deeper chaos and darkness. What we need is order and Peace, not more violence and hatred."

Luther sneered: "Peace? Order? Those things only exist in your fantasy. In this real world, only the strong can survive."

"Beyond, you need to stop. What you're doing will only make Gotham City worse."

Batman said.

Luther sneered and said, "Who are you to judge me? Do you think you are righteous?"

Batman took a deep breath, and his voice became soft and firm: "I am not a representative of justice, I am just a person trying to maintain order and peace. And you, the Transcendent, you need to find your own bottom line, don't let the power It corrodes your heart."

"It's no use talking more."

Luther said.

"Why don't you let yourself be cruel?"

Luther stopped responding and walked towards Batman, obviously intending to use violence to solve the problem.

"I don't want to hurt you."

Batman got into a fighting stance, but he didn't want to hurt Luther.

"Again, I don't want to hurt you, so I'll try to keep you whole."

Luther said with a smile.

Just then, Batman suddenly threw several batarangs.

These darts are not ordinary weapons, but his carefully designed tools.

They drew a beautiful arc in the air and flew accurately towards Luther.

Luther smiled contemptuously, and he easily dodged the batarangs.

However, just when he thought he could continue to close in on Batman, the batarangs suddenly exploded with a bang.

Luther immediately felt a strong stimulation, his eyes began to shed tears, and his vision became blurred.

It turns out that these batarangs are filled with tear gas and sleeping gas, which Batman specially prepared to deal with opponents like the Beyonder.

After all, the Beyonder has been in action during this period, and Batman has obtained a lot of information about him.

He began to feel that simple smoke bombs might not be able to limit the transcendent, so he not only modified his smoke bomb darts, but also modified his helmet to filter tear gas smoke and sleeping gas.

The tear gas smoke is actually a tear gas device from one of the women's self-defense weapons, and I have to admit that it is very effective.

Sleeping gas is a material specially prepared by Batman. As long as it is inhaled, even an elephant will be hypnotized in a short time and fall unconscious.

There is no consideration at all whether this will cause damage to the brain nerves.

After all, anesthetics and the like are very dangerous drugs, otherwise there would be no professional anesthesiologist profession.

Now I see that Luther seems to have been hit hard and seriously affected.

Batman is also relieved. His Bat Helmet has been modified to not only filter tear gas smoke and sleep gas, but also allow him to see through the smoke.

At the same time, Batman quickly turned on the sonic device on his arm.

This device is one of the results of his research on Transcendents. It can simulate the effect of shock bombs and release strong sound waves to interfere with the opponent's hearing.

For an opponent like Luther, this is undoubtedly a huge blow.

Strong sound waves impact the auditory nerves of the transcendent.

Batman only launched an attack at this time, but he still used exploratory attacks.

That is, the bat darts that were prepared before will release electric current attacks.

Just after he threw the dart, he saw something seemed to change in the Beyonder's armor.

After the batarang came into contact with his armor, it made a few "dings" and was actually bounced away.

The Batarang that fell to the ground was still shining with electricity, but it was no longer possible to harm the Transcendent.

"Does your armor have other abilities?"

Batman realizes this immediately.

Because of the twisted force field, Batman didn't dare to get close, and planned to use electric current to paralyze the Beyonder's armor first.

As a result, I didn't expect that the Transcendent had other abilities.

"Yes, this is the armor mode of my armor, specifically for the current situation."

Batman saw the Beyonder walking out of the smoke. The surface of the armor was covered with a layer of fine cone-like structures.

At the same time, the head also changed, and something similar to a respirator appeared.

It looks like it's a filter.

Batman immediately realized that his action plan had failed. It was obvious at first glance that this armor mode focused on defense, even including sensory protection of the human body.

He didn't expect that the Transcendent would hide such an ability.

We must escape immediately and make a new battle plan.

Batman has never been ashamed to escape. For him, as long as he can win, it doesn't matter if he wins once or twice.

It's just that he wanted to escape, but Luther wouldn't let him.

Just kidding, beating up Batman is better.

So he used his super speed to grab Batman's leg.

"Don't be in such a hurry to leave, Batman."

Luther grinned, and then used the green version of Hell's Paradise on Batman!

This move also has a more popular name called - Hulk Return.

"Bang bang bang!!!"

Batman was thrown around by Luther, and felt that the thickened armor parts all over his body were broken.

Then it wasn't over yet, Luther lifted him above his head with both hands.

This action made Batman suddenly realize that something was wrong, but he had no ability to resist at all.

"Crack!"

With a very loud fracture sound, Batman's waist bent to 90 degrees.

"Ahhhhhhhh!"

Batman let out an unbearable howl of pain!

Luther achieved the achievement of Brokeback Batman, and from then on, Bane could only copy others.

He was no longer the one who started the history of Batman's broken back.

Batman fell to the ground. He struggled to get up, but his body below his back no longer obeyed his command and control.

"You should retire, senior."

Luther said calmly.

Chapter 612 This is a trial!

Batman listened to Luther's words, and a feeling of powerlessness surged in his heart.

However, even in the face of such a predicament, Batman did not give up.

He gritted his teeth and tried to stand up with all his strength. He knew that he could not fall down like this. He still had unfinished tasks and people who needed to be protected.

Luther looked at Batman's struggle, and a glimmer of approval flashed in his eyes.

Never give up, this is Batman.

"You lost, Batman."

Luther's voice echoed in the night sky, with a hint of disdain and ridicule.

Batman lay on the cold soil, feeling the pain in his body, and a complex emotion surged in his heart. He knew that he had indeed lost, but he did not regret his choice.

In order to protect this world, he paid too much and lost too much. He would rather die on the battlefield than see his faith destroyed.

"Maybe you are right, Beyonder." Batman's voice seemed tired and firm in the night. He spoke with difficulty, and every word seemed to be squeezed out from his teeth.

His eyes were firm and deep. Even when facing a powerful and ruthless enemy, he never flinched.

"But as long as I have a breath left, I will not give up my faith and mission." Batman's voice was low, but it revealed an unquestionable firmness.

He knew that his battle with the Transcendent was not only for personal victory or defeat, but also for maintaining peace and justice in Gotham City.

The Transcendent, a mysterious and powerful existence, seemed to be a little surprised by Batman's persistence. He stopped, but did not turn around. He was silent for a moment, as if thinking about something.

"Is your faith really worth so much?" The Transcendent's voice was cold and sarcastic, as if he was looking at a fool who didn't know the height of the world.

Batman did not answer, but pursed his lips tightly. He knew that his faith did not need to be proved to anyone, but only to be practiced with actions.

The Transcendent seemed to be bored with Batman's silence, and he turned around and continued to leave the battlefield. His back looked lonely and indifferent in the night, as if he had lost interest in this loser.

