

Kryptonian 821

Chapter 821: Sweep the world and rebuild it!

As a result, Yhwach immediately activated his ability to change the future, but Aizen Sosuke suddenly vomited blood at this moment and his face was as pale as paper.

Although his Mirror Flower, Water Moon is strong, it cannot resist Yhwach's tampering with the future.

It was an attack that transcended physics and rules and directly affected the essence of existence, making Aizen feel an unprecedented threat.

He has integrated Kyoka Suigetsu into himself. Yhwach cannot break Kyoka Suigetsu, but he can change the future and directly attack Aizen Soyousuke.

Seeing the real world and feelings again, Yhwach's eyes flashed. Esdeath had already walked in front of him.

He did not dare to neglect, and quickly used the power of the Spirit King to condense the Crusader Saber, and the black saber struck Esdeath.

Esdeath waved the weapon in his hand lightly in an almost joking manner.

There was no earth-shattering roar or dazzling light with that knife, but it was like a sharp blade cutting through time and space, easily splitting Yohabach's seemingly indestructible body into two.

This scene not only shocked everyone present, but also made Yohabach feel unprecedented fear for the first time. He quickly used the powerful recovery ability of the Spirit King to reshape his body, but the shock in his heart could not subside for a long time.

"Holy chant! Holy praise!"

Yhwach's voice echoed on the battlefield. He no longer held back and released the power in his body with all his strength. Layers of defenses emerged like a tide, trying to isolate Esdeath.

Under the influence of the Spirit King's power, these abilities have been strengthened and changed.

However, in the face of Esdeath's seemingly ordinary sword, which actually contained endless power, all defenses seemed so feeble.

Wherever the blade passed, everything was cut in two. No matter whether it was solid armor or a powerful spiritual pressure barrier, it could not stop it in the slightest.

Yhwach's body was split into two again, and then torn apart.

But Yhwach did not give up. He relied on the tenacious vitality of the Spirit King to be reborn and stand up again and again.

Every time he was reborn, he was accompanied by more crazy attacks and defenses, but every time, he was defeated by Esdeath's seemingly simple but actually infinitely powerful blade.

As time passed, Yhwach's power as the Soul King began to gradually run out. His movements became slower and the light in his eyes gradually dimmed.

He knew that he had reached the end of his rope. However, even in such a desperate situation, he still did not give up struggling and still tried to find that glimmer of hope.

But Esdeath didn't give him any chance.

She swung the knife lightly, and the final blow was like the death sentence, completely ending Yhwach's struggle.

However, Yhwach himself is not so easy to kill, and his will was later killed by Kurosaki Ichigo's son.

If he hadn't been killed, Yhwach could still make a comeback, but at that time it was probably Ichigo Kurosaki's son who could kill Yhwach instantly with a single brush.

Yhwach, this crazy ruler who once intended to subvert the order of the three realms, confuse life and death, and create a world without fear, seems so powerless at this moment.

His body was torn apart by Esdeath's final blow, and his lower body gradually turned into nothingness and dissipated into the air.

His eyes were full of unwillingness and anger, which was an accusation of unfair fate and regret that his grand plan could not be realized.

As Yhwach's body was shattered, an indescribable wave of energy spread out. It was the struggle of the Soul King's power unwilling to be restrained, and it was also a precursor to the imminent collapse of the order of the three realms.

"The road has been sealed, the road to a world without fear."

Yhwach's voice was weak and trembling, and every word seemed to be squeezed out from between his teeth, full of unwillingness and hatred.

All my efforts seemed so insignificant in front of that irresistible force.

"The present world, Hueco Mundo, and Soul Society are one in themselves and should be integrated into one. Life and death should be mixed and integrated into one, but now it is no longer possible..."

His voice gradually became lower and lower, and finally turned into a wisp of smoke, dissipating in the wind.

"What a shame! What a shame!"

Yhwach's anger and unwillingness turned into feeble sighs. He seemed to see the world in his dreams collapse before his eyes, and all his efforts were in vain.

However, reality is cruel, and his ambition and obsession can only lead to this ending.

Yhwach seems to be making his final accusation against himself and the world.

His words were full of dissatisfaction with the current situation and despair for the future. It was a cry that transcended personal grievances and deeply questioned the laws of the universe.

However, this cry was quickly swallowed up by the endless darkness, and Yhwach's fire of life was eventually extinguished.

At this moment, a figure suddenly appeared on the battlefield, breaking the original tranquility.

That was Ichibei, the military master, an old but extremely wise monk. His appearance seemed to herald a new turn of events. He walked quickly towards Yhwach's body, his eyes shining with hope.

"etc!"

"Youhabach has now gained the power of the Spiritual King. You can use him as a wedge to stabilize and rebuild the Three Realms!"

The voice of the military master Ichibei was firm and powerful. He seemed to see the hope of rebuilding the Three Realms and restoring order.

However, Esdeath shook her head, with a sneer on her lips.

"No, there will be no Three Realms in the future."

Her voice was cold and resolute, and the blade in her hand swung again, cutting the body of Yhwach into countless particles smaller than molecules.

These particles drifted gently with the wind and finally disappeared in the air, as if they had never existed.

Ichibei Hyoshibu's pupils shrank suddenly, and he couldn't believe what was happening in front of him.

He thought he could use the power of Yhwach to rebuild the Three Realms, but he didn't expect Esdeath to be so determined to destroy all these hopes. He was stunned in place, and didn't come back to his senses for a long time.

"It's over!"

Ichibei Hyoshibu felt a sense of despair in his heart.

However, he did not give up, and a thought quickly flashed through his mind-Ichigo Kurosaki.

The boy who has the status of a candidate for the Soul King and has also integrated the power of the Hollow may become a new hope.

Thinking of this, Ichibei Hyoshibu's eyes glowed again.

Just now he arranged for someone to secretly protect Ichigo Kurosaki to ensure his safety.

Ichigo Kurosaki's kindness and tenacity also make him believe that if he were to become the new Soul King, he would work hard for the peace and stability of the Three Realms.

Chapter 822 Reading more books is good for you

More importantly, Ichigo Kurosaki not only possesses the power of the Soul King, but also integrates the power of the Hollow. This unique physique makes him the most suitable candidate for the Soul King.

Perhaps he is not as powerful as the Soul King, but his potential is stronger than the Soul King.

Because the power of the Hollow is a power that the Soul King does not have. The Soul King and the Hollow are opposites, while Ichigo Kurosaki has the power of the Death God, the power of the Quincy, the Fullbring, and the power of the Hollow.

Ichigo is the best candidate for the Soul King, and the most perfect collection of the blood of all races since the Soul King.

Ichigo has been the chosen one since birth.

Ichigo's strength improvement is reflected with his understanding of himself.

Because even Ichigo's strongest power has been possessed from the beginning, and all Ichigo has to do is to understand and recognize it.

However, Ichigo not only did not recognize it immediately in the process of understanding it, but even rejected it many times, resulting in his own strength fluctuating.

When his own strength greatly exceeds the current level, it is considered to be cheating.

In fact, Ichigo himself is a cheat.

