

Kryptonian 921

Chapter 921 Hunter Attacks

"We will use these agents, combined with your black light virus abilities, to deeply program the split body."

Wesker explained.

"First, you need to accurately separate their personality and memory fragments from the target's body, and then inject these fragments into the new carrier. In this process, we will guide the minds of these fragmented bodies through potions to make them think that they are Being the same person he is, but at the same time remaining absolutely loyal to our instructions."

This will be a silent war, without smoke, but more cruel than any battle.

"We will then set up a sophisticated communication system to monitor their actions and adjust strategies at any time."

"The last and most critical step is to spread these 'shadows' quietly to the five major countries and other ninja villages. There they will collect intelligence, establish networks, and even launch raids when necessary to poison us. Paving the way for the rise of Ninja Village."

"So, let's get started."

He whispered, determination and expectation shining in his eyes.

"Let the five great ninja villages see what real fear is."

As Alex finished speaking, the atmosphere in the chamber became more solemn and tense.

Luther had a strange expression after seeing what Wesker and Alex were doing.

"Black Light VS White Zetsu?"

It can be said that there is no problem with Wesker's idea, and it even maximizes Alex's advantages and characteristics.

But the sense of deja vu of this plan is too strong, because in the ninja world, someone has already done this.

That is Black Zetsu and White Zetsu.

Bai Jue has many clones, but most of them are weak in combat effectiveness and can only be used for reconnaissance, but there are also beings like Fei with extremely strong combat effectiveness.

Bai Zetsu can absorb other people's chakra and change it into the same chakra as it is, which even the most familiar people or perceptive ninjas cannot recognize.

Zetsu's clone once absorbed other people's chakra, transformed into someone else, and sneaked into the ninja alliance to fight internally.

Although it is unknown how many White Zetsus are performing camouflage and lurking missions in the ninja world, but with the number of black light split bodies, it is difficult to say that they will not be encountered.

Then it will be fun.

In fact, the Akatsuki organization is also very concerned about the affairs of the Poison Ninja Village.

Because they also want to attract strong enough combat power.

Although the Poison Ninja Village may not be very strong, they are quite poisonous!

Hei Jue, the mastermind who hides in the dark and controls countless conspiracies, will naturally not sit idly by and ignore the rise of the Poison Ninja Village. He knew that if the power of the Poison Ninja Village could be used for his own use, it would be a great help to his plan.

So, he quietly came to the Kingdom of Waves, and with the dual purpose of exploring and wooing, he stepped into this land shrouded in poisonous mist.

"The Country of Waves..."

Black Zetsu was very confused. Why did the Poison Ninja Village choose to establish a Ninja Village in a place like the Land of Waves, which is such a shameless place?

Wouldn't other countries be more suitable, like the Country of Tang?

And they didn't know how to hide themselves, so they were exposed from the beginning, and now they have caused the fear of the entire ninja world.

He also became a public enemy of the ninja world.

But no matter what, Hei Zetsu wanted to find out the information about the Poison Ninja Village.

Uchiha Obito also came here.

"Is this the Poison Ninja Village?"

Uchiha Obito looked at the looming village in the distance shrouded in an ominous purple-black mist.

Judging from the floor space, it is really quite large.

"Those fogs are the barrier of the Poison Ninja Village. The poisonous fog technique is very powerful."

Hei Jue clicked his tongue and said, although he said he was not afraid of any poison.

Uchiha Obito doesn't even take this poison seriously. Just kidding, do you know what Kamui is?

He could just walk right in!

His interest in the Poison Ninja Village stems more from his curiosity and desire to conquer the unknown power.

In the eyes of Uchiha Obito, the poisonous mist barrier is just an insignificant barrier. His divine power space allows him to come and go freely anywhere. Even this seemingly unsolvable poisonous mist barrier cannot stop him. pace.

"Let's go in and take a look at this so-called Poison Ninja Village."

Uchiha Obito approached the poisonous mist barrier, and without any hesitation, he walked towards the poisonous mist.

At this moment, he was already in the divine space. The outside world was just a spatial projection, and the poisonous mist barrier was naturally unable to intercept Uchiha Obito.

But what Uchiha Obito didn't know was that Wesker and Alex had also placed many viruses inside the poisonous fog barrier. These viruses were like invisible eyes, quietly observing everyone who entered the poisonous fog barrier. one person.

As a result, the elusive Uchiha Obito, who came and went freely in other ninja villages, was discovered as soon as he entered the Poison Ninja Village.

When Uchiha Obito's space projection appeared in the poisonous fog, these viruses immediately activated the alarm mechanism, transmitting his position, speed and even possible action routes one by one to the command center of the Poison Ninja Village.

Of course, this command center is actually Wesker and Alex.

"It seems like a great guy is here."

Wesker did not expect that there was still the power of space, so when he saw Uchiha Obito walking through the poisonous fog barrier intact and entering the Poison Ninja Village, and his own virus feedback came back without any problems, He became interested.

This is the first time that the Poison Ninja Village has been directly invaded since its establishment.

Wesker planned to play with the other party.

"Alex, let's send our summoned beasts out."

Wesker said to Alex.

There was a communication tool in the main god space between the two of them.

"Okay."

Alex was silent.

"Summoning Technique·Hunter."

Alex's summoned beast was naturally a hunter.

They created these biochemical monsters according to the cultivation method of summoned beasts in this world, and then these biochemical monsters became their summoned beasts.

And the summoned beasts of the two of them were unrelated to each other. There was no way. The black light virus was too domineering and was completely incompatible with other viruses.

So even if they wanted to coexist, it was impossible to transform a more powerful biochemical monster.

The two hunters appeared under the call of Alex. These hunters were originally prepared as summoned beasts for the ninjas of the Poison Village. Now, they were going to test the waters.

Uchiha Obito wanted to go directly to the leader of the Poison Ninja, but the next moment, he felt something coming.

"Be careful, Obito, something is coming."

Black Zetsu immediately dived underground.

"Poison ninja?"

Uchiha Obito didn't care at all, he was discovered, how was he discovered?

As a result, when he saw the two monsters, Uchiha Obito's pupils shrank.

Chapter 922 Obito is infected with a virus

In the depths of the dim forest, the moonlight was thin, and could only barely outline the outline of the swaying shadows of the trees.

Uchiha Obito and Black Zetsu hid in the dense forest, and their auras almost blended into the night. Their eyes were as sharp as eagles, staring closely at the two figures slowly approaching in front of them - they were not ordinary beasts, but hunters endowed with special powers, surrounded by a faint chakra light, which looked extremely strange.

"Is it a summoned beast?"

Uchiha Obito whispered to himself, with a hint of doubt and disdain in his voice.

Black Zetsu's voice sounded faintly in Obito's ears: "These are not ordinary summoned beasts. The chakra aura they exude is very strong, equivalent to the chakra of the Jonin level, and reveals a trace of artificial transformation. It seems that someone wants to use them as a fighting tool."

Uchiha Obito and Black Zetsu both felt the chakra on the two hunters.

Summoning beasts are fighting tools for ninjas. After signing the agreement, ninjas can summon the summoning beasts that have signed a contract with them at any time.

Summoning beasts can be widely used in various situations, including direct combat, information transmission, exploration, and assisting ninjas in combat.

Summoning beasts, like ninjas, can also grow and can also be trained to become ninjutsu.

Wild summoning beasts are contracts with wild beasts caught or modified in the ninja world, and they are summoned when needed to help in combat.

Such summoning beasts are generally temporary, and they do not have the ability to think or speak.

When Nagato attacked Konoha, the Animal Path used the unique time and space of the Samsara Eye to summon a large number of modified summoning beasts to destroy the village; in TV447, it can be seen from the book read by Yamashiro Aoba that summoning beasts can also be obtained through manufacturing.