Batman stayed there alone, facing the darkness and silence. His body was exhausted, but his spirit was still tenacious.

Just when Batman was about to be swallowed by the darkness, he heard familiar footsteps.

That was his butler, Alfred Pennyworth, his most loyal partner and supporter. Alfred's figure looked particularly warm in the night, and his arrival gave Batman a glimmer of hope.

Alfred's worry and concern made Batman feel a little comforted. He knew that he was not alone, and there were people who cared about him and supported him.

Alfred helped Batman up and asked about his condition with concern. Although Batman could not answer immediately, his eyes revealed his gratitude to Alfred.

Alfred did not say much, he knew that the most important thing now was to take Batman home and let him get the treatment and rest he deserved. With Alfred's help, Batman stood up with difficulty, and every step was like stepping on a sharp blade.

But he gritted his teeth and persisted, because he knew that only by returning home would he have a chance to stand up again.

When Bruce woke up again, he found himself lying in the manor's medical room.

His body was tightly wrapped in bandages, and the pain was still strong.

He tried to sit up, but the injury to his spine made him unable to move.

At this moment, he felt unprecedented powerlessness and despair.

Bruce knew that his fighting career might end here.

He used to be the guardian of Gotham City and the light in the darkness, but now he has become a useless person who needs to be taken care of by others.

This reality was hard for him to accept, but he did not give up.

He knew that even if he could not fight in person, he could still continue to protect the city in other ways.

"The Transcendent tried to use his violence to knock me down to make me agree with his violence, but I will never!"

Bruce said firmly.

At this time, Alfu came in and brought the doctor's diagnosis.

The doctor told them that although Bruce's spine was severely damaged, it was not completely irreparable.

As long as there is proper treatment and rehabilitation training, Bruce still has a chance to recover.

This news gave Bruce new hope.

He knew that this would be a long and difficult process, but he was willing to work hard for his beliefs and mission.

Under Alfred's care, Bruce began a long road to recovery.

He had to undergo painful rehabilitation training every day, trying to restore some function to his spine. Although progress was slow, Bruce never gave up.

His belief and determination made him persevere.

Luther was not surprised, or rather, if he couldn't do it, he wouldn't be Batman.

"This is just a trial."

Luther said in a very imperial speech.

At the same time, the crime rate in Gotham City was reduced to the lowest because of Luther's existence.

Although Luther's ruling methods were cruel, he did make the city safer.

However, this safety was built on fear, and people began to rely on the Beyonders.

In fact, the Beyonders only increased the cost of crime for criminals. Originally, even if they were caught by Batman and thrown at the door of the police station, they would soon leave safely due to various accidents.

But now it's different, because Luther doesn't care about legal evidence or human relationships. As long as he catches the criminal, he will face severe punishment, either death or disability!

This reign of terror frightened the citizens, but some people secretly supported Luther's approach.

They believed that only through tougher means could Gotham City restore order.

Bruce was constantly thinking about this issue during his recovery.

He knew that true peace should not be built on fear, but on justice and the rule of law.

He decided that once he recovered, he would stand up again and fight against Luther to bring Gotham City back to light.

With the help of Alfred and the doctor, Bruce's recovery progressed faster than expected.

He began to try to do some simple movements, such as standing and walking. Although every attempt was accompanied by severe pain, he never flinched.

Just because he is Batman!

Don't ask, just ask Batman.

Luther soon got tired of this killing game.

After all, for him, it was too cheap and boring to torture these criminals in different ways.

So he is looking forward to Batman growing up as quickly as possible.

Chapter 613 Batman Fan Club

"It's a miracle, Master Bruce."

Ahfu's voice echoed in the medical room, with deep surprise and emotion.

He stood at the door of the medical room, his eyes locked on Bruce sitting on the bed, as if he wanted to see something different from his face.

Bruce turned his head slightly and looked at Ahfu, with a faint smile in his eyes.

Although his face was still a little pale, his mental state was much better than before, and there was a firm light in his eyes, as if he was ready to set off again.

He shook his head gently and said, "Ahfu, this is not surprising. I have never given up on myself, nor have I ever given up on this city. I believe that as long as I have faith in my heart, I will be able to overcome all difficulties."

Master Bruce has always been a strong and brave man. No matter how great the difficulties and challenges are, he can persist and never retreat.

And now, his injuries have miraculously healed, which has to be said to be God's favor to him.

However, Ahfu's eyes also revealed a trace of worry.

Now, although Bruce's injuries have healed, has he fully recovered? Can he face a powerful enemy like the Beyonder again?

Alfu couldn't help but say, "Master Bruce, the situation in Gotham City is very good now. Because of the Beyonder, criminals dare not act rashly, and the number of cases per day has also dropped significantly. You have just recovered, so you should rest for a while."

Bruce sighed softly after hearing this.

He understood Alfu's worries and concerns, but he also knew his responsibilities and mission. He looked out the window, his eyes revealing firmness and decisiveness.

"Alfu, you know, I am not just the young master of the Wayne family, I am also the Batman of Gotham City. This city needs me, and those innocent people need me. I can't forget my responsibilities because of a moment of comfort."

Alfu looked at Bruce's firm eyes, and although he was worried in his heart, he also knew that he could not stop his determination.

He nodded silently and said, "I understand, Master Bruce. I will always support you, no matter what decision you make."

Alfu was silent. He knew Master Bruce's character. Once he made a decision, it would be difficult to change it.

He could only support him silently and hope that he could protect himself.

Bruce got up from the bed and stretched his muscles. He felt that his body had almost recovered. Although he was still a little weak, it was enough for him to face the challenge again.

He put on a black windbreaker and a signature hood, ready to set off again.

He knew that there was still a lot for him to do in this city, and he couldn't stop.

However, when Bruce stood on the streets of Gotham City again, he found that the situation had changed dramatically.

The originally dark and chaotic streets are now well organized, and criminal behavior has almost disappeared. People walking on the streets are filled with long-lost peace of mind and smiles on their faces.

All this is due to the appearance of the Transcendent.

He shocked all criminals with absolute power and cold means, so that they dare not do evil easily again.

His existence has greatly improved the security of Gotham City and made people full of hope for the future.

Batman was a little shaken and doubted whether his behavior was correct when he saw such a scene.

Isn't this what he has always dreamed of?

Now that it appears in front of him, must he destroy it?

However, Bruce knows that all this is not true peace. The means of the Transcendent are too extreme and cruel, and he does not care about the lives and rights of innocent people.

Although his existence temporarily suppressed crime, it also buried greater hidden dangers and crises.

He has seen how the Transcendent treats those criminals, and those cruel punishments and indifferent eyes make Bruce shudder.

He knows that if the Transcendent continues like this, Gotham City will become a darker and more terrifying place.