Hyoshibu Ichibei immediately wanted to find Kurosaki Ichigo to be the wedge between the three realms.

"It's useless, Kurosaki Ichigo has already arrived in the new world."

Esdeath said with a smile.

"New world?"

Hyoshibu Ichibei was stunned. Isn't it the God World?

"The Soul King's Three Realms are too failed, so now it is the God King's New World."

Esdeath said disdainfully.

The Soul King's Three Realms fell apart, turned into nothingness and chaos, and now only the Soul City and the God World created by the God King that were born before still exist.

And the New World was just created by the God King to accommodate the humans in the world.

Kurosaki Ichigo and the others were all transferred to the New World by the omniscient and omnipotent God King.

From then on, there was no world created by the Soul King.

Hyoshibu Ichibei couldn't accept this, but there was no way, he couldn't change all this.

In this case, Kurosaki Ichigo would definitely not want to be the wedge, he just wanted to protect everything he wanted to protect, his family, the world.

But now everything is fine, so why does Kurosaki Ichigo still want to sacrifice himself to become the Soul King?

He is a person who is willing to be ordinary and content with the status quo even if he has obtained powerful power.

Luther created a new world, and Soul City became a place of reincarnation.

The souls of the dead will not go through the transformation process of the Hollow, but will go directly to Soul City, and then the evil will be broken up into spirit particles, participating in the balance and operation of the spirit particles in this world, and the souls of the good can be directly reincarnated.

The Gods of Destruction in the God World are the last souls, Hollows and Death Gods. Even if someone becomes a God of Destruction next, it will only be a human, not a soul.

They have only one duty, to guard Soul City and suppress Hell.

After all, Luther will not stay here for too long. As long as there is no problem in Soul City, then Hell will not be able to turn over.

He also created the unique "Son of God", the God Particle.

Like the Instrument and Spirit Particle, it constitutes the new elements of this world, but the Son of God will only exist in the God World. When the Gods of Destruction are recognized, they will transform the Son of God and gradually make themselves the real God of Destruction.

As for what to do with the people of the Thirteenth Division of the Gotei, it's a cold dish.

Either go to Soul City to be a jailer, or enter the two places of "purification" and "reincarnation" by yourself.

Purification is to directly break up the souls of evil people. Even spirits with third-level spiritual power or above can be broken through purification and finally decomposed into spirit particles.

The same is true for reincarnation. No matter what kind of existence it is, once it enters here, it will become the purest soul reincarnation.

After understanding the mechanism of Soul City, the remaining people of the Thirteenth Division of the Gotei finally decided to guard Soul City.

Some people choose to go through the God Gate and go to the God World.

As for the new world, ordinary people cannot go through the God Gate, and the souls of Soul City cannot go to the new world.

This earth-shaking change is really eye-opening for everyone.

Of course, there are also those who cannot accept it, and such people are naturally sent to purification or reincarnation.

Anyway, not a single spirit particle is given to hell, just see how hell rebels!

Soul City ensures that the lid on hell will never change, and it will even continue to increase in weight, which is enough.

Finally, Hyoshubu Ichibei was still worried and went to the God World, intending to become a destroyer god to supervise the new world.

This new world does not need anyone to act as a wedge. Luther created a world that can operate and maintain itself.

However, the monk naturally could not accept such a change for a while, and was always worried that something would happen.

Luther just let it go. Anyway, he didn't care what the Death God World would become. If everything he arranged was run honestly, at least this world would be safe and stable.

[Thank you so much.]

The Soul King appeared in front of Luther.

"So, you were just ignorant at the beginning. If you read more, you can solve this problem yourself."

Luther looked at the Soul King calmly and said.

Esdeath was originally cooperating with Luther to relax moderately. Seeing that the Soul King appeared in a tangible posture, and was complete, how could he be incomplete?

[I have taken back all my power. Next, I plan to reincarnate.]

The Spiritual King is the biggest lid. If there is no problem with him, there will be no problem in hell.

More importantly, Luther killed the existence and birth of the void from the very beginning. Soul City can automatically absorb souls, and there is no process of souls turning into voids.

For the Spirit King, it was so relaxing that both problems were solved, and he could finally get off work.

And it is more suitable than the irreversible future that I saw.

"If you reincarnate, why not give me a thank you gift? After all, you have also benefited."

Luther said with a smile.

The benefit he mentioned was naturally that this kind of reincarnation was actually a good opportunity for the Spirit King to gain the power of the void. The Spirit King also saw this, so he decisively chose to reincarnate.

[I have nothing to give you. This strength is my gratitude.]

The Spirit King did not refuse, and gifted all his power in a cool manner, condensing it into an existence structure like Bengyu, and then went to Soul City.

Luther held this "Spirit King Jade". It was Bengyu, but it was a more advanced thing than Bengyu.

"Here you go, Esdeath."

Luther checked the Spirit King Jade and made sure there was nothing wrong with it before giving it to Esdeath.

"Give me?"

Esdeath was very surprised.

But she was not polite to Luther.

Chapter 823 Kryptonians vs. Frieza

Esdeath took the Soul King Jade. She had seen Aizen use the Bengyu Jade, so she could probably guess the effect of this thing.

"The effect of the Spirit King Jade is stronger than you think."

Luther saw through Esdeath's inner thoughts and said with a smile.

"Stronger?"

Esdeath looked at the Soul King Jade in his hand.

"Especially the strengthening effect of Qi, but to what extent it can be achieved depends on your own development."

Luther himself had the power of transcendence and looked down upon any power at all. Moreover, after experiencing it once, Luther became wary of external forces.

Besides, this Spirit King Jade is of little use to him, so it is just right for Esdeath.

If there is any problem then, he can also help Esdeath solve it.

The two then left the world of death.

The Soul King was queuing up in front of the reincarnation in Soul City, and suddenly looked up at the sky.

"Leaved?"

He smiled slightly, Soul City is a huge gathering place of spirit sons, and those scattered spirit sons mixed a lot of hollow power in it. Because Hueco Mundo no longer exists, the hollow power has also been dispersed.

The Spirit King plans to experience this world and accumulate strength to completely solve the problem of hell.

Now, if he has the power of the Spirit King and the power of the void, it may be possible to completely solve hell.

"I don't know if we can meet again... But for such a being, this world is just a scenery on the roadside. Once you take a look at it, you will never take it to heart or look back."

The Spirit King sighed.

He silently watched Luther's behavior, but Luther did nothing. He was just there basking in the sun and observing the world. This shows that nothing about the God of Death can cause Luther to react, and he has no idea of contact or interaction. , is the perspective of a completely high-dimensional observer.

When humans see ants, they will look at them curiously or play with them, but gods would not behave like this.

It is impossible for even humans to arouse the interest of gods, let alone ants?

He originally prepared various beauties to interact with Luther, or various interesting people, but Luther didn't care at all. Instead, the Esdeath he brought was obviously a fighting maniac.

From Esdeath, the Soul King felt that Luther still had emotions, but he didn't know why he was unmoved.

Luther returns to the Marvel Universe with Esdeath.

The Spirit King Jade in Esdeath's hand had disappeared and entered her body.