For Alex, there is no better choice than to make his hunter into a summoning beast.

These hunters originally had intelligence not much worse than humans, and they gained chakra, and the hunters created with ninja as a template were even more powerful.

They were equivalent to physical ninjas who were proficient in physical skills. With their strong physical fitness, they were at least the strength of special jonins.

"Humph, they actually sent a summoned beast of this level to deal with me. I was really underestimated."

Obito sneered at the corner of his mouth, and a hint of contempt flashed in his eyes.

Uchiha Obito felt that he was underestimated.

So, he let the hunters who looked like skinned frogs approach him. However, just when one of the hunters opened its big mouth full of sharp teeth and was about to pounce on Obito, its body penetrated Obito's body like a phantom, leaving no trace.

"Wood Release: Cutting Technique!"

Obito suddenly shouted, and saw the skin on his arm quickly cracked, and long wooden thorns grew out like mushrooms after rain, instantly covering the entire space.

These long thorns were extremely sharp, and with a whistling sound that tore through the air, they went straight to the two hunters.

The hunters were obviously aware of the danger, but they did not retreat. Instead, they jumped and dodged flexibly, using their extraordinary physical fitness to shuttle freely among the dense wooden thorns.

However, Obito's Wood Release Technique was not an ordinary one. Once the long thorns pierced the target, they would continue to branch and grow, trying to completely destroy the enemy from the inside.

The battle instantly entered a white-hot stage, and the forest echoed with the sharp sound of the wooden thorns piercing the air, and the low roars of the hunters when they dodged.

"You are just some pathetic creations."

Obito said coldly while controlling the Wood Release Technique.

Facing Obito's wooden thorn attack that came like a tide, the hunters did not choose to blindly resist, but showed amazing tactical qualities, using the complex terrain and trees in the forest as cover to flexibly dodge and counterattack.

Every jump, every turn, just avoided the fatal threat, while looking for opportunities to counterattack.

Wesker and Alex were watching this battle through the surrounding viruses.

"Interesting, is it an illusion?"

Wesker found that the hunter's attack always passed through Uchiha Obito, as if Uchiha Obito did not exist, just an illusion.

But his chakra creations are real, and those wooden thorns are materialized.

So, it should be an illusion?

I don't know where the main body is hiding?

"My virus is a bit strange."

Alex suddenly said.

"What?"

Wesker asked.

"My virus infected this guy, and then became extremely active, but the connection with the virus is often intermittent."

Alex didn't know how to describe it. The prototype of the black light virus has absolute control over its own virus. No matter where in the world, even if Alex is in Antarctica and the virus is in the Arctic, he can keep in touch. This is the hive consciousness network of the black light virus.

This unprecedented situation made him frown.

"What happened to my virus? Why is there such an abnormality?"

He muttered to himself.

Alex tried to use his consciousness to explore the movement of the virus, but found that they seemed to break away from the constraints of the real world at some point and entered a realm that he could not reach.

"Your virus has infected him, so let your virus take effect and see."

Wesker couldn't figure out what was going on. He couldn't think of Uchiha Obito's ability to be related to space for a while.

So Alex planned to launch the erosion of the black light virus. Now the black light virus was just lurking in Uchiha Obito's body.

Alex launched the erosion of the black light virus upon hearing this.

As Alex's mind moved, the black light virus lurking in Uchiha Obito's body seemed to be awakened by a sleeping beast and began to spread quietly in his body.

These viruses are not ordinary microorganisms, but highly evolved super pathogens that have the ability to self-replicate, mutate, and even affect the physiological functions of the host.

They are like tiny blood-colored streams, shuttling between Obito's blood vessels and cells, trying to find a breakthrough and maximize their own erosion.

They can penetrate into every cell of the host and even affect the deeper bioelectric field and energy flow.

Under Alex's control, the black light virus began to spread along Obito's chakra meridians, trying to find and destroy the key points of his energy circulation.

Alex felt an unprecedented challenge through his special connection with the virus.

He was surprised to find that his virus had mutated after coming into contact with some unknown power within Obito's body. This mutation made the virus neither completely controllable nor easily eliminated.

Chapter 923 Black Light Virus VS White Zetsu Cells

The black light virus seemed to be taken into a new dimension, a realm completely different from the real world, which made him both excited and worried.

"This is impossible...what secret is hidden in his body?"

Alex murmured, curiosity and confusion shining in his eyes. He increased his control over the viruses, trying to guide them to attack Obito's energy nodes more accurately, but the effect was minimal.

Viruses mutate so that their behavior becomes unpredictable, and sometimes they even backfire on their hosts.

Wesker frowned when he saw this. He realized that this battle was far more complicated than imagined.

He knew how powerful Alex's black light virus was, but facing an opponent like Uchiha Obito, even the virus seemed powerless.

He began to wonder if there were other ways to intervene in this battle, or at least to collect more intelligence about Obito's abilities.

"Alex, your viruses may not be able to defeat him directly, but we can use them to detect the limits of his abilities." Wesker suggested, "Let the viruses continue to go deeper and record all the abnormalities they encounter, maybe We can find a breakthrough."

Hearing this, Alex's eyes flashed with determination. He took a deep breath and devoted all his attention to controlling the virus.

This time, he no longer forced the viruses to attack Obito directly, but allowed them to explore deeply inside Obito's body in a more covert manner.

The viruses seemed to have turned into countless tiny probes, shuttling between every cell and meridian of Obito, recording all possible clues.

As time went by, the battle gradually entered a stalemate stage.

Although Obito had the upper hand with his wood escape technique, he could still feel an increasingly strong strange feeling in his body.

"What's going on?"

Uchiha Obito didn't know what was happening to his body, and he seemed to be getting more and more uncomfortable.

It felt like something was gnawing at me, but after checking, everything seemed normal.

At the same time, on the microscopic battlefield inside Obito's body, the battle between White Zetsu cells and the Black Light virus is in full swing.

White Zetsu cells, as a remnant of Kaguya Otsutsuki's ancient power, contain genetic fragments originating from the Divine Tree, a super life form that can span galaxies and absorb the essence of the universe.

Not only do these cells possess amazing regenerative capabilities, they can also quickly adapt to environmental changes and form an impenetrable defense barrier.

However, in the face of an extraordinary biological threat like the black light virus, even White Cells have felt unprecedented pressure.

Blacklight virus is a highly intelligent and constantly evolving biological entity. What is unique is its ability to quickly analyze the host cell structure and create targeted mutant forms accordingly.

In Obito's body, these viruses seemed to have self-awareness. They were no longer satisfied with simple parasitism and destruction, but began to deeply explore and utilize every subtle energy fluctuation in Obito's body.

By cleverly using the weak chakra flow in Obito's body as a cover, the black light virus quietly penetrated into the intricate symbiotic network between White Zetsu cells and Obito's own cells like a ghost.

They not only recorded the flow pattern of energy in Obito's body, but also unexpectedly discovered the subtle symbiotic relationship between Bai Zetsu's cells and Obito's body cells, and how this relationship affects the performance of Obito's overall strength.

"If it were a normal virus, White Zetsu cells would probably be able to kill it, but the black light virus is different."

Luther looked at this scene.

The black light virus is not an ordinary virus, not to mention that the Alex he set has experienced several worlds, strengthening the black light virus and becoming more powerful.

If it weren't for the fact that the White Zetsu Cells were part of the degenerated cells of the Divine Tree, and a super life form like the Divine Tree that could cross the sea of stars wouldn't be afraid of ordinary viruses, otherwise, the universe would be so vast, I don't know how many times I would have died.

Only the black light virus can cause them so much trouble.

Uchiha Obito saw that his wooden thorn had black and red tentacles wrapped around it.