Therefore, Bruce decided to continue to fight against the Transcendent.

He can't let the future of this city be destroyed in the hands of the Transcendent. He wants to protect this city and those innocent people in his own way.

However, Bruce has experienced the result of rashly dealing with the Transcendent, so he wants to strengthen himself!

Without Batman, Luther encountered many enemies that Batman should encounter.

His absence gave the evil forces hidden in the dark corners of Gotham City an opportunity to take advantage of it.

Those criminals who had been defeated by Batman time and time again, now surfaced like sharks smelling blood. Their purpose is clear, that is, to take advantage of Batman's absence to turn Gotham City upside down.

To put it bluntly, the fans of the Batman fan club want to make trouble.

Then they don't even need to go to Arkham Asylum in Gotham City, Luther just let them lie down and rest.

Unless the Joker generously gives them the Dionysus factor, but it is still a question whether this version of the Joker has the Dionysus factor.

The Gotham River shallows, the night fog is filled, like a layer of veil caressing every inch of land.

The moonlight is looming in the fog, adding a bit of mystery to this quiet river beach.

This tranquility was broken by the appearance of Luther. He did not pass by by chance, but was attracted by the scene in front of him.

A group of wild cats, about a dozen of them, were gathering on the shallows. They were not lying lazily in the sun and napping like ordinary cats, but were busy digging in the sand.

Their movements were unusually consistent, as if driven by some mysterious power.

Luther was not a cat lover. Cats were too difficult to serve, and Luther was not interested.

But he found the plot that matched his memory.

As the wild cats dug, the sand was turned over little by little, and a faint stench gradually spread.

At this moment, the wild cats suddenly stopped their movements. They gathered in a circle and stared at something in the sand.

A female corpse was revealed in the sand!

Her face was pale, her eyes were closed, as if she died in a deep sleep.

Then the wild cats actually began to bite the female corpse's body.

Their movements were crazy and cruel, as if they were venting some emotions.

The female corpse's hands, feet, skin, and even face were bitten by the wild cats.

At this moment, a strange cloud suddenly rolled in, covering the moonlight. The entire shallows instantly fell into darkness.

The wild cats seemed to be summoned by something, half of their bodies disappeared into the darkness, leaving only two cat eyes flashing a faint green light in the darkness.

One wild cat jumped onto the chest of the female corpse, and its head drooped slightly, meeting the female corpse's eyes that were still open.

Chapter 614 Humanoid Cat

When the wild cats bit her before, the female corpse suddenly rolled her eyes, and the pupils that were originally empty and lifeless began to turn constantly at this moment.

This scene was extremely weird.

And now, at the moment when the wild cats and the female corpse met each other's eyes!

At this moment, the female corpse's dilated pupils suddenly shrank, as if being pulled by some mysterious power.

Then, her body began to change.

The originally cold skin gradually became warm, as if a new force was surging. Her heart also began to beat again, although weak, but full of vitality.

With the resurrection of the female corpse, the wild cats seemed to feel her changes. They stopped biting and surrounded the female corpse, making meowing sounds, as if cheering for something.

They seemed to be infected by this mysterious power and became docile and well-behaved.

At this moment, the moon, which was originally covered by dark clouds, suddenly showed its face, and the first ray of moonlight fell on the female corpse.

This ray of moonlight seemed to have magical power, making the face of the female corpse gradually return to ruddy, and her eyes opened, revealing a strange and deep light.

And the wounds bitten by the wild cats were also healing rapidly, as if they had never been injured.

She slowly stood up and looked at Luther not far away.

Catwoman did not attack immediately, she just stood there quietly, staring at Luther with her green eyes.

There was always a strange smile on the corner of her mouth, as if she was admiring Luther's fear and uneasiness. Her figure looked even more strange and mysterious under the moonlight, as if she was a creature from another world.

With the shining of the moonlight, Catwoman's figure looked even more strange and mysterious on the shallows.

Her eyes flashed green light, like two dazzling gems in the dark night, making people dare not look directly at them. There seemed to be some deep secret hidden deep in her pupils, making people want to explore the mystery.

Her skin, against the backdrop of the moonlight, presents a strange luster, as if it were cast by the moonlight.

Her smooth and delicate skin, as if there is no flaw, is amazing. Her body curves are elegant and graceful, as if she is a natural dancer, dancing on the stage of moonlight.

Her movements are light and graceful, as if a real cat is dancing.

Her fingers are slender and soft, playing beautiful melodies in the air like strings. Her steps are light and powerful, and every step seems to tell an ancient and mysterious story.

Her long hair flutters gently in the night breeze, flowing like a black waterfall in the moonlight.

Those strands of hair seem to contain endless magic, making it impossible to resist its temptation. There is always a weird smile on the corner of her mouth, as if showing Luther her mystery and power.

At this moment, Luther slowly took something out of his pocket.

It was a small bag of dry plants with a unique aroma - catnip!

The legend of catnip is well-known in the world of cats. It seems to have a kind of magic that can deeply attract the attention of cats and make them indulge in the strange aroma. Luther was curious, would such magic work on Catwoman?

He gently tore open the thin wrapping paper, and the aroma of catnip immediately spread like smoke, fresh and slightly sweet, making people want to take a few deep breaths.

Catwoman not far away seemed to smell the aroma. A flash of surprise flashed in her eyes, and then curiosity, as if attracted by the sudden aroma.

Her body began to change subtly. The pair of ordinary eyes gradually turned into the vertical pupils of a cat, flashing a faint green light. Her body also became softer and more flexible, as if ready to jump up at any time to chase the tempting aroma.

Catwoman seemed to be completely attracted by catnip. She began to circle around Luther, her tail gently swinging, and making a meowing sound, which was charming and moving.

Luther looked at her and secretly delighted in his heart. He stretched out his arms and prepared himself. When Catwoman pounced on him at an astonishing speed, he caught her steadily.

Although Catwoman's strength was much greater than that of a normal adult male, Luther didn't care. He hugged Catwoman tightly and comforted her in a gentle and firm voice: "Good cat, good cat."

In Luther's arms, Catwoman gradually calmed down. Her green eyes stared at Luther closely, as if confirming his identity and intentions. Her body trembled slightly in Luther's arms, a tremor of both nervousness and expectation.

Luther gently stroked Catwoman's hair and felt her body gradually relax. He had never stroked a cat, but at this moment he felt that there was no difference between a human-shaped big cat and a real cat. He even felt that Catwoman was more charming and more heart-warming than any cat.

He continued to stroke Catwoman's hair and back, just like treating a beloved pet cat.

Catwoman also seemed to enjoy the feeling of being touched. A satisfied expression appeared on her face, and her tail swayed unconsciously.

In this way, the two (one man and one catwoman) hugged each other quietly in the dark, and their breaths intertwined.