Inside is the power of the Soul King that Yhwach desires so much, and it is even more advanced.

Yhwach's omniscience is not omnipotent at all, but the power of the Soul King makes it possible.

Although the Spirit King is also defined as omniscient and omnipotent, for example, with both hands, one hand controls the power of forward movement, and the other hand controls the power of regression.

However, true omniscience and omnipotence are naturally not so narrow. Luther had reached this state long ago. After he transcended the single universe, he had the power of omniscience and omnipotence.

But even so, the power of the Spirit King is enough for Esdeath to use, and it can satisfy all of Esdeath's thoughts and wishes.

The premise is not to have such outrageous wishes and ideas.

"It's almost time."

After Luther came back, he looked at the time.

Then he discovered that the time was just right, Frieza from the Dragon Ball universe had already left for Earth.

In the DC universe, the Kryptonians have probably been developing for a long time.

Next is Luther's long-awaited plot of the Kryptonian versus the Universe Emperor Frieza.

DC Universe!

Terra star system!

After Luther appeared here, he saw Kryptonian buildings all over New Krypton.

One hundred years have passed here, and the flow of time is not the same as that on Earth in the DC universe.

It is estimated that only half a year has passed on the Earth side.

After all, the giant star Terra and nearby massive objects affect the flow of time here.

Luther appears on New Krypton.

It immediately caused a reaction from New Krypton.

Not long after, General Zod, who had become a little older, appeared.

"Your Excellency, Inspector."

General Zod looked at Luther, whose appearance had hardly changed, and said quickly.

"Zod, I came to you this time because Frieza is here."

Luther said to Zod.

"We're ready!"

General Zod immediately replied that they originally thought that the war would come soon, but they did not expect to wait for a hundred years.

If it hadn't been for the transformation and changes in the lives of all Kryptonians caused by the Star of Terra, he might not have been able to wait for Luther's arrival.

It can only be said that the concept of time of the Milky Way Inspector is very different from theirs.

"Now Krypton has formed a legion."

One hundred years is enough time for the Kryptonians to develop a legion, which may not even be much worse than Krypton in its heyday.

In the past, the enemy may have had a numerical advantage, but now, General Zod ensures that the enemy no longer has such an advantage.

Under the continuous and subtle strengthening of Terra Star, the Kryptonians are terrifyingly strong!

"Okay, next, I will take you there."

Luther said.

General Zod immediately called in his troops.

The Kryptonians quickly gathered together. They had been looking forward to this day for a long time. From the moment they were born, they knew that they were the guardians of the galaxy. This was what General Zod told them. They were also afraid that they might not be able to wait for the arrival of the Galactic Supervisor.

So they have a strong sense of mission.

After seeing this situation, Luther wondered if the next script of the Kryptonians invading Marvel would be difficult to shoot.

After all, they all have such a strong sense of mission.

But he didn't say anything. After seeing that they were ready, Luther waved his hand and took them away.

Then he appeared in the Dragon Ball Universe.

Luther released the news, and the Dragon Ball that could make wishes naturally attracted Frieza's attention.

In order to grow five centimeters taller, King Frieza personally took his men out.

Of course, he certainly couldn't say this to the outside world. To the outside world, King Frieza said that he wanted to become immortal.

Otherwise, if he said that he wanted to grow five centimeters taller, his men might have opinions.

Because Luther did it on purpose, Frieza didn't know that Namek also had Dragon Balls, and just thought that Earth had Dragon Balls.

After all, the Great Elder of Namek had helped him in the past, so Luther let Frieza come to Earth to avoid harming Namek.

At this moment, Frieza's army has already arrived on Earth. The Z Warriors of Dragon Ball are naturally no match for Frieza's army because they lack the problems caused by the invasion of Saiyans.

Chapter 824 The King in a Baby Carriage

Of course, there was also a reason why Luther told Dr. Gero not to move, otherwise Frieza would have been captured by the android army.

Bulma and the others were not injured either, and the dragon ball radar was given to Frieza by Dr. Gero.

Under the sky dyed red by the afterglow of the setting sun, Frieza sat quietly in his extremely luxurious floating baby carriage with a disdainful smile on his lips.

Around him were his loyal subordinates Dodoria and Sabo, who looked nervously at the sudden change in the sky, as if even the air was frozen at this moment.

The ticking sound of the dragon ball radar was particularly harsh in the silence, and the light emitted by the seven dragon balls gathered into a bright beam of light in Frieza's hands, which was about to realize his long-standing ambitions and desires.

However, fate always seemed to like to play a little joke at the critical moment.

Just as Frieza was about to close his eyes and make a wish that would change the universe (let him grow five centimeters taller, and his combat power would naturally increase significantly!), the sky was suddenly covered with dark clouds and thunder roared, as if even the heaven and earth were trembling for the coming storm.

This sudden change made everyone present feel an unprecedented sense of oppression.

"Lord Frieza, the situation is not good. It seems that an unknown army is approaching us!"

The combat power detectors of the people present all rang.

They had never seen an invader of such a scale, and they had never expected that such a powerful foreign enemy would attack at such a critical moment.

However, Frieza's reaction was extremely calm. He sat in the gorgeous baby carriage with a playful smile on his lips, as if all this was within his expectations.

Sabo's eyes were like torches, scanning the surroundings, trying to catch any trace of the enemy from the dense clouds.

Frieza gently raised his hand, indicating that the two did not need to panic.

"Oh, is it a trap?"

He asked softly, with a tone that showed both curiosity about the unknown and absolute confidence in his own strength.

In Frieza's view, apart from the few opponents he could face, there was nothing else in the universe that he feared.

Although the God of Destruction Beerus was powerful, he was an existence of another level.

"Hmph, a mere ant dares to act rashly in front of me? No matter who it is, it is just a stepping stone on my way to conquer the universe."

His tone was full of confidence and arrogance, as if there was no power in the world that could stop him from moving forward.

At this moment, the sky seemed to be torn apart by an invisible force, and a repressive and solemn atmosphere suddenly descended, causing everyone present to look up involuntarily.

The Kryptonian army led by General Zod, like the God of War army returning from the ancient stars, crossed the boundaries of time and space in an unimaginable spectacular posture and descended on this blue planet.

Their arrival was not accompanied by thunderous roars or deafening explosions, but only by the silent but heart-shaking arrival.

Thousands of Kryptonians, every step they took seemed so orderly and efficient, as if it was a mechanical dance that had been precisely calculated, yet it did not lose the agility and power of life.

They streaked across the sky like a meteor shower, leaving behind a series of brilliant trails, and finally landed slowly on the earth. Each landing was accompanied by a slight tremor, announcing the arrival of new power.

At the forefront of this mighty army stood General Zod.

His muscles were knotted, as if they were forged from the hardest metal, and each muscle contained explosive power.

His armor was engraved with complex patterns, which flickered under the light, as if they contained some ancient and mysterious power.

General Zod's eyes were as sharp as an eagle, penetrating the crowd and falling directly on Frieza in a baby carriage not far away.

At that moment, a hint of surprise and curiosity flashed in his eyes, and more of a warrior's vigilance against unknown powerful enemies.