"What the hell is this?"

There was a hint of trembling in Obito's voice. He had never seen such a strange and powerful enemy.

"Obito, what's wrong with you? It feels like your chakra is not right."

Black Zetsu also spoke.

"Poisoned?"

As the Chakra became disordered and the body gradually lost control, Obito realized that he might have been deeply poisoned.

Realizing that remaining in the poisonous fog barrier would be tantamount to seeking death, Obito endured the discomfort in his body and quickly exited this area full of death with the help of divine power.

Only five minutes of virtualization is obviously not enough for a place like Poison Ninja Village that is well versed in poison techniques.

After exiting the barrier, Obito and Black Zetsu fled in a hurry, but the intensity of the poison far exceeded their expectations.

Uchiha Obito's body began to show obvious changes. Blood overflowed from his nose, eyes, and ears, staining his mask and clothes red.

This is a warning signal sent by the body under extreme pressure, and it is also an intuitive manifestation of the fierce battle between white cells and black light virus.

Obito felt weak and desperate like never before, and he realized that he might really have reached the end of his life.

This scene made even the well-informed Hei Jue feel frightened.

The black light virus is not only attacking Obito's body, but also eroding his will and vitality.

"Damn it!"

Obito cursed, a look of desperation flashing in his eyes. He never thought that he would be defeated by such an invisible enemy.

The black light virus was raging in his body, devouring normal cells crazily, and launched a fierce battle for survival with white cells. Not to be outdone, Bai Jue cells activated the most extreme immune mechanism and vowed to defend their territory.

However, this kind of struggle that is either your death or my death makes Obito the ultimate victim.

"I can't die here!"

Uchiha Obito fell to the ground.

"Obito!"

You can't die, Obito!

Black Zetsu panicked. If Obito Uchiha died, the plan would have failed.

So it quickly asked a nearby White Zetsu to come over. If it was poisoned, it would ask the White Zetsu to help dilute the poison.

It didn't take long before a White Zetsu appeared.

"Obito what's going on?"

The white Zetsu asked curiously.

"Don't ask so many questions. It's about to become possessed. Obito is about to die!"

Black Zetsu said anxiously.

Bai Zetsu then wrapped Obito's body.

"It's so uncomfortable."

Then Bai Zetsu said immediately.

Chapter 924 Cardo

Although White Zetsu said that he was very uncomfortable, Black Zetsu felt that Uchiha Obito's chakra stabilized all of a sudden.

"Take him back!"

Black Zetsu did not dare to neglect it. Although Obito's condition was stable, he had not woken up yet. He did not know what kind of poison was so overbearing that even White Zetsu could not completely eliminate it.

Is there really such an outrageous poison?

"Do you want to chase him?"

Alex asked Wesker.

With the connection of the black light virus, it is very easy to catch up with Uchiha Obito. As long as he is still on this planet, he will not be able to escape from under his nose.

"Not necessary for the time being. Your virus can be suppressed and eliminated by the other party. It seems that this world is not simple."

Wesker tried to use his own virus to invade Alex, but was swallowed by Alex's black light virus.

So he knew very well how terrible the black light virus was, but the black light virus could not do anything to the people in this world.

Although that person was not an ordinary person, it at least showed that this world was not as they imagined that they had no resistance in the microscopic field.

Originally, Wesker was planning to release the T virus to infect the whole world and create a large number of zombies, but now he has cancelled this idea.

Since this world has the means to deal with attacks in the microscopic field, Wesker will not give the enemy the opportunity to understand him, study him, and target him.

...

In the land of Wave Country that has been eroded by the sea breeze for many years, the former overlord "Cardo" is now curled up in his secret shelter, full of anxiety and uneasiness.

This simple secret room is located next to a seemingly ordinary dock of the Cardo Shipping Company, surrounded by carefully arranged traps and surveillance systems. However, these seem insignificant in front of the invincible power of the Poison Village.

Cardo's face is gloomy, and his eyes are flashing with complex emotions-both nostalgia for past power and deep fear of the current situation.

He knows very well that the reason why he can build his own empire in this barren land is entirely due to his absolute control over shipping.

Although the number of residents of Wave Country is small, the survival of more than 50,000 people is extremely dependent on the input of materials from the outside world, and shipping is the throat of this lifeline.

Recalling the past, Cardo couldn't help but sneer.

At that time, he relied on tough means and determination at all costs to gradually squeeze out all competitors and make his shipping company the only shipping giant in Wave Country.

He not only controlled the price of materials, but also indirectly controlled the economic lifeline of the country. Even the daimyo had to bow to him and grant him exclusive shipping authorization.

This honor and power once made him think that he could always sit firmly on the top spot of Wave Country.

However, the sudden intervention of the Poison Village was like a sudden storm, which completely broke his dream.

Those mysterious ninjas, who acted ruthlessly and had sophisticated means, not only easily took over the shipping business that originally belonged to him, but also eliminated his subordinates, whether they were mafia or hired ninjas.

Now, Kado seemed to be a lost dog, and could only survive in this dark secret room.

"I asked you to find a stronger ninja to protect me, did you find one?"

Kado's voice was a little hysterical, he could not tolerate himself waiting for the judgment of fate passively.

The subordinates looked at each other, and finally, a brave one stepped forward and tremblingly handed over a stack of bounties.

These bounties were collected by them through various channels, and they recorded the information of some powerful but independent rebels in the ninja world, hoping that there would be a capable person who could become Kado's savior.

Kado took the bounty and read it carefully one by one, with greed and hope in his eyes.

He knew that although these rebels were notorious, their strength should not be underestimated. If he could get the help of any one of them, he might still have a chance to turn things around.

"Hmph, 15 million taels...Kito Zabuza..."

When Cardo's eyes fell on a bounty of 15 million taels, he couldn't help but sneer.

Kito Zabuza, this name is well-known in the ninja world. He is known for his ruthlessness, and the big sword in his hand, the "Beheading Sword", has made countless ninjas terrified.

Although it is rumored that he is eccentric and difficult to control, Cardo believes that as long as enough price is given, even the hardest stone can be melted.

"Hehe, Kito Zabuza...If you are willing to work for me, then what is the Poison Ninja Village? The entire Wave Country will be in my pocket again!"

Cardo secretly calculated in his heart, with a crazy light flashing in his eyes.

Kito Zabuza quickly agreed to accept the employment, so Cardo began to be full of confidence.

The strong return of Cardo Shipping Company is like a greedy beast, opening its bloody mouth and ruthlessly devouring every drop of economic vitality on this land.

The days when fishermen used to go out to sea to fish and sell seafood have now become extremely difficult and even full of unknown dangers.

The sun shines on the sparkling sea, which should be a busy and hopeful moment for the fishermen, but now they can only look at the waterway controlled by Cardo Company in the distance, feeling unwilling and helpless.

The ships that once freely shuttled between the Land of Waves and the Land of Fire are now forced to fly the flag of Cardo Shipping. Every trip is accompanied by heavy tolls, like a bird bound by shackles, losing the freedom to fly.

"How do you think we can live like this?"

A fisherman with rough and dark skin blown by the sea breeze sat on the shore, holding a worn-out pipe in his hand, his eyes full of confusion.

"We used to work hard, but we could always get food and clothing for our family. Now, the price of fish has fallen, and the cost has risen. It's really getting worse and worse."

Next to him, several fishermen also echoed, their faces full of despair for life and dissatisfaction with Cardo Company. But in this country firmly controlled by Cardo, their voices seemed so weak, like a drop of water in the waves, instantly drowned.

And the initiator of all this, Cardo, was sitting in the living room of his luxurious villa at this time, with a barely perceptible sneer on the corner of his mouth.

