Oh. Shit. She stared between the two huge men, and shivered. Adron looked like he'd just been given a birthday gift, and Kas... well, it was hard to tell with Kas. But even the eyeless beast pointed his head Mia's way, and kept it there as each of Zel's proposed situations earned a small flex of his cock where it half rested on the blankets. A small drop of precum dripped from its tip.

"Your aura grows," Zel said, and she came up behind Mia and put her hands on her shoulders. "The idea of large, deadly men, monsters, demons, taking you against your will excites you, doesn't it?"

"I uh... I mean..."

Zel yanked the silks from Mia's body, earning a squeak from her, and Mia covered her bits with her arms and hands out of habit. All she wore now was Zel's necklace.

"To be the target of their desire. To be so utterly gorgeous and beautiful, it is intoxicating, and these wild beasts of men incapable of resisting it. To be wanted so totally and utterly, these handsome creatures of muscle and size will grab you, hold you, and trap you in their embrace until you are a sweating mess, wriggling, mewling, cumming until you can no longer breathe. Even if you beg for a moment's rest, they will continue to fuck you until you collapse. And when you collapse, they will continue to fuck you, until your limp, quivering body cums again, and again, and again. Those are the sorts of sexual thoughts dancing around inside your wanton mind, aren't they, young soul?" Zel giggled, leaned down, and set her chin on Mia's shoulder from behind. "Hardly uncommon thoughts for a woman."

Mia gulped, but said nothing, even as each word sent tiny little shivers down through her thighs. After another playful, told-you-so giggle, Zel gave her a small push forward, and Mia squeaked again as she almost fell onto Adron.

Adron grabbed her lower hand, revealing her swollen, wet pussy behind it, and gently pulled her toward him. She pulled back. He didn't let go. He pulled her closer and closer, not down but toward his face, and Mia's panting doubled as she stepped between his legs toward him. He pulled her closer again, slipped his hands behind her ass, and forced her to stand so close she had to step around his hips to not fall. That meant she had to spread her legs so she could stand over his lap.

Adron leaned in toward her pussy, his hands holding her thighs, and she pushed back against his head with both her hands. Pointless. He was gigantic, a hundred times stronger than her, and so fucking handsome. Yes, she knew her aroused brain and his sexual sin aura were clouding her mind, but for a moment, she didn't care.

He pressed his mouth against her small, smooth, aching slit, and she whimpered as the demon bathed her with a kiss. She grabbed his horns, and tried to bite back the tiny sounds leaking out of her, but it didn't work. All she managed to do was turn whimpers into squeals through her nose, as Adron's long tongue slowly dragged along her clitoris. Hot, wet flesh massaged the engorged nub, and Mia glared down at Adron with her best angry eyes as the bastard found the perfect pace to send more tingles into her pelvis.

His tongue, hidden inside his kiss, pressed lower, and Mia clenched her entrance tight as he pushed the huge slab of meat up against it. Her body didn't want to listen. It relaxed for a moment, just long enough for the demon to slip the slightly pointed tip into her, and her mouth opened with a heavy moan as he pushed the thick tongue up into her body.

"You... fucking..." Again she glared down at him, but the harder she tried to show him how angry she was, the more his demon eyes smiled right back up at her. And the more he pushed the waves of his tongue toward her front, against her g-spot, while his kiss bathed her clitoris. Holding his horns was all she could do to not collapse.

A playful giggle followed Mia's moans. Zel. The demon queen sat down beside Adron, facing Mia, and slipped two of her hands under Mia. Mia half expected Zel to touch her, but no, she touched Adron instead. The angle blocked what was happening, but judging from the reaction of Adron and the evil grin on Zel's face, she was giving him a handjob.

"First penetration by a demon," Zel whispered, licking her lips, eyes locked onto Mia's body. "Adron, are you still right of mind?"

The busy demon nodded.

"Right of mind?" Mia asked. Talking was a mistake. Adron took it as a challenge, and he pushed his tongue deeper into her, turning her wavering voice into a squeal that forced her to look down at her flat stomach. Oh god, a small bulge pushed out against her abdomen where the demon's thick tongue pushed against her g-spot and above it, and pushed hard. A pulse of tingling bliss shot up through her, down through her thighs, and her insides squeezed hard. Not hard enough to stop the writhing tongue pushing deeper into her.

"We did not know what would happen," Zel said. "Perhaps he would simply incinerate on the spot, penetrating an unknown entity such as you."

"I... I..." Her grip on Adron's horns tightened, her muscles clenched, but Adron stopped licking and kissing before the pleasure could grow any more. She glared down at him with even more anger. She wanted him to keep going, to keep wriggling the huge slab of hot, powerful flesh inside her. And she couldn't tell him that! She couldn't even tell herself that.

"Perhaps they will, once they both get their cocks inside you, but I think we are safe." Nodding, Zel, sitting between Adron and Kas, gestured to the shark demon.

Kas rumbled deep in his chest, half annoyed, half horny, and he slipped around behind Mia. Wait, both?

She outright squeaked like a chew toy when she felt Kas's huge teeth on her ass cheeks. He had no lips, mouth more like a dragon snout than anything, and she stared back over her shoulder down at the eyeless juggernaut as he opened his mouth wider, and wider. With each inch he opened his titanic jaw, he leaned in closer, until he had half her whole pelvis in her mouth.

"Kas, wait! Wait, don't!"

The beast pressed his tongue against her ass, slowly licked one of her large ass cheeks, and then the other. She trembled. Tiny as Mia was, she'd worked hard to build a big ass. She was proud of it. And now Kas had his massive dragon mouth wrapped around it as his tongue painted lines over its curves, forcing little whimpers out of her, whimpers Adron took advantage of.

"Adron!" She glared down at the other demon between her legs, only to find his devious smile growing, as he pushed his tongue up deeper into her. She braced for pain, but Adron, the damn slut, knew exactly what he was doing. His tongue found the spot, the right spot deep inside her that ached, and he pushed up against it. Softly at first, as if testing how she'd respond.

She tried to hold back the moan, but Adron's whole tongue pressed forward, hard pressure from his hot, wet muscle against her g-spot, while his kissing upper lip buried her clit, and his tongue rolled up to sink more of it into her. A moan slipped out of her, a weak moan that sounded more erotic than any of her squeaks. Adron chuckled, mouth still tight to her, and pushed in more tongue, and more, earning another pathetic moan out of her. All she could do was watch the small bulge along her belly push higher and higher as he began to stretch her inward.