"Is this the Frieza who can shake the stars and make countless planets tremble?"

"General, according to the information provided by Mr. Supervisor, Frieza has a terrifying energy attack ability, which is powerful enough to destroy planets and even star systems. However, its physical strength is relatively weak, which is the key to our Kryptonian advantage."

The scientific research Kryptonian on the side quickly intervened. His voice was calm and clear, and every word was like a precisely calculated instruction, providing General Zod with valuable strategic analysis.

"The combat power detector has conducted a comprehensive scan of them. The results show that their racial characteristics have no complete matches in the known universe. The closest ones are Earthlings and Saiyans, but the similarity is only 50%. What's more amazing is that their per capita combat power has reached an astonishing 2,000 units! This is far beyond our conventional understanding of life on Earth."

On the other side, Frieza's deputy Sabo said, with shock in his tone.

Although the Earth is remote, there is information about the Earth in the universe. They had already investigated the Earth before coming.

With an average combat power of 2000 per person, they are already a powerful entity that can run rampant in the universe, and are enough to make any ordinary army flee.

The Frieza Army has not yet reached the strength of the Dragon Ball Super era, and a combat power of more than 1000 is enough to kill the miscellaneous soldiers of the Frieza Army.

The reason why Saiyans are regarded as the best tools by Frieza is precisely because they not only have fighting power beyond ordinary people, but also have unparalleled fighting will and wisdom.

The Saiyans are also regarded as the most useful tools by Frieza because they can reach more than 1,000 combat power per person and are smarter than the cultivators.

What's more important is that not all cultivators have a combat power of more than 1,000, but the special environment of the earth allows cultivators with such high combat effectiveness to be born.

However, the Kryptonians have their own unique advantages.

They have specialized physical abilities and strength. Although they may not be able to explode as easily as some races, their thick skin and excellent melee capabilities make them almost invulnerable in close combat.

This differentiated advantage may become the key to victory or defeat in the upcoming battle.

"It's really excellent."

When Frieza heard this, a playful smile appeared on his lips.

He had never seen such a strange life form, nor had he thought that he would encounter such a powerful opponent on such a remote planet.

"Who are you? Why are you here?"

Then he curiously asked General Zod about them.

Chapter 825 The Powerful Kryptonian

However, General Zod did not answer Frieza's question.

As the most outstanding warrior and commander of Krypton, he knew that words were often superfluous on the battlefield.

The glory and mission of a soldier were engraved in his genes, and his mindset was only about victory and obedience.

Therefore, he simply waved his hand and gave the order to attack.

As General Zod's low and majestic command resounded through the sky, the Kryptonian army seemed to be awakened by an ancient and powerful force. Every cell in their bodies was cheering and full of desire and expectation for the upcoming battle.

This is not just an army, they are elite warriors from Krypton, and each member has been bathed in the glory of Terra, the super active and young star, for decades. This endless energy not only nourishes their bodies, but also gives them power and potential beyond mortals.

On this battlefield illuminated by the light of the star, the Kryptonians showed a jaw-dropping combat power.

Although their average combat power is rated at more than 2000, this is just a starting point, because the real strength of Kryptonians is their comprehensive and powerful superpowers.

These abilities, like a tailor-made arsenal for them, allow every Kryptonian warrior to become an unstoppable god of war on the battlefield.

A hundred years is enough time for General Zod and his group of Kryptonians to conduct research and various training on their superpowers, and build Kryptonian warriors in all aspects!

The biological force field is one of the most basic and powerful abilities of Kryptonians.

It can not only provide Kryptonians with an indestructible defense against all physical and energy attacks, but also derive countless wonderful uses.

In battle, the biological force field is like an invisible shield, protecting Kryptonians from harm;

At the same time, it can also eliminate sonic booms and thermal barriers during movement, allowing Kryptonians to shuttle between battlefields at supersonic speeds or even faster, coming and going like ghosts, making it impossible for the enemy to catch their traces.

Super speed is another terrifying ability of Kryptonians.

With this ability, Kryptonians can easily break through the limit of the speed of sound and even reach more amazing speeds.

Their movement is no longer restricted by the laws of physics. Whether it is short-distance instant movement or long-distance high-speed sprint, it is as natural as breathing.

This speed allows Kryptonians to quickly occupy advantageous positions on the battlefield and give the enemy a fatal blow. It also allows them to quickly retreat when danger comes to ensure their own safety.

The new generation of Kryptonians have received dodgeball training since childhood. They try to avoid supersonic impact balls in a confined space as much as possible, and the number of balls will increase tenfold every time they are hit.

Super strength is the most intuitive manifestation of Kryptonian power. They have unimaginable physical strength and can easily lift 10,000 tons of boulders and even tear steel.

This power gives Kryptonians an absolute advantage in close combat. Any enemy who tries to confront them head-on will face the fate of being killed instantly.

What is even more frightening is that Kryptonians also know how to use this power and transform it into a more deadly means of attack, leaving the enemy struggling in despair.

The soldiers of Frieza's army didn't know how to use Qi to strengthen their bodies. Their combat uniforms and energy weapons were like toys and paper in front of the Kryptonians. They collapsed and disintegrated in an instant.

In addition, the Kryptonians also have a series of powerful abilities such as steel bodies, heat vision, and super breathing.

The steel body makes the Kryptonians almost invulnerable. Even the most powerful energy cannons can hardly leave a mark on them.

And the heat vision, the iconic attack method of the Kryptonians, makes the enemies terrified.

When the eyes of the Kryptonians flashed red, a high-temperature beam converted from the solar energy stored in the body would burst out, and its power was enough to cut metal, penetrate rocks, and even directly penetrate the enemy's body.

This power can not only adjust the power and range, but also instantly increase the value of the Kryptonians on the combat power detector, showing their true terrifying strength.

And super breathing allows them to control the surrounding air, forming a powerful storm or air wave, causing a devastating blow to the enemy.

Faced with such a powerful army, the Frieza army soon fell into a bitter battle.

Even the best among them, such as the fighters with a combat power of 3000, were so fragile in front of this force and were easily killed by the Kryptonians.

Although their combat power was only more than 2000, if they really fought, they might kill 5000 combat power.

Moreover, combat power detectors are useless against people who can hide their breath.

Kryptonians have biological force fields. If they don't want to, their energy will not be exposed. Otherwise, the energy filling the cells of the whole body may multiply this number several times.

"Something is wrong, these guys."

The two senior commanders Sabo and Dodoria frowned, knowing the difficulty and cruelty of this battle.

However, as the core members of Frieza's army, they must stand up and lead the army through the difficulties.

"Mr. Sabo, Mr. Dodoria, it's time to show our strength."

Frieza saw this and couldn't help but feel an unprecedented sense of crisis.

If you continue to allow these Kryptonians to wreak havoc, your own legion may fall apart overnight.

Judging from Frieza's Legion's recruitment, their requirements are very low and they rely on a large number of auxiliary personnel to find combatants. Dragon Ball Super also said that it is difficult to find someone with a combat power of 1,000.

There is also an old technician who has been in Frieza's Legion for many years.

There are rewards for finding warriors with relatively high combat effectiveness.