He knew that what he did had aroused public indignation, but he didn't care. In his opinion, as long as he can consolidate his position and gain more benefits, everything else is secondary.

"Humph, these fishermen and merchants are just ants."

Cardo thought to himself.

"When I completely control the economic lifeline of the Wave Country, the whole country will surrender to me."

Chapter 925: The Poison Ninja Village Arrives

However, just as Cardo was planning his blueprint triumphantly, the arrival of an uninvited guest broke his tranquility. That was the man sitting opposite him, covered in bandages—Momochi Zabuza, the rebellious ninja of Kirigakure Village.

"Cado, your information is wrong."

Zabuza's voice was as piercing as ice.

"I've been waiting for so many days, but I haven't even seen the enemy. You'd better give me a reasonable explanation."

Cardo stood by the desk, his hands clenched into fists, and the fine sweat on his forehead looked particularly dazzling under the light.

He knew that although the man in front of him was a rebellious nin, his strength was enough to make the entire country of waves tremble.

He suppressed the dissatisfaction and fear in his heart, and forced out a smile: "Zabuza-sama, please believe me, the Poison Ninja Village has indeed made some moves, but they have always been cautious in their actions, maybe they are still waiting for the best time. But please Don't worry, as long as they dare to come, I, Kaduo, will fully cooperate with you and catch them all."

Zabuza sneered, and the laughter was full of disdain and ridicule: "Your guarantee is worthless in my opinion. What I need is results, not empty words. Seven days, this is the deadline I give you. . If I neither see the shadow of Poison Ninja Village nor receive the due commission within seven days, then I will bear the consequences."

"Hmph, a mere traitorous ninja dares to threaten me."

Cardo cursed secretly in his heart, but on the outside he had to pretend to be respectful.

"Of course, of course, I will pay the commission on time."

After saying that, Zabuza stood up, and in a flash, he disappeared into the room like a ghost, leaving Kado alone standing there, with a pale face and mixed feelings in his heart.

Kaduo knew that he had really hit the wall this time.

His original plan was to use Zabuza's power to eliminate the potential threat to the Poison Ninja Village, and at the same time use Zabuza's reputation to deter fishermen and businessmen who were dissatisfied with the monopoly of his shipping company.

However, the delay in moving the Poison Ninja Village made all this complicated.

After walking out of the office, Cardo took a deep breath of the salty sea air, trying to calm his inner irritability. He looked around and saw that there were few ships in the port, and the busy scene of the past no longer existed.

The fishermen either sighed or cursed in a low voice, their eyes full of confusion and helplessness about the future. All of these are the consequences of Cardo Shipping Company's monopoly on shipping and heavy taxes.

"Am I really going to succumb to the threat of this traitorous ninja?"

Cardo thought to himself, but then shook his head. He understood that he had no way out. Zabuza's strength was something he couldn't compete with.

But the Poison Ninja Village actually planned to take action against him.

Venomous Fang, this young genius ninja is from the Kingdom of Waves, and naturally he doesn't want to see his country become bad because of Cardo.

It's just that Venomous Fang still asked Whisker and Alex before taking action.

Wesker didn't take it seriously. Like Dazna, he had already thought that the best way to change the fate of the Country of Waves was to build a bridge to make transportation more convenient.

Of course, the bridge still charges tolls.

But the benefits of doing so are huge.

It will then be easier to trade back and forth.

Therefore, Wesker looked down upon shipping. Cardo got up again. Although Wesker guessed that he might have found a helper, what helper could there be in the ninja world?

It can't be that people from the five major ninja villages are planning to intervene, they are all very careful.

"Fang, if that's the case, then go ahead and kill Cardo."

Wesker agreed to Venomfang's request.

"Yes, thank you very much, Mr. Chief!"

Venomous Fang was very excited, and he brought a group of Venomous Ninjas from the Country of Waves with him.

The current composition of ninjas in the Poison Ninja Village is very complicated. There are wave ninjas, rebellious ninjas, and rebellious ninjas from all over the place. There are also Sanshoyu Hanzo's old subordinates from the Rain Hidden Village. The outside world still doesn't know that Sanshoyu Hanzo is dead. For The defecting Yu Ren had no intention of pursuing him.

There is no bounty. If there is a bounty, we will pursue him.

In order not to reveal the secret of Hanzo's death, the Akatsuki organization sent people to hunt down these traitorous ninjas without bounty.

So after much tossing and turning, these Rain Ninjas arrived at the Poison Ninja Village.

This village, which uses poison as its ninjutsu, is very special in their eyes.

At the same time, Cardo's side.

"You can take the money and leave tomorrow..."

Zabuza's voice was low and powerful, echoing in the empty room, as if it was a promise to himself and to himself.

Since that failed assassination operation, he has been like a lone wolf being chased by hunters, and every breath he takes is accompanied by an aura of danger.

However, this mission went extremely smoothly, and he could enjoy the results with little need for him to do it himself. But behind this relaxation, he was deeply dissatisfied with the needless consumption of time.

"very nice."

Bai said softly, these three words contained too many complex emotions. They were the expectation for the coming relief and the emotion for the difficult years in the past.

However, this tranquility did not last long, as the sudden noise from downstairs instantly broke the silence in the room.

"Bang! Bang!"

The sound of breaking glass, accompanied by the crowd's screams and panic, was clearly transmitted to the ears of Zabuza and Shiro.

Ordinary people may not notice these subtle movements, but for them, who are rebel ninjas and are always vigilant about their surroundings, this is tantamount to an alarm signal.

Zabuza opened his eyes suddenly, and those eyes that were usually full of indifference and murderous intent were even sharper now. He quickly exchanged a look with Bai, and without any need to say anything, the two of them understood.

Shiro's figure flashed, blending into the surrounding darkness like a ghost, while Zabuza stood up slowly, holding the decapitating sword in his hand, ready to deal with the coming crisis at any time.

In the banquet hall, the guests were frightened by this sudden change and fled in all directions before they could recover from the previous joy.

Kado looked even more frightened. He looked at Zabuza, as if grasping the last straw: "Quick, quick... the commission time is not over yet, this person must be here to kill me——"

There was trembling in his words, but the fear in his eyes could not be concealed.

"Shut up!"

Zabuza shouted coldly, and the decapitating sword was instantly placed across Kado's neck. The sharp blade shone coldly under the light.

Cardo suddenly fell silent and could only swallow helplessly. However, at this life-and-death moment, he felt a strange sense of pleasure in his heart.

The ninjas from Poison Ninja Village chose to come on the last day of the commission. This was undoubtedly a provocation to Zabuza and a compensation for the humiliation he had suffered before.

Chapter 926: Momochi Zabuza's Highlight

More importantly, this meant that he might be able to save the huge commission fee that would have been paid to Zabuza.

"Okay... okay, I leave everything to you. I trust you, Mr. Zabuza!"

Cardo shouted with force, but there was still a tremor in his voice. He knew very well that Zabuza at this moment was his only support and his only hope.

In the manor, firelight and shadow intertwined to form a doomsday picture. The figures of the poisonous ninjas loomed in the night, like messengers from the netherworld, quietly arriving with the breath of death.

Every breath they take is accompanied by the release of poisonous gas. Those seemingly harmless gases actually contain terrifying power that can cause living beings to wither in an instant.

The air is filled with a pungent smell, which is a precursor to death and makes people shudder.

"Poison Escape·Poison Gas Technique!"

As a poisonous ninja drank, a thick green mist suddenly spurted out from his mouth and spread quickly. Wherever it passed, vegetation withered and creatures wailed.

"Cado, your end has come!"

The fang's voice penetrated the mist, carrying an unmistakable coldness.

He holds a special poison knife, the blade glows with a faint blue light. It is the product of the fusion of poison and chakra. With just one stroke, it can make people die slowly in pain.

