

Kryptonian 64

Chapter 64: Trying to turn enemies into friends

I'm afraid that in the entire Super Seminary Universe, only the Death Song Academy and the Angel Civilization have the generosity to give others the dark plane.

So Morgana was very satisfied and didn't say anything.

Even though this dark plane didn't have much construction, Morgana would feel more at ease.

Death God Carl also knew this, so he gave Morgana a dark plane that had not been built.

"Your uncle's Carl, why don't you build this dark plane!"

However, even though he had done a good job and it was in line with Morgana's wishes, Morgana still confronted him without any hesitation.

"Liang Bing, can we talk about reason?"

Death God Carl said helplessly.

"Go to your uncle, Queen, I am a demon, what reason can a demon talk about!"

Morgana cursed.

Death God Carl: "..."

Fortunately, Death God Carl knew very well that Morgana was not crazy, she was just venting her anxiety and fear.

The two have known each other for so many years, and Death God Carl can complete the modeling of Morgana in his mind with his eyes closed, and it is the kind that is clear in every detail.

Naturally, he also knows Morgana's thinking mode and psychology very well.

"The fleet of Taotie has arrived at Blue Star. As long as you hide yourself well, there should be no danger."

Death God Carl said to Morgana gently.

"Not enough, Queen, I was robbed and killed, I don't feel safe enough!"

Morgana bargained.

"... How about this, I still have a peak beast body on Blue Star. With it to help you block the knife, you will be safer."

Death God Carl said.

"Peak beast body? You still have such a good thing hidden!"

Morgana didn't expect that she could really squeeze oil out of the stone by squeezing it!

Of course, she didn't know that Death God Carl was not a stone, but a super oil field that would spray tens of millions of tons of oil once it was dug.

"I will arrange Snow and Taotie to activate and reshape Crocodile God Soton."

Death God Carl said calmly.

The reason why he handed Crocodile God Soton to Morgana was, on the one hand, he was worried about Morgana's safety and to ensure the next plan, and on the other hand, he really didn't expect someone to rob the Demon Queen.

More importantly, the Demon Queen's fourth-generation divine body was destroyed, and she couldn't escape.

The other party was very strong in hiding and keeping secrets of dark plane information, and the God of Death Carl couldn't read any of his dark information!

He suspected that Luther might have mastered the dark plane information erasure technology similar to his own.

"Carl, that guy from Krypton civilization, can you really not read his dark plane information?"

After Morgana got the benefit, she finally put aside her aggressiveness and began to discuss their plan.

She felt that the biggest change was Luther, who claimed to be from Krypton civilization. His origin was unknown, his strength was strong, and the speed of digesting the fourth-generation divine body technology made him a top-level scientific research god. He might be at the same level as Carl and himself!

There is a certain difference between the main god of civilization and the king level. The former is the main god of a civilization, but it is also divided into scientific research gods and combat gods, etc.

It cannot be said that the configuration of the main god is worse than that of the general god body. If you can become the main god of civilization, then the configuration must be the best in the entire civilization.

It's just the best configuration of your own civilization.

As for the king level, there are only a few recognized king levels in the known universe, and this is the reputation and prestige that has been earned!

In other words, the main god of civilization is not equal to the king level, but the king level is basically the main god of civilization.

The current situation is that an unknown king-level combat power appeared on Blue Star. Morgana and the god of death Carl don't know whether he saw Morgana passing by and robbed her, or what he planned to do on Blue Star.

"The big clock can't locate his existence, so naturally there is no way to try to read his dark plane information."

The god of death Carl said calmly.

If it can provide positioning, the big clock has a great chance of reading the other party's dark plane information. After all, he has not seen a celestial-level supercomputer that can compete with the big clock, let alone a mere third-generation god body.

Even if the other party is a top scientific research god, it is no exception!

"What should we do? What if he is still on Blue Star? Will it affect our plan? Kaisha, that bitch, has a much better reputation in the known universe than us."

Morgana said unhappily.

After discussing and Morgana restored all the conversation information of Luther, they have roughly speculated that this Kryptonian civilization that they have not calculated and discovered in the known universe is likely to be a super-god civilization existing in the fringe space!

It is not clear why the super-god civilization in the fringe space has a main god running to the known universe, but they are very sure that the other party will definitely investigate the situation in the known universe first.

In addition, unlike the situation in the fringe space that cannot be calculated and measured, as long as there is a celestial-level supercomputer better than the Deno III, it is no problem to calculate and collect most of the information.

In terms of reputation alone, the angel civilization is definitely one of the best. Morgana is worried that Luther will help Kesha and make friends with this main god.

"He can't help Kesha. As long as everything goes well, the curtain call of the holy Kesha is destined."

The god of death Carl shook his head. It is impossible for a king-level to affect his operation of destroying Kesha without knowing the information.

"Then it will be my turn after Kesha's curtain call, right?"

Morgana sneered, and became more and more wary of the confidence of the God of Death Carl. At the same time, she decided to dismantle herself after returning to Demon No. 1, and then use the materials to reshape the fourth generation of the body!

Even if the God of Death Carl repeatedly assured that he had not done anything, and Morgana's own gene engine system and supercomputer did not calculate any problems, she still did not believe the God of Death Carl.

"I won't do that, respected Queen Morgana."

The God of Death Carl helplessly assured again.

"Humph, it's better to do this. If everything goes well, that bitch Kaisha will be eliminated. What if it doesn't go well? I can't deal with or stop that guy, and my men can't either!"

Morgana continued.

"Let's talk about it then, maybe he will become our helper."

The God of Death Carl didn't think he would definitely become an enemy. Isn't it just that Morgana was destroyed once? It's not a big deal.

In the face of interests, there is no complete enemy. Turning enemies into friends is the most appropriate thing for the God of Death Carl. He doesn't want to use his few void engines and void warriors for this.

However, the Death God Carl could trade the fourth generation divine body technology and materials with Luther.

He only got the technology, but the materials were not so easy to get.