The aroma of catnip seemed to become stronger at this moment, dyeing the whole space with a layer of mystery.

An inexplicable emotion surged in Luther's heart, as if at this moment, he and Catwoman had established a special connection.

Maybe it's Catwoman's mysterious power?

Luther is too lazy to explore. There are too many gods and weird things and beings in the DC universe. Luther doesn't care about those that can't hurt him anyway. Luther can't care about those that can hurt him.

Selina Kyle is also the most classic Catwoman.

This character is the same sexy female character representative as Mystique in Mutants, as well as Marvel's Black Widow and Scarlet Witch.

Catwoman is even better at this because that's what she was designed to do.

Now Luther couldn't put it down and touched the big cat all over. When Catwoman reacted, she immediately jumped away.

After a while, Catwoman seemed to come back from her dazed state. She hurriedly broke away from Luther's arms, with a look of embarrassment and confusion on her face.

"Who are you? Where are you here? Me, what happened to me?"

She blurted out a series of questions, clearly confused about her situation.

Chapter 615: The Transcendent's Assistant

Catwoman's experience is also constantly changing. She started out as a prostitute for a long time, and then changed her identity and background.

However, Luther knew what kind of Catwoman this Catwoman was by reading the memory.

Selena was originally an ordinary girl with long black hair and bright eyes. She works in a cosmetics company from 9 to 5 every day and leads a simple and contented life.

She loves makeup and showing her beauty to the world. However, fate played a cruel joke on her.

That night, the moonlight was hazy, and Selina stayed in the company because she was working overtime to catch up on the design drawings. When she was walking alone on the road leading to the factory on the outskirts of the city, she accidentally ran into something she shouldn't have seen - a group of gangsters were conducting illegal transactions.

Terrified, she tried to escape, but was discovered by the gang.

They brutally murdered her and threw her body into the Gotham River.

At this time, Selina was still trembling with fear from when she was killed by a gangster. She looked at the unfamiliar environment around her, feeling confused and uneasy.

Luther smiled and comforted her: "Don't worry, I will tell you everything. First of all, what I want to tell you is that you are no longer the Selina Kyle you used to be. You are now a cat owner." Catwoman of animal strength and intelligence."

Selina became even more confused after hearing this: "Catwoman? What does this mean? How could I become like this?"

Luther explained patiently: "To put it simply, you are bitten by a special cat, and then you gain the strength and wisdom of the cat. This is a very rare phenomenon, but it does happen. However, you don't have to Worry, that's a good thing. You now have cat-like speed, reflexes, balance and flexibility, which will make you even better in life."

Selena was silent for a moment after hearing this, and then asked: "Then what should I do? How should I face this strange world?"

Luther held her hand and said softly: "Don't worry, I will help you. First, you need to learn to control your power and emotions. Second, you need to understand the dark side of this world and learn to protect yourself. Finally, you need to find your own goals and direction and plan for your future."

After hearing this, Selina felt a warmth surge in her heart. She looked at Luther's eyes and felt an unprecedented sense of security. She decided to believe in Luther, accept her new identity, and start a new life.

She surrendered her trust so easily. Apart from the simple reason that Selina is not very experienced in the world, it cannot be ruled out that it is the role of that mysterious power. It may also be simply that Luther is handsome, so Very convincing.

In the days that followed, Luther patiently taught Selina how to control her powers and emotions.

He told her that although Catwoman's abilities are powerful, they also require careful mastery and control. Otherwise, this power may become a burden for her, or even put her in danger.

Selena's life is almost entirely occupied by training.

Every morning, when the first ray of sunlight shines through the curtains on her bed, she gets up and starts her day's training. She knows that only through unremitting efforts can she truly master her own power and become a real Catwoman.

As her mentor, Luther not only taught her how to control her power, but more importantly, how to control her emotions.

He told her that emotional fluctuations would affect the performance of power and may even cause fatal mistakes at critical moments. Therefore, Selena not only has to exercise during training, but also learn how to stay calm and focused.

In the gym, Selena began her basic training.

She first practiced speed and agility. She needed to quickly shuttle between various obstacles while avoiding the objects constantly thrown by Luther. These exercises helped her improve her reaction speed and physical coordination.

As time went on, Selena started trying more difficult moves.

She incorporates various gymnastics moves into her training, such as backflips, cartwheels and aerial twists. Her figure was light and every movement was smooth and precise, as if her body weighed nothing.

She first jumped up and grabbed the high-hanging crossbar with an elegant approach. Then she used the inertia of the crossbar to twist her body and complete a perfect maneuver.

Then, she let go of her hand, stretched her body in the air, and landed firmly on the soft cushion.

Wearing a black tights, she showed off her sexy figure to the fullest.

Her long hair fluttered in the wind, exuding a charming sheen.

When Selina completed this series of actions, she looked at Luther expectantly, hoping to get his approval.

However, Luther shook his head and said calmly: "It's too gorgeous. The routine is good, but the actual battle is not about routine."

Luther conducted practical training with Selina to make her realize this.

During the confrontation with Luther, Selina used her flexibility and agility to complete several difficult moves in a row.

She first rolled quickly on the ground to avoid Luther's attack, then jumped up and completed a 360-degree spin in the air, and finally landed firmly behind Luther. Her movements are like flowing clouds and flowing water, which is dazzling.

However, just when Selina was about to fight back, Luther suddenly turned around and locked his arms around her throat.

He told her that although she was very agile, in actual combat, the opponent would not give her so much time to perform complex movements.

He taught her how to achieve the most effective attack in the shortest time with the simplest movements.

After Selina completely mastered her power, Luther planned to take her out to enforce justice.

"In other words, I will be the assistant of the Beyonder in the future?"

Selina already knew Luther's identity, the current superhero of Gotham City, the Beyonder.

She had also admired the Beyonder. No one in Gotham City did not like the Beyonder, especially when there was a comparison with Batman.

Batman had been tossing around for so long, but Gotham City became more chaotic, and all kinds of freaks emerged one after another.

The Beyonder came, and Gotham City was really peaceful.

Now that she saw her idol in person, Selina was directly fascinated. After so many days of getting along, she had a deep understanding of who Luther was, and she had already developed feelings for him.

Now that she knew Luther's identity, it caused a second critical hit.

"Not yet."

Luther shook his head. It was not that easy to become his assistant.

Chapter 616 Catwoman's debut

"This is your equipment."

Luther's voice echoed in the dim room with an unquestionable firmness.

He held the carefully prepared equipment in his hands, and his eyes flashed with expectation and pride.

Selena stood opposite him, her eyes flashing with curiosity and excitement.

As a fledgling superhero, she was full of expectations for the upcoming mission.

She knew that this mission was unusual, and the equipment Luther prepared for her would undoubtedly become an important support for her to complete the mission.