Venomous Fang is well aware of Cardo's crimes. His trip is not only to complete the task, but also to seek justice for the lives of those innocent people who died under Cardo's greed.

Cardo's men, those thugs and ninjas who were once arrogant and domineering, are now like lambs waiting to be slaughtered, with no power to fight back.

They were either eroded by poisonous gas and fell to the ground in pain, their bodies gradually stiffening; or they were hit by poisonous knives, causing blood to spurt out, and they instantly lost the breath of life.

The air was filled with thick blood and despair, and the entire manor seemed to be shrouded in the shadow of death.

When Zabuza saw this, although his heart was agitated, his face remained calm. He knows very well that every minute and every second at this moment is crucial, and if there is a slight mistake, it may be catastrophic.

So, he quickly mobilized the chakra in his body and prepared to perform his special skills.

"Ninja Technique: Kirigakure Technique!"

As Zabuza hummed, his whole body was suddenly surrounded by thick mist. This mist is not only used to confuse the enemy's sight, but also serves as a stage for him to fight.

In the fog, he is the master, the incarnation of death. His figure shuttles through the fog like a ghost, and every breath seems to merge with the fog, making it elusive.

They not only obscure the line of sight, but also interfere with the enemy's perception to a certain extent.

In this misty world created by Zabuza himself, he is the god of death who dominates everything.

Zabuza's figure shuttled through the mist like a ghost, and every movement he made was silent, as if he was integrated with the surrounding air.

He used his familiarity with the environment and accurate judgment of the enemy to quietly approach the lone poisonous ninjas, and use his silent killing technique to give them a fatal blow.

Although the Poison Ninjas are good at using poison, their advantages are greatly reduced in this almost blind fighting environment.

They can only rely on hearing and intuition to sense changes around them, but even so, it is often difficult to escape Zabuza's fatal blow.

The Poison Ninjas were obviously aware of the horror of Zabuza, and they began to act more cautiously, getting closer to each other, trying to use collective strength to fight against this strong man of Kirigakure.

However, this dense formation gave Zabuza an opportunity to take advantage of. He used the cover of the fog to cleverly move around to the enemy's flanks or rear, and used silent killing techniques to quickly eliminate those exposed weaknesses.

The Silent Killing Technique is a unique skill that Zabuza has mastered after countless life and death fights. It requires the caster to complete a fatal attack with the smallest range of motion in a very short period of time.

In the mist, this trick is even more vividly displayed.

I saw a flash of cold light, and then the enemy fell. There was almost no sound in the whole process, only the cold murderous aura lingered in the air for a long time.

"Damn! This guy is a ghost!"

A poisonous ninja shouted in horror, his voice echoing in the mist, but it only caused more panic. The surrounding poisonous ninjas began to remind each other and increase their vigilance, but even so, they could not resist Zabuza's death-like harvest.

"It's the ninjutsu of the Kiri ninja!"

Venomous Fang gritted his teeth, he recognized this ninjutsu, because their Venomous Ninja Village also had rebel ninjas from Kirigakure Village, it could even be said that there were more than Rain ninjas.

At this moment, Venomous Fang's order exploded in the mist like thunder: "Quick! Everyone listen to my command and release the poisonous gas technique together!"

He knew very well that individual strength alone could not defeat Zabuza. Only by gathering the strength of everyone could it be possible to carve out a way out of this fog.

Following Venomous Fang's order, the poisonous ninjas began to use poisonous gas techniques one after another. For a moment, colorful poisonous gas spurted out from their bodies and quickly spread in the mist.

These poisonous gases are not only highly corrosive, but can also paralyze nerves and disrupt vision, which is undoubtedly a fatal threat to ordinary people.

But in Zabuza's eyes, these poisonous gases were just a little spice in his battle.

He smiled slightly, and the chakra in his body surged again. He quickly formed seals with his hands and shouted: "Ninjutsu, Water Release, Water Dragon Bullet Technique!"

Suddenly, a huge water dragon rushed out of the fog, with surging water and majestic power, rushing straight to the areas filled with poisonous gas.

When the water dragon met the poisonous gas, a fierce reaction immediately broke out.

The poisonous gas was dispersed by the powerful impact of the water dragon, and the water dragon gradually dissipated under the corrosion of the poisonous gas.

Seeing this, Poison Fang's face changed slightly. He didn't expect that Zabuza could resolve their offensive so easily.

But soon, he regained his composure, and a fierce look flashed in his eyes.

"In this case, let you taste the real despair!"

"Everyone, pay attention to maintain the formation, use our best way to make this fog our battlefield!"

He shouted loudly and issued new instructions to the surrounding poison ninjas.

Upon hearing this, the poison ninjas took out various poison bottles from their arms. Each bottle of poison gas was carefully prepared to attack different senses and physiological functions. Some could instantly paralyze the nerves and make people lose their fighting power; some could corrode the skin and even the bones; and even worse, some could interfere with the flow of chakra and make the ninja unable to use ninjutsu.

When these poison bottles were opened at the same time, the entire battlefield seemed to be torn apart by an invisible force. The colorful poison gas was like dancing colorful silk, quickly intertwined with the original fog, forming a frightening poison fog area.

Chapter 927 Poisoning

In this realm, time seems to slow down, every breath is accompanied by the passage of life, and every gasp may be the prelude to death.

The air is filled with suffocating poisonous gas. Even the most powerful ninja will not be able to survive here for a long time without adequate protective measures.

Zabuza stood on the edge of the poisonous mist, looking at the scene in front of him, a trace of surprise flashed in his eyes. Although he was known for being ruthless, he had to admit that the poisonous ninjas' move was beyond his expectation.

Zabuza sneered and quickly formed seals with his hands again, preparing to use more powerful ninjutsu.

However, at the moment he was about to launch an attack, an unprecedented sense of crisis suddenly surged into his heart.

He looked up suddenly and saw a black storm composed of countless tiny poisonous needles attacking him at an alarming speed.

"This is....."

Zabuza was shocked, and he immediately realized that this was a trump card carefully prepared by the poisonous ninjas. Not only are these poisonous needles extremely sharp, but each one contains deadly poison.

Once caught in this storm, even he would have difficulty escaping.

Faced with this sudden crisis, Zabuza showed his calmness and courage as a top ninja.

"Mist Hidden Technique·Mist Flash!"

Zabuza used the teleportation technique to distance himself.

"It's interesting, but that's it."

Zabuza whispered, and then quickly formed seals with his hands again. This time, he used a more powerful ninjutsu.

"Ninpo Technique, Water Release, Great Waterfall Technique!"

With his low shout, the entire battlefield seemed to be torn apart by an irresistible force. A huge stream of water suddenly emerged from the mist. They quickly gathered into a deafening waterfall, falling from the sky and directly impacting the poisonous mist field.

The waterfall not only dispersed most of the poisonous fog, but also brought fresh water vapor, which temporarily relieved the poisonous gas in the air.

The poisonous ninjas were shaken back by this sudden force, and many even fell to the ground because they lost their balance.

The impact of the waterfall is so great that it not only disperses the poisonous gas, but also changes the pattern of the battlefield.

The water flow collided fiercely with the poisonous gas, producing a large amount of steam. The entire battlefield instantly became white, and visibility was almost reduced to the minimum.

However, for Zabuza, this was the best time for him to fight back.

Relying on his superb mastery of water escape ninjutsu and his extraordinary perception ability, he was like a fish swimming in water in this chaos, quietly approaching the poisonous ninja's front line.

"Hmph, just a poisonous mist, you want to trap me?"

Zabuza's voice came from behind the waterfall, with a bit of disdain and contempt. He flashed and appeared on the other side of the waterfall. His whole body was wet, but his momentum was not compromised at all.

