

Chapter 84

[Whitney, that's so cool!]

[The cheapest house there already costs like 450 thousand dollars!]

[That's a luxurious mansion! You need to invite us over for a tour, Whitney.]

Looking at the messages sent by these people in the group, Whitney immediately replied with complacency, [I'll be paying in full tomorrow, and I can move in immediately after everything is done. How about this? Everyone should come over tomorrow afternoon for lunch, and guess who I saw? Robert! That poser. He brought out the planes and all those luxurious cars during graduation, but guess what he's doing? He's a salesman, and he was the one attending to me today! You didn't know how envious he was when he saw me buying the house! Hahaha! You couldn't even imagine it!]

[If it hadn't been for Barry, we would have been fooled by Robert. See? How could a loser become rich all of a sudden?]

[Okay. I'll go over tomorrow and humiliate him. Hahaha!]

When Kendrick told Barry that the scene Robert created was rented, Barry couldn't wait to let his classmates know. However, Barry didn't tell anyone that he had met Robert at Grand Triumphant Hotel. He planned on hiding that embarrassing secret from himself forever.

At the same time, in Kendrick's office, which was in Zabel Tower, Dylan was sitting opposite Kendrick with a flattering face.

"Mr. Yoder, according to your words, Robert vented his anger on his subordinates and fired everyone in the sales gallery because the houses under Zabinski Group had some problems and couldn't be sold?"

"Yes!" Dylan nodded vigorously. "I don't like his way of doing things as well, so I left."

"This Robert truly is funny. He's in such a hurry to sell the houses so that he can get back the funds soon. You used to be a senior executive of Zabinski Group, Mr. Yoder, so you should have a better understanding of them." Kendrick put the contract on his table and continued, "I can give you the treatment you want, and even better than Zabinski Group, but I also need some information. Do you understand what I mean, Mr. Yoder?"

"I understand! I have been with Zabinski Group for many years, so I know very well about the background of it!"

"Hahaha! Great!" Kendrick laughed out loud. "Then, Mr. Yoder, I wish us a happy cooperation!"

At noon, Robert was giving the customers a return call the entire morning, and his sincere attitude moved many customers. They even promised to check out the houses this afternoon.

Robert was satisfied with the result.

Seeing that it was time for a lunch break, Robert thought for a while and was about to go to the mansion in the residential area to take a look.

This was Robert's graduation gift when he graduated, but Robert had been living in Grand Triumphant Hotel after he graduated.

He didn't have any requirements for the mansion, and he had never once stepped foot here ever since he got it. However, since he would be taking care of the sales gallery, he felt that staying in the residential area would be more convenient.

The 27,000 square feet villa was the most luxurious house in the whole of Yrinas, and nothing could be compared to it.

Robert walked into the community, feeling nervous.

He had been poor for so many years, and he always wanted to live a rich life, but he panicked after finding out that he himself was a scion.

This had something to do with Robert's education growing up. He didn't dare to be extravagant, fearing that these things would suddenly disappear one day.

The house had an area of 27,000 square feet. Robert admitted that he didn't even know how big 27,000 square feet was.