She longed to be an assistant to the Transcendent, so she naturally worked very hard.

Luther specially prepared a set of equipment for Selena, which was both practical and full of technology.

He designed a half-mask helmet with bulletproof function, which not only protected Selena's head from injury, but also allowed her to remain anonymous during the operation.

The mask part of the helmet was made of special materials, which could resist bullet shooting and ensure her safety when performing tasks.

In addition, Luther also prepared a replica of Batman's belt for Selena.

This belt looks ordinary, but it has a lot of hidden secrets.

There are a variety of small props inside the belt, including grappling guns, throwing knives, smoke bombs and flash bombs.

These props are carefully designed and manufactured, and can play a huge role at critical moments.

The grappling gun can help Selina climb to a high place quickly, the throwing knives can be used to attack the enemy remotely, and the smoke bombs and flash bombs can be used to create chaos and provide cover for her actions.

In addition to the helmet and belt, Luther also prepared a pair of electric bracelets imitating the Black Widow for Selina.

This pair of bracelets is not only beautiful in appearance, but also powerful in function.

They can launch tear gas balls and micro bombs to cause fatal blows to the enemy.

The electric current device on the bracelet is a self-defense weapon designed by Luther for Selina.

It can not only release high-intensity electric shocks to make the enemy lose combat effectiveness instantly, but also adjust the intensity of the current according to Selina's thoughts, ensuring that the enemy can be subdued in battle without causing unnecessary damage.

The bracelet looks exquisite and low-key, and the silver surface flashes a cold light, which complements Selena's temperament. The bracelet hides complex circuits and micro batteries inside, ensuring its long-lasting and stable power output.

In battle, Selena can quickly release the current by simply pressing the button on the bracelet.

The current draws blue arcs in the air, making a sizzling sound, which makes people shudder. Once the enemy touches these arcs, they will instantly feel paralyzed and unable to move.

Of course, the current device of the bracelet is not Selena's only weapon.

The elastic tights on her body are also powerful. This tights is made of the most advanced scientific and technological materials. It is light and tough, and can withstand all forms of attacks.

The surface of the tights is covered with a special coating, which has multiple functions such as bulletproof, explosion-proof, impact-proof, cut-proof, fire-proof and insulation. This allows Selena to face various dangers fearlessly in battle.

The bodyguard and boots of the tights have been carefully strengthened by Luther, and special alloy materials have been added to enable them to quickly disperse the impact force when attacked and protect Selina's body from harm.

The hand guards are Luther's painstaking work.

He deliberately designed the hand guards to be able to eject claws. These claws are made of adamantium, which are extremely sharp and can easily tear through the enemy's defense.

In battle, Selina can quickly eject the claws and deal a fatal blow to the enemy.

In addition to being an offensive weapon, the claws also give Selina the ability to climb.

She can use her claws to easily climb the wall, whether it is a smooth glass curtain wall or a rough masonry wall, it can't stop her steps.

This allows her to quickly occupy a favorable position in battle, or quickly escape from the scene when escaping pursuit.

When designing these equipment, Luther fully considered Selina's expertise and fighting style. He applied the characteristics of the mutant Death Girl to Catwoman, making these equipment both in line with Selina's characteristics and able to exert the greatest power.

In the process of getting familiar with the equipment, Selina showed amazing perseverance and talent. She kept practicing the skills of using bracelets, tights and claws, and gradually mastered the use of these equipment.

Through repeated actual combat simulation training, she gradually became familiar with how to use the electric current device to subdue the enemy quickly and accurately in various situations. She also learned how to use the protective function of the tights to resist attacks, and how to use claws to attack and climb.

In addition, Selina also strengthened her physical training. She conducted long-term running, jumping and climbing training every day to improve her speed and flexibility. She also learned various fighting skills so that she could quickly subdue the enemy in battle.

After a month of training, Selina has become stronger and more confident. She wore a tights and an electric current device on her wrist, and the whole person exuded an invincible momentum.

On a dark and windy night, Luther took Selina to a gangster stronghold in Gotham City. The stronghold is located in a remote corner of the city, surrounded by dilapidated buildings and deserted streets.

There was a depressing and dangerous atmosphere in the air, as if danger could happen at any time.

Luther the Transcendent is no longer the image of the heavy armor he wore before.

His current armor is more slim-fitting, and the close-fitting design highlights his sturdy and strong muscle lines.

The armor on his limbs and torso has been removed, making his movements more flexible and free. The streamlined close-combat armor flashes a cold light under the lights at night, giving people a strong sense of oppression.

Her heart surges at the sight of his sturdy and strong muscles.

Compared with the Transcendent who wore thick armor before, Catwoman Selina prefers the current Transcendent.

Selina looked at Luther in front of her, her heart full of respect and trust.

This mission is full of dangers and challenges, but with Luther by her side, she feels extremely at ease.

"Go."

When they arrived at the gate of the stronghold, Luther said to Selina.

Selina took a deep breath, then quickly ejected her claws and easily climbed up the wall.

She used her claws to climb the wall and quickly and silently reached the roof.

"I am Catwoman, I am the assistant of the Beyonder, I am the evil nemesis of Gotham City, the vanguard of justice..."

"The hunt begins!"

Catwoman made a chanting speech.

Chapter 617 Solution

The atmosphere in the room was extremely tense, and the gang members were making a secret deal.

They sat around a shabby table, on which were scattered various unknown objects and banknotes, and everyone's face was full of greed and ferocity.

They had never expected that an uninvited guest would come from the sky at this moment.

After all, in their impression, if someone dared to make trouble, it must be the evil star transcender, who would break in directly from the door, with a huge momentum that could not be ignored.

However, the situation this time was completely different.

Suddenly, a figure jumped down from the hole in the roof like a ghost, and the movement was so light that it seemed weightless.

The figure landed silently, like a well-trained cat, quietly appearing in front of a group of gangsters.

These people were originally plotting something, but they were scared to death by this sudden change.

I saw this woman, with a strong posture and as agile as a cheetah.

She was wearing a tight leather jacket, which perfectly outlined her figure, looking both sexy and powerful. She wore a special mask helmet on her face, revealing only a pair of sharp eagle eyes flashing with cold light.

This woman was Catwoman Selina, and her appearance made the arrogant gangsters instantly flustered.

They raised their guns and aimed at Selina, but the weapons in their hands seemed so powerless in front of her.

Selina didn't care about their threats at all, but took out a flash bomb from her waist.

She smiled lightly, as if she was laughing at the ignorance and stupidity of these gangsters.

"Bang!" The flash bomb exploded in front of everyone, and the strong flash and the harsh explosion made them lose their vision and hearing in an instant.

In the short-term blindness and deafness, they felt a strong fear surge in their hearts, as if the god of death was approaching.