Therefore, even if these soldiers do not have 1,000 combat effectiveness, they are still a very important force.

Therefore, he decisively ordered the two generals Sabo and Dodoria to personally take action to stop the Kryptonian offensive.

"Yes Lord Frieza."

After receiving the order, Sabo and Dodoria immediately turned into two streams of light and rushed towards the core of the Kryptonian army - General Zod.

As long as Zod is defeated, the Kryptonian army will lose command and fall into chaos.

General Zod put his hands behind his back, watching Sabo and Dodoria attack him, and then he just stretched out a hand.

"Bang bang!"

The sound sounded almost simultaneously, and then Sabo and Dodoria flew out one on the left and the other on the right.

Chapter 826: Frieza is defeated

Dodoria and Sabo were punched away by General Zod, which surprised Frieza.

Because General Zod only used one hand.

"What?"

How is this possible!

Dodoria, as the best of Frieza's army, is well-known for his combat power of 22,000. He thinks highly of himself and thinks he is hard to beat in this universe.

However, when General Zod threw a seemingly casual punch, all his arrogance and pride turned into bubbles.

At that moment, time seemed to freeze and space trembled. Dodoria felt an irresistible force bursting out of his chest, and the whole person was thrown far away like a kite with a broken string. It was not just the displacement of the body, but also the collapse of the mind and faith.

General Zod's movements were smooth and deadly. There was no ripple in his eyes, only a pure love for fighting and a desire for victory.

He did not use any fancy techniques, but only relied on the ultimate control of power to show his suffocating strength.

"What? How is this possible!"

Dodoria's voice echoed in the air, full of disbelief and despair.

He tried to struggle and fight back, but in front of General Zod's speed and strength beyond common sense, all his efforts seemed so pale and powerless.

With a clean and neat hand knife, Doderia's head flew high like a kite with a broken string, and finally disappeared from everyone's sight, leaving only the gradually dissipating breath of life and endless shock.

"How is this... possible?"

Sabo said in surprise.

"Your combat power..."

Sabo found that General Zod's combat power was still maintained at 5000.

At this moment, although Frieza still maintained an emperor-like calm on the surface, his heart was in turmoil.

He had never seen such a strange way of fighting. Every move of General Zod seemed simple but powerful. More importantly, his combat power value did not fluctuate at all on the detector, which was completely beyond the cognitive scope of Frieza's army.

Then, General Zod turned his gaze to Sabo, who was also a warrior with impressive strength.

He tried to mobilize all his strength to defend himself, but in front of General Zod's absolute strength, all his struggles seemed so pale and powerless.

A heavy punch hit Sabo's face accurately, and with a dull bang, Sabo's body flew high like a sandbag hit by a heavy hammer, drew a sad arc in the air, and finally fell heavily to the ground.

All the bones in his body seemed to be broken, and the pain and weakness made him unable to even stand up.

Frieza was also surprised.

"It seems that these guys who suddenly appeared have mastered the skills to hide their combat power."

Frieza thought to himself, he realized that it was impossible to accurately measure General Zod's strength with conventional combat power detectors alone. These outsiders seemed to have mastered a mysterious method to hide or adjust their own combat power.

This ability is undoubtedly a huge threat to the Frieza Corps, which relies on data to judge strength.

Frieza felt very novel, but he didn't think General Zod would be his opponent.

General Zod didn't say much. He knew that words were superfluous on this battlefield. Only strength could decide everything.

With a low roar, General Zod's body seemed to turn into a flash of lightning and attacked Frieza in an instant.

The speed was so fast that it exceeded Frieza's previous experience. Even with his keen senses, it was difficult to capture General Zod's trajectory.

Frieza was shocked. He had never seen such a swift skill. At that moment, he almost forgot how to react. He could only instinctively jump out of the stroller and barely stand firm.

But even so, he failed to completely avoid General Zod's fatal blow.

General Zod's punch, like a meteorite hitting the earth, hit Frieza's face hard, knocking him out, smashing the bodies of his men along the way, leaving a mess.

This blow not only made Frieza feel unprecedented pain and humiliation, but also made him realize that he was facing an unprecedented strong enemy.

He had never thought that, apart from his brother Gula and his father King Kurd, there would be someone else who could defeat him so easily.

"Damn it! How is this possible!"

Frieza rolled in the air, his heart full of disbelief and anger.

He had never thought that he would fall into such a passive situation in such a short time.

General Zod did not give Frieza too much breathing time, as if he could see through every intention of Frieza.

He always appeared within Frieza's attack range at the most critical moment, using his indestructible fists and kicks to resolve Frieza's offensive one by one, and counterattacked Frieza to retreat again and again.

The air was filled with a strong smell of gunpowder, and every collision was accompanied by a deafening roar and dazzling light.

Frieza began to realize the huge gap between himself and General Zod, especially in speed and reaction ability.

He realized that if he continued to fight like this, he would sooner or later run out of energy and it would only be a matter of time before he was defeated.

So, Frieza decided to change his tactics.

He took a deep breath, and the muscles all over his body began to swell, emitting a dazzling light.

This is his transformation ability, and every transformation will give him a qualitative leap in strength.

However, this transformation seemed different from the past, with Frieza's eyes shining with a more crazy and determined light.

"Hmph! Let you see the true power of me, Frieza!"

With a deafening roar, Frieza's size expanded again, transforming into an even larger form.

His power also increased dramatically, as if he could shake the entire planet.

Seeing Frieza's sudden change, General Zod was surprised inside, but unmoved on the outside, as calm as steel.

"Go to hell!"

Frieza directly released the Qigong wave, regardless of whether it would splash and kill his men. Now he just wanted to deal with General Zod, the guy who made him weak.

As a result, the next moment, General Zod avoided the purple energy wave and was close to Frieza in the blink of an eye.

"Bang!"

Frieza reached out to block General Zod's attack.

"Saw it!"

Frieza shouted, and then hit General Zod with his fist, but the armor, biological force field and body of steel on the surface of General Zod's body allowed him to easily withstand the blow, and because of his research and With special training, his biological force field can play more roles.

Chapter 827 Suppression

The bio-force field of Kryptonians is their most special ability.

The bio-force field of Kryptonians is a unique biological energy with multiple functions and characteristics, which makes Kryptonians have extraordinary abilities.

The source of the ability is the special force field emitted by the body cells of Kryptonians. One of the most notable features is that the bio-force field of Kryptonians can distort the surrounding space structure, thereby effectively offsetting or even reversing the influence of gravity.

This allows them to travel freely between different planets without relying on complex propulsion systems, and to maintain balance and stability in areas with abnormal gravity.

At the microscopic level, the bio-force field can maintain the integrity of the basic particles of the Kryptonian body and prevent collapse or disintegration under extreme conditions.

This ability ensures that Kryptonians can still maintain the integrity and normal function of their bodies when facing high-energy particle storms or quantum fluctuations in the universe.

Even more amazing is that the bio-force field of Kryptonians is highly ductile and can cover and affect surrounding objects.

When Kryptonians touch or approach something, their bio-force field will naturally extend, giving the object similar properties, such as enhanced strength, stability or damage resistance.