Facing such a powerful enemy, Venomous Fang was unwilling to accept it, but he had to admit that it was indeed difficult to compete with Zabuza with the power of Venomous Ninja alone.

But even so, he had no intention of giving up. On the contrary, the fighting spirit in his heart was completely aroused.

"Everyone, prepare for the final attack!"

Venomous Fang ordered loudly.

"It's time."

Zabuza thought to himself, and then he flashed and appeared like a ghost behind a poisonous ninja who was about to throw a poison bottle. The light of his sword flashed away, and the poisonous ninja fell down before he could even make any sound.

Immediately afterwards, Zabuza shuttled between the poisonous ninja like a gust of wind, and every time he swung his sword, an enemy fell.

His movements were so fast and powerful that the poisonous ninja around him felt unprecedented despair.

When Venomous Fang saw this, a flash of determination flashed in his eyes.

He knew that if this continued, everyone would be in trouble.

"You think you can defeat me like this?"

Zabuza sneered and then slashed out with his sword.

I saw a bright sword light piercing the air, shooting towards the fangs like lightning.

Fan Ya was startled and hurriedly dodged, but in the end he was still half a beat too late and was scratched by the light of the knife. The blood instantly dyed his clothes red.

"It seems that I still overestimated you."

Zabuza said calmly, approaching Venomous Fang step by step.

Venomous Fang knew that he had no way out, but he did not choose to escape. Instead, he used all his strength to inject the last trace of chakra into the poison bottle in his hand, preparing to die with Zabuza.

"Come on, let's see whether your knife is faster or my poison is stronger!"

Venomous Fang roared and threw the poison bottle at Zabuza.

However, just when the poison bottle was about to touch Zabuza, his figure suddenly disappeared without a trace, leaving only a puddle of water.

"Water body technique?"

Venomous Fang's pupils shrank suddenly. He never expected that at this critical moment of life and death, Zabuza would use this move so cunningly.

Realizing that he had been tricked, Venomous Fang immediately realized that the danger was not over.

He quickly looked around, trying to find Zabuza's true form, but there was nothing but the thick poisonous mist and the occasional sound of wind.

At this moment, an icy chill suddenly hit him from behind. Venomous Fang's heart tightened and he turned around suddenly, only to see Zabuza appearing behind him at an unknown moment, with the blade of the decapitating sword pressed against his throat. On the bed, the cold touch made him tremble.

"it's over."

Zabuza said softly, without any wavering in his tone.

"No!"

On the body of Venom Fang, a poisonous snake in his sleeve also quietly stretched out and bit Zabuza's wrist.

But Zabuza's reaction was faster. He shook his wrist and swung the beheading sword like lightning, directly splitting the venomous snake in two.

The remaining body of the venomous snake drew an arc in the air and finally fell to the ground powerlessly. The poisonous blood dyed the surrounding land red.

"You angered me!"

Zabuza's beheading sword slashed at Venom Fang.

Venom Fang quickly held the venomous sword with both hands and stabbed Zabuza. Judging from the posture, he wanted to exchange his life with Zabuza.

However, Zabuza was not so easily calculated?

He snorted coldly and kicked Venom Fang in the lower abdomen. The powerful force made Venom Fang fly out like a kite with a broken string and fell heavily to the ground.

Venom Fang felt that his internal organs seemed to be displaced and the pain was unbearable, but he still gritted his teeth and persisted, staring at Zabuza, unwilling to admit defeat.

At this moment, Zabuza noticed the broken poison bottle on the ground and the rapidly spreading poisonous liquid. His face changed slightly, and he immediately covered his mouth and nose with his arm to be on the safe side.

However, even with such caution, he still underestimated the power of the poison.

Soon after, he felt his legs begin to go numb, and then the numbness quickly spread throughout his body. Even if he resisted with all his strength, he could not stop the erosion of the poison.

Chapter 928: Never kill the poisonous person again!

No. Zabuza!

"Not good! This poison..."

Zabuza was secretly shocked, he knew that he had been poisoned, and the poison was not trivial.

He endured the physical discomfort and wanted to escape from the area shrouded in poison, but the paralysis of his legs made him move slowly, making every step extremely difficult.

Seeing this, Venomous Fang felt a flash of joy in his heart, but was immediately replaced by a strong sense of crisis.

He knew that although Zabuza was poisoned, his strength was still there, and once he recovered, he would have no chance of surviving.

So, he struggled to get up and continue fighting, but the physical pain and poisonous erosion made him almost unable to move.

"Mr. Zabuza!"

Haku quickly appeared and picked up Zabuza.

"Bai, don't touch me, I might be poisonous!"

Zabuza struggled to get away from Haku.

"No, Zabuza-sama."

Bai said nonchalantly.

Zabuza wanted Haku to kill Poison Fang, but Haku insisted on taking him to treatment first.

It is too dangerous to fight against the Poison Ninja Village. If there is no antidote prepared, and even if there is an antidote, the effect will not be much better. The Poison Ninja Village has seen too many poisons that can seal the throat with blood. However, ninjas have special energy like chakra, which means that the effects of these poisons are not that good.

Kado didn't expect that Zabuza, who had a bounty of 15 million, would hurt both the enemy and the enemy. When he was still thinking about adding insult to injury and reaping the benefits, Zabuza and Shiro had already left.

Venomous Fang was also rescued by people from Poison Ninja Village.

"It's over!"

Kado realized the crux of the problem, and then the Poison Ninja Village came to visit. What should he do?

After all, Venomous Fang and the other poisonous ninjas looked very young, so they were definitely not the founders of the poisonous ninja village.

The founder of the Poison Ninja Village is said to be a Jōnin. A Jōnin who is proficient in poison techniques is so terrifying.

Kado even imagined how he would die, which frightened himself so much.

However, unexpectedly, everything was calm and nothing happened.

This also left Kado confused for a moment, wondering what the Poison Ninja Village wanted to do.

Zabuza suffered a big loss, Shiro took him everywhere to seek medical treatment, but there was no way to treat him.

That bottle of poison was no ordinary poison. The reason why Zabuza was able to hold on until now was because he was so strong.

If it were an ordinary genin or chuunin, he would have died from the poison.

In the end, out of desperation, Shiro had no choice but to take Zabuza to the Poison Ninja Village. They wanted to join the Poison Ninja Village and become Poison Ninja!

Zabuza didn't want to do this.

"Zabuza-sama, you haven't completed your thoughts yet, you can't die like this."

Haku said while stroking Zabuza's face.

Zabuza immediately fell silent.

The moment Shiro supported Zabuza and stepped into the Poison Ninja Village, a cold and strange aura hit his face, and there was a faint poisonous mist all around, as if even the air was telling the cruelty and danger here.

The buildings in the village are simple and gloomy. Every stone slab and beam seems to be soaked in the poison of time, exuding an ominous atmosphere.

"Welcome to the Poison Ninja Village. This is the grave of the weak and the cradle of the strong."

Yu Ren's voice was cold and mechanical, as if there was no emotion at all.

"If you want to survive here, you must accept the poisonous challenge and prove your worth."

It happened that the person in charge of their entrance ceremony was Yu Nin. Yu Nin was on business, and they even regarded themselves as the masters of Poison Ninja Village.

The mysterious poisonous ninja leader and the ANBU captain both have the strong demeanor and aura of Hanzo Sanshouyu, especially the ANBU captain, who is so elusive that he can appear anywhere in the village, and is so powerful that he does not need to use poison escape. can defeat them.

And after joining the Poison Ninja Village, they realized that the leader and the ANBU captain did not use poison techniques. They had created a new blood inheritance limit.

That is "Poison Escape"!

If you want to learn and practice poison escape, you must be proficient in poison techniques and control the changes in the two chakra properties of "water and earth".