"Ahhhhh!!!"

The gang members were frightened by the sudden flash bomb. They screamed and covered their eyes, trying to avoid the dazzling light. However, the light was too strong, and their eyes were white and they couldn't see anything clearly.

Taking this opportunity, Catwoman Selina quickly launched an attack.

Her attack was as fierce as a storm, leaving the gang members overwhelmed.

They tried to fight back, but Selina dodged them cleverly every time.

Her body seemed to have no dead angles, and no matter which angle they attacked from, she could easily dodge them.

There was no mercy or hesitation on Selina's face. She knew that these gangsters were all evil criminals and their death was destined.

Selina wore a special mask helmet on her face, which was one of the equipment Luther gave her.

This mask helmet was made of the most advanced materials and technology, which not only prevented damage caused by flash bombs and stun bombs, but also protected her face from being hit by bullets.

At the same time, the mask was equipped with night vision goggles and thermal imagers, allowing her to clearly see the enemy's position in the dark.

With this equipment, Selina was like a fish in water in the battle and was fearless. She flexibly shuttled between the gang members, sometimes jumping up to attack, sometimes leaning down to dodge, making the enemy completely unable to figure out her attack routine.

She just stretched out her hand to her waist and threw out three flying knives.

These three flying knives shot out like lightning, directly hitting the vital points of the gang members.

With three "swoosh" sounds, the three flying knives accurately hit the three gang members standing on the high ground. They fell to the ground without making any sound and lost their lives.

At the same time, Selena also ejected her claws on both hands, which is one of her best attack methods.

Her claws are made of adamantium, which are extremely sharp and can easily tear the enemy's flesh.

Selena gently waved her claws and felt the unstoppable force.

Her claws are as sharp as steel knives. Every time they pass, they will leave a deep wound, and the blood will instantly dye her leather clothes red.

In this small space, the power of the adamantium claws was fully exerted.

Whether it was the hard bones or thick muscles of the gangsters, they were as fragile as paper in front of Selina's claws.

With a swipe of her hands, a gangster screamed and had his throat cut, blood spurted out, and fell to the ground and twitched.

Selina's movements were swift and coherent, like a dancer who had been tempered.

Her figure shuttled through the darkness, and every move was full of power and speed. Her eyes were bright and revealed a keen insight, as if she could see every subtle movement of the enemy.

Under her fierce attack, the gangsters fell down like wheat being cut.

Their screams and groans echoed in the night sky, forming a tragic and bloody picture. However, Selina did not pause or show any mercy. She continued to shuttle between the gang members like a cold death, taking a life with every move.

The sharp whistling sound of claws slicing through the air was endless, making people shudder. Every attack was accompanied by the enemy's screams and blood splattering. Her figure was like a ghost in the darkness, sometimes appearing behind the enemy and sometimes disappearing in the shadows.

Her movements were swift and accurate, making it impossible to figure out her whereabouts. She seemed to have become the incarnation of darkness, blending into the darkness, making it impossible to tell her true location.

Finally, under Selina's fierce attack, all the gangsters fell to the ground and lost their fighting power. The room was left with a mess and a strong smell of blood.

Selina stood there, panting, her eyes revealing an indescribable coldness and determination.

She looked down at the claws in her hand, the blood on them had solidified into dark red.

She stretched out her tongue and gently licked the blood on the claws.

However, the next moment, she frowned and showed a disgusted expression.

"Damn, it's disgusting."

She muttered to herself.

"I don't know how those guys did it, I can't accept it at all."

She spit out the blood in her mouth and felt a surge in her stomach. She couldn't accept the bloody taste at all, let alone enjoy the pleasure of killing.

When she really experienced the taste of blood, she felt nauseous and uncomfortable.

She shook her head, trying to get rid of the disgusting feeling from her mind.

She looked at the gangster corpses scattered all over the ground, but there was no ripple in her heart.

"Transcendence, I have dealt with them all."

She quickly contacted Luther through the helmet.

Chapter 618: Female villains gather together

"Very good."

The voice of the Transcendent sounded behind Catwoman Selina, startling her, and then reacting.

"Now, you can go for revenge."

Luther said to Catwoman Selina.

Revenge?

Catwoman Selina almost forgot about this kind of thing.

She had been murdered by the gangsters, and that experience lingered in her mind like a nightmare.

Although she later had an adventure, resurrected from the dead and became Catwoman, and became the assistant of the Transcendent, the shadow of the gangster never dissipated.

"Where are they?"

Catwoman Selina's voice was low and firm, full of unquestionable determination.

"I have investigated what gangster you encountered at the beginning."

Luther said calmly.

With his ability, he would be more terrible than Batman. Batman had to pretend to fool readers and make up a lot of specious detective methods and specious clues, but Luther didn't need to. He could see who it was directly from the God's perspective.

It is impossible for Catwoman Selina to say that she does not hate the gangsters. Although they let her have an adventure, resurrected from the dead and became Catwoman, and became the assistant of the dreamer, if she had not had an adventure, she would have died there.

And now that she has gained power, should she pretend that nothing has happened?

Catwoman Selina clenched her fists tightly, her heart was full of expectations and excitement. She finally had the opportunity to take revenge and let those who had hurt her pay the price they deserved.

In a dark corner of Gotham City, the hiding place of the gangster was easily found by Luther. He did not do it himself, but told Catwoman Selina the location.

Under the cover of night, Catwoman Selina quietly came to the hiding place of the gangsters. Her figure looked extremely agile and agile in the moonlight, as if a real catwoman was shuttling in the dark.

She sneaked into the gangster's stronghold silently, her movements were light and fast, as if she was passing by like a gust of wind. Her eyes were as sharp as a knife, and she could easily see through the movements of every gang member.

When she found the gang members who had chased her, a strong killing intent surged in her heart. She had no hesitation or mercy, and directly shot down the gang members one by one.

Her movements were clean and neat, without any drag. Her power was powerful and deadly, leaving the gang members powerless to fight back. Every time she attacked, it seemed to bring a biting cold wind, which made people shudder.

Soon, the entire gang stronghold was cleared out by her. Those gang members who were once arrogant and domineering fell at her feet, and no longer had the prestige of the past.

When Catwoman Selina left the gang stronghold, her heart was full of satisfaction and pleasure. She finally got revenge and let those who had hurt her get the punishment they deserved.

However, her revenge did not end there. She began to wander around Gotham City, looking for gangs and criminals who had committed many evils and oppressed the people. She used her power and wisdom to bring those criminals to justice one by one.

The citizens of Gotham City soon discovered that the Beyonder had changed.

He was no longer the warrior wearing heavy armor and with a stern face, but a man with clear muscle lines and a strong aura.

He also had an assistant called "Catwoman" by his side, a beautiful and mysterious female superhero.