This ability can be enhanced through special training such as stress training.

And in the past 100 years, Krypton has continuously studied the various abilities of Kryptonians, so that it can use technology to enhance these abilities.

When Frieza's fist was about to touch him, an invisible force field instantly wrapped up the incoming kinetic energy impact, just like an invisible wave gently caressing a hard reef, gently guiding and decomposing the power that could destroy the planet, and finally turning it into a strand of gentle energy, slowly blending into General Zod's body.

This is called "strike reaction field" in special training.

In order to maximize the potential of the biological force field, Kryptonians attach importance to special training in stress response, energy control, etc.

These trainings not only cover the extreme challenges of physical functions, but also involve the tempering of mental will, aiming to enable Kryptonians to quickly and accurately mobilize the biological force field for defense or counterattack in any situation.

In special training, he simulated the scene of facing a strong enemy countless times, learning how to analyze the opponent's attack pattern in a very short time, and quickly mobilize the biological force field for defense or counterattack.

This kind of training not only tests his physical reaction speed, but also requires him to have a high degree of concentration and judgment.

At the same time, the tempering of mental will is also an indispensable part. Only when the heart is strong enough can one remain calm and make the most correct decision when facing life and death.

With the advancement of science and technology, the research of Kryptonians on their own abilities has reached an unprecedented height.

Scientific research-oriented Kryptonians use advanced biotechnology, quantum physics and energetic principles to continuously develop devices and technologies that can strengthen the biological force field.

From simple energy amplifiers to complex force field control systems, the application of these technologies has greatly improved the combat effectiveness of Kryptonians. General Zod's armor and other Kryptonian armor have such technology, allowing them to exert combat effectiveness far beyond their own.

When Frieza's fist was completely absorbed by General Zod's biological force field, the balance of the battle instantly tilted.

General Zod took a deep breath, and the energy surging in his body perfectly merged with the power he had just absorbed. His eyes became extremely firm, as if he had seen the dawn of victory.

General Zod's fist swung out like lightning, and the bio-force field mobilized the power that had just been absorbed, converted it into its own kinetic energy impact, and concentrated it on his fist.

This blow not only contained General Zod's own power, but also superimposed all the kinetic energy of Frieza's fist. Its power was strong enough to scare any opponent.

"Bang!" A deafening sound, like a star bursting, shining brightly. This punch with double power hit Frieza at lightning speed.

Frieza's body drew a long arc in the air, and lost control like a planet hit by a meteorite. He tried hard to stabilize his body, but the powerful force surged like a tide, making him unable to resist at all.

After rolling several times in the air, Frieza finally managed to stabilize his body, but his face became extremely ugly. It was a complex expression mixed with shock, anger and unwillingness.

He shook his head, trying to recover from the severe dizziness, but the shocking scene just now still echoed in his mind.

General Zod's fist was not a simple display of physical strength, but a clever integration of the mystery of the biological force field.

This punch did not easily knock Frieza away like his previous opponents, but instead seemed to accurately guide a huge amount of kinetic energy into Frieza's body, striving to maximize the use of every bit of power.

The cleverness of this tactic lies in that it avoids the dissipation of energy in the air, ensuring that the destructive power of the attack can reach the core of the target directly, even facing an opponent with amazing defense like Frieza, it can cause substantial damage.

It's just that Frieza's fighting power is too strong, and every inch of his skin seems to be strengthened by energy, forming an almost impeccable barrier.

However, even such a defense seems a little powerless under General Zod's punch containing the biological force field.

Although the fist did not completely defeat Frieza, the impact that penetrated into his bones still caused severe damage to his brain. He felt dizzy for a while, as if the whole world was spinning and he had a concussion.

General Zod also felt that Frieza's body was much harder than he imagined.

Isn't physical strength a weakness?

General Zod didn't understand why, but he didn't care.

Frieza stretched out his hand to release an energy wave, and General Zod quickly dodged.

"Boom boom boom!!!"

General Zod's figure flashed and appeared in a safe place. At the same time, his eyes glowed red, and a scorching hot sight shot out instantly, like a laser cutting metal, directly penetrating the flames of the explosion and firmly locked onto Frieza's body.

"Ahhhhhh—————" Frieza let out a painful wail, and the hot sight seemed to burn his soul, making him feel unprecedented pain.

He quickly mobilized all his strength to form a protective shield to try to resist this fatal attack.

However, General Zod's thermal vision was too powerful. It not only penetrated the protective shield, but also knocked him all the way away, leaving only charred marks and a burning smell in the air.

Chapter 828: Frieza's Weakness

Just as Frieza was in a state of embarrassment and trying to stabilize his body, General Zod's figure appeared behind him like a ghost.

Without giving Frieza any chance to breathe, General Zod took a deep breath and then suddenly blew out an extremely cold breath - freezing breath, also known as super breath.

Its coldness was almost close to absolute zero in the universe. It is not just a sudden drop in temperature, but also a terrifying force that can erode the essence of matter and freeze the flow of time.

The sharp weapon of Steppenwolf, which had made countless planets tremble, also seemed so pale and powerless in front of this cold air. It instantly lost its original luster and became fragile, as if it was just a piece of thin ice in winter, which could break at any time.

Frieza, as a leader of the frozen demon clan, should have an extraordinary resistance to cold.

However, the power of this freezing breath far exceeded his imagination.

Most of his body was covered by the cold air without warning. A layer of crystal clear ice spread out as if time had stopped, tightly binding him, as if he was imprisoned in an eternal ice prison.

Under the ice, a trace of astonishment and unwillingness flashed in Frieza's pupils, but soon, this emotion was suppressed by his strong willpower.

After all, Frieza is a member of the frozen demon clan and has a natural resistance to ice.

Even this coldness close to absolute zero only made him feel a little uncomfortable, far from being fatal.

Easily broke the shackles of the ice layer and regained his freedom.

At this moment, Frieza raised his hand to release the attack. It was a terrifying energy wave that was enough to destroy the planet, with the will to destroy everything, rushing straight towards General Zod.

Facing this sudden death energy, General Zod also showed his adaptability and extraordinary strength as a top warrior.

The black armor on his body seemed to come alive at this moment, merging with his body to form an indestructible defense barrier.

At the same time, his powerful biological force field was also running wildly, decomposing and transforming the energy wave that was enough to destroy the planet layer by layer, trying to turn it into invisible.

However, even such a powerful defense seemed to be shaky under the impact of this force, and the energy flow on the surface of the armor reached an astonishing speed, as if it would collapse at any time.

"Boom————"

A deafening roar shook the entire universe.

General Zod was hit by this force, and his figure was like a fallen leaf blown up by the wind, and was thrown far away. The black armor on his body was dim at this moment, and the biological force field seemed a little disordered, obviously under great pressure.

The energy of the whole body armor has been overloaded, reaching an astonishing 500%, and a large amount of energy that has not been transformed has to be urgently discharged into the surrounding environment, causing a spectacular scene of the collapse of the sky and the earth.

General Zod's consciousness was not blurred by this sudden heavy blow. On the contrary, his brain was running at high speed like a supercomputer, and he conducted a meticulous review of the battle just now.