The rain nin led them to a specially designed ceremony venue, where there was a huge pool. The water in the pool was a strange dark green color, with bubbles emerging from time to time, emitting a disgusting stench.

This is the so-called "Toxic Soaking Pool", a test that all new entrants to the village must go through, and the starting point and destination of countless poisonous ninjas.

"But, Zabuza-sama has been poisoned, can you help him detoxify it first?"

Bai quickly pleaded.

"What kind of poison did you get?"

The rain ninja checked Zabuza.

"There are two ways to deal with your poison."

After the rain ninja finished the inspection, he said to Zabuza.

"What... way..."

Zabuza was fed up with his own weakness. He couldn't even feel the existence of his body, as if he was paralyzed. Even if Bai Dali beat him, he wouldn't feel anything.

He felt that life was worse than death.

"This is a very poisonous poison in our village. It can even be said to be a powerful poison. If you choose to detoxify, even if you detoxify, it will be difficult for you to return to normal, because the sequelae caused by the poison are still there, and you will not be able to exert half of your power in the future. You are awesome."

When Zabuza heard what the other party said, it was naturally impossible for him to accept it. He would rather die!

"What about the other way?"

Byakuya knew Zabuza's attitude.

"The second one is to use this poison to complete the ritual. The success rate is lower than that of ordinary rituals because the poison is too strong. The advantage is that once successful, you can become a strong one among the poison ninjas."

When Zabuza heard this, a trace of determination flashed in his eyes.

He was well aware of his physical condition, and he didn't want to become Bai's burden.

So, he endured the severe pain and said in a weak voice: "Bai, I have made up my mind to choose the second method. Even if the road ahead is death, I will take this gamble, maybe it can save my career." A happy ending."

"Zabuza-sama!"

Shiro took Zabuza's hand.

"Bai, you don't understand...my sword and my will will not allow me to sink like this."

Zabuza's voice was low and hoarse, and every word seemed to be squeezed out from deep in his throat.

"What I want is complete strength and the qualification to fight against fate, not to live on the last breath."

Then, as Zabuza's body slowly sank into the poisonous pool, an indescribable pain instantly swept through his body.

He seemed to be between a sea of fire and an ice cellar, with every inch of his skin and every nerve undergoing unprecedented torture.

Bai waited anxiously by the pool. His hands were clenched into fists and his nails dug deeply into his palms, but he didn't feel any pain.

His eyes never left Zabuza in the poisonous pool, for fear of missing any subtle changes.

Chapter 929: The Poison Village with a Thousand Ninjas

Time passed by minute by minute, Zabuza's body gradually twisted in the venom, his skin turned purple, as if he would collapse at any time. But his eyes became more and more determined, he gritted his teeth and took it all.

In the depths of his consciousness, a voice kept echoing: "I can't die, I can't let Bai down, I want to live, with my own strength!"

As the night faded, the sky gradually turned pale, and the first ray of morning light seemed to be the most gentle comfort of nature, penetrating the thick clouds and falling on this land covered by poisonous fog and barren land.

For Zabuza, this light is not only the beginning of a new day, but also his hope of rebirth.

After experiencing endless struggles and pain, his body finally stopped twisting. Every breath seemed so heavy and precious, but it was these breaths that proved that he was still tenaciously alive.

When Zabuza slowly opened his eyes, the eyes that were once full of despair and weakness were now filled with a new strength and hope.

He felt the unprecedented power in his body, which was the unique ability given to him by the poison escape, which was both terrifying and tempting.

It was both a curse and a gift.

He didn't know that he had been quietly transformed by the virus, but thought it was a miracle that he had exchanged for his life.

"I... succeeded."

He whispered in a low voice.

The rain ninja stood aside, with a satisfied smile on his face. He knew the pain and transformation that Zabuza had experienced, so this success was even more precious.

"Congratulations, Master Zabuza. You have surpassed the limits of ordinary people and become a member of our Poison Ninja Village."

However, this joy did not last long, and a sudden change broke the peace.

Bai, the boy who had always been by Zabuza's side and experienced the ups and downs with him, fell to the ground powerlessly at this moment, his face as pale as paper, and he was obviously deeply harmed by the poison gas.

"Bai!"

An indescribable panic and self-blame suddenly surged in his heart. Bai, who had always been by his side and regarded him as everything, had fallen into such a situation because of him.

"I said that the poison gas here is not trivial. Ordinary people can't bear it without special training and preparation."

Rainin's tone was a bit helpless.

"But don't worry, the Poison Village has a way to detoxify. As long as he is willing to leave the village for treatment, he will have a chance to recover."

"No... I want to be with Lord Zabuza."

Although Bai's voice was weak, it was very firm. He held Zabuza's hand tightly, as if it was his only support in this world.

Zabuza's heart was like a knife. He knew that he couldn't let Bai embark on this road full of unknowns and dangers.

If Bai continued to stay in the Poison Village, he would only repeat his mistakes and might even die here. He had to make a choice, a difficult and cruel choice.

"Bai, you must leave here. Your physique is not suitable for the environment here. Staying here will only be more dangerous. Moreover, I need you to collect intelligence for me outside and become my eyes and ears."

There was unquestionable determination in his words, because he knew that this was the best protection for Bai.

When Bai heard this, a trace of struggle and reluctance flashed in his eyes, but he finally let go of his hand. He knew that Zabuza's decision was out of concern and love for him.

"I understand, Master Zabuza. Please be careful. I will wait for you outside until you return safely."

In this way, Bai received detoxification treatment with the help of the rain ninja and was safely sent out of the Poison Village.

And Zabuza officially became a member of the Poison Village and started his new life.

Life after becoming a Poison Ninja is not as free as Zabuza imagined.

The management of the Poison Village on ninjas is relatively loose. The Poison Ninjas can leave the village at will, but the bondage from the toxins follows them like a shadow.

He must return to the village regularly to receive special treatment and training to maintain the balance of toxins in his body.

This kind of life made him feel depressed and constrained, but he knew that this was the price he had to pay in order to survive and protect Bai.

Zabuza had a strong ability to adapt. Not only did he quickly learn the poison gas technique, but also because of his original strong poison erosion, his poison gas was more deadly than ordinary people, even the ninjas of the Poison Village could not bear it.

Not to mention the poison mist technique, Zabuza felt that this technique was tailor-made for him, and he did not continue to use the beheading sword, but replaced it with a poisonous sword of similar size but more solid.

The three body techniques are the basis of ninjas, but most of the poison ninjas in the Poison Village do not know it.

And the poison ninjas also have their own three major poison techniques.

Poison method·poison gas technique, poison mist technique, and poison technique are the three most basic poison techniques.

Zabuza can already release the poison mist technique, but he doesn't think much of the poison technique, because the poison technique only allows him to spit venom from his mouth, what is this?

But if it can be combined with water escape, it seems that it can also increase the lethality of water escape?

But water escape will probably dilute the toxicity of the poison, right?

After Zabuza left the village, the first thing he did was to find Bai.

"Master Zabuza!"

Bai was immediately excited when he saw Zabuza, who he had not seen for a long time.

"I'm fine, Bai."

Zabuza said calmly.

The management of the Poison Village is so loose that he has never even seen the Poison Ninja leader and the captain of the Anbu. Sometimes Zabuza even wonders if such a village can really be established?

But seeing the number of Poison Ninjas in the Poison Village growing, Zabuza is also shaken.

The Poison Village welcomes everyone. As long as they can soak in the poison and not die, they can directly obtain the chakra equivalent to that of a Genin, as well as deadly poisons, so the Poison Village develops its combat power very quickly.

"Bai, listen to me, the Poison Village is ready to take action."

Zabuza came out to tell Bai about this, the Poison Village is about to take action against other ninja villages.