This change caused a lot of discussion among the citizens of Gotham City.

Some people marveled at the power and beauty of the Beyonder and Catwoman, and called them the guardians of Gotham City.

This matter made many female fans of Gotham City say they couldn't accept it.

Especially now that the Beyonder didn't have that thick armor, the muscle lines outlined under the tight battle suit made them feel excited, and after their blood boiled, they couldn't accept it even more.

After all, this Batman doesn't even have an assistant now, and Luther hasn't heard of Superman in Metropolis, let alone the deeds of other superheroes. Everyone is still developing silently. Superman is probably traveling around the world to find the meaning of his existence.

So, it's okay to be a superhero, but superheroes also have assistants?

This is simply an eye-opener for everyone and opens the door to a new world.

Even Batman didn't expect that the Beyonder would find an assistant for him, and it was a female superhero.

Can a woman be a superhero?

Bruce Wayne looked at Catwoman in the screen recording.

"The situation is even worse. The Beyonder has cultivated his ideological successor. This female superhero named Catwoman advocates violence with violence just like him. This is wrong..."

Bruce frowned more and more as he watched, because those killed by Catwoman died in very miserable conditions.

But those Gotham citizens actually applauded.

This is wrong. People should not advocate violence!

Bruce knew that he had to hurry up to stop the Beyonder.

The Gotham City Police Department was angry and dissatisfied with the behavior of the Beyonder and Catwoman, believing that they were undermining social order and security.

Soon, the police department issued a wanted order to the entire city, listing the Beyonder and Catwoman as the top wanted criminals.

They were accused of committing multiple crimes including intentional homicide, crimes against humanity, and crimes against public order.

The media took the opportunity to hype up the incident.

They portrayed the images of the Transcendent and Catwoman as demons, exaggerating their actions to create panic and anxiety.

Catwoman Selina was angry and helpless about these accusations.

She didn't understand why her righteous actions were regarded as crimes, and why the real criminals could get away with it.

She began to doubt the fairness and justice of this society, and began to think about how she should deal with these accusations.

But Luther naturally didn't care about these messes.

And a new female villain appeared in Gotham City.

Talia!

Miranda Tate, real name Talia al Ghul.

It has nothing to do with Superman's Al.

One of Gotham City's well-known female villains, the daughter of the Ninja Master.

As the daughter of the Ninja Master, Miranda has a big family and a philanthropist.

In the movie version, Talia's fate is to be hit and killed, but the reality is far more complicated than the movie. Now Talia sneaks into Gotham City with a new identity, and her only goal is to completely destroy the city.

Talia infiltrates Gotham City under another identity, trying to sabotage and completely destroy Gotham City.

But she encounters a problem, that is, the Beyonder.

Unlike Batman, the Beyonder is much more powerful than him.

Chapter 619 Talia

Although on the surface, the Transcendent seems to have only relied on his amazing high-tech armor to emerge in Gotham City, a city full of crime.

However, this is enough.

At a time when Batman, the Dark Knight who was once known as the guardian of Gotham City, is suspected to be missing or has chosen to retire, the existence of the Transcendent has undoubtedly brought unprecedented pressure to the criminals of this city.

The power of the Transcendent comes from his armor that combines cutting-edge technology.

This armor not only provides him with powerful defense, but also gives him extraordinary speed and strength. He can use various weapons and equipment on the armor to easily deal with various complex situations and enemies.

In Gotham City, a place full of crime and violence, the appearance of the Transcendent is undoubtedly a dazzling light, bringing hope to those living in darkness.

So he is called the "Bright Knight" of Gotham City, which just forms a sharp contrast with Batman's "Dark Knight".

At the same time, Talia, a beautiful and mysterious woman, is also quietly moving in the shadows of Gotham City.

She used the alias Miranda Tate most of the time, and presented herself as a wealthy executive and philanthropist.

She successfully gained Bruce Wayne's trust and even became the CEO of Wayne Enterprises for a time.

Her wisdom and charm allowed her to achieve remarkable success in both the business and social circles. However, her real purpose was far from that simple.

Later, she also became his lover for a short time.

But now, because of the Beyonder's interference, Bruce's mind is full of the Beyonder, and he doesn't care about any love affairs.

Not to mention that Luther also gave him a set of bone-setting massage and broke his spine.

This makes Batman have even less time to think about women. How big of a heart does he have to be to still think about falling in love under such circumstances?

Talia already knew this, and she felt very incredible about it. Batman's spine was actually broken by others?

Even if the Beyonder relies on high technology, Batman is the same in this regard. He is also full of black technology, so the eldest brother doesn't talk about the second brother.

Besides, there are more black technologies, such as Mr. Freeze's super outrageous black technology, which was also solved by Batman, right?

So, it is the ability of the Beyonder to solve Batman.

Batman has disappeared since his spine was broken by the Beyonder, and it is impossible for him to stand up and fight again.

Talia changed her goal.

Now the Beyonder is her obstacle. With the Beyonder, it is difficult for her to destroy Gotham City.

The criminals in Gotham City are all frightened by the Beyonder. It can be said that he shocked and changed the entire Gotham City with his own strength.

Talia has her own ambitions and plans for Gotham City.

She longs to destroy the city and turn it into ruins.

However, the appearance of the Beyonder has become an obstacle to her plan.

She knows that as long as the Beyonder is there, it is difficult for her to stir up a big storm in Gotham City. Therefore, she decided to change her goal and regard the Beyonder as her primary enemy.

In order to understand the strength and weakness of the Beyonder, Talia began to investigate his intelligence.

She hired batches of mercenaries and criminals to create chaos and destruction in every corner of Gotham City.

She hoped to draw out the Beyonder and observe his actions and reactions in this way.

However, she did not realize that her actions provided the Beyonder with more performance and opportunities for performance.

The Beyonder, or Luther, knew Talia's plan very well.

He did not choose to confront Talia directly, but used her actions to show his strength and ability.

Whenever criminals were destroying Gotham City, the Beyonder was always able to appear in time and stop their behavior.

His appearance not only frightened the criminals, but also gave hope to the citizens of Gotham City.

However, for the Beyonder, solving the crime in Gotham City was not his only goal.

As time went on, the Beyonder's influence in Gotham City grew. He not only became a hero in the hearts of the citizens, but also won the awe and respect of many criminals.

They began to realize that instead of being enemies with the Beyonder, it would be better to change their lifestyle and regain the meaning and value of life.

And Talia gradually realized her failure in the contest with the Beyonder.

She found that no matter how hard she tried, she could not shake the status and influence of the Transcendent in Gotham City.

"Damn it!"

Talia slammed her fist on the table, her eyes full of anger and helplessness.

She found that the intelligence she collected about the so-called "Transcendent" or "Terminator" seemed to be getting simpler and more superficial.