He used the super-fast analytical ability of his super brain to quickly review the battle process and came to several key conclusions: First, the effect of freezing breath on Frieza was not significant, and it could even be said to be negligible; second, Frieza's energy attack was extremely terrible, and once he had the opportunity to use his full strength, the consequences would be disastrous; finally, he noticed that although Frieza had strong physical strength, he was quite unfamiliar with close combat skills, which might be his only weakness.

So, General Zod quickly adjusted his combat strategy. He decided to give up those long-range attack methods that were ineffective against Frieza, and instead use his extraordinary speed, keen insight and superb close combat skills to start a close combat.

With a flash of General Zod's figure, he appeared on Frieza's flank like a ghost, and a thrilling close combat began.

Every punch and kick of General Zod contained a thousand pounds of power, but was extremely accurate, as if he could see through every move of Frieza, predict and respond in advance.

His fist wind contained the special energy of the biological force field, which could penetrate Frieza's Qi protection and directly act on his body, causing incalculable damage.

Frieza had to retreat again and again, unable to resist.

This was the effect of the biological force field, which was very powerful for both attack and defense. Even with the protection of Qi, Frieza was still beaten all over.

Frieza was used to bullying weaklings. He had great power but did not have much combat experience at the same level. Facing a soldier like General Zod who had experienced many battles, he was naturally no match.

"Asshole!"

Frieza's astonishment was hard to conceal.

He had never thought that someone could suppress him so easily in close combat. However, as a strong man in the universe, Frieza would not give up easily.

He roared, and his muscles swelled instantly. His body shape changed dramatically, jumping from the second form to the more powerful third form.

Although this form made him look uglier, the subsequent increase in strength was obvious.

"Now that I've unloaded the burden, my body feels much more relaxed."

Frieza's voice was deep and powerful, and every word hit people's hearts like a heavy hammer. His aura became stronger and stronger, as if even the space was distorted by it.

With his powerful aura, General Zod was pushed back several steps.

General Zod had a blank expression on his face and launched another attack.

This time, Frieza seemed to be prepared, and his speed miraculously caught up with General Zod.

As the fists crossed, the air waves rolled, and the whole earth seemed to tremble under the impact of this force.

The sky was dyed purple and black by their battle, and the light of the stars was also dimmed under the suppression of this force.

General Zod's bio-force field and Frieza's air protection constantly collided, producing dazzling light and deafening roars.

Frieza stretched out his finger, intending to poke through General Zod's armor and torture him.

But he underestimated the magic of the bio-force field, and General Zod had been exposed to the sunlight of Terra for a hundred years, and had evolved to a very strong level.

So his poke almost poked his finger off.

"What?"

Frieza couldn't believe it.

General Zod took this opportunity to launch a fierce attack, a series of heavy punches rained down on Frieza's face, knocking him back again and again.

Finally, Frieza was hit hard and flew thousands of meters away, falling heavily to the ground. Smoke and dust rose up, and the entire ground shook.

Chapter 829 Final Form

However, Frieza did not give up.

He struggled to get up from the ground, his eyes flashing with a more crazy fighting spirit.

However, this was not the end.

At this moment, the sky seemed to be shrouded by an invisible shadow, and General Zod's figure was like a ghost, quietly shuttling between the light and shadow, and finally fixed behind Frieza's arrogant back.

His movements were swift and precise, like the last leap of a cheetah before hunting, without a trace of extra sound, only the slight fluctuations in the air revealed his whereabouts.

General Zod knew that facing a powerful enemy like Frieza, the emperor of the universe, any rash action could be fatal.

With a perfect posture that was almost like a sculpture, he suddenly appeared behind Frieza, and his hands were like iron pliers given power by the gods, tightly grasping Frieza's seemingly indestructible neck.

At this moment, time seemed to have really solidified, and the originally noisy battlefield around became unusually quiet, and even the wind stopped blowing, leaving only the life-and-death contest between the two that seemed to tear the space apart.

In General Zod's eyes, there was no fear, no hesitation, only the desire for victory.

He knew in his heart that facing a cosmic overlord like Frieza, conventional fighting methods were tantamount to hitting a rock with an egg.

Therefore, he made a bold and decisive decision - directly attacking Frieza's vital points, ending this protracted war in the most direct and violent way.

"You... can't... beat me..."

Frieza's voice became hoarse and intermittent due to suffocation, and every word seemed to be squeezed out from between his teeth.

He never thought that he would face defeat in this way, and he could not accept that he would actually lose to a warrior from a low-level planet.

This humiliation and unwillingness burned in his heart like a raging fire, stimulating the stronger power hidden in his body.

General Zod felt the terrifying power brewing in Frieza's body, but he did not retreat at all. He took a deep breath, and at this moment, the muscles of his whole body seemed to be injected with infinite power, tense to the extreme.

An unprecedented powerful energy surged in his body, as if to break through the restraints of his body and release the power of destruction.

With a deafening roar, General Zod began to twist Frieza's neck. His movements were swift and powerful, and every bit of strength condensed his persistence in victory and hatred for the enemy.

Frieza's body was twisted and deformed under the power of General Zod, making bursts of harsh bone friction sounds. Those mutant shells and limbs that once made him proud, in the face of this irresistible force, were broken and scattered like fragile porcelain.

More importantly, because of the coverage of the biological force field, Frieza couldn't use Qi to break free.

However, at the moment when General Zod was about to win, Frieza suddenly burst out with an amazing force. This force was so strong that even the space trembled.

Frieza directly transformed into the final form, which was a terrifying existence that surpassed all his previous forms.

With a deafening roar, Frieza's body seemed to be torn apart by an invisible force, and the heavy shell fell off piece by piece like peeling snake skin, revealing his more hideous and more powerful true body.

His body became more slender and powerful, his skin showed a deep purple, and mysterious lines that seemed to contain the power of stars flowed on it.

This transformation brought not only changes in appearance, but also a qualitative leap in strength. Frieza was surrounded by a powerful air wave, which was the result of the surging energy in his body that could not be suppressed.

This air wave was like a violent storm. Wherever it passed, the stars trembled and the space was distorted. Even the stars in the distance seemed to feel the threat of this power, and the light became a little dim.

General Zod was shocked and retreated repeatedly, and was instantly repelled a thousand meters away.

At this time, Frieza was like a demon returning from hell, exuding a terrifying breath that made people's hearts palpitate. He slowly turned around, staring at General Zod in the distance with a torch-like gaze, and a cold smile appeared at the corner of his mouth.

"You should feel honored to be the first person to see my true form."

Frieza's voice was low and full of magnetism, and every word seemed to come from the abyss, with unquestionable majesty.

A cold smile appeared on the corner of his mouth, which was a kind of indifference to life and absolute confidence in strength.

"You are indeed worthy of my serious attention for allowing me to use this form."

Frieza continued, revealing an indescribable excitement and expectation in his tone.

As Frieza's words fell, the entire battlefield seemed to freeze in time.

All eyes were focused between him and General Zod, waiting for the decisive blow.

Suddenly, Frieza slowly stretched out a finger, and the seemingly ordinary action contained the power to destroy the world.

