

Kryptonian 70

Chapter 70 Death God Carl comes to see you!

"They are probably people from the Kryptonian civilization."

Carl, the god of death, said.

Even a super-divine civilization like Morgana cannot do it, and neither can the Sun civilization.

The most common weapons in the Lieyang civilization are stellar energy-driven weapons. They may be about the same in power, but there are definitely no weapons like the Lieyang class.

Apart from the Angel Civilization, there is really no other civilization in the known universe that has so many flame-level weapons.

Therefore, Death God Carl speculates that they are likely to be people from the Kryptonian civilization in the edge space.

"People from the Kryptonian civilization?"

Morgana's eyes widened. Her data analysis didn't know why it felt like there was something familiar about these people's super genes, but not much.

The demonic civilization is quite generous with its own genes. Morgana did not even put any genetic lock on the demonic genes. On the contrary, she spread the demonic genes everywhere.

Even the super gene engine was undefended, mainly because Morgana didn't think that people she liked would unlock it, and people she didn't like... there was no need to set up a gene lock. The main thing was to be casual.

Those who are interested in it are basically those who have crossed over from the original super gene to the super gene engine. Even if they obtain the devil gene, the material aspect is enough to choke them.

With only genes and no technology, it has no idea how to make materials.

The people I don't like are the major super-divine civilizations. They have better ones themselves, so there's no need.

As for the research on demon genes...it's not a void engine, it's only on individuals. Morgana can solve it by upgrading or improving it at will.

More importantly, Morgana is very willful about the mutation of demon genes. The demon genes of her men are replaced very quickly because they are basically mutated.

In the original plot, why she wanted to grab a nuclear bomb? On the one hand, she was too lazy to find the materials to synthesize a nuclear bomb herself. On the other hand, she planned to put the devil's genes into the nuclear bomb, explode it and then spread it.

This method can cause demon genes to mutate under the influence of nuclear radiation. The very first Kamigawa civilization did this. However, the Kamigawa civilization used supercomputers to strictly control the mutation process at the beginning.

Morgana's main skill is randomness. Usually, after a nuclear explosion, a large number of deformed demons will be created, possessing original super genes.

But it is also possible that a very powerful demon will mutate, such as one that can be driven by dark energy, or have some special superpowers.

Then these demons will become Morgana's new subordinates, some of which are particularly powerful and outstanding. Morgana will directly overwrite the opponent's dark data with her original demon warriors, so that she can obtain this super gene at the same time. No need to waste time cultivating loyalty and learning.

Logically speaking, Morgana should have accumulated many powerful mutant demons over the years.

But she couldn't hold it back and her entire army was wiped out every time. She only won once, so all her men were gone.

Closer to home, after Morgana read the information from the dark plane, she learned that these people were really warriors of the Kryptonian civilization.

Luther modified the dark plane information, and it was difficult for Morgana and Death Karl to tell whether the dark plane information had been modified.

After all, he first came with a shield and then a modification, and these Kryptonian warriors themselves also have the technology to encrypt their own dark plane information.

This results in limited information on the dark plane.

"Since they are warriors of the Kryptonian civilization, the next step will be easy."

The god of death, Carl, directly asked Snow to contact these Kryptonian warriors and ask for a meeting with Luther, the main god of Krypton.

Snow's dark energy shield is very powerful. In the original plot, he appeared and disappeared behind Angel Chase, which shocked even Angel Chase.

"I understand, my god Carl."

Snow already knew the strength of this group of Kryptonian civilization. The main god of Krypton alone gave his own main god a headache and Morgana, the fourth generation king of the demonic civilization, was destroyed once.

Even if Morgana's strength was not complete at that time, not just any civilized god could destroy her.

So Snow's attitude was very low.

Of course, he represents his own god Karl after all, so he can lower his profile when facing Luther, but he doesn't have to do so when facing these Kryptonian warriors.

The five Kryptonian warriors killed countless Taotie. At this moment, the Taotie suddenly stopped attacking and began to leave the surface.

"They retreated?"

The Kryptonian warriors were very surprised.

"My god said, kill them all, leave no one behind!"

The leading Kryptonian warrior said calmly.

At this moment, a figure appeared in front of them.

"Hello, fellow warriors of the Kryptonian civilization."

Snow, wearing a metal skull mask and a black cloak, said to them.

"Who are you?"

The Kryptonian warrior looked down at Snow.

"I am Snow under the command of Karl, the God of Death. I am here to meet with the Lord of Krypton on behalf of my god Karl. My god Karl wants to talk to the Lord of Krypton."

Snow said.

"Karl the God of Death?"

The Kryptonian warriors don't know everything. At least they know most of the information about the known universe.

Therefore, I also know something about the Death God Karl of the Death Song Academy of the Styx Civilization. He is one of the top gods in the known universe.

In the memories of these Kryptonian warriors, they are from liminal space.

"We will ask the Lord God for instructions on this matter."

The Kryptonian warrior said to Snow.

Luther took Qilin back to his home, which was naturally not Qilin's home.

"My god, Karl, the god of death, wants to talk to you."

The Kryptonian warrior came to Luther and said.

"Want to talk to me?"

Luther immediately understood why the Taotie invaded on a large scale. Are their feelings looking for him?

That's right, in the eyes of gods like Death Karl, this is undoubtedly the best way to find him.

Luther knew very well that it was not enough for him to rely on his biological force field to block information from the dark plane. If others really wanted to find him, they could still find him.

The simplest and most troublesome elimination method is enough. Read the dark plane information of every Blue Star person. By then, whoever cannot read it will be Luther.

That's why Luther released a fog of war for himself, but he didn't expect that it would cause such a situation.

He doesn't feel that he has a great responsibility. He doesn't agree that the greater the ability, the greater the responsibility.

"Talk to me, what's there to talk about?"

Luther thought thoughtfully, there must be no light from the sun in the Death God Karl, otherwise he would not need to ask Pan Zhen from the Blazing Sun Civilization to help explode the black hole to obtain void particles.

As for other needs, it's probably only the void engine