This was not only because the other party seemed to deliberately hide his true identity and ability, but also because the Terminator showed a completely different fighting style from the previous high-tech armor.

He no longer relied on those complex mechanical equipment, but showed a physical fitness that was almost mythical.

He had an invulnerable body, and no matter whether it was a sharp blade or a fierce gunshot, it could not leave any trace on him.

His strength is also amazing. He can easily lift and throw objects weighing hundreds of pounds, causing great damage. And his speed is as fast as lightning, making it difficult to predict.

Such an opponent makes Talia feel unprecedentedly difficult.

She has tried various methods to deal with this Terminator, including hiring some top killers and agents, and even using some high-tech weapons. However, these attempts have all ended in failure.

Take the batch of heavy weapons that she specially paid extra money to purchase.

These weapons include anti-material sniper rifles, which were originally used to deal with heavy armored vehicles and helicopters. Its power can be seen.

However, when Talia ordered these weapons to be tested in actual combat, the results surprised her.

The bullets fired by the anti-material sniper rifle hit the Terminator, and they would bounce like hitting a hard rock!

This was simply unbelievable to Talia.

She couldn't accept this fact, and she couldn't accept that she couldn't defeat such a seemingly invincible opponent.

In addition to his strong physical fitness, the Terminator also has his own vehicle - a "flying machine" similar to Batman's Batmobile.

This flying machine uses advanced vertical lift technology and can take off and land freely in any corner of Gotham City.

Chapter 620: Talia's thoughts changed

It is not only as fast as lightning, but also highly maneuverable, and can perform various difficult actions and attacks in the air.

This makes the Terminator more elusive and difficult to deal with in battle.

He can dive and attack the enemy in the air, or use the weapons on the aircraft to attack remotely.

The Terminator calls it "Decepticon", which sounds like a suitable name.

Such an opponent is undoubtedly a huge challenge for Talia.

She was angry because the Terminator seemed to be an insurmountable barrier blocking her way forward.

She had tried to attack him in various ways, but he easily resolved it every time.

Her attack seemed to be just an insignificant tickle to the Terminator, and could not cause any substantial damage to him at all.

She was helpless, because even if she tried her best, she seemed unable to shake this powerful enemy. The strength of the Terminator seemed to be bottomless, and no matter how hard she tried, she could not touch his bottom line. Every confrontation made her feel that the gap between herself and the Terminator was getting bigger and bigger.

However, Talia was not the kind of person who gave up easily. She knew that if she chose to retreat, all her previous efforts would be in vain, and her dreams and beliefs would be shattered. Therefore, she had to persevere and find a way to defeat the Terminator.

She began to re-examine her strategy. She had always relied on her own strength and skills to fight the enemy. However, facing an opponent like the Terminator, pure strength and skills seemed to be insufficient. The Terminator not only had strong strength, but also had elusive tactics and strategies. This made Talia always in a passive position in the battle and unable to fight back effectively.

She realized that in order to defeat the Terminator, she had to change her strategy. She no longer blindly pursued the advantage in strength, but paid more attention to the use of tactics and the weaknesses of the enemy. She began to study the Terminator's fighting style and look for his flaws and loopholes. At the same time, she also began to improve her strength and skills to deal with various tactics that the Terminator might adopt.

In this process, Talia also began to think about the identity and changes of the Terminator. She clearly remembered that this powerful opponent was called the Beyonder before, wearing a high-tech armor, as if he was a warrior from the future. His appearance is always accompanied by mystery and unknown, making it impossible to figure out his true intentions.

However, now, he has changed his name to Terminator, and is shocking the entire Gotham City with his godly body.

Every time he appears, he is accompanied by endless destruction and terror. His power seems to have reached a whole new level that is unimaginable.

His changes confuse and puzzle Talia. Could it be that the Transcendent is not the Terminator? They are just two different people with similar looks?

Or did the Transcendent undergo some kind of change, using high technology to strengthen his body, thus becoming the current Terminator? If so, how did this change happen? Why did he choose to do this?

These questions troubled Talia. She believed that only by revealing the true face of the Terminator could she find a way to defeat him. So she began to secretly investigate the background and origin of the Terminator, hoping to find some useful clues.

"Not right, maybe his strength can be my hope?"

Talia stood in front of the window, looking at the night view of Gotham City in the distance, and suddenly a different idea came to her mind.

She looked at the Terminator on the screen, that powerful being, as if he was an invincible god.

His power made people awed, and his majesty made people submit.

Talia admitted that she had never seen such a powerful enemy, nor had she ever felt such a strong sense of oppression.

She recalled every battle with the Terminator, although each time ended in failure, but the strong sense of shock made her unforgettable.

The power of the Terminator seemed to exceed the limits of human beings, making her feel both terrified and yearning.

However, just when she felt desperate, a different idea ignited in her heart.

If she could have a child with such a being, would her child inherit the genes of her father and also gain the terrifying power of a god?

Once this idea emerged in Talia's mind, it spread rapidly like wildfire.

She imagined the appearance of that child, possessing power and wisdom beyond ordinary people, and being able to easily control the entire world. And she, as the mother of this child, would be her strongest backing to help her realize all her dreams.

The child must listen to the mother, and she can also cultivate his mind from an early age.

This idea made Talia feel excited and excited. She knew that this plan would require great efforts and costs, but she was willing to take risks for the child.

She began to prepare for the plan.

First, she needed to find a way to combine with the Terminator.

This was not easy, because the Terminator's body was so strong that she could not directly touch his flesh.

However, Talia believed that as long as she was smart and resourceful enough, she would be able to find a way.

At the same time, she also began to look for the right time and place. She knew that the Terminator was an extremely vigilant and cautious person who would not easily expose his weaknesses. Therefore, she needed to wait patiently and look for a perfect opportunity.

During this process, Talia also began to consider her physical condition.

She knew that in order to give birth to a healthy child, she had to maintain the best physical condition. So she began to strengthen exercise and maintenance to make her body healthier and stronger.

Finally, she also needed to consider how to deal with the possible counterattack of the Terminator.

If the Terminator knew her plan, he might destroy her and her child without hesitation.

Therefore, she needed to make a careful plan to ensure that her intentions would not be exposed before taking action.

"However, since there is a beautiful female assistant, does it mean that the Terminator's will is not indestructible?"

Talia looked at the photo of Catwoman thoughtfully.

Catwoman Selina has become the dream lover of many people in Gotham City, but now it seems that the beauty has been taken, and the other party is still the Terminator they can't afford to offend.

The slender and hot body, the sexy and seductive black leather jacket, the charming and enchanting posture, each of which is a powerful feature of Catwoman to attract people's attention.

However, Talia is confident that she is not much worse than Catwoman. There is no reason why she cannot do what Catwoman can do!