A dazzling beam of light condensed at his fingertips, which was the purest and most powerful power in his body, enough to tear space and destroy stars.

"Next, I will let you see what hell looks like."

Frieza's voice echoed on the battlefield, with unquestionable determination. The beam of light was like an arrow shot from a bow, cutting through the sky at a speed faster than the speed of sound and heading straight for General Zod.

This beam of light was not only incredibly fast, but also contained terrifying energy that was enough to destroy the entire galaxy. It cut through the darkness, illuminating everything around it, and also illuminating General Zod's resolute face.

Seeing this, General Zod's eyes flashed with a trace of determination and indomitable spirit.

He knew that he could not avoid this fatal blow, and could only confront it head-on.

So he mobilized all the strength in his body, gathered it between his eyes, and then shot out a hot line of sight.

The two forces met in the air, instantly causing an earth-shattering explosion.

It was not just a collision of energy, but also a fierce confrontation between two souls and two beliefs.

The shock wave generated by the explosion spread around at an astonishing speed. Wherever it passed, the stars shattered and the nebula dissipated, as if the entire universe was trembling at this moment.

The light and flames intertwined into a chaos, submerging everything around.

On the edge of destruction and rebirth, the figures of Frieza and General Zod were looming.

But this was just an attack for Frieza, so he continued to shoot the death ray.

Only this time it was a double death beam, much faster than the normal death beam, and it was fired with two fingers.

General Zod was unable to dodge and was hit.

Chapter 830 Nuclear fusion solar flare!

The terrifying energy directly pushed General Zod out of the earth and flew all the way in the starry sky.

Frieza was relentless and did not let General Zod go.

"Multiple Death Beams!"

He chased after General Zod relentlessly, showing unprecedented persistence in General Zod.

Unlike those races that are restricted by environmental conditions, Frieza, like the Kryptonians, is born with the ability to survive and fight in extreme environments.

The cold and loneliness of space are just a trivial background for him.

The moment the beam collided with the bio-force field, the entire universe seemed to be shocked by this force, and the light of the stars became dim at this moment.

The explosion was deafening, and the light and energy intertwined into a gorgeous sea of fire, reflecting the surrounding void like the alternation of day and night.

However, General Zod's bio-force field showed amazing resilience. Although it seemed shaky on the surface, it miraculously withstood most of the impact, winning a precious breathing opportunity for Zod.

Taking this opportunity, General Zod used the characteristics of the biological force field to cleverly deflect the remaining impact energy, and with the help of this force, he quickly left the core area of the explosion.

His figure drew a perfect arc in the universe, and then he activated the Kryptonian's unique super speed, like a flash of lightning, and rushed straight to Frieza's position.

"Boom!" Zod's fist hit Frieza's face like a meteorite, but to his shock, Frieza didn't move at all, as if the heavy blow just hit the void.

A sneer appeared on Frieza's face, which was contempt for Zod's power and confidence in his own strength.

Just as Zod was stunned, Frieza's figure appeared in front of him like a ghost, and one hand locked Zod's neck tightly like an iron clamp.

Frieza's eyes were as cold as ice, and his five fingers exerted a little force. Zod suddenly felt an irresistible force squeezing his throat. Although Kryptonians don't need to breathe, the feeling of suffocation still made his face pale, and an unprecedented sense of crisis surged in his heart.

Zod struggled hard, trying to pry open the arm that clamped him, but Frieza's strength was far beyond his imagination. No matter how hard he tried, he couldn't shake it at all.

In despair, Zod's eyes suddenly turned red like blood, and a powerful energy surged in his body. That was the unique heat vision ability of Kryptonians. He shot out the heat vision without hesitation, trying to break the deadlock.

Frieza saw this, although he was afraid in his heart, he did not hesitate to move.

He quickly turned his head to avoid it, and at the same time, the energy of his whole body burst out, forming a powerful energy storm, which bounced off the heat vision. Then, he tightened his five fingers again, and General Zod's struggle became weaker and weaker, and the fire of life seemed to be extinguished at any time.

However, at this critical moment, General Zod's super brain played an unimaginable role.

He quickly analyzed the current situation and realized that he had to take extreme measures to turn defeat into victory.

So, he did not hesitate to activate the greatest achievement of the Kryptonian scientific research team after a hundred years of research-the solar flare mode.

Unlike Superman's solar flare, Kryptonians can fully concentrate this huge energy and burst it instantly through strict training and exquisite control of the biological force field, so that they can obtain amazing combat effectiveness in a short period of time.

Superman's solar flare mode is to turn himself into a humanoid solar bomb, which can instantly turn the enemy into nothingness.

And General Zod's solar flare mode is more like a carefully planned cellular nuclear fusion, which compresses and condenses the huge energy absorbed from the yellow sun in a very short time until it reaches the critical point and then bursts out at once.

As General Zod's will was issued, his body seemed to be the core of a star that was ignited. Golden light gushed out from every pore of his body, reflecting the heavy black armor as if it was made of lava, flashing a light that was both terrifying and charming.

This light contained enough power to tear apart space, making everything around it illusory and fragile.

General Zod's aura reached an unprecedented height at this moment, and his eyes flashed with wisdom and determination, as if he could see the subtlest changes in the universe.

This power made General Zod's body swell in an instant, his muscle lines became tighter, and he was full of explosive power, like a giant beast about to break free from its shackles, ready to show the world its true horror.

However, behind this power, there is a huge price.

General Zod knew that once the solar flare mode was activated, he would pay a heavy physical price after the battle. A large number of cells would die due to excessive compression, and his body energy would be completely exhausted, falling into unprecedented weakness.

But at this moment of life and death, he had no choice but to fight for his life.

General Zod raised his foot, and his body turned into a golden lightning, instantly crossing the distance and heading straight for Frieza.

A side kick with destructive force swept towards Frieza.

This attack was not only a contest of strength, but also a clash of wills.

At this moment, the space seemed to have lost its toughness and was easily torn apart, leaving shocking black cracks, which was the testimony of the universe's laws succumbing to extreme power.

His speed was so fast that the surrounding space seemed to be solidified, and even the passage of time seemed slow.

When his toes touched Frieza's blocking arm, the space itself could not withstand the impact of this force, and a black twisted crack was torn open. Frieza was shocked by this force and flew out, his face pale, and he had obviously suffered serious internal injuries.

Frieza was also aroused unprecedented anger and fighting spirit at this moment.

He roared, and his fighting power soared instantly, reaching 100% liberation.

This is Frieza's true power, with a fighting power of more than 100 million.

At the beginning, it was only tens of millions of fighting power, because Frieza could not release his energy at once, his energy was too strong.

Frieza's body seemed to have turned into a flash of lightning, shuttling freely in the universe, and every appearance was accompanied by destructive power.

The duel between the two cosmic powers reached a fever pitch at this moment.

However, the real climax of this duel was the direct collision of their fists.

At that moment, time seemed to freeze, and all the sounds in the universe stopped abruptly.

When the two met, there was no deafening explosion, only the space itself trembling, as if even the heart of the universe was shaken by this force.