The Poison Village is also powerful. It can actually gather ninja tools that can arm a thousand ninjas. You know, this is a lot of money.

Although the Poison Village does not have detonating talismans, the "poison gas bottle" and "poison bottle" are the detonating talismans of the Poison Ninjas, and their lethality is much more terrible than the detonating talismans.

Once hit, unless you are a Kage or a Jonin, you can only wait to die.

"How could it be?"

Bai couldn't believe it. The Poison Village was going to take the initiative to attack other villages?

Are they so bold?

"You don't know how terrible the Poison Village is."

Zabuza thought that the success rate of the Poison Village was quite high, mainly because the poison of the Poison Village was too dangerous.

And they didn't plan to attack the five major ninja villages in the first step.

Chapter 930: The Kingdom of Rivers was conquered

Wesker conducted a detailed investigation of the five major ninja villages and learned about the mysterious man Virgil causing trouble in the Hidden Leaf Village.

For the five major ninja villages, Wesker believes that their most difficult problem is the "tailed beast manchuriki".

Other jonin and shadow-level people are easy to deal with, but Wesker does not believe that they are immune to toxins and viruses.

But if the tailed beast manchuriki transforms into a tailed beast, that is not necessarily the case.

So Wesker's first step is to bypass the villages with tailed beasts, including Takigakure.

The rest are all targets they can attack.

The first step for the poisonous ninja village is to choose a nearby country.

There is no way, the country of waves is not suitable for development.

This country is composed of many small islands, just like Indonesia, which is known as the "country of a thousand islands" in our reality. Since the country is composed of scattered small islands, it is not suitable for farming, and the national resources are also scarce, so the national strength is poor and weak, and it is unable to cultivate ninjas.

Therefore, the country of waves has always survived in the cracks between the major countries, and the citizens do not have many means of livelihood. Generally, they rely on the mountains to eat the mountains and the sea to eat the sea, and most residents are fishermen.

The Kingdom of Waves is to the south of the Kingdom of Fire, and there are not many countries that can be invaded.

To the east is the Kingdom of Soup and the Kingdom of Water.

To the north is the Kingdom of Fire.

Wesker asked Alex to lead a thousand poison ninjas to conquer the Kingdom of Rivers first!

The Kingdom of Rivers is like a small country that is shielded from the outside world, surrounded by vast nature.

It is suitable for building a hiding place, and the base of "Akatsuki" is also here.

It is located between the Kingdom of Fire and the Kingdom of Wind (it conflicts with the location of the Kingdom of Rivers, the Kingdom of That, and the Kingdom of This).

There is no ninja village in the Kingdom of Rivers, only a few ninja families.

The Poison Ninja Village is difficult to grow and develop due to its lack of resources and remote geographical location, but their desire for power has never been extinguished.

Finally, under a carefully planned plan, the Poison Ninja Village decided to launch a surprise attack on the neighboring Kingdom of Rivers, intending to incorporate it into its own territory as a springboard for expanding its power.

The speed of this surprise attack was astonishing. The ninjas of the Poison Village shuttled between the mountains, rivers, lakes and seas of the River Country like ghosts, taking advantage of the terrain and quickly occupying various key nodes at the lowest cost.

Their poison skills were fully demonstrated on the battlefield. Whether it was the poisonous fog spread by the air or the poison traps laid on the ground, the ninja families of the River Country were caught off guard and had no power to fight back.

The leader of the Poison Village even personally came out and convinced the Daimyo of the River Country with his extraordinary poison skills and wisdom, making him believe that cooperation with the Poison Village would be the guarantee of the future prosperity of the River Country.

So, with the tacit understanding of both parties, the Poison Village officially became the new ninja village of the River Country and obtained unprecedented resources and support.

However, all this did not escape the eyes of the "Akatsuki" organization.

After all, the River Country is the base of Akatsuki.

As a mysterious and powerful existence in the ninja world, the "Akatsuki" organization has been secretly observing the movements of major forces, looking for opportunities to subvert the existing situation.

Regarding the sudden rise of the Poison Village, there are also different opinions within the "Akatsuki" organization.

Some people think that the threat of the Poison Village is not enough to shake their plans, while others worry that the expansion of the Poison Village may break the existing balance and even threaten the safety of the Akatsuki organization itself.

Although the Akatsuki organization has noticed the invasion of the Poison Village, their primary task is still to maintain their own secrecy and safety.

Therefore, although they are dissatisfied with the actions of the Poison Village, they still choose to stay put and wait and see.

However, as the power of the Poison Village in the River Country has become increasingly stable and even gained the support of the Daimyo of the River Country, this change has forced the Akatsuki organization to re-examine its position.

At the same time, the Konoha Village in the Fire Country has also felt unprecedented pressure. As one of the five major villages in the Ninja World, the Konoha Village has always been known for its strong strength and rich resources.

However, facing the rapid rise of the Poison Village in the River Country, the top leaders of the Konoha Village also felt an unprecedented sense of crisis.

Konoha, as the leader of the Ninja World, has a wide and sharp intelligence network that is difficult for other Ninja Villages to achieve.

When the news of "Poison Village occupied River Country" spread to Konoha like wildfire, the whole village was shrouded in an indescribable tense atmosphere.

In the Hokage Building, Sarutobi Hiruzen, the third generation Hokage known as the "Ninja Hero", frowned, and his eyes revealed an unprecedented solemnity.

"The Poison Village's actions are so fast, there must be an ulterior motive behind it."

Sarutobi Hiruzen said to the Anbu members around him in a deep voice.

"We must immediately strengthen our surveillance of River Country, and at the same time, we must be prepared for the worst."

Then he summoned Shimura Danzo.

Danzo walked into the Hokage room with his usual gloomy smile on his face.

"Hiruzen, what do you want to see me about?"

Shimura Danzo asked puzzled.

"Danzo, we need more information about the Poison Village."

Sarutobi Hiruzen said directly.

Danzo said with a hint of helplessness, "The Poison Ninja Village is indeed a difficult place to deal with. They have built a defense line using unique poison techniques, making it extremely difficult to infiltrate or investigate. Our spies have tried many times, but most of them have not come back alive. Even a few who have managed to infiltrate have found that the village is full of deadly poison gas traps. Even the top detoxification experts have not been able to find a way to crack them."

He paused and continued: "What is even more worrying is that the Daimyo of the Kawa Country actually chose to cooperate with the Poison Ninja Village. There may be a deeper conspiracy hidden behind this. We must find out the true intentions of the Poison Ninja Village as soon as possible, and How did they convince the Daimyo of Kawanoguni."

Sarutobi Hiruzen also knew that what Shimura Danzo said made sense. The Ninja Village supported by the daimyo of Kawa no Kuni and the Ninja Village supported by the daimyo of Wave Country were two different concepts.

In the future, maybe the Poison Ninja Village will develop and expand in the Country of Sichuan, abandoning the Poison Ninja Village in the Country of Waves.

At that time, it will become a thorn in the side of the Fire Country and Konoha, a thorn in the flesh, and a roadblock.

"Is there really no way to know more information, including the leader of the Poison Ninja Village?"

Sarutobi Hiruzen frowned and asked again.

"Hiruzen, you don't believe me?"

Danzo Shimura said angrily that he also wanted to know who the leader of the Poison Ninja Village was and what his abilities were.

The problem is that the guy is hiding in the Poison Ninja Village and won't come out. I don't know if there are any traces of him in the Poison Ninja Village in the Kingdom of Kawa.

"I just think this is very important. If we don't figure it out, it will be troublesome if there is another Sanshou Hanzo."

Sarutobi Hiruzen sighed and said.

Although Sanshouyu Hanzo failed to lead the rise of Amegakure Village in the end, it was still powerful in the ninja world!